AVOID ENTANGLING ALLIANCES

Henry Ford predicts a "federation of the whole world" as a result of the present war. At the same time there are men high in official circles who are earnestly working toward such an arrangement especially with the British Empire.

The idea in general seems to be a vast expansion of our own method in which 48 sovereign states are united under a central government. Britain's dominions provide another example.

In theory this is fine. There is supposed to be an international police force, something like our national guard, to keep every nation in check, and an international seat of government, like ours at Washington, to conduct all relations between nations. Everything would be fine, if it would only work out that way.

But there are complications, thousands of them, and every one presents a difficulty of its own. We Americans ought to think for a long time before we get into that kind of an affair.

In the first place this means surrendering our independence for which Washington and other patriots fought so gallantly. Are we ready to have some international federation tell us what we can do? And are we ready to tie ourselves hand and foot to the whims of a handful of international politicians? Have we completely forgotten Washington's injunction to beware of entangling alliances?

This whole idea is based upon a false concept of human nature, hence is certain to result in failure. People do not have to be constantly tied down. Hate and treachery is not natural but only a result of oppression or greed. Let them bring common sense and justice and Christianity in general to the next conference table and they need not devise plans for guarding everybody.

To illustrate the point we call attention to the harmony between this nation and Canada. No fortification has ever disfigured that international boundary. We trusted one another, tried to be fair and reasonable, and have not had a single clash. When the people of Europe adopt a similar attitude they can enjoy a similar harmony.

Why should we surrender our independence and assume a share in the burden of maintaining a police force in Europe? What good will we get out of it? Is this to be our part in preventing another war?

Well, this much is certain. If they will have a respectable peace treaty our help will not be needed. If it is another Versailles we don't want any part of the intrigue and treachery. Either way the answer comes out the same, and Washington is right—let's avoid the entangling alliances.

Washington Snapshots

by JAMES PRESTON
Typical of Washington is the way in which tax measures designed to raise added revenues for defense, which seemed to be going along as swimmingly as could be expected, it has come a cropper in the last week or so. And the reason for all this is as curious as it is unfortunate.

The progress of the new tax bill was upset by the injection into the House Ways and Means Committee of highly controversial material coming directly from the Administration as "must" legislation.

Included among the "musts" listed by the Administration were even stiffer levies on industry, which was already heavily taxed, and in line to be taxed still more heavily under the terms of the original measure. It is believed by many who ought to know that these steps would have a disastrous effect upon many business concerns, included in that category being some of the most enterprising.

Actually, the gist of the matter is this:

Extensive hearings had been held in committee on the proposed new tax legislation. Experts from many fields had the opportunity to present their case. Then suddenly, after a bill had been drafted on the basis of all this discussion, the White House "musts" were tossed into the situation like eggs into a revolving fan.

In other words, the introduction of the tax "musts" was a last minute thought—or lack of it. Meanwhile, the taxpayer awaits a decision and wonders what his fate will be.

A congressional committee, in reporting a new Army appropriation bill is quoted as declaring that among those who deserve Congressional thanks are "our peerless industrialists and those of their work forces who have responded magnificently" to the needs of defense.

This startled one Southern editor to the extent that he sat down and wrote the following comment:

"One can almost see the embattled business leaders, rising warily to enquire, 'Who dat sed who dat?' One can forgive them their natural suspicions. But it may be a good sign. There may actually be a change of heart high in administration centers."

Of course the editor in question expressed that hope before the above-mentioned tax bill changes were suggested by the Administration. If he had had the opportunity to observe the short-notice attempt to reverse carefully studied legislation, one wonders whether his comment on the general situation would have been quite so optimistic!

Washington Sidelights: You've all heard of sectionalism in politics. It is frequently a dangerous force, destructive of what is good for the nation as a whole. But in the following Congressional exchange among three members (who shall be identified here only as Congressmen A, B, and C) it was merely comic. The subject is location of new defense plants:

Rep. A.: "I respectfully submit that, outside of California, there is not a single plant west of the Mississippi River. It seems that the Mississippi River is the dividing line."

Rep. B.: "The gentleman is in error because many of them go to Chicago."

Rep. C.: "Chicago is not west of the Mississippi River, may I inform the gentleman . . ."

With all the talk about "gasless Sundays" that is now being heard, this might be a good time to remember the wry comment being credited here to newspapers in one foreign city that is under totalitarian domination. These ism-fearing papers are reported as saying that the height of luxury in their country is to "spill a drop of oil and wipe away the spot with gasoline."

Herbert Jr., and Freida, who have been visiting their grandparents for the past week, returned home with their parents.

LINDSAY RITES UNITE NORBERT ZIMMERER AND MARIE BENGFORT

LINDSAY.—Miss Marie Bengfort daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bengfort, and Norbert Zimmerer, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Zimmerer, were united in marriage at St. Peter's church Tuesday morning at 8:00 o'clock. Rev. Conrad Herda, pastor, officiated at the single ring ceremony and at the nuptial high mass. Music was provided by the church choir, and Miss Regina Fuhrmann, organist, played the traditional wedding march and the recessional.

The bride wore a lovely floor length frock of white embroidered net and chiffon over satin. It was designed with a sweetheart neckline, short puffed sleeves and a full skirt that extended into a short train. Her veil was full length, falling from a pearl tiara, and her bouquet was an arm arrangement of Easter lilies. The bride's only jewelry was a gold cross and chain, a gift from the bridegroom.

Miss Catherine Bengfort was her sister's maid of honor. She wore a flower blue dress of lace and net over satin, made similar to the bride's, a shoulder corsage of pink gladioli and a headdress of blue flowers.

Frank Zimmerer, cousin of the groom, was best man.

Immediately following the church services breakfast was served to the bridal party at the home of the bride's parents and during the day an informal reception for a large number of relatives and friends was held. In the evening a dance honored the couple.

Mr. and Mrs. Zimmerer are making their home on a farm three and one-half miles northwest of Lindsay. Both attended the Lindsay school and are popular in the city's young crowd.

Among out-of-town guests at the wedding were Messrs. and Mesdames Bill Schad and daughter, Joe Koerner, Pete Neu and family, Ted Neu and family, Joe Pulte, Leo Schmitz and son, Andrew Zimmerer and children, Frank Rauschuber and Miss Louise Shuric, all of Gainesville; Messrs. and Mesdames Herbert Hundt, Al Hess, Ben and Joe Fleitman of Muenster; Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Roewe of Pilot Point; Rev. Father Herman Laux of Tyler; Sister Mary Marcella, aunt of the bride, and Sister Corrine Koesler of Our Lady of the Lake convent, San Antonio.

MR. AND MRS. BEN LUKE OBSERVE ANNIVERSARY

Sunday was an enjoyable day for Mr. and Mrs. Ben Luke as they observed their silver wedding anniversary with a happy reunion of family and friends at their home west of the city.

The party began at 7 p. m. with Mr. and Mrs. Luke receiving the guests in their home. One hundred and seventy-five registered in the guest book over which Miss Dorothy Mae Luke presided. The reception rooms were decorated with white asters and zinnias and the dining room table held a large tiered cake inscribed with "25th Anniversary."

The honor couple were the recipients of many lovely gifts in keeping with the anniversary. Following the gift inspection the guests repaired to the spacious yard which was illuminated with many electric lights for a varied program of entertainment.

A concert was given by the Muenster Youth Band, and a musical program was presented by Joe Henry and Miss Katie Mae Walterscheid. Later dancing was enjoyed. A specially built platform was used for dancing and square dances and old fashioned waltzes were featured.

Flashlight pictures were taken and refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Luke were married here on August 1, 1916. She is the former Miss Mary Herr. They are the parents of ten children all of whom make Muenster their home with the exception of Miss Dorothy Mae, who is a student nurse at St. Paul's hospital, Dallas. Mr. Luke is a rural mail carrier and also manages his farm.

No sir, he wouldn't go up for a hundred dollar bill. So when he said something about taking a ride Friday, Herb Meurer promptly called his bluff, knowing all along that he would back out. But Herb was wrong. Skinny must have had a bet on it.

Ernest Hayley of the Saint Jo Tribune says he's willing to send his paper free to the men in service provided Uncle Sam will cooperate by giving the paper a free ride through the mail and stop charging 2 cents for a change of address notice every time he transfers the boys. Someone else has suggested letting the boys send out their mail in postage free envelopes. Why not adopt both sides at the same time—and offset the expense by eliminating a small percentage of the "official mail" now getting a free ride.

Why war is expensive:
To equip one soldier with uniform, blankets, rifle, canteen, mask, etc., costs $211. A heavy tank costs $114,000; a medium tank $67,000; a light tank $27,000. A light bomber costs $135,000. A heavy battleship costs 50 million and a destroyer 6 million.
Imagine it! That kind of money diverted from articles of comfort and turned into machines of destruction! And it isn't far fetched to assume that the wreckage caused by these war implements is far greater than their own cost.

In case a calf happens to devour some of your folding money, don't give up. You can get your money back. From down Georgia way comes a report of a fellow who immediately killed the calf, recovered the money and sent it to the Treasury Department along with an affidavit. He got a full refund in crisp new currency. Thought you would like to know, just in case—
