Cooke County prefers Bush, Perot

Voters in Cooke County came to the polls in larger-than-usual numbers to exercise their constitutional rights. Locally, Bush was the favored presidential candidate with 5,299 votes. Perot came in second with 4,662 and the nation's choice, Clinton, trailed with 3,105 Cooke County votes.

Frank Scoggins, Cooke County Clerk, noted that 75 percent of the county's registered voters cast votes. There are 17,399 registered voters and a total of 12,988 voted.

Many area election judges reported that they ran short of ballots and had to have more delivered. Mary Lee Hennigan, election judge for Precinct 18 in Muenster, reported that 78 percent of her precinct's voters participated in the Tuesday election. Precinct 18 has 1,278 registered voters and 926 voted on Tuesday, while another 79 cast absentee ballots.

There are 326 registered voters in Precinct 17 of Muenster and 247 of them voted. According to Janet Fisher, election judge, they nearly ran short of ballots since they were given only 250.

Ima Dell Barthold, election judge for Precinct 12 of Era, reported that of the Precinct's 401 registered voters, 263 voted Tuesday and 34 voted absentee. From the Rosston area, Precinct 14 election judge Lois Bewley counted 129 voters out of a possible 195.

Mary Hermes served as election judge for Precinct 15 in the Myra area. She recorded 136 voters on Tuesday and 16 absentee ballots out of 197 registered voters. In south Lindsay's Precinct 16, Aileen Sandmann was election judge. She was happy to report that the precinct has 110 registered voters and, of that number, 93 voted on Tuesday and 5 cast early ballots.

Of the 17,399 registered voters in Cooke County, 75 percent, or 12,988 exercised their right to vote in the Nov. 3 General Election.

In Precinct 19 of Lindsay, there are 174 registered voters. Lorene Sandmann, election judge, counted 108 ballots cast. Evelyn Fuhrmann served north Lindsay's Precinct 21 as election judge. She reported 441 voters out of a possible 573.

In local elections, only two races were contested - that of County Judge and County Sheriff. Both were won easily by candidates Ray Russell and Joe Nichols.

Russell won the right to continue serving Cooke County as County Judge for the remainder of retiring Judge Jim Robertson's unexpired term. Judge Russell was appointed to the position last November by County Commissioners. He defeated Ed Zielinski in the March Democratic Primary and Republican Stephen Cole this Tuesday.

Joe Nichols will take over the responsibilities of Cooke County Sheriff in January 1993 after being the choice of most voters on Tuesday. Nichols defeated incumbent John Aston and three other candidates during the March Democratic Primary election. His opponent during this election was Jim Bleything, an officer in the Gainesville Police Department. Bleything narrowly missed winning the Sheriff's race four years ago to Sheriff Aston.

Get ready for Christmas Parade!

Local merchants in conjunction with the Muenster Chamber of Commerce will be sponsoring "Christkindmarkt," a Christmas Open House in downtown Muenster. Complete with sights, sounds and smells of Christmas, this Old World German custom will be revisited on Thanksgiving weekend, Friday, Nov. 27, and Saturday, Nov. 28.

Main Street shops will be staying open late that Friday evening until 8 p.m. and will be individually offering different in-store promotions to entice locals to Christmas shop early.

To make the atmosphere even more festive, Christkindmarkt will begin with an official lighting of the downtown shopping district at dusk on Friday, along with many other special surprises.

On Saturday, the much-anticipated Christmas Parade and arrival of Santa Claus will be the highlights. Parade officials are gearing up for a totally different type of parade this year. Themed "Have Yourself a Merry Little Christmas," awards will be given in nine categories in the hopes of offering parade-goers somewhat of a surprise!

Categories are: Best Theme, $100; Best Business, $50; Funniest, $50; Largest Group Participation, $50; Best Civic Organization, $50; Best One Liner, $50; Best Religious Theme, $50; Most Unique, $50; Best "Youth" Group (Groups under 18 or over 60), $50.

Parade chairmen are stressing uniqueness and originality. A more detailed schedule of events will be published as the event draws nearer.

Annual Picnic is next big parish event

A Sacred Heart Church parish event that is a tradition for the Sunday preceding Thanksgiving will be held on Nov. 22. There will be two Saturday afternoon and evening Masses as usual and two also at regular times on Sunday morning. Biffle wins Area Contest

On Saturday, Oct. 31, Melissa Biffle was the winner in the Area V IFA Creed Speaking contest. Area V includes approximately 150 schools with Agriculture Science programs in the North Texas area. Unlike UIL competition, IFA competition is not divided

TURTLE HILL GOLF COURSE, eight miles north of Muenster, is a beautiful place to see even if one knows very little about golf. To serious players, the course will be a wonderful challenge. This view is for the Number Four pro tee, looking over the men's tee, fairways and greens ready for planting. In the far distance are the course headquarters and the home of owners Dick and Kim Murphy. This is the signature hole on the front nine. Dick (inset on right) and Kim, along with General Manager/Superintendent Mike Beezley of Dallas (inset on left) hosted an open house and course tour Saturday and Sunday. Murphy said they had a very positive response and look forward to Turtle Hill opening for play in July 1993.

Concerned people question MMH Board members

Nearly 60 people attended the regular monthly meeting of the Muenster Memorial Hospital Board on Oct. 28. Most came to show support for the hospital, to hear its financial standing, to question what, in fact, is wrong.

A representative of Durbin and Co. gave a lengthy audit report on the previous fiscal year. Jack Endres, MMH administrator, reported on September's financial standing. There was a loss of approximately $69,000, nearly $10,000 more than in August.

Ben Bindel commented that he "felt sick" after hearing the financial loss and wondered how long the hospital could continue to operate under such conditions. Mr. Endres acknowledged that the hospital had a two-year turnaround period before the reserve money would be exhausted. That was if the income and expenses stayed about the same as it is at the present time. When the money is gone, the hospital would probably be closed.

The question of a tax was raised and people seemed in favor of it if there were more doctors brought in.

Mr. Endres said that the board was presently in the beginning stages of negotiating with several doctors who might consider relocating in Muenster. Two are general surgeons, one a pediatrician and the other is a family practitioner. Of these, two could start almost immediately. The latest would be in 1994.

Sharon Felderhoff assured those present that the Board was making efforts to recruit more new physicians and had recently been to Fort Worth at a Health Find to speak with prospective doctors. Jack Endres, Sharon Felderhoff, Margie Starke, Dr. Martin Kralicke and David Bright attended.

Questions and comments were made by various people present as to why the new doctors decided to give up their association with Muenster Memorial. Others expressed concerns conveyed to them by doctors on staff (past and present) at MMH besides Drs. Cole and Walsh.

It was suggested by Debbie Hess, former doctor recruitment chairman, that everyone should make an effort to treat the doctors like people and make them feel like they are part of the community, permit them to become a part of "us."

A hospital employee remarked that, in her opinion, people were siding with doctors from out of town and not placing trust in the local board. She felt that hospital employees were being accused of running off the new doctors. "We heard the doctors' side, now we are here to hear the other side - we're not defending anybody," was the reply.

Chas Bayer was applauded by the group when he remarked, "I think we all need to understand that this whole group of people is here simply for one reason - we don't want to lose this hospital. We're not here to criticize any member of the Board. We elected you, apparently we must trust you."

"Apparently there has been some poor relations or bungling or something somewhere along the line. It may be difficult to work with doctors, but there has to be some fair way to negotiate with these people. Everyone got their appetite whet when we had three new doctors here and now we only have one again. That's hard for us to accept. You've got to understand how we feel. The thing I think these people want is: whatever the problem is, we want it fixed."

Alluding to the situation, Bayer indicated that he had an idea that everyone present felt that they knew the problem and hoped that the board knew what it was and would act on it. It should be handled in executive session, he said.

Board members were asked if they were aware of an embarrassing situation which occurred in Dr. Cole's office on Oct. 2, involving hospital employees, a board member and Dr. Cole's employees. The incident was discussed at length. Jack Endres noted that he was aware of it. No action was taken during the meeting.

The Board then closed the meeting to the public and met in executive session. No motions resulted from it.

During the meeting, Mr. Endres stated that he was willing to meet with anyone at times other than board meetings, if they wanted to discuss doctor recruiting or any other issues. Some indicated after the meeting that they would take him up on the offer. Most said they were concerned and would be at future monthly board meetings. "We can't lose this hospital," was their basis for concern.

MSB assets top $50 million

Muenster State Bank Executive Vice President Henry Weinzapfel has announced a new milestone for MSB. Under the leadership of Bank President Earl Fisher, total bank assets have reached the $50 million mark as of the third quarter of 1992. Deposits have reached $42 million. Weinzapfel says this strength is a good reflection on the bank and also on the financial condition of the Muenster market area. Ninety percent of MSB loans are made to customers within a 20-mile radius of Muenster.

"We feel very comfortable about our loans because of the kind of people we deal with in our market area," Weinzapfel said. "Because of this, we are willing and committed to provide financial assistance to the area. If Muenster benefits, we will benefit."

Every loan is important to the customer and it is treated that way at MSB. The customers are serious about their financial commitments.

MSB loans have been instrumental in home construction and improvement to help build a secure family future. Support of the business community is a major commitment with approximately equal numbers of loans being made in agriculture, oil and retail/manufacturing areas. MSB contributes in many different ways to the strength of the community. From January 1992 through October, 744 loans were made totaling $9,505,340.00.

The bank has supported community governments, fire departments and paving projects with financing. Church construction and all community fundraising events have received MSB support through cooperative loans, donations and financial management.

Muenster State Bank was established in June 1923. By 1948, assets were $1.5 million and deposits reached $1.3 million. By 1980, customers had deposited $15.7 million and built the assets to $17.7 million. Weinzapfel says this growth to current levels does reflect some inflation but more so it reflects confidence in and growth of the bank.

"Because of the vision and farsightedness of President Earl Fisher, Muenster State Bank is owned by more than 100 local stockholders instead of just a few like many small community banks," he said. "This bank really does belong to the community."

justice, the king's son.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Readers:
I wrote this letter to defend what I believe to be an honorable profession, attorney at law.

It seems to be a popular pastime among some politicians to bash lawyers, particularly trial lawyers. George Bush in particular laid at the feet of trial lawyers the blame for rising health care costs during one of the televised debates. I guess he was unfamiliar with the findings of a recent study conducted by an independent consulting firm in Texas.

The study was a rare example of cooperation between associations who are normally opposed to each other. The Texas Medical Association (an association of Texas physicians), the Texas Hospital Association (an association of Texas hospitals) and the Texas Trial Lawyers Association (an association of primarily plaintiff's attorneys) cooperated in the study.

malpractice claims contributed approximately .62% to total health care expenditures in Texas and approximately .74% nationally. It found that large judgments and large punitive damage awards are not a problem in Texas.

As an attorney who has handled medical malpractice cases, I can tell you that they are very difficult to win and that large judgments are rare. Because of that, cases are screened carefully and only those with merit are taken. Mr. Bush's attacks in the area of health care are unjustified. Rising health care costs are not being driven by medical malpractice lawsuits. I wish the president would look at how to solve the problems in the health care area instead of trying to find a scapegoat.

Sincerely,
Lynn J. Klement

Autumnal Potpourri,
A personal meditation for November

by Brother Thomas Aq. Moster of Subiaco Abbey

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Brother Thomas Moster, OSB, author of the article, is a monk at Subiaco Abbey, Subiaco, Arkansas 72865, and is a native of the Diocese of Fort Worth and of Muenster, Texas.)

"I choose to go at 55!" was my joking retort to friends when death was the topic of our conversation, "because that's the speed limit!"

But 1992 marked my "56th" birthday and I'm still here!

My father died when he was 56 years old; my mother marked the milestone of her 95th birthday this year. Widowed nearly 50 years ago, my mother is really "living on her extended-deathbed" because she is bedridden and exists only on intravenous feeding.

This bittersweet potpourri of 1992 is brought to mind with the arrival of All Saints/All Souls Day, the month of November, and the season of autumn.

"How morose," commented a friend when I remarked that autumn is my favorite season of the year; "spring is a much more beautiful season," he added.

I agree that spring is beautiful; I can readily see in the budding trees and the fragrant blossoms of spring Christ's promise of our resurrection. But I refuse to be convinced that it's morose to appreciate autumnal beauty on the same level.

Everyone seems so eager to diagnose the choices of others: if you see more beauty in the season of death (autumn) rather than in the season of life (spring), you must be psychotic.

Horsefeathers! Such logic reminds me of the story of the elementary school teacher who was alarmed because one little boy in her class always handed in his artwork done in BLACK crayon.

Her diagnostic intuition led her to believe that this child must surely be suffering some great psychological trauma in his life because he chooses to "color his world black."

Thus, the teacher walked to the back of the classroom and said to the child: "Tom, why do you always choose to use the color black in your artwork?" "Well, Miss Smith," he said, "you have us seated alphabetically in this classroom, and the box of crayons is passed from the front row to the back, and with my name being Tom Zota, I'm the last person in the row; of course, all the lovely pastels and bright colored crayons are taken by the students in front of me so that when the box of crayons gets to me the only choice I have is the lone rejected black crayon!"

We don't always have a choice; we have to take what comes our way. I didn't choose to lose my father before I was 10 years old so naturally I tend to classify his death in the springtime of life whereas my mother's death will not occur until the harvest time of life.

And, the fact that I am a manic-depressive, I feel that I have looked death in the face on 30 occasions - each time that I have been anesthetized in the hospital operating room to undergo electroconvulsive therapy (electric shock treatment); truly, a "man for all seasons" when it comes to facing death!

Through the special grace of God I have been able to accept in these events of my life the fact that suffering and facing possible death is redemptive.

And, as a Benedictine monk, I envision in the Rule of Benedict, his admonition of Chapter four "to keep death daily before one's eyes" as being synonymous with my personal philosophy that death is the commencement of life.

In the natural cycle, spring (life) comes before autumn (death); in the eternal cycle it is reversed: death (autumn) comes before life (spring/resurrection).

I feel that I have a healthy and mature reverence for death: I readily await the Lord's call in whatever season he chooses because I know that my eternity begins here on earth. What I sow, I shall reap - the choice is mine. May I choose wisely:

"For of all sad words
of tongue or pen,
The saddest are these:
'It might have been!'"

Tax Talk

by: Duane Knabe, CPA

Duane Knabe will discuss a different topic each week. Any questions should be directed to him at 759-4010.

This week's topic is for farmers and ranchers. Farmers and ranchers who can prove that their presence on the farm or ranch is constantly required may find that incorporating has a major tax benefit.

An employer may deduct certain meal and lodging benefits provided to an employee on the "business premises." The benefits must be provided to the employee for the employer's convenience and as a condition of employment.

If you're a full-time farmer or rancher whose operation requires round-the-clock monitoring, you may be able to deduct your lodging costs and 80% of meal costs that are furnished to you as an employee of the corporation.

MHS Site-Based Management committee meets

by Jerry Metzler

The MHS Site-Based Management Committee met on Oct. 26, 1992 at 3:30 p.m. in the Muenster ISD Administration building. Attending were members Jan Cain, Andy Cherry, Sandra Hennigan, Martha Koesler, Nancy Perryman and Jerry Metzler.

Superintendent Steve Cooper opened the meeting with an update on the district's construction projects. Mr. Cooper reported on the progress of the new gymnasium and explained that the old fieldhouse would be renovated to make up to four classrooms and a set of restrooms. Discussion then followed concerning what type of classes should be located in the newly renovated rooms. Committee members were unanimous in agreeing that the new classrooms should be used for elementary classes. The committee agreed to recommend that the existing junior high building be used exclusively for seventh and eighth grade classes, some of which are currently held in the high school wing. The renovated classrooms could be designed specifically for grades five and six; the existing junior high building classrooms are already the ideal size for seventh and eighth grade classes. The committee agreed to have a representative at a future school board meeting to present these recommendations.

In other business, the committee discussed alternative methods for motivating students who rarely complete assignments. These "at risk" students do not respond to traditional classroom methods and the members discussed several ideas. The committee recommended that MHS Counselor Kay Perry begin meeting with such students and try to motivate the students using outside sources. Special field trips, motivational programs and community speakers were suggested. Principal Jerry Metzler will work with Mrs. Perry to help motivate these students.

Finally, members agreed to meet once each six weeks, usually right after school. Mr. Metzler asked all members to start thinking about programs and curriculum issues for the 1993-94 school year as planning will begin shortly after the Christmas holidays. Also, all members were encouraged to present any concerns or topics of interest at future meetings. Anyone wishing to present an agenda item is encouraged to call MHS or contact any committee member.

Enterprise regrets error in Russell story

In The Muenster Enterprise lead story Friday, comparing Ray Russell and Stephen Cole, candidates for Cooke County Judge, a serious mistake was made. Judge Ray Russell was referred to as a liberal Democrat. This was an inadvertent error which The Enterprise regrets and apologizes for. Judge Russell, in fact, referred to himself as a conservative Democrat and the writer intended to represent him as such.

Council will change trash collection days to Wednesday and Saturday

Garbage collection and disposal was the main topic Monday night at Muenster's regular City Council meeting. Nick Dowd, of Texas Waste Management, presented a request to change garbage collection days in Muenster to Wednesday and Saturday. He said that Waste Management will handle all the notices including flyers at residences and businesses and newspaper advertisements. The changes are necessary to better fit their schedules now that they have built a new transfer station in Bowie. Former City Administrator Joe Fenton has been named manager of the Bowie station and was present with Dowd. Dowd said there have been very few problems or objections in other cities who have changed from Tuesday/Friday schedules. Since the operation base is closer now it will be quicker and easier to make extra returns, if necessary, while people get used to the new schedule.

The council approved the change and indicated that the good service received so far from Waste Management deserved cooperation. Dowd said "We will certainly adjust if there are any problems." The new Wednesday/Saturday pickup schedule will start Nov. 11, 1992.

Following Dowd, Gainesville City Manager Lyle Drescher talked to the council concerning the interlocal cooperation agreement for the proposed Cooke County landfill. Muenster is part of the task force led by the City of Gainesville to establish the landfill. (See related story in this issue by Elaine Schad.)

A long discussion was held on whether Muenster should remain part of the task force which now faces a lawsuit to stop land acquisition. The council members voted to remain in the interlocal agreement to avoid becoming locked in to only one garbage disposal option. In addition, after initial costs are met, dumping fees are supposed to cover operational cost and Muenster may not pay any further expenses if they don't use it. But they will maintain their option to use it if needed. Muenster currently spends about $100,000.00 per year with Waste Management for garbage collection and disposal.

Next, Doug Fleitman asked the council if the city was considering purchase of a chipper to handle disposal of tree limbs and other prunings. He said he was considering providing that service as a private venture and wanted to know what city plans might be. Mayor Henschel said the idea had been discussed but there were no plans now and he would much rather see private business handle the service.

Vermeer equipment dealer Gerry

Walterscheid distributed literature about two different chippers he could sell to the city or to a private business. Chipped limbs and prunings are much easier to transport and might be composted or sold as mulch.

Other items receiving discussion and action were:

-Plans to pave Second Street from Main to Elm and Elm from Second to First were approved.

-Ben Bindel, Loree Bruns and Mel Fisch were re-appointed to the Park Board.

-Purchase of medium sized hams for Christmas gifts to city employees was approved.

-Monthly bills totaling $33,328.79 were approved for payment.

-Jon LeBrasseur, Glenn Hess and Dale Felderhoff requested that the city begin appraisal and enhancement action for paving on Park Lane and South Willow Street. The continuing controversy pits Southtown Partners against neighborhood residents concerning the kind of street paving they want. The item must be entered on the next meeting agenda. Then the city will start the expensive appraisal process to determine how much paving will enhance the value of affected property.

-Southwestern Bell Mobil Systems request to erect an equipment building under the water tower was approved.

Picnic offers food, fellowship and gift ideas

Each year the Arts and Crafts booth at the pre-Thanksgiving Sacred Heart benefit bazaar, picnic and dinner strives to improve, offering beautifully made, high quality gift items, holiday decorations and pieces for "keepsakes."

Co-chairmen Regina Pels, Charlotte Dangelmayr and Stacie Miller and a team of volunteers have been busy making and collecting an array of beautiful pieces for sale at the Sacred Heart Community Center on Sunday, Nov. 22, in the Arts and Crafts section. They are also appealing for more items.

In anticipation of Christmas shopping and Christmas shoppers, a large part of the booth will be devoted to suitable items. There will be a Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus figurine, 36-inches tall; there will be elves, handmade Christmas trees in various sizes; several completely finished wooden doll cradles with handmade coverlets and crocheted blankets; wooden toy chests.

Also decorated T-shirts; Christmas aprons; wreaths; table decorations; angels in velvet dresses, and one stunningly beautiful special angel; wooden painted angels; gift baskets, teachers' gifts; 5-foot tall porch Santas; and lots, lots, lots more. Chances will be sold on a Santa in a sled.

Lawsuit filed against landfill

by Elaine Schad

The City of Muenster and Cooke County will help pay for a lawsuit that is pending in Austin concerning a proposed landfill that will be built in northeastern Cooke County.

A Gainesville resident filed the lawsuit in an Austin court last week in an attempt to stop the City of Gainesville from acquiring land to build a landfill and force an election on the issue. The City of Gainesville is acting as agent for the Cooke County Regional Landfill Task Force in acquiring the land. The task force is composed of the cities of Muenster, Valley View and Gainesville as well as Cooke County.

The City of Muenster, as part of an interlocal agreement with the task force, has agreed to pay 4.6 percent and Cooke County about 47 percent of the costs relating to the landfill, including purchase of a site, permitting, construction and operation, and any other expenses, such as legal fees. The task force members hope to eventually recoup their costs through dumping charges and other fees once the landfill is in operation.

Stanley Smith, a property owner near the proposed landfill site, filed the lawsuit in the 147th District Court in Austin against the City of Gainesville, Texas Attorney General Dan Morales and Texas Comptroller of Public Accounts

John Sharp. Sharp and Morales were named in the suit in their capacity as heads of agencies which register and issue certificates of obligation.

District Judge Scott McCown last week denied Smith's request for a temporary injunction to halt Gainesville's announced plans to acquire the land and make application to permit a municipal landfill. McCown set a Nov. 23 hearing to determine if $1.375 million in certificates of obligation were legally issued Oct. 20 by the Gainesville City Council to purchase land and permit a landfill in behalf of the Cooke County Regional Landfill Task Force. The City of Gainesville last week also filed a lawsuit in Austin, asking the court to validate the city council's actions of Oct. 20.

The Gainesville City Council on Oct. 20 threw out 911 signed petitions requesting a special election be called on issuing the certificates of obligation because the signatures were not individually notarized as provided in the city's charter. In his suit, Smith contends the petitions as submitted were not required by law to have acknowledged signatures. Smith further contends the council proceeded illegally in authorizing the issuance and sale of the certificates of obligation after rejecting the petitions.

Gainesville City Attorney Mack

Barnhart said that any decision made Nov. 23 could be appealed. If the court ultimately rules in favor of the city, the certificates of obligation can be issued for the project, Barnhart said. If the court rules in Smith's favor, the city will be required to call an election, Barnhart said.

The City of Gainesville expects to close a contract Nov. 30 to purchase 1,257 acres of land in northeastern Cooke County for a proposed landfill site, Gainesville City Manager Lyle Drescher said that purchase will proceed on schedule using general funds from members of the task force to pay for the $775,000 land purchase.

Don Abney honored for 20 years' service to Lone Star

Donald Abney was honored for 20 years of service with Lone Star Gas Company recently. Abney is currently serving as Service Representative in the cities of Muenster, Saint Jo and Lindsay.

He began his Lone Star career on Nov. 1, 1972 as a service trainee in Purcell, Oklahoma. Don also worked as a serviceman and service technician before coming to Muenster in 1978.

Don Abney is married to Joyce; they have three children, Michael, Candice and Mathew.

Commissioners approve final plans on landfill closure

by Elaine Schad

Cooke County Commissioners last week approved final closure dirt work for the Precinct 2 landfill.

The county will spend about $9,500 for dirt work to cover the Precinct 2 landfill located in southeastern Cooke County. The landfill has been closed to the public since April, and the county is responsible for doing dirt work and providing a grass cover according to standards set by the Texas Water Commission.

All landfills owned by Cooke County have been closed before more stringent landfill standards take affect. County residents are allowed to use the Gainesville landfill, but the Gainesville landfill will be closed by the summer of 1993. The county is expected to make arrangements for trash transfer until a new countywide landfill is built in coming years.

In other business during the meeting, commissioners:

-Voted to purchase cellular telephones for the Cooke County Emergency Medical Service.

-Renewed the fire contract between the county and the City of Muenster.

-Approved a preliminary plat for Cler Acres subdivision in Precinct No. 4.

-Approved the final plat for the J.H. Bayer subdivision in Precinct No. 4.

-Approved bonds for Sheriff's Department personnel.

Andrea Klement wins award for history essay

This historical account is another in a series of winning essays submitted by students. Winner of a blue ribbon for her effort was Andrea Klement, daughter of Leon and Christi Klement, and an eighth grade student at Muenster ISD.

In the year 1893, my great-grandfather, John B. Klement, who was 9 years old at the time, came with his parents, three brothers and three sisters from Germany to Austin, Texas. Their hope was to begin a farm near the Colorado River. They were not familiar with the use of horse teams, having farmed with oxen in Germany, and a neighboring Negro gentleman taught them the proper use of these animals. Within 6 months of their arrival, Andrew developed appendicitis and died after surgery was performed on the kitchen table.

After several years, Rosina and her eight children (a girl had been born in Texas) moved to Granger, Texas. Granger was a small farming community where a great part of the population was made up of Bohemians. Great-great-grandmother Rosina did not approve of their partying, and began a search for a small German community, suitable in which to raise her children.

ANDREA KLEMENT

In 1905, she sent Frank, one of her sons, and John Schilling, a son-in-law, to Rhineland, Texas to appraise the farmland. Frank and John made most of the journey by train, but the last mile or two had to be traveled on foot. After walking only a short time, a sandstorm discouraged their efforts to visit Rhineland.

Later, back in Granger, the Klement family came upon an advertisement for Muenster, Texas. Rosina and her four daughters rode the train to Muenster, while the three sons drove two wagons containing the family possessions. Land was purchased about two miles north of Muenster, where a house and barns were soon built.

Margaret Knabe, daughter of Albert and Elizabeth Knabe, met John B. Klement at the Shutzenfest in 1906. They became husband and wife on Feb. 19, 1908. Their nine children are Norbert, John A., Albert, Marie, Raymond, Edgar, Walter, Martin and Roman (now deceased) Klement.

Edgar, my grandfather, married Rose Sandman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Sandman of Lindsay. Edgar and Rose's five children are Ronald, Kenneth, Robert, Glenn (now deceased) and Leon.

Leon, my father, married Christi Koesler, daughter of Norbert and Elizabeth Koesler. I have two siblings, Elliot and Bridgette.

And so, I conclude this story with one thought: Either the power of God or fate intervened, because if my great-great-uncles had not run into a sandstorm, I probably would not be here. So, I wonder, was it just by chance, or did some greater power accumulate this storm for a special reason?

Muenster 4-H Club reports on bake sale

Thirty members attended the Oct. 13 meeting of the Muenster 4-H Club. Four adult leaders were present. Emily Felderhoff and Michael Becker presided.

Reports were given and members discussed the newsletter. By vote, the members decided to pick up trash on Oct. 24 at 1:30 p.m. Becky Felderhoff gave a report on the Oktoberfest bake sale. It was a great success. Eighteen families brought items to sell and 15 worked in the booth. Mrs. Felderhoff also reported on a contribution from the Bluebonnet Extension Homemakers Club.

The program was given by Barbara and Lucas Bayer. They showed how to grind wheat. Each one received ground wheat to take home. Lauren Dangelmayr led recreation and Danny Felderhoff won the door prize. The club reporter is Jackie Henscheid.

Mrs. Elsie Fuhrman is feted on 98th birthday

Special celebrations honoring Mrs. Elsie Fuhrman on her 98th birthday were held during the month of October at St. Richard's Villa where she resides, and at several gatherings of family members and area relatives and friends in Muenster.

She shared honors with other October birthday residents of St. Richard's at a reception Sunday, Oct. 4, at the Villa, and individually, with three of her six children, Coralee Pulte, Rosalee Bayer and Alvin Fuhrman, at a specially prepared meal at the Villa on her birthdate Thursday, Oct. 22.

Week-end celebrations were arranged to accommodate the schedules of the other family members. Five of Mrs. Fuhrman's children, Elsie Endres, Bill Fuhrman, Alvin Fuhrman, Coralee Pulte and Rosalee Bayer, and a number of grandchildren and great-grandchildren joined the honoree at a covered dish luncheon at the home of Rosalee Bayer Sunday, Oct. 25. Following the noon meal, area nieces, nephews and friends paid tribute to Mrs. Fuhrman during a reception held from 2 to 4 p.m. at the Bayer residence.

Since Jerry Fuhrman of Houston, the youngest of Mrs. Fuhrman's children, was unable to attend the Oct. 25 celebration, Mrs. Fuhrman's birthday observance was extended to another weekend of various family gatherings which began Friday, Oct. 30 and ended with a reunion at The Center Restaurant in Muenster at noon, Nov. 1.

Family members attending the two-weekend festivity included: Elsie Endres of Muenster and daughter Lou Ann Spaeth of Gainesville; Bill and Kay Fuhrman of Fort Worth and daughter and son-in-law Kathy and Bill Dafcik and children Jennifer and Michael of Arlington; Alvin and Gracie Fuhrman of Muenster and son Gene of Denton; Coralee Pulte of Gainesville and daughter Diane Pulte of Denton, son and daughter-in-law Don and Belinda Pulte and children Ben and Amanda of Temple. Of Rosalee Bayer's family attending were daughter Carolyn Lawrence of Dallas, daughter Dolly Owen of Lindsay, daughter Betty Cole and children Wendy, Ryan and Bryant of Saint Jo, and daughter Susan Lancaster and son Trey of Gainesville. All of Jerry and Carolyn Fuhrman's family was present: son and daughter-in-law Glen and Katherine Fuhrman of Houston, daughter Elizabeth

ELSIE FUHRMAN

Fuhrman of Austin, son Mark Fuhrman and fiancée Patty Grossman of Tulsa, Okla.

Mrs. Elsie Fuhrman is the daughter and the sole survivor of the children of Wilhelm Flusche and Augusta Flusche Theisen, early pioneers and prominent figures in the founding of the Muenster and Lindsay communities. Mrs. Fuhrman, born and reared in Lindsay, lived briefly in Iowa after her marriage to Henry J. Fuhrman in 1921, returning to her hometown in 1924. They lived on a farm north of the present Gainesville Municipal Airport before moving to the "Yosten" farm east of Muenster in 1942. Henry and Elsie retired to a new home at 306 East Sixth Street in Muenster in 1964 where Henry Fuhrman died April of 1976. Mrs. Fuhrman became a resident of St. Richard's Villa in February of 1990, and, until a sudden, recent diminishing of vision, kept occupied with visiting, reminiscing, crocheting, and reading. With a grit and hardiness characteristic of her era, Mrs. Fuhrman is already counting off the days toward her 99th birthday in October, 1993.

Heritage Society presents "Christmas Customs Around the World"

The Cooke County Heritage Society is pleased to announce that a Christmas class for children ages 4 to 8 - "Christmas Customs Around the World" - will be held at the Morton Museum of Cooke County on Saturday, Nov. 21, from 10 a.m. until noon. Through a series of activities including making ornaments, stockings and cornucopias, breaking a piñata and playing games, the children will receive an introduction to the Christmas customs and special foods of a variety of cultures.

The class will culminate in a study of the Christmas customs practiced by American pioneers on the frontier - a blend of customs brought to this country by immigrants with some new innovations - with the children both making decorations for museum tree and doing the actual decorating. The tree will remain on display through December for friends and relatives of the decorators to view.

The cost of the class is $15.00 per child. Refreshments will be served. Space is limited on a first come, first serve basis - so reservations must be made in advance. The final date to register is Nov. 13. To reserve a place for your child, call the Morton Museum of Cooke County at 668-8900.

Amanda Wimmer is 3rd time winner in art contest

Amanda Wimmer, daughter of Rick and Sherry Wimmer and a 7th grader at Sacred Heart School, at age 12 is a third time winner in a Serra Club poster contest. This time, she also won a $100 cash award and her art will be featured in the club calendar for 1993. She was notified of her award by The North Texas Catholic newspaper.

As a first grader, Amanda won the poster contest and was featured in the calendar published by the Serra Club. In the second grade, she was a finalist.

The annual poster program provides an opportunity to share through art what a religious vocation means to the students. Parochial school and religious education students are eligible to enter. This year's theme is "Be a Sister, Brother, Priest - Share God's Word."

Jeanna Sutton of Denton wins Mary Kay pink Cadillac

Mary Kay Cosmetics, Inc. has awarded Jeanna Sutton of Denton one of the company's most coveted prizes, the free use of a pink Cadillac. As one of the company's top achievers, Sutton, a Mary Kay Independent Sales Director, was awarded the use of the car in recognition of leadership and sales achievements. Jeanna Sutton is the daughter of Gene and Judy Hartman of Denton and the granddaughter of Mmes. Margaret Hartman and Mrs. Eula Grace Cain, both of Muenster.

Although awards range from exotic vacations to diamond rings, the use of the famous pink Cadillac remains a favorite among the sales force. Pink Cadillacs were first offered in 1969 after Mary Kay Ash painted her car pastel pink to match product packaging. There are approximately 5,000 Mary Kay career cars on American roads today.

On Tuesday, Nov. 10, the First United Methodist Church of Gainesville will present the second annual Table Top Treasures event. This event will feature 20 unique table settings provided by church members and friends. Themes will vary from several different holiday decorations.

Some of the ideas include: a casual supper; a cool meal for a hot day; a breakfast tray presentation; Thanksgiving, Easter and Christmas tables. Many of the tables will also be decorated around a particular pattern of china that is special to the person setting the table. There will be a china setting from 1890, one from 1910, depression glass, a 1940 "war bride setting," a 1950 setting and some present-day purchase settings. There will truly be something for each person who attends to admire!

The show will be open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Tuesday, Nov. 10.

Food will be served throughout the day. Plan to come and view the table top displays, enjoy the delicious food and then look over the displays again! There is so much to see that it is difficult to take it all in on one walk through the exhibits. Tickets are available for $5 each from the church office, or at the door. Proceeds from this event will go to benefit local missions in Gainesville. First United Methodist Church is located at 214 S. Denton, Gainesville.

Tigers attacks S.E. Dallas in 38-0 victory

It was like entering the Twilight Zone as the Sacred Heart Tigers attempted to play South East Dallas Christian in Dallas. On the Eve of Halloween, on a dimly lit field, the Tigers kept their cool and defeated the cheap-shooting Eagles 38-0. The game was called by officials after choice words from the opposing coach forced the referee to end the game with 2:31 remaining on the clock.

"I was disappointed in the outcome from the sportsmanship prospective," Coach John Nasche commented. "They made a lot of cheap shots, over complained and didn't have discipline." Nasche was pleased with the Tigers because they didn't retaliate, kept their composure and showed they were well disciplined. "Their coach has no control. He told his players to play dirty and even attempted to sneak an illegal player on the field."

Sacred Heart took the opening kick to their 35-yard line and moved out to the Eagles' 43 before losing possession with a fumbled ball.

The Tigers put a fumble on the ground the next play that Neil Berres recovered.

Starting on their 45, it took Sacred Heart only five plays to move the ball 55 yards for 6 points. Jason Hess did the honors after a fake to Larry Switzer, he completed a pass to Neil Berres for a 35-yard touchdown. The extra point failed for a 6-0 score with 6:37 on the clock.

The Eagles were assisted by a holding flag for a first down. But three incomplete passes and a delay of game forced a punt on 4th and 15. Scott Frost and Switzer picked up 13 yards before the Eagles got their hands on a Tiger fumble.

SE Dallas carried the ball into the 2nd quarter. An attempted blocked punt by Switzer gave Sacred Heart the ball on the Eagles' 31-yard line. Neil Berres carried the Tigers to the 10. Three short runs by Switzer took the Tigers into the end zone. The extra point pass failed and Sacred Heart took a 12-0 lead with 8:53 on the 2nd quarter clock.

The Eagles lost the ball their first play when Jeremy Bayer covered a fumbled ball and the Tigers were once more sitting on the Eagles' 31-yard line. The teams exchanged possession, with the Tigers taking control on the 21. Neil Berres scampered to the promise land on a 16-yard pass play from Jason Hess. Switzer's run added two more points and the Tigers took a 20-0 lead. SE Dallas' offense played out the remaining 3 1/2 minutes before the buzzer sounded for the half-time break.

South East Dallas tried the airwaves to open the 3rd quarter. On the first play, Jason Hess picked off the Eagle pass, but an interference flag on him nullified the play. After two incomplete throws, Neil Berres intercepted the ball. The next play Larry Switzer broke loose for a 61-yard touchdown run. The PAT failed for a 26-0 score.

SE Dallas again tried to pass, but found Tiger defenders climbing all over their quarterback when he dropped back for a pass. The Sacred Heart defensive line continued to apply enough pressure to keep the Eagle receivers away from too many big completions. SE Dallas moved into SH territory, but the fired-up Tigers halted their opponents on their 7-yard line when Martin McCoy covered a fumbled ball.

Switzer picked up 17 yards, giving the Tigers a little more breathing room. A pass from Hess to Berres for a 78-yard touchdown was called back on an illegal forward pass. The Tigers then punted on 4th and 23 to start the final quarter.

The Tigers' defense held the Eagles, turning the ball over on downs. The Tigers' first offensive attempt of the fourth quarter was short-ended when the first play was fumbled to the Eagles. But, on the next play, Kelly Bayer picked off a pass and the Tigers' offense returned to action. Freshman Joseph McCoy picked up 25 yards on a run to the 10-yard line. Switzer moved the ball to the 2 and freshman Scott Frost carried it in for the touchdown. Switzer's kick failed and, with 6:51 remaining in the game, Sacred Heart had a 32-0 lead.

South East Dallas couldn't move on its next possession and, after the punt, it took only 5 plays for the Tigers to move to the 10-yard line. McCoy again lit up the scoreboard for the final time with 2:31 remaining in the game. The extra point was not attempted as the officials called the game. Sacred Heart took the district win, 38-0.

"We planned to kneel down and not take the extra point," said Nasche, "especially when their coach tried to pull his players off the field." Nasche commented that he had no intention on running up the score, starting freshmen in the third quarter.

Nasche continued, "The Tigers are improving as a whole, but we still need to correct little things." The coach said their passing game is improving and the line is doing a good job of run blocking for the backfield. He also credited the Tigers' defense for their first shutout. "S.E. Dallas ran a lot of crazy stuff, but the Tigers held them to only 32 yards rushing."

The win earns Sacred Heart a state playoff spot as the district runner-up, no matter the outcome of this Friday's game with Pantego.

"Our defensive backs must have another good game. Pantego likes to throw. We'll have to pressure the quarterback to win," concluded the Tiger coach.

Tina Klement qualifies for regional cross country race

Tina Klement, former Muenster High School long distance runner, qualified for Regional competition at the Lone Star Conference Championship meet at Texas A&I University in Kingsville, Texas on Saturday, Oct. 24.

Tina and Senior Bridgett Lindeman were the only two runners on the "Lady Lion" team to qualify. The girls' team placed 4th overall. The two will travel to Southern Regional Mississippi College in Clinton, Mississippi Saturday, Nov. 7 to compete in Regional Division II College Cross Country competition.

The top three individuals at Regional and 1st Team will travel on to the Nationals to be held in Pennsylvania on Nov. 21.

Tina is a freshman at ETSU and the daughter of Dale and Charlotte Klement.

Huchtons take the money in Week 9

Neil and Peachie Huchton tied in Week 9 of the Muenster Enterprise football contest, with Neil winning this week's contest by being 2 points closer to the Sacred Heart tiebreaker score. Both guessed 23 correct games, with Neil being 13 points off on his score and Peachie being 16 points off on hers. Missing only 22 games this week were Mike Hacker and Edna Hermes. Mike Felderhoff was closest to the tiebreaker score of 38 to 0 with his guess of 38-6.

In the Muenster vs. Lindsay game 31 out of 44 entries picked Lindsay to beat the Hornets. In other local games three people thought Saint Jo could beat Collinsville and everyone correctly picked Gainesville over Frisco.

In college football everyone got the Texas A&M victory over SMU correct. Only one contestant missed Notre Dame's win against Navy, along with Houston's victory against TCU. Five people unfortunately picked Dallas to lose to Philadelphia.

Week 9's winners picked up their prizes at Tops and Teams, the tiebreaker sponsor for the week.

Muenster gears up to defeat Era... Hornets win as Knights say goodbye to old field

It was a typical Muenster-Lindsay confrontation, both teams putting forth their best effort for their fans Friday night in Lindsay. The Knights played their last game on the "old field", making it a special night for many former Lindsay players. However, the Hornets quietened their enthusiasm by taking home a 20-14 win.

The Hornets, on the opening drive, fumbled the ball away on their third run. Rocky Barnes covered for the Knights, but on their first play, the ball popped loose and Kenneth Walterscheid covered for Muenster. The Hornets' second drive never developed, because on the first play, Shane Huchton picked off a pass and possession went back to Lindsay.

Muenster's defense held Lindsay to no gain, along with a quarterback sack by Brian Knabe, to force a punt on 4th and 14.

Starting deep on their 9-yard line, the Hornets, led on the ground by Kenneth Walterscheid and Jason Huchton, assisted with a Darren Bindel pass and helped with 15-yard penalties, took Muenster to the 29-yard line. But on 4th and 1, Doug Hennigan punted a 32-yard kick.

Lindsay's first attempted run was fumbled away when James Klement recovered the loose ball. From the Knights' 40, Bindel carried the Hornets to the 26, where runs by Walterscheid, Bindel and Huchton took the ball to the 5-yard line. On 4th and 1, Rocky Barnes stopped Walterscheid for no gain, keeping Muenster out of the end zone.

The Knights' attempt to carry the ball out of their hole failed, punting on 4th and 3. Huchton's 56-yard punt, to start the 2nd quarter, put Muenster on their 32-yard line.

Bindel and Walterscheid shared runs for 12 yards, but then Huchton quick-kicked on 3rd and 13. From their 27, Shane Huchton took the Knights to midfield. A holding flag and an incomplete pass was followed with another fumbled ball, which Maurus Hacker covered for the Hornets on the 50-yard line. Two plays later, the Hornets dropped the ball with Heath O'Dell covering for the Knights.

Working from their 45, a 32-yard run by Huchton and a 15-yard penalty gave Lindsay a 1st and goal on the 8-yard line. Jeff Hale carried for a yard gain and Huchton another 5. From the 2, Donnie Cox put the Knights on the scoreboard. The extra point kick failed and, with 3:56 remaining in the 2nd quarter, Lindsay took a 6-0 lead.

Muenster fought right back on their next drive. From their 24, Walterscheid and Bindel together gained 20 yards on the ground in 3 plays. Huchton then went to the air with an 18-yard completion to Hennigan, followed by a 23-yard pass completion to Bindel to the 18-yard line. With 36 seconds on the clock, Huchton hit Kody Truebenbach for a touchdown. The extra point pass failed and the game was tied 6-6. Lindsay's offense played out the remaining seconds.

Lindsay's offense started action in the second half, but 3 runs were followed by a punt. From the 47, Muenster took 7 plays to find paydirt. The drive was highlighted by a 22-yard run by Walterscheid and ended with a 16-yard pass play from Huchton to Hennigan on 4th down and 8. Bindel ran in the extra points to give the Hornets a 14-6 lead with 7:35 on the clock.

The Knights struggled for two plays, then threw an interception to Kody Truebenbach. A penalty on the interception started the Hornets with a 1st and 25. Walterscheid got 3 runs for 15 yards, then Hennigan punted on 4th down.

Huchton got in two good runs for 24 yards, but the Knights' drive was stopped when Walterscheid covered a loose ball with a minute and a half remaining in the 3rd quarter. Walterscheid, Bindel and Huchton carried into the final period to the 4-yard line. Mike Hacker pushed for 2 and Walterscheid 1. On second down and goal, Hacker carried the ball into the end zone. The extra point failed and the Hornets took a 20-6 lead with 10:45 remaining in the game.

The Knights drove hard on their drive. Hale got in a 12-yard run and a pass form Hale to Huchton took Lindsay to Muenster's 16-yard line. The Hornets' defense, including a quarterback sack by Mike Hacker, gave the ball to Muenster on their 20-yard line.

Kenneth Walterscheid carried for 8 straight runs, picking up 39 yards before losing the ball to Chris Brown on a fumble. From their 26, runs by Hale and Huchton and a completed pass to Keith Zimmerer for a 23-yard gain, carried Lindsay to the 5-yard line. A pass from Huchton to Dan Zimmerer gave the Knights their second touchdown. Huchton ran in the extra points and, with only 24 seconds on the game clock, Lindsay closed the scoring gap to 20-14.

An attempted onside kick failed and Muenster let the clock run out. "We felt great on the outcome, all played great in the best offensive game of the year, getting our most yardage," bragged Muenster Coach Grady Roller. "We're glad it's over, the players get mentally exhausted from a game like this."

Roller noted the defense played well, including Brian Knabe with 14 tackles in his best game and Eric VanSwearingen for knocking down several key passes.

Muenster hosts Era in their final district game Friday night. "If we can corral Matt Lyons, we have a good chance of winning," Roller said. "We've had good workouts this week, hoping for a good outcome."

The Hornets are in a must-win situation for a playoff spot, unless Lindsay beats Collinsville, then a loss to Era wouldn't matter. Muenster still has one shot for a district championship, if Saint Jo defeats Valley View Friday night. "We didn't play up to the level we could have," said Lindsay Coach Charlie Meurer. "Muenster's physically stronger, they beat us on every area of the field, they whipped us." Meurer also believed injuries earlier in the week got the players down. Jeremy Owen didn't play and Donnie Cox played only

85%. "We came out of the game with a positive attitude."

The Knights travel to Collinsville Friday night for their final district game. "We're going to attack these guys with a lot of effort," said Meurer. "Collinsville is the most talented team in the district." The coach also concluded that the Knights are already working on next year to be more competitive. Game time is 7:30 p.m.

Boys Club Football teams play championship game

Saint Jo's third and fourth grade football team sponsored by Red River Cycle Trails added another win Tuesday night as they defeated Brammer Pipe 20-0, upping their record to 3-0-1 in league play.

On Saint Jo's first possession, with 2:44 gone from the clock, Greg Reeves scored a touchdown from 6 yards out; the extra point failed. With 29 seconds left in the first quarter, Greg Reeves followed excellent blocking in for another Saint Jo TD. Keith Felderhoff ran in the extra point, giving Saint Jo a 14-0 lead.

In the 3rd quarter, the blockers went to work again clearing the way for quarterback Greg Reeves; he scored from 40 yards out. The extra point attempt failed, making the score 20-0. Saint Jo went on to win 20-0.

Red River Cycle continues their winning in 3rd and 4th grade football as they defeated TCI Cable Saturday 18-6.

After a scoreless first quarter Red River finally got it together. Greg Reeves scored from 23 yards out, with 46 seconds left. The extra point attempt for a 6-0 lead.

In the 3rd quarter Heath Harris had some very good runs to set up another Saint Jo touchdown. Reeves ran it in from the 1-yard line with no time left on the clock. The extra point was no good and the score was 12-0.

With 2:53 left in the 4th quarter, TCI Cable scored on a 45-yard run to close the gap to 12-6.

Saint Jo scored their final touchdown with 31 seconds on the clock. Greg Reeves scored again on an 8-yard run. The extra point failed for an 18-6 victory for Saint Jo.

On Monday Red River Cycle Trails and Hoots Muffler battled for the League Championship in 3rd and 4th grade football.

After a scoreless first quarter, Hoots got on the scoreboard with a 2-yard run to take a 6-0 lead. Red River fought back and with 1:04 left to play in the first half Greg Reeves scored from the 1-yard line. He also ran in the extra point to take an 8-6 lead for his team.

Travis Bayer's kick to Hoots was fumbled on the return and covered by Keith Felderhoff. This set up an 18-yard TD run by Heath Harris for a 14-6 halftime score.

Saint Jo scored late in the 3rd quarter on a 2-yard run by Reeves. The PAT failed for a 20-6 lead for the Saint Jo team.

Red River later had a good drive going when the coach from Hoots Muffler lost control and the game was called by officials with 1:20 remaining in the 3rd quarter.

The Hornet offensive line opened this big hole for Kenneth Walterscheid.

Sacred Heart 20, St. Mary's 8

St. Mary's hosted the Sacred Heart Cubs on Tuesday, Oct. 27, at Leopard Stadium in Gainesville and were handed a 20-8 defeat.

Father Nicholas Fuhrmann's Mustangs took the opening kick, and Paul Barnes, Monte Johnson and Robert Orsburn taking turns carrying the ball into the Cubs and off the field. A 42-yard run by Erin Marler into the end zone was called back on a motion penalty. The Cubs caught St. Mary's quarterback for a sack and Sacred Heart's offense took to the field on the Mustangs' 44-yard line.

John Bartush, on three runs and a 5-yard penalty, moved the Cubs to the 28. But the drive was halted when Brent Foster picked off a pass.

Starting on their 15, the Mustangs worked up an 85-yard scoring drive in 11 plays. Runs by Johnson, Orsburn, Barnes and Foster, and a pass from Johnson to Foster highlighted Monte Johnson's 20-yard touchdown run. A pass from Foster to Johnson gave St. Mary's an 8-point lead with 2:37 remaining in the second quarter.

The Cubs marched right back with their second drive, assisted by a 15-yard face mask flag. Three plays were all it took for Sacred Heart to travel 42 yards to pay dirt. Douglas Novak carried the ball to back to Sacred Heart going into the final quarter.

St. Mary's got the ball right back when Johnston picked off a pass. The Mustangs carried the ball into the Cubs' territory with runs by Foster and Johnston before Adam Bayer and Russell Fette dropped the Mustangs for a 10-yard loss.

The teams exchanged possession before time ran out.

"The boys are getting better each week and we're pleased with their progress," commented Sacred Heart Coach John Nasche. "The team as a whole did a good job."

Nasche credits Paul Swirczynski, John Bartush and Doug Novak on tackles by Otto, Tuggle, Greg Flusche and Jacob Luke forced a punt on 4th and 4. Brian Hudspeth almost blocked the punt and Muenster took over at midfield. An illegal block after the interception put the Stingers on their 35-yard line. Tuggle and Roller picked up 20 yards, but on 4th and 8 Steven Tepera intercepted a Muenster pass as the clock ended the first half of the game.

Muenster began their first drive of the 3rd quarter on their 20. Taking turns running the ball were Tuggle, Miller, Roller and Steven Reiter. From the 18-yard line, Miller completed a pass to Tony Hartman for another touchdown. The extra points failed for a 20-0 lead for Muenster with 3:50 remaining in the 3rd period.

Again Lindsay's offense struggled, punting the ball away after three plays. From their 30, Tuggle took a 17-yard run to the 47-yard line. Roller carried the ball over into the Squires' turf, where Tuggle took the ball to the 22. Reiter added another 10 to the 12-yard line. Luke picked up 4 and Tuggle another 1 when Miller, on a keeper, popped into the end zone for another 6. A pass from Miller to Tuggle added another 2 and the young Hornets took a 28-0 lead.

Sharp returned Muenster's punt to the 24-yard line. Sharp and Huchton failed to gain enough for a first down, but a fake punt took Lindsay to midfield. Huchton and Sharp again combined their running talents, taking the ball to the 20. But on 4th and 1 Michael Boydston, Tony Hartman and Lucas Hartman worked together to stop the threat. Miller laid on the ball and the clock ran out.

As we enter the 10th week of The Muenster Enterprise Football Contest, we have a tie for first place in the season showdown. Mike Felderhoff and Mike Stoffels lead with 82% correct winners of the to-date total 200 games. Neil and Peachie Huchton are tied for third place with a percentage of 81.5%, just one game behind the leaders. John Bartush and Joe Pagel follow with a 80.5% and Ben Bindel is 7th at 80%.

Others still not out of the race and their percentages include: .795, Edna and Richard Hermes; .785, Benny Haverkamp; .775, Mark Grewing and Nick Stoffels; .770, Mickey Haverkamp and Harry Kessler; .765, Gary Barnhill, Mark Fuhrmann, Terry Walterscheid and Shirley Noonan; .760, Mike Hacker; .755, Willie Walterscheid, Wayne Klement and Tim Bindel; and .750, Barbie Barnhill.

Fourteen other contestants are still competing, but their scores are below 75%.

the 15, Paul Swirczynski moved to the 2 and John Bartush took it in from there. A fumbled snap on the extra point try made the score 8-6 with 1:54 on the first half clock.

The Mustangs were unable to gain the needed yards on their next possession. A quarterback sack by Jeff Yosten and Aaron Hess forced a punt.

The Cubs, in good field position on the Mustangs' 22-yard line, took only 3 plays to score again. A short run by Swirczynski and pass to Novak was followed by a 15-yard touchdown pass to Bartush for 6 points. Swirczynski ran in the extra point and, with 8 seconds on the clock, the Cubs took a 14-8 lead.

The Mustangs' offense controlled the second half, but was unable to score, while Sacred Heart took the opening kick and, in 4 plays, hit pay dirt. From their 38, Novak picked up 18 yards, then a Novak 7-yard run was assisted by a 5-yard penalty. From the 32, a 15-yard pass completion from Swirczynski to Glen Dangelmayr turned into 6 points. The extra point kick was blocked, giving Sacred Heart a 20-8 lead with 5:25 on the third quarter clock.

St. Mary's got in 3 unsuccessful plays and punted. The Cubs' next drive was shortened when Barnes covered a loose ball. Again, the Mustangs were caught by the Cubs' defense of Aaron Hess, Jeff Yosten and Brad Schilling, giving the ball offense and Aaron Hess and Brad Schilling on defense for an outstanding game.

He also noted that 6th graders Duncan Campbell, Lucas Bayer, Russell Fette and Adam Barnhill played an outstanding game in the 4th, getting several quarterback sacks and defensive tackles.

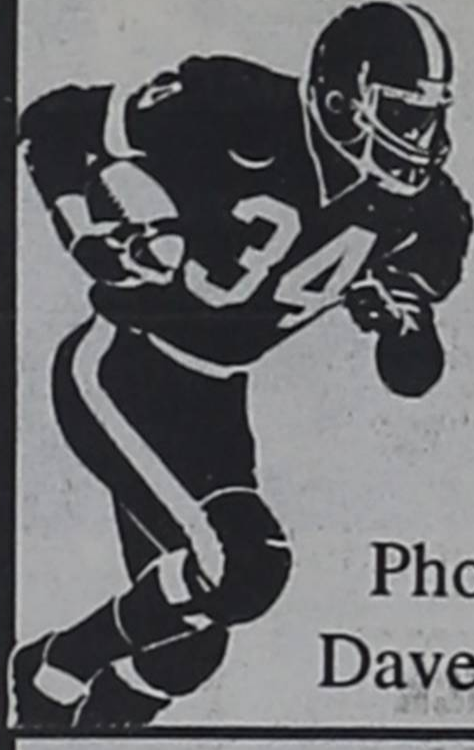

The Cubs' final game is scheduled for Friday, Nov. 6, at 5 p.m. preceding the Tigers' match with Pantego. The Cubs take on the Panther Cubs at 5 p.m.

Muenster "A" 28, Lindsay 0

Muenster Junior High hosted Lindsay last week Thursday in District competition and came out the 28-0 victors. Muenster kicked the ball to the 23-yard line with the Squires returning it to the 34. Hank Huchton led the Lindsay offense, trying to avoid the Red Stingers' defense of Jonathan Otto, John Tuggle, Tony Hartman, Eric Miller and Greg Flusche. Brian Hudspeth put a stop to the drive, covering a fumbled ball on the 44-yard line.

Tuggle and Chad Roller moved the ball to the 20 where Miller, on a quarterback keeper, found pay dirt. Tuggle went in for the extra points to put the Hornets on the board, 8-0.

Muenster's kick rolled to the 15-yard line, but Lindsay returned the ball to the 32. Zack Bowman attempted to gain enough yards, but

Bayer, Felderhoff represent Sacred Heart in WFAA's Scholar Athlete program

Kelly Bayer and Julie Felderhoff have been selected to represent Sacred Heart School in the WFAA-TV/McDonald's Scholar Athlete Program.

Dale Hansen, sports director of WFAA-TV in Dallas, recognizes outstanding high school athletes in the North Texas area. The Scholar Athlete segment airs during Mr. Hansen's "Sunday Sports Special" program.

The criteria for selection in order of priority are (1) scholastic achievement (2) athletic ability and (3) overall school and community involvement. From those nominees, a selection committee will choose those students that best exemplify the Scholar Athlete criteria. The selection committee will be looking for student athletes who excel in the classroom and in athletics and are givers in the school and community. For each student selected McDonald's will donate $100 to his or her high school.

Julie and Kelly are outstanding students. They each excel academically with a rigorous course of study.

Julie participates in basketball, track, tennis and cross country. She has achieved a great deal of success in each of these sports, often advancing to State competition. Her achievements in school are numerous and varied including many leadership positions in school organizations. Often she is a State qualifier in the Texas Association of Private and Parochial School (TAPPS) Academic Meet competition. She is actively included in community and parish activities. Julie is a senior student and is the daughter of Loretta and Gus Felderhoff.

Kelly participates in football, cross country, tennis, basketball, golf and track (State qualifier). He was selected as an All-District linebacker in football. He has received awards and nominations in different disciplines. Kelly is a member of the National Honor Society, Student Council and serves as a class officer. He has been involved in the summer leadership workshops and as a State representative for the Cooke County Farm Bureau Youth Convention. Kelly volunteers for many community and parish activities - Trust Fund Dinner, Halloween Spook House, lector and server.

Kelly is a junior student and is the son of Mary and Claude Bayer.

The Sacred Heart School is pleased to be a part of the WFAA-TV/McDonald's Scholar Athlete Program.

Cultural combo works better for grasses

Control of the annual grasses in wheat continues to be a nagging problem that won't be solved by using either herbicides or cultural practices alone.

Although there are new herbicide programs being approved regularly that are more effective against grassy weeds such as cheat, downy brome and annual ryegrass, none will completely control the problems, points out Howard Greer, Oklahoma State University Extension weed control specialist.

Cultural practices also can help, but their effectiveness can be limited by adverse weather or other production practices that may be incompatible.

The most effective grass control program is to combine the strengths of both of those management tools, especially where there is a severe infestation, Greer says.

OSU research has shown a 50 percent infestation of either cheat or downy brome can reduce overall return by a corresponding 50 percent through yield losses and dockage. Losses from an infestation of annual ryegrass can be similar.

A program of Finesse and metribuzin can be most effective against cheat and downy brome. Four years of OSU testing have shown Finesse offers up to 85 percent control. It should be applied immediately after planting on light to moderate infestations of the grasses.

A sequential treatment of metribuzin, which is sold as either Lexone or Sencor, can be used for heavier infestations. An early postemergence application of Finesse mixed with metribuzin also is an option.

A wheat producer also can control many broadleaf weeds with this type of chemical program, Greer explains. Finesse can provide both burndown and residual activity on more than 50 broadleaf species, including the mustards, henbit, eveningprimrose, wild buckwheat and plains coreopsis.

For annual ryegrass treatment, preemergence applications of Glean or Finesse can obtain 80-90 percent control.

Hoelon also can be used in a postemergence application to reduce ryegrass problems. Since it is ryegrass specific, it won't control other broadleaf weeds or a cheat problem, however.

Amber also is labeled for both grasses and broadleaves. Experience with Amber in Oklahoma isn't as extensive as with Finesse, since Amber is a new product release.

Greer reminds that a herbicide program should be combined with strong in-crop cultural practices to make the wheat stand more competitive. Options include increasing seeding rates and using narrower row spacing. A seeding rate up to two bushels per acre can be effective in fields heavily infested with grasses. Narrowing the row width below eight inches can promote early shading for grass seedling reduction. A good fertilizer program is essential for those practices.

Where wheat isn't going to be grazed, delayed planting combined with one or more light tillage operations can help reduce populations. The best approach is scratching the surface enough to pull out the weed seedlings but not deep enough to bring up new seeds.

Stocker cattle may benefit from alternative rations

Stocker cattle operators whose wheat pasture is about a month away from desired levels may want to examine the feasibility of utilizing alternative rations.

Corn and alfalfa hay are relatively inexpensive this year. The stocker operator who can take advantage of current prices potentially could put together a 50:50 corn and alfalfa hay ration that could cost less than six cents per pound, according to Keith Lusby, Oklahoma State University Extension beef cattle specialist.

"A 350-pound calf will eat about nine or 10 pounds of feed per day," says Lusby. "With a ration of 50:50 corn and alfalfa hay, those calves generally will gain in excess of two pounds per day. That means the cost of feed to gain is only 30 cents or less."

One argument against this type of program is "if the calves start gaining well now, they will gain less on wheat later." But Lusby advises that if a cattleman determines the period before wheat becomes available is greater than grazing time on wheat, and if the calves can gain profitably on some other available ration, then the use of an alternative ration potentially becomes a cost effective investment.

There are a number of available options when cattlemen look at programs like feeding alfalfa hay and corn, according to Lusby.

"Cattlemen can feed alfalfa hay free choice in round bales and feed four to five pounds of whole corn free choice. That will provide a diet of about 50:50 corn and alfalfa," he says. "In addition, a producer can utilize much higher levels and limit feed if there is a worry about cattle becoming too fat."

For stocker operators who do not have access to alfalfa hay, other useful alternatives include crabgrass, bermudagrass or Old World bluestems. However, when utilizing these alternatives, it may be necessary to add protein to the mix to bring the total ration up to 14 or 15 percent crude protein.

Although most young calves are fairly tolerant of grain, Lusby advises producers to exercise caution because acidosis still is a primary concern.

"A good recommendation is to start 350- to 400-pound calves at about two pounds per day and work them up to four or five pounds per day over a period of about a week," says Lusby. "Most cattle tolerate this method with no problems. If a cattleman is mixing the ration, a 50:50 blend can be started immediately. That is a ration formula commonly utilized in feedlots."

Lusby advises anyone seeking additional information on ways to feed stocker calves profitably to contact the nearest County Extension Office and speak with the county agricultural agent.

Animal rights and animal welfare are separate concepts

Persons forming their attitudes about the issue of how to use or treat animals should understand the difference between animal rights and animal welfare. Each is a separate concept, says Charles Christians, extension animal scientist at the University of Minnesota.

"Much of the public support for animal rights arises from individuals who do not know or distinguish between animal rights and animal welfare," says Christians.

"The basic concept of the animal rights movement is that humans and animals have equal rights. The goal of many animal rightists is to stop all use of animals by humans."

The most active militant organization in this movement has been People for the Ethical Treatment of Animals (PETA). Ingrid Newkirk, one of the founders of the group, has popularized the phrase 'a rat is a pig is a dog is a boy.'

Christians says the basic philosophy of the animal welfare movement is that people have a responsibility to use and treat animals humanly.

"The main goal of animal welfare is to prevent cruelty to animals and needless suffering by animals," he points out. "Few would argue against animal welfare. In fact, animal husbandry is the term used for the scientific control and management of domestic animals."

Christians says that historically, livestock producers have been among the most ardent animal welfarists. The livelihood of a producer depends on the animal's productivity, which requires animal husbandry practices that foster healthy animals, he says.

"If livestock care were not adequate, costs would rise and livestock producers would lose money," Christians says. "Practices that neglect, cause stress to, or abuse animals are clearly counterproductive to good husbandry. Animal agriculture is a lifetime career for many farmers because they have a genuine desire to work with and care for animals."

Christians believes continued research is necessary to improve livestock management and to develop more humane production techniques.

My Views from the Farm

by Ed Cler

Well, another norther blew in Saturday evening and cooled things down a bit. What makes this one different from earlier ones is that it ushered in some welcome rainfall. We received a good inch of the wet stuff, which is about average for the area.

Couldn't help but notice a lot of smiles Sunday morning, on the faces of many who thought we got just what was needed.

Much of the grain that has been sown was in drastic need of a good rain. Some has germinated and is up, some lies dry and, surely, some has spoiled. Hopefully the latter is a very small percentage.

One never knows what one will learn while visiting with friends in the mall while shopping. During one such meeting the conversation turned from one thing to another, and then to an old favorite - things the kids did and said in their earlier years. This one dear lady told of her two children when they were just old enough to be inquisitive and ask questions that she didn't want to answer fully. One of them asked her where the cows found their baby calves and she told them the cows dug them up out in the pasture. Well, the kids accepted her explanation for a time - until some time later the little girl, while visiting with friends on a farm, became an eye-witness to the entire procedure as a cow gave birth to her calf.

Later, when the child was home again with her mother she asked, "Mom, where did you say the cows find their babies?" and again the mother said, "Oh, they dig them up in the pasture." The tot looked at her mother and then said, "Mom, you had better sit down, 'cause have I got something to tell you?"

County Agent's Report

by Craig Rosenbaum

Frost can cause Prussic Acid Poisoning

Now that fall is officially at hand, frost will be hitting Cooke County before long. This could lead to prussic acid poisoning in livestock if the county has had enough moisture to produce certain pasture grasses and forage.

While many plants contain the toxic material that causes poisoning, the greatest culprits are Johnson and Sudan grasses and Sorghum or Hybrids of these that cause the highest mortality if livestock graze them after a heavy frost.

The most dangerous time for the grazing of these plants is following frost when the plant material begins to wilt.

Livestock should not be allowed access to the wilted material until it has dried completely following three or four days of good sunlight. New plant growth usually becomes nontoxic and can be grazed within ten days to two weeks following a rain.

Prussic acid poison acts rapidly and can kill animals within minutes. In most acute cases, animals become affected within 10 to 15 minutes after eating toxic material and can die in two to three minutes.

Symptoms may include a brief period of stimulation followed by depression and paralysis. Signs of colic may be present. Stupor (loss of sensibility), difficult breathing and frequent convulsions may result. Death is caused by suffocation since oxygen remains in the blood and is not exchanged to the tissues.

The key to prevent prussic acid poisoning in livestock is to be aware of plant materials that may cause poisoning and then keep cattle from grazing such plants until a safe period of time has passed.

Agriculture Marketing Club
The Agriculture Marketing Club will meet Tuesday, Nov. 10, at 9 a.m. at the North Texas Bank & Trust building in Gainesville. Interested producers are invited to attend. This morning's program will be presented by Ken Stokes, Extension Economist, and cover the subject of a Production and Marketing Farm Plan. The Agriculture Marketing Club meets once a month from August through May to look at current pricing trends of agriculture commodities and analyze marketing alternatives.

Bumper crop prompts TDA to permit temporary storage

The Texas Department of Agriculture is accepting permit applications for temporary grain storage facilities due to a bumper sorghum crop and a shortage of storage buildings in the Panhandle and South Plains.

Grain that has a negotiable grain warehouse receipt must be stored in permanent facilities. The temporary facilities may store only non-receipted, producer-owned grain for a maximum of 90 days. Grain stored in temporary structures must be moved into permanent facility as space becomes available. If conditions warrant, TDA may grant approval to extend 90-day permits in 30-day increments.

All permits for temporary storage must be requested in advance and will be approved in the same manner as permanent storage space. Outside storage must be constructed on an asphalt, concrete or compacted earth base and have rigid sidewalls. The warehouse operator is responsible for maintaining grain quality. The warehouse operator's surety bond must be increased at the rate specified by law and the grain must be insured against all risks specified in the grain warehouse law.

For more information about temporary grain storage permits, contact the regional TDA office or Bob Tarrant, coordinator for Grain Warehouse Programs at (512) 463-4187.
