In the light of Wednesday's developments in Cuba, the column which follows was outdated before it appeared in print. News reports tell us that the anti-communist revolt has been shattered by Castro's Russian supplied arms-supply.

However since the article was set in type before the sad news was announced, and time is too short for re-writing, it will be used anyway. Much of it still applies, and it also points up the sad fact that our country's effort again was too little and too late. United States stands convicted of this shocking setback to the cause of world freedom.

The fate of Western civilization is on the line in Cuba since early Monday morning. The outcome of the anti-Castro revolution there will determine whether the communist objective of world domination sustains a major setback or whether it will move forward with increased vigor and ruthlessness.

There can be no doubt of the result if the liberation effort fails. If Castro succeeds in crushing this revolt there will be no reviving of the resistance spirit which offers the Cubans their only hope of a return to freedom and human dignity. The tyranny and butchery that have marked red rule up to now will be a mild sample of what follows. Opposition of every kind will be ruthlessly crushed. The people will be completely subdued. There will be nothing left on which to build for another attempt.

But that isn't the half of it. Success would catapult Castro to the status of a world hero and add enormously to his influence in the other Latin Americas. The thought of his increased prestige after a triumph over "American imperialism" is frightening. The red menace in the Western Hemisphere would thrive as never before.

We can imagine what the propaganda machine of Moscow could make of such material. We can imagine also the extent of deterioration of our country's influence in other parts of the world. It would be an irreparable blow to our allies on freedom's frontier in other parts of the world. As all the reds would surely remind them, how can America possibly help them if it could not win on the little island of Cuba?

Relative to that possibility, we cannot overlook the fact that Russia is already screaming its hypocritical accusations of United States interference in Cuban affairs. The Kremlin mob has the nerve to point an accusing finger at us when it is well known that practically all of Castro's equipment is supplied by the communists . . . and when, furthermore, some of that equipment, especially jet planes, must be operated by Russians. It's very doubtful that Castro had time to train his own pilots.

On the other side we have our administration's disappointing denial of red charges. We claim that the rebels have our sympathy but not our help. Why?

To our way of thinking it is high time for our country to quit its wishy-washy attitude and take a firm stand on the side of freedom. We should be proud to admit that we have a hand in the struggle just as the Russians do, and furthermore that we have a stake which justifies every effort necessary to win. We ought to proclaim to the world, and assure our friends everywhere, that we have drawn the line . . . that we have finally quit our policy of appeasement and are henceforth dedicated to the aid of anyone anywhere who tries to throw off the red yoke.

We might as well face the facts. We know that we are engaged in a life or death struggle with the communists. We know that they are only biding their time, inching forward with one advance after another until the day when we are completely cornered and have no chance to win. For the past fifteen years we have allowed them to advance relentlessly, always permitting them to settle with notable gains in territory and influence. We have seen millions of people plunged into slavery. In Eastern Europe, in China, in Korea, in Tibet, in Cuba in Viet Nam, in Laos. We have seen the growth of Moscow's ugly influence in the Near East and Africa. We Muenster was well represented in Dallas Sunday when Ad Altare Dei awards were made by Bishop Thomas K. Gorman in Sacred Heart Cathedral to Boy Scouts of the diocese who qualified for the honor, the highest a Catholic Scout can earn.

Muenster's full troop of 24 boys attended, along with Scoutmaster Nick Miller, the boys' parents, family members and friends and Father Martin Fischer and Brother Thomas Mosier. Herbie and Tony Yosten helped furnish transportation for the troop.

65 New Pupils at SH Indicated by Pre-Registration

About a hundred parents reported at Sacred Heart School Sunday afternoon to register their next year's first graders and to hear a discussion of the ungraded primary program.

Sister Gabriel explained the testing and the grouping of children according to the test and Sister Henrietta explained the ungraded primary system. And school uniforms were on display.

Some parents were unable to attend Sunday's meeting on account of conflicting engagements and these are invited to register their children this Sunday before any of the masses. Registrations will be in Rooms 1 and 2.

Unofficial estimates at this time place next term's beginning students at near 65. The official number will be available after Sunday's completed registration.

Only parents were present for the Sunday meeting. The children had their day at school Monday from 2:30 to 3:30 in the afternoon. They enjoyed a glimpse of school life with the present first year primary reading, singing songs and reciting. Then there was a joint recess with a candy treat and a picture book to take home.

The speakers will be introduced by four TP&L executives. They are Bassett Watson, vice-president in charge of sales; J. D. Eppright, director of industrial development; Stan Shively, director of community development; and Homer Gibbs, director of agricultural development.

4 Local Volley Teams Compete in Saint Jo Tourney

Muenster has two men's teams in the champ bracket and two ladies' teams in the consolation bracket at the Saint Jo invitation volleyball tournament this week.

The Auctioneers, after wins over Fields Ranch and Saint Jo Tribune, will play next in the champ bracket semifinal. Sacred Heart Alumni beat Illinois Bend in its opener Tuesday night.

Sacred Heart Alumni ladies went into the consolation bracket as a result of their loss to Sivalds Bend Tuesday night. Auctionettes got into consolation play for forfeiting Monday, then beating Nocona Leather Goods in their Tuesday night game.

Last Saturday night at Forrester the Auctioneers beat Nocona Leather Goods for that tournament's consolation trophy.

Tuberculin Test Will Be Given in Schools of County

Children in the first, seventh and 12th grades of all schools in Cooke County have received letters and request blanks for the tuberculin-testing program sponsored by the Cooke County Tuberculosis Association.

Parents are urged to return the completed registration blanks promptly as the series will start about May 1. A schedule of the testing program will be released shortly.

Latest equipment has been ordered by the county association so that time will be utilized to the best advantage. Records will be made and follow-ups studied.

The testing program finds hidden TB germs if they are there and the test is simple. The doctor or nurse puts a drop of harmless liquid tuberculin into the skin and it feels about like a pinprick. A few days later they look to see what has happened to the spot. If the spot shows positive reaction the child's parents are advised to have his chest x-rayed.

Fund Sought for Myrick Memorial in New Hospital

A special drive within a drive is the effort now under way to establish some unit of the Muenster's hospital as a memorial to Dr. T. S. Myrick.

If the response justifies, that unit will probably be a delivery room in remembrance of the hundreds of local persons who were brought into the world by him.

With that in mind the first appeal for donations is directed particularly to those who were Dr. Myrick's babies. Their ages range from about 2 to over 25. Older ones are encouraged to make the donations on their own and parents are urged to do it for the children. Besides, other gifts are also welcomed for the special memorial fund.

Total subscriptions in the hospital campaign now stand at $193,451.01. Organizational work for reviving the campaign is in progress and the final push for the $250,000 goal is expected to start in less than two weeks.

PTA Election Puts Bill Lindsay in Office as Prexy

Annual election of officers by members of the Parent-Teacher Association Monday night put Bill Lindsay in office as president. Other new members of the executive committee are Mrs. Albert Fleitman, vice president; Mrs. David Trachta, secretary; and Mrs. Mike Sloan, treasurer. Glenn Hellman was re-elected parliamentarian.

Mrs. Paul Fisher, retiring president, conducted the meeting and Superintendent L. B. Brun announced coming events on the school calendar including the senior class trip, April 25-30.

Mrs. David Trachta accepted chairmanship of a committee to see about getting a tennis court on the school grounds and the organization voted to sponsor a child at Denton State School for one year.

Date for next month's meeting was moved forward so as not to conflict with end of school programs and will be held May 15 at which time newly elected officers will be installed.

The business session followed a program of band music presented by the school band under direction of James Larson.

Annual Meeting Of Electric Co-op Set for Monday

Several hundred members of the Cooke County Electric Cooperative Association will be in Muenster next Monday for the organization's annual general meeting. Their purpose will be to hear reports on the past year's operation and to elect two members on its seven-man board of directors. The meeting will be held in the auditorium of Muenster High School starting at 7 o'clock. The first hour is reserved for registrations and after 7:30, while registrations continue, the crowd will be entertained by the "Willie Wiredhand Serenaders."

The business session will begin at 8 o'clock with Jack Crownover, president, as chairman. Rev. Lewis Stuckey Jr., pastor of First Methodist Church, Saint Jo, will give the invocation. Herbert Meurer, mayor of Muenster, will extend the city's welcome, and the general meeting will follow.

Directors whose terms expire this year are Al Wiesman and Joe Bengfort. Both have been nominated for reelection and other nominations can be made at the meeting prior to balloting.

Directors whose terms do not expire this year are Jack Crownover, Doye Doty, J. A. Klement, Ben Davis and T. P. Skinner.

During vote counting and for a while afterward the Willie Wiredhand Serenaders appear again. Then Mike Sloan, manager, will present a report on the past year's operation and also on the financial condition of the cooperative.

Most popular event of the meeting is the traditional drawing for attendance prizes. Included on the list are about 25 electrical appliances with a total retail value of over $700.

Afterward girls of the local FHA chapter will serve refreshments.

Contract Given For New Wing on County College

To J. A. Owens, Gainesville contractor, went the contract for the building of the new wing to County College, with work beginning within two weeks.

Members of the College board of trustees met in the auditorium Tuesday afternoon at 2 for opening of bids from 11 area firms and selecting their contractor.

Owens submitted a bid of $33,240.00 with construction to be complete in 210 days. The addition will begin with the south end of the existing building and extend west, adding 7,141 square feet of space. Included will be two regular classrooms, journalism, fine arts, and business administration laboratories, art and mechanical rooms, six offices and storerooms, two restrooms, a clinic, and custodian quarters.

The Board completed the final step toward changing the name to Cooke County Junior College with the signing of the official papers requesting the change through the aid of Texas Education Agency.

Pres. J. H. Parker said that this legal act would be the smallest part of the change. Also required are changes of stationery, checks, catalogues, and other publications to be printed following this date. He added that even this might be done more easily than getting people accustomed to use the new name.

Mr. Parker reported to the Board on the recent meeting of the Texas Association of College and Universities and the visitation of the committee from Southern Association to Cooke County Junior College.

Schedule of Coming Events

SUNDAY, April 23, Tigers vs. St. John's, here.

MONDAY, Apr. 24, Electric Co-op annual meeting. MHS auditorium, registration at 7.

LIFE IN OUR WELFARE STATE

U. S. News & World Report recently devoted a lengthy article to "Life In The Welfare State" — Now And In The Future. The "welfare state" in question is the U.S. Here's its history, as the magazine recounts it: "Federal welfare today is a vast program that grows in leaps. In a few years, welfare has grown from a small program to become the second-most-expensive in the government. Only national defense costs more. . . .
 "In less than 30 years, the number of people getting some form of government help has grown to 23 million annually. Cost of the program this year alone will be $22 billion. This doesn't include cost of veterans' benefits." Next year, the magazine adds, the cost will be $26 billion if present Administration proposals for more welfare are approved.
 We will soon have to draw a firm line between what we want, or think we want, from government — and what we can afford. The cost of welfare is fast becoming insupportable.

LONG ARM

Another income tax time has come and gone. And millions of us feel a sad flatness in the pocketbook.
 Once the income tax was a rich man's tax — people of small and moderate earnings paid little or nothing. But now, as Citizens Public Expenditure Survey observes, "the long arm of the Internal Revenue Service reaches out to nearly everybody."
 Here's the cold statistical story: Of the total federal tax, people who earn under $5,000 a year pay 21 per cent. The $5,000-$10,000 group pays 39 per cent. The $10,000-$15,000 earners pay 11 per cent. The $15,000-$50,000 people pay 17 per cent. And the real big income group — $50,000 and over — pays only 12 per cent.

This isn't because the rich are favored — income tax rates reach a top bracket of 91 per cent. It simply reflects the fact that there are not enough wealthy people to foot the bill for government — but there are millions of individuals in the modest income brackets. So, inevitably, the latter must pay the great bulk of government costs. And they, collectively, would gain the most from reductions in non-essential governmental spending.

ADD IT UP

Some lay-offs and price increases would follow an increase in federal minimum wage from $1 to $1.25 an hour and its extension to retail and service trades, members of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States report.

Here are some of their replies to a questionnaire from the National Chamber:

A retail farm equipment dealer in Wyoming would raise prices five per cent.
 A retail grocer in North Dakota would raise prices one per cent.

A department store in California would boost prices two per cent.

An auto dealer in Illinois would increase prices five per cent.

A jeweler in Massachusetts would raise prices five per cent.

A laundry and dry cleaning firm in New Jersey would lay off 15 out of 290 employees to help offset a $75,000 wage increase.

A small hotel chain foresees an annual wage increase of $975,000, requiring lay-offs of 150 of its 1,400 employees.

A department store in Ohio says the legislation would add about $400,000 to wage costs, and that it would lay off 90 of its 1,500 employees.

What does it all add up to? You can answer that question very briefly: More inflation and more unemployment.

Budgeting's the thing to do. On that I'm quite emphatic. I'm just as broke as ever, true, But now it's systematic.
 —Hal Chadwick

INNER SPACE FAILURE

The Russians talk a pretty big case in almost any field. But when it comes to serving the consumer, this is only the thinnest pretense in the Communist world he's truly the forgotten man.

With 30 million more mouths to feed than we have, the Soviet Union turns out around 4.3 billion containers of canned food a year. We produce 24 billion annually.

The Russians are experimenting a lot in space. Apparently one space they could pay far more attention to is the housewife's food shelf.

DISARMAMENT SCHEME

Senator Barry Goldwater writes, in National Review: "Armament races throughout history have always been a symptom of international friction — not a cause of it. Friction does not disappear by rival nations suddenly deciding to turn their swords into ploughshares. No nation in its right mind will give up the means of defending itself without first making sure that hostile powers are no longer in a position to threaten it. The Communist leaders are, of course, in their right minds. They may preach general disarmament for propagandistic purposes. They may also seriously promote mutual disarmament in certain weapons in the knowledge that their superior strength in other weapons would leave them, on balance, decisively stronger than the West. . . . If all nuclear weapons suddenly ceased to exist, much of the world would immediately be laid open to conquest by the masses of Russian and Chinese manpower."

STOP DOWNGRADING OUR SCHOOLS

Supporters of federal intervention in public school education are downgrading the achievements of American teachers, school boards, and communities in building the finest education system the world has ever known.

That is the view of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. It supports it by pointing out that there are more classrooms, more teachers, a lower pupil-teacher ratio, lower pupil-classroom ratio, and a higher level of education in this country than ever before in history.

Statistically, the story goes like this: In the last 10 years the number of public school pupils increased 48 per cent, while the number of classrooms jumped 60 per cent and the number of teachers 51 per cent. Teacher's salaries rose 72 per cent, to an average of $5,389 a year. Money spent per pupil boomed from $224 a year to $390.

On top of that, American communities approved the highest volume of school bond issues in history during 1960.

All this has been done without federal intervention, federal dictation — or the federal control that would inevitably follow federal subsidy of local schools.

Generals Lee and Grant fought on the same side in the Mexican war.

MAKING THE MOST OF THE WORST

The Democrats' favorite howl against Dwight D. Eisenhower during his eight-year tenure in the White House was that he consistently attempted to paint a rosy picture for the populace regardless of the facts of the moment.

Now, President John F. Kennedy's Administration seems determined to fly to the other extreme, viewing every problem on the horizon as an omen of impending doom. Obviously hoping to create a public clamor sufficient to justify the sharp new swing to socialism which he advocated in his campaign for office, President Kennedy is making a full-time career of crying "Wolf!"
 Since Inauguration Day, we have been bombarded with daily doses of Operation Calamity: Our economy is stagnant; our workers are unemployed; our industrial areas are depressed and deteriorating; our children are being denied a decent education; our aged are unable to pay for much-needed medical care and treatment; great numbers of our neighbors are "going to bed hungry every night."

There is no denying, of truth in each of these allegations. Some segments of our economy are decidedly depressed; some of our cities need rehabilitation; some of our children are doubtless victimized by the classroom shortage. But, on the whole, President Kennedy's indictment is as dishonest as false optimism, in that it ignores the healthy positive side of the picture.

Noted the Wall Street Journal last week:

"Throughout their history, the American people have been blessed with a divine dissatisfaction; they are self-critical by nature. They should listen closely to those who would make the best they have done even better, but it will profit them little to listen to those who would make the most of the worst."

Mrs. Al Horn Has Birthday Party

Mrs. Al Horn's birthday Friday brought a gathering of relatives and friends to her home to help her celebrate with an afternoon party.

She received a shower of gifts which she opened and displayed and then served birthday cake with other refreshments. The cake which she made herself depicted a garden scene and was a conversation piece.

Guests were Mrs. J. S. Horn, Mrs. Ray Wilde and children, Mrs. Tony Wimmer and daughter Jackie, Mrs. Herman Stoffels and Mrs. Johnny Schmitz and children of Gainesville. Mrs. Horn's father, John Schmitz of Thacker, Okla., came by to say happy birthday and she had a phone call from her sister, Mrs. Martin Theimer from Oklahoma City.

Mrs. Theimer also included greetings for their brother, Freddie Schmitz, and in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Horn went to Gainesville to relay the message and took some of the birthday cake to Freddie and his family. Mrs. Horn and her brother have birthdays on the same day.

One of the most versatile of the Air Force missiles in today's arsenal of defense is the MACE. Equipped with an inertial guidance system, this air-breathing sub-sonic weapon is capable of a low level attack, avoiding local radar surveillance with combined flight program deviations to slip by mountainous terrain or other earth obstacles.

Perhaps the toughest reliability and guidance system requirements have been placed on MACE. These far exceed those placed on its ballistic missile brothers because its guidance system must operate up to two hours while guidance system operation in ballistic missiles is measured in seconds.

To eliminate costly trial and error flight testing, the Air Force instituted a unique innovation. The MACE inertial guidance system is placed in the nose of a twin jet B-57 bomber, functions under actual flight conditions without loss of highly complex electronic components.

Winners in Poetry Contest Named by Local CDA Court

Winners in the poetry contest sponsored by the local court Catholic Daughters of America have been announced. There were more than a hundred entries in three divisions from Sacred Heart School. Mrs. Tony Gremminger was contest chairman for the sponsoring group and Mrs. John Mosman, Miss Doris Vavra and Arthur Bordeau served as judges.

The winners in Division I, grades 4, 5, and 6, are Ann Stewart, Melvin Bayer and Sheila Hennigan, in that order. In Division II grades 7, 8 and 9, winning entries are by Jeannine Hofbauer, Angeline Hess and Jerry Taylor, and in Division III, grades 10, 11 and 12, best poems are by Karen Endres, David Yosten and Patsy Klement, in that order.

Local winners received cash awards — all nine of them sharing in the prize money — and the three top poems have been entered in state competition.

Catholic Daughter courts throughout Texas sponsor the contest annually, all students in parochial schools being eligible to participate. Poems require a religious theme. Another Muenster girl is a first place winner. She's Karen Stormer, a student at Our Lady of Victory High School in Fort Worth.

Results of the contest were told at the local court's April meeting Friday night.

Other reports included those on Library, mission, sick and picnic.

Report of Mrs. J. M. Weinzapfel, city librarian revealed 13 books purchased since the previous report. They include biographies, fiction and reference works. Committee on cards to the sick told of cheering four members while they were in the hospital. Mission report showed Mrs. Joe Swirczynski active, sorting, mending, packing and shipping some 200 pounds of used clothing. The Easter Monday receipts at the court's surprise package booth netted $112.90 which was turned over to the Knights of Columbus for their hospital pledge.

Mrs. Steve Mosier, grand regent, announced election of officers as business for next month's meeting and a nominating committee was appointed. It consists of Mrs. Paul Fisher, chairman, and Mrs. Frank Yosten, Mrs. Herbert Meurer, Mrs. Pat Hennigan and Miss Marie Trubenbach.

Mrs. Joe Hoenig, vice grand regent, accepted chairmanship of a committee to plan a benefit for this summer to apply on the court's hospital pledge.

Among correspondence read were letters of thanks from St. Paul's Indian Mission, Marty, S. D., for clothing, from Congressman Frank Ikard with reference to the Federal Aid to Education bill; from the Knights of Columbus Council for the court's assistance in Easter Monday picnic activity; and from Mrs. Gladys Polansky, district deputy, announcing a diocesan leadership institute to be held in Dallas on June 11 and urging members to keep that date open and start making plans to attend.

After adjournment, Mrs. John Mosman, lecturer served coffee and cookies to those present.

On Concert Tour

Roy Alvin Redman, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Redman of Saint Jo, accompanied the Seminary Singers of Perkins School of Theology, SMU, Dallas, on a tour through Louisiana, Mississippi, Tennessee and Arkansas, giving concerts in Methodist churches in cities on their itinerary. The group returned Tuesday and gave a final concert at University Park. It was a week's tour. Young Redman received his BA degree in Music at NTSC in Denton in 1960. He is now a student at Perkins Seminary and is doing field work at St. Stephens Methodist Church in East Dallas.

Student Tells Value of Latin

By Janice Vogel, SH High

Latin, the language of the ancient Romans, has an immense and abiding value for the average Latin student. On his voyage through Latin, he learns as one of the most valuable "by-products" of the study of Latin, the formation of English derivatives. From a single Latin word scores, and sometimes hundreds of English derivatives may be made, as any good English dictionary will verify.

Latin aids the student in the acquisition of excellency in spelling and an understanding of the words. How can a Latin student confuse the words session and cession, or stationary and stationery, for instance? In business, in agriculture, in science, medicine, law, journalism, in mathematics, whatever field of learning he may enter into, he will have a wider English vocabulary because he studied Latin while in high school.

He also learns that a knowledge of Latin will help him in the study of other languages. Many languages developed from Latin, such as French, Spanish, Portuguese and Italian. 70% of the words of the English language are derived from Latin. For instance, in the Preamble to the constitution of our country 29 out of the 55 words it contains are derived from Latin.

In our progressive age there arises a constant need for coining new words. These are most of the time gotten from the two great classical languages, Greek and Latin. Take for instance the word "television". It is composed of the Greek word "tele", which means "far off" and the word vision, which comes from the Latin word "videre" to see. So the word television means really to see far off. Other words which are of Latin origin, and which have been coined not too far in the past are: aviation, audio-visual aids, submarine, omnibus (a vehicle for all), now only called by its last syllable "bus". . . . and so a person could go on and on.

Not only will Latin help him in the study of other languages, including English, but it will also help him in other classes such as mathematics and the sciences. A very large number of words in these fields are derived from Latin. The Latin student will be able to grasp the full meaning of the words—words, non-Latin students will have to remember more or less mechanically.

Patrick J. Holloran, S. J., former President of Saint Louis University says that, "there is no greater aid for the understanding of our own English language than a knowledge of Latin. One who does not know Latin will probably never know the meaning of almost half our words." He goes on to say that, "In the whole field of cultural subjects, Latin will aid us as can few other subjects."

Former United States President, Harry S. Truman says that he wants his grandchildren to have "a knowledge of Latin and Greek" besides some foreign language in current use.

The NATIONAL CLASSICAL LEAGUE, THE CLASSICAL LEAGUE OF TEXAS and the corresponding JUNIOR CLASSICAL LEAGUES which are excellent and flourishing organizations testify to the life and strength the two great classical languages, Greek and Latin enjoy in this age of science.

More and more high schools today are teaching Latin. Today more students are taking Latin than all other foreign languages combined. Since the Renaissance there has never been a time when Latin has not been studied and taught in the schools.

Latin is excellent for preciseness of expression and for its correctness. Because of these qualities it has important educational values.

The more one studies Latin, the more he will appreciate it. Latin is not a "dead" language, it stays with you and helps you throughout your life.

Anyone who appreciates cultural values, will appreciate the value of Latin.

Two running wheels instead of the usual four, together with a unique delta shape, mark the Gyron as a novel experiment in possible future automotive styling. Shown above in three views, the full-size dream car was developed by Ford Motor Company advanced stylists under the direction of George W. Walker, Ford vice president and director of styling. The stylists assume that the vehicle could be stabilized by means of a gyroscope mounted just behind the passenger compartment. Two small outrigger wheels at the rear would retract when the gyro was in operation. A steering dial between two contoured seats replaces the conventional steering wheel and makes it possible for the car to be steered from either seat.

Why is the Ford Galaxie head and shoulders above all the imitators?

'61 Ford Galaxie, like all Fords, is available with the Thunderbird 292 V-8 engine that won the low-price V-8 class in this year's Mobilgas Economy Run—averaging 21.3 miles per gallon!

Because it's beautifully built to take care of itself!

Frankly, we're tickled to see so many other cars trying to latch on to the styling trend started by Galaxie. But they can't copy that Thunderbird roofline—any more than they can match Galaxie's Thunderbird luxury and handling.

What's more, Galaxie is the fine car built to cut your operating costs—by being beautifully built to take care of itself! For example, you can go 30,000 miles without a lubrication. And when you compare price, you find that Galaxie costs several hundred dollars less than some cars that give you less. Challenging statement? We're here to prove it—today.

Here's how the '61 Ford takes care of itself Lubricates itself—You go 30,000 miles between chassis lubrications (which cost only about $4.00 and take about 20 minutes). Cleans its own oil—You go 4,000 miles between oil changes with Ford's Full-Flow oil filter (which filters better through filters). Adjusts its own brakes—New Truck Size brakes adjust themselves—automatically. Guards its own muffler—Ford mufflers are double-wrapped and aluminumized to last three times as long as ordinary mufflers. Protects its own body—All vital underbody parts are specially processed to resist rust and corrosion, even to galvanizing the body panels beneath the doors. Takes care of its own finish—Just wash and clean Ford's new Diamond Lustre Finish and it will continue to glisten like new. It never needs waxing.

Newest in plate glass is this rough textured stipple pattern which has been designed to "obscure the view but let the light come through." A national trend to larger interior areas of partition glass in all types of buildings from homes to skyscrapers led to this development by Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company. Many new buildings have more glass inside than out. "Stipple" was developed to provide a portion of privacy without excluding natural daylight.

Tiger Ball Team Breaks Long Jinx Wins Two Games

The jinx ranging over Sacred Heart's Tigers was finally broken last Friday when they walloped the Knights of Lindsay 12-7. Sunday it was the same old story when they went down by a count of 11-3 at Windthorst, but luck returned again Tuesday in the 2-1 decision over Goldburg.

Good hitting accounted for the win at Lindsay. The Tigers started strong with 4 hits and 4 runs in the first inning and connected again later for a total of 13 hits. Lindsay evened the count in the second but Sacred Heart gained steadily after that. Wolf allowed 6 hits while walking 8 and fanning 11. Sandman had 8 walks and 7 strike outs and gave up 13 hits.

At Windthorst the Trojans got 16 hits and 5 walks while the Tigers got 8 and 2 to account for their 11-3 win. For the first four innings the Tigers had a chance, the score standing at 6-2, but their hopes were blasted in the fifth by two singles and a walk followed by two homers. Strike outs were 6 for Wolf, 8 for the Windthorst pitcher.

Good defensive work by the fielders saved the game for Sacred Heart Tuesday. Jerome Fuhrman allowed Goldburg 10 scattered walks and 2 hits but only one of the dozen cashed in. The Tigers got 5 hits and only that many on base. They got no walks. However hits came when they counted. In the second Claude Bayer doubled and scored on Pat Knabe's single. Next inning Francis Fuhrman took first on a fielder's choice, stole second and scored on Miller's single. Fuhrman beat the visiting hurler 8-2 in strike outs.

Please pay hospital pledge installments promptly. One third cash is needed in order to get started.

have objected many times but every time communism made another gain.

Realizing all that, how can we possibly fail to see that we are fighting the war the wrong way? Our defensive policy has been a hopeless fizzle. All of it has been a preview of the present absurd situation in Laos. Even today, when we should know all about the red method, we and England plead for negotiations. Meanwhile Russia stalls and red troops keep pushing forward . . . until physical possession gives them an advantage in the settlement.

There's only one way to deal with that kind of enemy . . . to stop this defensive nonsense and start attacking. Instead of trying to hold the line we should adopt the red's own method and push back the line at every opportunity.

It can be done. There are lots of places where we can help patriots revolt against communist tyranny, and furnish them weapons as Russia does. At the same time we can proudly tell the world that we give material as well as moral support to every bid for freedom. If we are to give billions of dollars worth of help all over the world why not do it in a way to help the world get rid of its worst curse?

Implications of the revolution in Cuba leave little doubt that we have reached a vital point in the history of civilization. It isn't enough just to be sympathetic. We have to see that the rebels win. If necessary, we need to send in some of our fighter planes well loaded with Sidewinders to blast down the Russians who have poked their noses into Cuban affairs. At the same time we ought to be ready to annihilate any Russian attempt to bring in more help. Aside from that it's sufficient to furnish equipment to the Cuban patriots and let them furnish the men to clean up their affairs.

This column endorses the method of action proposed by a commentator just a few days ago. Reminding that United States has only 7 per cent of the world's manpower but a big percentage of the world's industrial power, he suggests the offer of supplies and technical help, but not troops, to any who want to fight the communists.

Why not? Why shouldn't we acknowledge the real state of world affairs and openly strive to deal with them the most effective way?

Silver and gold coins have a rough edge because if they were smooth it would be easy to file off some of the valuable metal without changing the coin's appearance.

"Gat," the slang word for gun comes from the Gatling gun which was used before the modern machine gun.
