VOLUME XXV

MUENSTER, COOKE COUNTY, TEXAS

APRIL 14, 1961

NUMBER 21

After-election rumbblings of the Cooke County hospital issue should serve as a warning to us, as well as to opposition leaders of Gainesville, that no time can be lost in working out a practical solution of the regrettable problem. Only one thing has been determined at the ballot box. A majority of voters decided to let free enterprise have a try at the solution. If a satisfactory answer isn't forthcoming soon we can expect a renewal of the former clamor to shoot the works and hand the bill over to the taxpayers. Here at Muenster, fortunately, the general attitude seems to favor continuation of our own project regardless of the outcome of Gainesville's hassle. Even at this early stage it has become an object of community pride. Besides it is confidently regarded as a valuable asset that will help substantially toward continued growth and progress of our area. We want it no matter what happens east of us.

Feeling that way we have no reason for further delay in our drive. On the other hand we do have a very good reason to push for the earliest possible completion. It's important, even urgent, that we produce evidence of having our part of the hospital problem under control. That assurance, along with progress in Gainesville's solution, is all that's needed to convince people of the county that another elaborate proposal is both unnecessary and unwise. In other words, early success in our venture is our best insurance against having a tax burden added to our own voluntary obligation.

Or even assuming that Gainesville should fail in its present efforts, and another tax plan is introduced, there's a good chance that our achievement would tend to hold down the cost of the other. Last week's vote indicated that many are interested in existing facilities over there. After we provide our part of relief to the hospital problem many more should feel confident that those facilities, along with their proposed expansion, offer an adequate solution. As pointed out by some during the recent campaign, a change of ownership of M&S is the best method. If that can't be accomplished public ownership of it is much better than the proposed expensive way. And there's no reason why it should not be available for public purchase as well as private. Taxpayers have a right to keep that in mind and balk at any more expensive plans.

Regarding the merits of M&S Hospital, a report that came out last week unfortunately was too late for circulation during the campaign. Five graduates of its nursing school . . . many of our county do not know that the hospital offers the course . . . took their state board exams late in March and all passed, which is more than can be said for many graduates of other and larger schools, some of them in large colleges. And one of them was among the top ten taking the exam. That record is a special credit to Mrs. Frank Blagg, who is in charge of the course, but it also reflects favorably on the hospital which sponsors it. Also mentioned in the report is the fact that M&S Nursing School ranked 35th among 77 schools represented that is the hospital which taxpayers were asked to freeze out of business, at a cost of two million dollars.

This column's concern for taxpayers in the hospital issue seems to be confusing to Jack Joyce, who quips "where does he think Hill-Burton funds come from?" The remark indicates that indeed he is easily confused. Surely he knows enough about Hill-Burton funds to understand that Muenster's acceptance of the grant has no effect whatever on the total Hill-Burton appropriation or on the tax which provides it. The money is made available by the federal government, and our failure to accept it would not save American taxpayers a single penny. It would simply be granted to some other project.

But this county tax situation is different. Approval of the bond issue would actually cost the taxpayers and refusal has saved them the tax. It's that simple.

There was reference also to this column's former unbending opposition to Hill-Burton funds. For anyone's (Continued on page 8)

Council Contracts For Early Paving On Walnut Street

H. M. Scott and Son of Denison is the successful bidder for the pavement job on Walnut Street from the highway to Sixth Street, City Manager Steve Mosler disclosed this week.

His bid was 55 cents per square yard for wetting, shaping and packing the existing gravel base and applying the primer coat and two-course surfacing of asphalt and crushed rock.

The charge to property owners along the street will be 72 cents per square yard. The additional 17 cents over paving cost is intended to compensate the city for part of the cost of base material, which has already been provided by the city. Even then, Mosler said, the city will not break even on the project, because the space across intersections and alleys is paved at city expense.

Another block likely to get new pavement is Fifth from Walnut to Pecan. In addition the city will get some repair work. Pecan from the highway to Sixth will have shoulders repaired and widened. Originally 18 feet wide, the street has been narrowed considerably as pavement edges broke away. After repairs it will be 20 feet wide. Other pavement repair is planned wherever needed around town.

Work is due to begin within two weeks. In the meantime residents are reminded to notify Street Commissioner Ray Otto or City Manager Steve Mosler if they wish to have pavement work done. It's possible now to fill in the gap between narrow pavement and curb line, provided the curb is there and a project can be worked out for a complete block of fill in. Anyone interested can get more details from Otto or Mosler.

The reason for earlier pavement this year is to give the project full benefit of summer heat, which causes it to thin more and bind more securely with the base. Repairs on Main Street, just finished, are not a part of the city paving program. As part of the FM road it is maintained by the state highway department.

Hellman Brothers Entries Dominate County Lamb Show

The Hellman brothers, Doug and Mark, monopolized the lamb division of the Cooke County Junior Fat Stock Show in Gainesville Tuesday. Doug won the grand champ banner and reserve champ rosette besides 7 blue and 3 red ribbons on his ten entries. Mark got 9 blue and 1 red ribbon on his 10 entries. Together they showed 20 of the 45 animals in the division.

The only competitive part of the show was selection of grand and reserve champions. Otherwise all animals were judged on merit.

Roy Monday's fat calf was the only other Muenster animal in the show. It received a white ribbon. There were 25 calves and 30 barrows besides the sheep.

Animals are entered in the show with the understanding that they will be sold immediately. All were hauled to Fort Worth and sold Wednesday.

May 6 Set as Day For Garden Club's Spring Flower Show

May 6, first Saturday of the month, has been set as the date for Muenster Civic League and Garden Club's Spring Flower Show. Theme of the show will be "The Air Is All Perfume," and exhibits, featuring iris and roses, will be displayed in the City Hall and will be open to the public. Mrs. Ben Luke is general flower show chairman.

Members made plans for the event at their meeting Monday night when Mrs. Dick Cain was hostess in her home with Mrs. L. B. Bruns as co-hostess.

Other business was brief, consisting of reports by Mrs. Tony Gremminger telling about flowers planted at the cemetery, and Mrs. Bruns, reporting on the recent plant sale. She said there are still a number of plants available in both flower and tomato varieties and may be secured at Luke's Fina Station.

The evening's program was presented by Miss Charlotte Wolf before the business session and drew a round of praise and compliments for the young demonstrator. She prepared a balanced meal using dairy products. This is the demonstration Charlotte won first place on in the county dairy foods show and will give in the district contests. Mrs. Lou Wolf attended the meeting with her daughter and served the food to those present to sample.

After the business adjourned, the hostesses served German sweet chocolate cake, coffee and salted nuts to 16 members.

Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Derichsweiler and children of Lewisville, accompanied by Carol Dunn, visited over the weekend with their families here and at Saint Jo. They all attended the Sacred Heart senior class play Sunday evening before going home.

She broke her left arm at the wrist in a fall after making a mis-step off the back porch at home, and has the injury in a cast since Monday. The accident happened a week earlier but the arm didn't start bothering her until Monday.

News from Mrs. Frank Kaiser continues good. She is recovering splendidly from major surgery performed at M. D. Anderson Hospital in Houston and looks forward to being dismissed and returning home this weekend.

Next PTA Meeting Advanced 1 Week

This month's meeting of the Muenster PTA is advanced one week in order to avoid conflict with the annual meeting of the Cooke County Electric Cooperative, which will be held in MHS auditorium Monday night, the 24th. Mrs. Paul Fisher, PTA president, announced the change this week and also said that a concert by the Muenster High band will precede the meeting. Visitors are invited to attend and hear the concert. It will take about 45 minutes.

Hornet Trackmen In N. Texas Relays

The five Muenster Hornets qualified to enter the regional track meet on Saturday the 22nd will have their final competitive practice this week Saturday when they enter the double tough North Texas Relays at Denton.

This is another meet in which all high schools are grouped under one classification, hence Muenster's Class B boys will be matched against top talent of 3A and 4A schools.

MHS entries will be Larry Wimmer, Milton Fette, James Harris, Mark Hellman and Clyde Walterscheid. Events they will enter are 100 yard dash, 440 relay, 880 relay, broad jump, high jump and discus.

Meeting Endorses Revived Effort in Hospital Drive

A small but encouraging general meeting of the Muenster hospital campaign in the parish hall Monday night indicated an eagerness to get the drive re-organized soon and carry on to the earliest possible conclusion.

About forty persons were present at the hastily called meeting which happened to conflict with a half dozen previously called meetings. Nevertheless there were enough present to show the desire to keep going and to set up an organizing plan.

J. M. Weinzapfel, president of the hospital authority, turned the first job over to the monitors, who had been selected from the most active workers of the initial campaign effort. With Ray Wilde as chairman, that group will prepare its new list of prospects, including persons who have not previously given and some who would likely add to the previous donation. That group will also select workers, and its objective will be to look carefully for those who are best suited to do the job.

Those preparations are expected to take two or three meetings, after which contacts will begin.

Notes on Building and Improvement

Reports and rumors indicate lively building activity here for the coming months. Due to get started soon are the post office building and the new convent for the Benedictine sisters. In sight farther in the future are a new telephone building and a hospital. In addition there is talk of other projects which may possibly develop.

Current and recent activity has been exceptionally quiet, but has a few nice sized jobs. Heading the list are new homes for Albert Fleitman north of Muenster and James Bezner north of Lindsay. Both are 3 bedroom houses with two baths, central heat, brick veneering and attached garage. Fleitmans moved in Monday. Painters are working now at the Bezner place.

Just a little less than a completely new house is Ray Otto's major remodeling and rebuilding. It includes addition of utility, bath and office, enlargement of dining room and kitchen with lots of appliance and cabinet built-ins, new roof and paint jobs.

New farm buildings are three sheet metal hay barns . . . 30 x 70 for Norbert Klement, 50 x 70 for Paul Fetsch, 56 x 100 for Sam Seagraves.

The Earle Ottos have remodeled, papered and painted three rooms. Jack Fletchers have new sheet rock and paint in two rooms. Mrs. John Walterscheid has new paint and paper. Jim Strengs have renovated their kitchen. Louis Sickings have re-roofed their home.

Coming soon is general interior renovating on the house recently bought by Ray Evans from the Herman Gays, who will move to East Texas.

A big improvement at the cemetery is the new look given to the crucifixion group by H. A. Walterscheid to repair ravages by the elements during the past several decades. He applied plaster surgery to chips and cracks, then painted. Figures are bone white, the cross is gray. At the Center the parking lot has received a pavement job.

Registration for Beginning Pupils Set Sunday at SH

Registration for children entering Sacred Heart School in the Fall of 1961 will be held in the Sacred Heart High School library, Sunday, April 16 at 2:00 in the afternoon.

Both parents of the child beginning school are urged to be present for this registration as a discussion of the Ungraded Primary Program will be given prior to registration. Parents are asked to bring along information concerning the child's birth date, dates of immunizations and shots, etc., in order to facilitate registration. If all parents are present promptly at 2:00, the discussion can begin and all will be free to leave by 3:00.

The Sunday meeting is for parents only. Children beginning school in the Fall of 1961 are not to come for this registration but are invited to visit the school on the following day, Monday, April 17, from 2:30 to 3:30 in the afternoon. These children will visit in the classrooms and meet the children of the present First Year Primary Class.

Weather Cancels Display of 114 in FFA Stock Show

Rough weather last Saturday prevented showing but not the judging of Muenster FFA project animals. Because of rain and chill the judge, Dr. A. C. Hughes of East Texas State College, and the chapter adviser, Edgar Dyer told the boys to take their animals back home as soon as judged. In a few cases they even went to boys' homes and judged there rather than wait for the entries to come in.

As a result, weather gets the blame for stopping the chapter's biggest project show ever. There were 114 exhibits in all, and they were judged on merit rather than competitively. No grand champ or reserve awards were made because animals were not together for comparison.

Ribbons were given as follows: Hog division: 11 blue, 22 red, 5 white; Sheep: 24 blue, 32 red, 6 white; Beef: 1 blue, 4 red, 3 white; Dairy: 1 blue, 4 red, 1 white.

Bond Issue Loss Cut to 66 Votes

The outcome of last week's Cooke County hospital election was even closer than indicated by the unofficial count of the day. The margin defeating the bond issue has been trimmed from 96 to 66, according to a report by the county commissioners court after its official canvass Tuesday.

Official figures given by the court are 2636 for and 2702 against. Unofficially they were 2615 for and 2709 against.

I. A. Schoech, 81, Pioneer, Dies of Heart Attack

Death claimed one of the few remaining community pioneers Sunday night when Ignatius A. Schoech, 81, died about 8 o'clock at his home. He had a heart condition for some time but was out and around as usual Sunday with no mention of feeling ill. He had retired only a short time before he was stricken.

A retired farmer, I. A. Schoech was active in city affairs since he moved to town. Muenster had been his home for 71 years.

Funeral services were held Wednesday morning at 9:30 in Sacred Heart church with Father Martin Fischer officiating at the requiem high mass and delivering the funeral sermon. Burial in Sacred Heart Cemetery was directed by Nick Miller Funeral Home.

Grandsons were bearers; Mitchell and Roger Wolf of Houston, Melvin Schoech of San Antonio, Jimmy Wiesman and Julian and Sylvan Walterscheid.

Rosary services were held at the Miller Chapel Tuesday at 4 and at 8 p.m.

Born Feb. 7, 1880, in Austria, I. A. Schoech was four years old when he came to America, making the trip with his uncle and aunt, the Henry Schoechs, who settled in Nebraska and moved to Muenster six years later. He had resided here continuously since.

On Jan. 15, 1907, he was married to Miss Dina Trachta and carpentered in the community until he bought his own farm. After retiring from work he became associated with a number of city affairs serving on the city council two years, on the school board four years, as city water commissioner four years and was a long-time member of the city tax equalization board.

For many years he was secretary of the Germania Insurance Association, an office he held at the time of his death. He was a musician and a charter member of Muenster's first community band.

MHS Band Second In SMU Festival

Short in quantity though strong in quality was the verdict which nosed the Muenster High band out of first place in Class B division of the SMU band festival last Friday. Saint Jo was winner of the six bands entered. Muenster got a plaque for second.

Lack of just a few instruments was the deciding factor the judge told Director James Larsen afterward. His players were best in melody, but they did not have some of the essential tones needed to compete a band.

Nevertheless, said Larsen, he's proud of the band. It did fine and had the satisfaction of being named by several directors and the judge as their choice for the best performance.

The sophomores are particularly anxious for this to be a big event with lots of customers. They hope the proceeds will pay off the indebtedness on their class gift to the school's biology department.

WHAT NEXT?

Of all things! It is now proposed that along with the billions of dollars we've been exporting to our friends (?) around the world, we are to start shipping them our own particular brand of Socialism. We quote President Kennedy in announcing an appointment to the Tennessee Valley Authority board. He called on that great Yard Stick to "study ways in which the lessons it has learned in the Tennessee Valley may be exported abroad."

What lessons? How to construct projects at taxpayers' expense? How to operate tax-free projects? How to force citizens in other areas to pay part of the electric bills of one particular area?

Shucks! If we are to export ideas on the production of electric energy, why not tell other nations that investor-owned taxpaying corporations produce approximately 80 percent of the U. S. A.'s electricity?

Let's turn TVA and all other Federal power projects over to private investors. That will be something to tell the world. This will be made possible by enactment of the Proposed 23rd Amendment, which among other things calls for the Federal Government to sell ALL corporations (including power projects) which it has created and is operating unconstitutionally in competition with private enterprise.

THE RIGHT TO ADVOCATE

Has a taxpayer the right to spend money, in ethical and legal fashion, in an effort to defeat or promote legislation which would affect his business and his livelihood and to regard the cost as a legitimate business expense for income tax purposes? Or, if he so undertakes to make his views known, must he do so at a heavy tax penalty?

These are not academic questions. The Internal Revenue Service and other government agencies have held that such expenditures are not tax deductible. This has happened in the case of a number of enterprises which have used advertising and other means of expression to say what they think about legislative propositions. The outstanding example here is the electric utility industry. It has, openly and aboveboard, opposed the socialized power movement—which is literally a life-and-death matter so far as it is concerned. If that is not a legitimate business expense, which should be treated like all other business expenses for income tax purposes, one wonders what it is.

In any event, the Committee on Federal Taxation of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants recently expressed themselves thus to the House Ways and Means Committee: "We believe the taxpayers not only have the right but have an obligation to express their informed opinions and share their experiences with legislators and the public generally. When such activities bear a close relationship to the taxpayer's trade or business or to other activities engaged in for the production of income and the methods employed are legal and moral, the expenses thereof should be deductible for income tax purposes."

Apparently only Congress can bring about a change in the existing IRS rulings. Let us hope that it acts, and with minimum delay. There is no room in a supposedly free country for censorship by taxation.

START PROCLAIMING PRIVATE ENTERPRISE

Whatever impression the leaders of Western nations carry away from their meetings with the heads of the Communist empire, one usually stands out above all the rest. And that is simply this: that every Communist leader has a total uncompromising faith in the power, essential rightness, and ultimate triumph of the system which he represents. This belief and determination now threaten free institutions in every corner of the earth. In our own country, this facet of Communism has been remarked upon repeatedly by citizens in all walks of life who have come in contact with it. That this determination should be so disturbing is, in fact, merely a reflection of a far more menacing danger, and that is an uncertainty on our part and a lack of faith and belief in the strength and essential rightness of our capitalistic institutions.

Much of the teaching in our schools and colleges leaves a student with a feeling of doubt as to the rightness of private enterprise in a free nation. Our federal government is furthering the socialistic philosophy in many ways by putting government into business in competition with private citizens, thus adding to the confusion of students. The effect is to glorify big government rather than to build pride in and support of individualistic opportunity that built this nation. Why should our people tolerate policies that destroy representative government and private enterprise?

"The American business world... now faces its gravest hour, both at home and abroad. Khrushchev says American children will grow up under Communism and he isn't joking."

"American free enterprise is in a critical position today, placed there by its own reluctance to talk about itself. If we don't do something about this situation of public opinion now, the American incentive system as we know it won't survive many more generations."

GOD LOVES YOU!

By Rev. M. Raymond, Trappist monk and author of THE MAN WHO GOT EVEN WITH GOD

Do we realize what it means when we say God loves us? The words are easy to say, but do we really believe them? We must be deeply persuaded of God's love for us, if we are ever going to be happy.

To be persuaded that God loves us all we need do is face facts. Look! God ran his eye over billions on billions of possible beings. He alone knows how many billions He passed by until He came to you. You were the one He made. Before time was, you were a chosen soul. That choice spelled love.

THE SUN will one day burn out and the stars weary in their flight, but you will go on in existence so long as God is God. He chose you to live forever. That spells love.

And how did He bring you forth? Blind? No! He set twenty-one million mirrors in each of your baby eyes so you might enjoy the beauty He has scattered over land and sea and sky; so you might thrill to the rose of a dawning, the gold of a sunset. That is love.

You were not born deaf. God tuned twenty-seven thousand harp-strings and placed them within the frame of your ear. They have given you the magic of melody and the mystery of music. That is love.

Just think of the one billion cells in your human brain, each connected with every other one by fleshy wires, thinner than threads but truer in their task than the compass needle in pointing to the pole. Can you imagine any telephone exchange of a billion lines in which no call goes unanswered? That is what God set up and manages under the dark cover of your cranium. Need I say that that spells love?

WHO keeps you alive? The throb of your heart is not like the tick of a time-piece, you know. God is not like a clockmaker who merely winds up his productions and lets them run. He is more nearly like the singer and you the singer's note. So long as He breathes on His vocal cords you will exist; let Him stop for a split second and you will cease to be.

You know the law of gravity. A stone will stay suspended in your hand only so long as your hand holds it. Just as that stone will fall to earth if you withdraw your hand, so will you fall back into the abyss of nothingness from which God lifted you unless He holds you suspended in His palms. Love brought you forth, love sustains you.

God has preserved you all these years. Your very breathing at this moment proves you a chosen soul, because God made you for a purpose. You have been chosen for a special service by God.

WILL YOU fulfill your destiny? Ask God's help and EXPECT GREAT THINGS!

Officers Installed By VFW Auxiliary At April Meeting

Installation of new officers featured the April meeting of the Muenster VFW Auxiliary Monday night with Mrs. Richard Swirczynski, past president, conducting the ritual.

Before the ceremony, Mrs. Arthur Bayer, retiring president, was in charge of routine business. After the installation, Mrs. Leo Lawson presided.

Principal coming event is the annual Buddy Poppy campaign which the Auxiliary will again sponsor in May. Mrs. Charlie Pagel accepted chairmanship and is appointing assistants.

Honor roll requirements for the month were met. They include a contribution to the Cancer Crusade . . . the Auxiliary contributing ten dollars . . . and holding a school of instructions.

Mrs. Bayer thanked members for their help and cooperation while she was in office. In appreciation for her leadership, members presented her a parting gift. Mrs. Swirczynski, installing officer, also received a gift from the membership.

In other business the Auxiliary agreed to adopt a worthy local Boy Scout and see him through scouting financially.

They also voted in favor of a monthly attendance prize, the "pot" to start with five dollars. If the member whose name is drawn is not present, two dollars is added each month until the prize is won.

After adjournment, a Dutch lunch was served and table games followed. Twenty members were present.

New officers are: Mrs. Leo Lawson, president; Mrs. Arthur Bayer, senior vice president; Mrs. Charlie Pagel, junior vice president; Mrs. Norbert Walterscheid, treasurer; Rosa Driever, chaplain; Mrs. Raymond Walterscheid, conductress; Mrs. C. Cecilia Neu Bride of Raymond Hoenig In Lindsay Service

Wedding vows pledged in St. Peter Church at Lindsay Saturday, April 8, united in marriage Miss Cecilia Neu, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe J. Neu of Lindsay and Raymond Hoenig, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hoenig of Muenster.

The Rev. Hubert Neu of Ennis, brother of the bride, performed the double ring ceremony and officiated at the nuptial high mass at 4 p.m.

The bride was lovely in a formal gown of pure silk organza, frosted with re-embroidered Chantilly lace which accented the short sleeves and the modified scoop neckline and extended down the front of the closely fitted basque bodice. The very bouffant skirt, appliqued with lace medallions, swept into a chapel train. A princess crown of pearls held her waist length veil of illusion and she carried a white orchid atop a white prayer book borrowed from her sister, Mrs. Wilfred Bindel. For something old she carried an heirloom lace handkerchief from her grandmother, the late Mrs. Joseph Flusche. And she wore a single strand of pearls, a gift from the groom.

Miss LaVerne Flusche of Dallas, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor wearing a pastel pink organza dress designed with an apple-shaped skirt and matching hat and mitts. Her flowers were a colonial bouquet of white rose buds, and her jewelry was a pearl-drop necklace, a gift from the bride.

Harold Bindel of Muenster was his cousin's best man and Charles Neu of Lindsay and Richard Hermes of Gainesville were ushers.

Easter lilies and greenery adorned the altar and St. Cecilia's choir sang the mass. Mrs. William Schmitz was organist and Mrs. Norbert Walterscheid of Muenster was soloist for a post nuptial selection, "Mother at Your Feet," while the bride placed a bouquet of white gladioli on the Blessed Virgin's altar.

RECEPTION AND BUFFET
From church, relatives and friends went to Lindsay Parish Hall for a reception and buffet. Decorations accented the bride's colors and rose buds were the floral complement. About 200 guests were present.

When the newlyweds left on their honeymoon trip, not revealing their destination, Mrs. Hoenig was wearing a powder blue two-piece outfit with white accessories and the orchid from her wedding bouquet.

When they return they will make their home in Irving, occupying Apt. 14 at 1300 Riverview. He is employed at Container Corporation of America.

The bride is a graduate of Lindsay High and of business college in Dallas where she has been employed in an insurance office. Mr. Hoenig attended Sacred Heart School and served in the army three years with overseas duty in Austria and Germany.

OUT OF TOWN GUESTS
Among out of town relatives and friends at the wedding coming from more distant places were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Pelzel of Ennis, the Conrad and Al Flusches of Decatur, the Andy and Urban Flusches, Mrs. Oma Miller, Miss Betty Rue and Mrs. Rita Cottle, all of Dallas, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Walterscheid of Carlsbad, N. M., Miss Anna Hoenig of New York City, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Fetsch of Munday and Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Hoenig of Carrollton.

Farm Facts

Many members of farm families today live on the farm and work in industries nearby, thus supplementing the family income.

The net income of farm operators in 1959 was more than $18 billion. Net income from farm sales amounted to almost $10.7 billion—about 59% of the total—while net income from non-farm sources amounted to more than $7.4 billion, or approximately 41% of the total. This was a decline from 1958 when net income totaled more than $19.3 billion. Farm sales accounted for almost $12 billion and off-the-farm income amounted to almost $7.4 billion.

Off-the-farm jobs loom more important for farm operators as net income from farm sales continues to decline. This is due to a cost-price squeeze which finds the farmer having to pay more for what he buys without a proportionate increase in prices for what he sells.

In 1948, for example, total net income of the farm population amounted to more than $21.1 billion. Net income from farm sales accounted for almost three-fourths of the total, or about $15.8 billion. Off-farm income in 1948 was about $5.3 billion, 25.2% of the total net.

About 2/3 of the income of farm families comes from off the farm.

Boy Scouts Turn To Study of Wild Life, Bird Houses

Boy Scout meeting Monday night was interesting, and meetings for the coming weeks also loom as entertaining and educational. The boys have been studying wild life and telling about it.

The study and speaking serve a two-fold purpose, Scoutmaster Nick Miller said. The boys are getting informed on a worthwhile subject and they're getting practice in public speaking.

Danny Hoenig and Joe Hartman were on the program this week giving talks on birds. And this led to a building project — bird houses. Nearly all the younger Scouts have started their work which must be finished by April 23 to be judged.

Robert Miller, a newcomer to the troop, has passed his tests for Tenderfoot rating.

Sunday, nine members of the troop will go to Dallas. They are candidates for the Ad Altare Dei award to be presented by Bishop Gorman at 1:30 in Sacred Heart Cathedral.

Celebration Marks 10th Anniversary And 1st Communion

Three celebrations in three places Sunday kept Mr. and Mrs. Norbert Rohmer and children Betty Mae, Barbara Jean, Helen Ruth and Gary Wayne on the go all day from early to late. It was the Rohmers' tenth wedding anniversary and 1st Communion day for their daughter Betty Mae.

The anniversary party concluded festivities and included a buffet supper following a morning breakfast and a noon dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Voth Sr. entertained in their home honoring their son-in-law and daughter on their tenth anniversary. Forty-four relatives and friends attended the 7 p. m. supper and played cards and dominoes afterwards. Among guests were Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Pettit of Sadler. She is Mr. Rohmer's sister. The day that began early ended late.

Events started with attendance at 7 a.m. mass in St. Peter Church at Lindsay. Afterwards Betty Mae and her cousin, Ernest Voth, both first communicants, were joint honorees at breakfast in the home of Ernest's parents, the Henry Voths Jr. In addition to both families the children's grandparents, the Henry Voths Sr. and the Hubert Felderhoffs were present.

At noon, all this group, plus other guests, gathered at the Henry Voth Sr. home for dinner, honoring Betty Mae and Ernest and special guests were their great-grandparents, the Tony Trubenbachs Sr. and the Leo Rohmers. Also present were Miss Mary Rohmer and the Martin Beckers and children Shirley and Paul Joseph.

Esteron 99 — kills weeds that other weed killers find too hard to handle ... yet costs as little as 25¢ an acre

It's not what a 2,4-D costs—but what it controls that counts. More farmers buy and rely on Esteron 99®—for they find it's too costly to experiment with less-known brands. Tests show it's extra effective and easy to apply ... doesn't foam ... mixes easily in hard water, and sprays evenly. A single gallon covers many acres—an extra bushel an acre more than pays the cost. Order your supply of America's leading brand of weed killer today.

NOTES FROM CITY LIBRARY

For inspiration and entertainment select "The Golden Door" from Muenster City Library. This book tells the life story of Katherine Drerel. The author is Katherine Burton who knows how to make her subjects live.

The main character in this biography is Katherine Drerel, daughter of a prominent and fabulously wealthy family of Philadelphia. She grew up in easy and luxury, traveled widely and took part in all the social activities of one of her position.

Loving life and gaiety as she did, it was a shock to many when she entered the convent. Her father was a generous patron of schools, of missions, and of orphanages. His three daughters followed in his steps and aided many good works through the large trust funds their father set up for them.

Katherine not only gave of her trust funds but also dedicated her life as well to two forgotten minorities of America — the Indian and the Negro.

On first discovering her religious vocation she was drawn to a contemplative order, but visits to the Indian reservations had sharpened her interest in these neglected people and she wished to aid those who worked among them. Her dilemma was settled when in Rome she consulted Pope Leo XIII who said "Why not be a missionary yourself, my child?"

Since there was no established religious group for this exclusive work, Katherine Drerel founded the congregation "Sisters of the Blessed Sacrament for the Indians and the Negroes." Her labors and travels took her from the deltas of the South to the Indian reservations of the Far West.

She established a network of schools and missions. She not only staffed and supported her own foundations but also gave financial help to other workers in the field. She lived to be 96 years old and in her lifetime established 48 elementary schools, 12 high schools and the first Catholic University for Negroes in the United States — Xavier University in New Orleans.

This is not only the story of a great achievement. It's the story of a great personality as well. The author adds "The Golden Door" to a long list of notable biographies, among them the lives of Rose Hawthorne, Isaac Hecker and Pius X. She is a native of Cleveland, Ohio, and at various times associate editor of McCalls and Red Book. In 1930 she entered the Catholic Church and has written, in addition to her books, many magazine articles and the "Woman to Woman" page in THE SIGN. In 1955 she received the degree of Lit. D (Doctor of Literature), from the College of St. Mary of the Springs.

Muenster Public School won only two events in this year's Interscholastic League district tennis competition, and both wins were in the elementary division.

Cindy Cain was winner in girls' singles, Tommy Flusche and Roy Reiter won the boys' doubles. Since elementary winners do not advance to regional, those games mark the end of the season.

In the high school division Saint Jo won boys' singles and doubles. Valley View took the lion's share of the tennis contests, winning every other match in high school, elementary and junior high.

information, that attitude still applies, on the principle that states and communities are actually losers in the long run when they pay into federal bureaucracies and get back a portion of their money in grants. If that system could be stopped tomorrow this column, and most other people of Muenster as well, would gladly give up our hospital's grant. Meanwhile, after years of paying to the bureaucracies, our willingness to accept the grant should be understandable.
