VOLUME XVI

MUENSTER, COOKE COUNTY, TEXAS, JANUARY 25, 1952

NUMBER 10

Don't look now, if you're hoping to see the end of the inflation spiral. It isn't in sight and there's no telling how long we'll have to wait before the end comes in sight.

Two events last week indicated quite clearly that we're in for another round of dollar devaluation. Another boost was allowed in car prices and the House of Representatives approved a 10 per-cent pay raise for all service men. The Senate's approval on that measure is expected and the president's approval is taken for granted.

Meanwhile demands of wage and price hikes continue to rumble across the country. Wherever there is any sign at all it points toward additional inflation. So round and round the spiral goes, and where it stops nobody knows.

And as the process gets under way again we have occasion again to wonder what's wrong with the brainwork of the so-called economists and statesmen who are in a position to guide the course of our economic affairs.

Or is it a matter of lacking backbone rather than brains? After all, you know, it takes a little gumption to face the howling masses and say this thing has gone far enough, that the time has come for every red blooded American to brace against the trend we have set in motion by our folly and stop it before it hits the rocks. The farther this thing is permitted to skid downhill, the farther back it will have to be pushed to get back on a sound level.

As regards the service men's pay raise, for instance, why wasn't it possible to do some adjusting on the other side? Instead of raising pay to meet the rising cost of living, why not start whittling down the living cost to bring it in line with pay schedules?

Certainly that would not be as easy as to vote a pay increase. Lots of factors are involved, but it can be done and every member of congress knows that it will have to be done sooner or later if the country is to be saved from ruin.

What's more, the process isn't near as complicated as the congressmen would have us believe. The first and most effective move in that direction would be a change for greater economy in government. Cut out the waste, the graft, the red tape, the unnecessary socialistic ventures, the excessive payrolls and several more tax consuming factors in Washington and the problem is already more than half licked. Relieve people of that much tax burden and they have that much more to live on.

Does that seem fantastic? Well figure it out for yourself. The average person spends practically one third of his income in taxes. If taxes were reduced down to one fourth or one fifth . . . and a determined, economically minded administration could do it . . . the average person would have ten percent more for himself.

Besides, there's the possibility of pushing back price and wage levels in industry. Without decreasing weekly pay checks a penny, unit costs, and unit prices, can be decreased by working a few extra hours a week. It might require a good deal of planning and cooperation but it can be done if the people in a position to do things will just start doing.

Nobody can tell us this inflation is unavoidable. Our own common sense tells us otherwise. We know that there's a way to get back on a solid economic footing if we have the will to get there.

And there we come to the real problem. Does our present administration have the will to straighten' out? Consider its policy of "tax and tax, spend and spend, elect and elect," then draw your own conclusions. Before hoping for a change in fiscal stability, we'd better start hoping for a change in administration.

Incidentally, people like you and me are going to decide this

New Conservation Magazine Features Local Soil District

The bankers' committee of the Upper Elm-Red Soil Conservation district is given state-wide recognition in a featured article appearing in the first edition of "Soil and Water," the new monthly magazine devoted to conservation in Texas.

Under the title "The Interest Rate Is High," the article presents a detailed story on the organization of the local district's bankers' committee, the motive for organizing it, the method of operation, and the influence the organization has had on banker groups in other districts of Texas.

It traces the origin of the bankers' committee to the day in February 1950 when eleven bankers of the soil district area assembled in Muenster on the invitation of J. W. Hess and J. M. Weinzapfel.

It explains that the men present were motivated by "enlightened selfishness," a desire to bring more prosperity to this area by helping the conservation program, that they enlisted the help of the district's newspapers and radio stations, and sponsored a district-wide awards program to honor outstanding conservation farmers.

Activity of the Elm-Red bankers, the article points out, has led to the organization of a state-wide bankers' committee for soil conservation, to the formation of thirteen other district bankers' committees, and to the Texas Bank and Trust Company's program to recognize outstanding district supervisors of the state.

News of Sick And Injured

Louis Roberg entered Baylor Hospital in Dallas Monday for an operation on his knee. It is an old injury that has caused trouble for some time and has been bothering him lately.

Harry Sicking, who underwent surgery Monday at Harris Memorial Hospital in Fort Worth to insert a silver plate in his forehead, stood the three hour and 40 minute operation well and is recovering normally, according to his mother, Mrs. Henry Sicking, who returned home Tuesday night after being with him. Specialists at the hospital indicated that he would be able to return home Sunday unless something unforeseen turns up.

Mrs. Dick Trachta is making a normal recovery from major surgery performed at Gainesville Sanitarium Friday.

Mrs. Maggie Schumacher continues as a patient at Gainesville Sanitarium for medical treatment. She entered the hospital on Jan. 16.

Mrs. John Wimmer is recovering satisfactorily from a major operation performed at Gainesville Sanitarium on Jan. 15. If her improvement continues she may be permitted to return home this week end.

Dennis Hess, six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Al Hess, is wearing a shoulder brace since he fell and injured his collar bone Wednesday. He was treated at the local clinic and was dismissed but will have to wear the brace several weeks. He is a first grade pupil at Sacred Heart School.

Willie Griffin who is a patient at veterans hospital in McKinney spent the week end here and returned to the hospital where he will receive treatments for about three more weeks.

A. W. Vann, manager of the Rock Station east of town, is back at home since Saturday recovering from an illness that confined him to M&S Hospital.

Mrs. John Eberhart suffered a light heart attack Monday morning but was reported resting well Wednesday.

County Discontinues Reserving Special Car License Plates

Cooke County car drivers who have been accustomed to reserving certain number combinations for their license plates are in for a disappointment this year.

County Tax Assessor-Collector M. L. Helm advises that the practice will have to be discontinued this year. The reason, he states, is that the license receipts which are issued with the plates now come in single form rather than in books.

Heretofore it was a fairly simple matter to find a desired number and attach a check to it. Under the present system it would be a long and tedious task to find the desired number, reserve it, and put it back in its proper order.

Helm discovered the change of system when the 1952 license plates and receipts arrived at the tax office last week and promptly announced that the office would have to discontinue giving special numbers. Motorists will have to take the plates as they come.

Colors of the plates again are black and gold but the arrangement of colors is reversed. New tags have a gold letter on a black background. Numbers for this county are DM-2850 to DM-9999 and DN-10 to DN-1849.

The tags will be available Feb. 1. Deadline for operating without the new plates is April 1.

7 Boy Scouts Pass Tests for Awards

Seven members of the local Boy Scout troop Monday night passed requirements making them eligible to receive a total of 21 merit badges when a formal court of honor ceremony is held on Feb. 11. Scoutmaster Nick Miller reported Tuesday.

The boys and their project achievements are: Randy Bayer, who passed tests for merit badges in bird study, athletics, hiking and conservation and by accumulating ten badges won the title of Life Scout.

Melvin Schoech passed in home repairs, farm layout and building arrangement, farm home and planning and book binding.

Larry Hennigan, home repairs.

Paul Hesse, home repairs and beef production.

Joseph Felderhoff, leathercraft, leather work, farm mechanics.

Thomas Hesse, poultry, beef production, home repairs.

Rodney Walter, farm layout and building arrangement, home repairs, book binding, farm home and its planning.

In addition, C. J. Hellman and Gerald Pel passed requirements to enter second class scouting; Ray Luke and David Walter passed tests to enter first class scouting, and Francis Fisher passed tenderfoot requirements.

Material for the curtains was furnished by the lunch fund. It is green and white Pueblo Rattine weave from Itasca Mills. The girls donated their work.

WHAT GOOD WILL ONE VOTE DO?

Well, one vote has had a lot to do with a lot of things in this country.

Thomas Jefferson was elected President by one vote in the electoral college.

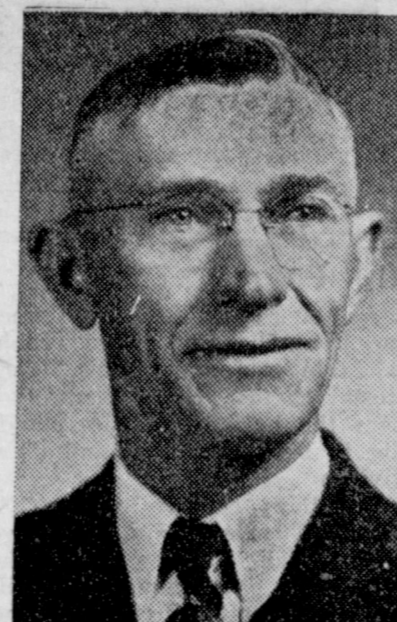

So was John Quincy Adams.

Rutherford B. Hayes was elected President by one vote. His election was contested, and it was referred to the electoral commission. Again he won by a single vote.

The man who cast the deciding vote for President Hayes was a Congressman from Indiana. And that one vote was cast by a client of his who,

Hess Selected As Texas Outstanding District Supervisor

J. W. Hess, Chairman of the Board of Supervisors of the Upper Elm-Red Soil Conservation District, was selected last week in Dallas as the outstanding Soil Conservation District Supervisor of Texas by the State Awards Committee for the Texas Bank and Trust Company. Hess had been previously selected as the outstanding Supervisor in State Region 5. He was judged along with the winning Supervisors from each of the other four State Regions.

All five Supervisors were present to receive their regional awards at the Texas Association of Soil Conservation Districts Convention at Brownwood January 23rd and 24th. In addition Hess is scheduled to receive the top award, according to P. B. (Jack) Garrett, President of the Texas Bank and Trust Company of Dallas, which will be an all expense trip to some part of the United States for him and Mrs. Hess to see methods of conservation farming.

The State Awards Committee was composed of Clayton Puckett, Fort Stockton rancher, who is President of the Texas Association of Soil Conservation Districts; Walter Humphrey, Fort Worth, editor of the Fort Worth Press; Claude Jones, Gainesville, Vice-President of the First State Bank; Paul H. Walser, Temple, State Conservationist for the Soil Conservation Service, and Garrett.

January Moisture To Date Is .39 Inch

In spite of widespread reports that the moisture condition in the community is fair, records show that this winter is one of the driest on record.

A light drizzle Sunday night measured .08 inch and other light rains early in the month account for .31 more. December rainfall amounted to .10 and November rain was 1.69, making a total of only 2.18 in slightly less than three months.

The last fairly heavy rain here was on Oct. 27 and 28 for a total measure of 2.80 inches.

Nevertheless few people are complaining about the drought. Grain crops are holding up nicely, and people working in gardens say the dirt is in good condition only a few inches below the surface.

though desperately ill, insisted on being taken to the polls to vote.

Just one vote gave statehood to California, Idaho, Oregon, Texas and Washington . . . and today all the millions living in those five states are Americans by just one vote.

Now you may say that the one vote situation applies only to the past. Well, don't forget that the Draft Act of World War II passed the House by just one vote . . . and you can carry this "One Vote History" on and on.

Poll Tax Payments Gaining Momentum

Poll tax payments in Cooke County gained momentum last week but they still had a long way to go, according to figures released by the county tax office last Monday.

At that time the record showed 3570 poll taxes and 1082 exemptions as compared with 2,760 and 863 a week before. The number of poll taxes, however, falls short of the last general election year total by 2902. Exemptions now far outnumber those of 1948 because no exemption certificates were required of over-age exemptees in the city of Gainesville prior to 1950. In spite of the tardiness in payments tax office personnel expect this year's poll tax payments to equal or exceed those of 1948. It's the customary thing, they said, for people to postpone until the last few days, then stand in line waiting for their turn to pay.

Church Collection Adds $150 to Polio Fund, More Later

The March of Dimes Drive got a substantial boost here Sunday when collections at the four masses in Sacred Heart church netted a total of $150. The actual figure was $146.82 and Father Louis, pastor, added the 3.18 to make it even money.

Also in connection with the drive CYO members at their meeting Tuesday night voted to conduct a porch lighting drive as a final wind-up on the night of Thursday, Jan. 31. Persons who have not contributed and those who wish to give more will have a last chance to help the cause that night. CYO members will drive over all streets of town between 6:30 and 7:30 stopping at homes that have porch lights burning. Persons who wish to donate will indicate their wish by turning on the light at or before 6:30 and leave it burning until a collector has stopped.

Combining Sunday's collection and the benefit program last week in the school auditorium, the polio fund now stands at $244. More will be added on Jan. 31 when Miss Kathryn Hartman, local chairman, collects contents of the iron lung banks in business houses around town.

VFW Paper Features Local Post's Home

State-wide recognition was given to the Muenster VFW Post by a featured article in the January edition of Texas VFW News on the recently completed VFW hall.

Three photographs show the front view and an interior view of the building and a picture of the building committee with Commander Arthur Felderhoff and Quartermaster Leo Lawson. Committee members pictured are Dick Trachta, Rody Klement, Joe Sicking and Walter Becker.

In another part of the paper is an article which lists Muenster among the first to reach its 1952 membership quotas. The local post was first in Division Four, which includes those of 100-199 members. For this distinction Commander Arthur Felderhoff received a watch at the annual VFW Mid-Winter Round-up in Abilene last Saturday and Sunday.

Others who attended the Abilene meeting with Felderhoff are his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Pagel, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Hennigan, Miss Anne Huchton, Walter Becker, Otto Walter-scheid and Herbert Herr.

Socialism Defined

"Socialism is communism with a white collar." This definition of socialism was given by Wade G. McCargo, executive of the National Dry Goods Association, who addressed the annual convention of American Farm Bureau Federation in Chicago in December.

McCargo said, "Our domestic economy is under every conceivable control and the president is clamoring for new and more rigid controls in January. We have lost many of the liberties we cherish and some business men, harassed by the ever-increasing number of government regulations . . . have just thrown up their hands and cried 'uncle!'"

The Power of Your Vote

One morning in 1844, a grain miller in De Kalb county, Indiana, was walking toward his mill. It was election day but he had work to do that would keep him busy all day and he had decided to forgoe casting his ballot. Before he reached his mill, however, he was stopped by friends who persuaded him to go to the polls. It so happened that the winning candidate for the De Kalb county position in the Indiana Legislature won by just one vote—and the miller had voted for him.

When the Indiana Legislature convened the De Kalb man cast the deciding vote that sent Edward Allen Hannegan to the United States Senate. (Until 1912, the legislatures elected U. S. Senators.) And then in the U. S. Senate the question of Statehood for Texas came up for vote. The result was a tie vote. But Senator Hannegan, who was presiding as "President pro tempore" of the Senate, cast the deciding vote, from the chair, in favor of admitting Texas.

 These incidents clearly demonstrate the potential power of a single vote. The miller's act of voting affected the destiny of the whole state of Texas. What happened in the last presidential election in Ohio is another illustration. Ohio's 25 electoral votes went to the successful presidential candidate in 1948 by so slim a margin that a single additional vote in each of Ohio's voting precincts could have reversed that result. One single person who didn't vote in each voting precinct thus had the power to change the political destiny of Ohio, and it might well have affected the destiny of the nation or even the world.

In that 1948 presidential election only half the American people of voting age voted — 48,000,000 out of a possible 95,000,000. The percentage of people who vote regularly in all elections — local, state and national — is drastically lower; only 20 per cent, or one out of every five of the eligible, vote regularly.

Get-Out-The-Vote "Tool"
 These and other equally challenging facts are presented in a new Harding College "flannel-board" presentation entitled "The Power of Your Vote." The purpose of this new illustrated talk is to get more people to vote and to assist all voters to become intelligent voters in their measuring of candidates and issues. It is the third of a Harding College series designed to develop a better informed and more responsible citizenry throughout the nation.

More than 2,000 "flannel-board" speakers scattered through the 48 states, including clergymen, industrial training directors, civic club members,

Economic Blights

club women, labor union stewards, teachers, etc., have been giving these "flannel-board" talks. Since the recent public announcement of "The Power of Your Vote" a great many local organizations have begun to use it, several national organizations are advocating it as a "tool" to get out the vote. It is non-partisan. It is developed in the Harding College Freedom

Forums, with a number of people working together on it. Honoring The Voters
 Probably the most appealing feature of "The Power of Your Vote" is the suggestion of a "Tag Day" on all election days. Each citizen who votes would wear a little red-white-and-blue lapel tag bearing the challenge: "I Have Voted Have You?" Those who didn't vote would thus be conspicuous and feel very "sheepish." Some local groups — a woman's club, patriotic society, chamber of commerce or other civic club — could sponsor "Tag Day" whenever an election is held, local, state or national. Newspapers would cooperate with helpful publicity. The tags would be given out at the polling places after each citizen voted. Anything that will stimulate more people to vote and to want to know more about candidates and issues would be worth trying. The act of voting, and voting intelligently, is the most important single responsibility of American citizenship. The surest way we have of improving the character and usefulness of our government, on all levels, is for every citizen to inform himself on the issues and candidates and vote on the basis of what's best for the community, state and nation. Additional information on "The Power of Your Vote" may be obtained by addressing a request to me at Harding College, Searcy, Arkansas.

INVITES POLITICAL FOES
 Senator Joseph R. McCarthy will be a candidate for re-election in 1952. He has invited President Truman and administration figures to come up to his home state and tell the folks not to vote for him. "If some of the president's friends want to campaign in Wisconsin, there's good mink-hunting in the northern part of the state." . . . or maybe they'd rather just go get lost.

Don't insist on your rites — drive carefully.

Ed Got Red In His Own "Hot Water"

Big Ed started a "Pay-Your-Bill" campaign last week and ended up with a slightly red face. Ed's been our Water Commissioner for ten years, and for ten years now he's been getting riled up over slow payments of bills.

So, he finally decided to do something drastic about it. Last week he sent notices that if the slackers didn't pay up by Friday, he'd shut off their water.

Naturally, some still didn't square accounts. Ed ordered their water turned off, and 14 homes went without all week end—the Commissioner's among them. Seems Ed forgot to pay his bill.

From where I sit, Ed's mistake is one we all make at times. We are too quick to accuse others while forgetting our own faults. Lots of us do it, for instance, over a difference in taste for a soft drink or a friendly glass of beer. Let's respect each other's preferences and we'll all stay out of "hot water."

A Letter To Our NON-CATHOLIC Neighbors

Catholics and non-Catholics, as a rule, get along right well together. Our families live amicably next door to each other and often become lifetime friends. Our sons fight side by side on every battlefield. We work together in the same shops and factories...root for the same baseball teams...do business with one another in a spirit of mutual trust every day.

In these and other phases of everyday life, there is a close association which promotes understanding and respect. But in religion... where this close association does not exist... there is often a regrettable lack of understanding and a corresponding absence of good-will.

Many people, for instance, have all sorts of false ideas about Catholics and the Catholic Church. They actually believe that Catholics worship statues... that many sordid things happen behind convent walls... that Catholics do not believe in the Bible... that Catholic teaching is pure superstition and the Mass nothing but mumbo-jumbo.

All non-Catholics, of course, do not believe such things. But enough of these false rumors are in circulation to cause some sincere and intelligent non-Catholics to look upon the Catholic Church with suspicion, and to reject Catholic truth without even troubling to investigate it.

It is for this reason that the Knights of Columbus, a society of Catholic laymen, publishes advertisements like this explaining what Catholics really believe. We want our non-Catholic friends and neighbors to understand us and our Faith, even if they do not wish to join us. We want them to know the Catholic Church as it really is... not as it is so often misrepresented to be.

It is also important to you personally, however, to inquire into the teaching of the Catholic Church. For unless you do, you cannot know whether the Catholic Church is or is not the Church established by Jesus Christ for your salvation. You cannot intelligently accept or reject Catholic teaching until you investigate it and know what it really is.

A distinguished Catholic author has written "A Letter to a Friend Not of My Faith." This letter has been published in the form of a pamphlet which can be read in a few minutes...and which gives a remarkably clear and beautiful explanation of Catholic beliefs, worship and history. More importantly, it gives a blue print of Christian living which will deeply move you whether you accept or reject the Catholic viewpoint.

 This highly interesting pamphlet is well worth the few minutes it will take you to read it. We will be glad to send you a copy free, on request. Write today...ask for Pamphlet No. KC-23.

The Horse Has To Do The Drinking

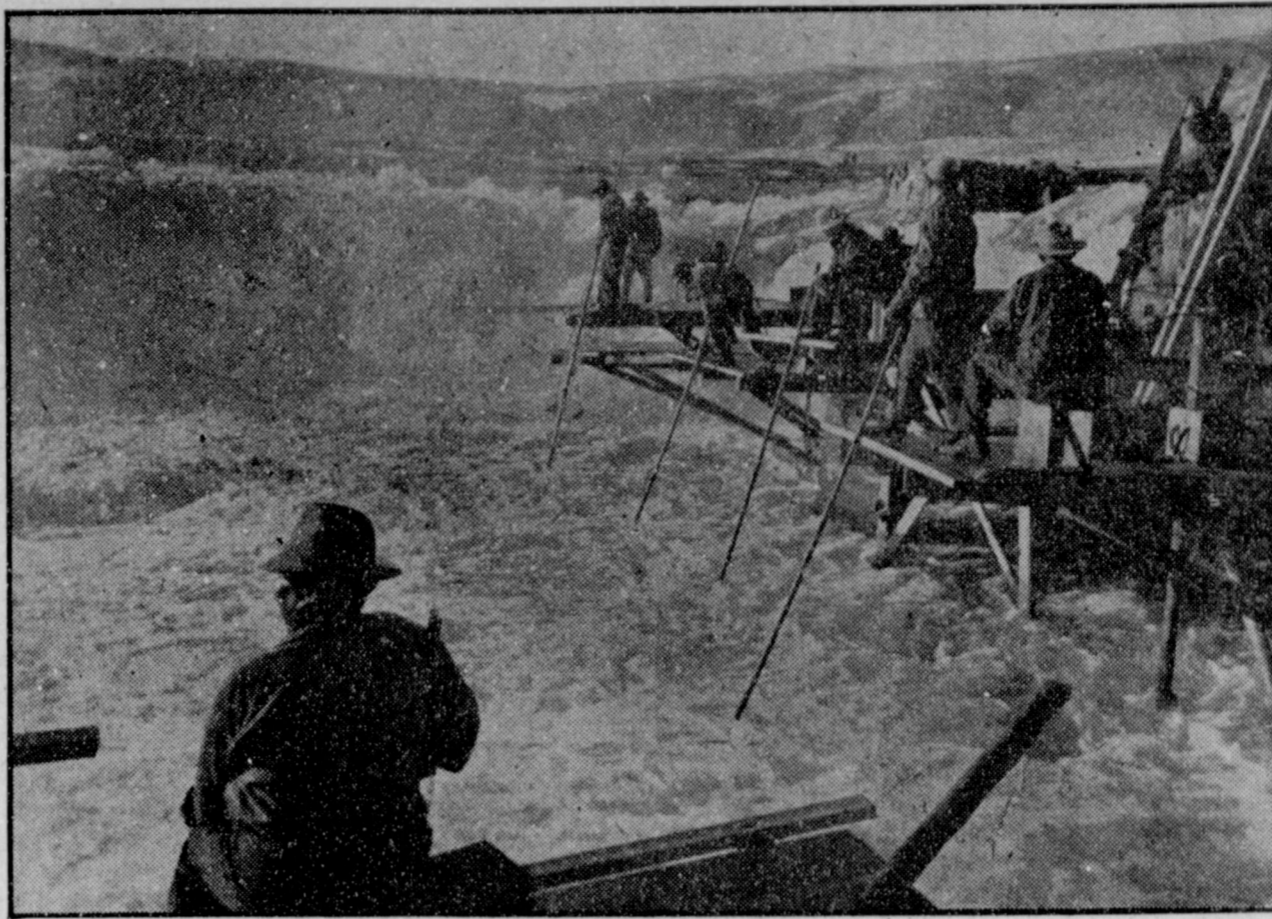

We are not only full of applause for Dr. Colgate W. Darden, Jr., president of the University of Virginia, but likewise filled with admiration for his courage. In this day and age when higher education has become not merely a fetish, but to a ridiculous degree a legal obligation, he has the intestinal fortitude to remind the world that leading a horse to the trough does not cause it to imbibe, and to further suggest that the state (Virginia) abolish compulsory education above grammar school.

Children that are "unwilling, uninterested and comparatively less competent", says Dr. Darden, should not be forced to attend school. (The Virginia law requires their attendance up to 16 years of age.) "In our enthusiasm for mass education in America, we have overdone it . . . we have watered down the job we could do for the good students . . . we have imposed on the teaching profession a grand and glorified day nursery."

And while we are applauding these sentiments, we would like to suggest to the wise Doctor, that many brilliant youngsters are in the "unwilling" and "uninterested" classification because of rebellion at their environment or an overpowering ambition to get out into the "real" world. And if these problem children, who suffer in the classroom far more than their frustrated teachers, can be freed from the obligation of study to make their way in the world, they will seize the first opportunity for the privilege of study . . . at the expense of their rest hours and their earnings.

There have been many examples. Such as Ben Franklin . . . Thomas Edison . . . William Knudsen. It would be good to have some of them around . . . right now—National Industries News Service.

NOT BY A DAM SITE—Up until the present, Indians have had exclusive rights to fish in these falls at The Dalles on the Columbia River in Oregon and have won many legal battles to retain them. But the construction of The Dalles power dam will force the Red men to retreat from their ancient fishing grounds. The area will be flooded to make way for a 60-mile-long lake and spear-fishing for salmon at Celilo Falls will fade into history, another loss for the American Indian.

FFA - FHA HAVE MEETINGS FOLLOWED BY JOINT PARTY

Plans for the annual mother-daughter banquet, the area meeting to be held in Denton in March, and a greeting card selling project to raise funds for the chapter treasury were topics discussed at the FFA meeting in the school homemaking room Thursday of last week.

While the girls were meeting FFA boys also held their regular meeting. They made plans for the annual father-son banquet which probably will be held on Feb. 20 in connection with the chapter's observance of National FFA week, Feb. 17-23. The meeting also elected Lawrence Dankesreiter to succeed Milburn Cravens as the chapter treasurer and elected Wilfred Klement to serve as Secretary of the Denton FFA district, which includes nine chapters in this area.

Another topic discussed at both the FFA and FFA meeting was attendance at the Fort Worth Stock Show on Rural Youth Day, Jan. 26. Both chapters will attend and will also have four members each on a square dance team participating in the FFA-FFA entertainment program in Fort Worth.

After the meetings the girls joined the boys for a joint party in the gym. Entertainment consisted of cards, dominoes and dancing and refreshments consisted of soft drinks and cookies provided by the boys.

Rev. Edward Devers of Paris visited here a few days last week with members of the Fisher families.

I could write a book about the wonderful features of my New Electric Range

Writing a few thousand words on how and why electric cooking is the easy, modern cooking method would be simple, indeed. Women the country over are penning "rave notices" about their new electric ranges.

To make a long story short: electric cooking is fast! A turn of the switch and the high-speed cooking units are ready for use. It's clean! There's no smoke or soot to blacken pans, mar curtains, walls and cabinets. It's dependable! Accurate temperature controls automatically maintain the exact heat required. It's economical! Less than one cent per person per average meal. There's less food shrinkage, too, with draftless electric cooking.

No wonder the new electric ranges are such popular sellers!

DP From Germany Lives With Cousins Near Gainesville

Miss Ursula Hinzmann, who recently came to the United States from Germany to make her home with her cousin, Mrs. C. S. Strauss and family, route 1, Gainesville, was honor guest at a "Kaffeeklatsch" and Get-Acquainted party in the Strauss home Wednesday.

Friends and relatives who attended the party brought a shower of gifts for the honoree.

Mrs. Anna Luebbert gave a welcome address in English and Mrs. Carl Gimple extended welcome in German. The hostess served refreshments. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Otto Mundkowsky of Wichita Falls.

Miss Hinzmann is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernhard Hinzmann of Duderstadt, Germany, British Zone. She is a pretty blue-eyed brunette, 28 years old.

Loses Home During War

Miss Hinzmann was born in Duderstadt on a farm where Mrs. Strauss' father, Joseph Jagelky, was also born and raised. The farm had been handed down from generation to generation for 250 years until world war II. During the war the Hinzmann family were driven from their farm and became displaced persons.

Ursula had been making plans to come to America since 1948 when she received her first papers to fill out. Since then she and relatives in the states had been filling out papers and waiting for the visa which finally arrived in November 1951. Wanting to spend one more Christmas with her parents, she waited until January to board the plane which took her to New York.

While waiting for her papers,

Ursula worked in a factory in the British zone, riding to and from work on a bicycle.

Her trip to this country began on January 9 when she boarded a plane at Frankfurt. She encountered a delay in London where the plane was grounded because of fog. On January 11 she arrived at Love Field, Dallas, where she was met by Mr. and Mrs. Strauss, Miss Lucy Strauss, Mrs. Juanita Harlow and son, Sonny of Gainesville, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Steinberger and Mr. and Mrs. B. F. McGlothlin of Dallas, also cousins.

She plans to visit with her cousins, the Strausses, until she becomes familiar with customs and language in America, then she wants to get a job.

Is Learning English

Getting used to the language and learning to speak and understand it is her biggest difficulty at present. She speaks no English except a few words, such as "okay", which she learned was "good" after asking her cousin in her native tongue if "okay" were a good word.

Mrs. Strauss acts as interpreter for her cousin. Except for necessary explanation the Strausses plan to speak only English so that Ursula will acquire a knowledge of the language rapidly.

From her native country Miss Hinzmann brought a bonbon tray and an ash tray which look like silver but will not tarnish like silver does, she says. She also arrived with a tiny orchid corsage which was given her in New York.

Other cousins in addition to the Strausses of Gainesville, the Steinbergers of Dallas and the Mundkowskys of Wichita Falls are the Hinzmanns of Gainesville and Sanger, and the Jagelky family of Plainview.

3 County 4-H Boys
In Poultry Program

Three Cooke county 4-H club boys, Paul Hesse of Sacred Heart club, Muenster, Robert Fuhrmann of Lindsay, and Bob McDaniel of Woodbine, have been approved for Sears Foundation poultry programs for 1952, according to W. I. Glass, Denton District Extension agent.

Each of the boys will receive without cost 60 turkey polts on March 15. However, when they market their birds next fall they will give $15 to the district 4-H club poultry fund.

The boys will be required to keep accurate records on their feeding program and to enter their birds in the county poultry show.

Including the Cooke county boys in the program there will be 15 demonstration poultry flocks in District Four. At the end of a six-month period, these flocks will be judged by a district committee and $325 in prize money will be awarded to the winners.

Judging will be based on records of the demonstrators, brooding equipment, range equipment and feeding practices. Ratings will be made on ribbons.

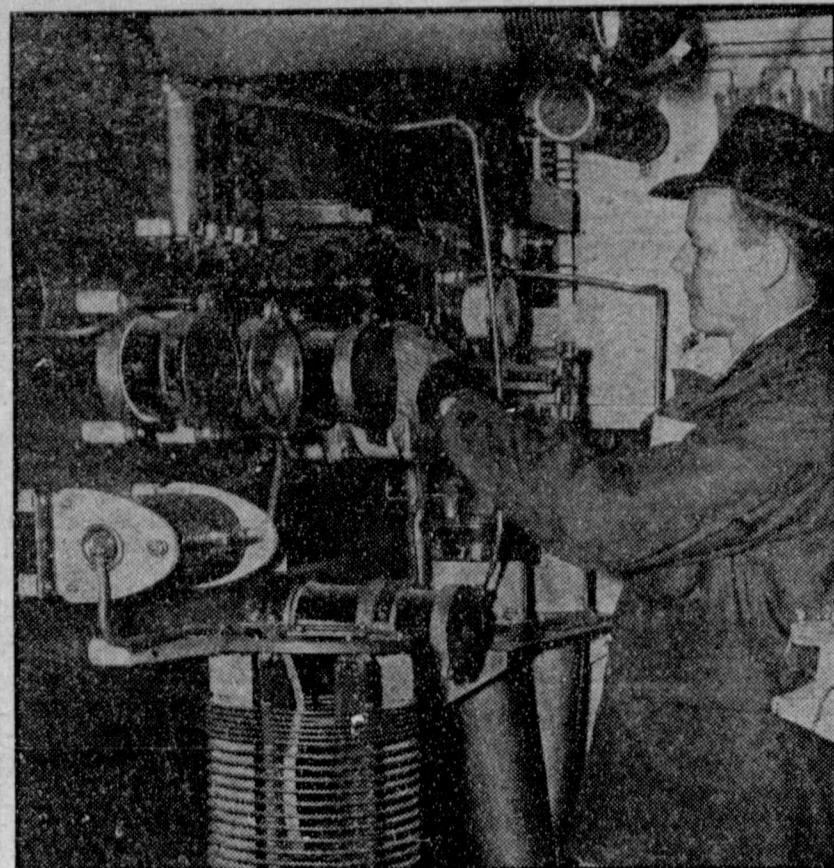

Those participating in the basis of blue, red or white Sears program are selected on the basis of previous successes in poultry demonstrations.

Miss Joyce Bentley, formerly of Muenster, has completed a visit with her mother, Mrs. Ralph Richards in Gainesville and has left to return to Venezuela, S. A., where she is nursing.

A lot of women would rather dye than admit their age.

February, it will be free to the public and everyone is invited to attend. The date will be announced later.

Routine business took up the rest of the evening and after adjournment the group enjoyed a social hour.

finest engineered cars in the world

15 different American stock automobiles—equipped as you buy them—were driven by Motor Trend Magazine as hard as steel and rubber can be driven. In these actual road tests of efficiency and performance, measured by the most accurate instruments obtainable, Chrysler proved itself superior to all others. In 13 tests Chrysler was first in 7—tied in 2, making a total of 9 out of 13 . . . and first in total points!

Only by taking an engine to the limit of its potential, only by turning the corners at high speeds, applying brakes for emergency stops, torturing body, springs and shock absorbers, can you learn just what performance you can expect from the make of car you drive. The results of the Motor Trend tests were conclusive . . . as Chrysler, again, proved itself the one best car in America.

The Motor Trend Award, like numerous other honors today's Chrysler has won, is both a proof of and a tribute to Chrysler's magnificent Fire-Power engine and master engineering. Each demonstrates why, among men and women who know automobiles . . . Chrysler is always the first choice.

TP&L Will Spend $24.5 Million On Expansion in '52

An expansion program calling for the expenditure of $24,500,000 in 1952 alone, is already under way by Texas Power & Light Company, according to W. W. Lynch, president and general manager of the Company. He pointed out that a program of this size requires the attraction of very substantial investment funds into the area served by the Company.

The program will add new generating capacity and increase transmission, distribution and substation facilities in the 52-county area of north, central and east Texas where the Company operates.

At the present time Texas Power & Light Company can supply more than twice as much electricity as it could just prior to World War II, Mr. Lynch said. Today, the Company has a firm capacity of 328,700 kilowatts as compared to 155,940 kilowatts in 1941.

Present plans call for installations that will approximately double the present available supply by 1955, by which time an additional 285,000 kilowatts is expected to be put on TP&L lines to meet the demands of its customers.

"In addition to the 1,000-kilowatt unit put on the line in Gainesville last year," Mr. Lynch said, "work has started on other generating plants in the TP&L system. These include a 5,000-kilowatt gas turbo-generator at Gainesville, a 60,000-kilowatt steam generating station at Lake Creek near Waco, a plant for the Aluminum Company of America in Milam county from which TP&L will receive some 80,000 kilowatts, River Crest — with a probable location in north Texas — with 80,000 kilowatts and another plant with an 80,000-kilowatt capacity whose site is yet to be decided."

One of the major installations to be completed during 1952, he said, is 110 miles of 132,000-volt transmission line to supply the power needs of the Aluminum Company of America's plant near Sandow during the interim period of operations until the power plant can be completed.

The establishment of the aluminum plant in the vicinity of the lignite mines of Milam county was initiated by TP&L, and this project will be a step in the development of the possibilities of utilizing this "brown coal" as a source of cheap fuel for electric power production to serve both a new industry and the national defense program. An annual production of 85,000 tons of aluminum makes this one of the important industries to be established in the state since the war.

"The expansion of Texas Power & Light Company for the year includes installation of additional high voltage power-transformers and protective equipment at the high voltage substations," Mr. Lynch continued. "These additions will improve and guarantee continuity of service on the Company's transmission network."

During last year, eleven new substations were completed and three others are scheduled for completion within the next 60 days. New installations and improvements were made in 30 existing stations.

"Texas Power & Light Company provided service to more than 10,000 new customers during last year, bringing the total number of customers served at the end of 1951 to some 285,000.

In addition to the Company's expansion program which will provide for the continued growth and development of industry, Mr. Lynch called attention to the fact that Texas Power & Light Company's transmission lines are interconnected with lines of adjacent systems, so that surplus power can be made instantly available at any point within the area served in the event of emergency need.

CONSERVATION-ON-WHEELS

That now-historic insult "Get a Horse" was not invented to heckle the reckless rich who bought the first automobiles. It goes back to the days when the first locomotives replaced horses in pulling railroad cars. Thus, in little more than a hundred years, rail travel has been energized by hay-and-oats, cordwood, coal and finally oil. And with no more highly efficient fuel in sight, progress has devised a better machine for using oil. That's the modern Diesel-Electric locomotive, parent of the famous streamliners, and now the pride of the fast freights and the darling of the yard crews.

Considering the amazing power of the Diesels, it's natural that railroad men like them, whether they drive them over the road or keep the company's books. For example, the largest steam freight locomotive ever built weighs 16 per cent more than a four-unit Diesel that develops 77 per cent more starting tractive effort! Pound-for-pound, that's better than twice the power. Thus, it's no wonder people get the idea that they must burn an awful lot of oil. But, there's another surprise here too. On today's railroads, oil-burning steam locomotives perform 12 per cent of the work and burn 136,000 barrels of oil per day. Diesels are now doing 55 per cent of the work on 143,500 barrels a day, only 7,500 barrels more for 4 1/2 times as much work.

Looking at the railroad fuel problem another way, if all our railroad locomotives were Diesels, they would require 260,500 barrels of oil per day in place of the 279,500 now being used. This would be a net saving of 19,000 barrels of oil, plus 135,000 tons of coal each day.

Maybe you get a thrill out of the romantic old "Iron Horse." Most people do. But like his flesh-and-blood forerunner, he's getting to be too much of a luxury for today's world.

AIRMAN USES 5-DAY PASS IN FOXHOLE

The foxhole on the 5th RCT line was pretty cold and damp, but Sgt. Harry Hawk was daydreaming about home and wondering where his Air Force brother was. Suddenly a figure loomed up over the ridge line. Sgt. Hawk noted that the figure was silhouetted against the sky and atop his head was not helmet, only a soft cap. The young Sgt. yelled, "For hell's sake get down and put on your helmet!" A retake revealed that it was his Air Force brother, Sgt. John Hawk. "I got lonely down in Pusan," said John. Harry, the Army sergeant was incredulous. "Imagine a guy spending his leave coming up to the front."

"I wanted to see what our planes were doing, anyway," said brother John.

Auction Friday At State Theatre Is Polio Drive Benefit

A calf, a television set, a range and a refrigerator are among the list of some ten items which will be auctioned Friday night at the State Theatre on a benefit program for the March of Dimes.

The auction, along with several entertainment numbers on the stage will take about 40 minutes. According to Wayne Wallace, theatre manager, the 40 minutes is that much extra time patrons will receive for their money when they attend the Friday night show. The polio program begins at 8:30.

George Van Hoorebeke, county March of Dimes chairman, states that Cecil Ward will be the auctioneer, and the items to be sold and their donors are as follows: calf, W. T. Bonner; Dumont TV set, Leach Bros.; Registered Boxer puppy, Mrs. G. W. Kent; Magic Chef range, Greenwood Co.; Crosley Shelvador, Bohls Hardware; table radio, Cliff McMahon; electric clock, H & H Sales; table lamp, Tanner Furniture; antique furniture, Wayne Wallace; merchandise, Swindle Drug.
