

MUENSTER ENTERPRISE

VOLUME XIII

MUENSTER, COOKE COUNTY, TEXAS, FRIDAY JULY 1, 1949

NUMBER 32

With this issue the Enterprise enters a new era. As the observant reader has probably noticed from the general appearance of this page, we have made several changes in type faces. The really significant fact behind that is we have changed typesetting machines.

The old Model 5 Linotype that served us so faithfully for almost 13 years has just been replaced by a Model 14 of considerably fewer years. Not a new machine by a long shot but a mere youngster compared with the venerable old crate it is succeeding.

As regards the new addition, it's faster and more versatile. Many a line that was formerly set by picking the individual letters from a type case can now be set by pecking at the keyboard. It will save time in setting lines, it will save additional time in assembling the lines to build the page form.

For those who happen to be unfamiliar with the mechanical end of newspaper work, let's take time to explain here that in the old days every letter, every punctuation mark and every space was a separate piece of type. A line like this would consist of 30 or more tiny pieces... tedious to put together and hard to keep together, because at the slightest bump they were sure to scatter.

Then came Mergenthaler with a machine to cast all the letters and characters of a line in a single piece of metal. The principle is simple. Little molds, known as mats are assembled in a line, by means of a keyboard somewhat similar to that on a typewriter, and the molten type metal is cast against them. When the metal sets it is a full line of type, which suggests the name Mergenthaler gave his invention, a Linotype.

But casting a line is only half of the machine's job. After mats have been used they have to be returned to their proper places so that each is available, by striking a key, for use in setting another line. A delicate and complex distributing system puts the mats back in place.

So there are three distinct operations, assembling, casting and distributing, all coordinated by means of thousands of delicate and precisely adjusted parts. A wonderful machine while it works, but the most exasperating thing in the world when it goes temperamental.

Sometimes the best intended efforts lead to undesirable and even silly results. In last week's article on teen age driving in paper this column recommended the Reader's Digest and then listed a few incidents to show that this community measures up alarmingly to the standard of recklessness deplored in the article.

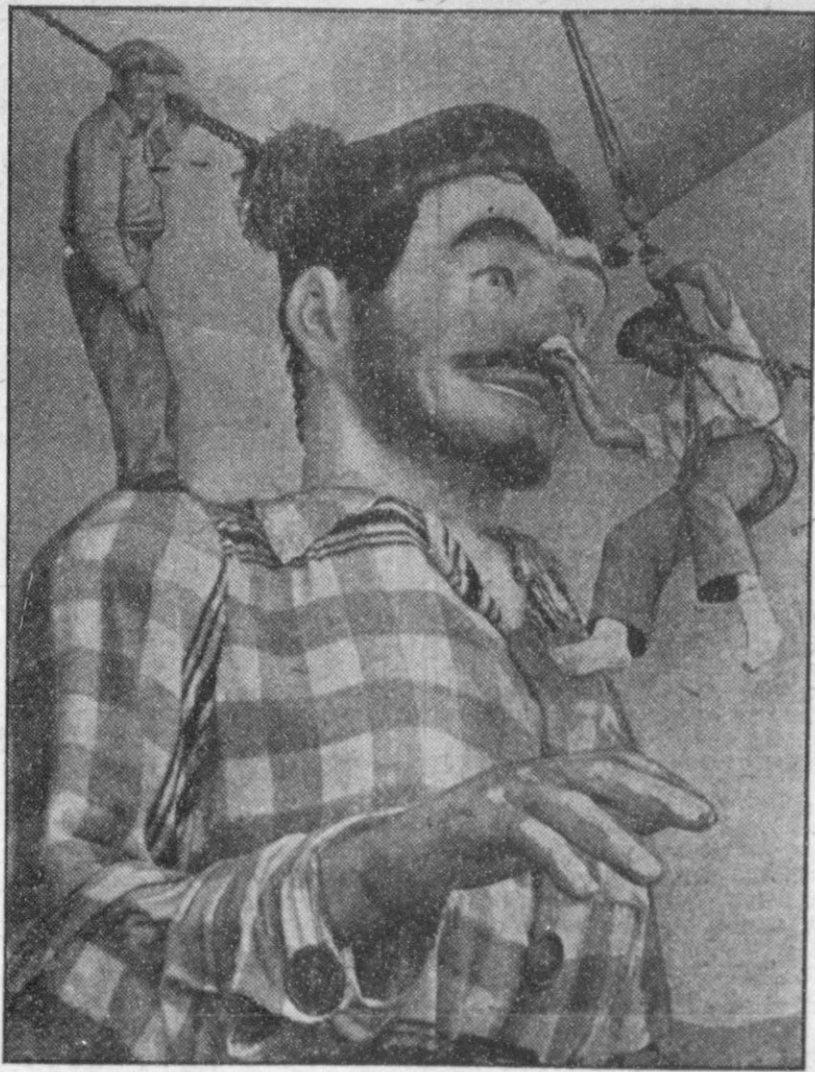

The implication, which was obvious to practically all readers, is that a number of youngsters here are flirting with death and ought to start thinking about the possible consequences of their antics.

One of the fellows concerned had a different attitude. He complained that the column has no right to make remarks about his driving, and furthermore he intends to continue driving just the way he wants to. He has an idea that as long as some duly authorized officer does not stop him, it is nobody's business but his own what he does with a car.

Aside from the fact that he has completely overlooked the main issue, which is the possible injury to himself and others he seems to be unaware that wild driving definitely is somebody's business besides his own. It happens to be everybody's business. He's a hazard to everybody's safety and a law-breaker, too.

In case the fellow still hasn't figured a way out of his mental fog, let's consider a hypothetical case on reckless driving. Suppose he decides to cut a few automotive capers that are plainly dangerous to himself and others. Suppose also that he's reported by a witness. Does he think a court is going to ignore the complaint? He knows he's going to be summoned and he also knows that if he fails to appear for trial the court will send duly authorized officers after him. And if he thinks just a little he knows what the verdict will be after a few witnesses describe his capers.

Cops or no cops, a person can be prosecuted for reckless driving. And if our misguided friend still thinks that he's immune as long as Muenster has no officer to catch him, it's high time for MAJOR PROJECT—Wiping Paul Bunyan's nose is no easy task, as shown by these workmen putting the finishing touches on the giant figure set up at the Chicago Railroad Fair. This replica of the mythical hero of the Northwest has movable arms, head, eyes and mouth. He'll spin tall tales of his exploits with Babe, the Blue Ox, by means of a hidden recording device.

Proclamation Favors New Church Benefit

In a proclamation issued this week, Mayor John J. Hoffman designated Sunday, July 3, as a day of special observance and cooperation to help make the parish bazaar and dinner a successful event.

The proclamation requests that the few business houses which normally remain open Sunday close at 1 p.m. so that all activity can center at the parish grounds where a benefit program will be held for the new Sacred Heart church building fund.

Fourth Will Bring Death or Injury to A Thousand Texans

The Fourth of July celebration will bring death or injury to a thousand Texans.

Nine hundred will be hurt in traffic accidents during the long week-end from Saturday through Monday. Twenty seven will be killed in auto accidents. A dozen will be drowned. Twenty five will die as suicides or murder victims. Fifteen more will die in plane crashes, fires, and other accidents, that's a total of 79 violent deaths.

These predictions were announced today by Chas. A. Miller, President of the Texas Safety Association, following a holiday accident-prevention conference with officials of the Texas Department of Public Safety.

"Speed, more than anything else, will account for the traffic fatalities," Miller said. Emphasizing that extra caution is needed to overcome holiday hazards created by heavy traffic, Miller pointed out that speed control is the personal responsibility of each driver.

"Safe speeds," he declared, "have little if any relationship to legal speed limits. You are permitted to drive 60 miles an hour on an open highway in the daytime, but only if the road is in good condition, traffic is sparse, weather clear, driver and car in good condition, and so on. When a hazard occurs, the smart driver compensates for it. The stupid driver doesn't. And that's why we bury so many stupid drivers."

Since traffic law violations will be involved in virtually all the fatal accidents occurring during the holiday period, Miller said, the Texas Highway Patrol and local traffic officers are expected to be out in full force in an effort to hold down on accidents with strict enforcement.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Fisher Sr. left Tuesday for an extended trip that will include visits with her relatives in northern states and with the Charles Taylor family in Dayton, Ohio; attendance at the first mass of Rev. Gerald Tobin in Grand Rapids, Mich., and a visit to St. Anne's Shrine in Canada.

Carl Herr of Pilot Point was here Monday for a visit with his mother, Mrs. Fred Herr Sr. and family.

"Rose Marie" Will Show Next Week at Starlight Operetta

A gala production of Rudolf Friml's "Rose Marie," one of the best singing shows ever written, will be the Starlight Operetta's second offering of the season, opening in the State Fair Casino, Dallas, for one week beginning Monday evening, July 4.

Keeping pace with the high musical standard of "Rose Marie," the Starlight is bringing to Dallas for their first Southwestern appearance two of the finest singers to be heard on Broadway in recent seasons — John Raitt, singing star of the Theatre Guild's production of "Carousel," and Marion Bell, star of the highly acclaimed musical, "Brigadoon."

Comedy scenes also will be in excellent hands with this department entrusted to Buster West, an accomplished veteran of stage and screen, and Imogene Coca, one of the drollest performers on the American stage. Miss Coca has been seen in numerous Broadway revues and is now one of the comedy stars of the Admiral television revue, foremost of network T-V shows.

Starlight patrons throughout the Southwest have been eagerly awaiting "Rose Marie," which boasts more than its share of song hits that seem to gain in popularity through the years. Among the favorite musical numbers from the show are "Indian Love Call," "Totem Tom-Tom," "Rose Marie," "My Jim," and "Hard Boiled Herman."

The story, a robust tale of the rugged Northwest, is replete with intrigue and adventure, trappers, Mounties, and Indians, against a background which ranges from the Canadian Rockies to the elaborate ballroom of a Montreal hotel. A feature of the settings will be an enormous totem pole to be employed in a picturesque ballet number.

Health Department Credits Rat Control For Typhus Decrease

AUSTIN — The people of Texas have been fortunate in escaping serious outbreaks of typhus fever this year, the total number of reported cases so far being 133. This is a gratifying decrease in the incidence of this disease, but at the same time, it is well to warn that only continued stringent rodent-control measures will hold this disease in check.

This is the advice of Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, who says that "typhus is one of the most debilitating of all diseases, and the long drawn out illness results in such loss of time that this factor is usually even more expensive to the victim, than his doctor and hospital bills."

Inasmuch as typhus fever is transmitted to man by the rat flea, the control of typhus depends almost entirely upon ridding ourselves of rats.

Harvest Continues After 2 Day Delay For .70 Inch Rain

After a two day delay because of last Friday's .70 inch rain Muenster farmers are back on the job of harvesting their 1949 crop failure. Combines have been grinding steadily since Monday and by Wednesday it appeared that practically all of them will finish the season by the end of the week. Most threshers are also running and, if weather permits, are expected to finish their work next week.

Scattered reports from farmers this week indicate that the community wheat yield is slightly above the 4 bushels per acre reported last week.

According to information received at the Morrison elevator the average is probably 5 or 6 bushels per acre.

Previous reports on the test are unchanged, however. The quality of grain itself is good but it has an exceptionally high content of weed and grass seeds.

Notes On Soil Conservation

The Muenster Work Unit of the Soil Conservation Service recently staked off farm ponds for Frank Trubenbackk, Bernie Wolf and Alfred Bayer. Terrace lines have been staked for Frank Schilling.

A diversion terrace line has been staked on the E. McWilliams farm, operated by Fred Hoedebeck northeast of Muenster. The diversion terrace will keep hill water from damaging a bottom-land field.

J. C. Donnell and the Harwell brothers at Hardy have worked out their conservation farm plans and have signed a cooperative agreement with the Upper Elm-Red Soil Conservation District. The farm plans in each case are similar. The pasture land is a west cross timbers soil and is best suited for production of the native tall grasses. Small bottom land fields will be protected from hill water with diversion terraces and will be cropped with vetch, sweet clover and alfalfa for temporary pasture. The temporary pasture will be used to obtain deferment on the native grass during the summer. A summer deferment in the native grass will increase forage production on it.

When the native grasses have covered the ground with a grass mulch, rainfall will penetrate the soil to the extent that runoff will be negligible. The rainfall can be used to keep the grass green and won't be running off carrying soil with it.

Z. D. Wylie and W. H. Webb, near Hardy are working out their conservation farm plans. They should have them completed and on a plan map by the end of this week.

PLUMBING PROSPECTOR—Plumbing Contractor Wesley R. Collins displays a small quantity of gallium, a mercury-like metal worth $3000 an ounce, which he found while digging a swimming pool near Costa Mesa, Calif. It is so scarce that only four pounds of it were mined last year. Collins says he now has about $5000 worth of the metal. He has also found gold and uranium in the excavation.

Pastors Introduce Five O'Clock Mass For Early Birds

Beginning next Sunday the first mass in Sacred Heart church on Sunday and holy days will begin at 5 o'clock, according to an announcement made by the pastors last Sunday. The change in schedule was made to accommodate persons whose work schedule was delayed by the later mass.

At the same time the pastors will discontinue the 6 o'clock mass in the school chapel. Its purpose was to relieve some of the congestion in the church and the earlier mass is expected to serve the same purpose.

The present schedule lists masses for 5, 6, 8 and 10, all in the church.

Ted Probst of St. Jo Buys Texaco Station

Effective last week end Ted Probst of Saint Jo became the new owner and operator of the Texaco station at the intersection of Highway 82 and Main Street.

A native of Grayson county, Probst moved to Saint Jo three years ago and has operated a Texaco station continuously until last week when he sold out to buy the local station from Andy Harrison. He and his family will continue to live in Saint Jo until they can make a satisfactory change of quarters.

Biggest Event Yet Planned as Church Benefit on July 3

Divided into two programs, one for Sunday afternoon and night, the other for Monday night, Muenster's annual observance of Independence Day is planned to be the biggest and best of its kind ever held here.

An array of games and novel entertainment features, a chicken dinner, an auction sale and a dance are the banner attractions. All proceeds will go into the new church building fund.

The big event will start Sunday, July 3, at 1 p.m. with the biggest parish carnival ever offered for local enjoyment. A chicken dinner, beginning at five, will supplement the bazaar attractions, and entertainment features will continue during the night hours, closing with a big auction sale. Dick Cain will be auctioneer.

The parish grounds adjoining the parish hall are taking on a new look this week with the erection of booths and concession stands. All activity Sunday will take place out of doors with the exception of the dinner and barbecue which will be served in the parish hall.

With the local pastors in charge of the overall management of the two-day program, members of the four parish societies, the Catholic Daughters and the Knights of Columbus are all cooperating by giving of their time and efforts toward the success of the event.

Monday's program will consist of a double attraction in the K of C hall... dancing on the main floor and games and lunches in the basement.

PLAN ATLAS OF THE SKY—Dr. Edwin P. Hubble, well-known U. S. astronomer, puts the unique 48-inch Schmidt photographic telescope through its final series of rehearsals at Mt. Palomar, Calif., preparatory to a four-year astronomical mapping project. The survey will provide the first definitive photo atlas of the heavens. The Schmidt telescope, which covers a wide area, will operate in conjunction with the famed 200-inch Hale instrument. It would take the 200-inch telescope 5000 years to cover the same ground. Scientists expect to be kept busy for 50 years or more examining the results of the Schmidt survey.

1,500 GRASSHOPPERS FOUND PER YARD IN WYOMING NEST

SHERIDAN, Wyo.—A ground party lining up targets for the government grasshopper bombing fleet Wednesday reported a nesting area with a population of 1,500 hoppers to the square yard.

Leo Iverson of the United States Department of Agriculture made the discovery just before poison-laden planes began taking off from Wyoming and Montana bases for all-out war against the hungry insects. His report was greeted with amazement by USDA experts who are directing the aerial campaign from headquarters here. They had seen lots of grasshoppers in plague years but never anything like that. In most of the "critical" areas where the planes will scatter poisoned bran, the hopper population is 30 to 200 to the yard. Even that many may indicate that a plague is just around the corner.

Elsie Fuhrman and Gilbert Endres Wed In 2-ring Ceremony

Miss Elsie Fuhrman became the bride of Gilbert Endres Tuesday morning in a pretty ceremony in Sacred Heart church at 8 o'clock. Rev. Herman Laux officiated at the double ring service and at the nuptial high mass.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Fuhrman and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Endres.

Anthony Luke, organist, played the wedding marches and presided at the organ to accompany the church choir in singing the Gregorian chant mass. White gladioli and daisies adorned the altar before which the vows were exchanged.

Given in marriage and escorted to the altar by her father the bride was lovely in a simple princess gown of white organdy over taffeta. Designed with a slim fitted bodice, round ruffled neck line and petal point sleeves, the dress featured an extremely full floor length double skirt edged with a ruffle of the same material. The bride's flowers were white Calla glads with a shower of white satin ribbon tied in love knots, carried on top of her white prayer book. Her only jewelry was a diamond studded gold cross and chain, a gift from the groom. For something blue she carried a rosary she received from her late paternal grandmother and something old and borrowed was a lace kerchief that her mother carried at her wedding 28 years ago.

Attending the couple were Mrs. Val Fuhrman, sister of the groom, and Bill Fuhrman, brother of the bride. Mrs. Fuhrman wore a dress of pink organdy made identical to the bride's. She wore a half hat of white Esther Read daises and carried a colonial bouquet of the same flowers showered with pink satin ribbon.

Mothers of the couple both wore grey silk crepe costumes with grey and white accessories and shoulder corsages of rose carnations.

Arthur Endres and Robert Kupper were ushers and Jerry Fuhrman, Bobby Fuhrman of Lindsay, Ray and Gene Luke and Ronald Herr were acolytes.

After the church rites members of the bridal party and their parents were guests for breakfast in the home of the groom's brother-in-law and sister, the Robert Kuppers. The table was covered with a lace cloth and held an arrangement of white dahlias and pink Newport hollyhocks.

The parish hall was the scene of other events of the day. At noon immediate members of both families were guests for dinner and at 5 o'clock an informal reception was held, followed by a buffet supper. About 100 guests registered in the bride's book at which the bride's twin sisters, Misses Rosalie and Coralee Fuhrman presided.

The bride's table carried out the white and pink theme. Cover-a shop here and more recently managed a shop in Saint Jo.

T. Miller has a new Dodge pick-up.

A pre-nuptial courtesy honored the bride on June 21 when Mmes. Val Fuhrman and Urban Endres entertained in the former's home with a miscellaneous shower. A progressive 42 series entertained the guests and the hostesses served an ice course to 25.

Washington Newsletter

By Congressman Ed Gossett.

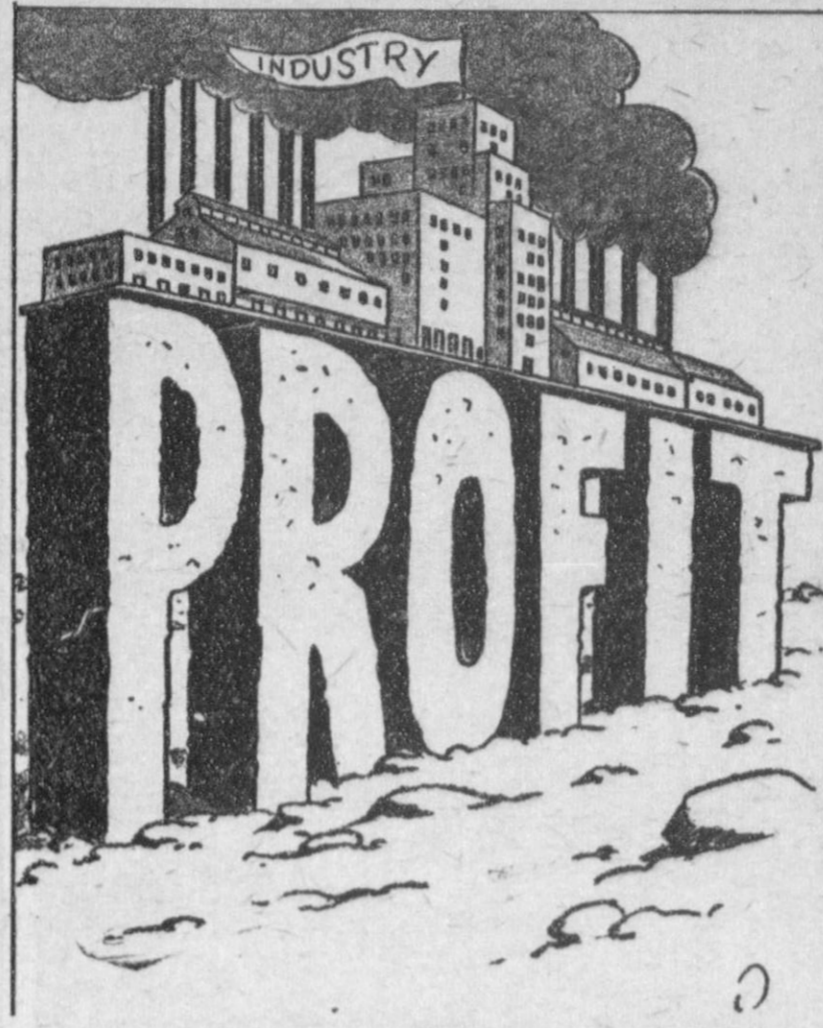

Washington, D. C., June 24—Among those who listened to my recent speech delivered to a Conference of Rural Women of the State of Maryland, was a German Countess by the name of Eltz. She is one of a group of 60 Germans brought over here by our military government to study American life and habits. Recently the American Military Government has inaugurated a program of bringing groups of Germans here to learn of American ideals. If trying to Americanize Europeans is a good thing, this seems to be a better way than sending Americans over there for such purpose.

However, our point is this: Following my speech, Countess Eltz came to my office to commend my views and to tell me more of the terrible problem of the expellees. At the Yalta Conference in February, 1945 Mr. Roosevelt had as his confidential adviser, Mr. Alger Hiss, now on trial for aiding communists while a member of our State Department. Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Stalin at that time entered into a secret agreement authorizing the expulsion of German people from areas occupied and controlled by the Russians. This agreement was later ratified and confirmed in Potsdam, in August 1945, by Mr. Truman. Had Mr. Roosevelt been in the vigor of good health, he would not have listened to such bad advice at Yalta. Had Mr. Truman not been so new in the game of international diplomacy, he probably would not have agreed to the Yalta compact at Potsdam. At any rate, as a result of our agreement, the Russians and their satellites behind the iron curtain forcibly drove out and expelled from their homes approximately 20 million German people. Most of these people were farmers. In many instances, the lands from which they were driven had been in the hands of their folks for a thousand years. They were driven from Yugoslavia, Rumania, Hungary, Poland, East Prussia, Czechoslovakia, and the Baltic countries. Bear in mind this was done after the shooting was all over. Most of it occurred in the winter of 1945. Around 5 million of these people died in a few months, of starvation, disease, and from freezing to death. Trains manned by Russian and Polish troops, and by satellite mercenaries were often in route for weeks, with people crammed like sardines into every available car. Soldiers would go through the trains and throw the bodies of frozen children, and others, through the windows. There are still around 14 million of these expellees who were dumped into the American and British military zones in which 1-3 of all the housing had been destroyed. They live in caves and hovels, under indescribable conditions. In the vast majority of cases, the only crime of which these people had been guilty was that of being German-Ethnic origin. Under the IRO Constitution, people of German-Ethnic origin cannot be classified as displaced persons.

The Morgenthau plan announced about a year before the war was over was also a colossal blunder. It too, was sold to an ailing President who was not aware of its disastrous effects. The Morgenthau plan was one to destroy all German industry and to reduce Germany completely into an agricultural state. Some think the announcement of the Morgenthau plan prolonged the war many months and cost many American lives. When you add to the Morgenthau plan, the Yalta agreement you have most of the reasons for our terrible problems in Central Europe at this time. Under the Morgenthau plan, thousands of German factories have been completely torn down and moved into Russia. Now, we are trying to rebuild some of these industries as a means of providing a livelihood for people we cannot continue to feed and

The American Way

TAX DOLLARS HAVE NO PUPS

By Dr. Alfred P. Haake

Joseph and Pharaoh many years ago, took over the entire land of Egypt, lock, stock and barrel, with a tax of twenty percent followed by a seven-year depression. England is now paying more than forty percent of her national income to government in taxes for services which could be rendered better and at less cost under our own American Way. Even Sir Stafford-Cripps recently admitted that England has gone as far as she can in redistributing incomes and wealth and must now go to work and produce more if the people want more.

What will happen to our own United States with a national debt of more than a quarter trillion dollars and taxes that absorb more than thirty percent of our national income? It is not a pretty picture. We could shut our eyes to it and refuse to recognize the warnings of history, in ancient Rome or Modern England. Or we can face the facts fearlessly and, perhaps, still save our American Way by bringing government and taxes back to the people.

Some people seem to think also as a means of combating communism.

Following my Maryland speech, I received a letter from a student in the University of Maryland who is a Lithuanian and a veteran of World War II. He, too, agrees with my views that we are rewarding many undesirable persons while ignoring many desirable ones. He points out that many Lithuanians in our DP camps were members of the Nazi SS, and carried out mass programs against the Jews. Says he, "they are not anti-communists but war criminals who are not wanted back home." He is supported by abundant evidence.

We continue to listen to sob stories and to shed crocodile tears about a half million so-called DP's whom we continue to feed, clothe, and house. No one tells the story of the expellees.

when we send a dollar to Washington it has pups on the way. Exactly the opposite is true. The dollar you send to Washington shrinks on the way, loses weight in Washington and still more on the way back. You are lucky if the benefits you get from Washington amount to as much as half what they cost in taxes.

Many people fail to see that, because they think that somebody else is sending the dollars to Washington, and they don't care much, even though the dollars are inefficiently spent, so long as they are not sending them. Well, their own turn is bound to come, and then someone else gets their dollars, cut in two.

So much of our national income is already going for the cost of government that we do not have enough dollars to invest in the tools and machinery which we need to maintain and increase the productivity of industry.

Productivity is the source of higher standards of living, and cost of government is the chief enemy to national prosperity.

There are two ways to reduce the cost of government. First, we can reduce the functions and services of Federal Government, especially those which should never have been taken away from local government in the first place. During the past 35 years the share of all tax money going to Federal Government has increased more than 2½ times, while the share for local government has fallen to about one fourth of what it was.

The other way to reduce the cost of government is to get more for the tax dollar by spending it at home. The closer the spending of the taxes is kept to the people who pay the taxes, the more you get for your tax money. The further away you send the money and the control of its spending, the less you get for your money.

That's why we ought to increase the share of the total taxes which goes to local government, where we get most for our dollars, — and why we should decrease the share which goes to Federal Government, where we get the least for our dollars. In local government, the people who spend

THE LOW DOWN FROM HICKORY GROVE

Sure is funny how we put up with the antics of Uncle Sambo. The old boy used to be quite a dignified, responsible kind of geezer. But now look at him — a foot in every door almost. And instead of setting us an example in thrift and industry, he is out there with his coat off, chasing rain-bows. Wants to be the guy to fix everything — show the electric fellows how to turn the lights on and off — to say how much to pay down on a washing machine — how full to fill the corn crib and the kind of padlock on the door — and what kind of bed in the hospital — and what kind of hospital — who is to yank an abscessed molar and at how much for each and when he will do it. If this nation was made up of 2-year olds only, Sambo could be no busier looking after us. I figure it is okay and all right for the Govt. to keep a weather eye peeled and sort of look out for some of us more or less lame and halt — be kind of an umpire and referee — but for the Govt. to go a la Europe — socialistic, like it is leaning now, we are not going to come to any good end. It would sure be nice reading to wake up some morning and find that Congress has a halt — and is closing up shop and coming home. That would be champion.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Now I'm Going Back To High School!

When I saw lights burning in the High School auditorium last night, I looked in to see what went on. About twenty people were listening to Buzz Ellis, the electrician, talk about television.

I slipped into a back seat and asked Hap Thomas what was up. Hap told me it was the new Self-Improvement Club. I stayed to listen—and learned a lot. Buzz really knows his stuff.

Turns out this club meets every Friday night. Each member gives a talk on the subject he knows most about. I joined on the spot because learning new things is one of my favorite hobbies.

From where I sit, it's willingness to learn from the other person that makes Americans tolerant towards so many different viewpoints and tastes in things. Just because Buzz Ellis goes for chocolate malteds, while I prefer a mellow glass of beer, doesn't mean I'm right and he's wrong. Incidentally, next week I'm going to talk on how to run a newspaper.

Where's the Old-Fashioned Fourth?

What ever happened to that good, old-time holiday when we used to watch the brightly uniformed band stride up Main Street playing a Sousa march, with the red-faced tuba player bringing up the rear? What ever became of those baseball games they used to play under the blazing sun, with a keg of beer on third base as standard equipment? Why don't we hear those speeches any more — those stirring orations sonorously proclaiming "the glory that is America" — before a straw-hatted crowd, while the kids played tag and drank too much lemonade? And the fireworks that used to produce a chorus of "a-a-ah's" — they, too, have paled. For the Fourth of July parades and ball games can be seen on television; an automobile radio gives you a choice of oratory as you speed toward a cool resort. Skyrockets are insignificant compared to a war movie. No, the "Glorious Fourth" just ain't what it used to be.

Typhus Decrease--

garbage should be left exposed where they can get to it to feed. Granaries and feed houses should be rat-proofed—so that rats are starved out. All rat harbors such as trash piles, piles of old lumber, accessible quarters in the walls and foundations of buildings and other suitable living quarters should be denied them. Houses and business buildings can be effectively rat-proofed at a comparatively low cost, and the expense is always much less than the damage that can be done by rats, and the sickness they can spread.

"When the rat is gone typhus fever will go also", Dr. Cox said. "Keep building out, starving out, and killing all rats and typhus fever will no longer menace the health of our people."

Rev. Henry Riek of Sentinel, Okla., cousin of the bride, performed the ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a wedding gown of white organdy and lace, an organdy veil and lace mitts and carried a bouquet of pink roses.

Attending the bride were Rose Marie Wilson of Gainesville, Nina McDermott of Abilene, and Hazel Turnham, sister of the groom. Alfred Turnham was best man for his brother.

Confetti---

him to brush a few cobwebs off his gray matter. His viewpoint is about as reasonable as that of the burgler or stick-up man who thinks he's immune if an officer did not catch him in the act.

By way of a little more wisening up, the column invites further attention to the fact that a defiant attitude on the part of wild drivers may possibly provoke Muenster citizens to take some drastic steps. Suppose a few dozen people decided to report every case of recklessness. The automotive cut-ups would soon discover that they're paying dearly for their antics.
