NUMBER 33

Misunderstanding, it has often been said, leads to more heated controversy than actual difference of opinion. Practically all of us can recall instances when we found ourselves in agreement after a better understanding of the issue.

Such a case is the Supreme Court's decision last week concerning prayer in public schools. This column joined in the nation wide howl of protest without really understanding the real nature of the decision. Now it has become aware, after the smoke of verbal barrage has cleared away, that the Court objects not to the practice of reciting prayers but to a school administration's action in prescribing an "official" prayer. That makes a difference, a very big difference.

As pointed out in the statement of formal opinion, "We think that the constitutional prohibition against laws respecting an establishment of religion must at least mean that in this country it is no part of the business of government to compose official prayers for any group of American people to recite as part of a religious program carried on by government."

It doesn't matter that the New York State Board of Regents had a creditable motive in prescribing what it considered a "denominationally neutral" prayer for its schools. With complete respect for the principle of separation of church and state, it simply prescribed a prayer that applied to all denominations, hence could not be regarded as partial to any one of them. Here is the prayer: "Almighty God, we acknowledge our dependence upon Thee, and we beg Thy blessings upon us, our parents, our teachers and our country." Practically anyone but an atheist will agree that it is a fine, respectful little prayer, appropriate for any denomination. The Court, too, apparently agrees on that, because it found no fault with the prayer. It only said that the State Board has no constitutional right to prescribe that prayer or any other as a required part of the public school program.

Fauly reporting is the reason behind the big hassle. Most likely you recall the headlines: "Court bans prayer." Even now, after some clarification has come through, it's likely that most of the county still thinks the court opposes prayer in school. Only a day or two ago there was still talk in Congress about passing legislation to nullify the decision. Lots of people were taken in by the inaccurate report. Con was not the only one.

This column could resent being suckered into a needless verbal blow-up, but it doesn't. Instead it's glad that the whole thing turned out as it did. No other incident in recent history has brought out such intensive and extensive comment on the importance of religion and morality in public schools. The heat of this affair has brought out a gratifying expression of nationwide opinion which might have remained silent if the decision had been accurately reported in the first place. Now we know that a big majority wants prayer and respect of God to be retained as part of the public school program.

Above all, it's a pleasure to note that "the prayer," or any other prayer may be recited. Nothing has changed after all, except perhaps that widespread publicity of "the prayer" will lead to its voluntary adoption by many schools, even some.

It's Time to Claim Tax Refund for Gas Used on Farm

The time is here again for farmers to file claim for refund of federal tax on gasoline used on a farm.

County Agent Neil Tibbets announced this week that a claim may be filed any time before October 1 for the 4 cent per gallon tax refund on gasoline purchased for authorized farm use during the fiscal year of July 1, 1961 to June 30, 1962. Farmers who filed in previous years will receive necessary forms through the mail. Others can get forms by writing to the District Director of Internal Revenue.

It's a good idea to file for refund on state tax at the same time, Tibbets said. Since the state now allows claims for a full year a farmer can handle the two claims together, using the same set of figures. It saves work, also helps avoid forgetting the refund.

62 Flags Displayed Here on July 4th

Gratifying response is noted in Muenster lately to the nation-wide movement for display of more flags on national holidays. Old Glory was flying proudly at 62 locations here on July 4.

The VFW Post's recently initiated flag service is due most of the credit for the big improvement in patriotic display. For a small annual fee the post provides all the flags and a group of veterans makes the rounds twice on every holiday, setting the flags out near sun-up and taking them down near sun-down.

Dodgers Win, Lose In Two Thrillers, Now Lead League

Thrillers continue to be the rule rather than the exception in the older division of games baseball. In last Friday's games the Dodgers lost 9-8 to the Yanks then beat the Giants 11-9.

As a result the Dodgers are now leading the loop with a 3-1 record. Yanks are in second place with 2-2 and the Giants are last with 1-3.

First game last week was hot down to the last inning when a timely two run single gave the Yanks their one run win. Next one seemed dull for a while as the Giants took a 9-0 lead in three innings. But after that the Dodgers did all the scoring and interest revived as the score got close.

In this week's games the Yanks will have the double header, playing Giants at 7 and Dodgers at 8:30.

The Pee Wee loop missed its Wednesday night games because of a conflict with July Fourth observance. Make-up date for that is Thursday night, Robins playing Ravens at 7 and Parakeets playing Jays at 8:30. Next week Wednesday it will be Ravens-Jays at 7 and Parakeets-Robins at 8:30.

New Arrangement On Trash Disposal Effective Saturday

This week Saturday is the first day of the city's new trash disposal program. Residents are reminded again of the new location south of town which can be reached by driving about three miles on the FM road, turning into a gate and proceeding about a half mile farther to the disposal site. The place will be open from 9 to 3 and a city employee will be there to supervise dumping.

It is also pointed out that the city's lease on the former location has expired and continued use of the place is in violation of personal property rights.

The new facility is for city residents only and is intended to stop the disorder resulting from unsupervised dumping.

$22,470 Interest Paid on Savings At Muenster Bank

Earnings in the Savings department of Muenster State Bank hit another new high figure this week when $22,470 was paid out on the regular interest payment date.

In practically all cases the interest was added to the customer savings account and helped to boost present savings deposits to the all time high of $1,608,673.56. It has increased slightly more than $203,000 during the past year.

The savings department at the local bank has made very substantial progress during slightly less than eleven years of operation. From its start on Sept. 7, 1951 it gained slowly at first, reaching about $81,000 by the end of 1952 and $375,000 by the end of 1955. It passed the million mark in 1959 and has gained over 60 per cent during the three years since then.

This week also marks the 39th anniversary of the founding of Muenster State Bank. As President J. M. Weinzapfel recalls, it was officially opened after quitting time on July 2, 1923. At 4 o'clock on that day the bank received its charter from the state, and that hour is regarded as the time of actually going into business.

The capital structure that day included $17,500 as capital and $1,750 as surplus. Since then it has increased more than 1500 per cent. Present capital is $100,000, surplus and reserve is about $200,000.

Local 4-H Girls Tie for First in County Food Show

Two of Muenster's Sacred Heart 4-H Club girls tied for top honors in the county's Favorite Foods Show in the elimination contest at Gainesville June 28.

Sharing top spot are Janice Vogel and Charlotte Wolf but there was no need to break the tie.

Janice will go to Denton to compete in the district contest since Charlotte is already a state winner and not eligible in another contest that takes winners to state competition. The district contest will be held this week Friday. Janice's entry was a meat dish called "Humberger," Charlotte's was a chicken salad.

There were five entries in the county contest . . . one from Gainesville and two from Sivel's Bend in addition to Muenster's entries.

Foundation Work In Progress on Factory Building

Construction on the Muenster Industrial Building took a big forward step Wednesday with drilling of 79 holes for piers to support walls inside columns and floor support beams. The digging contractor is Joe Holy and sons of Dallas. Concrete pouring for the piers is due to be finished this week.

The industrial building, located at First and Sycamore Streets, will feature construction with prefabricated concrete slabs in both walls and roof. Wall facing will be of white shell rock. Dimensions are 138x 88, which will provide about three times as much working space as now available to Muenster Manufacturing Company, besides the areas for office, lunch room, rest rooms and loading.

The project means good news for another local firm also. Muenster Equipment Company, now sharing the building with Muenster Manufacturing Co., will take over the rest of the building as soon as it becomes available.

Auxiliary to VFW Calendars Dance As Benefit July 21

Business was routine at the VFW Auxiliary's July meeting Monday night except for making final arrangements for a benefit dance which members calendared for Saturday, July 21. It will be an overall and gingham affair. Buddy Bruce and his Westwinds of Denton will play.

Mrs. Charlie Pagel, president, presided for the business session attended by 16 members. Afterwards there was a social hour featuring a fried chicken feast. Mrs. C. M. Walterscheid won the door prize.

Contract Awarded For 4 Reservoirs On Elm Watershed

Activity on the upstream flood prevention program on Elm Creek moved another big step forward last week with the award of a contract for construction of four more reservoirs.

Willard Kemplin, chairman of the Upper Elm-Red board of supervisors, announced that the four structures in the Muenster-Saint Jo area will be built by Shellenburger, Inc. of Sherman.

Sites identified as 61CC, 61D, 61F and 61G, are located on land owned by Hugo Lutkenhaus, H. D. Field Jr., Dangelmayr Brothers and Vincent Felderhoff respectively.

When these are completed the Muenster-Saint Jo area of Elm Creek will have 27 flood control dams.

TP&L Announces Billing Procedure Changes in July

Texas Power & Light Company's customers will begin receiving their electric bills in envelopes in July. The bills will be mailed in window envelopes and an addressed return envelope will be enclosed for the convenience of customers who pay by mail.

Enclosed each month will be informational material, among which will be a customer publication known as "Howdy, Neighbor," which will contain information concerning TP&L and the investor-owner electric industry, along with household hints, recipes and other information of interest to the Company's customers.

In connection with the new billing procedures, TP&L will deduct from July electric bills interest on service deposits at a rate of 6 percent per annum through December 31, 1961, except where previously paid. Should the "total amount due" on the bill reflect a credit as a result of the application of interest, such credit will be applied as a reduction to succeeding bills.

In the future, it is planned that interest on service deposits for the preceding calendar year will appear as a credit on electric service bills during January of each year.

Early Revival Planned on Drive For Hospital Fund

Renewed work on the financial structure of Muenster Memorial Hospital is due to get under way about the same time as the start of physical construction.

Directors of the hospital authority announced this week that they will start promptly on re-organizing their long dormant fund raising campaign with a hope of bringing in money fast enough to meet demands of the building schedule.

Partial payments are required from time to time as certain phases in the contract are completed. The authority will strive to have cash ready for those payments so obligations can be met without the additional cost of borrowing money. It is confident that this program will provide for a very large portion if not all of the cost. If that fails to finish the job final payment will be made by a bond issue which will be retired by continued solicitation after the building is finished.

A nice addition to the hospital fund is the $1480.61 received this week as interest on money deposited in a savings account at Muenster State Bank. However that amount is only a small beginning in relation to the amount still needed. The total still to be raised is about $245,000. About $100,000 will be met by existing subscriptions and the rest of it has to be raised additionally.

Total cost of the hospital is estimated at about $662,500. The building is contracted at $539,900 and architect's fee, equipment and supplies will account for the rest of the cost.

Indications are that federal participation in the project will be raised from the original $250,000 to $300,000, leaving $362,500 to be raised locally. Cash on hand, exclusive of the fund set aside for initial operating capital, now stands at $118,220, and the amount still needed is near $245,000.

Directors are confident that actual work on the building will create greater interest, which will be reflected in better response to the fund drive. Their goal is community wide support in a schedule of regular small payments which will require less sacrifice of the contributors, but will combine into substantial steady income for the fund.

Construction of the building apparently will begin July 15, as estimated by the contractor, A. P. Kasch of Big Spring, on June 21, when notified of his successful bid. He is ready to start moving here as soon as the formal contract is approved by state and federal officials. After that he has 230 working days to finish the job.

Kasch is especially experienced in hospital construction and is highly recommended by the state health department. He has just finished a 40-bed hospital at Eden and is currently working on a 40 bed addition to a Lubbock hospital and 50, 100 and 150 bed hospitals respectively at Ballinger, Andrews and Ennis.

Swimming Club For Adult Ladies Being Considered

A meeting to be held at the swimming pool Saturday morning at 10 o'clock will decide whether an adult ladies' swimming club will be organized. Pool Manager Glenn Richardson called the meeting in response to requests from several interested persons.

The club as proposed has two purposes, he said. One is to provide instructions for those who wish to improve their swimming, the other is to avoid being bothered by youngsters . . . swim sessions are to be held in the mornings when the pool is not open to the public.

Any ladies interested in the swim club are urged to be there for the meeting.

THE TAX-EXEMPTION FARCE

It is often difficult to understand the workings of the political mind. For example, the proposed new federal income tax rules would establish a withholding tax on interest and dividends. The theory is that most U. S. citizens cheat on their tax returns, and thus by making the companies paying interest and dividends withhold 20 per cent of the amount to be paid to investors and savers before they get it, the government would get its full pound of flesh.

The foregoing is one way the political mind works. Now consider another way whereby it permits tax exemptions. Congress will spend $100 million, $500 million or $1 billion for a federal power project, and make it tax-exempt. Such a project is strictly a commercial enterprise, not a legitimate function of government such as defense, roads, and the like which are tax-exempt because they serve all the people equally, not a special few.

A federal power plant cuts rates below taxpaying investor-owned electric companies whose taxes help build it. It sells its power to a limited number of customers whose electric rates include no sum for taxes to help support government, and for public services from which they benefit the same as electric customers whose bills include tax costs.

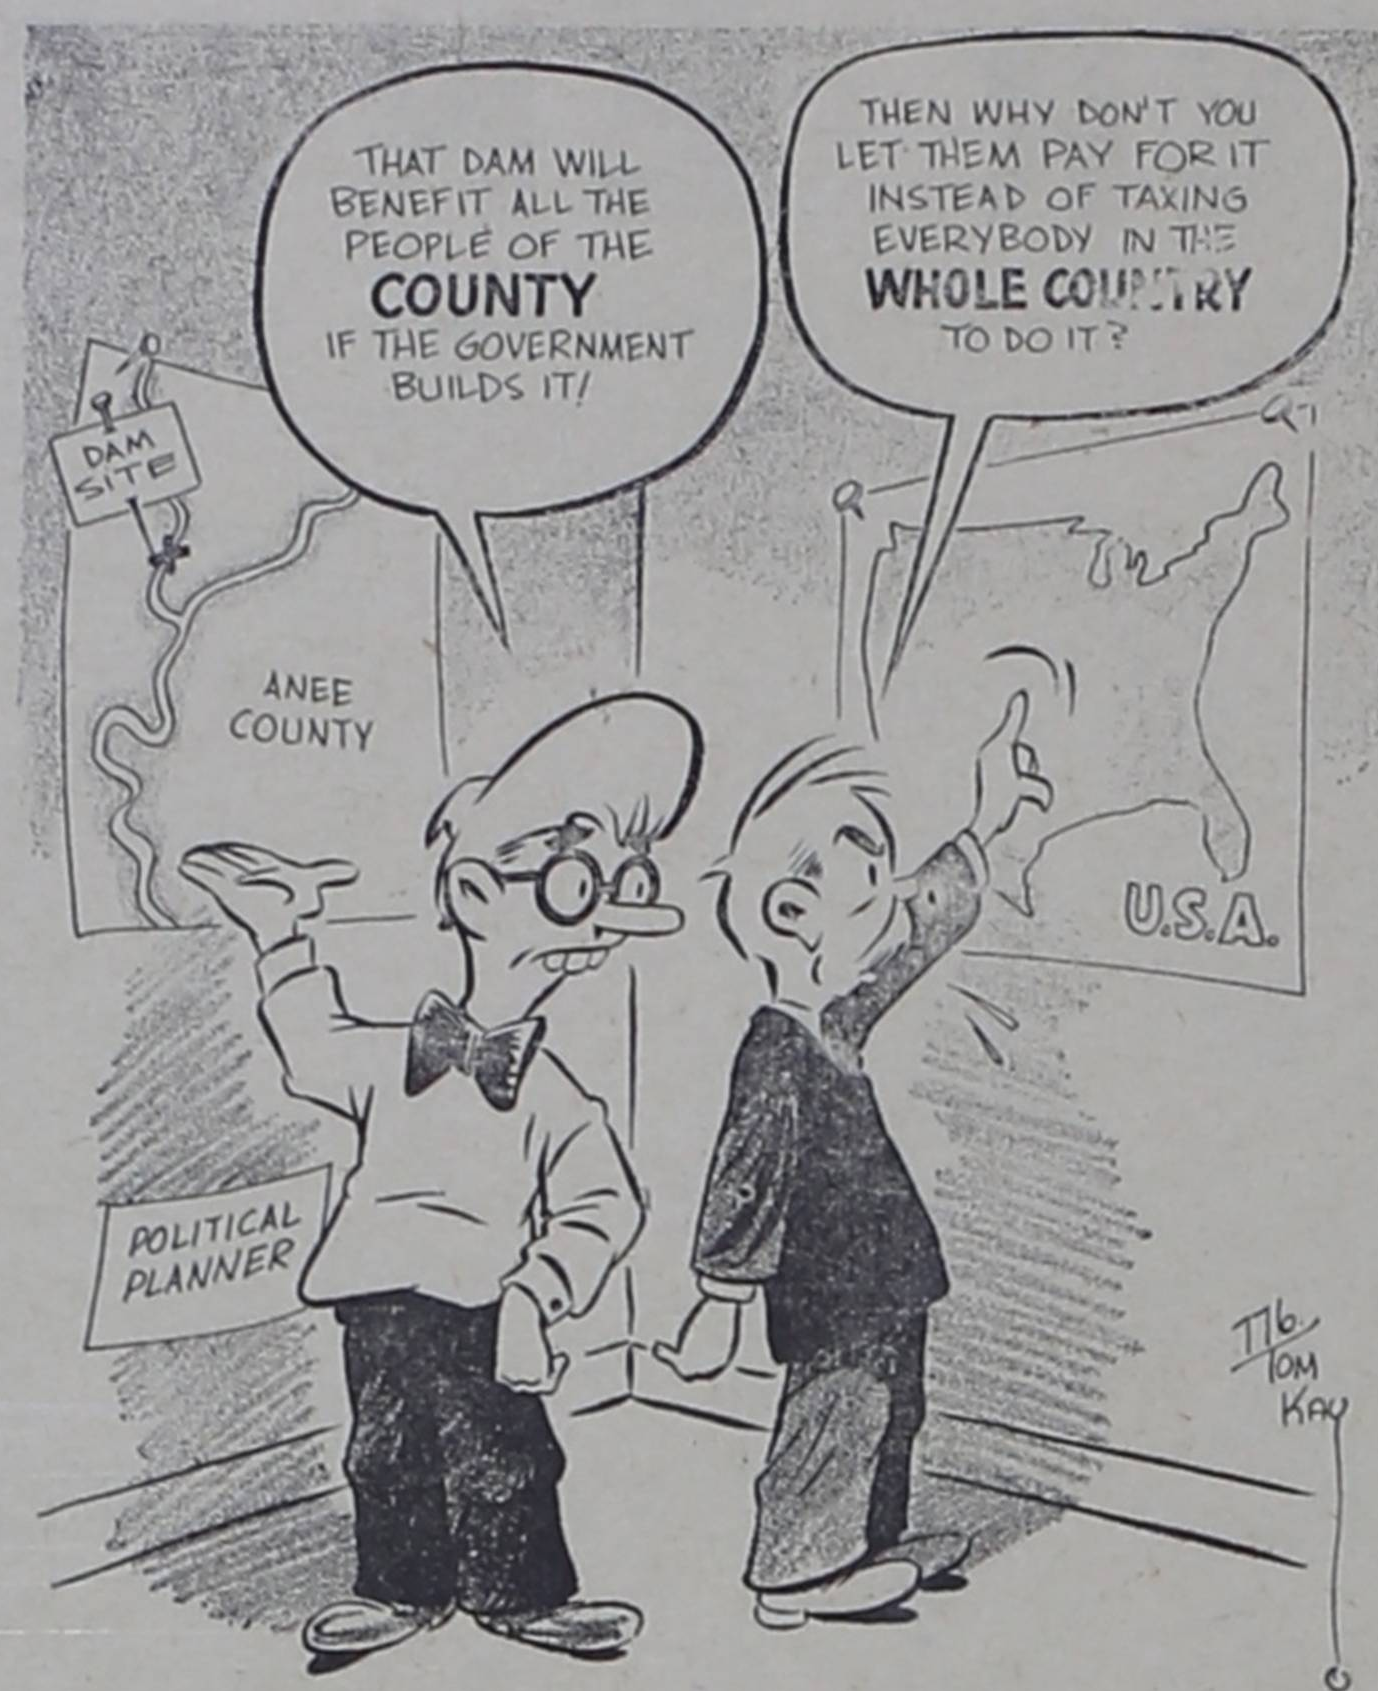

The taxes escaped by such government-owned commercial enterprises constitute a tax loophole of hundreds of millions of dollars, and they eliminate the taxes that investor-owned utilities would otherwise be paying if they supplied the electric service.

Yes, it's queer the way the political mind works. — Industrial News.

CHURCH — OR LABOR UNION — WHICH?

According to a UPI news release from Milwaukee, Wisconsin, Mrs. Mary Ellen Benson, a member of Local 356, United Papermakers and Paperworkers, AFL-CIO, was fined $10.40 in county court because she WENT TO CHURCH on Sundays, instead of to union meetings. $5 was for failure to attend union meetings, and $5.40 for court costs.

The union by-laws provide that any member who misses three union meetings out of five be fined. Mrs. Benson has been paying fines since joining the union in 1954. This time, she had refused to pay, and the union went to court to collect.

"The union meetings come on Sunday mornings, exactly at my church time," said Mrs. Benson. "I've told them (the union) over and over again that I will never go to their meetings as long as they are on Sunday — and I won't."

Judge Miech ruled that, while going to church was a praiseworthy reason for not attending the union meetings, as a union member she was required to abide by the rules of the union.

"I should never have to pay the union or anybody else for my freedom on Sunday," insisted Mrs. Benson. But Wisconsin does not have a right-to-work law, and if she withdraws from the union she would lose her job.

"I thought the Constitution gave us the right of freedom of worship," explained Mrs. Benson. She is learning the hard way that our "RIGHTS," either as Christians or as citizens, will soon be but a shallow mockery if the arrogant labor union dictators can have their way.

Militant Truth

WE NEED THIS MAN FOR PRESIDENT OF THE U.S.A.

A member of President Kennedy's cabinet, Luther H. Hodges, Secretary of Commerce, has astonished and electrified the nation by his statement to a Congressional committee that his department has 3,000 employees more than it needs, and, that in his opinion, 300,000 federal government employees could be laid off and never missed.

Every government official knows this to be true, but Luther Hodges is the first public official to state it officially to a Congressional committee.

And why, you ask, if he has 3,000 surplus employees, doesn't he get rid of them? He answered succinctly. He can't get rid of them because the Civil Service law protects them in their do nothing jobs.

"It is time," says Hodges, "that while protecting people in obsolete jobs that Civil Service should take a look at protecting the taxpayer who must support these unnecessary government employees."

Now that we know the score, announced by a New Frontier cabinet member, will the President explain why nearly 80,000 additional employees have been put on the Federal payroll since

Kennedy took office.

Someone in the Federal Government must become sufficiently responsible to start doing something for the taxpayer.

Luther Hodges has taken the lead. He has stated publicly what every official knows about the excess number of government employees. He also stated that business would be better and more jobs available if income tax was reduced for both the individual and for business. He pointed out the economic advantage of a larger tax deduction for industrial expansion to create more jobs.

What a man! What an unusual public official. What a sensible approach to the problem facing America. Let's have Luther H. Hodges as the next Democratic President of the United States.

HAM — AND A PRECEDENT

"Ham is ham". And an order from the Secretary of Agriculture that attempted to deny this fact was described, by the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, sometime ago as being "capricious and arbitrary".

The story can be told briefly. Nowadays most consumers prefer hams with a higher moisture content than used to be the case. So the packers, whose job it is to meet consumer demands, have injected water into hams during the modern quick-curing process. A former Secretary of Agriculture approved the practice. But his successor ordered that hams with injected water must be labeled "imitation ham".

It was this arbitrary order that the Court threw out of the window. Consumer protection, it added can be assured by requiring that labels on hams show the nature and the extent of added moisture. So people who want the modern-type, moist hams can get what they want — as can consumers who still prefer the old-type dry hams.

There's no question of quality or sanitation involved. And there's no price gouging — the hams with added moisture, according to retail spokesmen, sell for less per pound. The buyers of either kind of ham get the amount of meat they pay for.

What the Court did, in substance, was to affirm the right of consumers to be able to obtain a product they want — and the right of producers and processors to provide it for them. Here is a precedent that should be applied to the production and sale of all the goods and services, so long as the truth is told about their content.

NEA "JOURNAL" PROMOTES HOAX

The National Education Association should receive strong censure over some misleading pictures published recently in the association's "Journal" of April.

The "Journal" pictured several rundown schools over the country with such captions as "These children are being cheated!" and "Underfinanced schools cannot attract good-teachers." The "Journal" failed to identify the schools and could not identify many of them when questioned about them. The idea the "Journal" was trying to get across, of course, was that schools need federal aid in order to keep up with the times.

The facts, however, tell a different story. When reporters checked into the situation surrounding the pictures which could be identified, it was discovered that those schools pictured had long since been replaced, will soon be replaced or have been vastly improved — all on local financing.

When project advisor of the NEA Dr. John M. Lumley (also NEA congressional lobbyist) was questioned concerning the misleading pictures this conversation was reported:

Question: "Isn't it unfortunate that a teacher's organization (NEA) tells only one side of the story?"

Dr. Lumley: "To us, there is only one side."

Question: "But this is never true."

Dr. Lumley: "But I don't think you'd expect us ever to admit that!"

The NEA should be held accountable for such gross misrepresentation and the fostering of untruths into the American people.

Incidentally, in school districts where most of the pictures were taken parents and teachers went on record opposing federal school aid.

Grandfield, Okla., News

For years, Presidents have had at their disposal a private Pullman car, armor-plated with bullet-proof windows.

Congressman James A. Haley, Democrat from Florida, says: "The House Appropriations Committee has come forth with a statistic which should frighten every man, woman and reasonably mature child in this country. It certainly frightens me. This is the Appropriations statement: Interest on the public debt now is costing the taxpayers $17,960 every minute of the day. I will not even attempt to compute what that amounts to per hour or per day, but I will point out that the interest on the public debt now has become the largest single item in our Federal budget except for the defense appropriation."

HD Club Members Tell Deep Freeze Tricks to Share

Muenster Home Demonstration Club members had their regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Hank Walterscheid and 15 members answered roll call by naming "A Freezer Trick I'd Like to Share".

Mrs. Paul Fisher was elected council delegate to the state meeting in Dallas September 18 and 19.

Plans were discussed for the annual picnic members give for their families. It will be held some time this month in City Park.

Members were reminded to think about entering an exhibit in the County Fair. The project is "TV Tray Setting." The group also discussed the cook book they are compiling favorite recipes for all will sell after it is printed.

The next meeting will be a crafts program at Mrs. Albert Fleitman's home, all members participating.

BIG CLUB—Jack Nicklaus, winner of the U.S. Open in Oakmont, Pa., packs a big club, but not as big as it seems to be here. Camera distortion has enlarged Jack's driver.

"When I first discovered that if I was quick, I was fast, that if I was tied, I was wast, if I spent too freely, I was fast and that not to eat was to fast, I was discouraged. But when I came across the sentence, 'The first one won one one dollar prize,' I gave up trying to learn the English language."

The young doctor had a small practice. His servant entered the room on day and said, "Doctor, those boys are stealing your green apples again. Shall I run 'em off?"

The doctor was thoughtful for a moment, then said, "NO."

A famous air line presents its passengers with sticks of gum labeled: "To prevent unpleasant pressure in your ears during taking off and landing." The other day a dear old lady traveling via this air line appealed to the stewardess, "Please help me get this stuff out of my ears. It doesn't help anyway."

Surprise Greet F. McTaggart on 40th Anniversary

A fortieth wedding anniversary surprise greeted Mr. and Mrs. Fred McTaggart at their home in Myra Monday afternoon when Mrs. McTaggart was hostess for a Stanley demonstration.

The group of ladies presented gifts and Mrs. Aubrey Williams brought an anniversary cake she baked and decorated. It was iced with strawberry frosting to carry out the ruby anniversary theme and had as an accessory blue numeral candles arranged to form the figure 40. It served as the table centerpiece.

Mr. McTaggart, retired railroad employee, bakes as a hobby and prepared party refreshments of French lemon pie and punch for his wife and her guests.

The couple married in Emory, Texas, and have lived at Myra since 1932. They have two sons, three daughters, 15 grandchildren and 16 great-grandchildren.

Present for the afternoon were Mesdames Aubrey Williams, Clarence Hudspeth, John Steele, W. A. Matthews, C. L. Livingston, Johnny Barthold, C. W. Randall, George Reed, James Hammer and Edna Huddleston. Mrs. Huddleston is Stanley's representative in Gainesville. She mentioned that this is her company's 30th anniversary year.

Two Couples Bring Home 260 Pounds Fish From Coast

Two hundred and sixty pounds of Red Snapper came home with Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hess and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Medders from their trip to the coast and deep sea fishing at Port Isabel.

The Medders' suitcases were hardly unpacked from a trip to Tennessee for business and pleasure when they joined Mr. and Mrs. Hess on the trip to the Gulf . . . Beaumont to Brownsville . . . and after fishing at Port Isabel, two days in Old Mexico for sight-seeing. Enroute home they stopped in San Antonio to see Mr. Medders' sister.

On the trip to Tennessee, Mr. and Mrs. Medders took their children and Miss Helen Fleitman with them going to Jellico for a final family reunion at the old home place where Mrs. Medders' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Smiddy, lived for over 45 years. They sold the home and property and have come to Muenster to live, sharing their daughter's home.

Joining in the reunion were Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Martin of Ettawah, Tenn., and three of the Smiddy brothers. They came from Virginia, Wisconsin and Kentucky.

Stranger in village: "Did you see a pedestrian go by here awhile ago?"

Villager: "No, sir. I've been here and hour and there hasn't been a thing go by except one man and he was walking."

The grandfather was telling the boy tales of the old West and how Billy the Kid had killed 21 men by the time he was 21 years old.

"Gad, grandpop," said the youngster, "what kind of a car was he driving?"

Entries Sought For Four Contests Sponsored by FB

Cooke County Farm Bureau is lining up an impressive list of events including a queen's contest, a princess contest, a young people's talent find and a young people's talk meet. For these events, the Bureau is getting the word around that contestants are wanted.

The big night will be Monday, August 13, in the CCJC auditorium.

New on the calendar of events is a junior contest for girls from 12 through 15 to select a princess. The junior girls will share in all activities with the senior group except the junior winner does not go on to the district contest. She receives awards on the county level only.

Queen candidates must be between the ages of 16 and 22, single, and the sister or daughter of a Farm Bureau member.

First get-acquainted meeting will be held next Wednesday, July 11, at 9:30 a.m. in the community room of the First State Bank with lessons on the art of make-up, and hints on posture, poise and self assurance. There will be other meetings for contestants and a rehearsal tea before the big night.

For the young people's talent find anyone 17 to 30 years of age inclusive as of December 1 is eligible provided he or she is a member of a Farm Bureau family, an amateur, and can dance, sing, play a musical instrument or entertain in some other manner. County winner will advance to state with a chance to enter the National Talent Find.

The young people's talk meet winner on the county level also has a chance in the district contest and each district will send one contestant to the State Talk. The state winner goes on to the National Talk Meet.

Talk Meet contestants must be members of a Farm Bureau family, aged 17 to 30 inclusive. Male or female, single or married people may enter. Persons interested may contact the Farm Bureau office for a list of subjects and other information.

Queen and princess candidates are asked to notify Mrs. George Berry of Rosston or the Farm Bureau office of their intentions.

Litter, Vandalism On Road Cost State $2 Million a Year

Almost two million dollars — funds that could have built 72 miles of farm to market roads or 24 miles of two-lane primary highways — had to be spent by the Texas Highway Department to remove litter from the highways and repair vandalism damage last year.

This is much like a man throwing trash in his own yard and then paying someone to pick it up, for Texas motorists are covering the "front yards" of their state with a trail of trash and then "footing the bill" to have it cleaned up. Last year the Highway Department had to spend $1,344,000 to remove this unsightly and un-sanitary mess from the roadsides.

In addition, sign vandalism accounted for another $385,900. Other vandalism totaled $70,000 bringing the total for litter removal and vandalism to $1,799,900.

Vandalism, according to the Highway Department classification, covers such items as damaging and destroying signs and sign supports, marking on structures, and damaging safety rest areas (roadside parks). Litter includes beer cans, watermelon rinds, bottles, wrappers, newspapers, milk cartons, and cigarette packages.

Anyone who thinks the younger generation isn't creative should watch a teenager build a sandwich.

Fishers Visit Kin Go Sight-seeing on Nine Day Vacation

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Fisher spent most of their vacation in Colorado but toured six other states for sight-seeing on their nine-day vacation.

The most important stop was at Fort Collins, Colo., with their daughter Mildred and family, the David Shensks, and seeing their grandchildren Stephanie and Robert Shenk. They also visited the Alton Shensks.

Another visit with relatives was at Longmont with Charlie's sister and husband, the Clem Fladungs.

Sight-seeing highlights included the Grand Canyon in Arizona, Pike's Peak and other attractions in the Colorado Springs area and Mother Cabrini's Shrine, Red Rock Theatre and Coors Brewery in the Denver area. They drove the Trail Ridge Drive at the Great Divide and visited Estes Park. At the H Bar G Ranch they visited a friend of Mrs. Shenk's, Miss Ann Stephens. The Shensks were with them on side trips in their area.

From Colorado they went to Cheyenne, Wyo., and on through Nebraska, Kansas and Oklahoma. Back in Texas at Cee Vee they stopped with Mr. and Mrs. Tracy Evans, old neighbors of theirs when both families lived in Valley View.

Miss Emma Fisher of Fort Worth came home for the weekend to hear about her parent's trip.

Flusches in West Texas, New Mexico On Vacation Trip

Covering a lot of territory and seeing places of interest along the way filled an eight-day vacation for Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Flusche. They visited in West Texas and New Mexico.

First stop was at Lubbock with their son and family, the Dave Flusches, who took them sight-seeing in that area and to Hereford and vicinity. They also went to Andrews for a visit with Mrs. Dave Flusche's folks.

From there J. P. and Hazel went to Carlsbad Caverns and visited in Albuquerque. They talked by phone with H. P. Hennigan and Doc Hellman.

In Santa Fe they saw all the places of tourist interest including the Miraculous Stairway, the oldest church and oldest house and other historic spots.

Returning, they visited in Amarillo and Lawton, Okla.

Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Flusche had an outing for their children Billy, Tommy, Suzy and Ronny. They spent the day at Forest Park, visited the zoo, had a picnic dinner, and after leaving Fort Worth visited the Bill Martins and son Chris at Irving.

WORRY

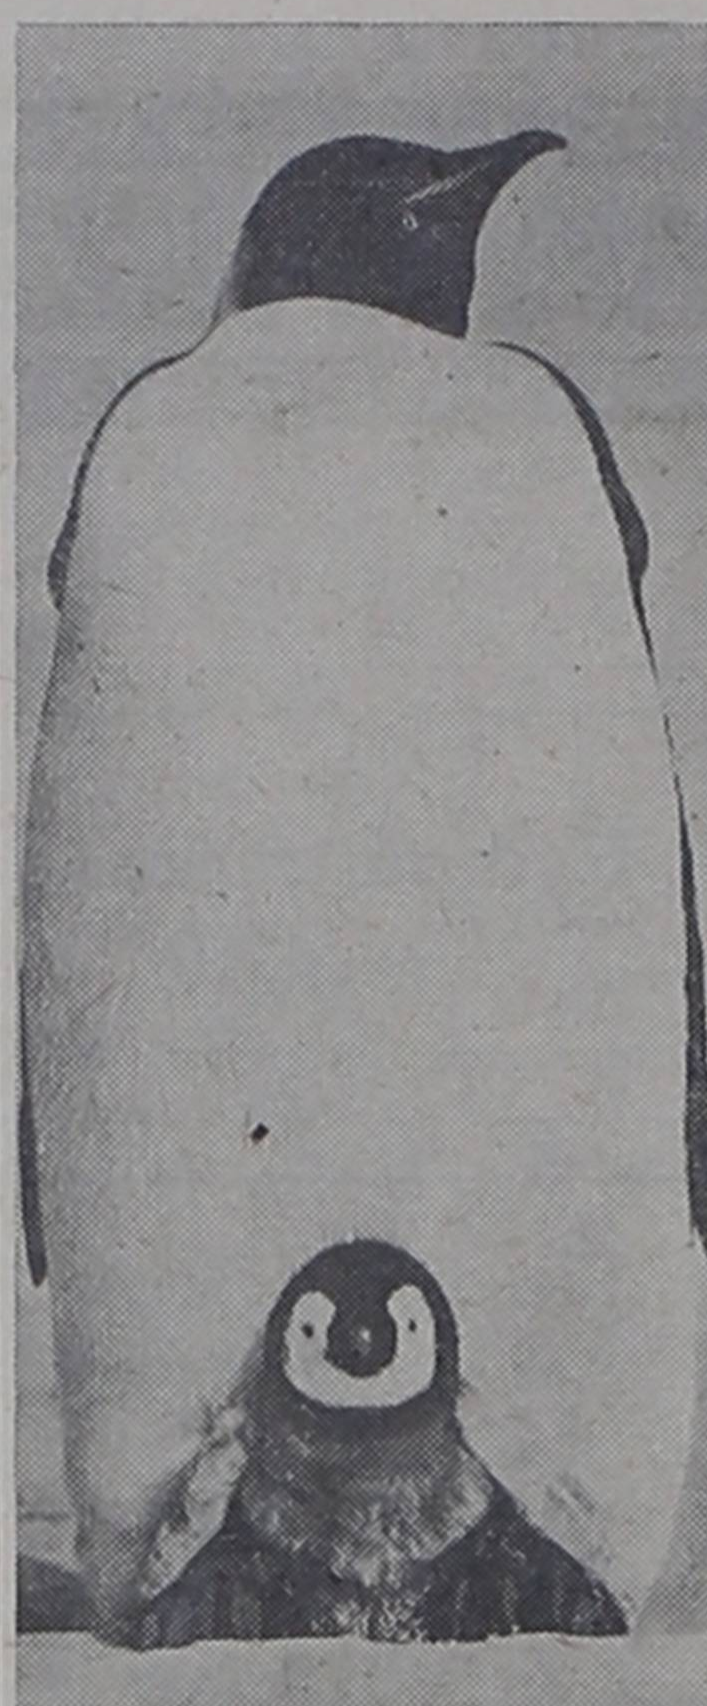

He worried about the weather, he worried about his health, he worried about his business, he worried about his wealth.

She worried about the children, she worried about her clothes, she worried about the neighbors, she worried about her woes.

They worried about their taxes, they worried about their pets, they worried about their future, they worried about their debts.

They worried, still they worried; they worried, but alas; They worried about a lot of things that did not come to pass! — Kleiser.

Farm Facts

"American supermarkets are the housewife's dream," the U. S. Department of Agriculture reminds us—"lettuce, fresh from California, wheat products from the Great Plains, oranges picked in the Florida sun, all as close as the nearby market."

"It's the taken-for-granted miracle of the American farm and marketing system, a system that gives Americans more food for less work than ever before in history."

"The price tag on this limitless array of foods, according to the Economic Research Service, is only $1.08 a day for each American."

"In dollars and cents the bill is higher—by 20 cents—than it was in 1947-49. But in those days the food bill was worth 26% of our take-home pay. Now it is only 20%."

"For instance, a decade ago an hour of factory work bought 2½ pounds of chuck roast, 20 eggs, or 6½ quarts of milk. Today an hour buys 3½ pounds of chuck roast, 42 eggs, or more than 8 quarts of milk.

"Increased efficiency on the farm and in the marketing system has helped keep food prices from rising as much as many other major expenses."

In order to make a long story short, Little proposed to Long and thus made Short long to get even with Little's shortcomings. And it happened when Short meeting Long, threatened to marry Little before Long. Eventually this caused Little to marry Long before long. But the main question is — did Short love large Little because Little loved Long?"

Spell Correctly And Write Legibly

We appreciate the help of many people who contribute news of interest to the home paper for publication.

We offer one important word of caution. Please be sure to spell names correctly . . . and write as plainly as possible. Frequently, it is better to print names.

Sometimes names are spelled so peculiarly, they appear to be misspelled, when really they are not. Then, again, what may appear to be correct . . . might be in gross error. John Smith may really be "John Schmidt."

The editor, too, has great difficulty in determining from handwritten bits of news whether a name is "Ray" or "Roy," or "Love" or "Lane," "Rita" or "Reta" to mention only a few examples. Even in less confusing names, it is not easy to distinguish "a" for "o", "u" from "n" or even "w," "i" from "e" or "l" from an uncrossed "t."

If you have wondered why newspapers all too frequently misspell proper names, this is a partial explanation — illegible writing or misinformation. Even if the writing is clear and the letters are well-rounded, names that can be spelled a half dozen ways often do not appear in print as the "owner" spells his or her name. The name "Katherine," for example, has two dozen variations. A simple name like "Elizabeth" may really be "Lizabeth." It is "Debra" or "Deborah," Jean, Gene, Jeanne or Jeane, Betty, Bette, or Bettie . . . and on and on?

Is it any wonder that editors turn gray early in life? — Kaufman Herald.

600,000 Children Accidentally Take Poison Every Year

There are 250,000 products for use in the home which contain one form of poison or another. It is little wonder then, that 600,000 children manage to poison themselves each year. Of these about 500 die.

Cleaning and polishing agents, detergents, cosmetics, paint, turpentine, petroleum-based products, bleaches, plant foods, plaster and thousands of similar items all may contain poison.

Many of these substances can be found in such places as the cabinet under the sink, the broom closet, the bedroom dresser, etc. — places toddlers just love to explore.

Medicines also are extremely dangerous, except in the correct dose for the person for whom they are specifically recommended. Too much of virtually any medicine can be poisonous. Aspirin, a virtual staple in every home, is the primary cause of poison deaths among children under five.

Don't think that because something doesn't taste good, a child won't eat it. His inborn curiosity will lead him to sample almost anything, even if he has been warned not to touch.

The surest means of keeping small, inquisitive hands away from poisonous products is to keep such substances under lock and key. Since this isn't always practical, here are some other pointers to keep in mind:

—If your child takes something that may be poisonous, call your doctor for instructions at once. Don't wait to see what happens.

—Never transfer poisonous materials from their original containers; especially never store them in pop bottles, glasses, cups, bowls, etc. Children naturally assume things in such containers are for eating.

—Never leave a child alone when you're working with cleaners, polishes, insecticides or other poisons. Wash contaminated utensils immediately.

—Give medicines only in a lighted room and discard old medicines which are no longer being used.

—When you throw away hazardous materials, be sure children can't rummage into them.

The important thing to keep in mind is this: Poisons lurk in a variety of common disguises and can be hiding in any nook and cranny in the home. No child is safe in a room by himself, at least not for long.

The Real Realtor! Uncle Sam Owns 768 Million Acres

The U. S. government now owns more than half of the acreage of five states and more than 40 percent of three others, according to the annual "Inventory Report on Federal Real Property."

The five states are: Alaska, Oregon, Nevada, Idaho and Utah. The three are California, Arizona and Wyoming.

Of the 768.3 million acres owned by the federal government throughout the world, 99.5 percent is controlled by the Departments of Interior, Agriculture and Defense. The proposed Wilderness bill (S. 174), which is opposed by American industry, would freeze vast areas not already developed into permanent wilderness, preventing their development for mass recreation as well as commercial and other private uses.

Of the total U. S. acreage, 66.7 percent is used for forest and wildlife and 21.7 percent for grazing. Smaller percentages are devoted to oil and gas reserves, parks and historic sites, military, reclamation and irrigation, flood control and navigation, industrial, airfields, power development and distribution research and development, and other uses.

Cost of the federal land in the United States totals $3,146 million.

The cost of federal structures and facilities erected on the land, however, adds up to $25,245 million. In respect to cost, utility systems lead with $4,577 million, followed by power development and distribution; $3,922 million; flood control and navigation, $3,305 million; roads and bridges, $2,540 million; airfield pavements, $2,143 million among others.

that had no prayer before . . . and emphasis is added to the fact that state officials have no business prescribing an official prayer.

From the foregoing comment it is evident that this column is not at all reluctant to retract the unkind remarks of a week ago. In fact it found a certain satisfaction in discovering that the Supreme Court judges showed better judgment than they were formerly given credit for. That helps to sustain confidence in the our process of government. Besides, admitting a mistake is always easier when responsibility for the boner can be placed on someone else, and when people of recognized ability make the same mistake. Con had lots of company, good company, in last week's faulty comments.

After all this, perhaps it isn't too much to hope that considerable good will come from the uproar. That's possible if it has served to inspire more schoolmen with a greater appreciation of spiritual values. We'd like to think this will help their resolve to make students more conscious of dependence on God and the wisdom of living in harmony with His laws.

Definition of tact — the ability to make your guests feel at home when you wish they were.
