

MUENSTER ENTERPRISE

VOLUME XIV

MUENSTER, COOKE COUNTY, TEXAS, APRIL 7, 1950

NUMBER 20

All over town this week business houses are displaying little placards advising that the place will be closed this Friday in observance of Good Friday. Elsewhere in this issue is a proclamation by Mayor Hoffman urging residents of the city to suspend normal activity and spend the three hour period in reverent tribute to Him Who observed the first Good Friday by sacrificing His life for the redemption of mankind.

No person who professes to be a Christian can conscientiously ignore the significance of this day. Just to believe that it is the day commemorating Christ's supreme sacrifice to atone for the sins of mankind is sufficient reason to set it aside as a day of special devotion. It is absurd to think that any reasonable person should accept the fact of his re-instatement in the favor of Almighty God, especially at the price that was paid, without experiencing a profound sense of appreciation toward the Supreme Benefactor who merited the re-instatement. Good Friday is the anniversary of that event and it should properly be set aside by every Christian for a fitting commemoration.

It is not this column's purpose to infringe on the domain of organized religion. No attempt is made here to convince the unbeliever that Christ died to open the way to eternal salvation. But assuming that the fact is established the column assumes also that anyone who pretends to accept the teaching but does not observe Good Friday with fitting reverence is a shabby specimen of ungrateful manhood. To measure by earthly standards, let's say it is inconceivable that a creature should begrudge a few hours of his time for the eternity that God has given him.

Serious thought along that line leads to the inevitable conclusion a Christian has plenty of reason to be mindful of Good Friday every hour of every day. It's really that important, hence the logical Christian course of life is one which is always in harmony with the spirit of Good Friday. Temporal interests that cannot be fitted into the pattern are obviously out of line.

On this Good Friday as we take time out to think about Calvary and its significance we would do well to direct our thoughts also to the subject of our own compliance with the spirit of the Cross. Does the pattern of our personal lives harmonize with the principles laid down by the Victim of Good Friday? After all, that is the acid test of Christianity. And unless we can stand the test we have no right to hope for either the eternal or the temporal blessings Christ pointed out for us.

A few simple facts are self evident. God created man and mapped out his temporal and eternal destiny. God also laid down the rules by which those destinies are to be attained and the only way man can reach them is to follow God's rules. This is plain common sense and it is obvious without benefit of revealed religion. But at the same time we must bear in mind that the rules of God are revealed to us through religion.

Once we're aware of such facts we can readily detect the source of much of our present strife and agitation. When less than half of this nation claims affiliation with any religion, is there any mystery about some of its problems? Too many follow their own rules instead of the only set that will work, those prescribed by God. And when one of the world's most powerful nations openly proclaims there is no such thing as a Divine rule-maker, is there any mystery about its violations of human rights and civilized standards?

Solutions to all these problems are possible in the spirit of Good Friday. Fortunately, the solutions to private problems are also possible there. And thanks to Infinite Wisdom it is possible for individuals as well

About 500 Attend Formal Opening of New Relax Theatre

Approximately 500 visitors came, saw and approved last Sunday as F. E. Schmitz held the formal opening of his new Relax theatre.

Starting at 1 o'clock many streamed in and out of the building until the first show at 3:30 and many more combined their inspection visit with their attendance at the day's picture. Most of them registered but dozens declined to stand in line awaiting their turn at the book.

Favorable comment was profuse and can be summarized as a statement of thanks from the community to F. E. Schmitz for adding a great improvement to the city's appearance and its movie pleasure. Many a person made remarks to the effect that Muenster would be transformed into a really fine city if the Relax standard were matched all up and down the street.

Approval of other qualities of the building were equally enthusiastic. By the dozens patrons expressed their pleasure over the clearness of projection and sound and unobstructed visibility.

As people entered the lobby they found it literally crowded with floral congratulations. Pot flowers or bouquets of cut flowers were sent by about 20 individuals and firms of Muenster and Gainesville.

The register book contained about a dozen special pages of tributes and headings from organizations and business firms of the community.

News Of Sick And Injured

Joe Hess is back at home, feeling improved, after spending 10 days in Veterans hospital in McKinney for treatment of a leg ailment.

Sylvan Walterscheid is absent from classes this week on account of mumps.

Rev. Richard Eveld, chaplain at Spohn Hospital in Corpus Christi, is a patient there since suffering a heart attack early on April 1st. He was placed in an oxygen tent and was responding to treatment, according to word reaching here this week.

Henry Grewing is back at his home recovering nicely from surgery performed last week at Gainesville sanitarium.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed McKinney are confined to their home with mumps. Their two young sons have just recovered from mumps and are back at school.

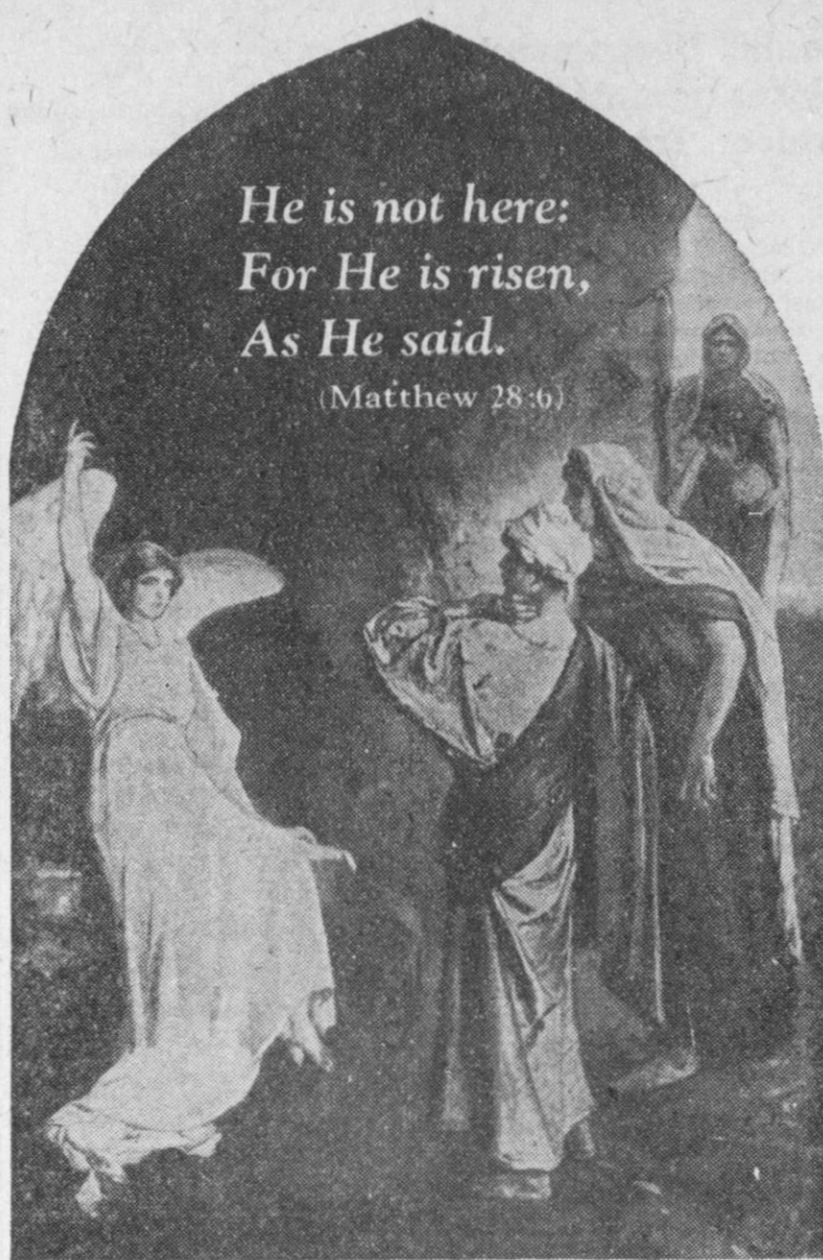

Mrs. Mary Schmitz of Wichita Falls is confined to Bethania Hospital in that city suffering from a knee infection and will be a patient for about a week, according to her daughter, Mrs. C.A. Fisher, who with her husband, visited at her mother's bedside Tuesday.

District Returns Lawson and Clayton As School Trustees

By comfortable majorities E.S. Lawson and C. G. Clayton were given another term on the Muenster school board at the annual election of trustees held last Saturday. The result of the tally was 115 for Lawson, 108 for Clayton and 8 for C. M. Walterscheid. 120 ballots were cast in all.

In the race for trustee at large on the county school board J. G. Biffle won over R. L. Adams by 106 to 11. Biffle also defeated his opponent in the total county vote to retain his place on the county board.

John Hoffman this week took over his new duties as official supervisor of the Cooke County Dairy Herd Improvement Association. He completed a course at A&M College last week which qualifies him for that work and also qualifies him to make official tests in herd improvement registry.

He is not here:
For He is risen,
As He said.

DUST STORM AFTERMATH—Albert Brabander digs out a culvert on his father's farm near Shawnee, Kan., after recent dust storms swept over the land. When the winds abated, loose soil like this was deposited like minor snowdrifts over many Midwestern farms, causing damage to crops which is still not fully estimated. Weather Bureau and Department of Agriculture officials admit that nature may be setting the stage for storms which could match the disastrous "Dust Bowl" days of the Thirties.

Drivers Beware! Hazard May Not Be Marked by Flares

Automobile drivers are reminded to be alert in the vicinity of sewer installation work or any other place where digging is in progress across the city streets.

Steve Moster, water and sewer superintendent discloses there have been several times lately when street obstructions were not properly marked by flares. The reason is that some flares have been extinguished and some have been kicked into the ditches.

He further explained that the incidents were not caused by wind or accident, that some wicks were filled with dirt and obviously had been put out that way . . . also that no flares are so near to the edge of the ditch that they can tumble over accidentally.

Accordingly Moster warns drivers to bear in mind that danger spots may not be guarded by warning flares. Meanwhile he asks parents of energetic youngsters to do what they can about correcting this current hazardous prank.

Muenster Re-elects Seyler and Wieler As City Aldermen

In a quiet election Tuesday the citizens of Muenster voted to retain Ben Seyler and John Wieler on the city council for two more years.

The day's tally as revealed at the close of the polls showed Seyler as winner over David Trachta by a count of 52 to 25. Wieler, who was uncontested on the ticket lost one write-in vote to Frank Kaiser.

The total number of ballots cast was 78.

Parochial Seniors To Present Class Play Next Friday

"American Passport" is going into its final rehearsals with seniors of Sacred Heart High school adding the finishing touches for presentation of the three-act comedy drama in the New Relax Theatre next Friday night, April 14. Sister M. Theresina, O.S.B., is directing the production.

According to members of the cast, the play promises entertainment for both children and adults. Troubles, laughs, politics, romance and various complications combine to make the story one of the best ever offered by local home talent.

Melvin Herr and Verena Henschel as Edward and Bertha Hamilton are parents of teenage Judy, Regina Htnscheid; 21-year old Dick, Ronald Herr; and lovable little 12-year-old Louella, Pauline Mages.

Others in the cast, all closely associated with the Hamilton family, are Bernice Reiter as Sybil Jennings who is fond of Dick; Willard Hartman as Bill Wilson who carries the torch for Judy; Florence Fette as Aunt Jen who has money; Joe Moster as Mr. Craig, a business man who does the hiring and firing; and Dolores Gremminger as Mrs. Schwartz, a neighbor who gets "very upset" over her neighbors' business.

Officers of the society extend a general invitation to all members of the parish to join the adoration at any hour.

PTA Will Sponsor Easter Monday Party

The annual Easter Monday observance this year will consist of a picnic-bazaar in the church basement from 1:30 to 7 p.m. and a dance in the K of C hall at night.

Members of the Sacred Heart school P-TA, sponsors of the events, disclosed this week that a variety of entertainment and food is on the program, with special fun for children, and invite everybody to attend.

The Harmony Boys from Gainesville will play for the dance. Proceeds from the benefit will go in the P-TA treasury to secure a movie projector for the school.

Muenster Donates $488 to Red Cross; Tops Quota by $13

Last day enthusiasm pushed this community's 1950 Red Cross drive over the top with $13 to spare.

When the report was published in last week's Enterprise that the campaign, with one day to go was about $6 short of the quota three persons took it upon themselves to see that the community would get over the top. Their efforts boosted the closing figures to $488.

The final list of contributors submitted to the Enterprise is as follows:

E. S. Lawson and Dennis Bros. $7.65; Mrs. Jess Mitchell, $3; Mrs. R. N. Fette, $2; Ralph Maglaughlin, $2; and Paul Endres, E. M. Helton, Lena Kleiss M. H. Grammer, Ed Cler and A.T. Hoehn each $1. J. M. Russell, $5.

Editors Organize To Help Promote Soil Conservation

Another step in organizing a systematic promotion of soil conservation in the Upper Elm-Red district was taken Tuesday night when all editors and radio managers of the district were guests of the district board of supervisors at a dinner and meeting at the Turner Hotel in Gainesville.

The direct result was the formation of an association similar to that recently formed by district bankers in a meeting here. Its purpose, also similar to that of the bankers, is to cooperate with district supervisors in promoting more intensive conservation interest in the district.

Members are the newspapers of Sherman, Gainesville, Whitesboro, Muenster, Saint Jo, Nocona, Bowie and Forestburg and the radio stations of Gainesville and Sherman.

Objectives of the organization are to publish at least one special edition on soil conservation a year, to publicize notable developments.

He will have the honored place in the parade, will be honorary ringmaster at the opening performance of the circus and will speak at a luncheon of the combined civic clubs of Gainesville on the Round-up opening day.

PTA Considers Plan To Buy Projector

A discussion on ways and means to raise funds for a movie projector dominated the business session of the Public School PTA meeting held Tuesday night in the K of C hall. Final plans concerning the nature and time of the benefit will be announced within the next week or two.

As an entertainment feature

Health Department Warns against Quack Cancer Treatments

AUSTIN, TEXAS — Deaths from cancer in Texas reached a total of 7271 during the past year, indicating that warning against cancer quacks and so-called cancer cures is justified by the State Health Department. Early diagnosis and competent treatment could have prevented many of these deaths, states Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

"There are but two ways of treating cancer. First, by surgery and second, by the use of radium or x-ray. Treatment must be started early and in the hands of a competent surgeon. Surgery is relied upon to remove cancer tumors and is used in nearly two-thirds of the cases. X-ray or radium is used to advantage for the remaining group. Frequently the two methods are combined. Self-medication, serums, colored lights, pastes, salves, and diets are valueless.

"The great protection against cancer is early diagnosis. Every case is an emergency and it is unfortunate that the majority of those with cancer do not seek medical advice early in the first stages of the disease. No hope should be placed in fake cancer cures or treatments. Rather, the annual physical examination and an immediate reporting to your physician of any symptoms which may be suspected to be the beginning of cancer should be relied upon. These symptoms are: any unusual bleeding from any body opening, any lump in the breast or other part of the body, any persistent sore, particularly on the face or mouth, and chronic indigestion. These conditions may not be cancer, but sometimes they are forerunners of the more common types of this disease. Where cancer is suspected, do not delay, but consult your physician at once."

Bell at Cuero Had Eventful Century

This is the story of a historic bell, told by Harry Putnam of the Cuero Record:

The bell originally was used on the steamer Reliance to sound the hours and to herald the approach of the little vessel into the harbor. It was in the summer of 1856 that the Reliance glided into the port of Indianola, then a thriving city on the Gulf coast of Texas. That night, fire broke out aboard the ship and it was destroyed, the bell going down with the charred hulk.

Lutherans of Indianola obtained permission from the ship's owners to try to salvage the bell, which was done, and it was placed in the steeple of the Lutheran Church.

In 1864, three Union gunboats bombarded Indianola and captured the city. Supplies were seized and soldiers climbed into the belfry and tossed the bell to the ground. Then it was carried to the beach to be shipped north to be made into bullets.

But, that night, members of the congregation, after obtaining permission from their pastor, slipped down to the beach, loaded the bell on a wheelbarrow, pushed it to a wagon and, after a journey, it was buried under the sand.

A terrible storm swept down on Indianola in 1875 and, when a second disaster struck in 1886, the survivors decided to move inland and Indianola was abandoned. Many went to Cuero and when the Lutheran congregation built a church and it was found there was not enough money with which to buy a bell, George Wasserman told of helping to bury the bell 25 years before and offered to act as guide in its recovery. He led a party to the spot and the bell was dug up, and found to be only slightly tarnished.

It was placed in the steeple of Saint Mark's Church, where it remained until 1894 when a member presented the church with a larger bell and the old one was used by the Cuero volunteer fire department. New equipment was installed in 1913 and the bell was consigned to the scrap pile.

Here it was discovered, some years later, by Joe Pannen, a member of the congregation. At his suggestion it was returned to the church as a gift and the old bell now hangs in the steeple of the handsome Saint Mark's Lutheran Church.

Have a Cook Book

Uncle Sam will contribute three thousand cook books to every Member of Congress. Therefore, every statesman should give every family in the Grass Roots a cook book. The Washington papers play up the story this week, and they stress the fact that every "Congressman should play Santa with his three thousand cook books." Connect with "Santa Claus" and your Congressman. Tell him that you really must have your cook book. He'll come across with pleasure. A unique feature of the book is that it doesn't mention two famous commodities, butter or margarine. When recipes require such items it calls them "cooking fat." The Congressional book has a chapter on diet with the caloric record of each food.

August and Anton Rosenberg visited here Thursday afternoon with friends. They were enroute to Arkansas after visiting in Corpus Christi.

Local FFA Officers And Guests Attend
Pilot Point Banquet

Officers of the local chapter FFA and their guests attended a banquet for the Denton District FFA in Pilot Point Tuesday night.

Each of the ten schools in the district was represented by the regular officers of the chapter, the vocational ag instructor, the school superintendent, and members of the school board.

The guest speaker for the evening was C. A. Morgan of the newly elected State Board of Education who is a member of the vocational education committee of the board.

In his address he urged the boys to take full advantage of the opportunities they have in school today and later when they take their place in society to stand on their own feet and not take the attitude that the world owes them a living. He also addressed a few words to teachers reminding them that they are expected to improve schools with the facilities they now have offered in the new Gilmer-Alken bill. Mr. Morgan is a lawyer by profession.

The meeting was held in the Pilot Point school lunch room and the meal was prepared and served by the Pilot Point FFA girls.

Attending from Muenster were Glenn Hellman, president of the local chapter; Emmett Walterscheid, vice president; Douglas Robinson, secretary; Wilfred Klement, reporter; Superintendent Weldon Cowan, Vocational Ag Instructor Ralph Maglaughlin, Herbert Meurer and Arthur Hellman.

WASHINGTON NEWSLETTER

By ED GOSSETT

WASHINGTON, D. C., Saturday, April 1, 1950 — This has been an exceedingly busy week in the House of Representatives. The leadership has been driving hard to get a number of items finished before the Easter recess which begins April 6 and lasts until April 18.

The most important bills passed in the House this week were the ECA (European Cooperation Administration) and so-called Kerr Gas Bill, the "Kerr" being Senator Bob Kerr of Oklahoma.

When the Gas Bill and the ECA Bill were finally voted upon yesterday, all Texas Members voted for both bills. This is a most unusual occurrence. I recall the fall of 1941 when the Selective Service Act was extended by a margin of 1 vote. At that time all Texans voted for the extension. As a matter of fact, most all Southern Members voted for the extension. While they make some mistakes, Southerners have always been in the forefront in trying to protect and defend the Nation.

Many of us voted for ECA, however, with great misgivings. I voted to cut this authorization by five hundred million dollars. We were defeated on this amendment by 12 votes. I then voted to cut the authorization by 250 million dollars, an amendment which carried by 4 or 5 votes. Then I, along with several other Texans, voted to strike from the bill Title 3. We were again defeated. Title 3 is the so-called "point 4 program" recommended by the President. Point 4 is a program designed to aid backward countries. Point 4 is not limited to the Marshall Plan, or any other particular plan. Under it we will send technicians to the backward areas of the earth to help teach modern methods of farming, new industrial techniques, etc. The part of this program which I especially distrust is the one which would guarantee certain foreign investments of Americans in such countries.

In my opinion we should not guarantee John Doe that he would not lose money when he builds a refinery in Pakistan. We certainly would not guarantee John Doe against such loss on the building of a refinery in the United States. While not a pessimist, I feel that our country could be destroyed through dissipation and infiltration, i.e., the dissipation of our resources and the infiltration of our country by political refugees. A few minutes ago a Colonel in the Army Air Forces came by to see me. He was telling me of the outrageous imposition upon American tolerance of the so-called DP program. He knew of a number of cases of criminals who have come here under the DP program. He gave me the name of an Hungarian doctor who was a notorious abortionist, but who came in with DP papers. Dozens of American officers have called on me with similar reports. However, their names cannot be used because they would be discharged from their positions for opposing this program.

The Gas Bill above referred to passed the House in a night session by a vote of 174 to 172. This is a good bill, notwithstanding a lot of propaganda put out by Drew Pearson, and a lot of others, against it. The bill simply spells out Congressional intent as to the functions and authority of the Federal Power Commission over the production and distribution of gas. The FPC has long had authority to regulate interstate transportation of gas. However, they have recently contended that they have authority to go into the States and regulate the gas business from the time it is found in the well until it is sold in the market. The bill which we have passed simply protects the rights of the States and of individuals within the States insofar as their local operations go.

It's another question of how far the Federal Government should go in the regulation of business, and to what extent they should interfere with State regulations.

THE POISON OF SECURITY

By Morton Clausen

In ancient feudal times there lived a Baron, greatly beloved by his subjects for his courage and justice.

Often beset upon by rival barons, seeking to annex his fertile lands, he was constantly forced to be on the alert. Because of their feeling toward their master, the subjects served him so well in combat that he was able to successfully defend his estates, adding to his holdings with the years, until he became so rich and powerful that none dared attack him. Peace reigned throughout the land.

The baron had twin sons, and he trained them in the virtues of valor, justice and fairness. His great aim was that some day they should rule the land in wisdom and with justice.

On the day of their maturity he called them to his side, noting with pleasure their strong erectness and clearness of eye, and to each he promised the fulfillment of their highest wish.

One son asked that he be allowed the security of peace and ease at his father's table. Now that the strenuous training of his youth was over, he wished to quietly enjoy the fruit of the land, unencumbered by discord and strife.

The other son asked that he be released from the custody of his home and father to seek the opportunity of adventure in living as he chose. To that end he was willing to yield all rights in the parental estate to his brother.

True to his promise, but with sadness in his heart, the baron granted his sons' wishes.

The years passed. The son who left to seek opportunity soon distinguished himself in the service of his king, and was given a barony of his own, which he enlarged through courage and wisdom until it became the greatest in the land. He, too, became beloved and revered by the people he ruled.

The son remaining at home, basking in ease and security, grew fat and indolent. After his father's death he became increasingly demanding upon his people to supply the wants of his riotous living. Rumors of dis-sension grew.

The ancient foes of the barony took heart, and war came. He sought to rally his subjects to the defense, but rich and secure living had robbed him of fire of leadership. Little by little his estates crumbled and, perhaps as a fitting climax, he lost his life at the hand of an oppressed and traitorous subject.

There is a lesson in this story for America. Are we, too, trading opportunity for security? Are we failing to realize that for every inch of gain in security, there is the loss of a foot of opportunity.

We need a strong nation and a strong people. But strength is seldom found in security, especially the kind paid for by others. The only security worth having is that which is carved out by the individual with his own hands and ingenuity in creating opportunities for self and others.

Too much security saps the strength and vitality of individuals and of a people, economically and morally. Already the security burden upon our nation—and increasingly upon industry—threatens to bog down our entire economic structure. It may bankrupt the nation, paralyze, and enslave the people.

Moreover, the poisonous acid of too much security is most devastatingly eating into the moral fabric of the individual. Man needs the tempering forces of insecurity to a certain degree to bring out the best in him and make him strong. True, the weak may succumb in the battle, but no people and nation ever survived by weakening the strong in order to protect the weak. The law of the survival of the fittest shall always remain one of the fundamentals of nature.

Too much security is making us a disgruntled people. Taxes are multiplying beyond endurance. Soon we shall be too economically weak to exploit our opportunities. Scarcities are spawning their kind in increasing quantities. Perhaps, unless we awaken to our dangers and act, we, too, may suffer at the hands of the assassins within our bor-

VOL. I NUMBER 27 Edited by Wilfred Klement and Mildred Hall

The Future Homemakers of America met Friday, March 31. In the business session there was a discussion on having Al Moody call the Square Dances. The group decided they would rather have Miss Kelly three times a month and All Moody to call once a month.

Jeanette Walter was in charge of the program. A Travel-logue. Anna Grace Fette discussed the customs and dress of Spain and Marcelene Wimmer talked about Hawaii.

The girls who will go to the San Antonio meeting April 27 are the FHA officers, chairmen of all committees, and the ones that have the most gold stars on the Gold Star Chart.

On May 5, the students of Muenster High School will make a field trip to Dallas to visit the Ford Plant, the Mercantile Bank Building, and other points of interest.

Pauline Myrick gave a party Sunday afternoon for several of her classmates. They enjoyed learning new dances. Refreshments of cold drinks and cake were served to Alvina Derichsweller, Ruth North, Anna Grace Fette, Joyce Grewing, Lynette Walterscheid, Donalita Black, Joan Klement, Anna Grace Herr, Janie Hellman, Lillian Vogel, Doris Reiter, Rosebell Haverkamp, and Mildred Hall.

Ruth North enrolled in Muenster High Friday. She is a student from Gainesville Senior High.

The two judging teams, Dairy- ing and Livestock, entered the Area 5 FFA Judging Contest at Arlington Saturday, April 1. Members of the team were Billy Bezner, Jerry Hoenig, and Wilfred Klement. Klement tied for 5th place individually with a score of 580 out of a possible 700 points. There were 54 teams entered in the Dairy- ing Judging Contest with 3 boys on each team. The team placed tenth with Bezner scoring 520 and Hoenig 475.

Members of the Livestock team were Emmett and Gerald Walterscheid and Glenn Hellman.

Two films were shown contestants during Saturday afternoon. One was the State Fair of Texas and the other was the SMU - Notre Dame Football game.

Glenn Hellman was elected to feed the Hereford steer which the FFA chapter purchased to feed for the Fat Stock Show. The chapter thinks that Glenn will do a good job in feeding the animal for he has fed several previously. The boys hope they will have a winner.

At the second annual Cooke County Dairy Day held at Gainesville Wilfred Klement took a blue ribbon with his registered Jersey heifer and Herbert Fleitman took a red ribbon with his Guernsey heifer. The cattle were classified on point basis. There was no competition; every animal was judged individually. One hundred to ninety points was excellent and received a purple ribbon. Only one cow received a purple ribbon.

Very good with a blue ribbon was 90 - 85 points.

Good with a red ribbon was 85 - 80 points.

Fair with a white ribbon was 80 - 75 points.

Mr. and Mrs. Stan Yosten of Fort Worth spent the weekend here with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Hoffman of Wichita Falls were here for a weekend visit with his parents.

The current spring drought and the destructive powers of the green bug are the main topics of discussion in and around Muenster these days. However there are those who believe that rain will come soon to alter the situation and so the job of soil conservation is continuing among cooperators of the Upper Elm-Red Soil Conservation District. J. W. Fleitman has just sodded a natural drain and a portion of his field to Bermuda grass. This waterway when established to grass will enable him to terrace the field south of his house. Albert Fleitman has also put Bermuda grass sprigs in a waterway on his farm.

J. A. Klement has sown Buffalo grass seed in an area to be used for terrace water disposal and W. W. Otto has sown a border of Buffalo grass around the waterways that he has sodded to discourage the spread of the Bermuda grass.

Nearly a mile of terraces has been staked on the farm operated by Tony Fleitman and Tony is using a three-disc plow and the island method of terrace construction to build them. The terraces outlet onto native grass pasture.

A group of farmers in the Forestburg area met in the home of Ben Perryman last Friday for a discussion of the damages being created by soil erosion and an explanation of the Upper Elm-Red Soil Conservation District's program for carrying out soil conservation work with the aid of the Soil Conservation Service personnel. At the conclusion of the meeting Ben Perryman, Audy Lee Knox, W. C. Hill and W.G. Kuykendall requested permission from the supervisors of the district to form a conservation group and gain assistance in working out complete conservation plans on their farms.

Reports are still being received of cooperators who have planted soil improving legumes this spring in the Muenster Work Unit territory. At Rosston madrid clover has been planted on the Luse ranch operated by Jim Cooley and on the Hollis ranch. Around Muenster those who have planted clover include Harry Otto, Walter Klement, J. M. Weinzapfel on the farm operated by Joe Wimmer, J. H. Coursey, Joe Fisher, Tony Hesse, H. J. Fuhrman, Roy Endres Jr. John and Joe Kleiss, Frank Klement, Joe Starke and W. F. Davidson.

The important job of range improvement through deferment has been started on the Luse and Hollis Berry ranches near Rosston and on the J. H. Fields, Redman Bros. and John Moss ranches near Saint Jo. The range grasses that will be deferred for extra growth and seed production from June until frost are being grazed now. The grasses that are to be grazed during the summer months are being deferred now to allow them to produce forage to carry the stock thru the summer and to allow the cool season plants to produce seed. Rangeland with good grass cover will put more water into the ground than overgrazed grassland and so reduce soil and water losses.

Local Herds Place Second and Third in County DHIA Record

The Cooke County Dairy Herd Improvement Association's report of the February-March period, released this week, shows a Muenster member, Thomas

Sicking, with the second high herd in February and another Muenster member, Paul Fisher with the third high herd in March.

Eleven member herds were tested each month with 211 producing cows in Feb. and 222 in March. Fifty-three cows produced an average of 40 pounds of butterfat the first month and 42 reached the 40 pound average in March.

In February five Muenster members had 19 cows producing 40 or more pounds of butterfat with Thomas Sicking's herd of 30 cows having 8 in the upper production bracket and one averaging as high as 64.

In March four local members' herds contained 12 cows in the 40 or more pounds of butterfat bracket and Paul Fisher's 21-cow herd contained seven that produced over 40 with one cow reaching 55.

Since Monday Joe Starke Jr. is employed in Duncan, Okla., with Halliburton Co. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Starke and daughter, Mildred, drove him to Duncan Friday.

Dr. Ernest Stroud and Dr. Paul Stroud, both of St. Bernard's hospital in Jonesboro, Ark., stopped here Wednesday for brief visits with the John Tempels and Mrs. John Walterscheid, whose daughters, Sisters Florentine and Thomasita are nurses at the hospital. The doctor brothers were enroute to Nocona to look after their oil interests.

Editors Organize — Developments on conservation within the district and to carry articles on the benefits to be derived from conservation. The principal speaker on the program was Walter Humphrey, editor of the Fort Worth Press and originator of the "Save the Soil and Save Texas" program which has been sponsored by the Fort Worth Press for the past several years. Pointing out that conservation is not only an interesting and romantic subject but a vital need for the future welfare of the nation, he said that the local paper or radio station will find the subject both interesting and valuable to its locality. Bill Durham, farm editor of the Fort Worth Star Telegram also recommended the subject and commended the new members for organizing to promote conservation progress. T. A. Jenkins of the Regional soil conservation office at Fort Worth said that his office is ready at all times to provide publicity material on practically any phase of soil conservation work. J. M. Weinzapfel presented an outline of the aims of the district bankers association as a pattern to assist the editors and radio men in mapping out their own program. J. W. Hess, chairman of the board of supervisors opened the meeting and V. W. Redman was master of ceremonies. Those attending besides radio and newspaper personnel and the Fort Worth visitors were the five members of the district board of conservation, the five zone chairmen of the district bankers' association, and District Conservationist Clyde Wells. Mrs. T. P. Frost of the Gainesville Health Unit spent three days of last week in Paris attending a service training course in public health nursing.

Confetti — as nations . . . and independent of nations . . . to reap the blessings pointed out by Christ. It's only a matter of getting in tune with the spirit of Calvary. They may not make a big change in the way of the world but they can make a big improvement in their own relation to the world, and to eternity. Good Friday meditation in our every day language is a good deal. Besides profound appreciation for Infinite Goodness it can properly include a lot of good solid thinking. In the last analysis it isn't time given up but time invested in greater happiness here and hereafter.
