VOLUME XXVI

MUENSTER, COOKE COUNTY, TEXAS

JULY 13, 1962

NUMBER 34

If you are one of the millions who think we have a silly way of electing our president you will probably be pleased by present efforts to have it changed.

A group of senators including Mundt (R-S.D.) Thurmond (D-S.C.) Goldwater (R-Ariz.) and McClellan (D-Ark.) are working now for the adoption of a constitutional amendment which would make electoral votes proportional to the popular votes in the presidential election.

As it is now, we vote on a panel of electors representing one party or the other. When the votes are counted the panel with the most votes is accepted as the winner in the state and casts the state's entire electoral strength for its party's candidate. Even though there is a difference of only a few popular votes the winning party gets all the electoral votes.

The change as proposed is to vote on individual electors who are pledged to definite candidates and let the winners in those races cast their electoral votes as pledged. Most likely all states, at least the larger ones, would have winning electors for both candidates, so the electoral votes would be divided accordingly.

As regards the number of electoral votes in a state there would be no change. That is, the same as the number of senators and representatives. The most populous state, New York, would still have 45, the smallest, Rhode Island, would still have three. And the voting for electors would be the same as for senators and representatives.

one elector for each congressional district and two for the state as a whole. So, each person could vote on three of them: one to represent his district and two to represent the state as a whole.

The net result of the new proposal would be to bring electoral vote more nearly in line with popular vote and to defeat, to a very great extent, the political maneuvering by which certain areas, especially large cities, are able to control their entire states. Though not strictly proportional to popular vote, this method would permit separate congressional districts to have their say. That would at least be more truly representative than the method we have now.

This proposal revives memories of another that was introduced many years ago and should be especially remembered in this district because it was sponsored by our representative, Ed Gossett. It was known as the Gossett-Lodge Bill, and its provision was to divide each state's electoral votes in the exact ratio of the popular votes. If the actual count came out 50-50 the electoral votes would be divided that way. If it came out 60-40 the electoral votes would be divided that way.

The merit claimed for that method was very similar to that of the present proposal . . . to make the electoral vote more truly representative of the over-all wish of the people and to reduce the influence of highly organized big-city machine politics in national elections.

In fact, the course of American history would likely have been different if the Gossett-Lodge amendment had been adopted. Democrats of the East and North were making a big play for colored votes, rightfully calculating that strong support from that element would squeeze out needed majorities in those areas. At the same time they rightfully calculated that protest votes in the South would not be sufficient to break the Democratic cinch in states of the Solid South.

It's Time to Give

The beginning of our hospital construction next week is a fitting occasion for all of us to start thinking most seriously about the financial part of the project. While looking forward eagerly to physical completion of the job we should be working just as eagerly for its fiscal completion.

At this time the ratio of funds acquired to funds needed is anything but cheering. In round figures we have slightly less than one third of the required amount now on hand and still need to raise the other two thirds, only half of which is covered by subscriptions. The important fact is that, promised and unpromised, we still need to raise about $250,000.

True, that figure is staggering at first thought. But when we think of it in relation to some other local statistics we have to admit that our goal should be easy to reach.

A statement published by the bank this week shows deposits of more than $3.6 million. The community's total need for the hospital is almost exactly 10 per cent of that figure. We cannot say that the money is not here.

Or consider it in relation to our community spending on smoking. A normal smoker spends no less than $2.00 a week or $100 a year to satisfy the habit. Assuming a thousand smokers in the area, we're spending $100,000 a year on that. Giving the equivalent of the cost of just that habit would finish the job in two and a half years.

The same comparison applies to our drinking habits. The equivalent of what we spend on alcohol would likewise complete our campaign in a short time. The figure doesn't seem so big when we think it over.

Our need looks even smaller in relation to the real potential of the community. Wealth is abundant here and only a moderate percentage of return to the Lord would be more than enough to put our drive over the top.

How about it? Are we going to continue holding out, intent on giving as little as possible? Or will we seek the personal satisfaction of having helped generously in a worthy cause?

There is no doubt that the hospital will be a most welcome refuge to all who need its service, and a valuable community asset besides. It deserves our most enthusiastic support.

Patsy Endres Gets MOD Scholarship To Nursing School

Miss Patsy Endres, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Endres, this week was awarded a 1962 National Foundation Health Scholarship in nursing, according to Mrs. B. J. Siebel, chairman of the Cooke County chapter of the health organization.

In the fall Miss Endres will enroll at Incarnate Word College in San Antonio. The scholarship with a total value of $2,000 for four years is financed by public contributions to the March of Dimes.

Patsy is 18 and a graduate of Sacred Heart High last May. She maintained a grade average of 95 during the past year, and received the school's 1962 Achievement Medal. In other activity she served as co-editor of Mosaics, vice president of the school sodality and is a member of the CYC. She lettered in basketball for two years, was football queen in her junior year and cheer leader of the pep squad in her senior year.

She is an outstanding 4-H Club girl, earning many medals and awards including district and state titles. She is also active in the Red Cross swimming program, having taught locally. She holds a Water Safety instructors badge.

"The shortage of trained personnel in the health field becomes more alarming every day," Mrs. Siebel said. "We must encourage our young people to fill these vacancies. With the support of the public, the National Foundation March of Dimes wants to give a helping hand to those young people who will dedicate themselves to helping others."

This is the fourth year that the health organization has awarded scholarships in health fields to deserving young people. Recipients of the scholarships are selected in each state by a committee composed of five state leaders in the fields of health.

The scholarship program will continue for at least ten years and will represent a March of Dimes investment of some $12 million.

The National Foundation March of Dimes today supports research in birth defects and arthritis, and provides total medical care for those afflicted by these diseases. It also continues its work in polio.

John Fette, 88, Community Pioneer, Dies Monday After Extended Illness

John Fette, 88, pioneer resident of Muenster, died at 10:20 Monday night ending a long illness that kept him at home for several years and confined him to bed for the past three weeks. He was at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Ben Seyler.

Funeral services with requiem mass were held at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning in Sacred Heart Church. Father Alcuin Kubis officiated and gave the funeral sermon. He also conducted services for the

He was a charter member of the Muenster K of C council and he served one term as county commissioner, starting in 1928.

He was born at St. Paul, Iowa on Jan. 6, 1874 and was married to Miss Annie Steffensmeier in St. Paul on April 11, 1899. They celebrated their golden wedding anniversary here in 1949. They moved to Muenster in 1906.

The purpose behind the meet was to provide competitive experience for the Gainesville boys who have accepted an invitation to a swimming meet. When asked about the practice here Glenn Richardson, pool manager, said he would gladly organize a local team for the occasion. He got 14 of them. Gainesville had 15.

The meet worked out so well that they promptly scheduled another . . . at the Gainesville Country Club next Monday morning. Local boys will meet at the pool at 9 and drive over with Richardson.

MORE TOADSTOOL THAN MUSHROOM

One of the most odious aspects of President Kennedy's "medicare" program is that it would be financed through Social Security.

Although there are other excellent reasons for urging defeat of the deceptive King-Anderson legislation, the tieup with federal old age benefits is enough to repel us.

Even those persons who fondly, though incorrectly, still believe that because benefits are handed out by the federal government, they are getting something for nothing, should be able to see that King-Anderson would open a Pandora's box of financial nightmares.

In the first place, Social Security is anything but analogous to insurance, as there is absolutely no guarantee that the participant will draw out as much as he puts in, or vice versa.

In the second place, the program has mushroomed fantastically, all out of proportion to what most persons might have expected at its inception.

More and more persons have been added to its rolls, both by legislation and by natural population increase, and more and more of them live longer and longer, drawing more and more in benefits.

The Taxpayers' Federation of Illinois reported only last week that according to a Social Security bulletin from the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, that the number of beneficiaries under the old age, survivors and disability insurance programs has doubled in the last six years. As of last January, 16.6 million persons were paid benefits which totaled $1,081.7 million.

During January, the number of beneficiaries rose by 127,000 and the amount of the total benefits rose by $10 million. That the average monthly increase of beneficiaries during the last six years was but 120,000 indicates that the growth is occurring at a spiraling rate.

Thus we can expect that the increases we and our employers have been instructed to pay throughout the dark history of Social Security are hardly at an end. When it will end is anyone's guess. We privately suspect the ultimate destination is chaos.

By far the best procedure is to stick with the already-enacted Kerr-Mills law and determine its usefulness before we tie our hopes for medical care for the aged to an undeniably falling star.

The only result to come from the medicare proposition, about which no one can argue, is that the Kennedy administration will pick up a lot of votes. And that is a prospect which thrills us no more than those we foresee from medicare, should it be adopted.

Two-Headed Freak

A JUNGLE OF CHAOS

During two federal administrations — one Democratic and the other Republican — a commission was appointed and headed by former President Herbert Hoover to try to bring back some semblance of sanity to the business of government.

In the past thirty years, government has exploded, to use a term often employed in the industrial world to illustrate enormous and undisciplined growth. The Commission found its work a nightmare. They found themselves operating in a jungle of regimented chaos.

There are thousands of examples of their findings which make fantastic reading. There was one department of government which went into the commercial market of Washington, D. C., to buy just forty office chairs. Somehow, through duplication of effort and duplication of paper work, they wound up with not only the forty chairs they needed, but with 1,055 other chairs for which they had no possible use.

There was another department which had about $20 million worth of spare parts for machinery on the market as surplus. The parts were being offered at a mere fraction of their value. The Hoover Commission found the same department had orders in at that very moment for $20 million more of exactly the same kind of machinery parts they were selling as surplus.

The Post Office Department was buying concrete pillars to hold mail boxes. They bought from the lowest bidder, a firm on the East Coast, at a price of about $3 per pillar. Then they were shipping the pillars out to the West Coast at a transportation cost of about $14 per pillar. They could have bought concrete pillars on the west coast for west coast use at about $4 each.

The Hoover Commission report goes on and on with such facts as seem almost unbelievable but which are true and which are costing the American taxpayer right through the pocketbook.

A hundred years ago, the French philosopher Alexis de Tocqueville, one of the most brilliant analysts of the American scene ever to visit our shores, had this to say about the United States: "Their democracy will last until those in power learn that they can perpetuate themselves through taxation."

Now think back to most of the political campaigns which you have witnessed in your lifetime. What has been the predominate theme? Promises of what the candidate would do for you if you elected him. And whose money does any political office holder have to do all these things for you? Why your money, of course — through taxes!

WHAT MAKES MAIN STREET GO?

This week, throughout the 50 states some 11,000 editors of smaller daily and weekly newspapers will lock up their forms and "go to press". Their papers will carry the only broadly circulated written record of the people and events, the problems and opinions that shape our lives in the community, the state and the nation.

On the pages of these thousands of papers will run the advertising that gives the spark to the engine of private enterprise. Our tremendous transportation and retailing systems, capable of moving and displaying all the nation's wares, would be of little use unless people knew what products were available, at what cost, where they could be purchased, and in addition were inspired with the desire to buy.

Advertising makes Main Street go in every city, town and village throughout the 50 states. The head of every family knows that the only way to find the right price for the quality merchandise desired is to compare the advertisements in their newspapers.

There would be no free press were it not for advertising by the local merchants and industries who support the press but do not control it. Whether you are selling, buying or merely interested in remaining a free, informed citizen of the United States, advertising performs a three-sided and indispensable service.

It's a tough world for the American businessman. Everytime he comes up with something new the Russians invent it a week later, and the Japanese make it cheaper.

A TIME TO PRAY

Violent public reaction to the decision of the Supreme Court in outlawing the reading of a non-sectarian prayer in the New York public schools may be tempest in a teapot.

It is not so long ago, however, that this same Court ruled that a public servant cannot be required to utter the words "so help me God" in taking the oath of office. (How any declaration devoid of these words can be considered an oath, seems to be beside the point.)

But the High Court, for all its Jovian aloofness, is still composed of public servants. It is difficult, therefore, to completely dissociate these demigods from our other ranking public servants who are busily forging a pattern of dissolution for this nation.

We refer to Department of State Publication 7277, conveying formally to the UN a three-stage plan for disbanding our armed forces, dismantling our defenses and disposing of our weapons (except for men and materiel to be turned over to the UN "Peace Force"). We refer to the "Liberal Papers", sponsored by 35 present and former members of Congress, and which, in the same vein, sneer at Americans who are anti-communist; urge the surrender of Quemoy, Matsu and the Pescadores to Mao and of Formosa's seat in the UN Security Council to Red China. And we refer to the latest foreign policy statement of the State Department's policy planner, Walt Whitman Rostow, recommending substantially the same objectives as 7277 and the Liberal Papers — a document now ready for endorsement by the Government's top policy-making group, the National Security Council.

And finally, in view of the inclusion in the Rostow blueprint of a vast "educational" campaign by the Government to soften up the American people to accept a Godless globalism, it seems clear that we are the intended victims of a colossal conspiracy against our Faiths and our freedoms.

In his defense of the Court, President Kennedy has suggested that we might "pray a good deal more at home". It should be obvious that we'd better!

Although they may tear up the house frequently, children rarely break up a home.

To save you the bother of referring to your billfold, we'll just report that the faces of these gentlemen feature large-denomination US bills: Benjamin Franklin, $100; Grover Cleveland, $1,000; James Madison, $5,000; and Salmon P. Chase, the $10,000 bill!"

It happened 100 YEARS ago

The oldest incorporated trade association in the country, the United States Brewers Association, was organized in 1862 . . . the same year that

IN TEXAS . . . a new governor, Francis Richard Lubbock, guided a bankrupt state through that bitter Civil War year. Cotton, exported through Mexico, brought desperately needed foreign gold. Homefront industries were established. Comforts were few, but morale stayed high . . . and there was good Texas beer, enjoyed then as now.

For then, as now, beer was the traditional beverage of moderation — light, sparkling refreshment that adds a touch of Southwestern hospitality to any occasion. Texans have always enjoyed the good fellowship that goes with every glass.

TODAY, in its centennial year, the United States Brewers Association still works constantly to assure maintenance of high standards of quality and propriety wherever beer and ale are served.

Miss Janice Vogel Top 4-H Winner in District Contest

Muenster Sacred Heart 4-H Club has annexed another honor with Miss Janice Vogel winning first place in the district Favorite Foods Show at Denton Friday.

As top district winner Janice will go to the state contest at A&M College in September. State winner advances to the National 4-H Congress in Chicago. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theo Vogel.

Attending the district meeting with her were Miss Charlotte Wolf, and Mrs. Bernice Thurman and Mrs. Evelyn Yeatts of Gainesville, agent and assistant of Home Demonstration and 4-H Clubs in the county and Miss Martha Strickmatter of Pilot Point, junior assistant in training at Gainesville.

There were 27 entries in the district foods contest in four classifications: meat, milk, bread-cereal and vegetable-fruit. Janice was in the meat division. Her entry was "hum-danger." Food was prepared at home and shown in a correct table setting along with a menu of the day's foods. Judges sampled the food for grading; also graded on table setting and menu.

Janice brings to two the number of local 4-H girls eligible to participate in the National Congress in Chicago. Miss Charlotte Wolf was a state winner in dairy foods demonstration at A&M College in July at the annual Roundup.

Tour Three States On Vacation Trip

Back from a vacation trip reporting a fine time are Mrs. J. N. Shaw and Mrs. W. F. Davidson who accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Bill Roe and daughters Elizabeth and Reba on the tour to Oklahoma, Arkansas and Missouri, seeing sights and visiting cousins. Points of scenic interest were Devils Den and Robbers Cave in Oklahoma, Eureka Springs and Fort Smith Dam in Arkansas and Roaring River in Missouri. They visited Mrs. Shaw's cousins, Mrs. Lena Tucker and Mrs. Cora Germany and families at Cassville, Mo., and the Bill and Elbert Davidsons at Springfield and all the kin were together for a July Fourth picnic at Roaring River.

It's High Time to Control Weeds in Local Pastures

The season for obtaining satisfactory results from a weed control program is drawing to a close in the Muenster-Saint Jo area of the Upper Elm Red Soil Conservation District. The seed crop from several undesirable plants has already matured. Mowing pastures now would help scatter these seeds. However there are several other weeds which have not made their seed crop and can still be controlled.

Here are some points to consider in a weed control program.

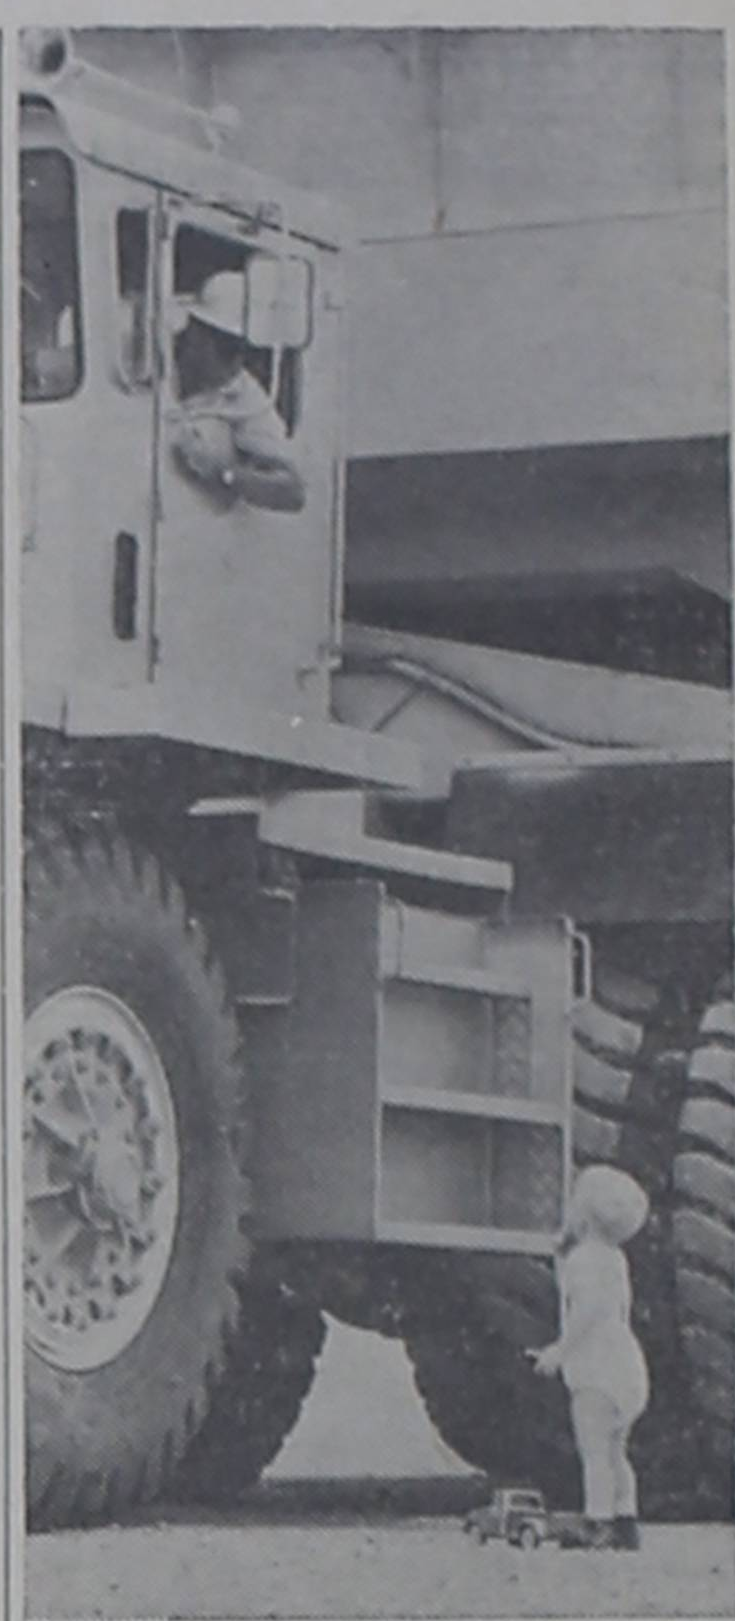

1. Clip or spray weeds prior to the bloom stage. Spraying should be done when plants are making active growth. A good rain, even in mid-July, will cause this growth and allow good control. Follow spraying directions closely for best results.

2. Clip weeds at the recommended proper use height. On bermuda grass this is 4 inches.
3. Native grass should not be clipped after mid-July.

4. The control of weeds on native grass is largely a management problem. Weeds can be mostly eliminated and grazing can be greatly improved by applying the simple rule "take one half, by weight, of each year's growth."
5. Weeds use as much or more moisture, sunlight and soil nutrients as desirable grasses.
6. Both sickle and rotary mowers give good control.

The bad taste in milk this time of year is caused by lack of desirable grasses, forcing cows to eat weeds.

The Alvin Hartmans and the Clarence Wilsons were in Dallas Saturday for Mrs. Wilson's checkup and on the way back home stopped at Arlington to visit the Keith Tompkins family.

BIG JOB—Brad Alexander, 2, is sure that his dad has a big job now that he has seen it. Bob, Brad's dad, drives a new 80-ton ore carrying diesel at a mine near Indo, Calif. The tires are six-feet high.

Hess New Home Has Housewarming

Mr. and Mrs. James Hess have had a housewarming party at their new home, relatives and friends gathering there Sunday night and bringing gifts. About a hundred attended.

Coming from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Nasche and two sons of Fort Worth, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Brown of Gainesville and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Schroeder and daughter Patsy of Windthorst and a friend of Patsy's from Wichita Falls.

Facts About Social Security

Are you age 62 or older and still working? Have you ever checked to see if you might be eligible to receive social security benefits? Have you ever applied for social security benefits and been turned down because you had not worked long enough under social security? If so, you may now be eligible for payments because of recent changes in the law. Gus Jones, manager of the Sherman District Office, urges you to contact your local social security office regarding recent changes in the Social Security Act. Men may now choose to have their benefits begin as soon as they reach 62. However, just as in the case of a woman worker, a man who decides to take his benefits between the ages of 62 and 65 will get less per month than he would have received at the age of 65. This works out so that a man who takes his benefits as soon as he becomes 62 will receive 80% of the monthly benefits he would have received had he waited until he was 65.

In deciding whether he wants to apply for benefits before he becomes 65, a man should weigh several factors; for example, his health, family situation, and probable earning power in the immediate future.

As a result of another change in the law, less work is required to qualify for social security benefits. This means that those people who could not qualify previously, due to lack of sufficient work under social security, may now be eligible.

If you believe that any of these changes in the law may apply to you, please contact the social security district office, located at 300 E. Houston, Sherman, Texas.

Use Caution to Avoid Poisoning In Picnic Lunch

With picnics will come bruises and cuts and scratches and strains and sunburn and sore muscles the next day. These are "occupational hazards" of picnics and usually aren't serious. What might be more serious will be food poisoning.

When weather is hot foods spoil quickly. If a few of the staphylococci bacteria that are the most common cause of food poisoning are present, only a few hours of time, combined with warm temperature are needed to cause real trouble.

Food can be handled safely on picnics in warm weather if the family chef keeps in mind a few precautions.

Leave the sandwich ingredients, including bread, in the original wrappers and containers and make up your picnic sandwiches on the spot, just before mealtime. Ham spoils quickly at warm temperatures and if you favor ham sandwiches, take the ham along in a can and open it just before serving.

Potato salad is another favorite picnic food. It also spoils quickly. Take the hard-boiled egg, boiled potatoes and mayonnaise (in its sealed jar) and mix the salad at the last minute.

The picnic icebox, properly insulated, is an excellent food saver. It should have a tight lid and there should be plenty of ice. Items stored in the refrigerator should be well chilled before placing in the picnic box.

Be careful about pies. Cream-filled bakery goods spoil quickly on a hot day. Take fresh fruits for dessert. Stick to canned stuffs and sealed jars and bottles that can be opened just before using.

The picnic is one of America's greatest traditions. It is a time of great fun for all. Don't overdo the strenuous games and sports in the heat and safeguard your picnic foods. Don't let food poisoning spoil the outing.

Prices are high and they might go higher but financial advice is to save some of your money for the day when prices will be lower.

In Newfoundland, a trans-land train was attacked regularly by moose until it changed its whistle. The whistle sounded like a mating call.

WINS PRESS' PRAISE—A charming young lady from a 10,000-acre dairy farm near Sandia, Texas, won the acclaim of Texas newspapers at the recent Texas Press Association meeting in Corpus Christi. Occasion was the Awards Dinner at TPA's 83rd Annual Summer Convention. Honor guest was Miss Louise Knolle, reigning American Dairy Princess. On behalf of the Daily and Weekly Newspapers of Texas, TPA Pres. Victor E. Fain of the Nacogdoches Daily Sentinel presented Miss Knolle with a large, wood-mounted, copper plaque. It bore her photograph and a tribute to her beauty, personality and talent... and for the recognition she brought Texas during her reign. She traveled more than 100,000 miles over the Continent and beyond its borders, "speaking up for milk" on behalf of the nation's dairy farmers.

There were four brothers who inherited a banking business from their father. A fifth brother, the disinherited black sheep, applied for a loan. The brothers agreed but set the interest rate at 9%.

The bad brother winced. "Brothers," he said "what will poor father say when he sees his sons gouging 9% out of his own flesh and blood?" "Don't worry," the brothers said. "From where Papa is it will look like 6%."

A skunk once challenged a lion to combat. The lion promptly declined.

"Why," said the skunk. "Are you afraid?"

"Yes," admitted the lion, "for you would only gain fame by having the honor to fight a lion, while for months everyone who met me would know that I had been in the company of a skunk."

Confetti . . .

Lodge amendment been in effect, so that protest votes would have counted in their strict ratio to popular votes, it is doubtful whether the party could have gained as much as it lost by its tactics of playing one part of the country against the other. The racial strife which this country has experienced since might never have happened and the solution of racial problems might have continued with more order and less resentment.

Those of us who favor truly representative government over power politics will be inclined to favor the proposed change of electoral college procedure. But a glance at the bill's sponsorship offers little hope for its success. The names Munt, Thurmond, Goldwater and McClellan stand for conservatism which doesn't have much chance against the ultra liberal faction now in control. Still, it's a good idea, one that is urgently needed for better representation in government.

A summer vacation is like a succession of 2's. It consists of 2 weeks which are 2 short. After that you are 2 tired 2 return 2 work, but 2 broke not 2.
