MISD excels on state report

by Steve Cooper

Muenster ISD's annual report from the Texas Education Agency has been received. This report, in detail, will be released in the months to come but parts of the report are being released now as has been the district's policy. This report is called the Academic Excellence Indicator Report and compares Muenster ISD, in many different areas, with state averages, our educational region which is Region 11, and a group of like districts, called our comparison group, which have similar characteristics such as wealth, ethnic makeup and student socio-economic status. (This group consists of 100 schools.)

The state has established an Award Program to recognize Texas schools for excellence in the Academic Excellence Indicator Report. These awards are for schools that have improved on their test scores from one year to the next and for schools that have high test scores already but maintain their high standards. Muenster High School has received State Recognition for Outstanding Effort for 1991-92. This means that Muenster High School was at least 10 percent above the State average on each applicable indicator for each applicable student population. (Our elementary school received similar recognition in 1990-91 for excellence in test scores.)

One area of comparison is TAAS scores that are given in Texas each year to measure student achievement. Two areas are measured in this Academic Excellence Indicator Report (AEIS): they are percent passing, which identifies those that score 70 or better on each TAAS test part, and percent mastery, which identifies those that master all aspects of each test part. The state also has established a world class standard for certain aspects of the indicator report and has recognized schools that reach or exceed this standard.

On the TAAS part of the report Muenster students performed as follows:

Third grade - met standards for world class designation in all three tested areas; scored higher on each test than all three of the comparison groups for percent passing and percent mastery.

Fifth grade - scored higher in reading percent mastery than all three comparison groups; in writing scored higher in percent passing and percent mastery than all comparison groups and in math scored higher in percent passing than state and regional comparison groups.

Seventh grade - met state standards for world class designation in math and writing; scored higher on all tests than did their comparison groups.

Ninth grade - met state standards for world class designation in writing; scored higher than all comparison groups on all tests.

Eleventh grade - met state standards for world class designation in all areas tested; scored higher than all comparison groups in all tests taken.

The report establishes 90 points of comparison for the TAAS test in grades 3, 5, 7, 9 and 11. Muenster scored higher than the comparison groups on 82 of those 90 points. An important point also was: Muenster, in outscoring the groups, did so in a "runaway fashion." Of 15 possible world class designations by the State MISD accomplished 10.

Other areas of excellence mentioned in the report meeting the world class standard was our attendance, drop-out rate and graduation rate. MISD has a greater percentage of its students taking advanced courses than do each of the comparison groups.

SAT scores and percentages taking the test were also higher than comparison groups.

MISD generates about $3935 per student in total revenue-the comparison groups generate $6054 and $4429 respectively. MISD spends $3557 per student for instruction, the comparison groups respectively $5266 and $3939.

All this simply means MISD does a superior job educating students for the money it has. And the money it has and spends to do this is less than the state average, the regional average and the comparison group average. This all translates to the fact that our students receive a better education than most in the state for less money, which means lower taxes.

This is a short preview of our 1991-92 District Performance Report and as mentioned earlier this report in its entirety will be public record in the next few months.

Council favors hot mix paving in Southtown

Question: When developing street paving projects, should the city council represent the interests of the owners of the majority of property or of the majority of individual residents?

Four city council meetings have addressed and directed the proposed paving projects in the Southtown neighborhood. The main issue was what kind of paving method to use: the more expensive hot mix asphalt or the more economical tar and chip rock paving.

By a three-to-two vote the council members decided to pursue the hot mix asphalt method. Many residents came to the meeting Tuesday evening at City Hall to re-emphasize their desire to pay a higher price for a better quality, or at least a more aesthetically pleasing street surface. Many spoke for the smooth, clean surface, the improved value and appearance. They spoke convincingly about the problems with loose gravel, bleeding tar and surface maintenance.

Southtown Partners who own the majority of front footage argued for the economy of tar and chip rock paving and the quality of several streets in and around the city which were paved using that method.

Councilwoman Fran Voth spoke for the residents saying she believed the council should listen to those who had to live with the decision and had invested in the future of their neighborhood. The

Adam Schniederjan starts sales and service business

Schniederjan Heating and Air Conditioning of Muenster is this area's most recent business addition. As of June 1, Adam Schniederjan has offered sales and service of heating and air conditioning units, heat pumps, and repair of major household appliances to residents of Cooke and Montague counties. Adam has CFC recovery equipment and will also be recovering refrigerant.

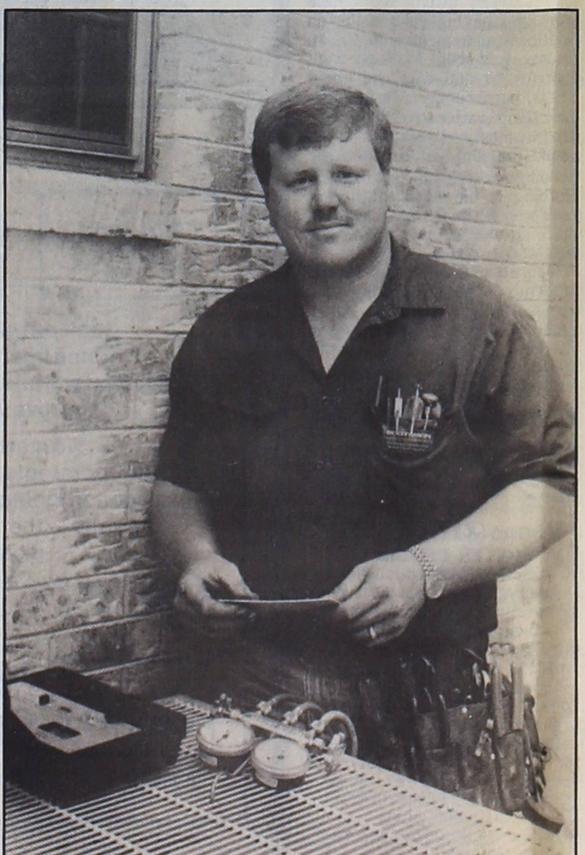

Recognizing the need of another air conditioning and heating company in Cooke and Montague counties, Schniederjan decided to start his own company. Adam is an authorized Trane dealer and will sell and service Trane equipment as well as servicing all other brands. He welcomes calls 24 hours a day seven days a week.

Schniederjan completed a course in refrigeration mechanics at TSTI in November 1984. He then worked for Otts Heating and Air Conditioning of Gainesville as a service technician and system installer for new and existing homes and light commercial businesses. Schniederjan gained experience in the repair of major household appliances such as dishwashers, microwave ovens, washers, dryers, refrigerators, etc.

Peterbilt was Adam's next employer. He worked there for 3-1/2 years before being laid off. He was a maintenance specialist and his duties included working on industrial machines and equipment, conveyors, industrial chillers, pneumatic controls, hydraulic machinery and forklift repair and electric and LPG gas units. He was most recently employed by Cooke County Electric Cooperative.

developments. "I want people to know that I will be staying on top of environmental issues," commented Adam. He is contracted with Texas Air Conditioning and Refrigerant Contractors. His license number is TACLBO10802E.

A second opinion can be obtained free of charge from Schniederjan on diagnosing major repair. Business numbers are 759-4079; (800) 451-0491 plus pager I.D. No. 3220; or Gainesville 665-6000.

Conditions belie rainfall figures

With rain falling several times a week for the past four weeks, it would seem that Muenster and surrounding areas have had more than normal amounts of rainfall for May and June, but the charts tell a different story. While rain measurements are normal - saturated, soggy, sodden are all appropriate adjectives to describe the conditions of yards, fields and pastures these days.

This is due to the numerous cloudy overcast days and frequency of small amounts of rain that prevent drying. Temperatures in the lower '90s add the right ingredient to cook up more thundershowers.

According to Bryan Tilley, meteorologist with the National Weather Forecast Office in Fort Worth, the recent frequent rain is not the result of global warming or any other culprit. "The unsettled weather pattern has set in for a period of time and we are having way above normal rainfall for the Dallas/Fort Worth Airport,"

Please See Rainfall Charts on Page 2

Tilley commented. "We set an all-time record last year with 53.54 inches of rain for 1991. The normal rainfall is 32.08."

El Nino has played some part in this year's copious rainfall, according to Tilley, but it is not the primary culprit. El Nino began last November and is caused by large-scale atmospheric pressure fluctuations that occur in the tropical Pacific. This results in warmer than normal sea surface temperatures off the West Coast of South America, causing conditions that lead to more rainfall in those areas, and eventually conditions that create more rainfall to Texas.

Tilley predicts that we are in for a fairer weather pattern late this week and weekend with isolated afternoon and evening showers, resulting from the day's heating destabilizing the atmosphere. Then, next week, look for another unsettled weather pattern to settle in. Hopefully, the rain will clear up long enough for the local farmers to harvest crops, said Tilley.

State lottery goes over big, $12,300-plus sold in Muenster

"Win the Texas Lottery," coaxes advertisements on television and radio stations and billboards. And people have been buying the tickets, especially during the game's first weekend. Tickets went on sale Friday, June 5 and many places were sold out within the first two days.

Muenster was no exception. There were 12,300 plus tickets sold in Muenster during the first two days. Many businesses, including Neil's Phillips 66 and the Kountry Korner, sold out of their first allotment during the first weekend and some made a special trip for more.

Statewide, the first day shattered a national first-day sales record, with $23.2 million and Texas may even come close to Florida's amazing first-week record of $95 million in sales. Texas has already garnered enough money from ticket sales to repay all of the start-up costs, plus made a profit.

According to Carolyn Bayer of Bayer's Kolonialwaren the tickets were good for business because they brought in people from out of town, including some from Oklahoma, Kentucky and Illinois. "It's surprising that they are buying everything else when they come in for lottery tickets," Carolyn said. "Some of the new customers didn't know about our bakery."

At the DI One Stop they are offering a free lottery ticket with an advertised meal. Ben Bindel, manager, indicated that the business sold more than 100 extra meals with that promotion during the first few days.

"The lottery ticket sales went too well, we had to bring in extra help to handle the increase in customers," remarked Bindel. "We had a lot of people from Oklahoma and many people just wanted to buy the tickets. I never worked so hard for a nickel before!"

Bindel commented that there was trouble getting the system on line. A GVT is used to confirm deliveries, validate packs and winners and do inventory and reports on the lottery tickets. Other businesses complained about the line being busy when they needed it also.

Peachie Huchton of Neil's Phillips 66 noted that they started out with 2,000 tickets and were sold out by the first Saturday. They had more tickets the next day, Sunday, but sold out again Monday. They have tickets for sale but according to Peachie they aren't selling as fast now. "It's fun and we've enjoyed it," she said.

Selling lottery tickets has brought more customers into 82 Liquor, said Mark Klement. He had people from Saint Jo, Nocona and Bowie because those towns had businesses out of tickets. "I think it's going to help and I am for it as long as the money goes to a good cause," commented Klement. "I'd rather have a lottery than a state income tax."

Tickets haven't sold in large amounts at Hofbauer's Food and Locker. "It's been more exciting for me than anybody," commented Jeannine Flusche. "People are happy to do something new and fun. Ticket sales have slacked off."

To the Editor,

In regard to the article by Ed Cler on June 5, Ed remembers more about the early days than I do, but maybe a few remarks I can make will help a little. From what I have read and heard over time, I am sure in the early 1930s, all anybody from New York City thought was that Texas was the country of wild cowboys and Indians.

I don't know why he (Mayor LaGuardia) even crossed Texas. According to the article, he was in a hurry to get across the state. I bet that all the while he was here, he was scared to death, not knowing what would happen to him.

In the 1940s, boys got drafted in the Army. It was the first time many of them had been outside the city. These boys would be on a bus going cross-country and see a cow—they did not know what it was. I will give a personal experience. One boy (I think he got drafted) was just out of high school and he got in my squad. He found out that I was an old dumb plowboy. Every once in a while, he would make a remark about the dumb farmers. I never said anything till one day he made one of his remarks and I said, "Do you ever eat?" He said, "yes" and I said, "where do you get eats?" He said, "I buy them in a can." I said, "where do they come from to get in that can?" He said, "I don't know." I said, "Some dumb farmer raised it for it to be there to get in that can." That was the last I heard from him about the dumb farmers.

Surgeon General's study has shocking results

(WRITER'S NOTE: The following article was composed with the help of Janice and Brian Ball Sr. of Trenton, whose son, Brian, died in August 1991 from alcohol poisoning. My thanks to them for contributing the material needed for this article.)

According to the "Compendium of State Laws," released by the U.S. Attorney General Antonio Novello in the fall of 1991, the nation's teenagers, on the average, have a serious drinking problem. The average youth who drinks is 16 years old, white, and in the 10th grade. Nationally, 8 million students drink weekly. About 450,000 teenagers binge drink at least once a week.

What is binge drinking and why do teenagers do it? Binge drinking and drinking games are the present fad. To binge drink means kids are drinking as much as they can as quickly as possible with the intent of passing out. Why? Of course, there are no pat answers to such a question, but here are just a few reasons: to be accepted, peer pressure, boredom, or to escape from everyday life and the pressures imposed on teenagers (good grades, work, further education, dating and home life).

According to the Surgeon General's study, "Drinking Habits, Access, Attitudes and Knowledge," the main reason this country has a problem with teenage drinking is because many parents do not realize that kids aren't drinking the way the previous generation drank at their age. Some of the findings from this report include:

- *Fifty-one percent of junior and senior high school students have had at least one drink within the past year and 8 million students drink weekly.
- *Junior and senior high school students drink 35 percent of all wine coolers sold in the United States and 1.1 billion cans of beer each year.
- *More than 5 million students have binged; 3 million students have binged within the last month; 454,000 binge at least once a week.
- *Students lack essential knowledge about alcohol and its effects.
- *Seven million students can walk into a store and buy alcohol.
- *Students accept rides from friends who have been drinking.
- *Enforcement difficulties, lenient courts, and availability of optional, alternative vendor penalties limits the overall effectiveness of strict laws and penalty provisions.

In an article from the Washington Post, May 15, 1991, "The National Institute of Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism reports that in an average year 200 to 400 Americans, including an unknown number of teenagers, die of alcohol poisoning." From the Dallas Morning News, January 1, 1992, the article states that "At the Oklahoma State University in Stillwater, the student health center treats an average of 10 cases of severe alcohol poisoning a semester."

Alcohol poisoning may be the most under-reported cause of death in the U.S. because emergency room reporting systems don't adequately report the role of alcohol. Most binge drinking deaths are reported as choking deaths when binge drinkers pass out and choke on their own vomit!

"Most teenagers killed by alcohol die not at drinking parties but on roadways: There were 2800 alcohol-related fatalities among 15- to 19-year-olds in 1989 alone." (Washington Post, 8/15/91).

According to Peggy Hoedebeck Grewing (Class of 1974), when questioned in the Sacred Heart Mosaics of Feb. 26, 1973, "What is the most dangerous obstruction to traffic safety in Muenster?" she answered, "All the drinking. That's 'the' Number One obstruction."

John Henschel responded to the same question with, "I think it is kids driving around recklessly while they are drinking or trying to show off to other kids or their girlfriend."

When asked, "Why do you think so many teenagers are apathetic when it comes to driving safely?" Christi Koesler Klement (Class of 1973) commented, "Because some of us haven't got the good judgment it takes to realize the next traffic fatality could be us."

Children are drinking to excess at a very young age. D.A.R.E. program starts at fifth grade because many children begin drinking by age 12!

Underage alcohol abuse is perceived by the public as no problem, or a "bad kid" problem. Most minors drinking come from middle and upper class families, are good kids, good students (at least in the beginning), and many are very intelligent.

The purpose of active alcohol enforcement efforts is not to punish bad kids. Changing the behavior of minors now drinking, and those who would follow in their footsteps is the purpose of active alcohol enforcement.

The public that does not consider underage drinking a problem does not realize the link between abusive drinking and other crimes, such as:

date rape, robbery, vandalism, assault.

Surgeon General Novello stressed the importance of educating America's youth about the consequences of drinking. "All the kids see is the glamour - as long as we continue to glamorize drinking, then we are going to continue to have a drinking problem among our young people," she said.

"More than one-third of these students who drink believe that drinking coffee, getting some fresh air or taking a cold shower will sober you up," said Novello. "More than 2.6 million students do not know that a person can die from an overdose of alcohol."

The education about alcohol and its dangers should begin at home - but don't wait until your child is a teenager; it could be too late by then. Many children have started drinking by the age of 12. Also, a national program, Drug Abuse Resistance Education (D.A.R.E.), has worked diligently since 1983 to educate America's youth on alcohol and drug abuse. The program teaches kids how to resist peer pressure and how to refuse drugs and alcohol by helping build self-esteem. D.A.R.E. has been established in schools in all 50 states and several foreign countries, beginning with visitation by trained instructors in kindergarten and continuing through high school.

(The comments from the students in the Sacred Heart Mosaics were included simply to demonstrate that the times and attitudes toward drinking haven't changed all that much.)

(Please watch for the continuation of this story next week.)

Disregard some delinquent notices

According to Ross Fry, chief appraiser for the Cooke County Tax Appraisal District, some taxpayers in the City of Muenster may have received delinquent tax statements from the Muenster Water District. "If you received a statement from the CCAD on the Muenster Water District please disregard it," Fry said. "The CCAD doesn't bill for the Muenster Water District and the statements are due to coding in the new computer system last Fall."

LOTTERY

about the lottery solving Texas' financial problems. "The long term effects are bad. People with money problems will get a false sense of possibly winning a lot of money. I don't think the lottery will solve problems in Texas, just cause new ones."

Danny Walterscheid, manager of Kountry Komer, counted about 138 winners for the first weekend. "We paid out $824,000," said Danny. Most of the local winners have been for $2, $5, $10, or $20 and a few $50 and several entry tickets that offered a chance at the million dollar drawings.

According to John Sharp, this Lottery is the largest computerized and most secure bar-coded lottery ever to start in the world. It allows winners to claim their prizes almost instantly and eliminates most fraud and theft.

"All winners are validated by our computers, so if someone has a forged ticket - or stolen tickets - we will catch them when they try to claim all but the smallest prizes," Sharp said. "The dumbest thing someone could do is to steal Lottery tickets; as soon as they do, they have 15,000 computers looking for them."

Governor Ann Richards praised Comptroller Sharp and his staff for the remarkable job they've done in getting the Lottery up and going seven weeks ahead of their deadline while spending less than half of their start-up budget to get it done.

Oil news from Railroad Commission of Texas

Purchases
Chairman Lena Guerrero and Commissioners James E. (Jim) Nugent and Bob Krueger reviewed oil companies June nominations to buy a total of 1,775,888 barrels of Texas oil per day. The nomination total, an increase of 4,441 barrels daily when compared to May purchaser nominations, estimates Texas oil purchases in the coming month. June 1991 nominations totaled 1,868,705 barrels daily. Major purchasers filed these June nominations from the floor at the hearing: Amoco Production Company, 142,000 barrels, unchanged; Exxon Company U.S.A., 116,000 barrels, down 1,000; and Texaco Trading and Transp. Inc., 111,600 barrels, down 2,300.

Chairman Guerrero reported that crude oil and petroleum products imported into the U.S. averaged 7,122,000 barrels per day for the month of March 1992. This was an increase of 572,000 barrels per day from the same period a year ago.

Penalties
The Railroad Commission assessed $60,000 in administrative penalties this week to seven oil and gas operators for violations under Commission well plugging rules.

Horizontal Wells
The Railroad Commission granted a total of 72 new permits for horizontal wells in April.

In all, operators have applied for 250 permits to drill horizontal wells so far in 1992. Altogether, the Railroad Commission has issued a grand total of 2,446 permits for horizontal wells in Texas since 1984.

arguments were good enough to win the vote when Gilbert Kubis made the motion to go with the hot mix method and Voth and Mary Ann Grant voted with him.

Speaking for the Partners, Rufus Henschel said that they wanted to do away with any hard feelings that had developed through the discussions. He indicated they would probably go along with the residents' desires in hopes of avoiding the costs of property appraisals and paving assessments.

Preliminary estimates for base work and paving costs using an interlocal agreement with Cooke County were about $8.00 per front foot for tar and chip and about $11.00 per front foot for hot mix. This figure varies street by street. The city must now seek bids for the actual projects and expedite the building of curbing not yet in place. Curbing is the responsibility of each property owner and must be in place at least 30 days before any base work can start.

One other item on the special meeting agenda concerned disposition of the sewer grease problem allegedly originating at The Center Restaurant. Action was tabled while further tests are made and solutions are investigated.

Sister Olivia Graff dies May 30 in Fort Smith

Sister Olivia Graff, OSB, died at age 74 on Saturday morning, May 30, 1992 at 2:15 a.m. in St. Scholastica Monastery, Ft. Smith, Arkansas.

She was born Anna Graff on Sept. 11, 1917 in New York City. Her father died in the flu epidemic before her birth and her mother died a few days after Anna was born. An inspector in Bellevue Hospital in New York City, where her mother died, aware that the baby's parents were Catholics, had her placed in an orphanage operated by Catholic nuns. At an early age, Anna was one of the children on an orphan train that stopped in Scotland, Texas, a small town close to Windthorst.

Caroline Mueller, housekeeper for Father John Nigg OSB who was pastor of St. Mary's Church in Windthorst, went to Scotland to meet the orphan train. She adopted "Annie," who was one of five children adopted there that day.

On January 1, 1926 Father John Nigg was transferred to St. Peter's Parish in Lindsay. His housekeeper Caroline and Annie moved also to Lindsay. After attending school in Lindsay and graduating from Lindsay High School in 1936, Annie entered St. Scholastica Monastery in Ft. Smith, Arkansas. She professed her vows on June 24, 1939, and with great joy celebrated her 50th year as a nun in June, 1989.

In St. Scholastica Monastery Chapel, on June 1 at 6:40 p.m., Vespers of the Dead were sung by the nuns. Mass of Christian Burial was offered on Tuesday, June 2 at 4 p.m., officiated by Father Milan OSB, assisted by Father Placidus Eckart OSB, Father Paul Hoedebeck OSB and Father Meinrad OSB. The homily was given by Father Milan, and after Mass a "Reflections on Sister Olivia" was given by Sister Louise Sharum, prioress. Nuns were pallbearers. Burial was in St. Scholastica Cemetery.

Attending from out of town were Sister Olivia's friends from Little Rock and other towns where she had been stationed over the years, and also her dear friends Polly and Wilfred Reiter of Muenster. Polly and Annie Graff were classmates at Lindsay High School.

Lindsay Council hears dispute

by Elaine Schad

The Lindsay City Council has referred a dispute concerning a specific use permit to City Attorney Belvin Harris.

The council, during its regular June meeting, heard that a committee appointed to make recommendations concerning the location of a business in a residential area has been unable to resolve the issue, said Mayor Gene Hermes. Since the business is in violation of city ordinances, it will be turned over to the city attorney, he said.

A dispute arose in February between residents Miklos Nagy and Steve Bell over the location of a business. Bell, who owns property adjacent to Nagy, is contending that Nagy is operating a business out of his home without a proper permit. Nagy, who has a part-time machine shop business, said he was assured by a former Lindsay city councilman 17 years ago that his business conformed to city standards. City officials said they have no record of a permit being granted to Nagy to operate a business.

Appointed Dick Alfrey to replace Nick Schroeder on the city's planning and zoning commission. Schroeder has moved out of the city limits and is no longer eligible to serve. One position on P&Z remains vacant. Danny Zwinggi's position will be appointed later. Zwinggi resigned when he won election on the city council.

Discussed a rough draft of a proposed policy handbook governing the police department. The city, at this time, does not have a department, but is working the policies and procedures in case the council decides to reinstate the department.

1992 'Walking Map' of Muenster now available

by Bert Hesse

The 1992 Walking Map of Muenster is a bird's eye view of the town as well as the surrounding farms. An aerial photo and a topographical map were used to lay out and draw the map. The map was drawn and colored with colored pencils.

I wanted to include the surrounding land, not only because much of community's livelihood is farming and ranching, but I also wanted to show the lay of the Brushy Elm Creek as well as the remnants of the Katy Railroad which are made visible by rows of trees along the former track. After viewing the map, you can imagine what the young town of Muenster must have looked like a century ago, with only a few buildings along Main Street and pasture land as far as you could see.

Maps are for sale at $3.00 at Muenster Museum and Muenster City Hall. Proceeds will benefit the Muenster Historical Commission.

~ Thank You ~

We want to take this opportunity to thank all the people who remembered us with cards, spiritual bouquets, Masses, flowers, calls, visits, food, gifts and last but not least, your prayers.

We faced our surgeries with a feeling of confidence and peace, knowing that we were having so many prayers offered in our behalf. Once before we saw the miracle of prayer when Benny was cured of his leukemia. Right now everything regarding his kidney transplant looks positive.

We wish to extend special thanks to Father Victor, Father Stephen, Father Camillus, our mother, brothers and sisters, and employees of Muenster Memorial Hospital for their continued care and concern.

As to Father Nicholas and our children, Roger & Monica, Jeanie & Glenn, Kerry & Mike, words are inadequate to describe our feelings of appreciation for the loving care and concern given by them. Without your support we would never have had such a quick recovery.

God Bless all of you.

Sincerely,

Era ISD superintendent resigns

by Elaine Schad

Era School District Superintendent Dale Smiley has resigned his position to accept the superintendent's post at Jonesboro, located just west of Waco. Smiley, 43, has been with the Era district for nine years. He'll be moving to a district about the same size as Era, where there are about 350 students.

"It's just a good situation for my family," Smiley said in accepting his new position. "They're really strong in academics, and they really impressed me."

Smiley said the move was also a good one for his family, since Jonesboro would move them closer to parents and other relatives. Smiley leaves a growing school district, which is in the middle of the construction of a new high school campus facility. "I think, academically, we've been on the upswing and our technology is on go," Smiley said, referring to the recent purchase of new computers and formulation of laboratories. He feels the Era district would be an exceptional one for a superintendent looking for a progressive school system.

Era school trustees will seek to fill the position as quickly as possible. The board set a June 10 application deadline and set a timetable to hire a new superintendent by June 30.

A native of Dallas, Smiley taught for eight years at Cedar Hill, four as a teacher and coach and four years as an elementary principal. He was an assistant superintendent in the Weatherford ISD for four years before coming to Era in 1983.

Smiley is the second Cooke County superintendent to resign in a week. James Bible, superintendent at Callisburg, formally resigned his position this week to become the new superintendent at Krum in Denton County.

Novices accepted by fraternity

Two novices, Jewell Sweeney and Judy Krahl, made their Profession, a permanent commitment to the Secular Franciscan Order of St. Peter's Parish on May 21, 1992, following the 7:45 a.m. Mass in St. Peter's Church in Lindsay.

The membership sang "Hymn to St. Francis." Father Stephen Eckart, OSB, was celebrant of the Mass. Elvira Flusche, director of Formation, asked the Novices to approach the altar. Minister Theresa Hermes led prayers and singing. During the ceremony, two lighted candles and a copy of the Holy Bible were given to each Novice. Mrs. Hermes read the petitions and Father Stephen read a closing prayer, then gave the traditional blessing of St. Francis to all present. The ceremony concluded with all members singing "Thy Loving Kindness."

Walter gets Soroptomist honor

Jennifer Walter, daughter of Chris and Peggy Walter, has been named Soroptomist Girl of the Year, culminating Girl of the Month awards made during the 1991-92 school year, when Soroptomist International of the Gainesville Area honored two girls at each program meeting. ## Technology program to begin in Fall

by Elaine Schad
The Muenster School District will begin implementation of a five-year technology plan this fall that will prepare students with computer experience at all grade levels.

School trustees adopted the plan at its regular May meeting. Part of the funding for the district's technology needs will come from state monies based on the district's average daily attendance. The district hopes to receive about $70,000 over the next five years to assist in implementing the plan, said Muenster Superintendent Steve Cooper.

The plan includes hiring a computer coordinator. Curriculum will be updated to provide students with both practical experience with computers, such as word processing and on-the-job training, and actual computer courses such as computer math and science. The plan includes computer use in the district's vocational program on a practical basis.

The plan includes the purchase of additional computers and the establishment of a high school computer laboratory. District officials also hope to place at least one computer in each classroom in grades kindergarten through 12 over the next five years, based on the individual teacher's expertise. The district has set aside inservice days to make available computer training for all district teachers.

"We feel like it's an excellent plan," said Cooper. "Our students should be very computerwise by the time they get out of school."

Vicki Fette earns degree

Vicki A. (Lee) Fette is a graduate of Texas A&M University since receiving her degree in Spring commencement exercises. She points proudly to the fact that she is a member of the "82-92 class," having accepted several changes in direction, several part-time jobs, and full-time delays, and one baby; she has now completed her degree.

She is the wife of Bernie Fette, native of Muenster, and the daughter-in-law of Elfreda Fette and the late R. N. Fette. She earned a Bachelor of Science degree in Kinesiology in May from Texas A&M University. Kinesiology is the study of human body movement and is a more advanced version of what was, in recent years, known as a degree in Physical Education.

Vicki's most recent "part-time delay" came 2 1/2 years ago, when she went into labor on the day of her last final exam. Robert Nicholas (R.N.) Fette was born about the time she would have otherwise begun that final test. Instead, her final three-hour requirement was completed while Nicholas was well along in his very "terrible two's."

VICKI A. FETTE

Her minor is Sociology, and her intention is to use her degree toward the educational and cultural development of underprivileged and at-risk youth. She got a head start on her plan through her temporary employment with the Boys and Girls Club of the Brazos Valley and the Girls Club of Brazos County.

She is a certified Bronze Level ASA Softball Coach (girls' fast pitch) and is certified in both Red Cross First Aid and CPR. She is a graduate of the Dale Carnegie Course and a member of DANZA, Bryan-College Station's community dance company, and won the artistic assignment to design the poster and cover for DANZA's most recent program performed at Rudder Forum April 30, May 1 and 2 in College Station.

Vicki is the Creative Advisor of Fette Communications, a public relations and marketing communications firm she operates with her husband, Bernie Fette. She has recently signed contracts with Chappel Recording Company of Massachusetts, a company that is adapting two of her poems to music.

Baptism

Wiese

Christina Pauline Wiese was baptized in St. Mary's Church in Gainesville on Sunday, Feb. 9, 1992. She is the daughter of Don and Kim Wiese of Gainesville.

Father Nicholas Fuhrmann officiated at the baptism with the assistance of Brian Wiese, Christina's eldest brother. Godparents for Christina are an aunt and uncle, Lynn and Tim Gibson of Keller, Texas.

Christina wore the same baptismal gown worn by her mother and her three brothers. The long dress, handmade in 1942 by Polly Reiter, is a tradition in the family. The gown has been worn by all ten of Wilfred and Polly's children and many of their grandchildren. Christina is the 18th grandchild and 28th infant to be baptized in this gown.

Another gift from the Wilfred Reiters was a christening cap designed by Polly Reiter from a lace handkerchief. A gift from Clara Mae and Francis Wiese was a sterling silver and blue Miraculous medal of Mary. The medal was worn by Clara Mae when she was young.

Following the ceremony the group gathered in the home of the Don Wiese family for lunch and opening of gifts.

Attending the baptism were Christina's brothers Brian, David and Stephen; the godparents, Lynn and Tim Gibson and children Brody and Tyler; the grandparents Polly and Wilfred Reiter and Clara Mae and Francis Wiese; aunts and uncles Roger Reiter; Jack and Lana Wiese and children Jacqueline and Tony Wiese; Gina Dill and children Jacob and Jamie.

Caroline Schilling honored on 80th

Caroline Schilling had the surprise of her life on May 24 when she arrived at the home of her daughter and son-in-law, Doris and Leroy Sandmann, for dinner. She was invited for a steak dinner, but, to her surprise, there were her children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren and many friends and relatives to greet her for her 80th birthday. Her actual birthday is on May 29.

CAROLINE SCHILLING

A bountiful buffet dinner was served, along with cake and ice cream. All the food was prepared by her children and grandchildren.

The home was decorated with balloons and streamers. A two-tiered decorated birthday cake was the table centerpiece. The cake was baked and decorated by a daughter, Charlotte Dangelmayr.

In the afternoon, guests and honoree and her husband, Frank Schilling, played The Newlywed Game, to the enjoyment of everyone, young and old, and some of the answers will be remembered for a long time.

A grandson, Cory Sandmann, stationed in Aurora, Colorado, with the U.S. Air Force, phoned in the afternoon, to wish his grandmother a "Happy Birthday" and visited with relatives via telephone.

In the evening, some stayed for supper and more visiting, and departed with happy memories of a party that was a complete surprise to Caroline.

The family includes Virgilla Herr, Charlotte Dangelmayr, Frank Schilling Jr., Deborah Walterscheid, Duwayne Schilling and Doris Sandmann. There are 23 grandchildren.

Tax Talk

by: Duane Knabe, CPA

Duane Knabe will discuss a different topic each week. Any questions should be directed to him at 759-4010.

This week's topic is IRA's. IRA's are a good means of deferring income until distributions are made and deferring interest.

Distributions are required to begin by April 1 of the year following that in which the taxpayer is 70 1/2. However, there are restrictions on IRA's.

An IRA must be funded by the due date of the return for the year it is to be deducted. The amount that can be funded is limited to $2000 or earned income and $250 for a non-working spouse, assuming neither spouse is an active participant in a pension plan. If a person or a spouse is an active participant, the amount of an IRA may be limited. Also, there is a 10% penalty for most distributions from an IRA to a participant before they have reached age 59 1/2.

Next week my topic will be SEP's, which are basically group IRA's established by employers.

4-H'ers learn about clothing

The Muenster 4-H Club's buying division met every Monday during April and on the first two Mondays in May in the home of Becky Felderhoff, project leader. The members learned about clothing care and how to look for flaws; how to care for hands, feet, nails and hair; and what to look for in an outfit.

Members also took two field trips. At Frybrant in Muenster Phyllis Dittfurth was the group's tour guide. Shari Flusche gave a manicure demonstration at Mane Hair Fashions in Muenster.

Participating were members Danny Felderhoff, Emily Felderhoff, Keri Felderhoff, Lauren Dangelmayr, Yvonne Martin, Alison Bayer and Kristi Lutkenhaus.

The Cooke County Dress Review will be held June 6.

5th birthday is celebrated in Virginia

Stephen Zimmerer, son of Gary and Dianne Zimmerer of Springfield, Virginia, celebrated his fifth birthday with three parties.

The first party was held on Saturday, May 2. Stephen's grandmother, Miriam Caplinger of Muenster, was present, as well as Stephen's sister, Natalie Ann, and brother, David. Grandma Caplinger visited with the Zimmerer family from April 28 through May 4.

The second party was held on Friday, May 15. Stephen shared birthday honors with a family friend, George Alcalá. Attending the party, in addition to his parents and sister and brother, were Stephen's paternal grandparents, Albert and Imogene Zimmerer of Lindsay. A special treat during the party was the appearance of Cupcake the Clown, portrayed by another family friend, Robin McKinley. Cupcake entertained the group with dancing, games and face painting.

The Zimmerer grandparents visited in Springfield from May 9 through 17.

The last celebration for Stephen's fifth birthday was on his actual birthday, May 22. His parents treated Stephen to a pizza party at Chuck E. Cheese Pizza Parlor. Natalie Ann and David, his sister and brother, also attended. A birthday cake in a baseball theme, as at the other two parties, added to the festivities.

JO ANNA FELDERHOFF

Jo Anna is 5!

Jo Anna Felderhoff celebrated her fifth birthday with a party at her Grandpa Andy Wimmer's house, with Grandma Celie helping with the celebration. Also attending were Kim, Brenda, Kimberly, Katie and Patrick Nix; Jo Anna's sisters, Megan and Shaina; and their parents, Barbie and David Felderhoff.

A "Mt. Toboggan" cake, decorated by the honoree and her mother, was served with ice cream. Later that day, Jo Anna and her family visited with her Grandpa Henry and Grandma Betty Felderhoff.

Michelle Monday is TWU grad

Michelle Lynn Monday is a graduate of Texas Woman's University, receiving her BBA degree in Marketing, with a minor in Business Administration. Commencement exercises were held in Margo Jones Performance Hall on May 9, 1992, followed by a reception in Hubbard Hall.

She is the daughter of Roy and Jane Monday of Muenster. She has been listed consistently on the University Honor Roll. Her consulting project won first place in the "Small Business Association" sponsored Competition and will continue on in state and national competition.

Attending the graduation ceremony were Roy and Jane

Monday and Craig Monday. After the ceremony, the Mondays went to the Olive Garden in Lewisville for a celebration lunch.

NOTICE OF RATE CHANGE REQUEST

Pursuant to the rules of the Public Utility Commission of Texas (the Commission), Muenster Telephone Corporation of Texas (Muenster), hereby gives notice that the Company has filed an application with the Commission for approval of a revision to its Private Pay Telephone Service Tariff. The Commission has assigned Docket No. 11033 to this filing, which clarifies and updates the rates and charges for Incoming and Outgoing Call screening to which Private Pay Telephone providers are required to subscribe under the provision of Public Utility Commission SUBR, R. 23.54 (1)(1) and (2) for fraud protection. The proposed effective date is September 27, 1992.

The present rate for Outgoing and Terminating Line Screening is $4.00 per month. The revised tariff rate is $11.00 per month which covers both incoming and outgoing call screening and a $3.00 per month outgoing screening charge levied by Muenster's Connecting Company for outgoing call screening. The proposed tariff also provides for Muenster to also charge its private pay telephone providers the same service order charge of $31.50 and installation charge of $20.00 for each access line equipped with outgoing call screening as charged by the Connecting Company to Muenster.

The tariff revision will affect two business customers and less than 1/10th of 1% of Muenster's access lines and will result in an increase of $262.50 in annual gross revenue which is the actual cost from the Connecting Company or less than 1/97th of 1% of Muenster's gross annual revenues.
A copy of Muenster's tariff and revised rate schedule as filed is available for review at the Company's Business Office in Muenster, Texas, and at the Public Utility Commission of Texas at Austin, Texas.
Persons who wish to intervene or participate in these proceedings should notify the Commission as soon as possible but no later than June 26, 1992. A request to intervene, participate, or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoel Creek Boulevard, Suite 400 N. Austin, Texas 78757, or call the Public Utility Commission, Public Information Division at (512) 458-0256, or (512) 458-0221 Teletypewriter for the deaf. # Farm & Ranch

Wheat variety released

By the time the 1992 wheat harvest fills the bins, farmers will have a new, high quality variety for fall planting.

TAM 202, a semi-dwarf hard red winter wheat, has features that will benefit both the farmer and the end-user, according to Dr. David Worrall, wheat breeder for the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station in Vernon.

"This variety should do a better job than what's available currently," Worrall said. "It's an alternative that may answer different situations experienced by farmers."

Texas farmers plant about 6 million acres of wheat a year, mostly in the High and Rolling Plains regions.

The new variety, the result of a breeding effort that began 10 years ago, claims high yields, disease resistance and good milling and baking qualities among its attributes.

Beyond the farm, hard red winter wheat - used primarily for bread - has to have good baking qualities.

Worrall explained that changes in the new Federal Grain Inspection Service classing system, scheduled to be implemented in 1994, will rate some of the current popular varieties "soft." Wheat classes "hard" is preferable for milling and baking, so the "soft" rating results in a price dockage of as much as $1.20 per bushel - or one-third to one-half of the price a farmer receives.

"That is one of the most compelling reasons to release" the new variety, Worrall said.

Another advantage of TAM 202 is yield, he said. In long-term yield tests, TAM 202 produced from 4 percent to 17 percent more than TAM 101, Chisholm and TAM 109, three popular varieties grown on the Rolling Plains.

Disease resistance is another trait. The variety carries a gene for stem rust resistance, Worrall noted.

"And while not immune to powdery mildew, it carries sufficient resistance to thwart all but the most severe epidemics," he said.

Information about TAM 202 planting seed is available through Texas Foundation Seed Service, (409) 845-4051.

County Agent's Report

June Dairy Month marks industry growth

Texans drinking more milk and eating more ice cream, cheese and yogurt will spur growth into the next century, say dairy industry experts observing June Dairy Month.

The Texas population is projected to reach 20 million by the year 2000. And each of those Texans will consume 572 pounds of milk products annually. The dairy industry must produce six billion pounds of milk to satisfy that demand.

Total per capita consumption of milk products in the state has increased 32 pounds since 1975. Advertising, lower consumer prices and public awareness of the role of dairy food in preventing dental problems, hypertension, osteoporosis and rectal cancer are all factors expected to stimulate consumption even further.

Texas ranks sixth in the nation in dairy production with more than five billion pounds of milk in 1991 valued at $686 million. The annual average of 14,258 pounds per cow is more than double the milk produced by a cow 20 years ago.

In 1991, Texas dairy ranked third in the gross receipts from farm products exceeded only by cattle and cotton and represented 6.8 percent of receipts for all Texas farm products.

Total milk sales, plus dairy cows marketed as beef, generated more than $809 million in gross returns to the state's 2,000 dairy farmers in 1991. Most of the milk in other major dairy states goes into cheese production, but in Texas, about 50 percent of the milk produced is sold as fluid milk, which brings a more favorable return.

Cooke County has 60 producers, which produced 90,150,180 pounds of milk for 1991. At a price of $12.67 per hundred pounds this amounts to almost $11.5 million in income in milk sales alone for the dairymen of our county.

Texas is recognized throughout the nation as a source of top quality breeding stock for the Jersey, Holstein, Brown Swiss and Milking Shorthorn breeds of dairy cattle. Top Texas cows consistently match production records in the other dairy states.

The Texas dairy industry also supports a strong feed industry and other allied business, including a large work force of milk and dairy product processors, distributors and retailers to supply Texans with nature's most nearly-perfect food - milk.

Perry says that 'good' bugs can manage 'bad' bugs in grain

It's "good" bugs versus "bad" bugs, and in this case the winners are Texas agriculture and a small company from the Texas coast.

Through efforts of the Texas Department of Agriculture, grain warehouse managers and farmers now have the option of using beneficial insects to control or manage insect pests in stored grain, a practice previously prohibited by the Food and Drug Administration.

"Biofac Inc. in Mathis is the only company in the nation that produces beneficial, parasitic and predaceous insects for use against destructive insect pests in commercially stored grain," Agriculture Commissioner Rick Perry said. "This provides farmers and grain operators an alternative, non-chemical method of controlling insect pests in their grain."

In 1987, Arrowhead Mills, a health food processor in Hereford, tried to use Biofac's beneficial insects in stored corn, wheat and rye. But the practice was halted by the FDA, which declared the procedure an adulteration of a food product. This virtually put a halt to the use of biological controls in grain storage facilities.

Integrated Pest Management is a cooperative approach to pest control that encourages individuals to develop and use pest management systems that are nonchemical or that minimize the use of chemicals.

New weed causes concern

The newest record finds are either along roadsides or in vacant lots in Denton, Tarrant and Dallas counties, said Dr. Barron Rector, range specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. At one site in Collin County, researchers found 26 plants to 24 square inches, White said.

Purple scabious grows to about 24 inches tall. Its purple head produces hundreds of prolific seed. The weed crowds out grass, and it competes with grass and other forage plants.

Rector said the plant thrives in areas that have been mechanically graded, bulldozed, overgrazed, or where most of the native vegetation has been removed and where weeds can survive.

It can be spread by vehicles traveling through an infested area, either in dirt sticking to tires or plants caught by bumpers. Cutting hay when the plant is seeding is another way to spread it, he said.

"The more you mow it, the more it will sprout. All that's doing is creating a disaster," White said.

"With the cultivation we do with field crops and the other herbicides we use, we've been able to keep it out of cropland," he said, but it is a true survivor.

"It's been down to 6 degrees and we haven't seen any freeze-out of the plant. It survived drought. It's survived all kinds of adversities here." Because of its endurance, the plant could spread anywhere in the state.

Long-time cattle ranchers in the county believe the plant was introduced through hay brought in from midwestern states for drought-stricken livestock producers in the 1950s. The ranch where the hay was brought is located on a state farm to market road and many think it spread from there.

A rate of two-tenths of an ounce of Ally to an acre will control the weed. The herbicide can be applied from December through May, as long as the plant is not flowering. The plant blooms in May in Collin County.

A sulphur urea compound, the herbicide is absorbed through the leaf and inhibits the intake of nutrients, thus "melting" the plant.

"It'll hammer it," White said, "and its cost is as cheap as mowing." Ally has no grazing restrictions, he said.

Around homes, people can use any effective herbicide labeled for broadleaf weeds and yards, but it may take repeat applications, he said.
