Margie Kathman and Stanley Wylie are Married Thursday

Miss Margie Kathman and Stanley Wylie exchanged marriage vows Thursday morning in an impressive double ring ceremony in Sacred Heart church at 8:30.

Rev. Father Cletus, assistant pastor, officiated at the service and at the nuptial high mass in the presence of relatives and friends of the young couple.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Kathman and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Wylie, all of Muenster.

White gladioli, greenery and candles adorned the altar and two white baskets of ferns held vantage spots in the sanctuary.

Anthony Luke, organist, played the wedding marches and remained at the organ to assist the choir in rendering music for the mass.

Wearing a wedding dress she made herself, the bride was a dainty picture. The white Chantilly lace frock over taffeta was designed with a full pleated skirt, ballerina length, and a closely-buttoned shirtwaist bodice featuring a Peter Pan collar and petal point sleeves. Her two-tier veil of nylon net was finger tip length falling from a Mary Stewart cap studded with rhinestones. Her flowers were an orchid with stephanotis and carnations arranged in a bride's bouquet.

Her only jewelry was "something old", a gold cross and chain worn by her mother at her wedding. She borrowed a handkerchief from the groom's mother, a blue rosary from her mother, and wore a penny in her shoe.

The bride's attendants were her cousin, Miss Pauline Lutkenhaus as maid of honor, and Misses Mildred Hall of Fort Worth and Alvina Derichsweiler of Windthorst, bridesmaids. They wore identical frocks of Nile green, yellow, and pink organdy over taffeta, respectively. The tightwaisted, bouffant frocks were designed with portrait collars and were caught at the natural waist line with wide velvet sashes in deeper tones or green, yellow, and pink.

The three young ladies wore matching half hats with shoulder length veils and matching organdy mitts and carried bouquets of yellow roses tied with beauty green ribbons.

The groom's attendants were Ervin Hamric, best man, Emmett Walterscheid and Gilbert Yosten. Damien Hellman and Roger Wolf were ushers.

Mrs. Kathman attended her daughter's wedding in a brown ensemble with matching accessories, and Mrs. Wylie wore a green costume with brown accessories. Both had corsages of yellow roses.

Immediately after the services the bride's parents were hosts in their home for a brunch and reception for about 30 guests. Mrs. W. E. Insel of Gainesville, sister of the bride, presided at the bride's book. The table was covered with a lace cloth and held the two-tier decorated cake. Glads and greenery adorned the home. Miss Anselma Kathman, cousin of the bride, poured punch and the bridesmaids served the cake.

The reception preceded the couple's departure on a wedding trip after which they will make their home in Fort Worth where he is employed at Consolidated Aircraft Corporation. For traveling the bride wore a rayon faille cocoa brown suit with darker brown accessories and the orchid she carried at her wedding.

The bride is a graduate of Muenster High School with the class of 1951. The groom graduated from MHS in 1948.

Junior Red Cross To Conduct Drive For Flood Relief

The special Red Cross drive for flood relief in Kansas and Missouri has been turned over to Junior Red Cross workers of the county. That course was approved by directors of the county chapter last Thursday after a report revealed that voluntary donations had netted only $30 to date.

The group also set a budget of $6,000 for the county chapter next year. The figure was adopted after chairman B. A. Dillard explained that the chapter's expense rises in proportion to military expansion, a fact which was borne out by a report on the chapter's expenditures during the past month. Of 126 families served, 61 were service men, 58 were veterans and 7 were civilians. The month's expenditure was $392.53.

Other business at the meeting consisted of a report on arrangements for blood donations for the armed forces and another report that the chapter has two certified instructors for Home Nursing classes beginning in the fall as a part of the civil defense program.

Robbing Peter To Pay Paul

There's more sound, solid sense and clearer explanation of many things most of us do not understand in the 121 pages of Dean Clarence Manion's book, "The Key To Peace", than in anything I have read for many years.

Everyone knows about robbing Peter to pay Paul, but I wonder how many of us have thought about this in connection with the "taxes" and "subsidies" we have with us today, both in over-abundant quantities.

Dean Manion makes the way it's done in these modern, fast-moving, streamlined days perfectly clear when he says:

"Paul wants some of Peter's property. For moral as well as legal reasons, Paul is unable personally to accomplish this desire. Paul therefore persuades the government to tax Peter in order to provide funds with which the government pays Paul a 'subsidy.' Paul now has what he wanted. His conscience is clear and he has proceeded 'according to law'. Who could ask for more?—why, Paul, of course, and at the very next opportunity. There is nothing to stop him now except the eventual exhaustion of Peter's resources."

What is the greatest threat to our form of government and our way of life? Dean Manion says it's "Despotism" and goes on to say:

"Despotism never advertises itself as such. Invariably it is a wolf in sheep's clothing. By its own definition it will be 'democratic,' 'progressive,' 'liberal,' 'humanitarian' and 'fraternal.' Those who oppose it will be called reactionaries, fascists and other currently bad names. It is not by its name, therefore, that you shall know Absolutism, but by what it proposes to do. Whenever relaxation of existing limitations upon the power of government is suggested, you are upon notice that your liberty is threatened. Unless you counterattack swiftly and sharply you are likely to be denatured.

"Proper vigilance against despotism is particularly difficult when the proponents of the all-powerful state deliberately appropriate the language of liberalism. Traditionally a liberal was a person who believed in the rights of man against government. Recently, however, the professed liberal is one who wishes in one way or another to liberate government from its natural and Constitutional limitations. This process of governmental liberation takes different forms at different times. In recent years the process has taken the form of taxing and spending by the Federal government. The successful use of this form of governmental liberation constitutes the most serious threat ever made against the maintenance of constitutional limitations in the United States.

Space limitations do not permit further quotations, but in other chapters, Dean Manion just as clearly and just as concisely covers such things as "Confusion in our Times, Morality, and Faith, Private Enterprise, Americanism and Communism."

"The Key To Peace," published by the Heritage Foundation, Chicago, price $2.00, is a book which everyone from eighteen to eighty-eight should read. I've read it five times and expect to read it several more times.

Reading it takes only a couple of hours and I'll guarantee anyone that he can't invest that much time in any other way which will do him one-tenth as much good. It's truly a great book.

A problem is just an opportunity in work clothes.

Strong Accent On Personal Initiative

By REV. JAMES KELLER

A relatively small number of devoted, loyal workers might determine the difference between life and death for America.

Lenin, who brought the Communist regime to power in Russia, gave testimony to this fact when he was asked what it was that helped the Reds most in achieving their goal.

"The infirmity of our enemies," was his prompt reply. "If there had been in Petrograd in 1917 only a group of a few thousand men who knew what they wanted, we would never have come to power in Russia."

An American government official, now in Germany, wrote recently: "I think the Christopher idea is just what the Germans need." Then he added: "What is lacking among them perhaps more than anything else is a sense of individual responsibility to better the situation in which they find themselves."

The Christopher idea, which is as old as Christianity itself, is simply this: To bear Christ into the market place. Each Christ-bearer works as an individual. He or she feels that the world can be changed for the better by genuine Christian living.

Inspired By Love
 This opinion of the American government official was verified a short time later by a German woman, a social worker, who came here for a few weeks to learn American methods. In the course of her stay she learned about this age-old Christian approach. She told us that if such a movement inspired by the love of Christ, which stressed individual initiative in behalf of the common good had been launched 25 years ago in her country, it might have prevented Nazism and all the chaos that followed.

"The chief trouble in Germany," she explained, "was that while most good people were taking care of themselves, those with evil ideas were taking care of everyone else."

It is late—but not too late to change this same trend in America. The only hope is Christ's formula: "go ye into the whole world . . . to every creature," with His love, His truth, and His peace.

Reach The World
 In our day that means in a particular way that His followers should "go into" the vital spheres of education, government, labor-management, communications, social service, and library work.

REV. JAMES KELLER

The enemies of mankind know that they can best reach "the whole world and every creature" through them—to wreck the home, the Church, the professions and every form of decent life.

The only constructive, positive solution is to hurry into those same fields a million persons who are fired with a love of God and who are willing to sacrifice anything, even life itself, for the welfare of all and for the honor and glory of God.

PEANUT OIL DRINK LOADS PATIENTS WITH ENERGY

BOSTON. — One glass of a new drink gives sick people the energy from three pieces of pie with ice cream.

The drink is peanut oil, homogenized like milk. It has a sweet milky taste, tinged with peanut flavor. One pint gives you 2,000 calories. That's about two-thirds the daily energy needs of the average man.

The fat drink works like a charm in supplying energy and helping people gain weight, Dr. Frederick J. Stare, chairman of the nutrition department, Harvard school of public health, reports in the Journal of the American Dietetic Association. The emulsion is made by Upjohn Co., Kalamazoo, Mich., under the trade name Lipomul.

The fat drink has been tested on 300 patients and 50 normal volunteers, Dr. Stare said. The patients were men and women who needed building up before or after an operation, who had little appetite, or were emaciated by tuberculosis, arthritis and other diseases.

They gained from one to 22 pounds in a short time on the fat drink. Some gained in the first two days, drinking a half pint daily.

Easy Makes His "Cat" Tread Lightly

Driving home on Three Ponds Road yesterday, I was flagged down by Easy Roberts' boy Skeeter. "Take it slow," he advised. "Dad's crossing this road with our tractor, just beyond the bend."

Around the curve I saw why Skeeter stopped me. Easy had laid two rows of old truck tires across the road, and was driving his new "Cat" tractor over them!

"More trouble this way," Easy explains, "but it does keep those tank tracks from tearing up the asphalt when I have to cross over to our other fields. After all, the roads belong to all of us—and I guess I'd get mad if someone else chewed them up."

From where I sit, Easy is my kind of citizen. He doesn't just give democracy lip service. He honestly believes it's his duty to consider the other fellow's interests. Whether it's the right to use the public highways or the right to enjoy an occasional glass of beer, Easy's out to protect his neighbor's "right of way."

Why Millions Call Him "HOLY FATHER"

Catholic loyalty to the Pope is the cause of never-ending amazement to many non-Catholics.

They wonder how an exclusively spiritual leader can command the devotion of nearly four hundred millions of people. They can not explain why this vast religious family . . . representing every race, color, language and political belief on the face of the earth . . . lives and grows through the ages, while man-made empires have their day of glory and then disappear.

What is there about this one man that causes people to speak of him in a hundred tongues as "Holy Father"?

We find the answer, of course, not necessarily in the holiness of the man himself, but in his Christ-given office. The answer is found by tracing the history of the Catholic Church . . . the history of 262 successive Popes . . . back through nearly 2,000 years to Christ Himself.

We know as a matter of historical fact that Christ did establish His Church . . . that He commissioned the Apostle Peter as His first head . . . that He sent His Apostles forth to teach men to observe all things He had commanded.

We know from the New Testament that the Church was actually organized . . . that it was governed by the Apostles under the leadership of Peter . . . that it was teaching Christ's truth far and wide, long before the last book of the New Testament was written and the books of the Bible were collected into one volume.

Christ's purpose in organizing a Church was to make certain that the good news of Redemption would be preached to all men . . . even to the end of the world. To accomplish this with fallible men, required that He establish a Church—divinely protected from error in transmitting His teaching through the centuries.

The Catholic Church traces its unbroken history back to the Apostles—back to Christ. And Catholics today call Pope Pius XII "Holy Father" because he is the lawful and historical successor to Peter, the first Pope. He is in our time . . . as Peter was in the first century . . . the Vicar of Christ on earth.

Would you like to know more about the Pope . . . why the promises made by Christ to Peter and his successors make the Pope the most important man in the world? Then write today for a pamphlet which we shall send you free and without any obligation. Ask for Pamphlet No. 4-N.

Thousands Die of Diseases Carried by Common House Fly

AUSTIN. — Thousands of children and adults die every year from diseases carried by the fly. Typhoid fever, tuberculosis, polio, summer complaint, cholera, intestinal diseases and frequently death follow closely in the trail of the common house fly.

"The control of the fly menace comes at the top of the list of necessary public health measures which should be applied by every city and community in the State," urged Doctor Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

"The most effective control is to prevent breeding," Doctor Cox said. "Flies breed in filth, and about eight days are required to complete a life cycle. During her life time of several months, one house fly lays from 600 to 1000 eggs. Thus it can easily be seen that in a season which usually begins in the spring of the year, the descendants from one fly number countless thousands.

"To eliminate flies, the breeding places must be destroyed. Manure piles, garbage, and other organic filth furnish the requirements of warmth, moisture and food necessary for the propagation of the fly. Flies should be kept from contact with food or drink or utensils in which such food and drink are prepared and served. Likewise, they should be kept from access to privy vaults where they pick up the infections, which they later spread to humans by contact with the food and drink, and by unwashed hands and utensils.

"See that your windows, doors, and porches are screened so that the stray fly from some careless neighbor will not molest your family. See that your grocer keeps meat, vegetables, and fruit screened from flies.

"Organize health measures to destroy the breeding places, control the flies' access to your home and food, and establish standards of cleanliness in your community that will eliminate the fly."

MRS. JOE KATHMAN IS GET-TOGETHER HOSTESS

Mrs. Joe Kathman entertained members of the Get-Together Club for the regular September social. She was hostess in her home.

A progressive 42 series was followed by the serving of a frozen pineapple dessert, cake and punch to 14 members.

In the games Mrs. John Wier received the high score prize and Miss Annie Hellman won the consolation favor. Mrs. Jud Boyles secured the galloping award and the hostess received a birthday gift from her sunshine pal.

Mrs. Joe Luke will entertain the club in her home for next month's social on the first Wednesday in October.

New bug-killing sprays can now practically eliminate in-the-orchard losses due to insects, according to apple growers. These insecticides, most of which are petroleum-based or use oil as a carrier, have meant a production boost of from 10 to 15 per cent in Washington, top apple state.

FAREWELL PARTY GIVEN FOR MAYNARD WILLIAMS

Mrs. John Huchton entertained with a dinner party in her home Thursday evening honoring her brother, Maynard Williams. It was a farewell tribute before Maynard left to attend Midwest University at Wichita Falls.

Other guests were the honoree's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Williams of Bonita, the Ray Temples of Gainesville, John Huchton and David.

The Huchtons recently finished redecorating their kitchen and dinette. The kitchen stresses blue and the dinette features yellow. For the party, pink and yellow zinnias adorned the rooms.

COUPLE'S ENGAGEMENT TOLD AT DINNER PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Haverkamp entertained with a dinner party at their home Sunday night to announce the engagement of their daughter, Helen, to Walter Luttmner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Luttmner. Guests enjoyed the delicious meal on the lighted lawn.

Present were Messrs. and Mmes. Herman Luttmner, Ferd Luttmner and daughter, Joe Luttmner and son, Leo Haverkamp and daughter, Anthony Luke, Troy Cooper, Ray Kupper and son of Lindsay, Johnnie Sturn and daughter of Gainesville, Melvin Schumacher of Gainesville, Henry, Alfred and Wilfred Luttmner and the hosts and their family.

The engaged couple has set October 23 as the date for their wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Gallaher, formerly of Muenster, who now live near Decatur, were back in the city during the weekend to visit old friends.

Installation Of Officers Features Garden Club Meet

The installation of new officers featured the business session of the regular meeting of the Civic League and Garden Club last Thursday night. Members gathered at the home of Mrs. Anthony Luke for the meeting which was held in the outdoor living room.

Miss Olivia Stock, a past president, presided at the installation ceremony in the absence of Mrs. Nick Miller, immediate past president.

Installed were Mrs. Steve Moster, president; Mrs. Frank Yosten, vice-president; Mrs. Anthony Luke, treasurer; Mrs. Joe Luke, secretary.

The new president made appointments of committee chairmen as follows: Cemetery project, Mrs. Nick Miller; Park, Mrs. T. S. Myrick, public school grounds beautification and Mrs. Frank Yosten, Veterans Memorial Park; Soil Conservation, Mrs. Lee Toothaker; Program and Yearbook, Miss Olivia Stock; Highway, Mrs. M. D. Kaderli. Flower Show and Pilgrimage and Sanitation committee chairmen will be appointed later.

As a means to increase the club treasury members decided to have a "traveling basket". The basket will begin with the president, then travel to members alphabetically. Each member will put in a gift and buy a gift. A cash box will be in the basket for voluntary contributions, suggested as one dollar. During the program hour members enjoyed an informal round table discussion on "Pot Plants".

To conclude the evening, the hostess served a refreshment course to those present.

Two new members were welcomed at the meeting, Mmes. Lee Toothaker and M. D. Kaderli.

The battleship was in port and visitors were being shown around. The guide paused before a bronze plaque on the deck and with bowed head said, "That is where our gallant captain fell."

Nervous old lady: "And no wonder I nearly tripped over the darn thing myself."

An American couple sent a play-pen to a friend in northern Canada upon the arrival of her fourth child.

"Thank you so much for the pen," she wrote them. "It's wonderful — every afternoon I sit in it and read, and the children can't get near me."

Blessed Events

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Joe Miller announce the arrival of Terry Paul, their second son, at the local clinic on Friday, Sept. 7. Sponsors at the christening Sunday afternoon were the baby's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Endres. Grand parents of the new arrival are Messrs. and Mmes. John Walter and T. Miller.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Stoffels are the parents of a seven pound daughter born at the local clinic on Tuesday morning, Sept. 11. Also welcoming the little girl are her sister, Ann, her brother John, and the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Slaton of Fort Worth and Nick Stoffels of Muenster.

J. M. Weinzapfel spent several days of last week in Detroit where he attended a Ford tractor dealers meeting. In that city he visited with a cousin, Henry Weinzapfel, who has been an employe at the Ford plant for many years. Returning home, Mr. Weinzapfel's plane stopped at Tulsa, Okla., for 12 minutes and his daughter, Mrs. P. W. Hellman and children visited with him at the airport.

bringing the culprits to justice. As the VP himself stated "cabinet members were indicted and tried, and other high officers were convicted and sentenced to the penitentiary on account of the magnitude of their offenses."

Yes, it is true that no party has a monopoly on vice or virtue, but there is a big difference between co-operating to expose graft and attempting to brush off charges with a retort or wise crack. No one can prevent stinkers from sneaking into an organization. No party is to blame for the sins of its individual members. But something is wrong when the party tries to protect its stinkers.

We've had lots of cases lately. Deep freezes, mink coats, RFC loans, job selling, war contract grafts, red herrings, and plenty of others. The culprits themselves are no worse than the administration that refuses to bring them to justice.

Leo Kuehn Heads TB Seal Campaign

Leo M. Kuehn of Gainesville will serve as chairman for the 1951 Christmas Seal Sale in Cooke County, Dr. T. S. Myrick, president of the Cooke County Tuberculosis Association, announced this week.

The sale of Christmas Seals will be conducted in the county by the tuberculosis association from Nov. 19 to Dec. 25. This year's Christmas Seal Sale, to be conducted throughout the nation by the 3,000 associations affiliated with the National Tuberculosis Association, marks the 45th annual Christmas Seal Sale in this county.

In accepting the chairmanship, Mr. Kuehn said that he was honored by his appointment and he would do all he could to make this year's Christmas Seal Sale the best the county has ever had.

"I am proud to serve in any capacity that helps the Cooke County Tuberculosis Association, which is fighting 12 months a year to protect us against a disease which is killing at the rate of one person every 13 minutes in this country," said Mr. Kuehn.

Mr. Kuehn also said that he was "counting heavily" on Cooke County people to volunteer their services for Christmas Seal work.

He appeals to anyone who would like to serve to get in touch with the Cooke County Tuberculosis Association at the City-County Health Department, Phone number 112, Gainesville.

Water Mains ---

main will be extended from Leo Haverkamp to Larry Yosten. A few direct connections there and other changes will relieve the present overload of some 25 meters on 2 one-inch lines. A fire plug will be installed at Yosten's.

In the west part of town the main will extend two blocks west from Herman Stoffels and a fire plug will be put up at the far end of the line. In that area also some customers will be tied directly to the main, leaving fewer on the small lines.

After those improvements are made the city will still face a water problem. At this time it's supply is inadequate to meet the peak demand of about 150,000 gallons a day during the summer heat. Running at capacity the city can produce about 130,000 gallons, and, because of frequent failures of the No. 2 well, it cannot count on that much as a steady supply. According to Water Superintendent Steve Moster the city will need another well to avoid rationing next summer. At this time, however, the situation is under control. Since the drought and heat wave are broken daily use is running between 85 and 90 thousand gallons. Another problem to be figured in is an occasional leak in the lines. This week, for instance, Moster is repairing a break on First Street about 75 feet east of Main. He estimates the loss there at about 7 gallons a minute, amounting to 10,000 gallons a day.

The break was discovered after Sunday's rain which soaked the surface crust and permitted the leakage to come to the surface. Before that the water apparently escaped through the water main and sewer line ditches.

Almost 60 million tons of steel, in the form of pipe lines, lie buried in the soil of the United States today, transporting oil, gas, and products to the American people.

Palsy Association Asks for Old Cards

Don't throw away those pretty but useless greeting and Christmas cards.

They're not useless to the United Cerebral Palsy association.

"We need bushels of them", said Mrs. Karl K. Van Meter, executive director. "The cards are invaluable in occupational therapy".

Sometimes the children cut out the figures and paste them on sheets of paper. Other children can only handle the cards, but the bright colors bring sunshine to these handicapped little ones. Mrs. Van Meter added.

Mrs. Joe Swircynski will accept cards and make shipment of them, or cards may be sent direct to United Cerebral Palsy, 50 West 57th street, New York, 19, N. Y.

Mrs. R. R. Endres is visiting in Albuquerque, N. M., with her daughter, Mrs. Frank Hennigan and family.

Who Can Defy The Law?

The owners of the Dollar Steamship Line have discovered that borrowing money from the U. S. government is often helpful but sometimes can be dangerous too. Getting in debt to the government has cost them one of the most basic of human rights—the right to their own property. As collateral on a loan from the government they put up the stock and physical assets of their company. Now the principal and interest on their loan has been paid, but the government bureau refuses to return their stock and their steamships.

Upon being informed of what a Federal government bureau has done to the Dollar Line owners, almost any American would exclaim: "Oh no! They can't get away with that in our country! But the sobering fact is—they have. The "Dollar Line Case" should be clearly understood by every American. At issue, according to some of the nation's best legal minds, is the question of constitutional law when it seeks to override basic rights of the citizens.

Criminal Contempt

The U. S. Secretary of Commerce and his bureau, the Maritime Commission, have been ordered by the U. S. Court of Appeals in Washington, second highest in the land, to return the Dollar Line stock and property to the owners. Secretary Sawyer and the Commission have not obeyed the order—issued last January. So unrelenting has been their defiance that, in a unanimous decision, the same court has assessed civil contempt judgments against Commerce Secretary Sawyer and eight other U. S. officials.

But through one of the most amazing series of legalistic blockades on record, they have escaped jail, have refused to sign over the stock as ordered and they are in possession of the $68,000,000 steamship line. It is not my intention to pass judgment on the conflicting claims of the Dollar Line owners and the Maritime Commission bureau. This nation's second highest court has done that, finding the claims of the line's owners to be true and correct—even the U. S. Supreme Court has twice refused to intervene in carrying out of this judgment.

The Background

Here are the bare facts: In 1938 the Dollar Line owed the Maritime Commission $7,500,000, borrowed to build some of its big fleet passenger liners. The company accused the Commission of withholding normal mail subsidies due it and otherwise attempting to bankrupt the line and gain control through receivership. In order to forestall the bankruptcy they felt was being pressed upon them the owners were obliged to put up 91 per cent of the line's stock as collateral and agree to the Maritime bureau taking over control and operation of the company.

This was in August 1938. A short time later the nation's defense effort began and then war broke out in the Pacific. The steamship line, a tremendous asset to our nation at war, operated profitably and within five years the $7,500,000 indebtedness had been paid in full. The Dollar family asked for the return of their stock and property. The Maritime bureau refused. It said it would keep the company and the stock. The dollar family took recourse of the law and went to court six years ago. The final determination was the Court of Appeals' unanimous decision last January ordering the Maritime bureau to return the stock and property to the Dollar family, and the U. S. Supreme Court's refusal, twice, to halt this judgment.

The Question

One of the most stunning aspects of the case was an order from President Truman, without precedent, actually directing Secretary Sawyer to defy the court's judgment. When Mr. Sawyer obeyed this directive and defied the court, he was in civil contempt and the court said: "Considered upon the plane of high policy and principle, we have the spectacle of a government, which proclaims its adherence to law as a governing force among men, not only refusing for six years to submit to its own courts . . . but endeavoring by every device to thwart and defeat the judgment of those courts after it has been rendered. . . ."

In the American freedom system the laws and the courts which administer them are the citizen's one great protection of his rights. If they can be defied and thwarted by a powerful individual, or government bureau, or in any manner, freedom cannot exist. Powerful, well-entrenched government bureaucracy is a constant danger. Will we control it, or will it control us? That is the grave question of this day.

The young recruit was the victim of so many practical jokes that he doubted all men and their motives. One night while on guard, the figure of one of the officers loomed up in the darkness.

"Who goes there?" he challenged.

"Major Moses," replied the officer.

"Glad to meet you, Moses," he said cheerfully. "Advance and give the Ten Commandments."

The Missionary Christ

By Rev. Vincent J. McCauley

Today we meet the Man who spent His entire life searching for souls. He traveled along the dusty roads of the world and He was often weary, but He kept on searching—that is what He was sent for.

In His mind constantly was the thought of His Father and He declared: I do always the things that please Him. His teaching, preaching and healing had the authority of His Father behind them: "The works that I do have been given Me by My Father." Jesus impresses crowd

St. Matthew in His Gospel gives us a general picture of Christ at work: "And Jesus was going about all the towns and villages, teaching in their synagogues, preaching the kingdom and curing every kind of disease and infirmity. Seeing the crowds He was moved with compassion for them, because they were bewildered and dejected, like sheep without a shepherd."

There is no doubt that Jesus did impress the crowd with His teaching and that He confounded many hostile opponents with His answers to their tricky questions and unfounded charges. He likewise made the multitude gasp in amazement at His miracles. But it was not His main purpose to appeal to the crowd, certainly not to entertain them with the wonder of His words and His works.

What He sought in every case was the individual soul. That was His objective, certainly, the time He restored the withered hand of a beggar one Sabbath day near the synagogue.

Our Lord's Purpose

Because He healed the man on the Sabbath He brought down on Himself the wrath of the onlooking pharisees. They charged Him with breaking the law of the Sabbath, though He, the Lord of the Sabbath was showing His kindness in order to win a soul. Yet He impressed no one but the cured man. The others in the crowd took their cue from the disgruntled leaders and kept silent—however much they may have liked what Jesus did.

It grieved Him when they failed to understand that it was not their approval, not their praise, but themselves that He sought. So He passed on to the next town thinking that perhaps there He would find what He sought—a soul.

For Jesus Himself has said that He comes to seek and to save that which was lost.

Confession?—Ask The Man Who Goes There!

Catholics go to Confession to a priest for one reason only: to obtain divine forgiveness for their sins.

But why, you ask, go to a priest? Why not confess our sins directly to God?

Ask the man who goes to Confession and here's what he will tell you: Sin is an offense against God, it must be forgiven by God. It is God, not man, who determines how forgiveness must be obtained. Christ plainly pointed this out when He empowered His Apostles and their successors to forgive sins or to refuse forgiveness.

"Whose sins you shall forgive," Christ said, "they are forgiven them; whose sins you shall retain, they are retained." (John 20:21-23). Thus Christ authorized the Apostles, and their successors, to pardon or to deny pardon as they judged the sinner worthy or unworthy. To do this they had to know what they were forgiving . . . the secret dispositions of the sinner . . . his sorrow and willingness to repair the wrong done to his neighbor by his sins. Who could make this known but the sinner himself—and what is this but Confession?

But Confession—the Sacrament of Penance—is only one of the seven Sacraments Christ left in His Church. Yes, seven—no more and no less! Christ's religion is not merely a message to be accepted, but a life to be lived—from the cradle to the grave. Christ's seven Sacraments are the answer to man's seven basic needs.

Man is born, but he needs to be reborn a Christian in the Sacrament of Baptism. He is nourished, but he needs Christian nourishment in Holy Communion, the Sacrament of the Eucharist. He grows, but he needs to grow and be strengthened in Christian life by the Sacrament of Confirmation. He is cured of disease, but he needs a remedy for sin, so destructive of Christian life, and this he finds in the Sacrament of Penance.

Man lives in society which needs officials to promote the common good—and for his life in the Church, he finds officials provided by the Sacrament of Orders. He perpetuates the human race in marriage, which Christ made the Sacrament of Matrimony. And at death, he needs consolation and strength for the last dread hour which he finds in the Last Anointing—the Sacrament of Extreme Unction.

Would you like to know more about each of the seven Sacraments? How they can help you to meet the seven basic needs of your life? Then write today for a free pamphlet which gives important information concerning them. Ask for Pamphlet No. 5-N.

SLOW WATCH SAVED COUNTLESS LIVES

Strange as it may seem, an engineer's watch running three minutes slow once resulted in a train wreck that saved countless lives.

Although eleven persons were killed in the wreck, which occurred in 1892, this was the incident that awakened the railroads to the fact that correct time was as important to railroading as engines and tracks. The investigation that followed revealed that the wreck would not have happened had the engineer's watch been accurate. Shortly afterward, a system for checking the accuracy of railroaders' watches was established, consequently preventing untold numbers of future disasters.

Gas Waste Costs Average Car Driver 87 Dollars a Year

Impatience, negligence and incompetence—the three cardinal sins of the gasoline wastrel—are costing Texas motorists more than $222,500,000 annually or about $87 for each vehicle owner, according to a recently published study by one of America's topflight automotive engineers.

After a series of controlled mileage tests lasting more than a year, Delmar G. Roos, former president of the society of Automotive Engineers, has concluded that the average motorist gets less than half the motoring miles he should out of a gallon of gasoline.

The primary cause of gasoline wastage says Mr. Roos, are speed, mechanical negligence and sloppy driving habits.

"Speed alone cuts mileage almost in half," Mr. Roos says. "In rigidly controlled tests over a measured mile, a Willys station wagon consistently averaged 31 miles per gallon at 30 miles an hour. However, at 60 miles an hour, mileage was cut considerably.

Heading a list of mechanical sins lumped in Mr. Roos' study under "negligence" are faulty spark settings, cylinder compression and tire pressures. Each of these factors cuts gasoline efficiency between three and six percent—and costs the motorist between one and two cents extra for each mile he drives.

"Tire pressure is a good example of the high price of carelessness," Mr. Roos says.

"When tire pressures were four pounds lower than they should be, the station wagon averaged one mile less per gallon of gas. At average gasoline prices this bit of carelessness alone would cost the motorist more than a penny a mile.

Other common mechanical faults affecting fuel mileage are dirty air filters, dragging brakes and improper wheel alignment.

"As for driving habits," Mr. Roos declares, "the two worst wasters—out side of habitual speeding—are jack rabbit starts and quick stops. Violent pressures on the accelerator squirt gasoline into the cylinders faster than it can be used efficiently, while sudden stops waste momentum already built up by expended fuel, in addition to wearing out brake linings."

Mr. Roos' figures on gasoline wastage in Texas were based on current gasoline prices in the state, number of miles "got" per gallon of gas by the average motorist and the latest available state-wide mileage figures released by the National Safety Council.

A traffic cop pulled the motorist over to the side of the road. "You haven't any tail light, mister."

The motorist got out and looked at the back of the car, his jaw hung open, and he had a look of utter dejection on his face. The policeman remarked, "Well, it's bad, buddy, but it's not that bad."

"Oh," replied the motorist, "it's not the tail light that I'm worried about, I just wonder what happened to the house trailer."

 Willard Kemplin, Valley View

All around Muenster, Co-operators of the Upper-Elm-Red Soil Conservation District are exhibiting living proof that soil that has grown a soil improving legume has the capacity to store up a reserve supply of moisture that carries growing crops longer without rain. The legumes open up tight soils and build up the organic matter content so that their water absorbing and water holding capacity of a soil is greatly increased.

In spite of the drought and heat of this summer the buffalograss remained nice and green. This further attests the fact that soils growing deep rooted legumes take in and store up more water for plant use.

Paul Fisher has sown vetch and has phosphated his bermudagrass waterway for the past two years. Today the grass in his waterway is a bright green and is furnishing lots of grazing for his cows. Conservation farming is paying off in longer and better grazing. He gives the vetch credit for improving the water intake capacity of the soil so that it can store up some of the excess water that is dumped on it from field terraces. He credits the phosphate for developing more extensive and deeper root system on the grass so it can better use the increased fertility and water storage.

Henry N. Furchman's cotton that is growing on cloverized land has made good growth and is head and shoulders above the average cotton in this area. The cotton has well developed bolls and did not open prematurely as most cotton did this year. Another case where conservation farming is paying dividends.

Walter Becker is using a three disc plow and the island method of construction to build 3 miles of terraces on the Felix Becker farm west of Muenster. The terraces outlet on a wide waterway that was sodded to bermuda grass two years ago. Local Soil Conservation Service personnel staked the lines and gave on-site assistance with the construction procedure.

Tips On How To Prevent Car Thefts

AUSTIN. The Texas Crime Report for 1950, just released by the Texas Department of Public Safety, indicates that crime in general over the State is up 10.9% over 1949.

Among the seven major crimes tabulated in the report: Murder and homicide, rape, robbery, burglary, aggravated assault, theft and auto theft. The greatest increase was reflected in the category of auto theft.

To stem the rise in the number of stolen vehicles and to assist you in protecting your investment in an increasingly hard-to-get commodity, Homer Garrison Jr., director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, passes along these tips to car owners:

1. Keep unattended cars off streets, particularly at night.
2. If you use your auto at night, do not park on poorly lighted or littleused streets.
3. Lock car at all times — ignition, doors and rear deck.
4. When car is parked or stored in public garages or on parking lots, insist upon a claim check. Don't yield when attendant says, "You do not need a ticket as I will know you." Also insist upon locking ignition, doors and all compartments when fire rules do not prohibit such measures.
5. If auto is kept in a private garage, see that locks are strong and that door hasps cannot be taken off with a screw driver, or hinges removed from the outside.
6. Do not leave car registration or driver's license in car as thieves frequently escape arrest by presenting documents of the rightful owner when stopped by police officers. They may also submit the registration card and driver's license to prove ownership in successfully stolen vehicles.
7. Report suspicious tampering with autos to your local police. The securing of license numbers of cars near the scene of such activities may prove of value to the police in the event of theft.

State Polio Record Better Than in '50

AUSTIN—The state last week logged its highest polio incidence of the season, but it was still far short of the record set last year.

Ninety-seven cases of the virulent disease were reported by the State Department of Health for the week ending August 11, bringing the year's total to 874. Last week's report bested the previous week's incidence of 92 cases by five.

"Even one case of polio is too much," State Health Officer George W. Cox said, "but I'm mighty glad we don't have polio in wholesale lots like we did last year and the year before."

"Of course we still have to get through September and October — they can be mean for polio too," he cautioned.

Last year Texas suffered 23-55 cases for the entire season. There were 210 deaths for the entire year, State Health Department statistics show 88 of them occurring during the first 6 months. Through June of this year 29 polio deaths have been recorded.

Counties heaviest hit last week were Dallas, 17 cases; Tarrant, 10 cases; Bexar, 10 cases; and Harris, 7 cases.

Meanwhile, dysentery, always a leader among communicable diseases, continued its hot weather rampage. Morbidity statistics show 16,775 cases to date. Border counties — principally Cameron, Hidalgo, and Webb — reported the highest number of weekly cases.

"A return to fundamental personal, household, and community sanitation will do more to cut both polio and dysentery rates than anything else," Dr. Cox asserted. He appealed to parents to take the lead by keeping their own houses free of flies, and by demanding that their city officials take steps to "permanently eliminate breeding places."

PICTORIAL PROOF — And piscatorial, too, that a fish is no match for a man even when the fellow isn't lying. The fisherman is Bob Rood, a Salinas, Calif., photographer who is 48 inches tall and weighs 80 pounds. The fish, which Rood actually caught, is a salmon 38 inches long and weighs 29 pounds. As the photo shows, fishing is probably the only sport in the world where battlers weigh in after the fight.

Neil Fisher and Johnny Fisher left Tuesday to enroll at St. Edward's at Austin. Neil is taking his second year of college work at the university and Johnny is a freshman. The boys made the trip in company of Mrs. John Fisher and Ruth who took them by car and remained in Austin overnight, returning home Wednesday.

FHA CHAPTER ORGANIZES, ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

The Muenster chapter of the FHA has organized for the coming year and has elected officers for the current school term. Officers are: Jeanette Walter, president; Florence Henscheid, vice president; Joan Klement, secretary; Bonnie Hammer, treasurer; Carol Hellman, historian; Janie Hellman, reporter; Rita Cain, pianist; Marcelene Wimmer, song leader; Norma Vogel, parliamentarian.

Mrs. Gladys Ashlock is club sponsor and home economics teacher.

BULCHER HD CLUB HAS ELECTION, DEMONSTRATION

Members of the Bulcher Home Demonstration Club elected officers for the new year during their September business session and had an ironing demonstration as a feature of the meeting.

Officers by re-election are Mmes. A. Hyman, president; Dexter Dowd, vice president; Johnnie West, council delegate. New officers are Mrs. Robert Samples, secretary-treasurer to succeed Mrs. Charles Crabtree who had served the maximum two year period, and Mrs. Jesse Shield, reporter.

A demonstration of the proper way to iron a man's shirt was given by Mmes. Earl Robinson and E. Newby. Mrs. Robinson first explained how to fold a shirt while sprinkling it. She then placed the shirt on the ironing board and ironed as she explained where to begin, how to proceed, making as few changes in the position of the shirt as possible. She pointed out that the demonstration was not so much about better ironed shirts, but rather a way to simplify this common task. Mrs. Newby took the ironed shirt and showed the correct way to fold it. The club met in the home of Mrs. Weldon Dennis who served ice cream and cookies to those present. During the social hour members exchanged sunshine gifts.

SANDRA YODER HONORED WITH BIRTHDAY PARTY

Mrs. Herman Stoffels was welcomed as a new member, replacing Mrs. Emmet Fette who moved from the city.

The hostess served lime sherbert, pecan cookies and coffee to members and two guests, Mmes. Hugh Jackson and Arthur Felderhoff.

Mrs. Arthur Endres will be hostess for the October meeting.

Advice is usually worthless because older people have had more experience and rarely heed it and young people know every-thing and do not need it.

"HEART-SAVER" KITCHEN TO BE FEATURE OF STATE FAIR GAS EXHIBIT

New Heart-Saver Kitchen cuts in half both the time and the energy you spend in your kitchen. Visitors to the State Fair, in Dallas, can see the Heart Kitchen and three other new kitchen designs from the pages of national magazines at Lone Star Gas Company's Natural Gas Exhibit Building. All facilities in the kitchen are within 20 inches, or arm's reach, of the rolling kitchen stool. There is no stooping, no stretching. The kitchen was designed by the Woman's Home Companion, in cooperation with the American Heart Association and American Gas Association, and is featured in their October issue. Lone Star has reproduced it to the last detail for State Fair visitors.

Water Conservation Program Urgently Needed in Texas

AUSTIN, TEXAS.— A water conservation program must be started immediately by towns, water districts, ranchers, and farmers declared Dr. Geo. Cox, State Health Officer. The present situation is extremely grave and immediate action is necessary to relieve drouth areas and prevent such conditions occurring in the future.

Dr. Cox said, "Our diminishing water supply, and in many places in Texas the total lack of sufficient water, brings about an emergency that imperils the life and health of the citizenship and brings about a substantial economic loss.

"Without water- industry can not operate- homes can not exist -crops can not grow- forests would disappear- game and fish would die- the earth would become a desert- and the human race would perish!

"Municipalities must make plans for additional water supplies. These may come from the construction of dams to impound water during the time of rains and with additional wells. However, the construction of dams is the more practical as the water level in Texas is getting lower each year.

"An immediate water conservation program throughout the state that will provide for the impounding of flood and rain water will contribute more to protecting the health of our people and add more to our economy than any other known project that could be undertaken. To wait three to five years to develop such a program could prove to be our greatest domestic tragedy.

Blessed Events

Mr. and Mrs. Bruno Fleitman welcomed the arrival of an 8 pound 8 ounce son at the local clinic at six o'clock Wednesday morning, Sept. 19. Also welcoming the little boy are his brother and three sisters.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Sicking announce the arrival of Dianne Marie, weighing 8 pounds 3 ounces, at the local clinic on Monday morning, Sept. 17. Also welcoming the little girl are her seven grandparents. She's the first grandchild of the Joe Walters and likewise the first great-grandchild of the John Walters. Mrs. Wm. Walterscheid is the other great-grandmother, and the Ben Sicking's are the paternal grandparents. The baby's christening service took place Tuesday afternoon with the Joe Walters as sponsors and Father Cletus officiating. Dianne wore a baptismal dress 42 years old that has been worn by all children in the Sicking family at their baptisms. The long dress, lavish with flounces, ruffles and ribbon was made by Mrs. Ben Sicking.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hennigan of Albuquerque, N. M., formerly of Muenster are the parents of a boy, their third son, born on Sept. 14. Grandparents of the baby are Messrs. and Mmes. R. R. Endres and H. P. Hennigan; great-grandmothers are Mmes. Fred Herr and Frank Seyler.

Elizabeth Elaine is the name of the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Stoffels received at her baptism on Sept. 12. Father Anthony officiated at the christening service assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stoffels as sponsors. The baby was born at the local clinic on Sept. 11.

Cpl. and Mrs. Leonard Walterscheid are the parents of a son, Tommy Lynn, born at Lawton, Okla., where Mrs. Walterscheid makes her home while her husband is overseas. Cpl. Walterscheid is still in Korea. The August Walterscheids are the baby's grandparents.

Guests of Jim Walker and his mother for a Sunday visit were the Bill Dunsworths and daughter of Cleburne, the B. A. Walkers and daughter of Fort Worth, and the T. C. Germanys and son of Nocona.

Soil Conservation Notes

The application of conservation practices to the land has paid cash dividends to Adolph Fuhrman of Lindsay, co-operator of the Upper Elm-Red soil conservation district. He has just finished harvesting 45 bu. of corn per acre from a nine acre field that has been in hairy vetch and rye for the past two years.

The field had not produced a paying cash crop before this year with the exception of vetch and rye, Fuhrman said. He's been on the farm four years. His neighbors say that they can't remember a cash crop being planted as the land had been used for hay crops such as cane and sudan, which do better than corn, cotton and grain on droughly soils that are low in fertility.

When Fuhrman moved on the farm he planted the field to oats which turned out barely good enough to harvest. That fall he followed with vetch and rye from which he sold more than $400 worth of seed. The next fall he allowed vetch and rye to volunteer. This crop made a good growth but greenbugs damaged it and it produced only about 100 pounds of vetch and some rye. In the spring of 1951 corn was planted and made the unusually good yield of 45 bushels an acre. "I doubt if the corn would have been good enough to harvest had it not followed vetch" Fuhrman said.

He gave this information to Jack McFerran, work unit conservationist, while he was in the midst of preparations to plant more vetch.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wilson returned last Wednesday from visits in Dallas and Gladewater. In Dallas they were guests of the Joe Zippers and attended the wedding of Juanita Zipper to Delbert Weston. In Gladewater they visited Mrs. Marvin Wilson and sons.

Vinegaroon Looks Tough, But He's Not

A black, scorpion-like animal strange to most of Texas was brought from Alpine to the Texas Game, Fish & Oyster Commission headquarters for inspection by biologists and bugologists.

It is known as a whip scorpion. Its habitat is the semi-arid section of the Southwest and is found along the Mexican border of Texas westward from Del Rio.

The arthropod is vicious appearing but, according to the Director of Publications of the Game, Fish and Oyster Commission, it has no venom and the only danger to humans would be from a bite becoming infected.

This animal, also known in Texas as a vinegaroon, has many odd gadgets. Its low slung body is about two and one-fourth inches long. It has two folded pinchers in front, eight legs and a tail two inches long.

The antennae-like tail, normally extending upward at an angle, apparently picks up sound. The many-jointed antennae has whorls of hair at the joints, possibly for insulation. Its long, jointed legs are very sensitive to touch.

The Director of Departmental Publications, who has the specimen in a large jar, reports that it is a voracious eater. It has been fed grasshoppers, crickets, cockroaches and flies.

The vinegaroon is strictly a dry area dweller and has no apparent use for water. It seems to get the little liquid it needs from its victims.

He spent $200 on a cure for halitosis . . . and then found out no one liked him anyhow!

Use Energy Wisely To Avoid Fatigue

Are you using your resources of energy wisely, or frittering them away with poor work techniques?

Perhaps you know that bending requires about 50 percent more energy, and standing 8 percent more, than sitting—but are you using such knowledge to avoid household fatigue and accidents? If you are not, here are some pointers worth putting into practice:

1. When hanging clothes on the line, raise the basket to waist height by setting it on a cart or a table on wheels.

2. Train yourself to use a kitchen chair or stool as much as possible. You can save energy, too, by ironing while sitting down.

3. Have work heights adjusted to your personal needs. Experiment with several levels until you find the one most comfortable for you.

4. Finish kitchen waincots and counter top with such easily cleaned materials as clay tile, which needs only a few seconds with a damp cloth to keep it sanitary. Tile is also colorful and does not need painting or other redecorating.

5. Test the height of your ironing board. Home economists find that the most comfortable height for individuals varies from thirty-two to thirty-five inches.

6. Keep your shoes for housework in good repair as your dress shoes. Run-down heels give bad support and thereby add to fatigue.

7. Do the heavy part of your work mornings. Try to let down during the high fatigue periods from noon to 3 o'clock, and during the late afternoon and early evening.

8. Relax often. Several short rests of a few minutes are better than one long one.

9. Avoid the temptation to skip meals when alone. Like an engine, your body needs nourishing food to perform its work with minimum fatigue.

10. Don't try to do everything in one day. The woman who overworks feels like a martyr and isn't a fit companion for herself or her family.

 A brief statement of the nature of this suit is as follows, to wit:
 For foreclosure of chattel mortgage on the following described property:

We Still Want 750 Cattle

We sold almost 600 head last Saturday at prices that were really outstanding. Lots of cattle went at 2 cents over the current market and none fell below it. BUT we did not have enough to meet the demand.

BUYERS ARE HERE AND THEY'RE BIDDING HIGH SO, BRING YOUR CATTLE THE MORE THE BETTER

Remember: Your best livestock market is here in Muenster. Prices are higher. Hauling expense, shrinkage loss and commission charges are lower.

After that the game settled down to another stalemate with the Indians holding a slight advantage and threatening to pass their way to another touchdown. After completing 6 out of 6 for a total of 40 yards, Marietta lost its touch on the 29 and failed on four successive tries. After that the Hornets snapped back momentarily but had no time left.

Hornets Win - - -

The Indians received the kick-off and booted after failing to gain. Hellman received on the 25 and returned to midfield. Hamric was steady at handling and passing the ball, and Hellman was the boy who toted for well over half of his team's yardage.

The Hornets picked up a first down, bogged down on the second series, and kicked into the end zone.

Starting from their 20 the Indians made first down on their 30 and kicked when stopped on the next series of downs.

Muenster then started its touchdown drive from the Marietta 39. Hellman's 5 was wiped out by a 5 yard penalty after which his 4 yard gain and a pass Hamric to Richey made a first down on the 17. Four line plays reached the 7 and Noggler reached the 4 as the quarter ended. On the first play of the second period Hellman plunged over from a spread formation. His kick made the count 7 to 0.

That's how the score stood for the rest of the half as both teams tried in vain to make headway. With the exception of Marietta's two first downs it was three plays and kick for each side all through the period.

Returning after the halftime Marietta seemed to be a different team. It held the Hornets on the first series of downs then headed for the goal line. In 6 plays they advanced 56 yards for a touchdown and missed by inches in their attempt to carry over for the extra point. In that drive, as in the rest of the game Minyard and Bingham did the heavy work, Bingham cross-

PARTY HONORS COUPLE LEAVING FOR LAFERIA

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bauer Jr. returned Friday from their wedding trip and spent the weekend in Lindsay and Muenster with relatives and friends before leaving Monday for LaFeria where they will make their home. Mrs. Bauer is the former Joan Arendt.

Their trip took them to Chicago, Canada, Niagara Falls, New York City, Washington, D. C., Raleigh, N. C., and Nashville, Tenn.

Complimenting the newly married couple, the Vincent Zimmerers entertained Sunday evening in their home with a get-together of family members. Card games, visiting and refreshments were enjoyed.

Present were Messrs. and Mmes. I. A. Zimmerer, Paul Arendt, Henry and Bruno Zimmerer, Andy Arendt and sons Butch and David, Paul Arendt Jr. and Janet, Johnny Arendt, John Hoberer, Earl Walterscheid, Buster Herr and Paula, Ray Voth, and the hosts and Rudy.

It's a woman's world. When a man is born, people ask "How is the mother?" When he marries, they exclaim: "What a lovely bride!" And when he dies, they inquire: "How much did he leave her?"

Pentagon staff and other agencies are nagging for more men. Price controllers want 40 more publicists bringing their staff to 400. National Production Authority wants a half million dollars for its 90-man publicity staff.

All in all the government spends millions of dollars for thousands of men to grind out the propaganda which has no purpose other than to sell the government's socialistic schemes to you and me. Figure in the cost of office space and equipment they use and the cost of paper and you begin to realize who is really imposing on the taxpayer.

The president is mighty handy with his criticism of the "Special Interests". And all the while we know that the most conspicuous and most obnoxious group of special interest boys is the president's own group of socialistic schemers who are goofing off the public's own money to sell the public their screw ball ideas. The amazing thing is that the president has the gall to bring up such subjects.

Nig Wilson Kills Oversize Rattler

Killing a rattler is almost an every day event to Nig Wilson, but the one he killed last Friday was something special. A real whopper, it measured 4½ feet long and had nine rattles plus evidence that other rattles had been lost.

Nig found it on the road as he was coming to town, shot it through the head and brought it along as an exhibit. It was one of the short stubby species, about 8 to 10 inches in circumference at the largest part of its body.

P-TA Will Sponsor Halloween Party

The Muenster P-TA Tuesday night opened its 1951-52 activity with a short meeting taken up mostly by organizational details.

First on the group's social program is a Halloween party. A committee to work out plans for it will be appointed by officers in the next few days.

Members also approved extending a general invitation to non members who are interested in attending their affairs. The invitation applies to meetings as well as to PTA sponsored programs.

After the brief business session the group saw movies taken on the senior trip in June. 65 members were present.
