SMALL ELECTRIC APPLIANCES NEED CARE FOR LONG USE

According to the standards of this battalion, your scribe and some 150 other fellows are now full-fledged soldiers. We were the principals in a rookie graduation Friday. Actually it consisted only of a bit of parading in our Sunday best and a pep talk by the commander.

The significance, however, means a lot more to us. The time for specialized training has come. Men will be singled out to learn the various machines and gadgets. Some will operate tractors, graders, bulldozers, trucks, half-trucks, compressors, air hammers, demolition sets, and all the other equipment with which engineers have to work. There'll be special training on guns too. In fact this company received its first .37-mm gun Friday—just in time to serve as a graduation present. It'll be ours for some time to love and cherish and keep clean.

You can bet your boots we're glad to have the change. Henceforth there will be more interest and less monotony. For instance, there will be less drilling. And we won't have to carry gas masks all day long, or wear leggings. Nor carry rifles and worry about inspections. That idea of cleaning rifles every day gets tiresome after a while. Worse still, is the haunting fear of being caught at inspection and drawing a sig such as extra duty or cancellation of a pass. Of course, those fundamentals are not cut out completely. We've got to have a certain amount of it to keep in practice.

The grand finale to the rookie graduation Friday night was a beer party with scads of potato chips and the other trimmings. It was a fine opportunity to let down our hair—though in a sort of reserved manner. In the first place soldiers do not go on a real tear out at camp, especially when officers are in the crowd. Furthermore the purchasing committee judiciously brought in only five kegs of brew. Evidently it was well figured out. Enough spirit for laughter and bar-room harmony but few, if any, morning-after headaches. All the guys made their mile run as usual Saturday morning.

According to rumors making the rounds, we're due for another welcome change this week. Our new quarters are nearing completion. Meanwhile we're hoping that as soon as the last nail is driven we'll be given orders to take up our beds and move.

While dealing with rumors, we can find other subjects worthy of comment. Such as taking part in war maneuvers within the next few weeks. According to the talk, a part or all of it is to be held in Death Valley. Maybe we'll get to live there a while—which is quite a prospect in view of reports that the weather is considerably worse than this—maybe we'll make rush trips from here for specified assignments, and maybe we'll be left completely out of it. With our limited supply of equipment, that latter is a possibility at least for the present.

Come to think of it, there's more than a little significance in the fact that the army is going in for serious practice at desert warfare. Libya, here we come, sooner or later. Unless, as in some cases, they ship the men out of here with extra supplies of heavy clothes.

A few of the fellows suspected an ill omen in the issue of tin hats this past week, since, obviously, we have no use for them here. The more likely explanation is that the things were probably cluttering the supply room, or that someone wanted us to complete our headgear. Half of the new service helmet is regulation equipment here. Considered the army's best protection against this heat. It's a big, deep, bucket-like affair with a web arrangement to fit the head, leaving room for air circulation through all the inside. First time a person wears one he gets amused at his own voice. The sound gets inside

FOR VICTORY

BUY UNITED STATES WAR BONDS AND STAMPS

Most every home has a number of small appliances which go a long way towards making the housewife's tasks easier. But manufacture of these appliances requires precious metals now needed badly in the war effort and Uncle Sam has asked that the greatest care be used in conserving them.

In time of peace it does not make as much difference whether or not we pay attention to small things that make the toaster, or electric fan, or warming pad last longer. In normal times repair parts are always available, or new appliances may be purchased when the old ones are worn out. But it is different in wartime when there is no room for waste. People must conserve and use wisely what they have.

Electric fans, which have probably been running all summer, need attention now. They should be oiled and when the time comes to store them away for the fall and winter, they should be wrapped in cloth or heavy paper to prevent dust and dirt from impairing efficiency. And if your fan has developed a rattle, or if the blades don't turn quite freely, have it checked by your local serviceman so it will be ready for next year.

Warming pads are used in most homes at one or more times every year. Different models have different features, of course, but several things apply to all. Keep the warming pad in a cool, dark, dry place when not in use. Never allow the pad to get wet. And check the time and temperature to be used with your physician if in any doubt.

And for that electric toaster, never put it in water. Use a damp (not wet) cloth to wipe off the inside. The heating element will clean itself the next time it is used. A small paint brush is handy to keep in a kitchen drawer, for removing stubborn bread crumbs; but don't use it until the toaster is cool and be sure to disconnect the cord first.

Use and care of the coffee maker is not difficult. Just be sure to keep the glass clean and never immerse the heating element in water. Your waffle baker needs very little care. After the first using, leave the grids alone, except to remove particles of batter. Never wash or use a damp rag on the grids because the film of oil which keeps the waffles from sticking will be removed. As with all electrical appliances, never immerse the heating elements in water.

MEN, WOMEN HEAR REPORTS OF STATE LEAGUE CONVENTION

Members of Saint Joseph's Society and Saint Anne's Society heard reports on the Catholic Convention held at Fredericksburg last month at a joint meeting of the two groups recently.

Mrs. John Fisher, delegate from the mothers' society, gave an interesting account of activity of the Women's Union, Frank Klemm, delegate of the men's group discussed the high spots of the conclave concerning the men's division and Victor Hartman commented on business concerning the Insurance Branch.

Mrs. J. B. Wilde, a delegate at large, gave a general, brief review of the sessions she attended and Rev. Richard Eydell gave supplementary details and explanations. The meeting was held in the parish hall and was well attended by members of both societies.

August War Bond Quota Is $67,200 For Cooke County

Sales During July Far Exceed Quota

Cooke County's war bond quota for August is $67,200, it was announced in press dispatches Monday from Washington. County citizens responded generously to an appeal to buy more war bonds and stamps, investing a total of $123,132.70 during July. Sales exceeded the month's quota of $83,000 by more than $40,000, William T. Bonner, bond sales chairman has announced. He expressed his appreciation for the cooperation shown and added, "It is a fitting tribute to Cooke county men in service that the folks at home should support the war effort to the fullest extent."

July's report is almost double the total listed for June and almost triple the amount of bonds sold during May.

The August quota should be filled easily, Mr. Bonner said, since it is only a little more than half of the past month's sales.

Muenster's sales for July total $13,792.95, the Bank selling $13,075.00 worth and the Postoffice $717.95. Muenster's total sales for the year amount to $51,449.95, while the county's total is $488,519.60.

Annual Cooke County Fair Opens Monday

The 16th annual Cooke County Fair will open in Gainesville next Monday, August 17, for six days of satisfying amusement and educational and patriotic exhibits of interest to men, women and children. "Food, Feed and Fiber for Victory" is the slogan in the educational buildings, and a rodeo, carnival, dancing and other entertainment features will be offered.

Included in these features are Gene Autry's big rodeo, the same company which showed recently in the Chicago stadium, and will hold forth next fall in Madison Square Garden, New York. Bill H. Hames shows will be on the midway and the Silver Spur dance hall will have Negro jitterbugs as floor show performers.

The fair grounds are being made festive with red, white and blue lights, and heroic figures of Uncle Sam, Miss Columbia and other characters will give a patriotic note to the general setting, and flags of the United Nations, bunting and banners will add a Mardi Gras touch to the surroundings.

A miniature army camp is a new feature at the fair this year. It is complete with military personnel, and will present a pleasing spectacle under floodlights. Attractive community booths and commercial displays will be seen in the exhibit hall, which has been redecorated. The poultry show and the livestock exhibit are expected to be bigger and better than ever before, and Women's and Girls' 4-H Clubs will show handwork and canned foods. Since a two-cent federal tax has been imposed, admission to the fair grounds will be 15 cents this season. Claude Jones, secretary of the fair association has announced.

USO SERVICE WILL BE DISCUSSED HERE AT MEETING TUESDAY

A general community meeting is scheduled for next Tuesday evening at 9 o'clock in the parish hall for the purpose of explaining the National Catholic Community Service, a branch of the USO, and to outline what Muenster can do and is expected to do in regard to furnishing recreation for the soldiers of Cooke County's army cantonment, Camp Howze, in the future.

Principal speakers will be George P. Gleason, United Service Organization director for the camp, and Miss Muriel Hensler, also of Gainesville, USO director, who is on duty at the Chamber of Commerce office, and who will accept the names of girls desiring to become affiliated as USO hostesses and women who will serve as sponsors and hostesses at social functions under the supervision of the organization.

The meeting is of utmost importance to every adult in this community and a full attendance is urged. Plans and possibilities for service by the USO will be discussed.

CHEESE FEATURED AS FOOD SPECIAL AUGUST 17 TO 19

COLLEGE STATION, Aug. 12.—Eat cheese and lighten the load on meat supplies.

Texas USDA War Board announced this week that cheese, which is being produced in plentiful supplies, will be a Victory Food Special from August 17-23. Previous Victory Food Specials featured broilers, fryers and peaches.

Designation of cheese by Agricultural Marketing Administration as a Victory Special is made under a program for widening the distribution of commodities in abundance in order to make the fullest use of the nation's total wartime food supply. "Although cheese supplies at the present time are heavier than usual, we haven't too much cheese and we must keep right on making it without any let-up," B. F. Vance, chairman of the Board, said and urged consumption to encourage high production.

Vance pointed out that shipping schedules are being met and supplies for home use are high enough at the present time that the department can urge consumers to eat more cheese.

During the two-week period, retail stores will focus consumer attention on the new Victory Food Special through advertising and displays.

Military Funeral Will Be Held Here Saturday At 3 P. M.

High Mass of Requiem To Be Offered Monday Morning at 7 o'clock

First Lieutenant M. J. Endres, Jr., 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Endres of this city, was one of four United States army airmen killed when a two-motored army bomber from Hamilton Field, California, crashed and sank in Pablo Bay Saturday morning. Lt. Endres was co-pilot of the plane. The other members of the crew were First Lieut. Robert E. Holland of Benton, Ky., the pilot; Second Lieut. Richard R. Longnecker of Houston, Texas, and Roy M. Frette, of Badger, Iowa, radioman.

The accident occurred while the bomber was on a routine flight from its base, the plane exploding and scattering debris over a considerable area as it struck the water. The wreckage was located and crews from Hamilton Field recovered the bodies of the three officers in the bay Sunday. The body of the radioman had not been recovered up to Wednesday.

Funeral services for Lt. Endres will be held here Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock from Sacred Heart church with full military honors. The Gainesville unit of the Texas Defense Guard will have charge of the military service. Rev. Richard Eydell will officiate at the rites.

Nick Miller will be in charge of funeral arrangements.

High Mass of Requiem will be offered at Sacred Heart church on Monday morning at 7 o'clock. Word of Lt. Endres' death reached his parents shortly after 9 o'clock Saturday evening in a telegram from his home base officers and scores of local persons heard the sad report on the 10 o'clock newscast. When the information was announced at church services Sunday morning, many a tear was shed, and a pall of deep sorrow hung over the entire community.

Lt. Endres is the second Muenster young man to lose his life in the armed forces of the United States since the war began. Ensign Robert J. H. Weinzaepfel having been killed in a naval plane crash at Pearl Harbor on December 8 of last year.

A message from Hamilton Field on Tuesday disclosed that Lt. Endres' body was being shipped and was scheduled to arrive here Thursday. It will lie in state at the Endres home until the funeral service.

Recitation of the Rosary has been announced by Rev. Father Richard at the Endres home on both Thursday and Friday evenings at 9 o'clock. The Knights of Columbus will have charge on Thursday and the Holy Name Society will lead the prayers on Friday. Lt. Endres was an active member of both organizations and was president of the latter society before enlisting in the army.

Young Endres was born in Muenster on August 22, 1920, attended Sacred Heart school, was graduated from Corpus Christi Academy, Corpus Christi, and later attended Texas A & M College and North Texas State Teachers college.

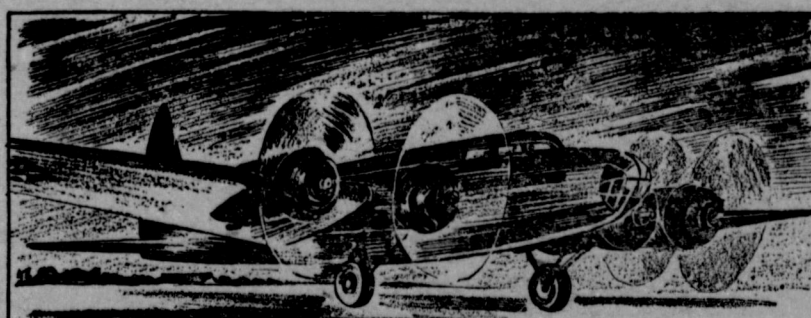

He enlisted in the army air corps as a cadet in June 1941 and received his primary flight instruction at the Allan Hancock College of Aeronautics, Santa Maria, California, then took his basic training at Moffet Field, Calif., and his advanced training at Luke Field, Arizona, where he received his wings and commission on January 9 of this year. Prior to enlisting as a cadet he had flown 35 hours under the C. A. A. pilot training program.

Had Been Ferry Pilot
Serving as a ferry pilot, he had recently returned to the United States after piloting bombers to Australia and Hawaii, and spent the weekend of June 28-29 in Muenster, a family reunion having been held in his honor.

Lt. Endres is survived by his parents, a brother, Leonard Endres of Fort Worth; two sisters, Sisters Agnes and Irma of Saint Mary's, Fort Worth; three nephews and one niece, and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Fisch, Sr., of Muenster, a number of uncles, aunts and cousins.

Lt. Endres was engaged to be married to Miss Charis Bradshaw,

Physical Exercise Is A Basic Requirement For Vigorous Health

AUSTIN, Texas, August 10, 1942.—"Physical exercise, despite labor-saving devices, still is one of nature's basic requirements for vigorous health. This fact frequently is overlooked by many middle-aged and older persons who have reduced exertion to a minimum, permitting gadgets, the automobile and other persons to do for them those things, which, in a less ingenious and abundant age, they would have called on their own muscles to perform. This tendency is being overdone," stated Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

"For instance, a few days ago a woman of fifty consulted a physician. After relating her various symptoms, the doctor requested her to outline her daily routine. She said she arose about 9 A. M., had breakfast, read the paper, visited

TO: Kathryn Bond, Thursday Bond, John Bond, Drew Bond and Francis Bond, if living, and if dead, their unknown heirs, and the unknown heirs of A. J. Bond, deceased, Defendants, Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to appear before the honorable District Court of Cooke County at the Court House thereof, in Gainesville, Texas, at or before 10 o'clock A. D. 1942, then and there to answer Plaintiff's Petition filed in said Court, on the 3rd day of August, A. D. 1942, in this cause, numbered 13590 on the docket of said court and styled J. W. COOPER, Et. Al., Plaintiffs, vs. KATHRYN BOND, Et. Al., Defendants.

A brief statement of the nature of this suit is as follows, to-wit: Suit to remove cloud from the title to 24 acres of land out of the William Moore Survey, Abstract No. 628 in Cooke County, Texas, and in which said suit plaintiffs specially plead the ten and twenty five years' possession and limitation, as is more fully shown by Plaintiff's Petition on file in this suit.

with friends on the telephone, had lunch, went to a movie or played bridge, dined at seven, played more bridge or read a book until bedtime. "You see," she said, "I don't do anything." "And that, madam, is exactly your trouble. Sit-down recreations have got the best of you. Exercise, not pills, is what you need."

"While an extreme example, this case serves to illustrate a lesson that well could be taken to heart by many men and women of middle age or older. Substituting inclinations and inventions for physical activity definitely is not in line with nature's plans for the best achievable health."

"Of course, there is no desire to imply that the middle-aged and older should make a fetish of exercise. Indeed a rigid exercise schedule might be harmful. The daily walk, physical interest in gardening, a moderate game of golf or other sport, if the doctor approves, should meet the requirements nicely. The regularity, if not the severity, of the exercise in the fresh air is the big factor.

"Of course, some folks can 'lazy' through life and apparently live happily, healthily and to a good old age. From strictly a health viewpoint, however, they are likely to be the exception rather than the rule."

"Consequently, a little more attention to the fundamental demands of the body and less emphasis upon the 'soft life' is a rule that should be beneficial to many. Even in these speed-up days, leisure still is available to most persons in a measure not thought of a few decades ago. To put some of it to work for oneself in terms of healthful exercise, is good for young, middle-aged, and older persons alike."

TAKE CARE OF STOVE PIPE

A shortage of new stove pipe this winter will make it doubly necessary for home and building owners to take steps to care for pipe used last season. W.P.'s plumbing and heating branch warns. Farms and rural communities particularly will feel the effects of the stove pipe shortage. Conservative measures suggested include: 1. a thorough cleaning of the old pipe inside and out with steel wool or sandpaper; 2. application of asbestos furnace cement to all small holes and scratches; 3. replacement only of lengths containing large holes with new pipe; 4. application of a good heat-resistant paint.

Frame Gardens Would Aid Victory Nutrition Plan, Says Home Agent

Frame gardens for every home would help both farm and town families have some vegetables that would aid the Victory Nutrition Plan every month in the year, according to Miss Nette Shultz, County Home Demonstration Agent.

Many farm families have found frame gardens valuable in supplying vegetables during the summer and winter months for a number of years. The frame garden protects vegetables from both extreme heat and cold.

A frame 12 inches high is built around a plot of ground of a size suitable for the family's need. The usual size for frame gardens has been 4 to 5 feet wide and 20 feet long. They are built this width for convenience in cultivation. A cover of muslin is made to go over the top of the frame. This is tacked on one side of the frame and a narrow board or pole is tacked to the other side to roll the cover back on.

The soil over which the frame is to be placed, should be good garden soil and fertilized with barn-yard manure and then spaded to a depth of 10 or more inches.

The rows should be 8 to 12 inches apart, planting the narrow way to make cultivation easier.

At this time, leaf lettuce, of which the Grand Rapids Variety is best, may be planted; also tender greens, sphagnum, radishes, carrots and Refugee Beans.

Where water is available, it will help during dry weather. The cover is used to protect from the hot sun and wind and to protect on cold nights.

If you have never had a frame garden, build one and keep it planted to help U. S. Army by supplying your family every day with the food that helps make Americans strong.

WATCH YOUR FEET!
 COLLEGE STATION, July 27.—During the next six months the U. S. Army will buy more than 16 million pairs of shoes. That means civilians must take good care of all the leather goods they have, so the men at the front may have enough, says Mrs. Dora R. Barnes, clothing specialist for the A and M College Extension Service.

Taking good care of shoes and leather goods is in line with the Victory Demonstrator's pledge to help win the war which thousands of Texans have made in the last few months.

The shoe industry last year turned out four pairs of shoes for every man, woman, and child in the country, but many pairs are not in use now because they don't fit. The fault lies both in the shoes and in the feet.

the customers, Mrs. Barnes says. "You can't be sure you get a shoe that fits just by asking for a certain size. There are no national standards for sizing footwear. So the best you can do is keep trying on shoes until you find a really comfortable pair," the specialist advises.

Here are some rules for shoe buyers: For toe-room, allow at least one-half inch between the end of the big toe and the end of the shoe inside.

The ball of the foot should rest at the widest part of the sole to give proper support for the body and assure maximum wear.

The shank of the shoe should fit snugly under the arch of the foot. The shoe should hug the heel of your foot—no slipping, no gaping when you walk.

Use low heels for working, walking, and ordinary use; select higher heels for dress wear only. Never buy shoes that need alterations.

Typographical Error
 Despite the war bulletins which flow across his desk every hour, President Roosevelt still can break the White House tension with a laugh. Ernest Lindley tells us that a Washington newspaper, in its first edition, published a headline reading "President Kept to Rooms by Cold." The presses were stopped after 980 copies had been run, the typographical error corrected and all 980 copies were recalled before distribution. But when told about the misprint, the President was so amused that he ordered 11 of the original copies to pass out among his friends.

The headline first should have read: "President Kept to Rooms by Cold."

Truth Pays Off

"Who are you?" asked St. Peter. "We're fifty German airmen who were shot down today by the R. A. F.," was the reply.

WATER HENS WELL IN WARM WEATHER

When laying hens don't drink enough water, egg production will drop as fast, or faster than when they fall off in eating, says George P. McCarthy, poultry husbandman of the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service. The drop in consumption of water in summer most often is traceable to the drinking fountain being left in the open exposed to the afternoon sun. Normally, hens drink more liquids in hot weather than at other times of year, but if the water in the fountain gets too hot the birds won't drink enough. A decline in consumption of water also results in a reduction in the size of the eggs, McCarthy says. Placing the water fountain inside the chicken house, or under shade nearby, will induce the chickens to drink more freely. Advancing summer has still another reaction upon eggs. Usually, McCarthy explains, when green feed begins to dry up thin shells begin to appear. As a corrective he suggests adding at least three percent more of good quality dehydrated alfalfa leaf meal to the ration. In addition, a handful of fresh oyster shell should be sprinkled over the mash at least every other day until the shells of the eggs become normal. It is also a good practice in placing shell in small hoppers to use only small amounts and change it whenever it becomes dusty or litter accumulates in the hopper.

Oh, Joy!

and produces funny overtones, or something.

I'm beginning to suspect I know one of the reasons why our soldiers thrive on this desert climate. The generous amount of fruit in our diet must have something to do with it. A person who likes fruit certainly cannot complain about the meals. He gets it in one form or several every trip to the table. There's fruit salad, fruit jello, fruit pie, stewed apples, apple sauce, orange or grapefruit juice, besides plain oranges, apples and peaches. To top it off our drink with the noon and evening meal is usually orangeade or lemonade. A few mornings ago they served an orange and a peach with a half pint of orange juice as the fruit complement to the otherwise fair-sized breakfast.

And here I'll take time out to give sunny California credit for its really luscious peaches. These pictures in nursery catalogs. If people at home could grow 'em like this they'd push 'em to the county fair. Oranges and grapefruit are pretty too, but, for quality, I cast my vote for the Rio Grande Valley products. Something else about our diet is plenty of fresh vegetables—lettuce, cabbage and tomatoes. And considerably less meat. We usually have it only once a day.

This column is being completed during the first relief of guard duty, which, out here, isn't considered a bad job at all. Reason is that the day stretch is cut down from the customary two hours to one by the simple method of having one man walk his post and the neighbor's that first hour. Then the neighbor comes along and takes both. That way the guard has one hour of duty and three of relief. At night, however, when it's cooler, a man has to walk the usual two-hour beat.
