County Cotton Crop Now Past 1939 Total

After lagging behind for the first two months, this year's cotton pro-Commerce representative at Gainesville, disclosed that 9692 bales had been ginned prior to Oct. 18 as compared with 8402 to the correspond ing date of 1939. At the time of his report Huffaker said the volume to date had undoubtedly passed last year's total volume of slightly less than 10,000 bales. More than 12,000 are expected this year. The Muenster gin is sharing in the county's record. On Wednesday it had a total of 672 bales. The season's total last year was less than

FMA Members Deliver Birds Early; Next Rush Expected to Begin Thursday

Turkey packing at the FMA plant got off to a flying start last Saturday and Sunday, then settled down for a few days awaiting the public's general response to the opening of

As in several years past, the first rush resulted from a special arrangement permitting FMA members to deliver their birds early and sell on a later market. The first two days brought in 55,000 pounds of membership turkeys, approximately 10,000 pounds more than last year. Small deliveries by non-members brought the season's total on Tuesday night to about 60,000.

Real activity was expected to get under way on Wednesday and Thursday, in the opinion of Roy Callahan, Wilson and Company representative in charge of the work. With the market opening Tuesday he expected out of town dealers to liveries in a day or two.

Prices this year are lower than last year. The market opened at 12 for first class hens and 10 for first very little better than last year on the average. Young toms especially are loaded with pin feathers, making picking more difficult and giving the dressed birds a poor appearance. Young hens are in better condition but still far from good. The excess of pin feathers is explained by the long warm season which retarded the normal growth of new feathers. The condition of the meat was described as somewhat better than last year but nothing to brag will result in a larger Christmas packing season as it did last year. Rather than take a penalty, many raisers are expected to take their turkeys back home for further development and take a chance on the later market. Nevertheless Callahan is confident he will be able to equal last year's Thanksgiving volume of eight car loads.

Seventy-five pickers were employed during the first days, and the more than a hundred during the peak period. Men in charge do not expect to see the work done quite as fast as before since workers have been taken off the piece work schedule and put on straight time.

Spot Minter, a familiar figure during the season for the past several years, is not back on the job. His work as accountant is being done by Fred W. Ford, a member of Wilson's Lubbock office.

Makes Himself Grow An Inch and a Half To Get Into Army

When Sidney Huchtons, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Huchtons tried to enlist in the army about 2 months ago he was told to go back home and grow some more. He did fust that and was accepted last week when he made his second application.

Sidney, a half inch too short the first time, was told by the recruiting officer that he could possibly put on enough height with a course of stretching exercises He carried on faithfully every day in spite of the amusement of his family and friends and grew an inch and a half. Once he got that far he took no more chances. He rushed to the recruiting station and passed examination before any shrinkage could nullify his efforts. Sidney left Tuesday for Fort

Santa Claus To Visit Local The quality is also disappointing. Schools Again

School children of Muenster will have another opportunity to see Santa Claus this year. His visit to every school in the county is now being planned as one of the many features in a special Christmas program to be sponsored by the Gainesville Chamber of Commerce.

According to word received from Cliff McMahon and Phil Teague of the Chamber of Commerce, Santa will make his trip over the county this year in the county bookmobile, traveling library which makes periodic visits to all schools. The week LOCAL PEOPLE ATTEND of December 9 is the week, however the detailed schedule for visits at the school has not been arranged.

Christmas season at Gainesville officially opens at 7 p. m. November 25 when lights will be switched on street and window displays. A band concert and an address by the mayor It is possible that poor quality will follow, after which a street dance will be held south of the court-

Other season features are stag and ladies special shopping nights when members of the opposite sexes will be expected to keep out of the business section. A cell on the courthouse square will be provided for the imprisonment of anyone violating that arrangement.

Merchants will sponsor window guessing contests with prizes for those who can guess most accurately the total value of all items in their special displays. They will also give the rectory. The meal was prepared tickets for a drawing on the Santa Claus house to be held Dec. 31.

Large Group Enjoys Comedy Presented By Muenster Dramatists

Approximately 300 people cheered the presentation of "Mystery at Midnight" given Sunday evening in the parish hall by members of the Muenster Dramatic Club, under the direction of Father Richard Eveld.

The play was a three-act mystery comedy with a dandy plot and kept the audience in suspense until the final scene. Stage lighting, or rather the lack of lighting, was especially effective, and each member of the cast gave a convincing portrayal of the character personified.

SERVICES AT MONTAGUE

Approximately 25 Muenster people including six of the local sisters and members of the Sacred Heart choir, were in Montague on Sunday, October 27, for special church services and Solemn Communion for 19 children held at St. Mary's church

Rev. Father Schauf of Henrietta was celebrant of the two masses and officiated at the communion service. Members of the Muenster choir furnished music for the occasion. Adoration of the Blessed Eucharist took place during the afternoon hours and was concluded with services during which the baptismal vows were renewed by the communicants.

At noon the Muenster group were guests at a covered dish luncheon at by women of the church,

Sister Bertha, assisted by several of the other local nuns, had previously prepared the children for the service by going to Montague regularly to give them instructions.

The Lindsay bowlers are undis puted champs at the close of the first schedule of the local ten-pins league. Holding a record of 11 games out of 15, the team was a cinch to tie for first place, then came out in front when the Weasels lost a game that would have given them a tie. After winning three in a row from the Possums, the latter team lost one out of a three-game series with the Farmers.

The Phone quartet is tied for sec ond place with the Weasels, each team winning 10 out of 15 games and each holding a scoring average of 476 through the season. Other scoring averages follow the order of team standings. Lindsay is well ahead with an average of 487. The Clodhoppers, in fourth place with 7 games out of 15, have 474, the Possums with 5 wins have 466 and the trailing Fillies with only 2 victories have an average of 421. The presidential race, while it failed to draw as large a poll as some of the past primaries, probably caused more election excitement here than any contest of the past. Discussions up and down the street for weeks indicated that the score would be close but it was taken for granted that Roosevelt would come out with a slight lead. Willkie's substantial margin, by 77 votes, was a surprise.

As regards the national outcome, Muenster was not surprised. Demo cratic supporters had been confident for weeks whereas Republicans were merely hoping their favorite would get the breaks.

WANDERING TRUCKER WASN'T IN TROUBLE; MERELY ON THE JOB

Streng had been gone since Tuesday night of last week, on the job several days overtime, but had failed to send in a report. On his way to East Texas with a load of maize he found in Sherman an opportunity to handle a truck load of corn, After peddling the maize to East Texas feed dealers he returned for the corn and peddled that also. Another delay resulted from shopping for a load of sweet potatoes.

However, neither his family nor his employer knew about the extra trip. Late in the week they were wondering what had become of him. Sunday they were alarmed, almost certain he had met with an accident or foul play. Then a report was turned in to the highway pairol, the message being broadcast over North and East Texas. Joe was surprised to learn he had caused so much worry-said he was on the job and just did not think of phoning home. In spite of the alarm he was not questioned by any officers Monday.

Mayor Requests Generous Response In Red Cross Drive

WHEREAS it is a known fact that no section of the United States and its insular posse sions is free from threat of natural catastrophe in one form or another: famine, fire, flood, hurricane, explosion, epidemic, blizzard, drought, tornado, earthquake or other calamities of nature; and

WHEREAS conditions in the world today necessitate an unprecedented peace time expansion of our Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Coast Guard; and

WHEREAS the current European war continues to cause intense distress among victims, making essential the extension of American aid to suffering humanity abroad; and WHEREAS the American Red Cross is the only organization in our land equipped and ready, first, to protect us against the aforementioned disasters and render relief when they occur: second, to assist. comfort, advise and otherwise serve the men of our armed forces and to act as liaison between them and their loved ones at home: third, to undertake the administration of American mercy to stricken non-combatants and refugees in Europe when assurance is had that such activity will not be interfered with by belligerent powers; fourth, to continue at the same time in our own community such indispensable welfare programs as Red Cross Public Health Nursing, First Ald and Life Saving, Accident Prevention in the Home and on the Farm, Home Hygiene, and the Junior Red Cross in the schools;

THEREFORE, I, Mayor of Muenster, PROCLAIM the period of the 1940 Annual American Red Cross Roll Call, November 11-30, a period during which public spirited men and women of this city should bend every effort to support the Red Cross through their local Red Cross chapter, by becoming members of the Red Cross through their chapter or by renewing memberships therein; and I further PROCLAIM that it is the sense of all of us, residents of Muenster, that our response to Red Cross Roll Call this year, in view of world events, must be stronger numerically than it has ever been before.

ARMISTICE DAY

Twenty - two years ago bu-gles on the battle front of war torn France sounded the signal to cease firing, and the silver peal of thousands of bells throughout civilization rang out the joyous message that peace had come. Mankind was happy despite the sad memories of loved ones who would never return, despite Flanders' endless rows of crosses standing in mute mockery to human greed and hate.

And as the years rolled by, on each anniversary of Armistice Day, the world ut-tered a prayer for those who gave their lives. Like Lincoln at Gettysburg they expressed a fervent hope that those who died shall not have died in vain. At first the prayers had a meaning. People had their fill of heartbreak, starvation and death, they were sincerely determined never again to enter into war.

But peace was destined to be short lived Within a few years the seeds of vengeance were sown again. Hatred spread like a terrible plague until the outbreak of the present horrible carnage. The war to end war, to make the world safe for democracy, was a failure. The brave men who shed their blood on Flanders fields have died in vain.

In the face of this terrible disappointment, America is the only great nation left to which Armistice Day has any significance. We are still at peace, and we have the determination to remain at peace. Today our nation labors with feverish haste on a defense program intended as a barrier against any power that would carry its destruction to our shores. America is strapping on its armor not to venture out on the battleground but to stand guard before its

That this national purpose will never change is the fervent hope of millions of us. That our national leaders will have the wisdom and humanity to use their newly created power in the best interests of the nation, is our fervent prayer.

As this is being written our nation is on the eve of one of the most important political campaigns of its history. As this appears in print the nation will know which of two parties it has chosen. Regardless of the outcome, millions will be disappointed, many may even lose confidence in the nation's future. For that reason precisely, this is the time when, more than ever before, thinking, patriotic men, must unite in a firm resolve behind the administration.

Accepting the leadership chosen by the wish of the majority—which, thank God, is still a characteristic of at least one world power-let us all work together in harmony to create a defense which no war monger will dare to challenge. This is a world in which right is forced to bow before might. Principles have no place in the calculations of dictator nations. Our only day it used to be. Back in Puritan hope is to meet such people on their own times whole communities came to-terms, to support right with might.

Twenty-two years have passed since the and an abundance of "the trimmins" world rejoiced over the cessation of hostili- in a way suggested the real meaning ties. Today most of the world is saddened of the event. Little by little thos again and American mothers are apprehensive again lest their sons be sent into another slaughter. They pray for an adequate home defense, they pray also for an attitude of peace in our national leaders.

RED CROSS ROLL CALL

Along with the present expansion of national defense personnel, it is only proper that the American Red Cross this year should embark on its greatest membership roll call since World War days. Anyone familiar with Red Cross activity knows that one of its most important functions is caring for the men in their country's service. Necessarily that phase of its work will increase steadily during the coming year as more and more men enter military training. All this work, it must be remembered, the big meal. Instead they'll soon is additional to normal day-to-day opera- be insisting on turkey friers-fat, tions in disaster relief, first aid and life tender young birds about the size of saving and its present gigantic task of aiding soldiers and civilians in war-torn foreign lands.

Without a doubt the Red Cross is the greatest and most active organization devoted strictly to the relief of human suffering. As such it merits the generous support of every person who has the slightest regard for his fellow man. This year, when the organization joins hands with our government by caring for those who train for national defense, it merits support for patriotic reasons as well. No man who believes in our present preparedness program can conscientiously refuse to include his membership in the coming roll call.

For the past several years Muenster has been conspicuous for its generosity in Red Cross drives. Pro-rated according to population, it has been consistently better than any other section of this county. It has a putting on a good show but he was record to be proud of, one that harmonizes an unknown, furthermore his good music did not find a sympathetic auclosely with its other line records of patri

Back in World War days, many of us will recall, this community supplied more than its quota of service men, it donated generously to the Red Cross and other humanitarian organizations, it was prompt in meeting every quota for liberty bonds. Today the community already has more than a dozen youths enlisted for service, and more are likely to enlist within the next few days. Patriotism such as that is not likely to ignore a plea from the Red Cross.

Muenster's quota in this roll call has not been announced at this writing. But that makes little difference. People here will carry more than their share, as they have always done in the past. Once they realize the urgency of this drive they will give with open hearts. Usually that is more than enough to pass their quota.

In addition to the day-to-day needs for training in first aid and life saving, disaster relief and nursing, the American Red Cross has taken an important part in the national defense program. Increased responsibilities have resulted in a need for increased membership. Join today and help the Red Cross widen its service in a year when it is most needed.

By CON FETTE

The date isn't all that is change able about Thanksgiving. Now we are told that public preference has turned its back on the traditional huge turkey and is favoring the smaller birds. Explanations are easy a bountiful harvest. Big turkeys community affairs lost out and Thanksgiving became rather a day for family reunions. Big turkeys were still the accepted feature be cause big appetites and big families demanded them. Most of us can renember such Thanksgivings.

But things are different now Poultrymen have discovered that big turkeys are the last ones to leave the meat market. Frequently they found that the big birds would not eave at all unless the price was reduced several cents a pound. One reason is too many small flats that would not even hold an old time family get-together. So those who entertain have only a few friends for meal instead of the whole tribe for the full day. Smaller families have something to do with it too.

All of which is quite a setback to the development of the "baby beef" type of turkeys, which received considerable encouragement a few years a full grown chicken. Betcha it would taste better anyway.

Is it a mere coincidence or is there a special reason why two couples selected Armistice Day as their wedding day?

What a name can do for a peron! A recent edition of News Week his violin) was rather let down by was. He had bet the chief of police in San Francisco that he could collect $10 in an hour disguised as a blind street fiddler. Actually he collected $1.49. Not bad money for a street fiddler, perhaps, but certainly not the kind of pay usually associated with the name Rubinoff.

We take it for granted that the Maestro was sawing off some fine tunes, probably the same ones he presents in his big concerts. He was dience simply because no one expected to hear it from a beggar.

That gives some idea of what the general public will pay to hear a competent musician. Suppose he came here advertised merely as a talented violinist. He couldn't get half a crowd at two bits a ticket. But using his name he could pack the house at a dollar per. There's no kidding about it. A name's worth something, worth all the hard work needed to get it established.

In fact, we Americans attach a little too much importance to names. And we do it in such absurd ways. A few weeks ago Professor Einstein provoked widespread comment by airing an opinion on religion. People did not stop to think that the pro-fessor's field is mathematics, that he is probably no more competent to speak on religion than any other

GAS MEN PREPARE FOR HEAVY DEMAND ON FUEL RESERVE

Gas men are preparing to meet the extreme demands for fuel service that come with cold weather. For several months they have been repairing mains, laying lines, drilling wells, and checking machinery to be in shape for winter.

Having brought a complete gas service to customers, Lone Star Gas System employees request customers to do their part by supplying proper appliances for health and comfort. They are asking them not to wait until cold weather strikes before taking care of their heating needs. Now is the time to get out heaters and have this service finished before the first norther.

During the summer gas company employes promoted modern heating equipment and many customers have installed these appliances early to avoid the last minute rush.

The gas company warns its customers that heating habits are as important in safeguarding health as eating habits, saying: "Winter presents a threat to the family's health, using the common cold as an advance guard to open the door for pneumonia, influenza, and other serious ailments. Doctors generally urge plenty of rest, sensible eating at the Thanksgiving bazaar.

Previously they made 5 quilts which were sold and the money was put into the circle's fund to buy ma-habits, evenly heated rooms, and an | terials, etc., for use in their mis avoidance of draughts as allies in warding off colds."

An overheated room can present gatherings. as serious a health hazard as an una comfortable, even heat.

Ventilation is another important factor, particularly where unvented heating equipment is used. Opening a window slightly from the top will prevent headaches resulting from MISS MARIE WALTER IS stuffy atmosphere and will also prevent wall sweating caused by condensation of moisture in the air of the room.

For safety as well as health, the gas company warns its customers against sleeping in a tightly closed room where a gas heater is burning. The heater takes air from the room atmosphere and consequently there must be ventilation.

Just When Do You Save On GROCERIES

Augus McTavish succumbed to "bait" grocery specials. He kept rigid track of all savings at a "cutrate" store and found at the end of the week that he had saved 23 cents. Of course he'd spent an extra hour and three-quarters going after the "bargains" and used a lot of shoe leather — and the matter of a spoiled 35c package of cheese is now being taken up with the "home office."

Augus is beginning to wonder whether he saved
