Rain Friday Is Muenster's Best Since September

As a rule rain will dampen the attendance at most any event and last Friday night's rain was something special, so it's easy to understand why a disappointingly small crowd gathered at the school auditorium to hear Dr. Milo Cox talk on the advantages of incorporating more pasture projects in modern farming.

In addition to natural reluctance to get out into the weather, it is possible that quite a few farmers were affected by an urge to just sit at home and enjoy watching it rain. After waiting all these months they must have thought that mother nature was providing all the entertainment they cared for.

Nevertheless a lot of fellows unknowingly passed up a really fascinating and valuable discourse. Dr. Cox offered some ideas which are very likely in time to become fundamentals in this country's job of checking soil depletion, and restoring at least some of the land's lost productivity.

The problem confronting average farmers, including those of this community is that land isn't what it used to be. It produces less and is more subject to erosion. It needs to be restored as nearly as possible to its original condition as virgin soil. The most practical way to do that, Dr. Cox says, is to turn it back into pasture for several years and let it regain the organic matter it has lost. Assuming that deficient elements are also replaced in the program the land can be restored to its original condition of texture and fertility.

The next thing is to make the soil building program fit the farmer's economy, to make the land continue paying off while undergoing the improvement process. That is achieved by planting the grasses and legumes which do the double job providing good grazing and restoring fertility. By applying the treatment to one field for several years then moving to another field for several years a man can maintain a continuous grazing and cultivation program.

All this is elementary to the modern scientific farmer, but the application of it involves problems which are the real objects of Dr. Cox's work. As director of the Texas Research Foundation his job is to learn the best procedure for achieving the desired land improvements and the best plant varieties for profitable grazing. He's on the technical end, applying known principles in the most practical and most profitable way.

He admits that he has only scratched the surface of his work but he is in a position to state definitely that a good pasture program pays as well as a good cultivation program. Sixty bushel corn land can net more profit in good pasture, he claims. And after the pasture program is complete it will make more corn than it did before.

Almost as fascinating as the man's work is the story of its origin. The Texas Research Foundation is an institution endowed by several individuals and corporations that are vitally concerned with the continued progress of agriculture. Companies like TP&L, Kraft, Swift, Armour, pay the bills and depend on the foundation to find the answers to technical problems in agriculture.

It is apparent why packers for instance, want to help develop better ways of growing beef, or why dairy products manufacturers want to help develop better ways of producing milk. But all of them have long range interests as well as immediate interests. Like every other type of business they are primarily dependent on agriculture for their progress or survival. What they discover to help farmers will eventually contribute to their own prosperity. If on the other hand soil productivity is permitted to decline their future prospects will also decline.

That long awaited rain came last Friday night. Not enough to give the thorough soaking that has been needed so long, but a dandy crop bracer to help vegetation along for a week or two.

Measuring 1.14 it was the best this community has had since the drought started last September. The next best was 1.02 which fell in February.

Combined with the 43 in 3 previous showers this month, last Friday's rain brought the month's total to date to 1.57. The year's total to date is 4.69.

Profit, Not Ribbon, Is Object in Latest FFA Beef Project

A contest in the most profitable production of beef cattle is the latest project undertaken by the Muenster FFA chapter. Encouraged by a $100 prize, offered by Muenster Livestock Auction the boys will raise a minimum of 4 animals each and sell them on open bids at the Muenster Livestock Auction in January.

The plan was presented to the class Wednesday by Dick Cain who explained that boys who wished to have backing in the contest could get it from either of several local business men. The primary object is to have boys develop their animals as much as possible on pasture, the cheapest method of feeding, and grow a money maker rather than a ribbon winner.

To keep working conditions as nearly equal as possible, contestants will charge their animals with a uniform pasture rental fee and a uniform grain price regardless of the individual's actual cost. That will remove the obvious advantage enjoyed by boys who use their fathers' pastures or grain at little or no cost.

When the animals are sold the net profit per head will be determined by charging expenses against the actual sale price. The boy with the best average profit per head wins the $100 prize.

MHS Seniors Will Present Class Play Friday Night, 8:15

Seniors of Muenster High School under the direction of Mrs. Jess Mitchell will present their class play in the school auditorium Friday night at 8:15.

The play is a 3 act comedy, They Gave Him a Co-Ed, and was especially selected because it provides a part for every member of the class.

KOREAN COWBOYS—The spirit of the American wild west has captured a following in Korea. The Korean orphans, above, are giggling their way through a cowboy comic book. To show that he's all for this wild west stuff, the little fellow in the middle is sporting a pair of cowboy boots.

FFA Calf Judged Grand Champion At Livestock Show

Members of the Muenster FFA chapter saw their hopes realized last week Thursday when their 840 pound Hereford was judged grand champion calf of the annual Cooke County 4-H and FFA stock show held in connection with the Circus Roundup. It was also champion of the light calf division.

The following day they saw their treasury enriched by $638.40 when Dick Cain, acting for a group of Muenster business men, paid 76 cents a pound for the animal at the show's annual auction. On Saturday he sold the calf at the Muenster Livestock Auction to Ebner Packing Co. of Wichita Falls for $319.20.

In prize money the calf won $14 as champ of the light class plus $25 offered by Universal Mills for a champ fed on Red Chain feed.

In the show's hog division Paul Schniederjan of the Gainesville 4-H club took the grand champion honor with his 200 pounder which was sold for $75 to Frank Moore Seed Store of Gainesville.

Burglars Just Visit Fisher and Jimmy

Burglars broke into two Muenster business houses early Sunday but took little of value.

At Jimmy's Station about a dollar was taken from the cash register in small change along with a few candy bars and cigars.

At Fisher's Market the owners could find nothing missing. They indicated that cigarettes might have been taken as they did not know how many cartons they had on hand.

At both places the burglars broke out the glass in the front door and opened it from the inside. They left the same way not bothering to close the door.

News of Sick And Injured

Annette Sicking, two year old daughter of the Leo Sicking, broke her left leg Saturday in a fall from a swing at her home. The bone is broken between the knee and hip. The child was taken to Gainesville sanitarium to have the leg placed in a cast but is back at home since Wednesday.

Mrs. Ed Eberhart continues seriously ill at St. Vincent's hospital in Sherman having been moved there last week from Gainesville sanitarium.

Raymond Hoinig was ill during the week with a severe case of tonsillitis.

Mrs. Frank Seyler was sufficiently recovered to leave Gainesville sanitarium Friday and is at the home of her daughter, Mrs. T. L. Anderson in Gainesville while she is regaining her strength.

Mrs. Herman Luttmmer is recovering from an illness of influenza that confined her to bed last week.

Garden Club Plants Trees at Ball Park

The Muenster Garden Club's most recent city beautification work has resulted in a new look for the area around the grandstand at the ball park.

Mrs. Nick Miller, Garden Club president, supervised the landscaping which includes 13 cedar trees and two bridal wreath bushes purchased by the club and two holly bushes donated by Proffer and Woolfolk Nursery.

Longview Man Is New MK&T Agent

H. L. Herron of Longview is Muenster's new MK&T agent. He is here since last Wednesday to replace K. W. Tompkins while he serves with the army air forces and replaces Barney Taylor of Waxahachie who served as temporary agent since Tompkins reported for active duty on March 10.

Herron spent three and a half years in the navy receiving his discharge in 1945. He was with the Katy at Alvarado before coming to Muenster.

Softball Boys To Organize Friday

Softball hopefuls of Muenster are due to meet Friday night at 8 in the ball park in the hope of organizing a city team for the summer.

Announcing the meeting this week Herbie Herr extended a general invitation to all youngsters who wish to play this summer. He indicated that the team will have to be built mostly from new talent because several of last year's regulars are now in the armed forces.

Tommy Knabe, Gene Walterscheid and Gerald Lee Owen were in Dallas Tuesday to take their army physicals.

The Doughty twins, Joe and John, sons of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Doughty, route 3, are finally together again in the same unit after being separated shortly before leaving the U. S. for Korea. The young infantrymen are serving in Company M, 7th Infantry Regiment, Third Infantry Division. They were separated in the states when John was hospitalized. The twins entered the service the same day and received basic training together at Fort Riley, Kansas. Then John went to the hospital and Joe was erroneously placed on orders that caused the separation. Joe was formerly with the 17th Regiment, 7th Infantry Division in Korea. So he asked for a transfer and his request was granted.

First Lieut. and Mrs. Ray Stewart and children Rickey and Charlene spent last week with her parents, the Henry Wiesmans. Lt. Stewart has been recalled to service and he and his wife left Monday for Las Vegas, Nev., where he will spend a few weeks at Nellis Air Base before going overseas. Wilfred Luttmmer, taking army training at Fort Bliss, has received a promotion to private first class.

PFC Rupert Hoinig and an army buddy, Sgt. Jim Walker whose home is in Illinois, came here from Sheppard AFB on a Saturday overnight and Sunday visit with Rupert's family, the Joe Hoignigs.

Elm-Red District Awards Program To Be Held May 10

Thursday evening, May 10, is the date for the second annual Upper Elm-Red Soil Conservation District Awards Program which will be held at the Turner Hotel in Gainesville at 7:00 p.m. when five outstanding conservation farmers, and five outstanding neighborhood groups in the district will be recognized for their accomplishments in putting conservation on the land.

The sixteen banks in the district along with the twelve newspapers and radio stations are for the second year sponsoring this unique awards program which is causing banks newspapers and radio stations in other conservation districts in Texas to follow the pattern set by this group.

Cash awards will go to the neighborhood groups while savings bonds will be presented to the outstanding individuals.

Tickets for the awards dinner are being distributed this week among banks in the district who in turn will make distribution among businessmen and farmers. The five-man district board which is composed of Willard Kemplin, Valley View; Henry Reynolds, Nocona; G. E. Blackmon, Bowie; John Rice, Sherman; and J. W. Hess, Muenster, feel that the annual awards program is lending much encouragement to district cooperating farmers to put conservation farming into effect.

Pasture Program Builds Soil While Paying A Profit

Speaking to some 75 farmers and business men in the school auditorium last Friday night, Dr. Milo L. Cox of the Texas Research Foundation recommended a pasture program as the most practical and profitable means of restoring productivity to worn out cultivated land. He based his statements on experiments at the foundation, some of which were recently seen on the ground by a group of local men and the Muenster FFA class.

The speaker opened his program with a demonstration of the comparative rain absorbing qualities of cultivated and virgin soil. He showed that virgin soil absorbs rain much more rapidly than cultivated land thereby retaining more moisture for plant growth as well as reducing loss of water and soil by off-flow.

Bernice Reiter And Paul Sicking Are Married Tuesday

Miss Bernice Reiter, daughter of Mrs. Hilda Reiter, and Paul Sicking, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Sicking, exchanged marriage vows Tuesday morning in services held in Sacred Heart church at 8:30.

The groom's uncle, Rev. Henry Felderhoff of Cleburne, officiated at the double ring ceremony and at the nuptial high mass in the presence of a large assemblage of relatives and friends of the young couple.

While the wedding guests assembled in church Miss Mary Ann Felderhoff presented a vocal solo in which Willard Hartman joined for the chorus. Anthony Luke, church organist, played the accompaniment and remained at the organ to play the wedding marches and to assist the choir in singing the Gregorian chant Mass of the Angels.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Tony Reiter of Gainesville. She presented a lovely picture in a formal wedding gown of white slipper satin designed with fitted V basque bodice, petal point sleeves, and a net yoke edged with a ruffle of chantilly lace, giving an off-shoulder effect. Three tiers of satin and lace in inverted V design ornamented the front of the full skirt and a satin overskirt, edged with lace, extended into a cathedral length train.

The bride's tiered finger-tip length veil, also edged in lace, fell from a crown of pearlized orange blossoms and her flowers, carried on top of a white prayer book, were a shower arrangement of an orchid and carnations.

For something old she wore a handsome gold cross and chain worn by the groom's mother at her wedding. She borrowed her prayer book from her sister-in-law, Mrs. Ed Sicking, and carried a blue handkerchief belonging to her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Gus Knabe.

Cousins are Attendants

Attendants were Misses Doris Lee Reiter and Anna Grace Fette, cousins of the bride, and Leo Felderhoff and Joseph Felderhoff, cousins of the groom.

Miss Reiter as maid of honor wore salmon pink net over taffeta, and Miss Fette, bridesmaid, wore Nile green net over taffeta. Their dresses were identical in design with fitted V bodices, bouffant skirts and net yokes with off-shoulder effect collars. They wore matching mitts and white carnation head-dresses and carried crescent shaped bouquets of white carnations. They completed their costumes with dainty gold chains and crosses, presented by the bride.

Mrs. Reiter attended her daughter's wedding in a brown suit with brown and white accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. The groom's mother wore a navy ensemble and a pink carnation corsage, and the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Gus Knabe, wore a gray figured crepe dress with white carnation corsage.

After the services, a wedding breakfast was served in the Gus Knabe home to members of the bridal party, the officiating minister and parents of the couple. Dinner at noon was served in the Ben Sicking home to immediate members of both families.

Reception In Parish Hall

A reception began at 3:30 in the parish hall and a buffet supper was served at 6 to about 150 guests. Miss Joan Felderhoff, cousin of the groom, presided at the bride's book.

Decorations in the hall carried out the bride's tri-color scheme, and predominated at the bride's table. It was covered with an imported Italian hemstitched and cut work linen cloth and was centered with a tiered wedding cake flanked with candles.

A dance in the K or C hall at night concluded the nuptial festivities.

Leave On Wedding Trip

During the dance Mr. and Mrs. Sicking left on a wedding trip. For traveling the bride wore a two piece suit with a navy and white checked skirt and a navy coat and accessories in white. She wore the orchid she carried at her wedding and a single strand of pearls that the groom brought back from Korea where he was on duty during world war II.

SPRING MADNESS — That's the name applied to this pert hat which follows the new season's formula for brevity. The flirtatious veil on the tiny creation covers only the eyes. The hat is decked with little pearls and blue velvet bows.

When they return they will be at home southwest of town where he engages in farming. A new home was recently completed south of the Ben Sicking home.

Both young people are natives of Muenster and attended Sacred Heart school. The bride graduated from Sacred Heart High with the class of 1950. The groom served in the army for 18 months, 1946-48, and was on Korea for 15 months.

Pre-Nuptial Courtesy

Complimenting the bride, a gift party was given on April 17 in the home of Mrs. Alois Rohmer. About 40 guests presented gifts to the honoree and enjoyed games and refreshments. The gift table was centered with a bride doll holding an umbrella and miniature umbrellas were plate favors.

Farewell Dinner Honors Arthur Bayer Monday

The Victor Hartmans entertained with a six o'clock dinner in their home Monday honoring their nephew, Arthur Bayer, as a farewell tribute. He left Tuesday for the army.

Guests were Mrs. Joe Bayer, Pvt. Robert Bayer of Fort Riley Kansas, here on leave, his buddy, Pvt. Harry Bracken of Wichita Falls, Ethel Bayer, John Bayer, Edna Gremminger and Sharon, the honoree, the hosts and their family.

WASHINGTON NEWSLETTER

By ED GOSSETT

Washington, D. C., April 20—This has been MacArthur week in the Nation's Capital. Since serving in the Congress, it has been my privilege to hear a number of distinguished persons address joint sessions of the House and Senate. There was Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes, speaking on the occasion of the celebration of the 150th anniversary of the establishment of the Supreme Court. Then came the Honorable Winston Churchill in the early days of the war. Later, Madame Chiang Kai-shek spoke brilliantly in behalf of the Chinese people. Following the war, General Eisenhower addressed the Congress and the top military and executive leaders of the country from the rostrum of the House of Representatives. Now we have had General MacArthur. The General lived up to his reputation as a brilliant and gifted speaker. He perhaps elicited more rapt attention than did any of the others to whom reference has been made. Certainly more emotion was aroused and more tears shed as a result of MacArthur's report than on any of these other notable occasions in our historic Chamber. Even those who might be classed as hostile to MacArthur were compelled to admit that he did a good job. Were he 15 years younger, he would doubtless seek, and would doubtless acquire, the presidency itself. However, even a majority of his friends hope that he meant what he said in San Francisco; that he had no political ambitions. He appeared to me to be a very tired, and a very old man.

MacArthur made one sensational statement which will be bitterly explored and bitterly debated in the days immediately ahead. His statement that the Joint Chiefs of Staff agreed with his views on military policy in the Far East shocked and startled official Washington. Most of us believe that MacArthur told the truth. Many believe, however, that the Joint Chiefs of Staff will squirm off of the spot on which MacArthur's statement places them. Indeed, many high ranking officers seem to be Charlie McCarthys for their political bosses. Perhaps they fear being fired, as was Admiral Denfeld, and now General MacArthur.

I recall when General Omar Bradley was Chief of the Veterans Administration immediately following the war. A Committee on which I served was conducting hearings on H. R. 2202, known as the "Guaranteed Full Employment Bill." Secretary Henry Wallace came before the Committee in behalf of the bill, predicting that 8-million men would be unemployed within a few months, and insisting that the government must guarantee every citizen a job. General Bradley followed to testify in favor of the bill. He testified for this socialistic legislation, although at heart he was bitterly opposed to it. Secretary of Defense, General George C. Marshall, is generally conceded to have been a great Chief of Staff of the Army during World War II. Still, when he became Secretary of State, and now Secretary of Defense, he appears to lend his name and prestige to causes in which he does not believe. I recall his coming before the Judiciary Committee in behalf of the DP Bill while he was Secretary of State. He obviously knew little of the implications of this legislation, and yet he professed to support it wholeheartedly. The General has taken the credit, or the blame, for selecting Mrs. Anna M. Rosenberg to be Assistant Secretary of Defense in Charge of Manpower. In my humble opinion, this was not his idea at all.

Incidentally, members of the Armed Services Committee of the House tell me that Secretary of Defense Marshall has been of little help to them since he assumed that post. He has refused to answer or to discuss most of the questions propounded to him, but instead has turned the job over to others.

One would be disappointed in the American people if they did not become alarmed, and if they did not ask pointed questions, when they observe vacillation and duplicity in the conduct of high political figures. There was never a time in our history when our nation was more badly in need of strong, intelligent, courageous, top bracket leadership than now. Perhaps an all-wise, all-merciful Providence will help us to muddle through, but muddling is nothing of which any of us should be proud.

This week my Subcommittee of the Judiciary Committee of the House has again been conducting hearings on the so-called Lodge-Gossett Amendment, an amendment to abolish the Electoral College, and to reform the method through which we elect presidents. Twenty-seven senators have joined Senator Lodge in introducing this same resolution in the Senate. In the last session the Senate passed this resolution by a vote of 64 to 27. That was the all-time high mark in a hundred years of effort to do something about the cumbersome, undemocratic machinery through which we elect the most important official in the world. The sooner this reform is made, the better it will be for our country.

Sign My Petition

GRAND ISLAND, Neb.—Just to prove that some people will sign anything, the Grand Island Daily Independent circulated a petition in Grand Island ostensibly asking the city council for better recreation facilities. But buried in the text of the petition was a request "that I be hanged by the neck until dead."

Thirty-five persons signed the petition. There are two obvious reasons why some people don't mind their own business. One is that they haven't any mind; the other, they don't have any business.

The Anchor Of The Christian Family

By CLARE BOOTH LUCE

If prayer is the "sword of the saints," it is also the anchor of the family.

All love between human beings, husband and wife, parent and child, brother and sister, is a process of growing and grafting. Each person in a family has his own roots in self and soul.

But, in time, the nerves, mind, heart, spirits of each member of the family mingle and entwine, depend and cling to those of the others. In the end, the family seems to be one great plant.

Shattered Homes

Sometimes these intertwining selves are loosened by divergent interests and loyalties. Jealousies and hatred rip one grafted heart from the rest. Or, divorce tears the whole growth apart, and uproots each member from some of the others. What a painful thing this is. What bitter tears and nasty wounds are left. How seldom the scars ever really heal.

America recorded in its divorce courts last year over half a million of these ruptured families, every member of which must now suffer the pains of domestic lesions for a lifetime. The anguish of heart and the bitter confusion of mind, not to mention the eternal damnation of souls, caused by one west coast city, for example, must go unrecorded in time though it will remain terribly real all the same. That city in 1948 granted seven divorces for every eight marriages!

Hearts Torn Loose

There are not enough good doctors and psychiatrists in the world to repair, or rather patch-up, the mental and physical wreckage that results from shattered homes.

There are, of course, too many of those quacks who pose as "psycho-analysts". They are ready to eat away the money and time of unhappy people who eat away their hearts while these "psycho-analysts" vainly seek to cure their unhappiness.

There is seldom a lasting cure for the spiritual distress that follows when grafted hearts are torn loose from one another, in anger, in selfishness, in pride, in folly, in whim or in sin.

Family Prayer

Most of these miserable home-wrecks were never told one simple and wonderful truth: "The family that prays together stays together." Of all the ways under Heaven of preventing that awful ripping away of nerves from nerves, heart from heart, flesh from flesh, that follows the family crack-up, there is none so perfect as that instituted by God Himself—family prayer. And the most perfect of family prayers is the Rosary.

Those who love one another stay in God's love by prayer. And God's answer to their prayer is to keep them always in one another's love. If you are not using family prayer to generate family love and love for God you are neglecting a tremendous instrument meant to bring family happiness.

You've Got To Hand It To Sandy

Sandy Johnson's wife "Tiny" suddenly asks him at breakfast the other morning "Why don't you build me some bluebird houses?"

"What for?" asks Sandy. "Why for bluebirds, of course," says Tiny. "We always had 'em at home when I was a girl. May sound silly—but I sorta miss 'em."

Well, I know how busy Sandy's been lately and the thought of taking time out to build birdhouses could have made a lot of men blow their top. But not Sandy. He says, "No, Tiny. It doesn't sound silly. I think it's a wonderful idea—we're going to have bluebirds—and I'm starting on some birdhouses tonight."

From where I sit, we could do with more understanding people like Sandy—and Tiny, too. He respects her likings, and she respects his. He likes a temperate glass of beer now and then—and although Tiny sticks to coffee, whatever Sandy likes is O.K. with her. They live and let live—and that's why they live so happily.

The American Way Time For Prayer

By George Peck

It is a historical fact which no one can gainsay that the political structure of America was founded upon faith in God. Only insofar as America is spiritually strong will this nation be able to maintain the political ideals for which the Founders of this Republic pledged their lives.

George Washington and his ragged, poorly equipped, half-starved and half-frozen army at Valley Forge, daily knelt and offered up prayers to the Almighty. Washington's army triumphed over the vastly superior might of Britain.

Shortly thereafter, when the delegates to the Congressional Convention were indulging in bitter and acrimonious debate, Benjamin Franklin, realizing that an impasse had been reached, arose and addressed the delegates in part as follows:

"In this situation of this assembly, groping as it were in the dark to find political truth, and scarce able to distinguish it when presented to us, why has it happened, sir, that we have not hitherto thought of humbly applying to the Father of Light to illuminate our understanding?"

"In the beginning of the contest with Great Britain, when we were sensible of danger, we had daily prayer in this room for Divine Protection. Our prayers, sir, were heard and they were graciously answered. All of us who were engaged in the struggle must have observed frequent instances of a superintending Providence in our favor . . . and have we now forgotten that powerful Friend, or do we imagine that we no longer need His assistance? We have been assured, sir, in the Sacred Writings, 'Except the Lord build a house, they labor in vain that shall build it.' I firmly believe this . . . I, therefore, beg to move that henceforth prayers imploring the assistance of Heaven and its blessings on our deliberations, be held in this assembly every morning before we proceed to business."

Franklin's advice was taken and history records that gradually doubt vanished and our marvelous Constitution evolved. If the Kefauver Crime Investigation Committee has accomplished nothing else, surely it has proved that we need the same Divine Guidance in America today. We should invoke the aid of the same God to cleanse our governments (national, state and local) of the malefactors who consort with and are under the thumbs of criminals.

The callous disregard of ethics and moral principles so prevalent at Washington and the abandonment of honesty and integrity on the part of all too many of our citizens, would seem to demand aid from a Higher Power if America is to be saved, not only from a foreign enemy, but from itself.

If a mere layman may be permitted, in all humility, sincerity and reverence, to submit a Chaplain's invocation to be given each morning when Congress convenes, I would like to suggest words after this fashion: "Our Heavenly Father, we thank Thee for the many blessings Thou hast bestowed upon this nation, the United States of America. We beseech Thy blessing upon this session of the Congress; give wisdom and understanding to these elected representatives of the people here assembled; give them the courage to put country ahead of party and the strength to resist the importunings of pressure groups seeking special privileges for themselves, to the detriment of others; expunge from their minds and souls all thought of selfish or political advantage or of vengeance against political opponents; to the end that such legislation will be enacted here which will be for the greatest good for the greatest number of our people. Amen."

CARD OF THANKS

The Muenster FFA members wish to express their appreciation to the Muenster business men for their support of the Cooke County Grand Champion Calf shown last Thursday by the local FFA chapter.

A Billion Dollars

One billion dollars is $14.00 per working person for each of the 70,000,000 people working in the United States. Working eight hours a day at $1.75 per hour a man earns $14.00. A billion dollars in taxes is the total production of every working man and woman in the country during an 8-hour day. When Congress appropriates a billion dollars, it is appropriating the labor of 70,000,000 people. When an army sells useful material as surplus, it is selling a man's time and labor. When RFC makes a bad loan, it is loaning a part of a man's life. A billion dollars isn't just a heap of paper — it's part of the brief time given to men to spend on this earth.

Good coffee can be made only in a clean coffee maker; therefore, after each use, the coffee maker should be washed with hot water and soap or other washing detergent and rinsed with clear water.

"IT'S DODGE FOR DEPENDABILITY"

MORE MILEAGE LONGER CAR LIFE DODGE OWNERS TESTIFY

"I'VE PUT THE EQUIVALENT OF FOUR YEARS' DRIVING ON MY '50 DODGE!"

"As a salesman, my 1950 Dodge is always on the go. I figure that I have already put the equivalent of four years of average driving on it — without spending any appreciable amount of money for repairs."
—says Harry H. Hurst, Houston, Texas

"DROVE MY 1937 DODGE 150,000 MILES!"

"Mine is a 1937 Dodge—and it's still going strong! It has already covered more than 150,000 honest, dependable miles. No wonder people say it's Dodge for dependability."
—says Mrs. Noble Swisher, Chicago, Ill.

"MY 1948 DODGE STILL LIKE NEW!"

"My work calls for thousands of miles of driving a year, yet my 1948 Dodge still has that 'new car' pep and feel. Outside of regular servicing, it has yet to see the inside of a repair shop."
—says George Kieffer, St. Louis, Mo.

You could pay up to $1,000 more and still not get all the extra room, riding comfort and rugged dependability of Dodge

TAKE THE WORD OF OWNERS WHO know Dodge value and dependability from actual experience. "No major repairs in four years' driving . . . After driving another make less than a year, I'm back with Dodge again" . . . "Driven my Dodge 150,000 miles and it's still going strong." These are not unusual comments we receive from Dodge owners coast-to-coast. Dodge dependability starts with a heavy, rugged frame, a "Get-Away" engine "speed-proofed" to resist wear, designed to be a miser on gas. There's a safe, rigid, all-steel body, rubber-mounted to eliminate rattle, squeak.

New Safer, Smoother Ride
Dodge Oriflow Shock Absorbers "float" you over roads that stop other cars, cushion vital chassis parts against road shocks . . . make them last years longer. Longer lasting, smooth acting Safe-Guard Hydraulic Brakes make every mile you travel safer, more relaxed.

JOSEPHINE BIRSCHENK, AND ALVIN RAUSCHUBER MARRY AT VALLEY VIEW

Miss Josephine Birschenk and Marvin Rauschuber were married on April 18 in Saint John's church in Valley View at 8:30 a.m. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. William Birschenk and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rauschuber of Valley View.

Rev. Thomas Weinzapfel, pastor, officiated at the double ring ceremony and was celebrant of the nuptial high mass assisted by Rev. William Botik of Hillsboro and Rev. A. Schmid of Abbott as deacon and subdeacon. The church choir furnished the nuptial music and Anna Frances Hinzman presented "Ave Maria" as a vocal solo.

The bride wore a gown of white satin designed with fitted bodice and pointed collar. The full skirt, gathered to the drop waist, extended into a chapel length train.

The bride's veil of illusion was edged with chantilly lace and fell from a white pillbox hat covered with seed pearls and gold leaves. She carried a bouquet of white roses showered with satin streamers. Sweetpeas were caught in the lovers knots tied in the streamers.

The bride carried a white rosary which belonged to her father, the late William Birschenk.

Mrs. Alvin Rauschuber attended her sister as matron of honor and Alvin Rauschuber was his brother's best man. Mrs. Rauschuber wore a yellow embossed cotton frock made identical to that of the bride. She wore a pink picture hat and carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

The bride's mother wore a navy blue linen dress and the groom's mother was attired in black crepe. Both wore white carnation corsages.

The wedding breakfast was served in the home of the groom's parents and dinner was served in the Alvin Rauschuber home.

The bride's parents were hosts for an afternoon reception and buffet supper in their home for about 150 guests. White, yellow and pink were stressed in decorations and in the wedding cake, baked in the shape of a bell.

When the couple left on a wedding trip the bride was wearing a grey costume with navy accessories.

They will make their home in Valley View where he engages in farming.

Among out of town guests at the wedding were Joe Rauschuber and Mr. and Mrs. John Bukowski of San Antonio and Mrs. Mary Schmitz of Wichita Falls.

Upper Elm-Red Soil Conservation District News

DISTRICT SUPERVISORS
 J. W. Hess, Muenster Henry Reynolds, Nocona
 John Rice, Collinsville Ed Blackmon, Bowie
 Willard Kemplin, Valley View

"Operation Waterway" that got off to such a good start earlier this spring, but was stalled by lack of moisture was revived by last Friday's rain. Muenster farmers cooperating with the Upper Elm-Red Soil Conservation District in the fight to stop soil erosion are once again sodding Bermuda grass on areas in their fields so that they will have a safe place to empty water from terraces.

Albert Knabe used the two-row district-owned sprigging machine to put Bermuda grass roots on two waterways on his farm north of Muenster. When a sod is established he will construct terraces to protect his cultivated land and empty the excess water on the protected waterway. The waterway will also be fenced and used for additional pasture. Alfred Sicking used the sprigging machine to put grass roots on the borders of a ditch that crosses his property. The Bermuda grass will protect the soil from erosion in case of overflow and will also furnish good pasture for the Sicking dairy cows.

The farmers planting soil building clover crops include Tony Felderhoff, Johnny Klement, Joe Starke, Tony Wimmer, Tony Hacker, J. W. Hess and Johnny Bayer. One of the outstanding characteristics of two year sweet clover has been witnessed this year. In spite of the long drought, second year clover came out ahead of other plants and furnished green forage at a time when it was critically needed.

J. W. Hess knows the advantage of growing a strong soil building legume in the crop rotation to improve soil structure, increase water intake capacity, increase soil fertility and open up hard plow pans so other crops can grow and he puts this knowledge to work. On his farm near Hays, Hess has planted 70 acres to two year clover and has also made some new plantings of clover on his home place.

Johnny Bayer has already planted 35 acres to clover and is now using the district combination grain and fertilizer drill to put phosphate and clover on more land.

John and Joe Kleiss and Sluder, who operates the Kleiss farm at Hood, worked together to put a seven acre waterway on the farm seeded to King Ranch Bluestem. The grass will serve as an outlet for terraces and will also be used as a hay meadow.

Ike Fulton of Myra has planted KR Bluestem in rows for seed production. The grass will be cultivated and the seed harvested for use in increasing the grass acreage on the farm.

Farmers who have recently worked out conservation plans on their farms and have signed

are as follows: FMA, $50, Muenster Livestock Auction $50, Muenster State Bank $50, Muenster Mill $25, Ben Seyler $25, Endres Motor Co. $25, Fisher's Market $25, Dixie Drug $25, J. P. The total was $345.

When the animal sold for $319.20 in the auction ring the next day it became apparent that the premium actually paid amounted to $319.20, hence the premium fund had a balance of $25.80. That amount also has been turned over to the FFA Chapter.

Figuring all sources of income the champ grossed $703.20 for the FFA boys: $319.20 in market value, $345 in local premiums, and $25 and $14 in show prizes.

Pasture Program

showed that even in cases of excessive moisture virgin soil is less subject to erosion. He placed small quantities of soil samples in saucers and covered them with water. Virgin soil retained its form of granular particles and remained when the saucer was tilted to pour off surplus water. Cultivated soil granules broke into silt and floated along when the surplus water was poured off.

The difference is due to organic deficiency in the cultivated land, he explained.

He then pointed out that agriculture's all important objective now is to restore land as nearly as possible to the virgin soil conditions, and the most satisfactory method of attaining that condition is a continuous pasture program . . . turning a field to pasture for 4 or 5 years then returning it to cultivation and turning another field to pasture.

That plan, he said, will keep land on a paying basis during the restoration besides making it better for future cultivation. The reason for a long program is two fold. It spreads out the original cost of making a good pasture and it permits more time for soil improvement. By that method a field will net the owner as much or more during the soil building period as it would otherwise net in cultivated crops.

Dr. Cox also discussed soil building and grazing qualities of grasses and legumes, and the original preparation of pasture soil with commercial fertilizers to assure proper development. Superintendent Weldon Cowan opened the meeting and Ed Helton introduced the speaker. Following Dr. Cox, Ralph Maglaughlin spoke a few minutes on the methods and objectives of Muenster High School's agriculture department.

The program ended with refreshments of coffee, cookies and ice cream furnished by the FMA and served by girls of the homemaking class.

A ship-wrecked sailor, who had spent three years on a desert island, was overjoyed one day to see a ship drop anchor in the bay. A small boat came ashore and an officer handed the sailor a bunch of newspapers.

"The captain suggests," he told the sailor, "that you read what's going on in the world and then let us know if you want to be rescued."

Confetti ---

More important still, such companies are aware of some of the alarming facts on this country's soil losses. They know that millions of acres are being lost every year, that with our present rate of land loss and population increase our country is rapidly approaching the time when it will no longer be able to produce enough food for its people.

What to do about it? The obvious answers are to check soil losses and increase the productivity of the soil we have left. But how? Those are the answers they are trying to learn.

of the County Teacher's Association.

The event was dinner featured by the address of Dr. James Webb of North Texas State Teachers College of Denton. His subject was "Sending the Whole Child to School."

Others on the program were students from Muenster, Era, Valley View and Callisburg high schools in piano, vocal and recitation numbers.

The dinner was prepared and served by the Homemaking class under the direction of Miss Ruby Kelly.
