VOLUME XV

MUENSTER, COOKE COUNTY, TEXAS, FEBRUARY 16, 1951

NUMBER 13

Now that Herbert Hoover has spoken his piece a second time chances appear just a little better that our country will do an adequate job of helping to prevent the threatened outbreak of hostilities in Europe.

Quite obviously his first speech had a big effect on national thinking. If it had not there would have been little purpose in presenting the same general idea in another major speech. Like a second classroom explanation, Hoover's second address convinced another large segment of the American public besides establishing his view more clearly in the minds of many who were inclined to agree with him the first time.

The result, it seems very likely, is a growing popularity of the Hoover view, and the eventual incorporation of that view in our general defense plan. The powers that be may go right ahead with their idea of re-inforcing Western Europe with our troops, but, responding to popular pressure, they may be expected to modify it to the extent of incorporating the main points of Hoover's proposals in their general scheme.

After all there appears to be a great deal of wisdom in Hoover's advice that we refrain as much as possible from fighting a land war with Russia, which is equivalent to letting Stalin choose the weapons. It is generally known that Stalin commands a mightier force than all that we and Western Europe could muster.

Hoover's suggestion is that we capitalize on our superiority instead of inviting Russia to capitalize on hers. By developing a super air force and a super navy we will be in a position to give Russia a merciless pounding while imposing a devastating blockade on her trade.

The greatest value in that method, if Hoover's estimate is correct, is that it will actually prevent war. Once Stalin understands that an act of aggression in Europe will bring down a rain of atom bombs on the most vital spots of his empire he is more likely to behave. Certainly more likely than if we elect to defy his overwhelming hords with our pitifully inadequate ground forces. "An uneasy peace" Hoover calls it, but still very much to be preferred to the probable consequences of trusting Stalin when he knows he has the advantage.

At the same time necessity demands that a good deal of thought be given to re-inforcing Europe's ground forces. Without our help the nations of western Europe haven't a chance at all, and quite possibly might be induced to make a deal with Stalin rather than risk annihilation.

One way or another, we're stuck with the job of furnishing the principal resistance to Russia. And the ideal way it now seems is to furnish what men will be needed to organize an effective force in Europe but to place more emphasis in developing air and naval strength to deal out the most possible punishment if and when Russia decides to get hostile.

Along that line it is encouraging to note lately that Red influence is slipping in some parts of Europe. The grand fizzle of the attempted demonstration in France a few weeks ago and the more recent revolt of Italian red leaders are significant. Meanwhile Tito stands pat. Stalin is having his troubles, perhaps enough of them to discourage plans of going on a rampage. Besides there's always the hope that internal troubles in Russia and the satellites may explode some day and blow Stalin's world conquest plans into oblivion.

Little by little it seems that time favors the Christian element. If it continues that way there will be no war after all. At least there's a glimmer of hope in sight.

One point in the Hoover speech leaves no room for controversy. It is his recommendation that our federal government cooperate in the defense effort by eliminating unessential spending . . . and that it

Sallie Henderson Of Marysville Dies

Funeral services were held Thursday, Feb. 8, at Marysville Methodist church for Mrs. Sallie Henderson, 85, pioneer resident of the Marysville community, who died the preceding Tuesday in Corpus Christi at the home of a son, J. Wylie Henderson.

Mrs. Henderson had lived at Marysville for more than 60 years. She had been living with her son in Corpus Christi since the death of her husband, L. T. Henderson on Jan. 13. He had been a farmer and grocer at Marysville for 65 years.

Rev. A. B. Duncan, Jr., officiated at the last rites and Geo. J. Carroll and Son Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements. Burial was in the Marysville cemetery.

One son besides J. Wylie survives. He is George T. of Wichita Falls.

Fire Clears 50 Acres Of Endres Pasture

Paul Endres is grateful to about 20 neighbors and other volunteer fire fighters who saved about half of his pasture, and possibly also his home and other buildings, between 12:30 and 1:30 Sunday afternoon.

Believed to have been caused by a cigarette thrown out of a car, the fire started beside the highway and spread north, fanned by a high wind. About 50 acres were lost.

Some neighbors saw the blaze, others rushed over in response to an alarm over the telephone line. In Muenster Joe Fisher took the fire department's tank truck and failing to notice any firemen on his way out of town, reported as the department's only representative. The Danglmays and Felderhoffs reported with power livestock sprayers.

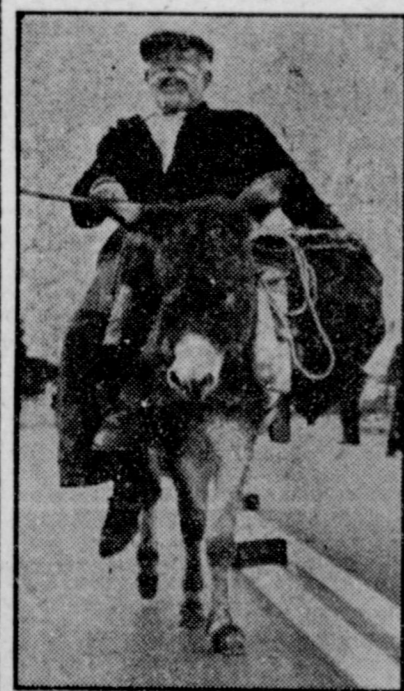

Death Separates Schneider Twins

Funeral services were held Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock in Sacred Heart church for Ronald James Schneider, three-weeks-old twin son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Schneider. The infant died at about 1:30 a.m. Friday.

Rev. Anthony Schroeder officiated at the services in church and at the grave. Nick Miller was in charge of arrangements.

Survivors are the baby's parents, a twin brother, Donald Gilbert, grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Al Walterscheid of Muenster and Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Schneider of Subiaco, Ark., and a great grandmother, Mrs. Wm. Walterscheid of Muenster.

Fire Chief Pat Hennigan and Ed Endres were in Sherman Monday night for a visit with the Sherman fire department and a discussion of civilian defense.

HE'S IN NO RUSH—This 75-year-old resident of Athens grinned broadly as he indicated that he had no intention of letting modern living change his ways. He snarled motor traffic as he and his mule ambled over a newly constructed highway. The white center stripes were made by a machine brought to Greece from the U. S. under the Marshall Plan.

Army Air Corps Privates Julian Walterscheid, Teddy Gremminger, Rupert Hoenig and Jerry Fette were still at Lackland AFB this week, according to letters home. He has completed basic and this week started advanced training in armored field artillery. He took his car back with him and expects to be home for frequent visits in the future. Five boys from Cooke county, including Ewald Fuhrmann of Lindsay, are at Fort Hood. LIBRARY AND SANCTUARY—Bookworms in New York City's famous Fifth Avenue and 42nd street library will be able to burrow underground in the event of a bomb raid. Nearing completion in the library's basement is a shelter capable of accommodating 1500 persons and provisions for ten days. Walls of stone and concrete, varying in thickness from three-and-a-half to twelve feet, will provide complete safety and help to maintain the silence that is mandatory in a library.

News of Sick And Injured

Illness confines Mrs. J. W. Meurer to her home this week.

Tim Mosman, young son of the John Mosmans, has his right arm in a cast since Saturday. He broke it at the wrist in a fall from a tree.

Mrs. Richard Swirczynski is back at her home convalescing nicely after a major operation at Gainesville. She spent the past week with her mother, Mrs. Adam Beyer, at Lindsay.

Mrs. Norbert Hoedebeck continues as a medical patient at Gainesville Sanitarium. She is responding favorably to treatment but will remain in the hospital at least another week.

Church Service Ends Scout Week Program

As a climax to their observance of National Boy Scout Week members of the Muenster troop attended Sunday Mass in a body, received corporate Holy Communion, and had breakfast. Their parents joined in the events.

Father Anthony officiated at the 8 o'clock Mass and directed a part of his sermon to the Scouts.

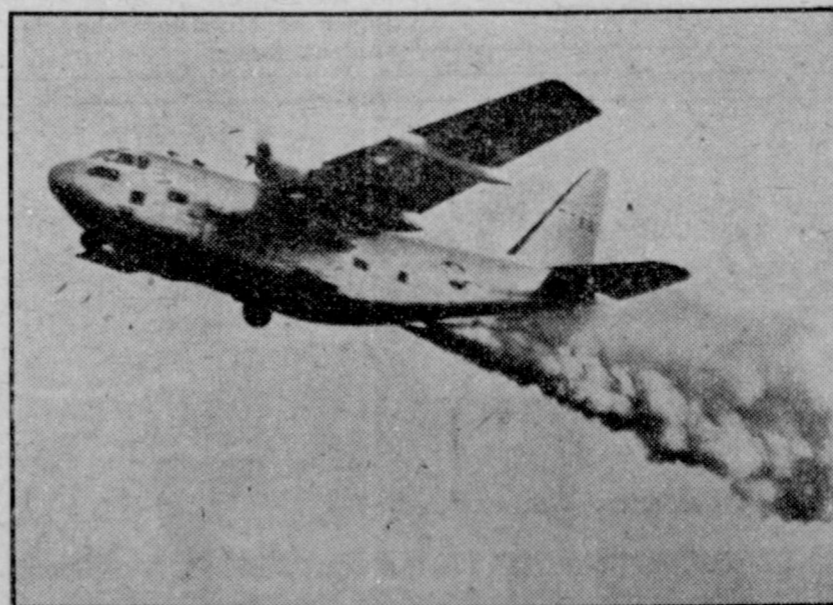

The parish lunch room was the scene of the breakfast and the boys were in charge of the program. Father Anthony led the invocation and Committeeman Ben Seyler was master of ceremonies.

Billy Ben Boyles extended welcome; Randy Bayer briefed on his trip to the National Jamboree; Jerry Henscheid and Larry Hofbauer spoke on the benefits they have derived from scouting; Donald Bayer spoke on "4-H Work and Scouting"; and Father Anthony spoke on "Scouting and Parents".

The main table centerpiece was a miniature camp site made by Robert Meurer and Jimmy Hellman. Scouts and parents present numbered about 50.

Another observance of Scout Week by the local troop was a court of honor and a pot luck supper held the previous Monday.

Mrs. Wm. Bergman had as guests Sunday her son, Frank Bergman and wife of Ardmore.

QUICK LIFT—This Chase Aircraft C-123 troop and cargo-carrying transport required only six seconds to leave the ground in a jet-assisted take-off during tests at West Trenton, N. J. The huge craft, which can carry more than 20,000 pounds of cargo, traveled but 400 feet on the runway before rising into the air.

Blanket of White Brings Relief to 5 Months Drought

In appearance at least if not in temperature Muenster had its biggest dose of winter this week. Sleet and snow that fell lightly at intervals Tuesday fell more heavily during the night to spread a blanket about 2 1/2 inches thick. Another inch of snow fell Wednesday night.

At the same time it brought the first break of any consequence in this community's five months drought. Steve Moster said that the accumulation of snow and sleet in the city's official gauge melted down to a moisture measurement of 1.22 more than twice as much as the combined readings since Sept. 19. His records show .02 for October, .09 for November, .03 for December and .30 for January . . . a total of .44 inch in 5 days less than 5 months.

Though welcome as a starter, the moisture is still far short of the community's needs. Unless more is received soon farmers have little hope of any crops this year. Chances of making a grain crop vanished long ago.

Like that of two weeks before, this week's cold wave was marked by a big and sudden plunge of the mercury . . . from 70 at noon Monday to the low twenties Tuesday and a low of 16 on Wednesday.

Roads remained passable but difficult. School busses, idle Wednesday and Thursday, will also be idle Friday unless the weathers clears sufficiently to eliminate present hazards. Classes at the public school are suspended while busses are idle. Classes continued at the parochial school with an attendance of slightly over 50 per cent.

Mrs. Tony Felderhoff Injured in Car Crash

Mrs. Tony Felderhoff received minor cuts and bruises but four others escaped without injury as the Felderhoff car and a jalopy driven by Ivan Louis Koelzer crashed on Highway 82 three blocks east of Main about 7:45 Sunday morning.

According to a report by Patrolman Lester Robertson, Koelzer got himself into trouble trying to pass another car without sufficient clearance. A last moment effort to get off the pavement at the left side failed and the Felderhoff car hit the Koelzer car broadside. Koelzer was charged in justice court for "passing with insufficient clearance."

Damage to Felderhoff's car, a new model with less than 1000 miles, has been estimated at $500. Damage to Koelzer's ancient model was about $75.

Scouts to Conduct Scrap Paper Drive

Boy Scouts of the Muenster troop will conduct a scrap paper drive Saturday, Feb. 17, the weather permitting. They solicit old newspapers, magazines and catalogues and will furnish pick up service.

The troop asks citizens to bundle and tie their contributions and place them at curbs, or in alleys, as is customary during a city clean up. A truck will make the rounds visiting all city homes. Rural residents with scrap paper can help the boys along by bringing their bundles to town and leaving them at Ben Seyler's parking lot where a truck will be stationed.

Since wet papers are worthless, the drive will be called off Saturday if the weather fails to cooperate. In that case it will be held on the first dry Saturday.

Schedule of Coming Events

SATURDAY, Feb. 17, Scrap paper drive sponsored by Boy Scouts, weather permitting.

TUESDAY, Feb. 20, P-TA meeting, school auditorium, 8 p.m.

TUESDAY, Feb. 20, Stanley Demonstration by VFW Auxiliary, the parish lunch room, 8 p.m.

January Record of County DHIA Unit May Be State's Top

The Cooke County Dairy Herd Improvement association, second in production in the state during December, continued improvement during January and may be in line for top honors among DHIA groups of Texas during that month when state reports are published, according to John J. Hoffman, technician and supervisor of the Cooke County association.

The January summary for the county unit shows 11 member herds, containing 246 cows in milk, tested with 84 cows producing 40 pounds or more of butterfat, and averaging 700 pounds of milk each. The average pounds B.F. per cow was 30. Comparative figures the previous month were 236 cows in milk with 69 producing 40 pounds of B. F. or more, the average per cow being 29, and the average pounds of milk per cow being 660 pounds.

The three high herds, in the order named, were Pete Prescher's, Richard Frasher's and Paul Fisher's. Fisher's cow, Pete, was the association's individual high producer with 83 pounds B. F.

Of the 84 association cows in the 40 or over bracket Muenster members own 38.

Alfred Bayer had 11 cows producing from 40-61 pounds B. F.; Paul Fisher, twelve, 41-83; J. W. Fleitman, eight, 40-58; Henry Pick, seven, 41-49.

Garden Club Hears Talk on Snapdragons

A talk on snapdragons and the distribution of new yearbooks highlighted the regular meeting of the Civic League and Garden Club last Thursday night when members met with Mrs. F. J. Yosten as hostess in her home.

Mrs. Joe Luke was speaker for the program hour and her subject was snapdragons. She explained that these plants do not like cold weather and it is best to wait until April to set them out. She recommended the rust resistant variety.

If seeds are planted the soil must be properly treated, she said, and when plants are two inches tall they should be pinched back to make the plant bushy.

Mrs. Ervin Hamric, program and yearbook chairman, distributed the new yearbooks, attractive booklets in white and green carrying out the club's colors.

The program for the coming months includes discussions on house plants, the art of creating a corsage, organic gardening and other related subjects; a plant exchange, a May flower show and local pilgrimage, a Christmas party and a book review.

Mrs. Nick Miller, president, presided during the business session and committee chairmen gave reports. Members agreed to re-order "The Lone Star Gardener" and to submit their subscription fee to Mrs. Anthony Luke, treasurer, as soon as possible.

Members desiring holly and snapdragons for the horticultural projects were urged to get their orders in at once to either Mrs. Hamric or Mrs. Luke.

Three new members were welcomed, Mmes. A. A. Otto, Lawrence Bruns and Felix Yosten.

After business the hostess served homemade cupcakes, salted nuts and coffee to 21 members and one guest, Mrs. John Durbin.

MRS. JOHN FELDERHOFF HAS BIRTHDAY SURPRISE

Mrs. John Felderhoff received a pleasant birthday surprise Sunday when her children and grandchildren called at her home bringing gifts and covered dishes for a supper party.

Joining the family group were Mr. and Mrs. Martin Blair of Dallas, formerly of Portland, Oregon, friends of Emma Felderhoff who previously worked in Portland. Emma Felderhoff and Dorothy Rohmer joined the Blairs on their homeward trip and are their guests for a visit.

Guests of Mrs. S. O. McElreath were Rev. and Mrs. F. Kempson and son of Fort Worth who spent Sunday here.

Anastasia Tempel Weds Russell Herb

Miss Anastasia Tempel of Los Angeles, formerly of Muenster and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Tempel of this city, became the bride of Russell T. Herb of Los Angeles on Saturday, Feb. 3, the bride's birthday, in Saint Jerome's Church in El Cerrito, Calif.

Rev. Father Paul E. Duggan officiated at the double ring ceremony and read the nuptial mass, at 9:30 a.m. Organ selections included the traditional wedding marches and the Ave Maria.

Norbert Tempel, brother of the bride, and Mrs. Rose Bonkafsky, attended the couple as best man and bride's matron.

The bride and groom wore twin suites of brown tweed. The bride's accessories were in dark brown and her flowers were yellow roses.

Mrs. Herb was born in Muenster and attended Sacred Heart school. She was employed by the M. J. Endres and Jacob Pangel stores here before going to Los Angeles about three years ago. Until her marriage she was employed in a department store in that city.

The bridegroom is the son of Thomas Herb of Gratz, Pa., and trained for the army at Camp Howze during World War II. He is employed in Oakland.

The newlyweds are making their home at 245 Ed Dorado St., Apt. E, El Cerrito 8, Calif.

The Pat Hennigans and Herman Stoffels, joined by the ladies' parents, the Bill Sandmanns of Lindsay, were in Norman, Okla., last Wednesday to attend funeral services for an infant cousin and nephew.

BAND SEEKS MEMBERS TO REPLACE SERVICE MEN

Although the military draft has taken a number of key members, the Muenster Youth Band, still interested and enthusiastic continues weekly practice sessions each Thursday night.

A drive for new members is underway and anyone interested in joining this musical organization is welcomed, according to Director John J. Hoffman, who invites those interested to see him for further information.

The VFW Auxiliary is sponsoring a Stanley demonstration next Tuesday, Feb. 20, in the parish lunch room at 8 p.m. and invites anyone interested to attend. Persons unable to attend but desiring products may leave their orders with any of the Auxiliary members.

The J. M. Weinzapfels, the Earl Fishers, Mrs. Steve Moster and Marian Starke were in Dallas Monday to attend the annual Lincoln Day district bankers' meeting held in the Baker and Adolphus Hotels. Program features included luncheon, an ice show and style shows. The Weinzapfels remained in Dallas to attend the lecture by Clare Booth Luce in the Fair Park Auditorium. WASHINGTON NEWSLETTER

By ED GOSSETT

Washington, D. C., Feb. 9—The first big legislative fight of this session of Congress occurred in the House this week. It was over the extension of the Reciprocal Trade-Agreements program. The Reciprocal Trade-Agreements Act is the handiwork of former Secretary of State, Cordell Hull. It was originally enacted into law in 1934. The program has been extended from time to time since that date, usually for 1 and 2 year periods. This week the House passed a bill extending this program for an additional 3 years. The Reciprocal Trade-Agreements Act authorizes the President, largely through the Secretary of State, to negotiate trade agreements with foreign countries, raising or lowering tariffs and duties almost as he sees fit. Our big argument in the House was over 2 amendments to this Act. One is known as the peril-point amendment.

The other is known as the escape-clause amendment. The peril-point amendment gives persons interested, a right to be heard before the Federal Tariff Commission on what they think duties should be prior to the negotiation of a trade treaty. The escape-clause amendment gives persons the right to be heard after agreements have been working for sometime. Neither amendment precludes the Administration's making or carrying out agreements. A part of my speech during debate on the peril-point amendment is as follows:

"Mr. Chairman, my good friend who has just spoken said that those who favor this amendment are enemies of the reciprocal trade-agreements program. Such is not the case at all. I have always supported the reciprocal trade-agreements program. I am for it. I am going to vote for it today, whether or not this amendment is adopted. But I do say that this is a reasonable, a fair, a democratic amendment, and that we ought to adopt it.

I recall when the President last addressed this Congress he said we should put the welfare of the country above partisan politics. We all agree to such a principle. The peril-point and the escape-clause amendments being offered to this bill are very much in the public interest. The peril-point amendment after all simply gives to industry and labor in this country a wailing wall, so to speak.

The Congress is being asked here to grant almost plenary power of life and death over American industry and American labor to the Secretary of State. I am not willing to entrust such power to any agency or department of Government. The American people are getting tired of this Congress frittering away its legislative duties and responsibilities. If you Members have been reading your mail lately, you know that we are being castigated because we do not do our duty and because we turn over to the sprawling executive branches of the Government vast responsibility and power over the lives and property of the people.

There are two amendments to this bill which are going to be offered. I want to go on record as being in favor of both of them. One is the peril point amendment and that is an ament before the fact, if you please, to give industry and labor the right to go down to the Tariff Commission and say, "Here is a level below which we are going to be hurt." In the course of American jurisprudence and American justice has anybody ever been denied such a right — the right of petition, if you please?

The other is the escape amendment which is going to be offered by my friend, the gentleman from West Virginia (Mr. Bailey) and I understand another by the gentleman from Nebraska (Mr. Curtis). That amendment gives the industries and labor organizations of the country the right to go in after the fact, when these agreements have been working for a while, and say, "Conditions have changed. Business has fallen off. The economic situation has changed, and we are entitled to some relief."

Who is there here who has the temerity to stand in the well of the House and say that American industry, American labor, and the American people are not entitled to both those rights? Have we come to a point in this country where we are willing to deliver to anybody, good, bad, or indifferent, plenary power of life and death over American industry and American labor? I still say we should take care of this country first. I do not think we can do it by high tariffs. Neither do I think we can do it by eliminating all protection and all restrictions which have been set up for the protection of the American standard of living. We all know, and we are proud of the fact that American labor has the highest standard of living of any labor in the entire world. We also know that American labor cannot compete with coolie labor in China and with the labor of many other parts of the world. So we simply say here through the peril-point provision that these people, our people who have contributed to the strength and security of this country, have the right to be heard."

Both amendments were adopted.

THE LOWDOWN FROM HICKORY GROVE

Academic Freedom — that is what they are demanding—and no exception — in our big universities. Sounds like deep water you are delving into, says Henry — and when or where did you ever see the inside of a big college. Don't be too sure or petulant, I says, but I refuse to answer — it might involve my rights under the Constitution. That quieted him. But I will say and admit. — I been delving into some faculty goings-on and the professors making the biggest noise don't impress me as "super-mental demons. Most of them don't grasp the every day fundamentals. Theory is their dish. They don't savvy on which side their bread is buttered or who butters same.

Too many professors want to let every brother professor teach anything such brother sees fit to teach. No holds barred. If it is socialistic it is neither here or there — Academic Freedom, they calls it. That is where I go to the mat with the intellectuals.

Throughout our land — in many schools — academic freedom is working against our old fashioned Plymouth Rock style freedom and towards crippling socialism which leads next — and sure as there are little apples — to communism.

Warning Signals

Did you ever crack your head, bark your shin or stub your toe in a barn or woodshed where a projecting obstruction blended into the general drab color scheme?

It has remained for Country Gentleman to run an illuminating article, full of illustrations, showing how two cans of paint can prevent bruises and broken bones.

Black and yellow diagonal stripes painted on obstructions, is so simple and inexpensive power saws, fans, and at dangerous points on machinery, can give constant warning against common hazards that cause injury and death to thousands each year.

Diagonal stripes have been used on railroads and highways for years as warning signals but apparently no one thought of applying the same accident prevention practice to farms until Country Gentleman dramatically pointed out its advantages with colored illustrations. The idea is so simple and inexpensive anyone can put it into practice.

Supper At Bulcher Closes Community Progress Contest

Bulcher residents reviewed community improvements made the past year in the Rural Neighborhood Progress contest and planned to re-enter the contest this year when they gathered Thursday for a basket supper and program in the community building.

About 150 persons attended the supper, followed by a magic show and talks by County Agent B. T. Haws and E. Newby, chairman of the progress contest.

Dr. J. R. Reuther, assisted by Ballard Watts and Claude Jones, entertained with his sleight-of-hand performances.

Mr. Haws commended the community on its work and urged the importance of individual reports in completing a review of the work. Reports are to be sent to "The Farmer Stockman" magazine, sponsor of the contest, before Feb. 28, closing date for the year's work. The new contest begins March 1.

Reviewing work done, as individuals and as groups, a report by Mr. Newby revealed that homes have been redecorated, a new community Baptist church has been built, and a playground and park created.

Residents worked on the playground and park in the early spring. They spent Monday, Wednesday and Friday each week beautifying the grounds; after the work hours they held social hours with sandwiches and cold drinks before going home.

Bulcherites are planning additional improvements in the 1951 contest. Their motto is "Not at the top, but climbing".

Last Chance to File For POW Payments

The deadline for filing claims for payment to prisoners of war or their survivors is less than two weeks away, according to a reminder this week by Ed Merzbacher, Veterans County Service Officer.

Merzbacher explained again that each prisoner of war during World War II or his widow, child or parent, is entitled to a payment of 1 dollar a day for the duration of the person's imprisonment. That compensation has been provided by law, he said. Another provision of the law is that all claims must be filed before March 1, 1951.

He urges all who are entitled to the POW payments to make application at once. Those who wish to get application forms or further information are advised to see Merzbacher in the basement of the Court House.

Mrs. Effie West has returned home after visiting in Denison with her daughter and family, the Albert Rectors, who accompanied her home. They were all Sunday guests in the home of the Johnnie Wests.

Texas Having Mild Epidemic of Measles

AUSTIN—Measles in Texas is reaching a mild epidemic stage at present, with outbreaks following closely the main lines of travel across the State, according to information made public today by Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

"The peculiar pattern of this spread of measles re-emphasizes the fact that it is a contagious disease, passed on from one person to another," Dr. Cox said. "Guard against exposure by avoiding contact with measles patients."

Dr. Cox said that measles alone is not necessarily a dangerous disease, but dangerous complications, such as streptococcus, mastoiditis, and pneumonia which frequently follow, make it a disease to be carefully nursed, with close attention from a doctor.

"Unskilled treatment of a case of measles can result in complications which often kill," Dr. Cox warned, "and it is not to be regarded lightly as simply another childhood disease."

Dr. Cox urged parents to carefully watch children exposed, and at the first sign of tem-

Upper Elm-Red Soil Conservation District News

DISTRICT SUPERVISORS
J. W. Hess, Muenster V. W. Redman, Saint Jo
John Rice, Collinsville Ed Blackmon, Bowie
Willard Kemplin, Valley View

In striking contrast to the difference shown toward grass seeding by farmers and ranchers only a few years ago is the current long-waiting list for use of the district owned grass seed drill. Cooperators of the Upper Elm-Red Soil Conservation district know from first hand experience or from seeing results of their neighbors efforts that native and introduced grasses can be planted successfully. Moreover, there has been increased attention to grasses and grassland farming in recent years in the Muenster area.

Farmers have found that they can expand their acreage of grasses by seeding 'old field' areas and overgrazed acres. They have learned to secure maximum forage production from the various grasses through proper management. They have learned that they can profitably market livestock and livestock products produced on well managed grassland. They have also learned that grass is man's best tool for tying down the soil and protecting it from erosion. From this newly acquired knowledge of grasses has come more widespread acceptance of grass as a crop to be planted, managed and harvested.

Old Mother Nature, who has recently been behaving like the proverbial mother-in-law, has been handing out freakish weather lately, but many co-operators are going ahead with their grass planting operations.

The especially built district owned grass seed drill, which is at present planting native grass for Hubert Felderhoff, has been kept busy metering out grass seed on areas where it can be used to produce forage for livestock and as a weapon against soil and water losses.

Alois Trubenbach has planted native grass seed harvested from his own meadow on approximately 200 acres of formerly cultivated land on his farm northeast of Muenster. For the past several days the Danglmayr Brothers have used the drill to seed native grass on their range land near Marysville. The brothers also planted 100 pounds of King Ranch Bluestem on their rangeland northeast of Muenster. The Danglmayrs planted K.R. Bluestem in some of their waterways last spring and are well acquainted with its erosion resisting and forage producing qualities.

In the Forestburg area Howard Sledge and Johnny Moore used the grass drill to seed 50 acres of old field areas to the native grass seed mixture. Louis Penton seeded 8 acres to the native grass mixture by hand. Sledge and Penton put the grass seed on land that was phosphated and seeded to vetch last fall. The vetch will condition the soil and enable the grass to make better growth. Grass seedings will be protected from grazing during the growing season for at least two years.

A group of cooperators met at the home of Norbert Klement last Thursday night for a discussion on soil conditioning through the use of deep rooted legumes and grasses. Ed Helton of the Soil Conservation Service led the discussion and used soil samples to illustrate how plow pans can be opened with deep rooted plants and how the water storage capacity of the soil is greatly increased by growing deep rooted legumes and grasses in the rotation. Attending the meeting were Henry and Edward Pick, Tony and Gene Walterscheid, Joe Knauf, Eddie and Leo Schmitt, Edgar and Wilfred Klement.

There were as many careless drivers in the old days, but not as many accidents. Horses had some sense.

Ray Sandmann, son of the Bill Sandmanns, left Tuesday for Dallas to report for induction in the army.

Mr. and Mrs. John Schmitz and son, Cpl. Johnnie Schmitz, visited here briefly Sunday with the John Bezners enroute to their home in Austin after a week end visit in Muenster.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Sandmann, joined by their daughters and husbands, the Pat Hennigans and Herman Stoffels of Muenster, were in Norman, Okla., last Wednesday to attend funeral service for an infant nephew and cousin.

Mr. and Mrs. Julius Hermes joined the Clem Hofbauers of Muenster on a trip to Camp Chaffee, Ark., Sunday for a visit with the Hermes' son, William who is training there. He joined them on a drive to Subiaco where they visited Max Sandmann, Fraters Alois and Bruno Fuhrmann, Father David Flusche and other friends.

also strive to get the most possible value out of its defense dollar. To the average tax payer there is no justification whatever in going on with expensive socialistic handouts and pork barrel spending which, in the opinion of competent government analysts could be reduced by 8 billion without impairing the defense effort. To the average taxpayer it also seems absurd to pay top prices for commodities which could be furnished from the government's surplus or to build new camps and airfields when old installations could be re-activated at a fraction of the cost.

The most gratifying move so far in the direction of government cooperation in defense economy is the recommendation in the House this week by Congressman Rogers of Pampa, that federal employees be placed on a 6-day week without extra pay and that the president and congressmen be required to pay income tax on their expense allowance. The suggestion would have been even better if it asked for a 6-day week, without extra pay, from every citizen of the country.

It's high time that some of the big shots got more realistic about our problem. They preach their heads off about the big job ahead and the urgency of holding expense down. Well, the recommended solution is obvious. All they have to do, it adopt it. A school child can figure that the change from a 5 to a 6 day week will get 20 percent more work done . . . at the same cost. Think what that will do toward speeding the defense effort and stretching the defense dollar.

But will that be done? Will the talk about sweat, thrift and sacrifice be backed up by appropriate measures or will the administration continue its politics as usual attitude? After all this doesn't quite harmonize with past policy or pampering the public with fat pay and short hours . . . nor with another policy of herding the biggest possible volume of tax money into Washington.

Somehow our administration has acquired the queer notion that it has to appeal to public weakness, even in a national emergency. If we intend to continue as a strong nation we'd better start appealing to public strength.
