Muenster Picks Mostly Losers in Primary Election

A proclamation by Governor Price Daniel designating this week as "Texas Livestock Market Week" is an appropriate occasion to present a few interesting facts about a business which has a most important bearing on the economy of this state . . . and of this community.

A convenient measure of its value is the fact that it sold over 8.5 million head of livestock in the state last year for a gross total of more than $700 million. That included about 5,505,000 cattle besides the millions of sheep, goats and hogs.

Over 81 per cent of those cattle were sold by auction markets such as we have at Muenster. Scattered over the state are 172 auction markets. Four other livestock markets, called terminal markets, are located in Fort Worth, San Antonio, Houston and Texarkana.

The auction markets, almost without exception, rate as big business in the communities they serve. Industry research has shown: (1) The livestock auction of the average community handles more gross dollars annually than any other local firm except, in some cases, the bank. And (2) the day of the sale in most places is the biggest day of the week in customer traffic and dollar volume for merchants of the community.

History of livestock auctions dates back to 1926, in Edinburg. Their growth of popularity begins with the depression of the thirties, and their important part came after World War II. By 1949 there were 168 of them and the number has been going up and down since. The peak was 180 in 1960.

Several factors have a bearing on the phenomenal growth of livestock auctions. Short hauls are not only fast and convenient but also valuable to the producer. He gains in lower hauling cost and lower shrinkage loss, so his take home pay is higher. At the same time decentralization of the packing industry had a helpful effect. Small independent packers settled near their source of supply and old established firms started going to the auctions. The buyers came to the producers, thus assuring them a good market at or near home. Still another help is the supervision of the Department of Agriculture under the Packers and Stockyards Act which assures fair trade practices, honest weights and maximum protection through bonding.

Obviously, such convenience, economy and protection are especially appealing to small producers. Which helps explain why a big percentage of auction volume is from owners of small herds . . . almost half is from herds of 50 head or less.

A few more facts related to the subject: Most of Texas farm income is derived from livestock and livestock products. Three fifths of the nation's livestock is produced west of the Mississippi River and two thirds of the meat from these animals is consumed east of the Mississippi.

A rather amusing twist in state politics is Price Daniel's statement, after he failed to get into the primary run-off, that he's not likely to help either of the two remaining candidates. Regarding the one, he doesn't relish the idea of helping a guy who criticized him so viciously. Regarding the other, his party loyalty cautions against helping set up a nominee who would likely be defeated in the general election.

Daniel isn't the only person who thought of that possibility. Before vote counting was finished political strategists were suggesting an all out campaign by conservatives in support of Yarborough, in the belief that Texas voters would clobber him in the final show-down of November.

The idea has its merit, of course. To lots of folks Connally, despite his claim of being a moderate conservative, seems to be suspiciously close to LBJ and the New Frontier of Washington. Hence they are convinced that Texas actually has two liberals to choose from, either less desirable as a governor than Cox, and one of them so much less desirable that the voting public would hardly go wrong.

But the idea also has a great big demerit. It's so very much like playing with fire. Suppose that Yarborough would gain too much strength in the run-off build-up and won the general.

Voters of Muenster in the Democratic Primary last Saturday ran up two poor records. One was in polling only about 60 per cent of their estimated voting strength. The other was in favoring the losers in most of the contests.

Only 489 persons voted here out of a qualified total of about 800, and in several races as well as all three referendum proposals they saw their favorite candidate or issue go down in defeat.

That was true especially in the county and district contests. Carroll won in the County Judge race but Muenster favored Fletcher 255-222. Riley was re-elected County Clerk and Muenster voted 265-211 for Sisson. Carson went in as County Superintendent and Strader led here 278-185. Hefton was winner in the race for Representative and trailed Koriath 140-319.

An exception was the State Senator race in which Hall, winner without a run-off, led Hughes 225-150. The same was true in a few state races. Turman, leader in the run-off for Lieutenant Governor, led Smith 191-102; Carr top man in the Attorney General contest was ahead of Reavley 177-165; and Pool, run-off leader for Congressman at Large, topped Bean 134-50 in the local count.

In the governor's race Walker, last man in the state-wide tally, crowded Connally by a count of 173-175. Yarborough, the other run off candidate got only 28 here.

Amendment voting was strong here in favor of both pari-mutuel proposals and strongly opposed to abolishing the poll tax. State wide, pari-mutuel was turned down and abolition of poll tax was favored. Local counts were 304-154 for and 288-145 for on the betting proposals; 296-148 against abolishing poll tax.

County wide results of local races were as follows. For County Judge: Caroll 2809, Fletcher 2178. For County Clerk: Riley 2513, Sisson 2477. For Superintendent: Carson 2665, Strader 2282. For Representative: Koriath 1713, McClaran 425. Hefton 2505. For State Senator: Hall 2580, Hughes 1016, Elliott 983. For County Democratic chairman: Martin 2303, Fischer 1675.

Three candidates were re-elected without opposition. They are District Clerk Milton Thomason, County Treasurer Ruby Davis, and Precinct 4 Commissioner Earl Robison.

Swimming Pool Opening Set for Saturday, May 26

Opening date for the Muenster swimming pool has been set for Saturday May 26. The city council announced the date after its meeting Monday night and also disclosed that Coach Glenn Richardson will be manager and Karen Endres will be life guard. Admission charge will be 40 cents for adults and 20 cents for children.

Preparations for opening are practically complete. City Manager Steve Moser said this week. Walls and floor of the pool have been given a new coat of paint and the concrete around it has been given an application of non-skid substance to reduce the danger of falls. The same slip-proof treatment was applied to the bottom of the kiddies' pool before a new coat of paint.

Other work at the pool consists of general fix up of equipment and dressing rooms.

Other areas of the city park have also received attention. Picnic tables have new paint. Playground equipment has a general overhaul.

Glenn Richardson and Steve Moser will be in Wichita Falls Saturday attending a special course of instruction on operation of swimming pools.

Red Cross Offers Advanced Classes In Water Safety

Cooke County's annual Red Cross advanced courses in water safety will be held at the Leonard Park pool in Gainesville during the coming two weeks, according to a report from chapter headquarters this week.

These are the courses providing the background for local beginners courses, such as taught in Muenster's pool for the past several years. Persons qualified to take the courses are urged to do so for their own improvement and, if they have the time later, to help with the local beginners program.

Next week's classes, starting Monday, will be in Senior Life Saving and Water Safety Instruction. For the life saving class a person must be 16 years old and a strong swimmer. Former Red Cross swimming instruction is not required. For the instructor course a person must be 18 years old, or near 18, and must have completed the Red Cross Senior Life Saving class. Those classes will be taught each day from 4 to 7 p.m. and instructors will be Mrs. Paul Yarborough and Mrs. Billy Cain.

The following week's course will be in Water Safety Instruction, Part II. To take it a person must have completed the first instructor's course. Classes will be taught each day 4 to 7 p.m. by R. I. Gallagher, director of safety services of the Tarrant County Red Cross Chapter.

Previous registration is not required for any of the classes. Students need only report to the pool in swim suits at 4 o'clock the first day. There will be no charge for instruction but each student will be expected to buy a hand book.

Civic League Marks 25th Anniversary At Monday Meeting

Muenster Civic League and Garden Club meeting Monday night, May 14, will feature a special program honoring charter members of the organization in observance of the Civic League's silver anniversary. The first meeting was held in July 1937.

All are welcome and urged to attend even though some might not have received a personal invitation. Present members are urged to attend and bring their husbands or guests.

Two films will be shown in the Public School Auditorium "Modern Chrysanthemums for Fall Beauty" and "Modern Roses on Parade." Mrs. Dan Luke is program chairman.

Refreshments will be served afterwards. Mrs. T. S. Myrick and Mrs. Steve Moser are refreshment hostesses.

SHH Wins First In Stamp Contest Receives Trophy

Sacred Heart High sophomores and their class sponsor Sister Theresina are jubilant. This week they learned that they won first place in the stamp contest.

With the honor came a handsome trophy as first prize. The class and sponsor express thanks to all here and elsewhere who participated in this mission project in any way and especially to the four ladies who trimmed stamps all year. Actually it was a community undertaking, so many, both young and old, contributed to the cause in one way or another. "Keep right on saving stamps," says Sister Theresina. "There will be another contest next year."

The Ceylon Mission Stamp Bureau of Mobile, Ala., sponsors of the nation-wide stamp contest, sent a note of congratulations to Sacred Heart School with a list of winners.

Sacred Heart ran up a total of 38.82 points per student for top place. Next was St. James of Fort Arthur with 11.69 points, Holy Rosary of Houston with 10.54, and Ursuline Academy, New Orleans, 7.95 points. Trophies went to the four highest ranking schools. The local trophy may be seen in the school's trophy case.

Inside, Outside Snazzy Fixup for Water Tower OK'd

A new look, both outside and inside, is contracted for the city water tower beginning the first week of June.

The new exterior color will be light blue and the new interior finish will be a plastic paint which is hailed as the best material yet discovered for preserving the interior of water storage tanks.

Water Tank Service Co. of Dallas will do the entire job for $3945. As in the past, the work includes complete cleaning and sand blasting of the tank interior then all the necessary welding on seams and pits. That work will restore the interior surface to first class condition.

Next is the preserving treatment. In the past an asphalt base paint was used for that purpose, but its life was short and it scaled off in a few years. The substance to be applied this time is plastic, already proven to be much better. Its actual duration is not known because applications of it made several years ago still give good service. It costs, however . . . more than three times as much as the old coating.

Local Area Will Get Eight Miles Of New FM Road

Eight miles of new Farm to Market pavement has been approved for the west part of Cooke County, according to a report received this week from the Texas Highway Department.

One road will extend 4.1 miles north from Highway 82, 2.5 miles east of Muenster and is estimated to cost $90,800.

Another road will be a 3.9 mile extension of FM Road 1198 from Myra to intersect FM 1630, the Gainesville-Forestburg road. It is estimated at $113,800.

Right of way for both projects will be furnished by the county. The report did not mention dates to begin construction.

Both projects are part of the state's 1962 FM road construction program which will add 1216 miles of new road in 179 counties at a total cost of about $23.5 million. This represents an increase of over 200 miles in the state's normal program of building new roads.

THE RIGHT TO KNOW

By Rosalie M. Gordon

One of the most frequently discussed stories in Washington these days concerns attempts by administration officials to kid the American people. It is a tribute to our still free press that some of our newspapers and magazines have broken into print about this — those still conscious of the people's right-to-know. One phase of this subject affects Washington correspondents and reporters, radio and TV newscasters and commentators, columnists, magazine writers and, of course, the publishers and owners of our news media. In the language of the Madison Avenue public-relations fraternity, the present leaders of our government are trying to use all these people to build what is called an "image" of themselves in the public mind. U. S. News & World Report, in its April 9th issue, told how this technique works in a factual article called "The Kennedy 'Image' — How It Is Built."

U.S. News calls the technique the "carrot-and-stick" approach. Newsmen are invited to the White House for private talks with the President, perhaps given an exclusive story or other favors. That's the carrot. If the newsmen does not report the story as the President or his White House staff wishes, then he may come in for a severe going-over by the President himself, or discover that he no longer gets important stories from the White House staff. That's the stick. U. S. News said the White House staff even has suggested the exact language to be used in a story and if it does not appear that way, the reporter is in for telephone calls from the White House. In the case of editors, columnists, publishers and others, there are frequent invitations to luncheon or dinner at the White House, at which they are effectively "battered up." It is expected that they will then spread this batter over the actual activities and moves of the government when they transmit them to their readers.

It is not easy, particularly if you are a working newsmen in Washington, to resist this sort of White House pressure — though, fortunately, some manage to do so. In the case of editors, columnists, publishers others, it is only human to be flattered and perhaps influenced by this technique of what has been called "feet under the White House table." Then, of course, there is the tremendous power inherent in the threat of government action, if you do not behave, in the form of suits, licenses, tax reprisals and so forth. There is not much use becoming incensed at administration officials for trying to use all the power we have handed them in order to project a certain "image" of themselves in our minds. But the men and women who represent the free press in America are cutting their own throats if they submit to this pressure. Any newsmen who colors his stories to suit White House image-makers should be summarily fired. Any editor, columnist or publisher who cannot resist this technique should either refuse White House invitations or wear blinders and ear-plugs when he puts his feet under the White House table.

Another assault on our minds — particularly on the minds of our congressional representatives — goes along with this, and stems from the federal bureaucracy itself. For instance the president of the American Farm Bureau Federation has charged that part-time employees of the Agricultural Department, paid by the American taxpayers, are used to put pressure on members of Congress for the administration's farm plans. Senator John J. Williams has pointed to the use of civil service employees as government propagandists. It is against the law for federal civil service employees to lobby for or against legislation, but last February the administration made a rule that they could go before so-called "interested public groups" to talk for — not against — administration legislation. Some senators who have not submitted to what are jokingly known on Capitol Hill as "brainwashing sessions" (senators and congressmen get the same White House treatment as newsmen and publishers) have demanded an investi-

FOUNDER CHRISTIAN CRUSADE

Dr. DuBois and the Communist Conspiracy

Front-page headlines in the November 26, 1961 communist Worker announced that "Dr. W.E.B. DuBois Joins Communist Party." The Worker reported that in a letter to the Communist Party Dr. DuBois declared that "Capitalism" was "doomed to self-destruction," and that "Communism . . . is the only way of human life." Dr. DuBois went on to express the communist confidence that "In the end Communism will triumph." He told Gus Hall that he wanted "to help to bring that day."

W.E.B. DuBois has long been one of the top idols of those who follow the NAACP line of racial agitation. He was the only Negro among the founders of the NAACP and served as one of its leaders for years. The last information we have showed DuBois to be Honorary Chairman of the NAACP.

Informed Americans know that Dr. DuBois has been neck deep in operations of the communist conspiracy for years. He has a record of over 75 affiliations with communist fronts and causes. W.E.B. DuBois has served on the faculty of the Communist Party's Jefferson School of Social Science. His articles have been featured in communist publications, and his books have been pushed by the communists for years. The Soviet-controlled World Peace Council has awarded its Peace Prize to DuBois, and he was honored with a dinner by the Red Chinese government on his 91st birthday.

Informed Americans, often referred to as "the ultra-right" have been trying to alert fellow citizens to the facts about W. E. B. DuBois for years. Left-wing liberals met these facts with smear attacks on those presenting them, just as they do on most issues involving the perils confronting our nation. Once again the so-called ultra-right has been proven correct, but many who should know will never see or hear the facts.

A feature article by Editor James E. Jackson in the November 26, 1961 Worker explained one of the reasons for the Du-Bois action. Jackson wrote: "Dr. DuBois . . . has stepped into the breach that the ultra-reactionaries have opened in the wall of the people's democratic rights . . . Dr. DuBois' principled act is a blow against the McCarran Act and the mounting attacks on the Communists and their Party . . ."

The awakening which has been stirring in America must increase rapidly. Thinking people must seek out the facts and ignore completely propaganda of the left, regardless of how respectable the source may seem.

Address your questions to Dr. Hargis, Christian Crusade, Tulsa 2, Oklahoma.

gation of this illegal use of federal employees as propagandists. Incidentally, in the last year nearly 80,000 new employees have been added to the federal payroll which now numbers close to 2,500,000 — all paid with your tax dollars.

But the critical point is that representative government cannot survive when the people's right-to-know is interfered with and when their representatives act under pressure from a federal bureaucracy rather than in the interests of the people themselves.

CHICKEN FEED

Did you ever see a million dollars?

You will, if you go to this year's Seattle World's Fair. A million silver dollars — weighing 30 tons — will be on display.

It's a sure bet that most viewers will be thinking, "Boy, if I only had that pile of dough!" Who wouldn't? But the sad truth is that if you earned a million in the course of a year, and if you head the average American family of four people, you'd have to pay out $856,910 in federal income taxes — plus whatever state and local taxes you are liable for.

Moreover, that million dollars, big as it looks to the vast majority of us, is a tiny drop in a huge bucket when it comes to government spending. It would, for instance, meet the interest costs on the national debt for just one hour and three minutes — or pay the salaries of federal civilian employes for a mere hour and 27 minutes.

So, the question becomes: "Where is a million dollars chicken feed? Answer: "In Washington, D. C."

When it comes to medical care, who should the public believe — the professional men of medicine or the liberal politicians who want to buy votes with a handout of free hospitalization? The answer should be obvious — health is a matter that should not be turned over to political witch doctors.

St. Anne's Society Names Delegates For State League

May business meeting of St. Anne's Society this week featured election of delegates for the state meeting of the Catholic League here in July. The delegates are Mrs. Frank Herr, Mrs. R. R. Endres, Mrs. Leo Henscheid, Mrs. Victor Hartman, Mrs. Ted Gremminger and Mrs. Alphonse Hoening, society president.

Mrs. Frank Herr accepted the office of president of the parish NCCW unit replacing Mrs. Herbert McDaniel who resigned recently.

Another new member was welcomed when Mrs. Herman Eberhart joined at the meeting, going through the brief ritual with Father Martin Fischer, spiritual director. This makes 15 new members and brings total membership to 397.

The fourteen members received on April 29 were announced and one of them, Mrs. Gerald Walterscheid, won the attendance prize.

A letter from Richard Krauss was read urging members to write to their senator and representative concerning bill HR-10010 of interest to farmers, voicing their opposition to the bill.

The meeting will be held at Lake Murray Lodge beginning at one o'clock.

Party Is Honor For Young Matron

A gift party honored Mrs. Theodore Walterscheid Saturday night in the home of Mrs. Dick Cain. Co-hostesses were Mmes. Wendell Richey, Dickie Cain and Willie Walterscheid and Misses Judy, Sandra and Debbie Cain.

They directed paper and pencil games, served punch, coffee and cookies and made home movies.

A large stork held a vantage spot at the fireplace in the party room and was surrounded with gifts. Additional gifts were presented to the honoree in a decorated bassinet.

In the dining room the refreshment table was covered with a lace cloth and held the crystal punch service, silver coffee service and trays of fancy cookies. Pink and blue balloons and streamers attached to the ceiling produced a pretty effect.

The hostesses presented the honoree a corsage of blue pom-pom mums centered with a miniature baby doll. Miniature storks were plate favors.

Thirty guests were present and those who were unable to attend sent gifts.

Prize winners in the games were Mmes. Gerald Hess, Fred Hennigan Jr., Herman Dangelmayr and J. H. Wimmer.

Early Honor Given Mrs. E. S. Lawson

An early Mother's Day celebration honored Mrs. E. S. Lawson Sunday when her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Lawson, entertained with a family gathering and dinner at noon in their home. Attending were Mr. and Mrs. M. L. McGowan and children Sharon, Kathy, Jean, Judy and M. L. Jr. or Hennipin, Okla., Mr. and Mrs. Starling Lawson and sons Jerry and Donny of Gainesville and the hosts' children Margaret Ann and Jimmy, also Mrs. Lawson's brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Irb Bateman of Gainesville.

The celebration with gifts for the honoree came early while the family could be together. Mrs. E. S. Lawson left with the McGowan family for an indefinite stay with them in Hennipin.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman has offered this advice to Soviet Premier Khrushchev: 'Let your farmers operate their own farms.' If the secretary would offer the same advice to American farmers it would be practicing what one preaches, whereas as it stands there is not too much difference today in the Soviet method of collective farming and the American federal subsidy.

When politicians forget principles of government in order to gain votes, representative government inevitably loses ground.

A government is not an earner — but merely a spender — a distributor of our taxes. Anything that President Kennedy or any President for that matter, says he will give to the people, he must first take from them. In such a process we inevitably grow poorer for the vital point that many miss, is that the money comes from all of us.

Patio Party Fetes

Local News BRIEFS

Mrs. Ben Seyler had visitors and went visiting the past week. Her daughter Mrs. Darrell Adams and Mrs. Amy Sanchez drove over from Midland last Wednesday and Mrs. Seyler joined them on a three-day trip to Erath, La., to visit Sister Mary John. They came back to Muenster Friday and Mrs. Adams and Mrs. Sanchez returned to Midland Sunday. Traveling with them both ways was Mrs. W. M. Karr Jr., of Midland who stayed here for a five-day visit with her parents, the Al Walters.

R. M. Zipper attended the annual homecoming program and dinner in Pilot Point Sunday. Former residents from a wide area attended and it was an opportunity to see many old friends, some he hadn't seen since he left Pilot Point 25 years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Richardson and young son Tommy of Norwalk, Calif., will soon be permanent residents of this area making their home in Rosston. They are visiting relatives and friends in Rosston, Forestburg and Muenster while they are making arrangements to locate after returning to California for their household furnishings.

Mr. and Mrs. Andy Schoech got acquainted with their first grandchild during the weekend and were godparents at his baptism Sunday. They visited in San Antonio with Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Schoech and their infant son Melvin Andrew Jr. For the christening the baby wore the slip that his father wore at his baptism, a dress handmade by the paternal grandmother and a hand crocheted shawl, a gift from his great-aunt. On the way back home the Schoechs stopped at the University of Dallas for a visit with their daughter Margorie.

Miss Charlotte Hoedebeck of Dallas divided weekend visiting with her parents, the Leo Hoedebecks at Gainesville and with family members here.

Mrs. Al Schad and daughter Miss Margaret Mary of Mesquite visited Saturday afternoon with their mother and grandmother, Mrs. J. S. Horn.

A car trip to Greenville, S. C., and visiting there with family members was a week's vacation for Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon Lutkenhaus and Mr. and Mrs. James Krahl and their mother, Mrs. Joe Krahl of Gainesville. The group visited in the homes of two of Mrs. Krahl's daughters, Mrs. Bill Gaines (Lydia) and Mrs. Ronnie Kessler (Mildred), whose husbands are stationed there in the Air Force. There are four children in the Gaines family and two in the Kessler family.

Mr. and Mrs. George Withereff — she's the former Irene Lutkenhaus of Muenster — have written home about the recent tornado in their city. The storm came within three blocks of their house and luckily there was no damage to their place. Since then the couple has bought a home of their own and are settled at a new address: 114 Skyline Drive in Milton.

Valley View's new Post Office was dedicated Sunday afternoon with ceremony including a flag raising and an open house with hostesses serving punch and cookies. Attending from Muenster were Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Fisher, Mrs. Paul Fisher and Mrs. Frank Kathman.

Visiting Sister Henrietta Sunday and Monday was her mother, Mrs. Joe Hockle of Jonesboro, Ark. It was her first visit to Muenster. She was an overnight guest in the home of Mrs. Ben Seyler and did a round of sight-seeing with Mrs. Clyde Fisher when she wasn't at the convent. Mrs. Hockle had the trip with friends who visited in Dallas.

Visitors Sunday over night and Monday with Mr. and Mrs. Joe Starke and family were his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Norbert Jacobi of Electra. The Jacobis had been visiting two daughters over the weekend, one a student at the University of Dallas, the other a nun at Sherman.

Fishing and outing at Lake Texoma Sunday were enjoyed by the Bill Derichsweller family including Mr. and Mrs. Derichsweller, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Schmitz and sons Kenny, Jerry, Jimmy and Bobby, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Knabe joined by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Zimmerer of Gainesville and Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Derichsweller and children Debbie and Ronnie of Lewisville.
