BOARD DENIES THAT PEACE YET COMPLETE

The Brownwood Water District has ratified an agreement with the Insull interests of Chicago and the long fight for water is at an end so far as opposition by Syndicate Power Company and Insull is concerned. The Bulletin learned Thursday from usually reliable sources.

Judge C. L. McCartney, attorney and official spokesman for the Brownwood board, denied that the fight has been settled, "so far as he knew," but said negotiations had been under way recently.

The Associated Press in a telegram to The Bulletin Wednesday night quoted authoritative sources as saying that the agreement had been ratified. F. W. Greber, member of the board here, told The Bulletin Wednesday night that if the matter had been settled he was unaware of it. He declined to say what kind of agreement had been submitted for ratification by Brownwood and Insull.

The Bulletin was unable to reach other members of the board, and Judge McCartney was absent Wednesday night, returning from Beaumont Thursday.

The following story was carried this morning by The Abilene News: "Terms looking to the settlement of the Brownwood water district fight are now in the hands of Martin J. Insull, Chicago power magnate, for his signature and approval. It became known here last night after an unsuccessful investigation was started to verify the rumor that an agreement had been reached. "Fred Abney, Brownwood banker and chairman of the Brownwood water board, said last night in long distance telephone communication that he had received on optimistic report Wednesday afternoon from J. Alexander of Dallas, Texas power magnate. Alexander is also interested in the Brownwood water rights question.

"Mr. Abney declared that no definite word as to Mr. Insull's action had been received by the Brownwood board.

"The board, he said, recently drew up an agreement which they believed Mr. Insull will accept.

"Efforts to reach an agreement grew out of the attempts of both Brownwood and the power companies to secure priority rights over the impounding of waters on the Colorado river. The board holds that the waters are of more importance to cities and for agricultural purposes than for the development of power projects."

Attorney Silent

Mr. McCartney maintained a policy of silence when questioned Thursday morning. Several conferences between Brownwood water officials and J. Alexander have been held here and possibly elsewhere recently. The results of none of these conferences were made public.

The Bulletin on Tuesday night wired Mr. Insull and Mr. Alexander, requesting statements from them as to why the agreement was being held up. No answer was received from Alexander, and Insull's Chicago office wired that Mr. Insull was absent from home but would return there Saturday when the matter would be brought to his attention.

While visiting Texas in April, Mr. Insull was reported to have made the statement in Abilene that his company would never consent to proceed with its projected power development on the Colorado "unless the Brownwood district, with its 200,000 odd acre feet of permits agrees to give my company priority rights on the 580,000 acre feet of water it proposes to use in developing the power."

"The Brownwood district thus far has declined to give that assurance," he added.

Insull is backing Alexander, holder of intensive permits, who is said to now be very much interested in getting the fight settled. The Associated Press is endeavoring to secure a statement from Alexander, but had been unsuccessful late Thursday.

WOULD CLEAR BISHOPS

KANSAS CITY, May 24.—(AP)—The Episcopacy committee of the quadrennial general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church today recommended dismissal of the heresy charges filed by the Rev. George A. Cooke of Wilmington, Delaware, against Bishops W. F. McDowell of Washington and Francis J. McConnell of Pittsburgh. Mr. Cooke charged they violated the teachings of Methodism in books they had writtend.

SOLONS AND COOLIDGE IN OPEN WARFARE

WASHINGTON, May 24.—(AP)—The Tyson-Fitzgerald emergency officers retirement bill was enacted into law today over President Coolidge's veto with both Houses of Congress approving the measure, by a two-thirds vote. The Senate first repassed the bill and the House followed in quiet order. The House vote was 245 to 101.

WASHINGTON, May 24.—(AP)—

The Senate indulged in a field day today at the expense of President Coolidge, overriding in less than two hours the vetoes which the White House had attached to four Legislative accomplishments. A fifth attempt failed.

The Tyson bill to grant retirement rights to disabled World War Emergency officers; the Oddie bill for a $10,500,000 building program on western public lands; the bills calling for increased pay for night postal workers, and to grant fourth class postmasters rental, fuel and light allowances were all passed over executive disapproval. Finally the Steck bill to establish the position of bandmaster in the army failed to gain the two-thirds majority necessary. The postal bills became laws, because the house had previously overridden the President, but house action still must be obtained on the others.

The vote on the Tyson bill was 66 to 14, on the Oddie bill 57 to 22, on the postal salary bill 70 to 9 and on the fourth class postmasters measure 63 to 17.

Bruce Defends Cal

During this unprecedented attack on Presidential authority only one voice was raised in defense of Mr. Coolidge, and that came from Bruce of Maryland, a Democrat. He thought perhaps the Senate was a little too precipitate and that more consideration should be given the chief executive. He added, however, that perhaps the President might have been guilty in this respect.

The five measures on which the Senate acted were placed before the Senators in quick and orderly manner, first the postal bills, then the Oddie measure, next the Tyson bill, and finally the measure of Senator Steck, Republican, Iowa, for the bandmasters post. By the time the Steck measure obtained consideration, however, the Senate had apparently tired of discarding presidential advice and turned that piece of legislation down, although 44 voted for it and 32 against.

The open warfare between the White House and the Capitol was precipitated yesterday by President Coolidge's caustic veto of the McNary-Haugen bill.

WASHINGTON, May 24.—(AP)—Senate farm relief leaders decided today to delay until tomorrow a decision on the course to pursue with respect of the veto of the McNary-Haugen bill.

WASHINGTON, May 24.—(AP)—

Twice turned down at the White House after having passed successive Congresses, the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill leaned on uncertain supports at the capital today as leaders continued to sound out sentiment as to what should be done in view of the few remaining days of the session.

There was considerable doubt whether an attempt would be made to override President Coolidge's veto. While opinions seemed to be about evenly divided that such a course be followed, Senator McNary, Republican, Oregon, co-author of the measure, believed it would be futile to endeavor to muster the two-thirds votes necessary for passage over the president's objections, despite that more than that was obtained on first passage in the Senate.

WASHINGTON, May 24.—(AP)—Representative Tilson of Connecticut, the Republican floor leader, decided today to ask the House to adopt a resolution calling for the adjournment of Congress at 5 p. m., May 29.

WASHINGTON, May 24.—(AP)—The House judiciary committee today dismissed the impeachment charges preferred recently against Federal Judge Guy Martin of the Panama Canal Zone.

WASHINGTON, May 24.—(AP)—A bill to provide for southern delivery of future contracts which are traded in on cotton futures exchanges operating in conformity with provisions of the cotton futures act was introduced today by representative Vinson, Democrat, Georgia.

WASHINGTON, May 24.—(AP)—President Coolidge has signed a bill providing for an annual appropriation of $980,000,000 to be distributed in annual lots of $20,000 to each state and to Hawaii to further develop the agriculture extension work between the state agricultural colleges.

WASHINGTON, May 24.—(AP)—A resolution asking the President to direct the government oil counsel to prosecute immediately and "vigorously" the bribery indictments against Edward L. Doheny, Sr., and Albert B. Fall, was drafted today by Chairman Nye of the Senate lands committee.

WASHINGTON, May 24.—(AP)—Legislative action was completed today on the $13,268,000 army aviation field construction bill by the adoption of a conference report by the House. The measure now goes to the President.

WASHINGTON, May 24.—(AP)—The House today adopted a resolution calling for adjournment of Congress at five p. m., Tuesday, May 29. The Senate still must act.

WASHINGTON, May 24.—(AP)—Carrying about $150,000,000, the second deficiency appropriation bill was passed today by the Senate. All provisions of the $99,000,000 measure voted by the House were accepted and the Senate added more than $50,000,000 to the bill which carries funds to put into operation projects authorized during the session. In the bill as passed by the Senate is $14,000,000 for starting work on the Mississippi River flood control program, and $7,000,000 for war veteran hospitals.

MUST SAFEGUARD BUILDERS

DALLAS, Texas, May 24.—(AP)—Building and loan associations must safeguard the thousands of home builders from cheap materials and workmanship and exorbitant prices in this era of "jazzy" building, Joseph W. Faddock of Chicago told the 1,200 delegates to the convention of the United States League of Local Building and Loan Associations here today.

THE FARM BILL VETOED

BECAUSE "the so-called equalization fee and other features of the old measure are still prejudicial to sound public policy and to agriculture..."

In all essential respects, the measure vetoed this week was the same as that which was disapproved by Mr. Coolidge during the last session of Congress.

"First, its attempted price fixing policy. "Second, the tax characteristics of the equalization fee."

"Third, the widespread bureaucracy which it would set up. "Fourth, its encouragement to profiteering and wasteful distribution by middlemen."

"Fifth, its stimulation of overproduction. "Sixth, its aid to our foreign agricultural competitors."

Concluding his message, the President declared that "if the measure is enacted, one would be led to wonder how long it would be before producers in other lines would clamor for similar 'equalizing' subsidies from the public coffers."

"I have believed at all times that the only sound basis for further federal government action in behalf of agriculture would be to encourage its adequate organization in building up marketing agencies and facilities in the control of the farmers themselves."

Proponents of the McNary-Haugen bill, apparently, do not regard economic laws as unalterable. They propose to set up federal machinery that will fix prices, govern production, control distribution and do everything else that may be necessary, except to gauge the consumption of farm products.

The American farmer ought not to be made a chattel, subject to the absolute control of the federal government; but that is what would have occurred had President Coolidge approved the farm bill.

Mr. Coolidge says he wants to see the farmers "undertake, under their own management, the marketing of their products under such conditions as will enable them to bring about greater stability in prices and less waste in marketing."

FINANCING CITY BUILDING

AUSTIN is not a very large city, as modern cities go, but the state capital citizens have authorized a four and a half million dollar bond issue for municipal improvements and will set about city building under a definite plan.

San Antonio, much larger than Austin, authorized a bond issue of more than seven million dollars the other day, by a vote of ten to one, to finance a city building program covering the next few years.

Dallas, which vies with San Antonio for population honors in Texas, has a twenty-million dollar building program under way, with bond issues authorized to cover the entire program.

Brownwood has most of her growth ahead of her yet, but is confronted with the necessity for issuing sixty thousand dollars worth of warrants to finance emergency demands, and has neither a building program nor a plan for financing the permanent improvements that must be made.

This isn't the fault of anybody in particular, but of all of us, since city building and financing is a community job. There is now a promise that Brownwood is to have both a building program and a financing plan, since a city plan commission is to be named in the immediate future and assigned the task of developing a plan for the guidance of future growth.

THE WHOLE HOG

Abilene News: Archaeologists prowling around Irak have uncovered an immense temple which they believe to have been buried at least 3,500 years.

A geologist working in the Grand Canyon has brought to light what he said is evidence of plant life on this continent over 500,000,000 years old.

The scientists over in Irak have reached a reasonable conclusion, based on evidence well substantiated by known history. Their Grand Canyon brother has made a wild guess which no one on earth can prove or disprove.

Such is the nature of human logic that the explorers in Irak may have their conclusions blasted into nothingness, while nobody is apt seriously to dispute the findings of the Grand Canyon savant.

The point is—go the whole hog or none.

THE ISLANDS UNCLE SAM FORGOT

Chicago Tribune: Arthur Henning, who has been studying the effect of American imperialism, so called, in the Caribbean, has discovered that the Virgin Islands, bought ten years ago from Denmark, are more prosperous today than they were under Danish rule.

Mr. Henning shows that the United States Government pays all the costs of administration under the islands each year of a quarter of a million dollars. The death rate has fallen from thirty-five per thousand under the Danes to nineteen per thousand.

Americans are unique among peoples in their desire to believe the worst of themselves. Led by Greenwich Village patriots, the country has taken seriously the charges of maladministration and neglect of the Virgin Islanders.

A MAN WHO WEARS WELL

Philadelphia Evening Bulletin: Just a year ago, on Friday morning, May 20, 1927, a towline-headed, lank young man named Lindbergh hopped casually off from Long Island and by himself on a voyage to Europe.

The world's premier flyer has added to his transatlantic exploit a flight in which he visited every State of the Union, a 2,000-mile hop from Washington to Chapultepec, an air tour of Central America and a dash to Quebec to the bedside of the stricken Bennett.

Charles A. Lindbergh is no adventurer of the moment. He is an American institution. And with all the various ambitions to equal his feat, he is still the only man in all the world who can write himself down Ace of the Atlantic.

Utopia is a place where they would accidentally get one of those Teapot Dome boys into jail on a technicality.—Detroit News.

Daily Washington Letter

WASHINGTON, May 24.—(NEA)—John C. Calhoun, ex-vice president, ex-secretary of state and ex-senator, has issued a scathing denunciation of nominating conventions, charging that they are under the direct control of the politicians and not representative of the people.

Of course Calhoun's charges were made in 1844, when there were such things as deadlocks, dark horses, smoky hotel room nominations and all sort of political intrigues, so to all persons who believe that such things never happen any more at national conventions his views will now seem quaint indeed.

Mr. Calhoun's remarks were addressed to his friends in advance of a Democratic national convention which was to nominate a very mediocre dark horse after blocking the favorite by the two-thirds rule. He also charged that the convention would be controlled by "political managers, office holders and office seekers" and demanded universal election of delegates by the people.

HE objected to appointment of delegates by state conventions—the method used in many states today—after county and district politicians had named the state convention delegates.

"Instead of being directly or fresh from the people the delegates at the Baltimore convention will be the delegates of delegates," he said, "and of course removed in all cases at least three, if not four, degrees from the people. At each successive remove the voice of the people will become less full and distinct, until at last, it will be so faint and imperfect, as not to be audible."

"To drop metaphor, I hold it impossible to form a scheme more perfectly calculated, to annihilate the control of the people over the presidential election, and vest it in those who make politics a trade, and who live or expect to live on the government."

CALHOUN, who had opposed the old system of congressional caucus nominations as unrepresentative, had later decided that they were a hundred times better than the "trickling, juggling, corrupt and packed machinery" into which they had already degenerated.

"A convention so constituted," Calhoun went on, "tends irresistibly to centralization of the control of the presidential election in the hands of a few of the large senatorial states and their political managers, office-holders and office-seekers, in contradistinction to the great mass, who expect to live on their own means or on their honest industry, who maintain the government and, politically speaking, emphatically the people."

"That such would be the case may be inferred from the fact that it would afford the means to some six or seven states lying contiguous and not far from the center of the Union to control the nomination and through that the election, by concentrating their united votes in the convention. Give them the power of doing so and it would not be dormant."

"An active, trained, combined corps will be formed in the party whose whole time and attention will be directed to politics. They will take good care to divide the patronage and offices, among themselves and their supporters. It must end, if such conventions should become the established usage, in the present nominating his successor. When it comes to that, it will not be long before the sword will take the place of the constitution."

It did come to that, but smoother and as effective methods as the sword have been used. One hardly ever hears in these days such squawks at the convention system as Calhoun's. If any modern day statesman were to utter one, he would be guilty of treachery to the politicians' union and would be dealt with accordingly.

It is just the medicine needed to purify the system and restore the vim and ambition of health. Price 60c. Sold by Camp-Bell Drug Stores and Red-fer's Six Drug Stores. (Adv.)

POWER TALKS TO GRADUATES HIGH SCHOOL

Rev. John Power of Brownwood preached the baccalaureate sermon for the Brownwood High School Class of 1928 Sunday morning before an overflow audience at First Methodist Church.

The one hundred and twenty-eight scholars, wearing pearl-grey caps and gowns, occupied a section of seats at the front of the auditorium. The sermon was preceded by two numbers by the Treble Clef Club of Howard Payne College and a solo by Miss Mary Allison, class valedictorian, with Mr. Lyman Statton at the pipe organ. The Treble Clef Club sang "Unfold Ye Portals," and "Radiant Morn." Miss Allison's song was "There is a Song Within Our Glad Hearts Singing," by Caro Roma. Dr. Power was introduced by Dr. G. E. Cameron, pastor of First Methodist Church, and the benediction was by Dr. W. B. Gray, pastor of First Presbyterian Church.

Dr. Power preached from the text: "The secret things belong unto the Lord our God; but the things which are revealed belong to us and to our children forever, that we may do all the words of this law." Deuteronomy 29, 29. He said in part: "There are secret things. Over and above and around this life of ours is a dark cloud of mystery, through which shine fitful gleams which fill us with vague hopes of brighter things beyond. We yearn somewhat; but as the horizon widens so does the mystery. One discovery made, and there come a hundred calls to further adventure and experiment. Above the topmost height attained rise new heights to be scaled; the wider the area of the known, the vaster the horizon of the unknown; in the lowest depths there are profounder depths to be sounded.

"All mysteries are mysterious. What, for instance, is matter? Is it something in itself, or is it a various manifestation of force. If so, what is force? What is life? We know something of its manifestations and conditions; but what is it? What is thought? In spite of modern psychologists, one can scarcely believe that the brain secretes thought as the liver secretes bile. We speak of natural laws, but none can tell us any more than that they are an observed sequence of events. And all fundamentals are and must be accepted on faith.

"Huxley, the protagonist of agnosticism, tells us: "Things are revealed in many ways," said Dr. Power, after laying the predicate for his discourse: "There is a spirit in man, and the inspiration of the Almighty giveth him understanding." So by the wit of man many things are brought to light. Did it ever strike you that man's superiority and his sovereignty of the world which God gave to him as a heritage largely depend on two of the smallest members, his thumb and his tongue? By means of the first he became a tool-using animal, which Thomas Carlyle has sometimes called the best of the finitum of its kind of man. Through tools he multiplies his natural powers many fold. A steam hammer is only a harder, heavier and more powerful fist. A knife is only a keener and finer tooth or nail. The microscope and telescope are only eyes made stronger. By means of the tongue the wisdom of one generation is handed down to another; so that the son starts from the place where his father halted. Writing is but the word preserved. The telephone and the radio are only the means of raising power of the tongue to the sixth power. So it comes about that a child of ten today knows much of which Solomon never dreamed when he spoke of the trees, from the cedar that is in Lebanon even to the hyssop that springeth out of the wall, of beasts and of fowls, and of creeping things.

Speaking of the things revealed, Dr. Power said: "These belong to us. They are our heritage from of old. They have been from the beginning with God. Through the ages they have been revealed to men. They are ours. But they are not ours only—they belong also to our children. In spite of all that a cold and unbelieving political economy may say; in spite of all that a selfish and pleasure-loving society may practice, I am old-fashioned enough to believe that children are a heritage of the Lord; that he is bappy and it is well with him whose wife is a faithful vine and his children like olive branches round about his table; that the crown of old men is children's children and that glory of children is their parents."

"The children also have a right to their heritage. That which we have received we are bound to hand down, at least unimpaired; better still, amplified and enriched, to our own children, to all of the children, not a favored few.

In this lies the justification of our expenditure of talent, time, effort, thought and money, on our public schools. We are unworthy of our heritage, ungrateful to our forefathers, false to our children, traitors to the world and unjust stewards of God if we do not ungrudgingly support our schools."

MOVIE TICKER FACTOR WILD SPECULATIONS

BY STANLEY W. PRENOSIL (Associated Press Financial Editor)

NEW YORK, May 24.—(P)—The movie ticker, which flashes across an illuminated screen a running story of the day's stock transactions in hundreds of brokerage houses throughout the country, is being hailed in Wall Street today as one of the primary factors behind the wild speculation in recent years.

Once stock traders sat around the customers' rooms of commission houses and watched boys mark up quotations on huge boards, either with chalk or printed cardboard numbers, as they were called out by other young men who leaned over tickers. The number of stocks quoted ranged from 50 to 200 with the boards showing the opening high, low and last price, and occasionally the previous close and the high and low of the year. The boards were often poorly placed and completely visible to relatively few persons.

These boards are still in use but they have been supplemented in nearly all of the large brokerage houses by the movie ticker, generally placed above or to one side of them, where they may be seen by everyone in the room. These illuminated tickers magnify the tape on a long narrow screen as it emerges from the ticker, giving a quick and detailed account of all transactions. This has whetted the speculative appetite of thousands and created many new ones. The thrill of seeing one's stock quoted at advancing prices on a heavy turn-over being akin to that of the race track devotee who sees the horse on which he has placed his bet come thundering down the one stretch in advance of the field.

Trading against the tape, which previously was confined to the privileged few who were able to stand over a ticker and base their speculative judgment on the manner in which stocks were taken or sold—rarely a question of volume—has been made possible for everyone by the movie ticker, which has immeasurably increased the number of tape readers. A stock breaking through a previous resistance point, either on the up or down side, in volume invariably attracts a large speculative following.

These movie tickers are now in use in a majority of the 150 large cities throughout the country which are provided with stock ticker quotation service.

WANTS MORE KIDS
 BRIDGEPORT, Connecticut, May 24.—(P)—Edward Cromwell, 35, who was arrested on complaint of his wife that he had refused to agree to her desire not to increase the family further after she had borne him 13 children in 10 years, was placed in the care of the probation officer today. He was arraigned on a technical charge of breach of peace. Mrs. Cromwell said she has been warned that to bear another child would endanger her own life. Cromwell was termed mentally un sound in a report of an alienist. Of the 13 children, only five are alive and one of these is a cripple.

"QUEEN'S" TWO NIGHT CLUBS IN LONDON RAIDED BY COPS

LONDON, May 24.—(P)—Scotland Yard detectives early today raided two of the best known night clubs, both owned by Mrs. Kate Merrick, "Queen of the Night Clubs" and mother-in-law of one peer and the prospective mother-in-law of another.

The clubs raided were the forty-three club and the Manhattan, largely patronized by fashionable people and known to many American tourists.

The procedure at both clubs was similar. A police inspector wearing evening dress was granted admission on the presumption that he was a guest. When the door was opened a squad of detectives followed him in and took possession. The names and addresses of those present were taken but nobody was arrested. Mrs. Merrick was questioned at the Manhattan Club after which both clubs were closed. The grounds for police action were not divulged.

The Silver Slipper Club, which was raided and closed several weeks ago, and the two raided today were the last clubs operated by Mrs. Merrick in London.

It was in the Silver Slipper last November, that Saxophones sounded with a bit more pep when the engagement of May Merrick to the young Earl of Kinnoull became known and it was there that Mother Merrick received congratulations on having two daughters enter the peerage.

The Earl of Kinnoull, known to night club habitués as "Kinny" announced the engagement twenty-four hours after his divorce from the former Enid Fellow, a member of the famous Wills family of Tobacco merchants, whom he had married in 1923.

Ball game, 3 p. m.

The details of the ball game are yet to be worked out. Among the clubs that it is known will have ball teams here ready to participate are Woodland Heights, Blanket, Brooksmith, Mt. City Is To Issue $60,000 Warrants

An ordinance authorizing City Council to issue $60,000 six per cent refunding warrants during this year was passed by that body Tuesday evening. When the warrants will be issued was not made known. The ordinance provided that Council might issue warrants up to $60,000 to pay for outstanding script-warrants and for script that may be issued until tax money is available the first of next year. The contract for issuance of the warrants was with Brown-Crummer Company of Dallas. The ordinance was passed under emergency clause and without debate. Plans for extension of sewer service were discussed. No action was taken. That the city is planning to buy the rock house known as the Morton home, on Belle Plain avenue, for use as a fire station, was revealed by Mayor McCulley.

All motorists will be obliged to obey stop signals on downtown and residential streets beginning Monday. Council decided, and police were instructed to rigidly enforce the law.

Brown Democrats Side With Moody

BROWN county's delegation to the State Democratic Convention which opens in Beaumont Tuesday, May 22nd, will support the "harmony group" of the party, of which Governor Dan Moody is the leader, according to Thomas H. Taylor, chairman of the Democratic party in Brown county. At the county convention held May 8th, the Brownwood delegation was given no instructions as to candidate or platform, but it is known that the Brown county delegation will definitely align itself with Governor Moody.

Judge C. L. McCartney, chairman of the Brown county delegation, is an outspoken party man and will support the nominee of the party, regardless of his own personal likes or dislikes. It is believed also that N. J. Henderson, of Brooksmith, Roy Hickman of Blake and Mrs. J. W. Trapp, the remaining three delegates from Brown county, will vote as a unit with Judge McCartney.

Although the Brown county delegation will join the harmony Democrats at Beaumont in voting for a dry candidate and a dry platform and for Governor Moody as delegate at large to the national Democratic convention, the local delegation will pledge its support to the nominee of the party, despite the nominee's proclivities as to the prohibition question.

Judge McCartney, who has been out of the city since Tuesday of last week, having been on a visit to Lebanon, Tennessee, could not be reached for a statement relative to his course of procedure at the State Convention, but in former statements he has let it be known that he will not join State Senator Thomas B. Love and the "Constitutionalists" in their bitter fight against Governor Al Smith, Senator Reed of Missouri and Gov. Ritchie of Maryland. Other delegates from the county have definitely declared themselves as being in sympathy with Governor Moody and the "harmony group."

Thomas Taylor, chairman of the Democratic Party in Brown county, was unable to attend the state convention, due to the illness of his father.

CONTRACT FOR CITIZENS BANK

Contract was let late Tuesday for the construction of the Citizens National Bank building, corner Center Avenue and East Lee Street, and work will be started Monday, May 28th. It was announced this morning by bank officials. The construction work is to be finished within 140 working days. San Antonio Construction Company was awarded the contract.

The building is to be constructed and title held by a holding company for the use and occupancy of the Citizens National Bank. The bank will occupy the ground floor, 90x100 feet, facing Center Avenue, this portion of the building having a basement, main floor, mezzanine floor and four stories above the mezzanine for offices. At the rear of this portion of the building there will be a one-story business house, 20x50 feet, facing East Lee Street. There will be sixty-eight offices in the bank building.

The construction will be fireproof throughout, and the walls and foundations will be built so that three additional stories may be erected at a later date, it was stated this morning. The equipment of the building will include a vacuum heating plant, high speed safety elevators, mail chute and water cooling plant.

David S. Castle & Company of Abilene are architects of the building, and also of a building of similar character to be erected soon in Coleman by a group of financiers in that city.

DIRECTORS OF COUNTY FAIR HOLD SESSION

Plans for the annual Brown County Fair are rapidly taking shape, as evidenced by the reports made by various standing committees at a meeting of the Board of Directors of the fair association held Tuesday afternoon in the Chamber of Commerce rooms. P. A. Glanville, chairman of the program committee, stated Tuesday that he expected to have the catalogue for this year's fair off the press by the next regular meeting, two weeks from Tuesday, which will be June 5.

C. H. McMillan, well known horse race starter, was employed Tuesday by the Fair officials to serve as official starter for all horse races to be held in connection with the 1928 Fair. Mr. McMillan served in this capacity during the 1927 Fair and his services were very satisfactory, it is stated.

The Board of Directors voted Tuesday to hold regular meetings on the first and third Tuesday of each month from now on until the date of the annual Fair, the next regular meeting being set for June 5.

Entertainment, concession, finance and police committees appointed for the fair this year were given full power to act in their capacities at Tuesday's meeting of the Board of Directors.

A Mr. Peggy and other horse owners, who now have horses in the stables at the Brown County Fair Grounds, appeared before the Board of Directors Tuesday and asked that races be held here May 30 and 31. Satisfactory arrangements were made between the Board of Directors and the race horse owners to stage races on the dates suggested, only one condition being placed in the agreement, that being that at least 32 horses be obtained for the two days of racing. W. T. Locklear, of San Saba and others have assured the Fair officials of at least 22 horses and it is expected that another 10 or 15 will be arranged for within the next day or two. The races on the dates mentioned, May 30 and 31, will be under the auspices of the Board of Directors of the fair Association.

BABY HURT IN CRASH HERE

She is not thought to be seriously injured, her mother said.

The automobile, driven by a Winters man, struck the child, and knocked her to the pavement. The driver could not see her because of a car parked at the curb, it was said.

HEAVY RAINS CAUSE BAYOU TO OVERFLOW

CONTINUED heavy rains on the headwaters of Pecan Bayou caused the stream to break out of its banks about 2 or 3 o'clock Sunday morning and before the crest of the rise had been reached the water had risen to within six inches of the highest mark reached during the past years, the flood waters inundating all the lowlands adjacent to the overflowing creek. Backwaters of the Bayou forced into the slough, just east of the court house square, inundated much of the lower part of the city, water flooding many houses along the slough, causing slight damage to a few residences adjacent to the slough.

The tourist park between the city limits and the bridge over Pecan Bayou on State Highway No. 10 was flooded and the waters covered the road on both sides of the bridge, cutting off traffic for several hours Sunday. The waters receded within the banks late Sunday and Monday morning Pecan Bayou was less than half bank full.

Pumps Stopped Up

A landslide on the banks of the stream, just over the intake pipes from the city water works caused the pipes to become clogged with mud and debris that caved into the creek just over the pipes. As a result the water supply for Brownwood was cut off for several hours, only the water that was left in the reservoirs being available for several hours. C. N. Davis, who has charge of the pumps at the pumping station of the water department, with a corps of assistants spent several hours Sunday cleaning out pumps and getting everything in working order.

Unprecedented deluges in the northern and northwestern part of Brown county and all along the water shed of Pecan Bayou caused the flood here and at other places above and below Brownwood. It is stated, rains Saturday and Sunday night were followed by continued showers and heavy rains, Sunday and Sunday night, out the additional rainfall has not been sufficient to cause a further rise in the Bayou, it is stated.

Little Rain Here

The city of Brownwood and surrounding communities received little or no rain the past week end, in fact not enough has fallen in Brownwood to register on the rain gauge of the official weather observer.

Sunday and Sunday night's rains were heaviest north and northwest of Brownwood, in the Abilene territory and south and southwest of Brownwood, centering around Brady, Rochelle, Menard and Richland Springs. Cities reporting big rains Sunday and Sunday night are: Abilene, Brady, Colorado, Eden, Paint Rock, Rochelle (one inch), Richland Springs (inch and a half), Snyder, Sweetwater, Spur (3/4 inches) and Winters.

Lampasas, Menard, San Saba, Santa Anna, San Angelo and Valera report good rains. Rain was still falling in Rochelle, Richland Springs, San Angelo and other points Monday morning. No break in the continued rains of the past few days throughout the west central part of the state seemed likely Monday with threatening clouds and light showers holding forth.

"Educating the Consumer" was the chief subject of discussion at the regular meeting of the Brownwood Business and Professional Women's Club Tuesday night in the Federated Club rooms at the Carnegie Library. Mrs. W. D. Armstrong had charge of the program and presented several local business women in interesting talks on the subject of the evening.

Various points brought out in the discussions of the subject, that of educating the consumer of all the products, tended to prove to the consumer of any and all products that it is cheaper to buy at home. It was pointed out that the actual cost of any product is less when bought from local merchants, due to the fact that overhead expenses in a city the size of Brownwood are less than in larger cities and for that reason merchandise can be bought at a lower price, it was stated. Another point brought out was that money spent with home merchants and with home people revolves and in turn comes back to the person paying the money. Ten dollars spent at home is divided with all, part going to grocers, doctors, jewelers, newspapers and all local business, it was stated.

It was also stated Tuesday night that if Brownwood is to become a city all must stick together, keep Brownwood money in Brownwood and co-operate in making a real city.

Those speaking on the subject were Mrs. W. D. Armstrong, Mrs. Jewel Johnson, Mrs. Emmett Evans and Mrs. J. W. Jennings.

The publicity committee of the local organization was instructed to make arrangements to have placards printed with the words, "This Household Buys all Supplies from Home Merchants," the cards to be distributed to all homes of Brownwood. This action is to be taken to help put a stop to house to house peddlers, it is stated.

By vote of the club the secretary was instructed to write a letter of protest to the Brownwood Chamber of Commerce, protesting the proposed curtailing of daily passenger train service from Brownwood to Fort Worth over the Frisco.

Tuesday night's luncheon was prepared by Miss Estelle Duren and Miss Amy Dameron. Mrs. D. R. Blair led in a sing-song for the musical part of the program.

Mrs. R. H. Turney of Dublin, is in a local hospital pending an operation.

Brown Democrats Side With Moody

BROWN county's delegation to the State Democratic Convention which opens in Beaumont Tuesday, May 22nd, will support the "harmony group" of the party, of which Governor Dan Moody is the leader, according to Thomas H. Taylor, chairman of the Democratic party in Brown county. At the county convention held May 8th, the Brownwood delegation was given no instructions as to candidate or platform, but it is known that the Brown county delegation will definitely align itself with Governor Moody.

Judge C. L. McCartney, chairman of the Brown county delegation, is an outspoken party man and will support the nominee of the party, regardless of his own personal likes or dislikes. It is believed also that N. J. Henderson, of Brooksmith, Roy Hickman of Blake and Mrs. J. W. Trapp, the remaining three delegates from Brown county, will vote as a unit with Judge McCartney.

Although the Brown county delegation will join the harmony Democrats at Beaumont in voting for a dry candidate and a dry platform and for Governor Moody as delegate at large to the national Democratic convention, the local delegation will pledge its support to the nominee of the party, despite the nominee's proclivities as to the prohibition question.

Judge McCartney, who has been out of the city since Tuesday of last week, having been on a visit to Lebanon, Tennessee, could not be reached for a statement relative to his course of procedure at the State Convention, but in former statements he has let it be known that he will not join State Senator Thomas B. Love and the "Constitutionalists" in their bitter fight against Governor Al Smith, Senator Reed of Missouri and Governor Ritchie of Maryland. Other delegates from the county have definitely declared themselves as being in sympathy with Governor Moody and the "harmony group."

CONTRACT FOR CITIZENS BANK

Contract was let late Tuesday for the construction of the Citizens National Bank building, corner Center Avenue and East Lee Street, and work will be started Monday, May 28th, it was announced this morning by bank officials. The construction work is to be finished within 140 working days. San Antonio Construction Company was awarded the contract.

The building is to be constructed and title held by a holding company for the use and occupancy of the Citizens National Bank. The bank will occupy the ground floor, 60x100 feet, facing Center Avenue, this portion of the building having a basement, main floor, mezzanine floor and four stories above the mezzanine for offices. At the rear of this portion of the building there will be a one-story business house, 20x50 feet facing East Lee Street. There will be sixty-eight offices in the bank building.

The construction will be fireproof throughout, and the walls and foundations will be built so that three additional stories may be erected at a later date, it was stated this morning. The equipment of the building will include a vacuum heating plant, high speed safety elevators, mail chute and water cooling plant.

David S. Castle & Company of Abilene are architects of the building, and also of a building of similar character to be erected soon in Coleman by a group of financiers in that city.

DIRECTORS OF COUNTY FAIR HOLD SESSION

Plans for the annual Brown County Fair are rapidly taking shape, as evidenced by the reports made by various standing committees at a meeting of the Board of Directors of the fair association held Tuesday afternoon in the Chamber of Commerce rooms. P. A. Glanville, chairman of the program committee, stated Tuesday that he expected to have the catalogue for this year's fair off the press by the next regular meeting, two weeks from Tuesday, which will be June 5.

C. H. McMillan, well known horse race starter, was employed Tuesday by the fair officials to serve as official starter for all horse races to be held in connection with the 1928 Fair. Mr. McMillan served in this capacity during the 1927 Fair and his services were very satisfactory, it is stated.

The Board of Directors voted Tuesday to hold regular meetings on the first and third Tuesday of each month from now on until the date of the annual Fair, the next regular meeting being set for June 5.

Entertainment, concession, finance and police committees appointed for the fair this year were given full power to act in their capacities at Tuesday's meeting of the Board of Directors.

A Mr. Peggy and other horse owners, who now have horses in the stables at the Brown County Fair Grounds, appeared before the Board of Directors Tuesday and asked that races be held here May 30 and 31. Satisfactory arrangements were made between the Board of Directors and the race horse owners to stage races on the dates suggested, only one condition being placed in the agreement, that being that at least 32 horses be obtained for the two days of racing. W. T. Locklear, of San Saba and others have assured the fair officials of at least 23 horses and it is expected that another 10 or 15 will be arranged for within the next day or two. The races on the dates mentioned, May 30 and 31, will be under the auspices of the Board of Directors of the fair association.

HEAVY RAINS CAUSE BAYOU TO OVERFLOW

CONTINUED heavy rains on the headwaters of Pecan Bayou caused the stream to break out of its banks about 2 or 3 o'clock Sunday morning and before the water had risen had been reached the water had risen to within six inches of the highest mark reached during the past years, the flood waters inundating all the lowlands adjacent to the overflowing creek. Backwaters of the Bayou forced into the slough, just east of the court house square, inundated much of the lower part of the city, water flooding many houses along the slough, causing slight damage to a few residences, adjacent to the slough.

The tourist park between the city limits and the bridge over Pecan Bayou on State Highway No. 10 was flooded and the waters covered the road on both sides of the bridge, cutting off traffic for several hours Sunday. The waters receded within the banks late Sunday and Monday morning Pecan Bayou was less than half bank full.

A landslide on the banks of the stream, just over the intake pipes from the city water works caused the pipes to become clogged with mud and debris that caved into the creek just over the pipes. As a result the water supply for Brownwood was cut off for several hours, only the water that was left in the reservoirs being available for several hours. C. N. Davis, who has charge of the pumps at the pumping station of the water department, with a corps of assistants spent several hours Sunday cleaning out pumps and getting everything in working order.

Unprecedented deluges in the northern and northwestern part of Brown county and all along the water shed of Pecan Bayou caused the flood here and at other places above and below Brownwood, it is stated. Rains Saturday and Sunday night were followed by continued showers and heavy rains, Sunday and Sunday night, but the additional rainfall has not been sufficient to cause a further rise in the Bayou, it is stated.

Little Rain Here
The city of Brownwood and surrounding communities received little or no rain the past week end, in fact not enough has fallen in Brownwood to register on the rain gauge of the official weather observer.

Sunday and Sunday night's rains were heaviest north and northwest of Brownwood, in the Abilene territory and south and southwest of Brownwood, centering around Brady, Rochelle, Menard and Richland Springs. Cities reporting big rains Sunday and Sunday night are: Abilene, Brady, Colorado, Eden, Paint Rock, Rochelle (one inch), Richland Springs (inch and a half), Snyder, Sweetwater, Spur (3/4 inches) and Winters.

Lampasas, Menard, San Saba, Santa Anna, San Angelo and Valera report good rains. Rain still falling in Rochelle, Richland Springs, San Angelo and other points Monday morning. No break in the continued rains of the past few days throughout the west central part of the state seemed likely Monday with threatening clouds and light showers holding forth.

VALEDICTORY OF CLASS OF 1928

BY MARY ALLISON
Valetorian, Class of 1928,
Brownwood High School
Teachers, classmates, students, and friends: It is my privilege—a sad and yet a happy one—to bid you goodbye. Emerson said, "There is more or less sorrow in the word goodbye and yet how we like to hear some people say it". We of the class of 1928 do feel sorrowful in contemplating our departure from the halls of Brownwood High, but we hope that our former schoolmates will not enjoy hearing us make our farewells.

This occasion marks the climax of our high school life; therefore, it is, of course, one of the happiest occasions of that life, and yet, there is an undercurrent of sadness. For, as we are leaving, we begin to realize how much our school life has meant to us. Through four long years we of the class of '28
have worked and played together.
We have made many friends among our schoolmates. We have become acquainted with the thought of some of the greatest minds in history; thus our vision has been broadened and our perception

quickened, for as Bacon said,
"Studies serve for delight, for ornament, and for ability. Crafty men despise studies, simple men admire them, and wise men use them;
for they teach not their own use;
but that is a wisdom without them,
and above them, won by observation.
As I look back upon the years that have been spent so profitably in Brownwood High School, and when I think of our present leave

REVENGE?

zetti and also Mrs. Ruth Snyder and taking, strangely enough the words of a popular song come to my mind.

These words are: "The song is ended, but the melody lingers on." To me they have a much deeper significance than the composer ever intended. Our high school life has been a song—true, sometimes a sad chant in a minor strain, but at other times a grand anthem that, soaring above earth and earth's petty trifles, has gladdened the hearts both of those who listened and those that sang. Carlyle said,
"A musical thought is one spoken by a mind that has penetrated into the innermost mystery of it, namely the melody that lies hidden in it." And further on, "All speech, even the commonest speech has something of song in it." So I would say that all life, even the most common place, has something of song in it. And the thoughts that we have had imparted to us during our high school life because they have directed us to higher and nobler things, and because they helped us to detect the melody that lies hidden therein have been true musical thought.
Hence I make the assertion that our school life has been a song.
Now, as we are preparing to leave forever behind us that life we realize that the song, such as it was, and it was ours to fashion, is ended. But the melody lingers now, and will forever—in the musical re-echo of great thoughts that we have known, in the training for life and for higher institutions of learning that we have received, and in the memories that we carry away with us. So perhaps this melody will pervade our entire lives, making those lives infinitely finer and nobler than otherwise they would have been.

and overcome any difficulties that may arise. Remember that, "If thou thy star dost follow thou canst not fall thee of a glorious port."
The last word of farewell belongs to the classmates of '28. No words that I could say would make our parting any easier; no expressions of mine could make this joyful occasion any happier; no protestations of affection and everlasting friendship could add to those already given. So I will simply conclude with a farewell, after the fashion of Hiawatha.
"Farewell," say I, "Brownwood High School.
Farewell, O my friends and classmates.
All sweet memories linger with you,
All my thoughts go onward with you;
We come not back to labor,
Come not back again to study;
Where old scenes and some dear teachers
But cause more pain in this our parting.
Soon your task will be completed,
Soon, schoolmates, our steps you'll follow
To the Island of Commencement
To the kingdom of some college
Where we'll meet not long hereafter."
So, it is not "goodbye," but only
"until we meet again."

To our teachers, who have worked with us so patiently and tirelessly (even when we seemed hopeless) we wish to extend our heartiest thanks and warmest appreciation. We at last realize what a difficult task and heavy responsibility have been theirs ever since we entered high school as every green little freshmen, who were much in need of guidance. They not only guided us through the maze of high school life, but they pointed us to paths of greater knowledge and perception.
Probably we have been ungrateful and difficult at times, but we hope that our teachers will forgive us for that,
and that those whom we leave behind us will profit by our example.
To you, sophomores and juniors,
we wish to say only that we of the 1928 Senior Class have at all times appreciated your helpfulness and co-operation. We could have accomplished very little without the loyal support of the rest of the school.
We hope, too, that you will profit by the mistakes made by this year's class, so that by our high estate
you will be better prepared to meet

FOUR BURNED
WHEN GAS IN CELLAR FIRES

Mrs. Will Martin was next worst sufferer, being badly burned about the face. It was feared Friday night and Saturday that she might lose her eyesight, but that fear is now passed. Mr. Martin was badly burned on the hands. The child suffered less than any of the others, having his father's heavy coat wrapped about him when the explosion occurred.
Gas Exploded
Gas had leaked into the cellar from a gas pipe nearby. The gas main runs within about six feet of the cellar, it is stated, and the gas was leaking there from a pipe that had not been welded. The cellar is cemented, but there is a crack in the cement through which the gas had seeped in. The family had been in the storm cellar about twenty minutes, having a candle burning during the time, when the explosion took place.
The Martin family is among the playe families of Comanche. Miss Myrtle Martin has been teaching in the Comanche schools for several years, and is one of the most universally loved persons in the town,

it was declared Monday morning.
