State Officials To Speak at Ag Meet Here Monday Night

Prominently featured in the news these days are sharply contrasting accounts of official dealings with spies according to American and Soviet standards of justice.

A big story of the week is that concerning the four convicted red spies who failed to appear with their seven partners in crime to begin serving their sentences. The nation is more than a little irked at the thought that these four, ranking as about the most despicable characters in the country, are apparently succeeding in evading the just punishment for their treachery. And while we feel reasonably certain that the criminals have already made good their get-away we nevertheless continue to hope that somehow they will be caught and brought to prison.

The significant point for our consideration here, however, is that all eleven were out on bond until the appointed time for their sentence to begin. Though convicted they were permitted to enjoy a period of freedom.

From the very beginning of the case up to the date of confinement those eleven persons enjoyed the full benefit of the world's noblest and most humane standard of justice. Every minute of the time our courts scrupulously abided by the principle of respecting their unalienable rights. Even in the face of insults, perjury and legal trickery, offenses which in themselves deserved punishment, they were convicted strictly on indisputable evidence.

There were more than a few occasions when the behavior of the suspects tested our patience. We could not tolerate the thought of our tribunal absorbing the abuse of criminals. But now that it is over and our indignation has cooled down we realize with pride that our government is the kind that will bend over backward in its respect for human right and dignity. We see in the record a faithful application of the American principle that even in trying circumstances personal right takes precedence over official authority.

Contrast all that with proceedings of the typical communist trial just completed in Czecho Slovakia. William Oatis, AP correspondent, in a daze mumbled an apparently memorized confession of his crimes against the Czech state. Unlike suspects over here he did not abuse the court. He abused himself with a conglomeration of ridiculous false confessions, all obviously wrong from him by coercion, as Robert Vogler reveals they had been wrung from him prior to a similar mock trial.

If there were no other basis on which to judge the comparative merits of Americanism and Communism, these two trials alone should be sufficient to exalt our way of life forever in the eyes of mankind and to condemn forever the totalitarian way. There can be no better indication than these trials of the regard of the two systems for an individual's God-given rights.

As we think of such things we become more and more certain that we are living in a wonderful country. We begin to feel that a nation which abides by such standards truly has the makings of a Utopia.

And about that time we snap out of the trance and realize that actually we are a long way from Utopia, so far in fact that we can understand why some of our shallow brained individuals are listening to the absurd and false promises of Communists.

Things today are not the way they were intended by our Founding Fathers. We have controls, excessive taxation, greed, lust for power, clashes between groups of society and various other evils that were permitted to adulterate the most perfect system of government ever devised by man. And un-

A general invitation was extended this week to all farmers and business men of the Muenster community to hear State Senator Joe Carter and State Commissioner of Agriculture John White next Monday night at 8 in the public school auditorium.

Ray Kupper, president of the Cooke County Agricultural Club, announced that the occasion will be a regular monthly meeting of the organization with Carter and White appearing on the program. He did not disclose the subject of their talks.

Muenster business men are cooperating with the club by providing refreshments for the group. Rudy Hellman, in charge of that detail, said the refreshments will probably be ice cream.

Heretofore the agricultural club meetings have been held in the Community Center building of Gainesville. Next Monday's will be the first of a series to be held in rural areas of the county.

FFA Chapter Sends Two Delegates to Houston Convention

When the 23rd annual convention of the Texas Association of Future Farmers of America meets in the Shamrock Hotel of Houston next week Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, Muenster's FFA chapter will be represented by Secretary Wilfred Klement and Treasurer Gerald Walterscheid. They will be accompanied by Ralph Maglaughlin, chapter counselor and vocational agriculture instructor.

About 3000 Future Farmers from all over the state are expected to attend the three day event including business sessions and a varied program of entertainment arranged by civic leaders of Houston.

The program includes a visit to San Jacinto battleground and the battleship "Texas", free admission to a Texas League ball game, a "shamburger" and swimming party at the Shamrock pool and a gigantic torchlight ceremony for the coronation of the State FFA Sweetheart.

On the way the Muenster trio will visit at Sam Houston Teachers' College, General Sam Houston's home and the state penitentiary at Huntsville.

Council Announces Weed Mowing Plan

Some time in the near future, probably next week, weeds on the Muenster city property and street right of way will be cut, and vacant lots around town will get the same treatment if their owners will make arrangements with Mayor Hoffman or Steve Mosler.

The clean up project was authorized at this week's city council meeting as a measure to eliminate hide-outs and breeding places for flies and other insects which could spread disease.

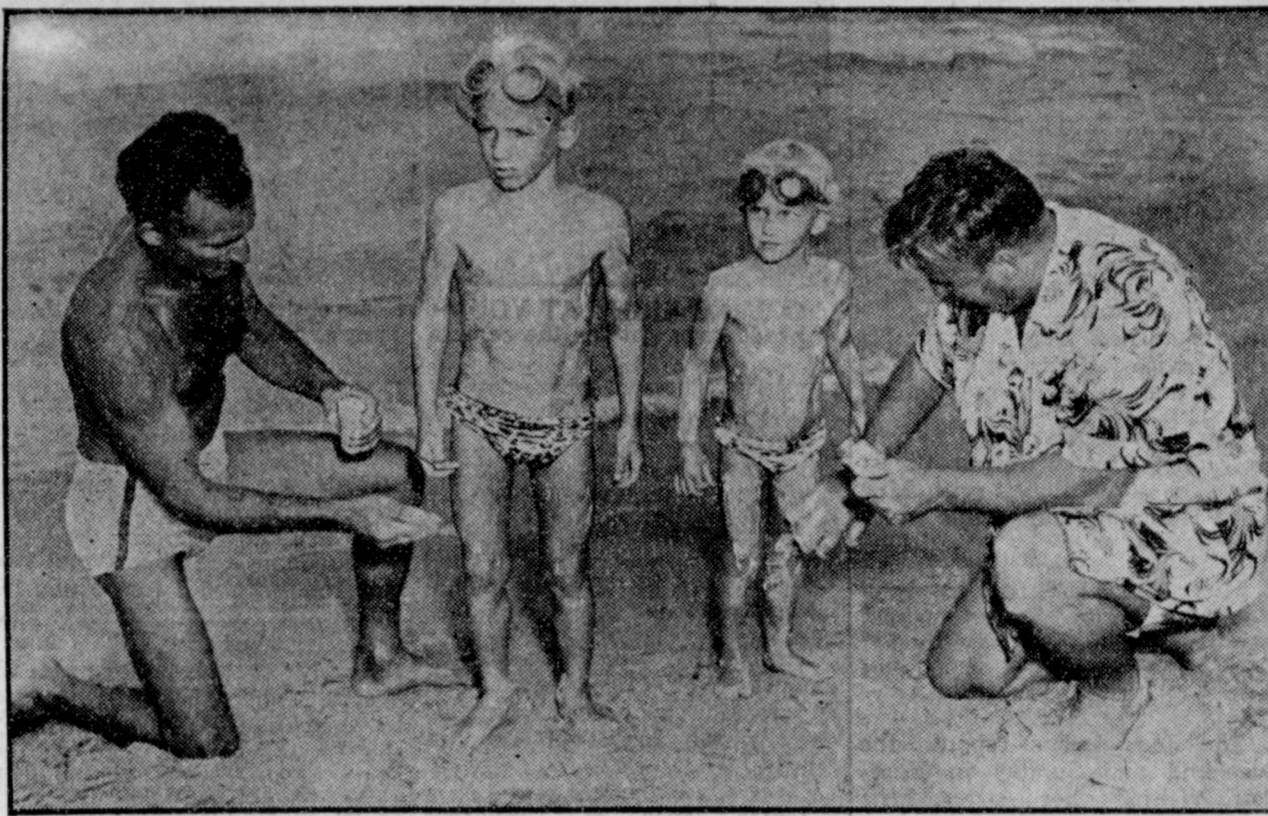

Arrangements have been made for a mower to do the city job, and Mosler, who is in charge of the work, will handle other weed patches on the same project if owners will notify him in time.

Gainesville Scouts Play Here Friday

Muenster Boy Scouts are putting in extra practice time lately in the hope of being in top form Friday night when they take on the Gainesville Scout team on the local diamond.

One such practice session was Wednesday morning when all the scouts, both regulars and pee-wees chose sides for a game.

In their last encounter the kiddies were humiliated by their sponsors, the Veterans. The game started fairly even but about half way through the vets started a slugging spree. The final count: about 33 to 13.

CHANNEL CHILDREN—These two youngsters—the Tongay Tots, they call them—aim to swim the English Channel soon. Bubba, 5, and Kathy, 4, are shown at Miami Beach, Fla., where they trained for the Channel attempt. Once Bubba swam 22 miles in the Mississippi River; Kathy quit after 12 miles. Greasing them up are their father, Russell Tongay, right, and an unidentified aide.

School Transfers Are Due This Month

From the office of County Superintendent Hubert Moss comes a reminder that July is the month for students to make official transfers if they plan to attend a school outside of their home district.

The transferring procedure is simple. It requires only that a parent indicate on a transfer slip the school to be attended next year, sign, and submit to the county superintendent's office. Blank transfer slips are available at the superintendent's office.

Transferring is important, Mr. Moss pointed out. It is the only means by which a student's per capita allotment can be transferred to the school that will teach him. Unless the money is transferred parents can be required to pay tuition for the student.

July 31 is the deadline. All transfers must be made on or before that date.

Fire Truck Gets Late Model Chassis

As a result of action taken by the city council Monday night Muenster's ancient fire truck is due to be more dependable in the near future. The hose and other equipment is to be transferred from the old Dodge chassis, about a 1920 model, to a 1947 Dodge truck chassis. The old chassis, well past its retirement age, has been undependable for some time and council members have decided to stop risking its failure on a fire call. They cannot repair the old chassis. Parts for it are no longer available.

Toughie Wolf And Seven Others Die

A wolf chase provided lots of excitement in the Bruno Fleitman-Tony Felderhoff neighborhood for some 15 or 20 minutes just before dusk last Thursday evening.

Bruno and Alvin Hartman, working in a hay field, spotted the prowler and gave chase in a pickup, Alvin driving and Bruno standing in the back blazing away with his shotgun. The chase drifted to Tony Felderhoff's and Tony and A. J. joined the party.

Finally after the wolf had traveled some 4 or 5 miles, and the pickup about twice that far ... it did lots of detouring to go through gates while the wolf was going through fences ... the party finished it off a few hundred yards west of Felderhoff's house. Fagged out and loaded with lead the animal finally fell from Tony's rifle shot through the head.

Less exciting but more profitable was Joe Danglmayr's experience of about a week earlier. After finding dead sheep several successive days he found tracks in the mud leading from a carcass. Following the tracks about a mile he found what appeared to be a den under a pair of old boxcars used for hay and grain storage. Smaller tracks nearby indicated that wolf pups were probably there also. Since the boxcars rested on timbers the den had several exits, so Joe went for help to surround the building before disturbing the wolves.

Four companions returned with him and between them they bagged one big male and six pups. Another wolf seen on a ridge nearby and believed to be the female of the pack made good its escape.

Joe Swirczynski returned home Friday after spending a month in Nebraska. At Wisner he attended the wedding of his nephew, Robert Yosten to Violet Otto. Enroute home he visited in Emporia, Kansas, with his daughter and family, the Alex Knaufts, and in Oklahoma City with his brother, John and family.

Ladies Auxiliary Wins Merit Award

The Muenster VFW Auxiliary has received a certificate of merit for a 100 per cent honor roll rating during the past year through accomplishment of all the aims and objectives required to qualify for the award.

Local members learned of the award Monday night at their regular meeting when Mrs. F. A. Kathman, a delegate to the state convention in Dallas last week, gave her report.

Mrs. Maurice Pagel, president, presided during the business session. The committee in charge of landscaping around the highway safety sign advised that work had been delayed due to rainy weather but that plans are to have the site leveled this weekend preparatory to planting shrubbery and flowers.

Mmes. John Huchton and F. A. Kathman were hostesses for the social hour and served frosted coca cola. Mrs. Ferd Luttmir won the attendance prize. Eighteen members were present.

Asks Vacation Cut For Federal Help

If the 2,146,000 Federal government employees had their vacations cut to four weeks — 20 days — annually, it would save the taxpayers more than $200,000,000, according to Senator Douglas of Illinois. Most of the employees now get 26 days annual leave.

Sen. Douglas introduced an amendment seeking to put the $200,000,000 saving into effect.

Mrs. Thomas Felderhoff left Thursday evening by train to join her husband who is training at Camp Breckenridge, Ky.

2.19 Inch Soaker Improves Outlook For Hay and Corn

The million dollar rain that farmers of this area have been hoping for arrived Sunday and Monday in the form of a 2.19 inch soaker.

Beginning about 10:30 Sunday the rain fell steadily until about noon and returned again early Monday morning for a total measure of 1.86 at the 7 o'clock reading. Rain after 7 p.m. Monday amounted to .33 inch.

The moisture came at just the right time to carry local corn crops through to maturity. Corn had been thriving nicely during June rains, and this week's rain will help ears to develop fully. Alfalfa fields likewise have a good start toward another hay cutting. Grain harvesting, the little that remained unfinished, was hurt little if any by the rain.

The rain gives July a strong start on its moisture record following the wettest June here in the past 5 years. The total was 7.56, as compared with 5.51 last year and 6.06 in 1948.

Rained-Out Picnic To Be Held Sunday

That new church benefit picnic originally scheduled for last Sunday and postponed because of the rain will be held next Sunday.

As planned before it will be held in the grove of Alfred Bayer's farm and starting time is after the last mass, about 11 o'clock.

Picnic features likewise will be the same. A boxed chicken dinner will be available at noon and the usual array of concessions will offer games, eats and drinks. In addition there will be two special concessions, a country store offering a large variety of smaller things and a white elephant auction consisting mostly of larger things. All items for both places have been contributed by members of the community.

One change in the program is that concerning the square dance on the city park platform. It has been moved forward to the preceding day, so it will be held Saturday night, July 7.

In spite of the rain last Sunday's picnic was at least a partial success. When the shower hit the dinner detail was well on its way of preparing box lunches. Word spread immediately that the lunches were available in the school lunch room. About 400 flocked to the place and either took the lunches home or ate them there.

Soil Conservation Work Unit Moves to Enterprise Building

Since Tuesday the Muenster Work Unit of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service is located in the Enterprise building. It occupies the front half of the west wing which until March of this year had been used by the Cooke County Electric Co-operative.

For the past two years the work unit had been located in the Kaiser building, four blocks east of Main on Highway 82.

The back half of the former REA location was taken over recently by the Enterprise. A doorway was cut into the brick partition wall to make it available to the Enterprise for a stock room.

Norway's Road Ahead

Once the free enterprise way of life has been shattered by the establishment of the Socialist Welfare State all the King's horses and all the King's men may be unable to put it back together again. Public opinion polls in England indicate that most of the people now want to end the rule of the Labor-Socialist government. But not even Conservative leader Winston Churchill suggests that there is a way at hand to undo, in the foreseeable future, what has already been done.

Welfare State governments must have big money to operate. The necessary heavy taxes quickly drain away private wealth and kill the incentive to progress. The Socialized industries become run down, and finally unproductive — unless harsh Police State measures are used to shackle the workers. Where there is no private wealth remaining, socialized industries cannot be really restored to private ownership. And where the people have long depended on regular monthly benefits, doles and subsidies, and "free" services, their psychology is not easily changed.

Non-Reducible

The dismal course of the Welfare State seldom varies. The scheme now has been implanted to some degree in virtually all nations of Europe. Dr. Wm. T. Bean, principal of Butler (Pa.) High School, who is now studying conditions in Europe under sponsorship of Harding College, writes from Oslo, Norway: "Norway's program of social services, which is very extensive, has not been expanded; neither has it been reduced . . . It would be almost impossible for any government to reduce the services at this point. "These non-reducible services, plus expenditures for defense, have produced a tax binder (shackle) and government control that are almost ruinous, especially for business and industry. It is not unusual for a very small business to pay 75 per cent of its net profit in taxes; and the remainder is again taxed heavily on the personal income of the owner.

"Free Ride" Exposed

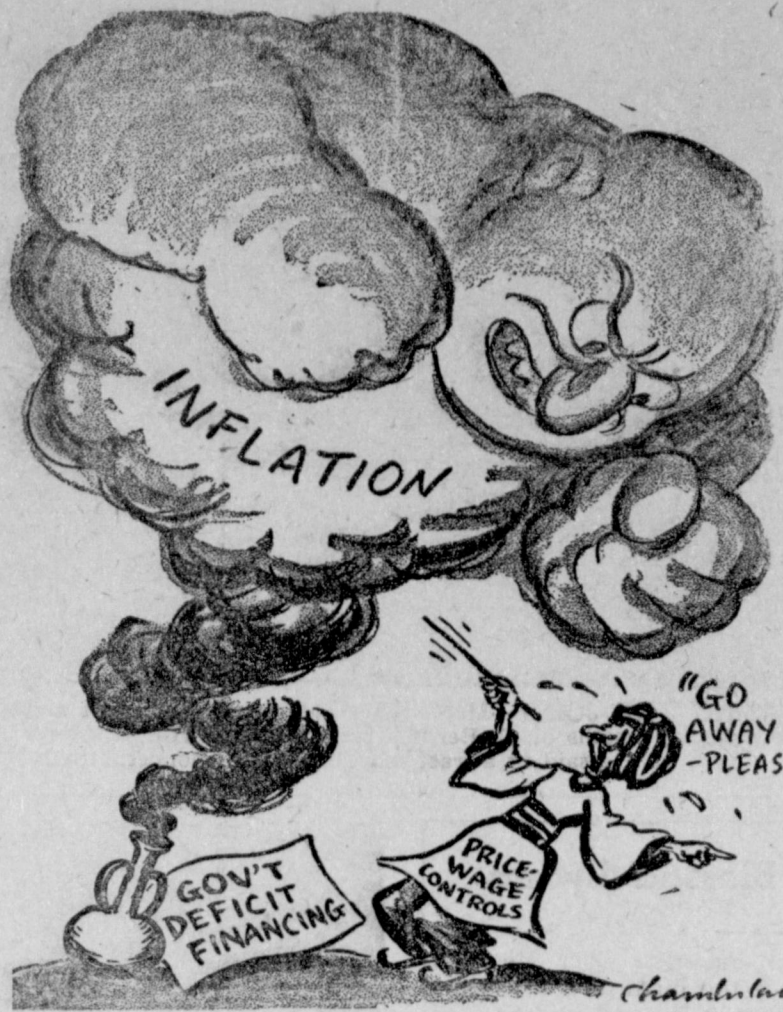

"Government control is very extensive indeed. In addition to levying taxes, and thereby exercising a considerable measure of control, it has necessarily extended control over the lives of the people as it has extended services to them, and as it has taken over responsibility of their welfare. The people complain bitterly about the high taxes and government restrictions, but they would never reduce the very thing that causes them. Obviously many people had expected these things to be done without any personal inconvenience to themselves. It is the old story of the 'free ride' exposed.

"Housing is a good case in point. In Oslo, for instance, the government owns and operates most of the housing units and has done so for a considerable period of time. Private housing is almost non-existent for the average man. Since the private investor has been driven out of the market, the government finds that it must continue to carry the ever-increasing housing burden — and the government now is broke. Who builds? Nobody! And so the condition becomes more and more aggravating as newly married couples demand the same subsidized low rent government housing as their parents have been getting for years. It would seem that once a cycle of this sort is started, it cannot be stopped.

It Won't Work

"Every article in Norway is subject to price control. Rationing is still the order of the day, and food is far shorter than I imagined it would be. Meat and cheese are short, with reindeer meat the most commonly available. Sugar and coffee are difficult to find, and there are no fresh fruits at all, since they are imports that the government has banned."

If 20th Century "Democratic" Socialism has proved one thing — it is that political ownership, management or control of the facilities of production cannot succeed in a free society. It always reduces production of goods and services and thus lowers the living standard. Either

Editor's Prayer

"O Lord, have mercy on this guy as we wander here below, gathering news and spreading tales about the folks we know . . . It's true, he is inquisitive, a very nosy guy; his one redeeming feature is: he's seldom known to lie! . . . He has his nose in everything that happens here on earth, no matter what your standing is, how high or low your birth.

"You try to steal some money and present a pretty tale; this bird comes out and tells the truth, as why you went to jail . . . You wreck your car on one short beer, or so you firmly stated; this man reports the judge declared you were inebriated . . . The preacher brings his sermon in, the lawyer brings his will, the plumber states in big bold type, he must collect his bill.

"This man prints news about the time you first saw light of day, about the things you did on earth, and when you passed away . . . He has to delve in everything from politics to treason; at times, he is convinced that murder is in season . . . It's queer how folks will do nice things, then drop a little hint, as how it wouldn't hurt a bit to have it shown in complete Socialism must take over or the nation must try slowly and painfully to restore private ownership and individual responsibility. Complete Socialism requires the enslavement of the people. It requires rigidly controlled and enforced labor. It destroys the last vestige of individual freedom. England and Norway and the other Socialist countries may someday get rid of their Socialist governments but their road ahead, under any circumstances, is not pretty. Socialism has infected their future. For the sake of our American employees and for the sake of all our children we must not let its disguised ideas take root here.

The Declaration Of Independence & God

by Rev. James Keller

When our Founding Fathers, 175 years ago, drew up and adopted a charter, now recognized as one of the noblest documents of all times, they based its authority on Almighty God.

In so brief a document, these men might have made but one reference to the Creator. But they wanted to hammer home truths which they feared others might discard, truths which they knew were fundamental to Democracy.

Woven, therefore, into the texture of the Declaration of Independence are four significant sentences.

Direct Quotations

1. Note the wording of the first: "When in the course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands, which have connected them with another, and to assume among the powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the Laws of Nature and of Nature's God entitle them . . ." Our forefathers might have established their claims on the "Laws of Nature" alone. Instead, they emphasized the fact that the natural law itself depends on God.

2. The second sentence is equally positive: "We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty, and the pursuit of Happiness. . ."

3. Toward the end of the document, the Founding Fathers appear, in their own words, "to the Supreme Judge of the world" for the rectitude of their intentions.

4. The Declaration closes with the following statement: "And for the support of this Declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our Lives, our Fortunes, and our sacred Honor."

They Recognized God

Evidently, the Fathers of our country felt that they should be most explicit. They were God-fearing men. For them the idea of God had to be integrated with everything if men were not to forget that their rights, liberties and life itself came from their Creator.

Those great men sitting in the second Continental Congress in Philadelphia must have had William Penn's warning in mind as they drew up the Declaration: "Those people who are not governed by God will be ruled by tyrants."

(A readable little pamphlet on this theme, "Insist On This", will be sent you free by writing the Paulist Information Service, Washington 17, D. C.)

A man stood on the street corner waiting to cross. After autos whizzed by for a long time, he spied a pedestrian across the street. "How did you get over there?" he shouted. The other yelled back, "I was born over here."

Never thought I'd see the day "doing dishes" would be fun. But, thanks to my new electric dishwasher, here it is! Now . . . instead of making a quick disappearance after dinner . . . everybody heads for the kitchen.

Washing dishes the electric way, you know, is a small matter of stacking them (as many as 60 at a time) safely into the dishwasher and turning a switch.

In short order, your dishes are automatically, hygienically double-washed, double-rinsed, and dried. No greasy dishcloths . . . no dishpan hands.

No wonder my electric dishwasher's the most popular new appliance I own!

We Wonder Why

An Ohio reader of this column has written me asking a question that, in the interest of this nation's security, should be answered. I quote the letter in part:

"After Wars One and Two, the Anti-Trust Division got after the 'Big Boys'. Events have proven that without these 'Big Boys' it would have taken the country months or years longer to gear up to actually produce in sufficient quantities the war materials necessary to carry on our 'Police Action' in Korea, to say nothing of our over-all defense program.

"We know that there are Socialists and Communists in the State Department who have been successful in undermining this country. I am wondering if the same situation does not exist in the Department of Justice, because it has many, many times tried to bust up the big companies. Had these attempts been successful, we would indeed be ready victims of Russia's machinations."

Our Buckeye friend has good reason to wonder. What really has been the motivation behind the uncalculated assault of the Department of Justice upon many of the nation's large industries? It is a matter that should be looked into.

Stalin knows that Big Business was the spear-head that enabled us in both World Wars I and II, not only to equip our own military forces, but to furnish to our allies much of their material needs. Big Business was the main crank around which all the little wheels and cogs revolved. The man in the Kremlin knows that this big American production was the most important factor in the defeat of Germany in World War I and both Germany and Japan in World War II.

Stalin also knows that we and the friendly nations that are lined up with us to forestall Russia's conquest of the world, cannot match his fighting forces in numerical strength. The one thing that so far has deterred Russia from plunging the world into World War III is its respect and fear of America's huge production machine.

What then is more logical than to suspect that Russia has planted spies and communist sympathizers in the one department of our government which can slow down that production machine? Our courts already have proved that Russia has her agents in other departments of Uncle Sam's government. It there any reason to believe that the cunning Stalin has overlooked the one department that can interfere with, perhaps destroy, our greatest defense asset — big scale production?

For the time being the Department of Justice has declared an armistice with Big Business. It has not dared to continue its persecution in the knowledge that American citizens are well aware that the big corporations

Thousands of tons of scrap-vital material in steelmaking—are idle in junk piles on farms, and some of it is wasting away, says the Committee. If farmers promptly sell this material to local scrap collectors, it will be moved to steel mills or foundries for the production of defense equipment and essential civilian items. All scrap is urgently needed—whether a few pounds, a few bushels or a ton or more.

Farmers will help themselves by the sale of the scrap and will help strengthen the United States. Each day about 2,000 carloads of purchased scrap are required by steel mills and foundries. The mills are operating at a record high rate and using more scrap than ever before.

Old tools, wornout parts of tractors, trucks, cultivators and other implements; broken and discarded pieces of metal and other scrap should be taken to town and sold right away to the local scrap dealer. Every pound of scrap which comes back to steel mills helps to make two pounds of new steel, on the average.

If the scrap is unusually bulky, preventing its easy transportation by the farmer, the scrap dealer can be called or the local farm agent can be asked to work out an arrangement.

"Farms are one of the big sources of scrap," says the Committee. "Never have farmers had a greater stake in the nation's steel output."

"More scrap from farms means more steel."

"This vital material must not be allowed to waste away. There is no place for waste in the United States today."

which provided the margin of victory in two previous world conflicts, are again on the job producing for our defense.

You can rest assured, that its anti-business propaganda has only been buried for a spell in the "Deep Freeze," to be resurrected if and when Russia gives any sign of abandoning its dream of conquering the non-communist world. That could be a trick Stalin has up his sleeve to have us lower our guard.

Of late we have a lot of Congressional Investigating Committees. There seems to be a crying need for one more — perhaps the most important — one to thoroughly investigate the Department of Justice to ascertain whether or not it has on its payroll any agents of the Kremlin. Surely, in the interest of national security such an investigation is mandatory. As no one doubts the loyalty and patriotism of the heads of that department, undoubtedly they would welcome it.

Cost of Spying on Romancing Coons

The lower House of Congress doesn't believe that the Federal government should employ "Peeping Toms" to watch racoons in the throes of romance.

The House expressed its view by denying a request of the Fish and Wildlife Service for $171,000 to investigate fish and wildlife. The vote was taken after Rep. Howard W. Smith of Virginia said the service had published a booklet containing a complete and "accurate" description of a love affair between two racoons. He cited the booklet to show that there is "an utterly silly waste of money in every appropriation bill that comes before this Congress."

MORSE, NOT REMORSE—An old skill has given 90-year-old Mrs. Emma Read of Pueblo, Colo., a new life. When her hearing failed years ago, Mrs. Read, once a frontier town telegrapher, became an expert lip reader. Recently her sight began to fail. Undaunted, Mrs. Read taught Morse code to her daughter and now has an electrical contact with the world.

Wrigley Had The Answer On Need For Advertising

Probably this is an old story, but we hadn't seen it before until we ran across it in the Pelican Press Messenger. It is a good story for any advertising salesman to use:

The late William Wrigley was once riding with a friend on a crack express train from New York to Chicago. His companion was curious to know why the magnate continued to spend so much money on advertising.

"Your gum is known all over the world," he said. "Why don't you save the millions you are spending on advertising?"

Wrigley pondered a second and then asked, "How fast is this train going?"

"About 60 miles per hour," replied the other. "Then," asked Wrigley, "why doesn't the railway company remove the engine and let the train travel on its own momentum?"

The shortest distance between dates is a good line.

Denton Man Enters Congressional Race

Doug Crouch of Denton, a fighting soldier turned fighting legislator, has hit the campaign trail in the 15 counties of the 13th Congressional District.

Crouch is asking the district's voters to send him to Congress to succeed Congressman Ed Gossett who has announced he is resigning. Date of the special election has not been announced.

Crouch has just completed a long session in the Texas House of Representatives where he was a leader in the successful fight for a bigger rural roads program and a tax on natural gas going out of Texas to out-of-state consumers.

In his first legislative term, Crouch proved his fighting ability in that battle for rural roads and a tax on gas going into pipelines, just as he had proved it earlier in three bitter campaigns in the Pacific during World War II.

Born on an Alabama farm, the young legislator-to-be moved to Texas in 1930. He was graduated from high school in Denton, then entered the army, a "career" he followed for the next four and one-half years as an infantry rifleman. During more than three years overseas he soldiered in Australia, New Guinea and the Philippines as an enlisted man in the 41st Infantry.

Back in Denton after his discharge in 1945, he entered North Texas State College, graduating with a degree in government.

The 28-year-old attorney-legislator plans an active campaign for the congressional seat and will announce his detailed campaign platform later.

A Colonel from Kentucky was telling his cook how he wanted a ham prepared.

"First pour a pint of whisky over it and bake it for an hour; then pour a pint of rum over it and bake for another hour; then pour a pint of brandy over it and bake till it's done."

"I dunno about the ham," remarked the cook, "but that sure will be wonderful gravy."

Changes In Draft Regulations Noted By State Director

AUSTIN.—The draft law, scheduled for expiration July 9, has been extended in amended form to July 1, 1955. Brigadier General Paul L. Wakefield, state draft director, reminded Texas people today.

General Wakefield noted the following important changes in the Selective Service act:

1. Men inducted will serve for 24 months as compared to 21 under the old law. Males must register at the age of 18, as formerly.

2. Men are liable for induction at age of 18½ instead of 19. No man below 19 can be inducted so long as a board has eligible older men.

3. Physical and mental standards for service have been lowered, with the result that some men now classified IV-F will be found suitable for I-A.

4. The present strength of the armed forces, approximately 3½ million, can be raised to 5 million men.

5. Except for cases of extreme hardship, a man may not be deferred for dependency on the basis of a wife alone.

6. Men now or hereafter deferred on educational, occupational, farming, or dependency grounds will remain liable for service until age 35. Men not deferred are liable only to 26th birthday.

7. Conscientious objectors to military service shall be ordered by local boards, subject to regulations prescribed by the President, to perform civilian work in the national interest for 24 months.

8. Men entering the service by way of a draft board are obligated to serve six years in the reserves after discharge.

9. High school students will be deferred until graduated, until they attain age 20, or until they fail school work.

10. Some college students may be deferred on the basis of class standing during last completed school year, or on the basis of a government-sponsored test. The local board is not bound to defer on the basis of this information, but can defer on consideration of it. Some other college students may be deferred on a less competitive basis.

11. No inducted man may be assigned overseas until he has had four months training.

12. All enlistments in the armed forces, reserve and regular, which expire after July 9, may be extended by the President for one year. No person shall have his enlistment extended a second time.

Paint Heater Pays Off For Inventor

GARY, Ind.—Friends laughed and shook their heads when James A. Bebe talked about hot paint and his patented paint heater. They said nobody would ever bother to spray with hot paint. After the war, Bebe quit his job as paint foreman at Westinghouse Electric Corporation, and established his own shop to make paint heaters. He sold his heaters as fast as he could make them.

In 1946, with limited capital, he did an $8,000 business. He had demonstrated that his invention paid off, and he was able to expand. Last year, his plant in Cleveland, Ohio, brought in $250,000 in paint heater sales. Bebe is now building a $75,000 addition to his plant to take care of new business.

Bebe says heating the paint to 200 degrees makes it atomize better and dry faster, and also cuts waste from overspray by 50 per cent. Recently, he licensed a British firm to manufacture his heaters, and is now developing a special type of heater for the Army and Air Force. His friends, who used to laugh, now regard him with great respect.

Average Farmer's Worth Estimated At $17,000 in '50

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. — Mr. Average U. S. Farmer has a net worth estimated at $17,000 and made a net profit last year of about $2,225, a survey released here reveals.

The Family Economics Bureau of the Northwestern National Life Insurance Company based its figures on official government statistics, drawing them together similar to a corporation's annual report.

Total value of American farms on Dec. 31, was estimated at $91,000,000,000 in land, buildings, livestock, and equipment. Its 1950 produce came to about $30,000,000,000, or around a third of total farm value.

While farm population has shrunk from 32,000,000 persons in 1900 to 28,000,000 last year, the smaller agricultural force now produces twice as much goods and other products, the survey added.

Analyzing the average farmer's worth, the study also said he owned at the end of 1950 some 195 acres of land which, with buildings, is booked at $10,000. His mortgage is down to $850, or 8½ percent of value, compared with a 20 percent mortgage before World War II.

In addition he owned $2,200 worth of implements, machinery, and motor vehicles and $2,100 of livestock and poultry. This brings his total food factory value to $14,300.

From this plant he sold $4,350 worth of produce, on which he netted $2,225, and used another $350 worth for his family and himself during the year. This $4,700 total output amounted to about a third of plant value, compared with an output in 1900 and 1910 of about a sixth and in 1929 a little less than a fourth of average farm value.

Other assets included $1,200 worth of crops in storage; $3,100 in cash, bank deposits, and United States savings bonds, and $350 worth of stock in his local farmer cooperative.

Liabilities included, in addition to the $850 mortgage, about $1.10 owed the bank, the commodity credit corporation, and local merchants.

The average farm of 195 acres is a third bigger today than the 146-acre average in 1900 and 145 acres in 1925. Contrast-ed with last year's estimated $2,225 net income per farm, the average was $350 in 1900 and $960 in 1925.

I don't go much for bragging in folks... but come to think of it, I never walked home through the alley after catching a large fish.

Lindsay News

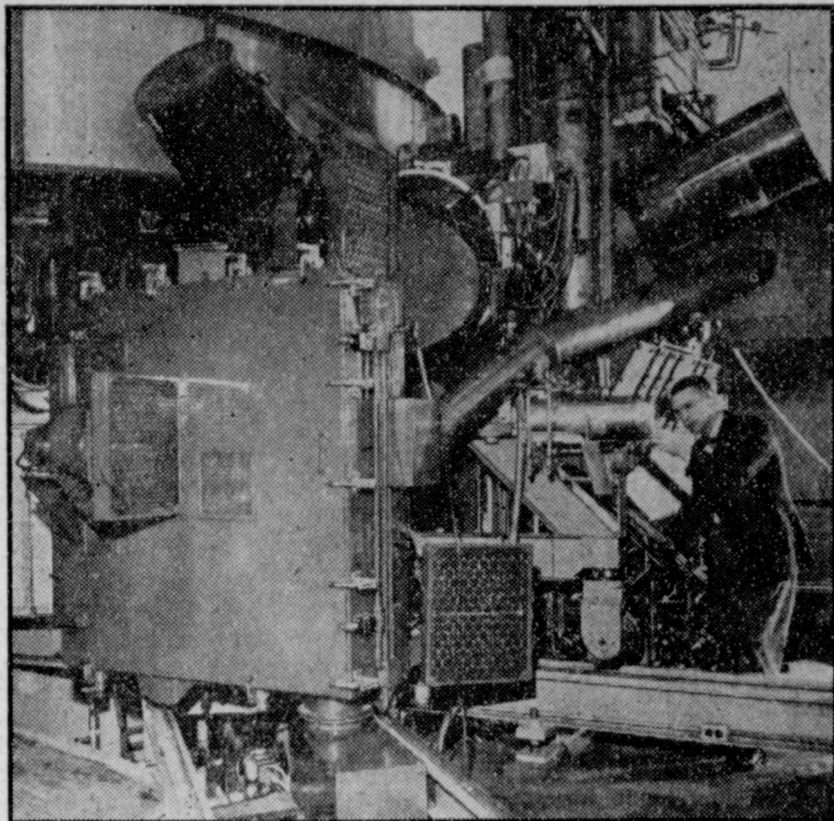

Aileen Schmitz is visiting in Muenster with her aunt, Mrs. Martin Trubenbach and family.

The Henry Luebberts of Fort Worth were here Sunday for a visit with his parents, the Fred Luebberts.

Mr. and Mrs. George Rohleder of Fort Worth were Sunday guests of her mother, Mrs. Otto Schmitt. Other guests were the Charles Bates of Gainessville.

The Adolph Fuhrmanns had as guests last week his nieces, Bernice and Marcella Thill of LuVerne, Iowa, and their friends, Marsha Down of Mason City and Dolores Elbert of Aglona, Iowa. The girls also visited the H. J. Fuhrmanns at Muenster and left Saturday to return home.

Mr. and Mrs. John Schmitz of Austin and their son, PFC Lee Roy Schmitz of Keesler Field, Miss., spent the weekend here with their daughter and sister, Mrs. Ray Wilde and family and also visited relatives in Lindsay. Joining them Sunday were the Martin Theimers of Oklahoma City. All of them were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Freddie Schmitz in Gainessville. Lee Roy is on leave and will go to Shreveport, La., for a new assignment.

SUPER-SYNCHRO-CYCLOTRON—This maze of nuts, bolts, and odd lengths of tubing is the University of Chicago's new 450-million-volt synchro-cyclotron, believed to be the world's most powerful atom smashing mechanism. The $2,500,000 machine, which is a unit of the new $5 million Research Institute, all but dwarfs Professor John Marshall, one of its creators.

Sunday dinner guests of the Vincent Felderhoffs were Messrs. and Mmes. Frank Rauschuber, Marvin and Alvin Rauschuber and daughter and Ferd Hundt all of Valley View and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hess.

Fire Razes Barn at Adolph Fuhrmann

Adolph Fuhrmann of Lindsay lost a barn, 350 bales of alfalfa hay and 700 bushels of oats in a fire about 3:30 last Friday afternoon.

Mr. Fuhrmann said that the fire started in a hay loft where 150 bales of old hay was stored but he has no idea what caused it. When discovered by two children the blaze was already well advanced. A Gainessville fire department truck, which was called immediately, arrived too late to save any part of the building but stood by spraying water on other buildings to prevent their catching fire. When they left the barn was reduced to a smouldering heap.

Some time later, about 7 o'clock Mr. Fuhrmann recalled the fire department to save some oats still smouldering in the ruins. They recovered about 200 bushels.

Fuhrmann estimates his loss at about $2300. Practically all of it is covered by insurance.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Trubenbach had as their guests last week her sister, Mrs. Ben Tubb and daughters Patty and Linda of Oklahoma City. Mr. Tubb joined his family for a visit Sunday and they accompanied him home. Also visiting in the Trubenbach home during the week were her brother and wife, T. Sgt. and Mrs. Julius Gieb of Lackland AFB in San Antonio.

5 County 4-H Boys Win In Pig Contest

Five Cooke County 4-H boys won a total of $22 in prize money in the Sears-Roebuck Foundation swine contest, H. W. Schittler, assistant county agent, announced Monday.

Winners are Cecil Hermes, Melvin Kuhn and Henry Fleitman of Lindsay, Edward Pick of Muenster and Tommy Parkhill of Callisburg.

Hermes and Parkhill won $5 each. The other boys won $4 each.

Cooke County's five winners enabled the county to tie with Somervells County in the number of heavy litter winners in the contest, Schittler said.

The boys will use the prize money to buy material for hog lot equipment in furthering swine demonstrations.

Sherman Lady Is NCCW President

Mrs. James Cooney of Sherman is the new president of the Sherman Deanery National Council of Catholic Women as the result of the annual election of officers during a quarterly meeting held at Gainessville on June 28.

Other new officers are Mrs. A. G. Hutton of Gainessville, first vice president; Mrs. Ted Rauschuber of Lindsay, second vice president; Mrs. Andy Flusche of Pilot Point, third vice president; Mrs. Otto Heinzman of Valley View, recording secretary; Mrs. A. A. Rolfe of Sherman, corresponding secretary; Mrs. E. T. Noyes of Denton, treasurer; Mrs. J. M. Weinzapfel of Muenster, diocesan board member.

Mrs. Weinzapfel, retiring president, conducted the meeting during which parish presidents gave their reports. Mrs. Herman Fette reported for Muenster. All parishes in the deanery were represented. They are Gainessville, Lindsay, Muenster, Pilot Point, Villey View, Denison, Whitesboro, Denton and Sherman.

Rev. Father Erbrick of Sherman, deanery moderator, opened the meeting with prayer and Mrs. Otto Heinzman of Valley View extended welcome. Valley View and Whitesboro women were hostesses for the meeting held in St. Mary's hall.

Mrs. Howard Wiechram of Denton reviewed the booklet "Counter-Attack" which tells how to combat communism, and Rev. Thomas Weinzapfel addressed the assemblage briefly.

Members outlined plans for the annual diocesan convention which will be held in Denison this year. The dates are September 24-25.

After sacramental benediction by Father Weinzapfel in St. Mary's church the women returned to the hall for refreshments served by the hostesses.

Bovine Booby Trap

When doing painting around the farm, don't forget that calves as well as older cattle like to lick freshly painted surfaces. They also will lick what is left in the bottom of discarded paint containers. This vice is responsible for many fatal cases of lead poisoning every year, and the only way it can be stopped is to keep animals out of reach of lead paint.

Many a man would reach greater height if he had more depth.

Confetti ---

fortunately we're getting so far out of line that many no longer recognize the merits of the original system.

What's the reason behind it all? Mostly that Americans have thought too much of their rights and too little of their responsibilities. A greedy manufacturer thinks more of his right to a profit than of his duty to furnish a good product or pay a decent wage. The greedy worker insists on his right to a living wage but ignores his duty to give an honest day's work.

All along the line our troubles can be traced to disregard for duty, which in turn can be traced to a decline of moral standards. We have lost sight of the one important premise upon which our founding fathers built the Constitution, that all men are endowed by their Creator with unalienable rights. Actually that means that every man's right is balanced by a duty to respect the right of others.

Our job if we want to develop our country into a Utopia is to attain the balance of right and duty which was intended by God and recognized by our Founding Fathers.
