VOLUME XIII

MUENSTER, COOKE COUNTY, TEXAS, FRIDAY JUNE 17, 1949

NUMBER 30

J. G. Richards, 76, Dies in Warren, Pa. Saturday Morning

If a person were looking for a name for this particular era of American political history he might very properly call it the "Write Your Congressman" age. Hardly a day passes but what some radio commentator or columnist advises us to write Washington and express our approval or disapproval of some certain measure.

It's getting to be a sort of necessary evil and inconvenience to both the writer and the congressman. But from present indications it is one that the rank and file of citizens will have to take up as a matter of self defense. Sensible people have to send a barrage of letters in order to offset the barrage already being sent by crackpots and reds.

As most of us have learned long ago it is a regular policy of the communist party to have its members write Washington on any issue that has any bearing on the general red plan, and recommend the action that will harmonize with red objectives. As a result the weight of red influence through the mail is far out of proportion with the communist party membership.

Another group is the something for nothing crowd. Like all the gimme people they're not bashful about asking for the things they want. And again the weight of their mail is out of proportion with their numbers.

On the other side are we steady every-day citizens who try to do a conscientious job at home and expect our representatives to do likewise in Washington. Our idea of government is to pick a man of judgment and integrity at election time and trust him to do his best without interference from us.

According to the traditional American way we are right. It's less of a strain on everybody and probably wisest in the long run to let our Congressmen work with the least possible interference. But it so happens that we no longer operate in the traditional American way. Our representative is already being high pressured. He's at a disadvantage unless the rest of us exert some pressure on the other side. So write your congressman. You may influence him, you may just give him the satisfaction of knowing he has your support. Either way it's good.

If you're in the mood now and can't think of a subject how about something on deficit spending? No doubt you're plenty sick of the administration's extravagance. You're aware that in your personal affairs you can't get out of debt by reckless spending, that it's poor business any time to spend more than you take in, and that the same economic principle applies to the big business of government. You're aware also that as a citizen you are getting some mighty shabby treatment when you're required to give up about one third of your income in taxes. Well, tell your Congressman. He'll be glad to know how you feel about it.

It's a well known economic theory that when prices on any service or commodity go too high they have a tendency to price themselves out of the market. When the bricklayer's daily wage gets out of line builders lean more strongly to lumber construction. When meat is high people eat more fish. When coal is high people turn to other sources of power and heat.

Apparently that principle is now at work in the North and East. W. R. Chambers of the Texas House of Representatives recently called attention to an increasing demand for Texas gas. Applications already on file call for big inch pipe lines to Virginia, North Carolina, Iowa and Illinois in addition to an increase of the volume now being sent through existing lines.

Some of those applications are from the heart of the coal country, others from the heart of the coal market. Obviously there are people in the North and East who would rather pay for gas with its tremendous transportation cost than to depend on the coal industry in their own back yard.

John L. Lewis is in the process of pricing himself and his coal miners out of business. The high price resulting from his repeated demands for higher wages is causing old customers to look for other fuel.

If Representative Chambers has his way, however, Lewis still has little cause to worry . . . not because of any love for the bushy browed boss but rather because of a circumstance that is vital to the future welfare of Texas. (Continued on Page 10)

J. G. Richards, 76, well known retired oil operator, passed away Saturday morning in Warren, Pa., and funeral services were held in that city Monday.

Mr. Richards was born in Oil City, Pa., on Feb. 4, 1873, and was reared at Mayburg, Pa. His father was in the oil business and at an early age young Joe started as a water boy. Eventually he became general manager of the famous Cook estate.

He later moved to Oklahoma and then to Cooke county, in 1923, to uncover what he considered deep production. He became active in the Muenster field in 1936 and moved here shortly afterwards.

His wife was an active partner in his business and their only son, Ralph, joined the partnership at an early age. Mr. Richards was originator of a process by which gas was freed by the use of machinery.

He retired from the oil business on account of ailing health several years ago and lived in Gainesville until last February when he and his wife went to Warren to reside with relatives. Ralph Richards died in March 1948.

His wife survives, along with two brothers and two sisters. Mrs. Richards, who sustained a broken hip last year, is able to be up with the aid of crutches.

MUENSTER BOYS WIN FIRST PLACE IN A&M RANGE DEMONSTRATION

The Cooke county team composed of Billy Whitt and Douglas Robison both of Muenster won first place in range management demonstration in the state contest at A&M College during the annual 4-H Roundup this week.

Two other county demonstration teams placed among the top winners. The tractor maintenance demonstration team composed of Frank Haverkamp and Walter Hermes, Lindsay, placed second, and the dairy demonstration team with Leonard Hermes of Lindsay and Harold Dyer of Callisburg won fourth place.

Fourteen county 4-H clubbers made the trip to A&M and as district winners, entered five contests.

The boys and girls and their chaperones returned home Friday. County Agents B. T. Haws and Mildred Chapman will stay at the college through Friday to attend the agents' conference.

Notes On Soil Conservation

Various methods are being used by cooperators of the Upper Elm-Red Soil conservation district to protect their newly seeded or sodded waterways and pasture areas. Mowing, grazing and spraying with weed killer have been used, both separately and in combination, to reduce competition from annual weeds and grasses so that the desirable grasses may make maximum growth this season.

The weather has been favorable for grass growth and new stands of buffalo and bermuda that have had competition from other plants removed by mowing and grazing are putting out runners and beginning to form a sod.

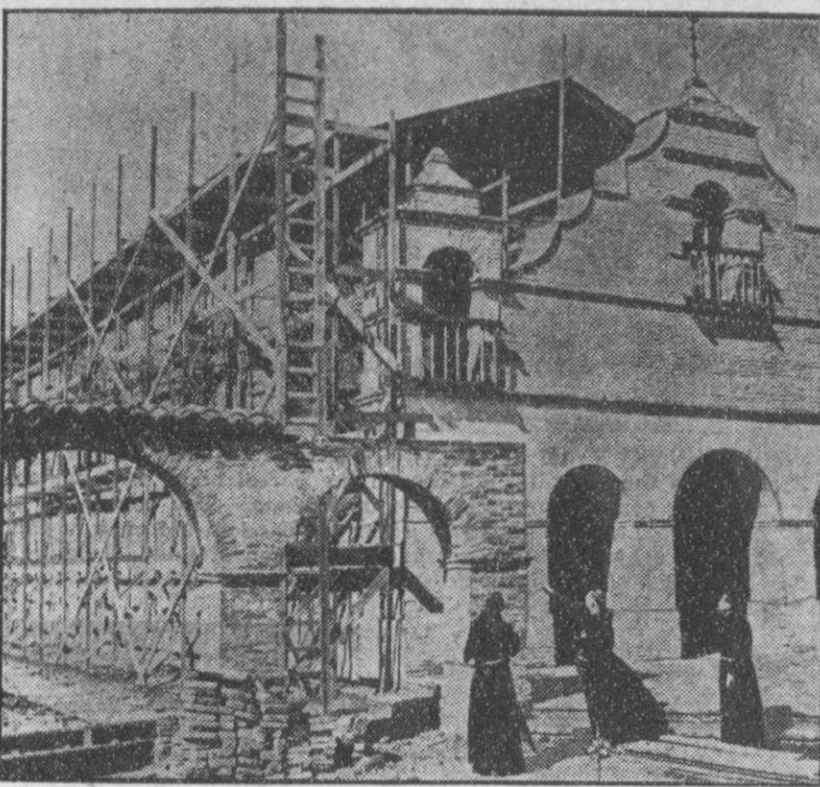

Most of the seeding of native grasses in the Muenster Work Unit area are showing some promise, however, they are slow starters and may not make much growth during the first year. Areas seeded to native grasses should not be grazed until after frost.

Construction of two diversion terraces has just been completed on J. A. Stovalls' farm near Leo. The terraces will keep hill water off of cultivated fields.

J. C. Donnell, near Hardy, has found by experience that he can work wonders toward stabilizing gullies by staking a sack containing a few bermuda sprigs and barnyard manure in the bottom of the wash.

A farm pond has been constructed on the Andy Fleitman farm. Andy plans to change some of his cultivated land to pasture and the pond will furnish stock water.

Miss Johann Seyler is at Eagle Mountain Lake, near Fort Worth, where for six weeks she will serve as counselor for Girl Scouts attending the camp.

MISSION COMES TO LIFE—An empty ruin for many years, the mission of San Antonio de Padua in southern California is in the process of restoration by brown-frocked Franciscan padres and brothers. The mission was founded in 1771, but the ravages of time forced the monks to abandon it years ago. A recent donation by a generous American enabled the Franciscans to begin reconstruction, using adobe brick and old-time building methods.

County Gets Right Of Way for FM Road South of Muenster

Pavement for the South Muenster road moved a step nearer to reality this week when representatives of the county commissioner's court started getting right of way easements. Ray Winder and an assistant spent all day Tuesday in the city hall meeting with landowners and assisting them in drawing up the legal papers.

All deals were completed that day except a few which involve special provisions for drainage or larger land deals.

The highway department's progress schedule calls for advertising for bids as the next step. That is to be done as soon as all right of way is secured. Grading and gravel work are due to be finished this year and the road bed will be permitted to settle before the surface application next summer.

The road will start at Highway 82 on Main street and extend as far south as the former Linn school location.

GARDEN CLUB ELECTS MRS. NICK MILLER AS NEW PRESIDENT

Mrs. Nick Miller is the new president of the Civic League and Garden Club as the result of the election of officers which featured last Thursday night's meeting of the organization. Other members of the executive board are Mrs. Jim Cook, vice president; Mrs. L. H. Baumhardt, treasurer; Mrs. Steve Moser, secretary. The latter two are re-elections.

Chairmen to head the various committees will be appointed and announced later. Thursday's session was the last for the current season. The club will reorganize again in September and newly elected officials will take over at that time for a two-year period.

Mrs. T. S. Myrick, retiring president, presided during the business session and Mrs. Joe Luke was in charge of the program (Continued on Page 2)

COOPERATION CHEERS SANITARY COMMITTEE ON INSPECTION TOUR

The most important phase of Muenster's clean-up got off to a good start last Saturday when all owners of open toilets within and adjacent to the city limits expressed their willingness to install approved types of toilets as soon as possible.

Dr. T. S. Myrick, city health officer, said the response was very gratifying. Some persons were already preparing to make improvements, and others were very agreeable to the suggestion that they make a change as soon as possible. Others who served on the sanitation committee with Myrick are E. I. Drechsel, director of the Cooke County Health Unit and Steve Moser, superintendent of the city water and sewer system.

According to the promises given, many of the improvements will be completed within a month, Myrick said. At that time the committee intends to make another inspection and again urge the people who are lagging behind.

COUNTY TRUSTEES ADD VALLEY CREEK TO MUENSTER DISTRICT

The Valley Creek school district Wednesday became a part of the Muenster School District. It was officially annexed by the County school board by authority of a state law which provides that any district which has failed to maintain its school for two consecutive years can be combined with another district by decision of the county board. No election is required in consolidation of this kind.

By similar action Muenster acquired a part of the Freemound district at the beginning of the past school year. The remaining part of the district was annexed to Forestburg.

The consolidation with Valley Creek will make practically no change in the local status. By special arrangement between school boards all Valley Creek attended here last year.

Another development in the Western Cooke County school situation is the coming election for consolidating Tyler Bluff and Saint Jo. A petition for the election is now on file.

Tornado Sunday Afternoon Leaves $25,000 Damages Northwest of Gainesville

A tornado that swept down Sunday afternoon about 2:45 in a small area west of Gainesville left heavy damage at the Municipal airport and partially demolished a barn at the Walter Nortman farm, west of the airport. Damage was estimated at $25,000.

Ten airplanes were damaged, some badly, when crushed by three of the giant metal doors of the hangar that were torn loose by the wind and hurled onto the planes.

Tim Osborne, manager of the airport, left the hangar and ran to the office where his wife was on duty only seconds before the hangar was struck. Mechanics working in the hangar had gone to the back of the hangar shortly before the tornado struck. There were no injuries.

Much lightning and a cloudburst accompanied the twister. The countryside was flooded and small creeks soon ran bankfull. Corn in the area was damaged and unharvested grain suffered.

Gulley Washer Skips Muenster; Rain Here Is 2.21 Inch Soaker

Heavy downpours that did extensive damage in other sections of North Texas during the week-end simmered down to a plain good rain at Muenster. The total rainfall spread out over a four day period was 2.21 inches according to the official measure on Steve Moser's rain gauge.

Recordings at 7 a.m. the past four days are as follows: Sunday .41, Monday .62, Tuesday .94, Wednesday .24. In each case the rain had fallen during the previous 24 hours.

The rain each day likewise was well scattered. There were a few heavy downpours lasting a short time but in general the showers were scattered and slow with ample time to soak into the soil. Very little of the water ran off the land.

While giving a wonderful lift to row crops, alfalfa and gardens, the rain caused practically no delay to the current harvest season. Most grain of the community still was not quite ready for cutting when the rain started. According to scattered reports reaching the Morrison Mill the average farmer now has some grain ready to go and can start his full scale harvesting about the time he can get his machines on the ground.

The general opinion is that, unless more rain comes, some harvesters will be operating before the end of the week and all of them will be going next Monday.

News Of Sick And Injured

Sister Bertha, former Muenster school teacher, is recovering nicely from an operation but is still a patient at St. Bernard's hospital in Jonesboro, Ark.

Miss Elizabeth Fleitman returned home Saturday after being a patient at M&S hospital in Gainesville for treatment four days.

Henry Weinzapfel, who underwent an operation at Gainesville Sanitarium on June 6, was permitted to return to his home here Monday evening. He is convalescing nicely but is still confined to bed.

Flood Control Plan Includes Reservoirs For Muenster Area

Prospects of important developments in soil conservation and flood control in Cooke County were presented to members of the Cooke County Agricultural Club in the Gainesville Community Center Building Monday night.

Robert Tharp, educational director of the Trinity Improvement Association, as guest speaker at the meeting, presented a comprehensive picture of the vast program which is intended to control both soil and water in the entire 12 million acres comprising the Trinity River watershed.

The program has two principal objectives. The first is to keep topsoil where it belongs thereby preserving land productivity and eliminating it from urban reservoirs. The second is to control water flow in order to prevent disastrous floods all over the watershed.

One phase of that program is the construction of six detention reservoirs in the Upper Elm-Red soil conservation district. In all some 25 such detention reservoirs are to be built in the upper 8 million acres of the watershed out of a 2 million dollar appropriation now pending in Congress.

Tharp explained the association's flood control theory as follows. By means of soil conservation practices surplus water is under control from its very start. Water retarded on the field carries less dirt and reaches streams more slowly. Small, pond-size reservoirs in gulleys and ditches will further retard the water's flow to creeks. The six detention reservoirs in strategic places on creeks of this area will retard the flow of water to the river tributaries, and large reservoirs, like Benbrook, Grapevine and Lake Dallas will retard flow into (Continued on Page 10)

KLEMENT CONTINUES TO LEAD MUENSTER COMMUNITY COUNCIL

J. B. Klement responded to popular demand last Thursday night and accepted another term as chairman of the Muenster Community Council. At a previous meeting he had stated that he preferred to be relieved of the position because, as chairman of the school board he expects to spend a great deal of time on the school building and improvement program.

To assist Klement in leading the Community Council, members elected two vice-chairmen. They are Dick Cain and Dr. T. S. Myrick. Secretary Arthur Endres and Treasurer Earl Fisher were re-elected for another term.

Discussion at the meeting was concerned principally with developing Muenster into a better trading center and offering some of the items that people now have to find away from home. Available records show, it was pointed out, that thousands of dollars of Muenster money are spent elsewhere every day. A local demand is clearly evident and the council is interested in adding more items and services to supply some of that demand.

RED CROSS CHAPTER RE-ELECTS DILLARD

B. A. Dillard was reelected chairman of the Cooke County Chapter of American Red Cross at a meeting of the chapter last Thursday, and two persons from Muenster, Mrs. G. H. Hellman and J. M. Weinzapfel, were named board members, the former for a one year term and the latter for two years.

During the meeting Mrs. Doris Sutton, executive secretary for the chapter, gave the home service report which showed a total of 179 cases serviced in the county during the month of May with financial assistance totaling $408.97 for the month.

Catholic Daughters Install New Officers; Plan Coming Activity

The formal installation of officers elected in May was the principal business at the meeting of the local court Catholic Daughters of America Friday night. Mrs. John Mosman, district deputy, presided at the impressive installation ceremony.

The new officers are Mmes. Walter Richter, grand regent; Joe Fisher, Sr., vice regent; Maurice Pagel, monitor; Martin Trubebach, sentinel; James Bezner, lecturer; Ben Seyler, prophetess; Ervin Hamric, financial secretary; Steve Mosier, historian; Miss Gladys Wilde, organist; Miss Olivia Stock, treasurer, and Mmes. Joe Horn and Ray Wilde, trustees for three years.

Mrs. Weinzappel, retiring grand regent, thanked members for their cooperation during her two terms and gave a brief outline of work done and objectives accomplished during the two years. Mrs. Richter spoke briefly stating that she hoped to continue the good work being done by the court and solicited the help and cooperation of members. Mrs. Mosman gave a short talk on Unity and Charity, the organization's motto.

Members discussed the Novelty Booth they will sponsor at the July Third picnic and reminded that items for the booth should be brought in soon and left at the homes of either Mmes. F. J. Yosten, J. M. Weinzappel or Joe Kathman, members of the committee in charge.

Mrs. J. W. Fisher, retreat chairman, announced the dates for retreats and advised that she is taking a car to Denison for the retreat on June 21-26 and that members wishing to accompany her may do so if they notify her in time.

Mrs. Joe Swirczynski was appointed chairman of the Mission Sewing Circle. A regular meeting will be held on Friday afternoon, June 17, from 2 to 5.

Mrs. R. P. Cain, joined by her mother, Mrs. Zena Martin of St. Jo, left Thursday for a vacation trip to Coolie Dam, Wash., where they will visit their sister and daughter, Mrs. L. J. McVeigh and family.

PUBLIC NOTICES NOW MANDATORY — Governor Beauford Jester is shown here as he affixes his signature to Senate Bill No. 375. The Bill, known as the Mandatory Publication Law, requires that all public notices called for by Texas Statutes be published, or the official responsible for such publication suffer loss of salary, or removal from office for neglect of duty. Senator James E. Taylor of Kerens, pictured on Jester's left, sponsored the legislation through the Senate. House sponsor was Phillip L. Willis of Kaufman. Covered by the law are all public officers of the state, counties, cities, and school districts. Governor Jester signed the bill into law June 8, and it became immediately effective.

 From where I sit... by Joe Marsh
Don't Fence Yourself In
 Every spring, Handy Peterson and Easy Roberts patch up the stone wall that separates their farms. They walk along talking—Easy on one side, Handy on the other—picking up the fallen stones and putting them back.
 Afterwards, over a friendly glass of beer, Easy says, "You know, wall-mending is a nice neighborly custom, but we really don't need that wall. We keep it up just because it happens to be there."
 "Yes," says Handy, "a lot of walls and fences and boundaries keep on separating people for no good reason. Maybe we'd all be better off if some of them were torn down, instead of kept standing."
 From where I sit, Handy said a mouthful. Take the "walls of intolerance" that people build up against each other. I like a temperate glass of beer now and then, you may prefer buttermilk—but that's no reason for me to criticize you, or you, me. Let's live and let-live together—making more friends and fewer "walls."

Washington Newsletter

By Congressman Ed Gossett

Washington, D. C., June 10. — Except for office work and committee work, this has been a comparatively quiet week in the Congress. Therefore, we again devote our newsletter to the subject of political philosophy. The cold war now going on throughout the world is a war of ideals and beliefs, usually referred to as ideology. It involves the question of what people think they owe to the state and what they think the state owes to them. We get volumes of material each week on different phases of this debate. Much of it is plainly propaganda — some good and some bad, and some designed to inform and some designed to deceive. This week's newsletter from Mr. Thurman Sensing, Director of Research, Southern States Industrial Council, Nashville, Tennessee, seems to me to be worthy of reproduction. Mr. Sensing writes:

"I have just returned from an eight weeks visit to Great Britain, where I studied at first hand the results of a socialist government in action and observed its effects upon the freedom and the economy of the people.

After four years of peace, I found the people of Great Britain still suffering under rationing and price control. Even so, prices of staples are relatively high and luxuries are out of the question. Their diet is even worse in some respects than it was during the war. Goods in the shops are scarce and quality is poor. The cost of living continues high. Taxation has reached a point where it is almost unbearable, and if continued will inevitably ruin the Nation. Production in the factories per man hour is low. The cost of manufactured goods is such that they can not compete in the markets of the world on a price basis. The people, in effect, are prisoners on their own 'tight little isle', only a limited number being permitted to travel abroad each year, and each of this number only being allowed to spend a maximum sum of $140 for the purpose.

The present predicament of that once proud nation is unquestionably the result of state control imposed upon the people by the Socialist Government when it came into power four years ago. The wastefulness and bungling and inefficiency of the Government in operating the key industries which it has thus far nationalized have resulted in enormous losses which have had to be paid for out of the taxpayers' pockets. The political entanglements brought on through bulk buying by the Government in the markets of the world have also cost the taxpayers enormous sums of money, and have at the same time resulted in less food for the people and higher costs for raw materials for their factories. The 'free' welfare benefits promised the people by the Socialist Government through a policy of 'soaking the rich' have cost far more than was 'planned'. The 'free' health service, for instance, was 'planned' to cost $680 million the first year; it actually cost $1,040 million. Great Britain was in no position to afford any such benefits, and they could by no means have been provided without aid from the United States — aid, by the way, that was created by private enterprise.

The wealth of Great Britain has been redistributed all right, and with a vengeance, but the nation is no better off than when the policy was adopted. And now, after four years of such redistribution, the Socialist Government itself has had to tell the people there is no further possibility of tax income from this source, that any extension of benefits will have to be paid for by the individuals who receive it, by the people themselves. What disillusionment — when the people had been led to believe there was no end to the benefits they could obtain in this manner!

Are we in the United States learning the lesson that the experience of Great Britain is teaching us? That is a serious question — and upon the answer depends the future welfare of this nation and its people. Don't tell the industrialists of Great Britain that it can't happen here! They will laugh at you. They will tell you that if anyone had told them ten years ago, or as late as five years ago, that they would now be living under the kind of government they have, they would have said he was crazy. "For God's sake," they told me time and again, "don't let socialism get started in the United States of America. You

The American Way

ALL IS NOT LOST

By George Peck

Are you pessimistic about the future of America? What leads me to ask this question is that in recent months I have received letters from and had conversations with men and women of all walks of life who unashamedly admit they have thrown up their hands, who are convinced that this America of ours, the envy of all the world, has reached its zenith and is now on the toboggan slide.

These pessimists maintain that we have no new frontiers to be exploited; they point to our huge Federal debt which they claim can only be wiped out by repudiation; they state there is no real leadership in either of our two major political parties; and they see no escape for this nation from the socialistic planners. And peering through their dark glasses, they vision communism spreading over the entire world and the inevitability of its finally fastening its deadly clutches on the United States.

It is true that socialists and communists are busy; that real leadership in our two major political parties is at a very low ebb; that our Federal debt is staggering, but this nation has weathered storms on previous occasions. Had past generations listened to the wailings of the pessimists of their day, it is are our last hope for the preservation of freedom in the world. Don't let the socialist camel get his head into the tent of free enterprise. There's not room enough for both of them."

We will do well to remember this warning whenever measures are presented proposing that the government do for us what we should be doing for ourselves. We should avoid the 'planned economy' and the 'welfare state' like we would avoid the plague. They may sound good on paper, but they only lead to stagnation and ruin."

Following The Rainbow to The Poorhouse

doubtful that the United States would ever have gotten started, most certainly this nation would not have scaled the heights that it did.

Our eternal thanks go to the optimists of past generations who heeded not these mourners. Thank God for the millions of Americans who now refuse to be swayed by present-day pessimistic prophecies who, though gravely concerned about our problems, still believe that the only thing that can stop America's forward progress, is for us to give up the struggle.

Some years ago in one of my columns, I retailed the tory of two frogs who fell into the crock of cream. It seems fitting to repeat that story now because it is stout medicine for the morale in times like these; it is the perfect answer to those among us who look at America's future through dark-colored glasses.

The one frog, you will recall, was a pessimist, with little or no intestinal fortitude. He could not leap out of the crock and after struggling for a short while, said to himself, "What is the use? In the long run I am going to drown anyway, so I will quit struggling." So saying, he drowned.

The other frog was an optimist. He had the same spirit with which the pioneering Founding Fathers were endowed. He said to himself, "It certainly looks hopeless. I tried to jump out of here, but I can't make it. However, I am not going to die until I have to, so I will keep on swimming until I just can't swim any more." You remember what happened. He swam so vigorously that he churned that cream into butter, thus making a solid spring-board from which to leap out of the crock to safety.

There certainly is a lesson for all of us in the simple story of the two frogs. Let me repeat, thank God for the optimists among us — the fellows who keep swimming — who keep their chins up and continue to fight when everything looks hopeless, and who grit their teeth and say to themselves, "I am going to make my voice heard on every occasion. Though I just can't see how we are going to work our way out of the mess we are in, somehow I know we will. But win, lose or draw, I am going to keep on fighting until I just can't struggle any more."

And if you are one who has been "selling America short," why not turn over a new leaf by resolving here and now to renew your faith in a nation that always in the past has overcome what looked like insurmountable obstacles. Such faith made us the world's greatest nation; similar faith exercised now will enable us to climb to even greater heights in the future. Stop being a pessimist; keep on swimming; all is not lost.

EARL WALTERSCHEID AND FLORENE ARENDT MARRY AT LINDSAY

Saint Peter's church in Lindsay was the scene of a pretty wedding ceremony Tuesday morning at 8:30 when Miss Florene Arendt became the bride of Earl Walterscheid.

Messrs. and Mmes. Paul Arendt of Lindsay and C. M. Walterscheid of Muenster are parents of the young couple.

Rev. Conrad Herda officiated at the double ring ceremony and nuptial high mass and Mrs. Wm. Fleitman, organist, and the church choir presented the wedding music. At the offertory the choir sang "Ave Maria". The altar before which the vows were exchanged was adorned with pink and white gladiolas and greenery. Two large baskets of glads adorned the sanctuary space near the communion railing. White, green, and pink streamers marked the pews in the middle aisle. Acolytes were Arnold Bezner, LeRoy Kupper, Henry Fleitman, Harold Neu and Raymond Hermes.

Given in marriage and escorted to the altar by her father the bride was a lovely picture in a gown of white summer satin. It was designed with a fitted bodice accented by points in the center front and back. The sweetheart neckline was formed by shirring and the long sleeves were buttoned to the elbow. Inserts of lace formed petal points at her wrists. The full gathered skirt extended into a formal train. The bride's veil of imported French illusion edged with lace was full length. It fell from a round standing lace crown. The bride's flowers were a shower bouquet of red roses and she carried a mother of pearl prayer book, a gift from the groom.

For something old the bride wore the gold wedding band that the groom's maternal grandmother, Mrs. Mike Kleiss, wore at her wedding 48 years ago. For something borrowed and blue she wore a lavalier belonging to her sister, Mrs. John Horberer.

Attendants for the bride were her sister, Miss Joan Arendt, maid of honor; another sister, Mrs. Ray Voth, bride's matron; and the groom's cousin, Miss Dorothy Walterscheid, bridesmaid. Little Misses Joyce Hoberer and Monica Fette, nieces of the bride were flower girls.

The groom's attendants were his brother, Ervin Walterscheid, best man, and another brother, Donald Walterscheid, and Ray Voth. Ushers were Johnny and Paul Arendt Jr. Little Conrad Walterscheid Jr. was ring bearer. He wore a white linen suit.

The bride's five attendants wore identical frocks of green with pink iridescent tissue faille. They were fashioned with pointed basque bodices, short puffed sleeves, rolled collars and flared skirts with a back godet panel. Their hats were open crowned pink net with faille bows and they wore faille gauntlets. Their flowers were colonial bouquets of pink Astorian daisies.

Mrs. Arendt, mother of the bride wore a white and pink printed sheer dress with white and black accessories, and the groom's mother wore a red and gray floral crepe dress with blue and gray accessories. They had corsages of red roses. The groom's two grandmothers, Mmes. Mike Kleiss and Wm. Walterscheid, had white carnation corsages.

After the ceremony the bridal party had breakfast at the home of the bride's parents. The bride's sisters, Mmes. Albert Herr and Emmet Fette were hostesses.

At 5 o'clock an informal reception honored the couple in the school auditorium and more than 250 persons were guests for a banquet menu served buffet style. Miss Betty Lou Bezner presided at the bride's book.

The bride's table was laid with white linen and was adorned with crepe paper streamers in white, pink and green. It held a three-tier decorated cake flanked with white, pink and green tapers in crystal candelabra. Mmes. Vincent Zimmerer and John Hoberer Jr., sisters of the bride, cut and served the cake.

At 9 o'clock a dance began in the Lindsay hall. During the dance the bride and groom left on their wedding trip. The bride wore a pink and brown ensemble with white and cocoa accessories and a corsage of roses. When they return they will make their home in Gainesville.

The bride was born and educated in Lindsay and graduated from Lindsay High school with the class of 1948. The groom is a native of Muenster and attended Sacred Heart School. He was in the army during the war and is employed with Brody Drilling Co. of Wichita Falls.

Mrs. Susie Bernauer began her annual two weeks' vacation from duties at the bank Monday.

Texas Veterans Free To Select Privately Owned Land Tract For Farm or Ranch Home

By BASCOM GILES
Commissioner of the General Land Office
(Editor's Note: Second of a series of articles on the Veterans' Land Program.)

The recently enacted legislation implementing the Texas Veterans' Land Board will be the means of making the dream of thousands of Texas Veterans for a farm or ranch home of their very own, come true.

One of the most attractive features of this bill is that section which permits a veteran to personally select a tract of land suitable for agriculture or grazing held under private ownership in any sector of the State. It might be owned by kinsmen or by a corporation—it matters not to the Board. What will matter to the Board will be that the veteran feels reasonably sure that it will serve his purpose and needs; that it must have at least half of the mineral rights unencumbered and that the land is worth the asking price.

After the veteran has made his selection his next step will be to furnish the Board with a complete abstract and description of the property so that it may be appraised. At the same time he files his application with the Board, he will pay to the Board his initial down payment of NOT less than five per cent of the total purchase price. In the event the application is rejected the veteran's money will be refunded and he will be free to make another selection.

After the Board has appraised the land and approved the application for the loan for the balance, the applicant will be required to execute an on or before note for forty years at three per cent interest for the balance. After receiving his contract of sale he will be entitled to take possession.

EDITOR'S NOTE: (In the next issue Commissioner Giles will tell of the eligibility requirements for qualification for a farm or ranch home loan and the protection provided the veteran under the legislation.)

Operation of this part of the veteran purchase plan will eliminate the necessity for migration of veterans from one part of the State to another as a majority of the purchasers will select land adjacent to their homes where they are already familiar with production conditions. This factor will serve to lessen chances of failure.

Under the provisions of this section a veteran may purchase a tract of land up to $10,000.00 but he will be required to tender the difference above the $7,500.00 state finance maximum.

Another provision of the bill, sponsored by Senator John Bell and Representative Reuben Senfitt, permits a veteran to purchase a tract of land owned by the State when such tracts are offered through duly advertised sales. The purchase will be made through sealed competitive bids with the award going to the highest bidder. To make the contract valid the minimum five per cent down payment will accompany the bid. Proper application forms will be furnished by the Board on request. Each veteran will be limited to one purchase. However, he will NOT be limited as to the maximum amount of land he may be able to purchase under the full loan of $7,500.00.

The term "state owned land" does NOT include Public School Land but will include land acquired by the State from other state or federal government agencies, or from individuals or corporations for the purpose of resale to Texas veterans, since the inception of this legislation.

Under the terms of the bill, veterans with combat connected disabilities will have a 90 day priority in financing, during which time non-disabled veterans applications will be held in abeyance.

A Berlin youngster eagerly watches a German Red Cross nurse open a roll of N-R-G dextrose candy, one of 351,000 packages donated to the American Red Cross by Otto Schnering, president of Curtiss Candy Company, for overseas use. Over 300,000 rolls of the candy went to the American zone in Germany for distribution to children, elderly people and others who need more calories than they get in their regular, limited diets; and 153 chests were flown into Berlin via airlift planes. The balance of the candy went to the Philippines for patients in 10 leprosaria in the islands whose diets are not limited but who need the morale lift such gifts give them.

SPRAYING PROGRAM IS INEFFECTIVE WITHOUT GENERAL CLEAN-UP

AUSTIN.—During the last several summers, considerable enthusiasm was shown by various local organizations such as Chambers of Commerce, many Civic Organizations, and others in the arranging of a fly eradication program. Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, says that for taking interest in this work, the responsible parties are to be commended.

However, without year-round community sanitation the ultimate result, which is so important has not always been too successful; in some areas this has given rise to rumors that flies are DDT resistant.

"The Texas State Department of Health heartily endorse a fly spraying program, provided it includes a general clean-up program carried out during the entire year", Dr. Cox said. "For example, why spray a garbage heap that not only invites but actually breeds flies when it should have been removed. Why spray the city dump when it really should be covered. I fear the unplanned spraying program is similar to the application of perfume or toilet water to overcome B.O. or the application of powder to cover dirt."

In a well-planned control program, Dr. Cox declared, all places where flies gather, such as dumps, rubbish piles, garbage piles, decaying vegetation should be cleaned up by hauling away and burying. Proper garbage and rubbish containers with fly tight covers should be demanded from all. All buildings should be screened. Then, secure a sprayer outfit, preferably with one or more hoses each manned by a skilled operator to spray the areas where flies and other insects will light. It does little good to spray the center of the street, the ball diamond, or the sidewalks. Spray the surfaces where insects light or breed.

A residual spray remains active until the DDT washes off or is covered with grease, dirt or soot. This usually last four to six weeks. After that, a second spray is recommended provided the item of clean-up is still being carried out.

BERLIN, GERMANY—Two tiny frauleins work up a lather with the first soap received in Berlin through the CARE soap drive. German children like these have never seen honest-to-goodness soap. Bob Hope, who saw their plight when he was abroad last year, is continuing to urge support of the CARE campaign on his radio show. The drive lasts till August 1, during which time Lever Brothers will donate one cake of soap for every two Swan wrappers sent to CARE, Boston 1, Massachusetts. CARE delivers the soap to the children overseas.

The circle solicits old sheets and other white linen for this purpose. The next meeting will be held Friday afternoon, June 17, in the K of C hall from 2 to 5.

Marilyn Gremminger To Represent Muenster At Montague Grape Festival

Miss Marilyn Gremminger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Gremminger, is Muenster's candidate for the 1949 Grape Queen at the annual Grape Festival in Montague. Members of the Civic League and Garden Club, the sponsoring group, selected Miss Gremminger at their meeting Friday night.

The Grape Festival is an annual event held each year at the fruit experiment farm, operated by the State of Texas through the supervision of A&M College. This year's program is scheduled for July 25-26.

The two-day affair features the festival program on the afternoon and evening of the first day when the judging contest is held and the queen crowned before a court of duchesses and their escorts. Selection of the escort is left to the young lady nominated from each community.

The second day of the event is devoted to field day, trips through the vineyards and orchards, addresses by outstanding speakers and music by area bands.

Officials sent invitation to about 20 neighboring cities to send candidates for the festival. All will serve in the court at the coronation and will receive gifts through the courtesy of the festival officials.

'49 OPERETTA SEASON
OPENS JUNE 20 WITH
"UP IN CENTRAL PARK"

New York's big back yard — Central Park — in the 1870's, a colorful period commemorated in so many Currier and Ives prints of the era, is the background for "Up in Central Park", first of the series of musical comedies and operettas on the 1949 schedule of the Starlight Operetta for presentation in the State Fair Casino, Dallas, beginning Monday evening, June 20. The musical will continue for two weeks, through Sunday evening, July 3.

"Up in Central Park" is considered an ideal entertainment as the season's opener because it combines the best elements of both musical comedy and operetta form. Indeed, it was hailed by the New York critics a both musical comedy and operetta. Variety, the theatrical weekly, called it "one of the finest operettas in a decade" and the New York World-Telegram said it was "one of the most charming musicals ever staged."

The story, which concerns the expose of the grafting Boss Tweed ring of Tammany politicians by an alert young newspaper reporter, was written by Herbert and Dorothy Fields, who also wrote the book for "Annie Get Your Gun."

Kenny Baker, star of last season's productions of "The Great Waltz" and "One Touch of Venus", will be starred in "Up in Central Park."

July 4 Celebration at Cotton Bowl Features Fireworks, Thrill Show

A rip-roaring, old-fashioned Fourth of July celebration, featuring a gigantic fireworks exhibition and super thrill show, has been scheduled for the nights of July 2, 3 and 4 at 8 p.m. in the Cotton Bowl, Dallas, R. L. Thornton, president of the State Fair of Texas, has announced.

Feature attractions will include the celebrated Zucchini sisters, Victoria and Duina, in their world-renowned human cannonball act, and Peejay "Human Meteor" Ringens who will speed a bicycle into a sensational leap for life through space. Both attractions will be making their first appearance in the Southwest.

"The State Fair has planned a truly outstanding Fourth of July program for the people of Texas," Thornton said. "We have engaged one of the nation's outstanding fireworks concerns to stage the spectacle. It will be the largest, most colorful exhibition of its kind ever seen in this section." The fireworks display will feature scenes typical of the Southwest, including beautiful floral groups, dazzling aerial displays, and cleverly staged comedy and novelty numbers.

The Zucchini sisters have gained world fame "or their death-defying human projectile act. The two girls are shot high into the air in rapid succession from the mouth of a giant aluminum cannon. They hurtle through space at 400 miles per hour, and travel from one end of the football field to the other, landing in a narrow net at the opposite end of the Bowl.

Ringens does a hazardous bicycle jump from an incline 150 feet high. He zooms out into space, leaves his bicycle in mid-air and lands in a 16-foot tank in three feet of water. He was a featured attraction at the world's fairs in New York and Chicago.

Curtain time at the State Fair Starlight Operetta will be held until after the Cotton Bowl event permitting out of town visitors to enjoy both shows on the same night.

"Hidden" Pay Adds 15% to Wages
The typical American worker in 1947 received from his employer benefits of more than $424 above his wages, according to a recent study.

The study revealed that business is carrying a "hidden payroll" in addition to hourly wage costs, and this "hidden" expense amounts to an average of more than 15% of wages.

These non-wage costs include pension insurance, life insurance, old-age and survivors' insurance, workmen's compensation, non-production bonuses, etc.

TWO PARTIES COMPLIMENT BRIDE OF THIS WEEK

Miss Florene Arendt who became the bride of Earl Walter-scheid this week Tuesday in rites solemnized in the Lindsay church was honored with two pre-nuptial courtesies. Both were miscellaneous showers.

The first, given last Wednesday afternoon, was held in the Muenster parish hall with Mrs. Leo Lawson as hostess. A progressive 42 series entertained the guests and after presenting the honoree with her shower of gifts, the hostess served a cold plate supper. In the games Mrs. Carl Schilling won the high score award and Mrs. Johnny Wimmer received the galloping prize. They presented them to the honor guest.

The hall stressed decorations of pink and white gladiolas and Mrs. Joe Luke presented Miss Arendt with a white gladiola corsage. The gift table held an arrangement of red roses. Miss Mary Evelyn Hofbauer presided at the bride's book and registered 20 guests.

Sunday Miss Arendt was honored with a party and shower in the home of Mrs. Vincent Zimmerer at Lindsay with Mrs. Ray Voth as co-hostess. Streamers of white crepe paper and pink garden flowers adorned the party rooms.

Bingo entertained the guests with more than 25 prizes, all kitchen utensils, being presented to the honoree by the winners. The honoree also received an assortment of lovely gifts from the guests.

Hostesses served an ice cream course to 25 guests from Lindsay and Muenster.

RESERVOIRS ---

the main Trinity channel.

The purpose of the detension reservoir, Tharp pointed out, is to catch flood water and release it slowly. At the normal lake level is an outlet which releases water at a rate that can be handled conveniently by the creek. As the flood water continues pouring into the lake the rate of release remains constant, and continues so after the rain until the lake level is back to normal. Since the reservoir is designed to hold a normally heavy rain it will control floods except in the abnormal cloudbursts that occur every 40 or 50 years.

With a system of such controls working on the entire Trinity watershed the association expects to prevent floods all over the area and prevent the present loss of millions of dollars annually.

The system of reservoirs combined with soil conservation is intended to save additional millions by extending the useful life of large city reservoirs. Water that is checked to a steady, even flow carries less dirt and does not deposit a heavy load of silt in municipal lakes.

A final phase of flood control is a project to dredge the present Trinity channel and remove the enormous accumulation of silt. That will increase the river's water capacity and also permit barge navigation as far north as Fort Worth.

Before outlining the Trinity Plan, Tharp pointed out that residents of the watershed are favored with a particularly generous federal appropriation. Of all the programs in the United States, he said, the Trinity flood control program is the largest . . . even larger than those for the really big watersheds like the Mississippi, Missouri, Ohio and Columbia.

Appropriately for this area, he placed special emphasis on the urgent need for sound soil conservation practice. He said that the total erosion in Texas every year is equivalent to the loss of 4 large counties, then added that as yet we have only scratched the surface in conservation work. Quoting from official figures he said that in the Upper Elm-Red district only one acre out of every 4.5 is under plan, of which only one acre out of 10 has the plan working on the ground. Referring to the state as a whole he said only 2 per cent of the acreage has a complete soil program.

As to the immediate value of conservation Tharp quoted records to show that land under soil programs has increased 30 per cent in crop yield and 12 per cent in animal yield.

Dick Cain and Otto Walterscheid are spending this week on a vacation visit in Hot Springs, Ark.

MRS. JOE BEZNER'S HOME IS PARTY SCENE SUNDAY

Mrs. Joe Bezner's home was the scene of a delightful dinner party Sunday honoring several of her children who were here from out of town.

Guests were Messrs. and Mmes. Jess Galvin and Peggy of San Antonio; Bob Young and Bobby Bezner of Dallas; Mrs. Kathryn Kelly of Baytown and Hubert Bezner of Florey, the Bruno Zimmerer family and Miss Juanita Weinzapfel of Muenster.

Confetti---

He wants the Texas Railroad Commission to oppose the granting of more pipe line permits.

The reason is that pipe line companies require a guarantee of so much gas to build the lines. Which is sound business. They can hardly be expected to invest millions without the assurance that they will get the gas. Certain fields would be "dedicated" to the lines, and in case a shortage developed Texas consumers would be the first to get cut off.

There's a chance that we Texans would be chopping wood or importing high priced northern coal while the Yankees are enjoying the comfort and economy of Texas gas. This isn't just a scare story, either. According to Chambers the Federal Power Commission has decreed that in case of a shortage the gas "de-
