NEW RULES

The seventh anniversary of the momentarily successful Hungarian Revolt of 1956 was signalized in the US by the sale of 1.2 million bushels of corn, reportedly worth just under two million dollars, to the slavemasters of the Red Kadar regime.

This gesture of business-as-usual with the Communist double-crossers whose tanks crushed out the lives of the patriots and the hopes of freedom thirteen days later, and after withdrawal of Soviet troops had been promised, gives us no more to cheer about than the off again, on-again bargain sale wheat deal with the Kremlin.

Had the US responded, however unofficial, in 1956, to the Hungarians' plea for help in the very course we had been urging upon them, such commerce would long have been a routine, honorable and mutually profitable transaction between free and sovereign powers. Instead, it initiates the new US policy of trading with the enemy.

The wheat deal, announced by President Kennedy at his October 9 news conference, involved about four million tons at the world price, an estimated $250 million, and was contingent on its delivery and use in the USSR and Eastern Europe only, and on its shipment in American vessels "when available."

There have since been reports, however, that a quantity of this vast reservoir of sustenance would go to Castro, and the whole deal, temporarily held up because the Reds won't pay our higher ocean freight rates, must await a maneuver by the US Maritime Commission that will declare US vessels "unavailable" unless they accept this cargo at reduced rates.

Nor does it sit well with the taxpayers that US buyers must pay $2.34 a bushel for the wheat the Russians buy at $1.79 — especially when the difference represents a gift to the Communists of the tax money spent on subsidy.

And here again, as in obliging the Reds with the test ban they were so anxious to hamstring us with, we have asked nothing in return for our concessions — not even free access to West Berlin.

Most shocking of all, however, is this colossal aid already given the enemy; and still more Soviet bloc deals may be expected to follow — in corn, other grains and cotton. Much has been made of the contention that such items are non-strategic, but so long as arsenals contain non-nuclear weapons, cotton is a sinew of war.

And old-timers will remember a slogan of two world conflagrations that tightened millions of belts, it went something like this: "Food Will Win the War."

Cows in the Dairy Herd Improvement Association program averaged 11,032 pounds of milk in 1962, 4,149 more than the average non-DHIA cow.

Wrong Spouts Plugged

HELP!

For the first time in all the years of his eminence as a scientist and his highly controversial stance as a patriot (and probably the last), we will have to agree with Linus Pauling. At least, we half-agree.

Before a distinguished cap-and-gown meeting of the National Academy of Sciences in Washington's Constitution Hall, the two-time Nobel Prize winner blasted the $40 billion US moon project as "a pitiful demonstration."

"Something is wrong with our system of values," he said, "when we plan to spend billions of dollars for national prestige." He would spend the money, he declared, on finding out things about the human body.

We agree with his evaluation of moon shots, but we wouldn't shift the expenditure from lunacy to physiology—or anything else. We just wouldn't spend it. We would apply this sum, as it became available, to chipping off our astronomic obligations. This, we think, would do more for national prestige — and national survival, too. It might even help the taxpayers.

Meat now accounts for about a fourth of the shopper's food dollar, and the demand is expected to grow.

"RIGHTS" NO ONE WILL ENJOY

It will be a sad day for all Americans, of all colors and creeds, if when Congress yields to a contrived hysteria and ruthless political pressure to vote into law the misbegotten delusion known as the Civil Rights Act of 1963.

Our ablest Constitutional lawyers, including such luminaries as Loyd Wright of Los Angeles and John C. Satterfield of Yazoo City, Miss., both past presidents of the American Bar Association, and Senator Sam Ervin, Jr., acknowledged Constitutional authority in the US Senate, are agreed that the content of the Act is ten percent civil rights and 90 percent extension of Federal power. In the view of Mr. Satterfield, it contains "a greater extension of Federal power than all of the Acts of Congress and all of the Supreme Court decisions from 1787 to date".

The Act presumes to distinguish between civil rights — which is patently impossible since they are one and the same. It would control from Washington, through new regiments of Federal inspectors, investigators and the Federal courts, and even at the whim of the President, the conduct of virtually every business establishment as to whom it must serve, whom it must hire and fire. It would void contracts, notably those between employers and unions and destroy the union seniority system. It would tell parents what schools their children must attend.

Farmers, who may have considered the Act does not mean them, will find the Civil Rights G-men directing who shall be their tenants, drive their tractors, dust their cotton, strip their tobacco, harvest their grain, milk their cows — and to whom they may lease or sell their farms.

If Congress passes the Act, it will be destroying rights — even including that of trial by jury. It will not be granting rights to any citizens, since it will place the racial and religious minorities to whom it is ostensibly dedicated under the same despotism that all must endure. There is no millennium. There is only madness and lust for power.

NOT JUST WEATHER

Irrespective of the ethics or wisdom of doing business with Russia, recent news accounts which tell of U.S. gain merchants meeting with Soviet officials to work out a possible deal to ship urgently wanted American grain to Russia, carry a moral. It is the same moral that applies to China's starving millions. Oppression and want go hand in hand in communist world. All property and people are under the ruthless control of government. The farmer is a slave who does as he is told. The ruling class are politicians.

Selling wheat to Russia or even China may be the humane, and politic thing to do, but we should never be so gullible as to believe that the weather is the root of all troubles with farm crops in dictator ridden countries. We live on the same earth as the Russians and the Chinese. Our farmers have weather problems too, but they are producers and behind them are processing and distribution industries the like of which the world has never before seen. No nation, where the property and lives of its citizens are at the mercy of government, can ever enjoy the American standard of living.

Washington, we read, is "calm" in the face of the recent Russian muscle-flexing on the autobahn into Berlin. But the tireless Russians will probe further, to learn just where the breaking point of our patience is — if there is any breaking point.

Which makes us wonder. Official Washington is calm at the revelation that news of a 500 kiloton atomic blast in the Antarctic, set off after agreement of the Treaty of Moscow, was withheld from the Senate pending ratification; calm over Cuba, South Viet Nam, Tito; calm over the wheat deal that robs US taxpayers of their subsidy investment, that either rescues the Kremlin mobsters from their hungry slaves or stockpiles food for their war of extermination — of us.

We wonder. Is the Washington Administration calm? Or is it tranquilized — against terror?

According to Tom Henry in This Week magazine, it costs the United States $500,000 a day to store the six billion dollars worth of wheat, corn, cotton, butter, skim milk, and other farm supplies.

Britain's puzzling (to non-Britons) pound, shilling and pence currency system is far from being abandoned though the government has made the basic decision to change to the decimal system. The problem is how to divide the pound, worth about $2.80, into 100 units. The change-over will cost at least $280 million over a two-year period, mostly to replace cash registers, adding machines and vending machines.

Medders Will Keep Entire Angus Herd At Colonial Acres

The owners and manager will be operating at home with all the herd together instead of separated on a number of farms. Colonial Acres will become an experiment station where different types of grasses and fertilizers and irrigation systems will be put into use. SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

The flood prevention program on Clear Creek took a step closer to completion recently with the finishing of two more reservoirs and three sediment control structures.

Flood prevention dams were built on the Clyde Bess and C. D. & S. T. Meador land. These reservoirs will catch the flood waters and release them at a slow rate, preventing flooding of bottom land along the main creek.

This brings the number of flood prevention reservoirs on Clear Creek to 28 since construction began in 1960.

Completion of three sediment control structures on land owned by Wayne Thompson, J. B. Jackson and the Neely Estate adds to a total of 13. Sediment control structures, as the name indicates, are designed primarily for the storing of silt from gullied land draining into the structures.

In other progress on Clear Creek, invitations for bids will be received until Oct. 31 at Temple, Texas, for construction of one flood prevention dam west of Saint Jo. This is located on C. D. & S. T. Meador land.

Easements have been secured and detail designs and core drilling operations are near completion on five other sites. Construction on these is expected to start in 1964.

The Upper Elm-Red Soil Conservation District and Clear Creek Watershed Authority are co-sponsors of the program.

Visiting Nuns See First Jackrabbit

In Texas for the first time this week were three nuns of the Order of St. Francis who were guests of the Medders family Monday to Wednesday.

They were Mother General of the Order, Mother Francisca, on her routine visit to the United States from Germany, and Sister Stephana and Mother Philateria, both of Mishawaka, Indiana. They arrived by plane in Dallas where Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Medders met them and they saw them off again by air.

The visiting nuns saw their first jackrabbit, and enjoyed a sightseeing tour included the hospital, the convent, the Bavarian Wood Carving Company and the area oil fields. The nuns are friends of the Medders from their days in Memphis, Tenn. The order is in charge of St. Joseph's Hospital where Mrs. Medders nursed.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Hickman and daughters drove to Carrollton to help his mother, Mrs. Paul Hickman celebrate her birthday last Sunday.

Recent visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wilcox were his mother, Mrs. M. M. Wilcox of Nocona and Mr. and Mrs. Bud Wilcox of Lawton, Okla. Also an aunt of Mrs. Wilcox, Mrs. B. F. Fanning of Byars, Okla., and her nephew Odes Fanning and his grandchildren Sherry and Danny of Allen, Okla. Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wilcox and his mother had a weekend visit with the Bud Wilcoxes and the M. K. Prices at Lawton.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hickman of Carrollton and Mrs. Julia Cox and daughter of Denton visited Sunday with the Milton Hickmans.

Mr. and Mrs. Reeve Cooke have returned from several days of visiting their grandchildren at Gordon, their daughter and husband, the C. W. Millers, and Freddie Kay Duffey at Fort Worth.

THANKS

Words fail to express our thanks and appreciation to the many wonderful people who were such a comfort and help to us during the illness and at the death of our loved one. Such kindness can never be forgotten. The help, the food, the prayers, spiritual bouquets, the flowers and dozens of other thoughtful deeds leave up with grateful hearts. We wish we could thank each one individually. Please accept this as a personal word of thanks. — Hank Walterscheid and children; the Joe Swingers; the Albert Schillings; the Norbert Walterscheid; Mrs. John Walterscheid and family.

My family joins me in expressing sincere thanks for the get-well cards and prayers, also for the blood donations and other help. We appreciate every kindness. — Mrs. Wilfred Luttmner.

Our heartfelt thanks to all who extended comforting sympathy and help in our recent sorrow. For the beautiful service, floral offerings, the food and other kindness, we are deeply grateful. —The Herbert Fette Family.

Those who strive for merit shall attain success.

Monsters Blasted 34-0 at Sanger

The Little Monsters of Münster Public School ran into their hardest competition of the season to date at Sanger Tuesday night and were walloped by the convincing count of 34-0. As Coach Polk saw it, the young Indians did not have a lot of size but they had lots of good coaching. They were good offensively and defensively.

Münster's kids, reaching down to the fifth grade to complete their lineup, are short on both size and talent.

Cubs Look Great In 36-0 Win over Lindsay Squires

The Tiger Cubs of Sacred Heart elementary played like experts Tuesday night in trampling Lindsay's Squires 36-0. In addition to their nice offensive record they put up a stout defense which held the Lindsay boys to only one first down.

The first score came early in the game on a 30 yard run by Mike Stoffels to finish a 50 yard drive. Tom Hess ran for extra points.

Next one was very similar to the first, except that total distance was 30 yards and the scoring play was 4 yards. Stoffels scored again, Hess made bonus points.

Third TD came in the second quarter as Jerry Otto went for 6 just after setting up the team with a 25 yard gain. That made the count 22-0 at half time.

Next Glenn Owen scored both a touchdown and bonus points. The TD was a 25 yard run.

And Leroy Hess was the last scorer. Carrying six times in a row he moved the ball 40 yards to a score.

Defensive specialists of the team were Lawrence Bruns, Glenn Trachta, Steve Hess, Robert Miller and Danny Schmitt. Through the season they have accounted principally for the record of allowing one TD across their line in six games. Meanwhile the Cubs have scored 88 points.

Exercising while sitting at your desk can be just as effective as running to build strength and endurance, according to research done at Louisiana State University. The exercises, called isometric contractions, consist of six 10-second exertions against an immovable object, such as a desk. Positions correspond to what are known in weight as the bench press, leg curl, leg extension, forearm curl and shoulder shrug. LSU says many experts consider isometric contractions as the fastest and most thorough way to build strength.

Knights Sew Up Title With 48-14 Win Over Gunter

Lindsay Knights last Thursday sewed up the District 9-B title as they battered the Gunter Tigers 48-14.

It was a wild and unorthodox game in which the teams broke even on first downs with 9 each, and total yardage, especially for Lindsay, was amazingly short for the score. The Knights made 148 rushing and 73 passing. Gunter made a net of only 4 rushing and 120 passing.

Lindsay started the game by scoring 14 points before making a first down and with a rushing record of only three yards. On kickoff Gunter fumbled, and on the next play Donny Sandmann scored from the 3. After the next kickoff Gunter's kick ending the first series was blocked. Sandmann scooped it up and charged 18 yards to the second score. Ronnie Zimmerer added two points.

Then came Gunter's turn to score on a punt. A Lindsay kick, apparently rolling dead in midfield, was suddenly snatched up by Gunter's Lewis who got loose for a score.

Third TD for the Knights came early in the second quarter on a 31 yard scamper by Sandmann. Shortly after that a Gunter kick hit the back of a teammate giving Lindsay a set-up on the 20. Four plays made the distance, Schmitz slipping over for the score. The half ended 26-6.

Another blocked kick early in the second half gave the Knights another fat chance on the 2 yard line. Sandmann went over on the first try.

Two passes then improved the Gunter score, the first one for 51 yards and the second one for 5. A pass for extra points was good and the count was 32-14.

Shortly after that Sandmann blasted 6 yards for his fifth touchdown of the game and Schmitz passed to Ronnie Zimmerer for bonus points.

The last Lindsay touchdown came early in the last period as Schmitz heaved to Ronnie Zimmerer for 32 yards. And a pass to Tommy Zimmerer added 2 points for the final count of 48-14.

A man can't live a full and satisfying life until he is prepared to accept the unexpected as an opportunity instead of a possible source of trouble.

the 24 on the next series. Muenster failed on its first series and Vogel's kick plus penalty yardage set Sanger back to its 36.

The Indians made two first downs and kicked a short one putting the Hornets on their 20. Then the quarter changed and Muenster faced the storm.

Ending that series Vogel's kick was blocked and tumbled over the goal. Vogel recovered it but was nailed for a 2 pointer.

The kickoff that followed was short and Sanger went to work on the 37. Howard powered to the 22. Next four tries barely made the first down. And three more finished the job. Howard made the last and Patton place kicked for another point.

Following the Indian kickoff Muenster made two first downs, failed on the next series and also failed to get off a kick. Sanger took over on the Hornet 44 and on the first play Scoggin passed a long beauty to Romines for a TD. Patton's kick was good again.

Next time the Hornets failed on their first, failed again on the kick and Sanger was on the 15. First play made 5. Second play Harberson went over. Patton kicked his third extra point. The count was 23-0 at the half.

Third quarter was much like the first. On its first series Muenster failed but a good kick put Sanger back to the 15. The Indians made a pair of first downs, were stopped on the third series and got a short kick. Again the Hornets had to kick on their first series and the Indians started over from the 23.

On a grinding drive they reached the Hornet 29 as the quarter ended. Three plays later Scoggin hit Patton with a 7 yard scoring pass. And Patton added another point.

From then on Muenster managed two first downs and quit trying to kick when in trouble. Sanger moved on to another score, the pay off a pass, Payne to Campbell, for 19 yards.

Post Office Helps Livestock Count

Rural mail carriers from the Muenster Post Office will leave some livestock survey cards along their routes beginning November 15.

"Information reported on these cards is used to set the yearly inventory of livestock and poultry on Texas farms," Postmaster Arthur Endres explained.

Rural carriers Henry Pels and Edward Endres distribute the cards at random in boxes along their routes. This means that not every box will get a card, therefore it's important for everyone who gets a card to return it filled out so that USDA can get a true sample of the State's livestock holdings.

Facts and figures secured in this survey are the basis for Texas and National pig crop report and inventories of livestock and poultry on farms as of the first of the year.

tra point. The visitors then made a first down and kicked to end their second series. Sacred Heart was 61 yards from a score. Five plays took care of that, the big one being a 44 yard scoring romp by Dennis Hess. Virgil Hess added another point.

Dale Hess recovered a fumble to start the Tigers on their next drive. Seven plays made the 56 yards and the key plays were a 23 yard pass to Francis Fuhrmann, a 14 yard run by Dennis Hess and a 13 yard scoring run by Klement. Virgil Hess faked a kick and ran over for two bonus points. The quarter ended 22-0.

Starting the next period the visitors connected on three successive passes for 42, 17 and 14 to get on the scoreboard. Another pass added 2 points. The score: 22-8.

Next Sacred Heart TD was slightly delayed by a fumble and a kick ending the Christians' first series set Sacred Heart back to the 5. The Tigers used 11 plays for the 95 yard journey, a big one being a 32-yard pass to Fuhrmann. Schilling scored from the 4. Virgil Hess booted true for another point.

Another passing barrage by the visitors gained 24, 15 and 20 yards but the half ended with them on the 25.

Most of the third quarter was used on a slow and steady 56 yard drive. Dale Hess scored from the 1.

Following next kickoff the visitors made a first down and fell short by 2 yards on the second series. The Tigers started from their 31 as the quarter ended. Big gainer in that trip was a pass to David Hess for 51 yards and the score was another pass to David Hess for 13.

Then the Christians made two first downs and bogged down on the third series. And Sacred Heart started its final push at its 34. A run by Virgil Hess for 11 and passes to David Hess for 10 and 13 were the big ones of the eleven plays used. Little Leon Endres ran the last three from the 18 — to the 4, to the 1 foot line, and then over.

cerely say that poll tax is a burden?

People who think they have an economical reason for repeal had better look at this situation from another side. Not only the fact that the tax will be collected another way, as mentioned above, but even more so because the $1.75 poll tax is the cheapest and best insurance we have against more recklessness and irresponsibility in tax policy. You know what to expect when greater power is handed over to political crooks, whose greatest appeal is the promise of more socialism — financed out of your pocket.

Despite the touching solicitude of repealers, there are a few important points to bear in mind. Deserving people are
