VOLUME XV

MUENSTER, COOKE COUNTY, TEXAS, MAY 25, 1951

NUMBER 27

According to the records Cooke County had 153 deathless days on its streets and highways prior to last Saturday's fatal injury on Highway 77 north of Gainesville. Like all traffic deaths, it was sad and regrettable . . . a human life with its family ties, friendships and potentials of future usefulness and happiness suddenly snuffed out because of an accident that might have been avoided.

The victim was not known locally, and so, as usual, the majority of us are inclined to regard the tragedy as just another of those unfortunate statistics which do not concern us a great deal.

But thanks to the current safety campaign there is one feature about this accident which makes us take notice whether we were inclined to or not. For two days we saw the red light burning on the safety sign as a grim reminder that the red light may burn for us if we relax in our safe driving habits.

It is worthy of mention in this connection that the victim of Saturday's crash was not a county resident. As a locality the county has a blot on its safety record, but as a group of people it continues the good record. That point may be significant. We'll never know of course whether Providence has mercifully guided some of our number through potential death traps or whether, because of greater safety consciousness, they have exercised a little more caution and avoided situations that might have caused accidents.

This column prefers to believe that the safety campaign sponsored by the Gainesville Rotarians is actually paying off. At least it is pleased to observe that people to whom the campaign's reminders are being constantly directed still have not been involved in a fatal accident . . . a gratifying thought which should give the sponsoring organization a great deal of satisfaction.

Of course it is too much to hope that we have found the magic formula to end all traffic deaths but the record already indicates that we have a formula to reduce the number of traffic deaths. Let's continue and increase safety consciousness . . . "Keep the green light burning. Don't cause the red light to burn for you."

As another memorial day approaches we of this community have good reason to be proud of the fitting tribute, now established as a tradition, by which we honor the memory of local young men who gave their lives in the cause of freedom, humanity and Christianity. By their participation in the past, people of Muenster have shown that their appreciation for the sacrifice of their former companions goes deeper than mere words.

Members of the local VFW post especially merit general praise for their customary fine part in the memorial service. They give generously of their time and energy in order to plan and rehearse the military ritual appropriate for those who died in the service of their country.

MHS Seniors Build Memorial Sidewalk

Forty feet of sidewalk in front of the school building is the gift of this year's graduating class to Muenster High School. The sidewalk is four feet wide and follows the curb west from the main entrance sidewalk. The job was finished Wednesday.

Seniors bought the cement and mixed and poured the concrete. N. J. Yosten donated the gravel, Community Lumber Co. furnished the concrete mixer and Cotton Jackson removed dirt to make room for the sidewalk.

Firemen Object to Blockade of Cars Near Fire Station

Seeking to avoid future hemming in of the city's fire truck Fire Marshal Steve Moster this week requested that all persons refrain from parking in front of the fire station or blocking the Main Street entrance to West Second.

As an extra reminder he has had a big sign painted on the fire station door reading "Fire Station, No Parking."

The blockade has been a regular occurrence on nights when the theatre draws a large attendance. People have parked directly in front of the fire station door while others have parked all along the west side of Main, completely blocking the entrance to West Second. Residents on that street frequently had to go around the block to get home.

Besides being a nuisance to those people, the cars have been a serious hazard in case of fire. Precious minutes would be wasted in clearing cars away from the fire station entrance and detouring around a block before heading the truck toward the fire.

Moster urges everyone to remember that ample space must be left at all times for the fire truck. He feels confident that the sign on the fire station door will warn drivers not to park there, and he hopes that they will observe regular traffic regulations as regards blocking a street.

If the situation does not improve, he said, the city will be forced to ask the highway officers to deal with the violators.

Red Cross Reveals Blood Bank Program

Registrations for Cooke County blood donations to the Red Cross blood bank for the Armed Forces is due to begin in the near future and actual donations will begin about August 1.

Details of the county's participation in the nation-wide Red Cross blood program were planned last week when Mrs. Frances Smith, national representative, met with a committee of county Red Cross representatives consisting of Mrs. W. T. Bonner, Mrs. Paul Yarbrough and Mrs. Doris Sutton.

The Cooke County Chapter will cooperate with the Fort Worth Chapter in the blood program. A mobile unit will come to the county seven times during the next year seeking a quota of 125 pints of whole blood for each visit. The unit will type each donor's blood, furnish the chapter with a list of donors and types and give each person a card showing his or her blood type.

Former nurses aids, staff aides and canteen workers have volunteered to serve in the donor room when the mobile unit visits the county. They will receive special refresher courses in the near future.

Auxiliary Promotes Buddy Poppy Week

This is Buddy Poppy Week and members of the local VFW Auxiliary have seemingly "left no stone unturned" to make Muenster Buddy Poppy conscious.

The local committee headed by Mrs. Ray Swirczynski as chairman and Mmes. Steve Fette, Maurice Pagel, David Trachta, John Huchtons, Lawrence Roberg, Richard Swirczynski and Emmet Fette are making personal contacts and have placed special containers in business houses where poppies can be picked up and contributions left.

In addition four show windows in local business houses have been decorated to carry out the theme. At the Beauty Shop the window displays the pictures of Muenster's thirteen Gold Star boys of World War II, the Charm Shop display (Continued on Page 12)

There are new graves to be remembered Memorial Day, 1951—graves like the ones in this U. S. cemetery near Inchon, Korea—graves of men who died so freedom might live.

Board-Faculty Party Honors J. B. Klement

John B. Klement, president of the Muenster School Board for the past three years and member for the past 12 years, was the honored guest Tuesday at the annual trustee-faculty chicken dinner and party. The feast, sponsored by the trustees was prepared and served by homemaking girls under the direction of Mrs. Joe Lehnertz. Special guests were County Superintendent H. H. Moss, Texas Ranger Louis Rigler, and Ben Seyler, member of the county school board. Rigler spoke briefly on youth guidance as the most desirable and most effective way of reducing this country's alarming crime record. Since the majority of criminals develop from juvenile delinquents, he said, the best solution to our problem is to direct the efforts of youngsters in the proper channels.

He recommended youth counselors to help boys and girls develop into law abiding and useful adults and maintains that the state's expense for such a program would be much less than it now pays for arresting, trying and confining criminals. Speaking for the school board, Herbert Meurer, reviewed J. B. Klement's 12 years of service as a trustee and expressed appreciation for his judgment, leadership and generous effort in helping develop the school to its present standard of excellence.

Vocal numbers were given by Misses Marcelene Wimmer and Pauline Myrick accompanied by Miss Juanita Weinzapfel.

Memorial Service Sunday Will Honor Muenster War Dead

This community's traditional memorial service consisting of both religious and military ceremonies will honor Muenster's war dead next Sunday at 2:30 o'clock. As in previous years the service has been advanced from May 30 to the preceding Sunday so as to cause the least inconvenience to people wishing to attend.

Those participating in the service are Father Anthony Schroeder, the Sacred Heart Church choir, the VFW post, and several school children.

According to information given this week by Joe Hess, VFW chaplain and chairman for the occasion, services will begin at 2:30 at the Sacred Heart church. A procession will form there and march to the cemetery reciting the rosary on the way.

First stop at the cemetery will be the crucifixion group in the center where Father Anthony will lead in prayers for all deceased members of the community.

After that the group will go to the service men's graves where the ceremony will consist of lowering the flag to half mast, placing flowers on the graves, prayers, an address by Father Anthony, a hymn by the choir, 3 volleys by the rifle squad and taps.

The order of procession is as follows: colors and guards, rifle squad, cross bearer and 2 acolytes, flower bearers, service men in uniform, relatives of the deceased, priest and 2 servers and other people.

VFW officers ask all members to dress in uniform for the service. They also request all members to attend the special Memorial Day mass next Wednesday, May 30 at 6:30 a.m.

Flood Ravage Hits Nearby, But Rain Still Needed Here

While Red River flood waters are rampaging over low lands less than 20 miles to the north this area and the rest of Cooke County are still waiting for more rain.

Little by little the moisture condition of the community is improving even though land has not yet recovered from the prolonged drought from last September to a few weeks ago. Reports are that recent rains have soaked down only a few inches and dirt below that level is still in need of water.

Thursday night and Friday of last week added another .69 inch of rain bringing the month's total to date to 2.98. Half the rain fell Thursday night and the other half after 7 a.m. Friday. All fell slowly and soaked in as it fell.

Pastures, hay and row crops continue to thrive temporarily on the limited top soil moisture but, with little to draw on from below, they are due to suffer soon unless they are braced up by more rain.

Abundance of Cars Is American Symbol

Automobiles parked around our factories, the great supplies of food in our low-price stores, and the huge stocks of ready-to-wear clothes in our shop windows — these are among the real symbols of American industry.

An American of moderate means can ride in a better car than a man with, comparatively speaking, twice his income, can own in any other country. The American can afford food which would be the envy of Europe's rich, and which is better — more healthful — than the food on the tables of Oriental rulers. An American factory employee in his Sunday clothes is as well-dressed as a French baker on vacation in the country.

FIGHT FOR SURVIVAL—Korean youngsters display the cans they use in collecting food from UN troops. The war-hounded refugee children are dependent on the food their G.I. friends give them in their youthful fight for life.

WASHINGTON NEWSLETTER

By ED GOSSETT

Washington, D. C., May 19 — We have received numerous letters from business men protesting proposals to increase taxes on the commodities they sell. Everybody whose taxes are to be increased is screaming. For this they perhaps cannot be blamed. However, the country is faced with a serious dilemma. On the one hand continued deficit financing will eventually destroy public credit. On the other hand, greatly increased taxes will destroy many small business people and could well dry up the source of revenue. We are reminded of the oft-quoted statement of the famous decision of Chief Justice Marshall in the case of McCollough vs. Maryland, in which he said: "the power to tax is the power to destroy." The Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee of the House has a famous saying that: "you can shear a sheep many times but you can skin him only once." Actually, the only alternative to the aforesaid dilemma is a reduction in the size, cost, and activities of the Federal Government. The elimination of all unnecessary spending and greater efficiency becomes more and more a national necessity. If we do not deny ourselves of some of the things we want from government, we will soon come to the point where vital necessities will have to be curtailed.

Feeling that the very survival of our Country is at stake, I have been voting for nearly all amendments making cuts in appropriations. In the same mail with the numerous letters protesting increased taxes, always comes numerous letters protesting these cuts in appropriations. It has been a common complaint in Congressional circles for years that the big labor bosses blacklist a Congressman if he votes against any of their approved measures. A Congressman may vote for ten bills endorsed by the labor czars, but secure their condemnation for casting one vote against them.

I was distressed this week to find some of our Rural Electrification officials falling into the same class. REA has been, and is a great program. It has been largely self-sustaining. Congress has, as a rule, provided adequate financing for REA. In the agriculture appropriation bill passed by the House this week, we gave REA twice as much money as requested by the budget, to wit; $200,000,000. In the bill passed a few weeks ago, some of us voted for the Gary amendment to eliminate an obviously unnecessary public power transmission line in the State of Virginia. All of the Virginia Congressmen voted for this elimination amendment except one. Two other minor amendments opposed by REA were adopted. Now a number of Congressmen who supported these amendments have been getting letters threatening political reprisals from some REA officials. These letters do not express the views of most officials but of course a Congressman is hurt when large groups of patriotic farmers are falsely told that said Congressman is not a friend of their program. This is the sort of political pressure and propaganda that can result in bad government, and great harm to the country. If I belong to any block whatsoever, it would be the farm bloc, yet duty and honesty compel me to admit that in the Department of Agriculture, as in all Departments, there is unnecessary duplication and waste of manpower. Furthermore, the Department of Agriculture, as most other Departments, has grown enormously within the last decade. For example, we list some of the administrative units in the Department of Agriculture, with the amounts of money appropriated for them in 1941 and the amounts proposed for 1952.

- 1941 Pro. '52
  - Research and Marketing Act 0; 4,700,000.
  - Office of Experiment Stations Grants to States, 6,862,000; 12,416,208.
  - Bureau of Home Economics 323,045; 1,350,000.
  - Bureau of Animal Industry 12,449,340; 24,850,000.
  - Bureau of Dairy Industry 731,305; 1,450,000.
  - Forest Service — National Forests, P & M, 11,500,000; 27,122,005.
  - Soil Conservation Service 18,792,540; 54,278,000.
  - Rural Electrification Administration, Salaries and Expenses 3,673,425; 7,750,000.
  - Extension Service, Grants to States, 14,586,918; 28,015,000.
  - Office of Foreign Agricultural Relations, 196,396; 600,000.
- The stability and the prosperity of the family-sized farmer is absolutely necessary to the stability and prosperity of the Nation. We must continue to have a good farm program. I believe that a vast majority of the farmers want their Congressman to scrutinize the Agriculture budget and to do what he can to bring about efficiency, improvements and sound public service.

EX-SERVICE MEN HAVE SOCIAL SECURITY CREDIT

Something else about your federal insurance. Service men and women who served in World War II are given wage-credits of $160.00 a month for each month of military service. These wage-credits can be used to determine eligibility for benefits as well as the amount of the benefit. The widows and children as well as dependent parents of service people that have died might find they now qualify for federal survivors insurance. Why not call or write the Bureau of Old-Age and Survivors Insurance in Dallas?

"It's about time we changed our moral code to fit a changing world" is a fallacy that goes down some throats as easily as fruit juice. The idea seems to be that since sex liberties and sex indulgences are increasing, let's relax our sex standards.

But that is like saying, "Here in our city we have an alarming increase of drivers breaking the speed limit and racing through red lights. So, as a solution, why not raise the speed limit to seventy miles an hour, and take down the red lights?"

And if anyone doubts that a lowered sex morality is more harmful to a people than traffic violations, let him look at some of the matrimonial driftwood washed up in divorce courts, or let him seriously ask what standards he would want set for his own sons and daughters.

Free-Wheeling Philosophy. Much of this free-wheeling philosophy goes back to apothey weird opinion which so many swallow with apparent relief: "After all, it can't be so wrong if EVERYBODY does it."

Everybody? Everybody is a big word. Everybody is a lot of people—in fact all people. No—everybody doesn't do it. Not everybody! And suppose everybody did. Who is this everybody, anyway?

Do the Commandments read, "I the Lord Thy Everybody. . . ?"

Did Everybody die for us on the cross? When we stand before the Judgment Seat, will Everybody be our Judge? Everybody! Wrong would still be wrong if everybody did it, and right would still be right if nobody did it!

Christian Purity. Our job is not to sink down to the level of others, but to bring them up to the high plane of Christian purity.

During the Civil War a young color-bearer led the charge waving the regimental flag. In his impulsive daring, he found himself far ahead of his regiment. He dropped into a shell-hole, and soon a messenger crept up, saying: "The Colonel says, bring the colors back to the regiment!" Without thinking the boy blurted out, "Tell the Colonel to bring the regiment up to the colors!"

Yes, there are our colors, hanging up there from the flagstaff of the cross — the bright red wounds, the deathly white Body, the blue glint of the nails! Let's get up to the standard of Christ.

Denmark Gets Socialized

The economic welfare of a people is determined by the production of goods and services in the nation in which they live. American production, stimulated by freedom and incentives, leads the world; and so does the American living standard. Industrial and agricultural production in China and India are extremely low, and so is the living standard of their people. History documents this economic law over and over again. And yet the people of many nations have been enticed into believing that government, through economic planning, can improve the economic well-being of the citizens.

England's Labor-Socialist government set out to do it, and for three or four years the majority of the English people blissfully believed a magic solution had been found for removing worry care and tiresome work. Now the dream is shattered. England is prostrate. The people are hungry. And the Labor-Socialist government is split between the totalitarian group which apparently wants a Socialist dictatorship and the "moderate Socialists" who want Socialism but without all its brutal realities. The basic trouble in England is the falling off—under Socialism—of the production of goods and services.

Everything "Free"

Harding College now is sponsoring a study tour of Europe by Dr. W. T. Bean, principal of the Butler (Pa.) High School. "The social security program in Denmark," he wrote last week from Copenhagen, "guarantees the comfort and safety of the people in nearly every aspect of life. There are generous payments for the unemployed; free medical, hospital, and dental services; and comfortable pensions for those over 65 — including free housing.

WAR'S PRICE — In a grim demonstration of the tragedy of war, this Korean father brought his blood-splattered child to a UN first aid station. The girl had two bullet holes in her face as a result of enemy machine gun fire.

"The children get free education through the University, including free meals and, when necessary, free clothing and transportation. There are free nurseries for children of working mothers, maternity leaves, and many other benefits of a full-fledged social security program. I can find very few of life's hazards and inconveniences that are not protected. And these services are not of stop-gap nature, but are, in themselves, a basic way of living.

Why Work?

"Industry has felt the effects of this program in its production. Even before the war, production had begun to fall rather sharply, and in recent years this trend has continued, despite the fact that there has been retooling and modernization of the plants. The workers are rapidly losing their incentive to do a full day's work. After all, nothing unpleasant can happen to them if they don't. The government takes care of everything."

Amidst such conditions Dr. Bean found it requires a full year to build a modest-sized dwelling. "The installation of a telephone," he reports, "is a major operation. The most recent strike in Denmark," he further reports, "occurred in the welding department of one of the shipyards when one worker, working on piece work, stepped up his production until he was doing three times as much work as the average worker. For his efforts he was thrown into the harbor and the employees went out on strike demanding he be fired. In the end the company was forced to discharge him. And so it would seem that advancement due to industrial initiative is not a part of the basic structure of labor policy here—as this type of action is not uncommon."

HARMONIZING ON HITLER'S YACHT—Three salvage crew workers engage in close harmony work in the grand salon of the 2500-ton steam yacht Grille, which the German people "gave" to Hitler in 1935. The ship, which originally cost $4,000,000, has been sold for "over $100,000." She will be scrapped at Bordentown, N. J.

Progress in Reverse

Dr. Bean says almost no new businesses are being established and virtually no new money is going into business expansion. In fact, retrogression has already set in — though the citizenry as a whole is not yet aware of it. "Since business opportunities are almost nil," writes this American educator, "many young Danes are emigrating to other lands. The loss to the nation of this group has not had much impact on official thinking, but there is marked concern among some. The courage that it takes to emigrate is the same courage that makes a successful business man. It is a national asset that no nation can afford to lose."

Just as it is doing in England, the gradual decrease of industrial production under the political management of the Socialist planners, and the breakdown of individual initiative and incentive, will one day lead Denmark into economic chaos. Then the extreme totalitarian Socialists will have their chance to seize power and make of every Dane a cog in the soulless machinery of State, as in Russia. Americans must think twice before accepting further glib promises of something for nothing from the government.

Bulcher H. D. Club Has Demonstration And Amateur Show

Preparing a biscuit mix was the subject of the demonstration given by Miss Bernice Puckett, county agent, at the Bulcher Home Demonstration club meeting Monday. Miss Puckett prepared the mix as she talked and then baked dropped biscuits. The finished product, with butter and strawberry jam, was sampled by the members present.

Mrs. Earl Robison was hostess for the meeting in her home. Mrs. Verna Hyman conducted the business session and Mrs.

Pearl Samples directed an amateur hour during the recreational period.

Members displayed various talents, the most humorous being a skit by Mmes. Earl Robison and E. Newby who portrayed a country girl's first visit in the city. An outstanding number was Mrs. Marie Pollard's vocal selection, Mocking Bird Hill. She accompanied herself on the ukulele and enfolded with Tennessee Waltz. Cake and punch were served to 13 members, Miss Puckett and one guest, Mrs. E. E. Ballinger.

Do We Remember?

The Great Factory is in production again. After a lull in manufacturing its own special product, the process is going again, and the products are being scattered across the land.

For a scant five years the wheels and spikes of war ceased the output of broken bodies, torn flesh and scarred minds. But now the pipelines are full again, and the stream of wrecked lives swells daily.

The process from healthy civilian to trained fighter is a relatively short one. The actual creation of a disabled veteran takes only a second or two of time. A machine gun burst, an angry grenade, a sudden and sickening eruption of a land mine, the rending and tearing of a torpedo, a quick flash of fire, a crashed plane, or the longer and slower process of numbing the mind with horror, are all the tools of the factory which makes the individuals of the long parade of disabled veterans.

When life hangs on by a slender thread, when consciousness returns, if it does, then begins the longest travel, the most endless journey, the steepest trail ever traveled by men. That is the road back to recovery of what is left of life and after that the rough and bumpy road back into the life of the community and nation.

Only those who travel that road—only those who are products of that hellish manufacturing process—can know what it means to look at our complex economy from the depths of the pit of incapacity.

World Moves On

Of course there is that time of quick and ready sympathy, some times devolving into sweetly sickening pity. For a time there is an honest desire on the part of most people to be helpful. Then comes the realization that the world moves on and hasn't time for the man who can't keep up in the race.

Of course there is an attempt on the part of government to bridge the gap between what a man was and that to which he is reduced. But even that comes into question quickly. Pensions and compensation soon become "easy money" in the eyes of the public and the disabled veteran cashes his checks in a surreptitious manner, bordering on apology.

Of course time brings its compensations and adaptations. The man survives and learns better to overcome and minimize the handicap under which he must labor to carry his own load in the economy of the most complex nation on earth.

All these matters are part of the pattern. All these things come about in an orderly manner and each takes its toll. Through it all the veteran is glad that he isn't confined in a hospital and his sympathy runs to those whose bodies and minds won't heal and who face days and years in the walls of the forgotten, in the backwash of war, in the storage rooms of the factory of death and near death.

If people could just understand—if the general public could just be aware—that all the veteran asks, all he wants, and all he hopes for, is a chance to care for himself in dignity and decency.

Disabled Able

The records of a thousand employers prove that the disabled have discarded the prefix to disability and meet the world on the basis of ability itself. The record proves that disabled men, with all degrees of disability, can and do hold jobs with greater fidelity and skill than their whole compatriots.

It may require some minor adjustments in routine, some special arrangements of various kinds, to accommodate the handicap of the man coming back along that trail, but the truth is, that he will pay it all back and return a profit, too.

They come from new places now, strange, Oriental names designate the points on the map where the trail starts. Tarawa, Iwo, Bulge, Kasserine, Sicily, Salerno, Anzio, Guadalcanal, now have such names as Pusan, Taejon, Seoul, Kaesong, and Inchon, added to them, but the story and the problem are the same.

You can help. It is up to you to help. Your attitude can make or break the disabled veteran. Don't cry over him, give him a chance.

That's all for today: No color will cheer up a hospital room as much as the color in your face.

—J. M. Hazlitt, "Sounding Off", Pauls Valley Democrat, Pauls Valley, Oklahoma, winner of Disabled American Veterans annual newspaper column award.

Safe Walking And Playing Habits May Prevent Accidents

AUSTIN.— Summer is here, and boys and girls will soon be out of school. More people usually drive in summer than at other times. There are more ball games and opportunities for chasing the ball out into the street to regain it. These, and many other summer situations, call for added caution to keep people safe says Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

According to statistics, 9,900 pedestrians were killed in motor vehicle accidents in our country in a year, and 230,000 persons were injured in a single year. These figures would indicate that both drivers and pedestrians have much to learn.

The pedestrian is often his own worst enemy. Ignorance of the rules of the road, failure to understand the problems of the driver, and carelessness about reading signs and observing safe walking habits are the causes of many pedestrian accidents.

Children interested in a game, or absorbed in a certain activity, are apt to run out into the street from the walk, or from behind a parked car and pay dearly for this action. People do not want to make children fearful, but through understanding safe practices, they want them to be confident and responsible for themselves.

Those who ride bicycles are the cause of certain types of accidents. A few safety rules for them are: ride close to the right curb or to the right side of the highway; obey all traffic rules; refuse handle bar rides; and refrain from hitching to autos, buses or streetcars.

When walking on a highway at night, wear or carry something white. This should be worn or carried as low as possible so that car headlights, which are directed downward will pick it up.

The Joe Gehrings and son of Dallas visited here Sunday and Sunday night with her mother, Mrs. Joe Hirschy.

Wilbur Shaw thinks so much of this new Chrysler, he has selected it as Pace Car for the 1951 Indianapolis 500-mile race.

"I've just driven the most powerful car* in the U.S."

WILBUR SHAW, AMERICA'S MOST FAMOUS DRIVER, DRIVES NEW 1951 CHRYSLER—REPORTS TO YOU ON REVOLUTIONARY FIREPOWER ENGINE AND HYDRAGUIDE POWER STEERING

Here are Wilbur Shaw's reactions—in his own words—as taken down by a recording machine in the car:

"The '51 Chrysler has it! With this new engine and power steering, the first on any U.S. car, it's a whale of an automobile.

"I'm completely bowled over by the ease of steering! This steering combined with the automatic transmission . . . is the nearest thing to an automatic pilot for a car I can possibly imagine.

"This engine . . . I can't get over the amount of power and snap in this engine . . . it's incredible!

"I drove 111 miles with the feeling I had expended no more effort than in driving around the block.

"When Mrs. Shaw drove, her comments just about squared with mine. Here's what she thinks of the 1951 Chrysler . . ."

Mrs. Shaw: "At first I could hardly believe the ease with which I could turn the wheel. That's important . . . especially in the summertime.

"Often after I have parked a car in the average parking space, I feel I should taxi home, shower and get dressed again. But with Hydraguide Power Steering I parked it with one hand. It practically drives itself."

Wilbur Shaw: "It's hard to describe this new Chrysler without going off the deep end . . . it has it in every department.

"In fact, I think so much of this car, I've selected it as Pace Car of the 1951 Indianapolis 500-mile race!" (Mr. Shaw's comments are reprinted through the courtesy of Popular Science Magazine.)

Health Department Takes Stand Against Socialized Medicine

AUSTIN.— Socialization has no place in either public health or the private practice of medicine, State Health Officer Geo. Cox has said in a statement aligning himself with the medical profession against socialized medicine.

Public health is a separate, distinct field from private medicine, Dr. Cox said. Both professions have their separate objectives, and distinctive methods of accomplishing them.

He declared public health's objectives to be:

1— Public education as to how to avoid disease by means as vaccination against smallpox and typhoid fever and immunization against diphtheria.

2— Investigation of disease outbreaks.

3— Quarantine and isolation of communicable disease cases, thus preventing its spread.

4— Inspection of water supplies, and control over the safe production and sale of milk, drugs, and food products.

"But," the health officer added, "people get sick and accidents happen, and the job of curing and patching up is the business of the private practitioner of medicine — the family doctor and the specialist."

Doctors in private practice advocate public health principles when they urge mothers to have children protected against diphtheria and smallpox, and public health officials "need their help in the vital work of maintaining a high level of well being for all Texans," Dr. Cox asserted. "We aren't in competition

Jerry Henscheid Presides Over Sixth Academy of Science

Jerry Henscheid presided as master of ceremonies recently during the Sixth Academy of Science meeting during which two experiments were performed and twenty reports were given at Sacred Heart High School.

Members of the freshman science class were honored to represent learned doctors and professors from the far corners of the globe by giving very valuable information in their respective fields.

The experiments were performed by Alma Henscheid and Carrie Ann Gehrig. Alma demonstrated how sound waves can move matter, when she placed two nickels flat on a table beside each other. A third nickel she pushed against the center nickel which she held with her finger. The sound waves from the third nickel forced the first one away from the center nickel, the one she held.

Carrie Ann Gehrig showed how humans hear through the ear bones and the skull when she struck a dinner fork on the table and then placed it against the skull. The skull carried the vibrations into the ear from where the vibrations were carried to the brain where they were interpreted as sound.

with doctors in private practice. Public Health people deplore the idea of socialized medicine as unworkable, cumbersome, and totally inefficient.

"There is no place on earth that has a better system of medical administration than the United States. Private doctors deserve the credit.

"And there is no place on earth with a higher standard of public health. Public health people deserve credit for that," the doctor concluded emphatically.

Properly Managed Range Grass Is Ideal As A Cash Crop And A Soil Builder

Emmitt Yoder, USSCS
Grass is by far the most important crop produced in Texas. In fact it is the most important crop in the world. Grass produces no fruit, but should its harvest fail for a single year, famine would depopulate the world.

When white man first came to the area now organized into the Upper Elm-Red Soil Conservation District he beheld mile after mile of tall, waving grass that fed thousands of buffalo. The Indians and natural enemies of the bison kept their numbers in check so that there was always plenty of grass and year after year it fell back on the land to form a protective mulch against sun and rain, and there were no gullies. As it decayed it enriched the soil with its organic matter and the minerals it had brought up from the depths of its extensive root system. The most productive soils in the world today are those formed under grasslands.

Not until recent years has grass been thought of in terms of a crop to be managed for maximum production, harvested by livestock and sold as livestock products. It has long been a neglected crop. Even people who depended upon grass for a living failed to recognize the different species of the grass family and paid little attention to their growth habits. They based their stocking rate on the number of livestock it took to eat all the grass each year. Cattle and sheep ate the grass down to the ground and what little the stock didn't eat was burned year after year. Soon the desirable grasses grew weak and new seedlings were not allowed to develop and so the palatable grasses disappeared from the rangeland and the undesirable plants that livestock won't graze moved in and took over. The overstocked range lands became covered with broomweeds, ragweeds, prickly pear, needlegrass, silver beard and splitbeard bluestem and spots of buffalo-grass. In the meantime winds and rains had been gouging with relentless fingers at the soils stripped of their protecting covers of grass and had left much of the country crisscrossed with a network of gullies.

The native grasses that covered this area when the deer and antelope roamed were principally Little Bluestem, Big Bluestem, Indian grass, Switch grass, Side-oats Grama, Hairy grama and wildrye and perennial legumes. These are the grasses now found growing in our hay meadows, in odd undisturbed corners and on well managed rangelands.

In the light of our newly won knowledge of the growth habits of the tall native range grasses we can rebuild our grasslands that were destroyed in the darkness of ignorance.

We now realize that, like cake, we cannot keep our grass if we eat all of it each year. If maximum yields and improved grass stands are to be maintained, one-half of each year's grass crop must be left on the land at the end of each growing season.

Ranchers following the "take half — leave half" principle of grass management find that after a few years of this treatment the grass thickens its stand with new plants and becomes more vigorous in growth so that the one-half grass crop taken soon exceeds the total forage tonnage they formerly were getting when they were overgrazing their pastures. They also find that the pounds of beef produced per acre exceeds their former production. With fewer livestock they secure faster gains and the animals bring top prices.

The leaving of half of each year's grass crop on the land may seem like an extravagant waste at first glance, but in reality it is very similar to putting money in U. S. Savings Bonds. It pays good dividends. The grass forms a mulch that protects the soil against wind and water erosion and keeps the soil temperature down so that moisture evaporation is kept to a minimum, and earthworm activity is encouraged. The grass is also allowed to produce seed and the new seedlings find ideal growing conditions in the mulch and so survive to maintain and increase the grass density.

The dried grass supplies good range forage for cattle during the winter months. It is true that the grasses decrease in protein content as they mature and become dormant in the fall, but a daily ration of protein supplement sufficient to satisfy the protein requirements for thrifty growth and proper maintenance of beef cattle on native ranges is all that is necessary. On well managed ranches hay is fed only when ice or snow covers the ground so that cattle are denied access to the grass left there from the previous growing season.

Many grazing systems can be used to get the desirable grasses back into the majority on our rangelands but the one rule that heads the list on every management system is to maintain a stocking rate based on an inventory of the kinds and condition of the grasses and soils on the ranch. Your local Soil Conservation Service will be glad to work with you in developing this information. Proper stocking rate is the basic fundamental to all good grassland management.

The type of range management that gets the fastest improvement in grasses and the one most widely used in this area is the summer deferment grazing system. With this system the grass is divided equally, as nearly as is practical, into two pastures. Then when the growing season starts the cattle are all kept on pasture No. 1 until June then they are transferred to pasture No. 2 where they remain until frost. After grasses go dormant the cattle have access to both pastures. This system allows early spring growth of grasses in pasture No. 2 before the grazing begins and allows plenty of growing season for the grasses of pasture No. 1 to mature and produce seed. Most range plants, when allowed to develop the maximum of surface growth and mature seed, produce a deeper and more extensive root system, enlarge at the base, and become generally more productive. The more palatable grasses are encouraged and enabled to compete with and crowd out those less desirable. This summer deferment practice not only builds up the vigor of the grasses but provides an excellent reserve of winter forage which reduces requirements for supplemental feeds. This practice is followed for two years, then the rotation is reversed with pasture No. 2 having livestock excluded from it during the time from June until frost for a two year period. When a proper stocking rate is maintained this is an excellent method for taking half and leaving half the grass crop. Summer growing fields planted to sweet clover or mixtures of legumes and grasses can be used to ease the grazing pressure of our rangeland. Winter growing legumes, such as vetch and crimson clover in combination with cool season grasses are often used to furnish high protein green forage throughout the winter months and reduce the needs for supplemental feeds.

Wise distribution of watering places and location of salt boxes will encourage a more uniform grazing over the rangeland and help eliminate troublesome spot grazing.

The "take half — leave half" principle when applied means that grass must not be overgrazed, it means that grass must not be burned, but it does mean that we will have better grass, better livestock, more productive soils and better living. Or as one old rancher put it, "I have seen lots of ranchers go broke because they had too many cattle, but I have never seen a man go broke that had too much grass."

The Chinese language and its dialects are used by nearly 500 million people. The English language by a little more than 270 million.

Upper Elm-Red Soil Conservation District News

DISTRICT SUPERVISORS
 J. W. Hess, Muenster Henry Reynolds, Nocona
 John Rice, Collinsville Ed Blackmon, Bowie
 Willard Kemplin, Valley View

The farmland around Muenster has become a patchwork of varied and mixed colors since the rains came. There are several different shades of green as fields of oats, wheat, alfalfa, meadows and grassed waterways line up on the checkered landscape. Waves of green are broken by fields of bright yellow as second year Madrid Sweet Clover comes into full bloom. Honey bees and other pollinating insects are working a full shift gathering nectar and pollinating the blossoms so that they will produce seed. Honey bees can increase seed yields up to 75 per cent when one or more hives per acre is placed in the clover or vetch fields. Cooperators of the Upper Elm-Red Soil Conservation District are still sodding waterways to bermuda grass to provide safe areas for terrace outlets and stop soil erosion. Alfred Sicking used the District sprigging machine to sod a waterway bordering a ditch that crosses his farm. His brother, Ray, also used the machine to widen a waterway that he sodded last year. Emmett Sicking has shaped a wide waterway on the farm he recently bought and used the district sprigging machine to put grass roots in it just before the recent rains.

North of Muenster Albert Knabe has sodded three waterways to bermuda grass and has planted corn on top of some of the grass. By doing this he will cultivate the grass and stimulate its growth as he cultivates the corn.

The hard freezes of last winter did considerable damage to last year's plantings of King Ranch Bluestem, but the popularity of this deep rooted, aggressive, high forage producing grass has suffered only slightly. Joe Wimmer has seeded four acres of cultivated land on the Weinzappel farm to this grass. The planting will be used as a seed plot to obtain seed for future pasture seeding. Earl Robison is planting a three acre plot to K. R. Bluestem for a future seed source. J. W. Hess is increasing his acreage of K. R. Bluestem by planting part of the seed he combined last fall.

Roy Townsley of Myra has completed construction of a mile and a half of channel type terraces on his farm. The terraces all empty into a waterway that was sodded two years ago by Roy and his wife, Lois. The waterway has a good cover of grass and is overseeded to vetch.

Tony Fleitman has a good stand of Chinese Red Cowpeas on 28 acres of his farm northwest of Muenster. The cowpeas, when properly inoculated add much nitrogen to the soil and their lush topgrowth furnishes a good green manure crop. They are a summer growing legume and can be grown for cover and as a soil improving crop between harvest and sowing time.

The world's longest natural gas pipe line was completed recently. Reaching 1,840 miles from Texas to New York City, the 30-inch line goes under or over 160 railroads, 355 highways and 40 rivers. More than half a million tons of steel were used. The line required 19 months to complete.

Program to Honor Rev. Hubert Neu on Day of Ordination

A program by pupils of the Lindsay school on May 30 at 8 o'clock is one in a series of events arranged to honor the Rev. Hubert Neu on the day of his ordination. Sharing honors with Father Neu will be Frater Aloysius Fuhrmann, O.S.B., who on the same day will receive the order of Subdiaconate.

The program will be held in Saint Peter's Hall and everyone is invited to attend. There will be no admission charge.

Included on the program is an address by Antoinette Neu, sister of the new priest, vocal and instrumental numbers by the high school chorus, Angela Hermes and Anita and Marie Fuhrmann, and a play "The Message of Fatima."

Meanwhile members of the parish are this week completing plans for an elaborate two-day program for the community, out of town relatives and other guests. There will be a community dinner at noon on Thursday and a general get-together in the afternoon.

Characters in the school children's play are Alma Louise Kubis as the Blessed Virgin; Imogene Flusche, Maxine Schmitz and William Flusche as Lucy, Jacinta and Francis; Gilbert Kubis, LaVern Fuhrmann, Cyril Hermes and Virginia Zimmerer as pilgrims; Louise Ann Fuhrmann as Sister Lucy. Angela Hermes will be the narrator.

The ordination ceremonies will begin in St. Peter's church at 9 a.m. Wednesday, with the Most Rev. Augustine Danglmayr officiating. Father Neu's First Mass will be celebrated on the following day at 9 a.m.

Church dignitaries, priests, religious and laity from a wide area will be present for the solemn services.

Capt. and Mrs. Tim Stormer and children left Monday for Roswell, N. M., where he will be on duty at Walker AFB. They had spent a month's leave here with her parents, the C. J. Fettes and other relatives since returning to the states from Guam.

A letter from Pvt. Virgil Streng this week to his parents, the John Strengs, advises that he is at Seattle, Wash., waiting to board a transport for an overseas tour. He lists his new address as Prov. Co., SE 1155, APO 613, c-o Postmaster, San Francisco, Calif.

Sailor Junior Hammer is here to spend a 16 day leave with his parents, the George Hammers. During the past three months his ship, the Badoeing Strait, was docked at Seattle, Wash., for a complete overhaul. Junior will board the ship at San Francisco for an overseas tour after he leaves here.

Melvin Herr, Seaman Apprentice, arrived Tuesday afternoon to spend a leave until June 4 with his parents, the Frank Herrs and family. He has completed boot training at San Diego and will report to Kingsville, a jet air base 50 miles south of Corpus Christi for his new assignment.

Several things happened to Jerry Fette this week at Warren AFB in Wyoming. He finished a class in army vehicle operation, received promotion to PFC, and an assignment to four weeks of specialized training. The new class will keep him at Warren; most of the boys in the class just finished are slated for a trip to Europe.

Bernard Luke and Joe Moster who have finished boot training at San Diego, are now in Corpus Christi at the Naval Air Station for new assignments. When Bernard telephoned his parents, the Ben Lukes, Wednesday morning he was still unassigned and his leave had been cancelled. Mrs. Theresia Moster had not heard again from Joe up to Wednesday noon.

Pvt. Gussie Felderhoff left Thursday after completing a leave spent with his parents, the Hubert Felderhoffs and family. His brother Norbert and his mother accompanied him as far as Dallas where he boarded a plane for his temporary destination, Seattle, Wash. His first stop was at Camp Breckenridge in Kentucky where he visited his brother, Pvt. Tommy Felderhoff, who entered the army before Gussie came home on leave. They hadn't seen each other since Gussie entered the army in December. He took his basic training at Fort Bliss.

consists of a VA hospital scene and other reminders are exhibited at the Palace Drug and Jacob Pagel's.

This year marks the 30th annual nationwide sale of Buddy Poppies launched by the Veterans of Foreign Wars in 1922. During the week prior to Memorial Day the American people have a chance to help support a veteran welfare program second to none in its patriotic and humanitarian purpose.

During the coming year, as in the past, the proceeds of the poppy sales will be used exclusively for veteran welfare. The fund will make it possible for each Post and Auxiliary to dispense aid and relief to needy veterans and their families in their own communities.

themselves as outstanding citizens and assets of the community. It is probably the group's greatest community service because it is the greatest single factor in preserving a proper appreciation for what our honored dead did in our behalf.

Similar credit is due to our pastors and others who take part in the memorial service. The words and flowers of tribute and the prayers complement the military service in honoring the war dead as friends and Christians as well as soldiers.

Muenster will do itself proud next Sunday by turning out in large number to take part in the ceremony. Men to be honored deserve the best possible crowd, and people of the community can profit by a reminder of the price that was paid by their sons, brothers and friends for the freedom and other blessings they now enjoy.
