Five Persons Die In 2 Car Collision On Wet Pavement

There's nothing to indicate that this community was properly impressed by the six tragedies which occurred here during the past week end. The principal reason is obvious. None of the five persons who died in that horrible accident west of town was known locally. Like most other folks we take little heed of a traffic tragedy unless the victim is known to us. Even then we don't let it bother us for long. In just a few days we're breezing down the road, flirting with death again.

But if we choose to be so inclined, there's plenty about Sunday afternoon's crash to merit our serious consideration. First there's the fact that it happened on our stretch of road and in the kind of drizzle that most of us have driven through dozens of times. Secondly there's the fact that both drivers were driving the way many of us frequently do. Principals in that horror might have been two local cars.

There's an old saying that a wise man profits by the mistakes of others, so let's be wise and try to profit by considering the obvious mistakes in this accident.

Mistake Number 1: at least one driver, and probably both, were driving too fast for existing conditions.

Mistake Number 2 was attempting to pass without complete certainty that there was plenty of distance ahead.

Mistake Number 3 was jamming brakes on slick pavement.

Now let's try to recall how many of us, at one time or another, might have been caught in the same kind of situation. Do we always slow down to a safe speed in a rain? Are we always certain we have a safe passing distance? Have we ever applied a brake on wet pavement and just been lucky enough to get away with it?

Impatience and poor judgment cost five people their lives Sunday. Think it over and then decide whether a change is due in your driving habits.

As regards the other tragedy we are more impressed because the victim was a local young man. But here again there's the chance that we will not take proper notice because comparatively few are killed by carbon monoxide.

Nevertheless, let's take heed of the fact that it could happen to a lot more of us. How many of us ever stop to think whether our exhaust pipes are leak proof? How many of us would have suspected the trouble had we been in his place?

It's wise to guard against carbon monoxide leakage in the first place, and it's also wise to be aware that excess drowsiness in a car may be a danger signal. Sleeping in the closed car, as this man apparently tried to do, can be fatal. It's better to be suspicious at the first sign of drowsiness and open windows to get plenty of fresh air. A person can't go wrong by doing that. The stream of cool air in his face will wake him if he's just sleeping, it will carry monoxide fumes away if they are there. It may be chilly, but it's wonderful life insurance.

$247 Reported to Date for Red Cross

To date the community's Red Cross drive is getting along nicely and indications now are that the drive may be finished and the quota reached by the end of this week.

Chairman E. S. Lawson reported Wednesday morning that solicitors had deposited $247 in the bank up to that time. According to his estimate the amount represents somewhat less than half of what can be expected. The community quota is $555.

A few, he said, have finished their calls and turned in the complete amount. A few more have made a deposit but expect to be back with more, and others are waiting to finish their calls before making a deposit. All told him they will try to cover their area by the end of the week.

A tragic accident on slick pavement about five miles west of Muenster snuffed out the lives of five persons Sunday afternoon about 3:45 o'clock.

Dead are Mrs. R. H. Kintner, 39, and her 4 months old son of Wichita Falls and Mrs. Ben Gooden, 20 year old Negro mother and her two sons aged 3 years and 18 months, of Kirksland.

R. H. Kintner, 32, is in serious condition with a broken right foot, right knee, right wrist and left elbow. He has been transferred from Gainesville Sanitarium to the Veterans Hospital at Lisbon.

Ben Gooden has his nose severed and sustained a knee injury. His brother, Sam, the other occupant of the car escaped with minor injuries.

According to Highway Patrolman Bill Gardner, the accident resulted when the Gooden car skidded on the pavement in front of the Kintner car. Gooden, driving east, had attempted to pass another vehicle but changed his mind and attempted to pull back into his own traffic lane, applying his brakes as he did so. His car went into a skid on the slick pavement and was hit on the right side by the Kintner car. Both machines were completely demolished.

The three Negroes were killed almost instantly. All were pronounced dead upon arrival at the M&S hospital. Mrs. Kintner died at 8:05 in Gainesville Sanitarium and her baby died at 6:30 in Majors hospital in Nocona. The child had been taken to Nocona by a passer-by before the ambulance arrived. Officers, not knowing the baby had been taken away, searched the wreckage for more than an hour in a vain effort to find it.

News of Sick And Injured

Willie Griffin is back at home after spending 14 weeks in veterans hospital in McKinney for medical treatment. He is recovering satisfactorily from an ulcerated stomach.

John Huchton broke his left arm at the wrist Friday when he fell from the floor of a drilling rig after making a mis-step, and will be off from work for several weeks as a result.

Mrs. S. A. Tuggle underwent surgery at Gainesville Sanitarium Thursday, March 6.

Mrs. Clyde Rousaville was dismissed from Gainesville Sanitarium Friday after being a medical patient.

Mrs. Alfred Bayer underwent surgery at Gainesville Sanitarium Tuesday morning.

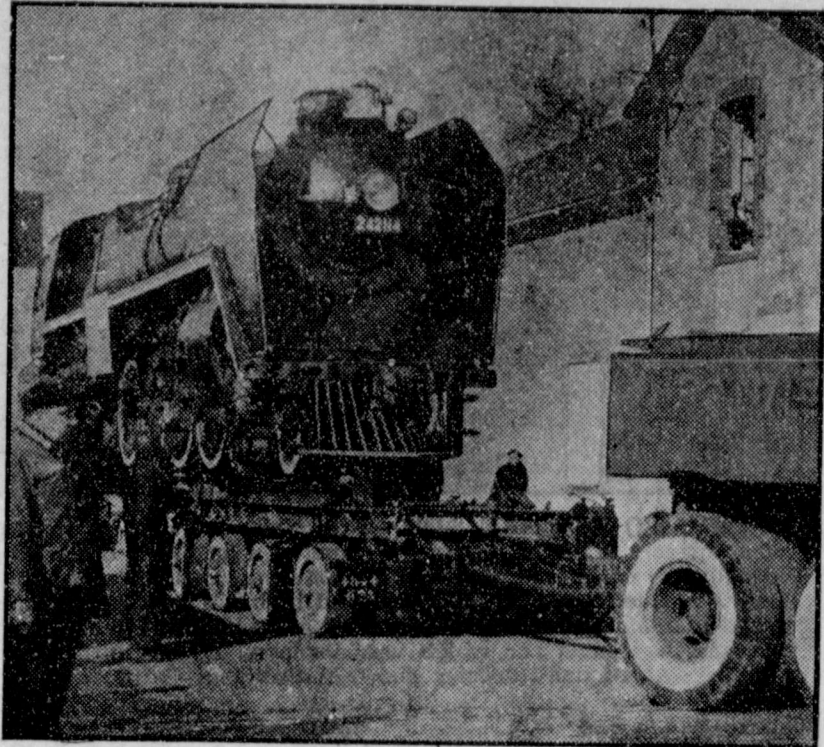

Mrs. David Trachta was dismissed from Gainesville Sanitarium Saturday after being a medical patient for several days.

Illness confines Mrs. Ben Luke to her home this week.

Donna Jo Tuggle, five year old daughter of the Aubrey Tuggles, underwent dental surgery at Gainesville Sanitarium last Wednesday and returned home the same day. The operation removed the root and splinters of a tooth that was shattered early in January when Donna Jo flew against the dashboard of the family car when her daddy jammed on the brakes to avoid an accident enroute to Nocona.

Mrs. C. J. Tuggle of Myra is back at her home after having a major operation at Gainesville Sanitarium on Feb. 19. She's 82 and is regaining her strength nicely.

Frank Kathman Sr., entered Gainesville Sanitarium Wednesday morning as a medical patient.

SWITCHED ROLES—It's common to see a train carting a truck, but the roles were switched recently in Nante, France, when a truck was elected to pull this locomotive from the yard in which it was built to a port for shipment to Brazil. The truck is pulling a load of 82 tons.

Monday is Fisher's 25th Anniversary

It's anniversary time at Fisher's Market and Grocery. Come St. Patrick's Day, next Monday, the store will have completed a quarter century of business, mostly in its present location and under its present ownership.

When the business opened on March 17, 1927 in the present location of the FMA ice house it was a three-way partnership with John and J. W. Fisher and Walter Pulte as owners, and it handled only meats and bread. Some 14 months later the Fisher Brothers bought Pulte's interest. About the same time they moved from the FMA location to the building they now occupy.

For five years thereafter the business continued as a meat market, then expanded into a grocery and market.

The store's space in those days consisted of only about half its present area, the remaining part of the building being used for a storeroom. In 1940 a partition was removed and the store enlarged to its present size. As a result of continued growth the store is crowded again and the Fishers are considering ways to add more space or make better use of the space they have.

Along with their store the Fishers are operating a slaughter business, for their own and other stores and also for individuals who pack meat in frozen lockers or home freezers.

They have also acquired a reputation for making exceptionally good smoked sausage. Every year they ship hundreds of pounds of it to out of town customers.

Inch Soaker Gives Crops Another Lift

Crop prospects in the community, regarded as good last week, appear to be even better this week as a result of the fine 1.01 inch soaker last Sunday. Almost all the rain fell slowly and soaked in as it fell.

Lee Toothaker of the soil conservation office said Wednesday that fields and pastures are all looking fine and farmers generally consider the present condition the best they have had in years. Favorable weather from now on will make this a really good year.

That applies to everything, he added. Grains, legumes and pastures are thriving, and row crop land is in fine shape for planting.

FFA Soil Testing Team Wins Regional

Members of the Muenster FFA soil testing team, winners of district and regional contests, will go to Sam Houston State Teachers College this week end to compete for state honors. Those making the trip are Wilfred Klement, Billy Whitt and Eugene Walter and their instructor Ralph Maglaughlin.

The boys won the regional contest at Arlington last week end competing with eight other district winners of the FFA Area 5. The previous week end at Denton they won the district honor competing against three other teams.

FMA Store Makes Interior Changes

Interior changes made last Sunday and early this week make the FMA Store look like an altogether different place. New counters, new racks and a new arrangement have given the store a completely new look.

Changes include moving the former vegetable case and frozen food case to the south wall and moving in new open type fruit and dairy racks, also along the south wall.

Two new checking counters are near the front door and large gondola type grocery racks replace the smaller racks formerly scattered around the place. The effect is more space for merchandise along with longer, wider aisles to allow customers more freedom of movement.

Additional space was provided a few weeks ago building front doors flush with the front wall and eliminating the old entrance which offset into the store.

Another improvement was the installation of new structural glass at the front to replace the old damaged pieces.

Victor Koelzer has received his call to report for army training and is scheduled to leave next Tuesday. He is the son of the Pete Koelzers,

Saturday is Final Date for Filing in Trustee Election

With the deadline for the filing of candidates in the Muenster public school trustee election only three days away, the ballot is still waiting for names, according to a report Wednesday by Herbert Meurer, secretary to the board.

The election will be held on Saturday, April 5, and the last day on which a candidate can get his name on the ballot is Saturday, March 15.

Three trustees will be decided by the election. Members whose terms expire this year are Tony Walterscheid, Arthur Hellman and J. H. Bayer.

L. Rigler Speaks at Program Observing National 4-H Week

About 200 4-H club members of both Muenster schools and their parents, gathered in the parish lunch room Thursday night, March 6, for a program observing National 4-H Club Week.

The program featured Texas Ranger Louis Rigler, Father Louis Deuster and County Agent B. T. Haws as speakers, a supper, musical numbers and a movie.

Donald Bayer, S. H. senior 4-H Club member and Cooke County's Gold Star boy for 1951, was master of ceremonies. Father Louis Deuster, Muenster pastor, gave the invocation.

Ranger Rigler began his talk by saying that he usually spoke on juvenile delinquency, but since it was not found among 4-H farm boys and girls, he had chosen a subject that was dear

He was a machinist, stationed near Taegu. He also saw quite a bit of Tokyo by spending weekend leaves in Japan. His new assignment will take him to Lowry AFB at Denver, Colo.

Carbon Monoxide In Car is Fatal to Gerald Lee Owen

Carbon monoxide poisoning was named as the cause of the death of Gerald Lee Owen, 20, who was found dead in his burning car about 3 o'clock Saturday morning on Highway 82 a mile east of Muenster.

Justice of the Peace Clyde J. Matherly of Gainesville returned the verdict after a post-mortem examination by Dr. James Atchison revealed evidence of the poison gas in the victim's blood.

The young man's body was discovered by two Lubbock brothers Raymond and Bob Yoakum. They investigated when they saw the car parked at the right side of the road with its lights burning and smoke coming from the inside. They found Owen's body lying on the floor between the front and back seats and fire burning the front seat.

After removing the body and placing it beside the road they drove to Muenster and phoned the county sheriff's office.

Sheriff Horn and Deputy Nichols drove to the scene and called a Carroll ambulance to pick up the body. They also helped Muenster firemen extinguish the fire.

According to Sheriff Horn's theory of the tragedy Owen apparently decided to sleep on the rear seat when he became drowsy from the monoxide gas. It has not been determined whether he or one of the Yoakum brothers stopped the motor. The fire probably was caused by a lighted cigarette held by the victim when he passed out. Owen's left hand and his right foot and leg were slightly burned. One of his boots was in the front seat of the car.

Rosary services for Owen were held at 8 Saturday night in the Carroll funeral home and again at 8 Sunday night in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Owen.

Funeral services with requiem high mass were conducted at Sacred Heart church at 9 a.m. Monday with Rev. Louis Deuster officiating. Burial was in Sacred Heart cemetery under direction of George J. Carroll and Son Funeral Home.

Six uncles of the deceased served as pallbearers: Raymond Owen, Herbert Cunningham, Joe, Henry, Ed and Alfons Pautler.

Owen was born June 17, 1931, in Muenster and attended school here. He was employed by the Sam Harrison Drilling company of Wichita Falls.

Survivors are his parents, four brothers, Gene, David, Daniel and Billy, all of Muenster; two sisters, Mrs. Raymond Laux of Lindsay, and Henrietta Owen of Muenster, and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Pautler of Muenster.

Bath a Day to Keep Frozen Pipes Away

FAIRBANKS, Ala.—Fairbanks residents have been asked by their city engineer to take at least one bath a day.

It's not that he thinks they're too dirty. In fact, he doesn't give a hoot about their cleanliness.

Here's the reason:

The extremely cold winter in which temperatures often were more than 50 below zero for days left the ground frozen as deep as 10 feet. The frost is beginning to affect the city's drain pipes.

The engineer says that if residents keep lots of water running down the drains maybe the underground sewer system won't freeze up.

THE BABE RUTH OF PROGRESS

A machinist out of work would be surprised to come across a classified advertisement in his local paper saying: "Wanted—machinists. Bring your own lathe. Can start work immediately. Good wages. We prefer men who have extra lathes. Employment Office, Ajam Mfg. Co." No matter how badly he needed work the average machinist couldn't take one of these jobs because the lathe in a modern machine shop costs from $10,000 to $100,000 and he has neither the lathe nor the thousands of dollars necessary to buy one.

Fortunately the workers in American industry do not have to supply the machine tools with which they work. But someone has to supply them. Here's an ad that would shock a steel worker looking for a job: Wanted—Experienced open hearth man who can furnish his own open hearth furnace. Good pay. Steady work. Furnace must be in good condition. Phone 9-8765." One of the blast furnaces in today's modern steel mills costs about $12,000,000. No steel mill worker could buy one, of course. But someone has to provide them before the $15 to $30-a-day jobs are available in the steel mills.

CAPITAL IMPORTANT

Investors with enough surplus money to invest in corporation stocks are almost as important to a man working in an American industry as are a sound pair of hands or two good eyes. Corporation profits are equally important to the working man; they serve his welfare and his family's they work for him like a second pair of hands.

The stockholders provide a big share of the capital with which to buy machine tools, with which to construct the plant itself, with which to buy the raw materials and market the finished product. The other share of the operating capital comes from profits made by the company. U. S. Department of Commerce figures show that 58 cents out of every dollar of profits made by all American industries last year went not to the owners but to replace worn out machinery and other equipment, to expand the production through building new facilities, and for surplus or safety funds to tide the industries over any rough spots—and keep the employees on the job.

TOOLS COME HIGH

It requires an average of $10,800 in invested capital to provide each man or woman in American industry with a job. The average savings of an American is $1,120—counting his bank savings, government bonds, etc. Thus, in effect, it takes the life savings of nine Americans to furnish the tools of one industrial job. Only a few thousand dollars invested makes a job in some industries, but in some—like petroleum, chemicals and railroads—the necessary investment ranges on upwards, $20,000 or $30,000 or $40,000 per job. One million young men and women enter the nation's work force each year. At $10,800 each that's more than $10 billion needed for industrial expansion each year. It must come from profits and stock sales.

Stewing In His Own Juice

Here's another sample—to make a railroad man roar: engineer. Good working conditions. We will furnish tracks. You bring your own locomotive. Good opportunity for man with modern equipment. Apply in person—A. B. & C. R. R. Co." What engineer could buy a locomotive! Yet somebody must.

A COMMON INTEREST

In our American business system capital and labor and management are a team. Each is an indispensable part of industrial production. All three have a common interest in continuous production, in healthy profits, in attractive dividends, in the kind of economic freedom that gives industrial ownership and management the opportunity to make decisions based on the best business judgment. In the long run the entire productive capacity of American industry stands or falls on the business soundness of the decisions made in its operations.

The American business system could not long withstand political management or control. Political controls upset the natural laws of commerce, and nine times out of ten government decisions involving the operations of business and industry are made on the basis of what's good politics, not on sound business judgment. Thus, today, with mounting Federal bureaucratic control in business and industry, the capital structure which has made possible such magnificent tools for American workers is endangered. Everybody's welfare is at stake, for as American industry goes so goes the nation. It is the Babe Ruth of American progress.

Applied Christianity Would Bring Us Peace

CERTAINLY LENT IS an acceptable time to dwell upon the wonderful kind of world this could be were it Christianized instead of pagan.

Life would still be far from perfect but, assuredly, less like the whip-saw it is, first ripping one way, then another.

Among discordant sounds eliminated by Christianization in our own section of the globe would be labor troubles. Strikes would be confined to bowling alleys where they bring cheers.

As sincere followers of the principles as well as the encompassing spirit of Christ, management and labor would be continuously in accord at all points. Both sides would accept without quibble the yardstick of Christian justice not distorted by convenient interpretation. There would be only one party line—Christ's.

SUCH ABOMINATIONS OF an undisciplined capitalism as housing shortages, rent controls, slum areas, waste and destruction of food pileups (for this, punishment will surely come), greedy and sensual advertising, unemployment and cynical politics soon would disappear along with countless other pagan practices. It could not be otherwise if the new commandment "love one another" was obeyed with understanding.

Just try to imagine—and you can—living in such an enlightened civilization that even the very threat of war would be an impossible eventuality. Where there would be no frontiers walling off states and countries into steel cells bursting at the seams with overcrowded humanity barely able to breathe without disturbing a neighbor.

IMAGINE A CHRISTIAN civilization where the rulers, all types of leaders, would realize and acknowledge as a matter of course that authority is their's only by the grace of God, and not by any power personally created. Where the benefits of science could not be perverted to make a mockery of its Creator and to destroy His creation.

Intolerance would mean only one thing: hatred of sin. The conscience would be untroubled by charges of anti-this, or anti-that. The Scriptures would not be carelessly quoted attempting to condone evil.

YES, INDEED, THE victory of Christianity would bring about a wonderful world in which to live. That would be guaranteed because the blessings of a pleased God would rain upon the whole parched earth without cease, and men would have peace. — by Thomas Kane.

But Do You Understand WHAT God Told Us?

Almost everybody believes there is a God. But there is a big difference of opinion as to what God is like... what we should believe about Him... and what we must do to attain everlasting life with Him.

The idea of some people seems to be that knowledge of God is vague and uncertain... and that each individual can therefore establish his own creed. This ignores entirely the fact that there are certain revealed truths about our Creator which are not subject to personal opinion, and from which we cannot pick and choose as true or untrue.

The Apostles' Creed, for instance, is not merely a pious prayer. It is not just an idealistic declaration, based on conjecture and guesswork. It is a summary of truths revealed to us by God Himself. It is not something which we are free to believe only in part, for to do so is to set our own opinion and will against the specific command and will of God.

This, obviously, is not the intention of people who believe in God and wish to please and serve Him. It is due usually to the fact that many sincere people... while familiar with the words of the Apostles' Creed... do not understand its full meaning and tremendous significance.

As far as Catholics are concerned, the Apostles' Creed sums up our attitude toward God and our religion. We believe, as the Creed says, not only in God, the Father Almighty, but "in Jesus Christ, His only Son, our Lord, who was conceived by the Holy Spirit, born of the Virgin Mary..." We believe that Christ died for our redemption... that He arose from the dead... that "He shall come to judge the living and the dead." We believe in the Holy Spirit, the Holy Catholic Church, the communion of Saints, the forgiveness of sins, the resurrection of the body, and life everlasting.

We believe these things because God told us so. And because we believe them, our faith... and our hope for everlasting life with God... are founded not merely upon a vague and general belief, but upon absolute certainty. As we see it, the words "I believe" in the Apostles' Creed might just as well be "I know!"

Free
 If you want a clearer and better understanding of the revealed truths contained in the Apostles' Creed... and their importance to your own spiritual life... write today for our interesting pamphlet which we will send without cost or obligation. Just ask for Pamphlet No. KC-30.

ANOTHER KOREA?—Infantrymen of the 18th Viet Nam battalion move into a redoubt in the Phat Diem area of French Indo-China. New Super Carrier To Be Navy's Best

"The new super-carrier, the James V. Forrestal, will be the Navy's contribution to the formula of striking power plus mobility which is the essence of American military strength today," says Major George Fielding Eliot.

The huge floating air base, which will take three years to build and will cost $218 million, is the logical result of the development of the aircraft which it serves, according to Major Eliot. The flight decks of modern carriers have had to be increased in size to take care of the high landing speeds and larger size of jet propelled aircraft.

A carrier is concentrated power. The visitor who goes aboard such a ship for the first time gets an initial impression of utter confusion compounded by enormous size. Three thousand officers and men or thereabouts busily perform hundreds of highly specialized tasks involving almost every conceivable electrical and technical specialty.

Up top, the flight deck is some 3 1/2 acres of plank-sheathed steel. According to Major Eliot, an airfield on land would require something like 140 acres to handle aircraft of the number, size and characteristics which a big carrier must handle.

The vast, echoing gloom of the hangar deck below may remind one of Mammoth Cave — and compares with it in height and width. Down below are turbines which develop the more than a quarter of a million horsepower required to drive the great carrier through surging seas at express train speed.

READING RIGHT

Business executives who carry home brief cases bulging with unfinished work are often the victims of jog-trot reading habits. There isn't time at the office to read all the documents and reports that must be read, because these men and women move through the printed or typed page at the seventh-grade rate of 250-350 words a minute. With the right training, many of them could double that speed. A few people have even reached the phenomenal rate of 1,000 words a minute. The need of rapid reading has become so urgent that one company after another has arranged for training courses in reading.

QUICK PRESERVER

Around a hunter's campfire in Tennessee, an old guide was regaling the group with stories.

"I ain't impressed with any of these tales about people hittin' game from a triffin' 300 or 400 yards," he said. "Lemme tell you about the day I was moochin' along a mountain trail when these here telescopic eyes of mine spotted a buck. I rammed a charge down the barrel of my gun, then some waddin' and a couple of ounces of rock salt. I shoved a bullet down on top of that. Then I let go! Bang!—and the buck dropped dead in its tracks."

One of the men around the fire asked, "What in thunder was the idea of putting salt in your gun?"

"Shucks," the old guide replied. "That deer was so fur off that I had to do somethin' to keep the meat for spoillin' before I could get there."

Soil Conservation Notes

Overseeding pasture grasses to legumes is one of the best and cheapest ways to increase production on the pastures around Muenster according to technicians of the local soil conservation service.

Grasses profit greatly by the close association of legumes growing along with them. The bacteria living in the root nodules of the clovers, vetches, peas, and alfalfa, capture nitrogen from the air and make it available to both the legume and the grass. The tap roots of the clovers and alfalfa penetrate and open plow soles so that pasture land can absorb more water to produce more grazing.

Cooperators of the Upper Elm-Red Soil Conservation District have found from first hand experience that biennial sweet clovers can be successfully seeded in pasture sods, will grow well and provide lots of extra grazing through the increased production of both grasses and legumes.

The practice of improving waterway grasses by overseeding them to legumes has shown that pastures can be helped by these legumes. Some of the farmers around Muenster who are overseeding portions of their pasture to the two-year sweet clovers are Joe and John Kleiss, Alfred Bayer, Felix Becker, Al Wiesman, Jake Biffle Sr., Walter Reed, Hubert Felderhoff, Bruno Fleitman, Meinrad Hesse and Ike Fulton.

New tanks for livestock water have been completed on the Rufus McElreath farm near Marysville and on the H. V. Kidd farm near Bulcher. Bruno Fleitman also has a new tank on his farm operated by Eddie Fleitman.

IN SEARCH OF BARE FACTS—Lt. Col. C. C. Schaefer, left, of San Antonio, Texas examines the cold-weather garb worn by Dr. Paul Siple, who is in Korea experimenting with the Army's newest fashions for frigid fellows. The jacket is part of the new vapor-barrier suit, which is worn next to the skin.

A 1000 foot diversion terrace to keep damaging hill water off of cultivated land has just been built on the Fred Perryman farm near Forestburg. Ben Perryman operates the farm. J. B. Harvill has finished construction of a 2000 foot diversion terrace to divert hill water from a field on his farm near Hardy.

Waterway sodding operations got a start last week. Frank Needham and Albert Andress used the district sprigging machine to sod about 12 acres of waterway to Bermuda grass before the rain closed them down. Local soil conservation service personnel assisted with the layout and planting operations.

The average U. S. farmer today, with petroleum-powered equipment, has 33 horsepower at his command—six times the horsepower he had 30 years ago.

A nail driven into a tree trunk would be at the same height from the ground five years later. It is possible to leave Wake Island on January 21 and arrive at Midway Island on January 20.

3,000 DRILLING RIGS
The rotary method of oil-well drilling has come a long way since it was first used at Spindletop, Texas, in 1901. For the first time in North American drilling history, the number of active rotary drilling rigs exceeded 3,000 during the week ending Oct. 15, 1951. Rotary drilling has not changed basically in 50 years, but today's equipment is improved in design, strength of materials and size. This plus the "know-how" of American drilling crews has made possible the drilling of wells to depths of 20,000 feet plus.

LOOK—SEE!

"The people where I come from," Mr. Coolidge replied, "lift her up to see."

Isolation Advised To Prevent Spread Of Whooping Cough

AUSTIN — Inasmuch as the incidence of whooping cough in Texas is expected to show an increase during the coming months, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, released a statement today urging that strenuous efforts be made to control the spread of this debilitating childhood disease. There were 1273 cases reported during the first 5 weeks of this year.

"Whooping cough can only be contracted by direct exposure to the disease, and isolation of cases must be universally practiced if the incidence is to be controlled," Dr. Cox stated.

"The infectious agent or germ of whooping cough is transmitted by droplets expelled in coughing, sneezing, or speaking," Dr. Cox said. "The discharges from the nose and throat are dangerous to susceptible persons; the need for early recognition and careful isolation of whooping cough is obvious. Your family physician should be called at the first sign."

"The first symptom of this disease is usually a dry cough, which persists day and night and tends to become increasingly severe. The disease is fully developed when vomiting of food and whooping accompany the paroxysm of cough. Dr. Cox stressed the fact that children who have whooping cough should not attend school or come in contact with other children until three weeks after the appearance of typical signs of the disease.

OH WHAT HIS JET MET—Second Lt. Ira Kimes, Jr., of Richmond, Va., demonstrates the accuracy of Communist anti-aircraft guns in Korea and the ruggedness of his Shooting Star fighter-bomber by sticking his head through the hole knocked in the jet's engine wall. Lt. Kimes finished bombing a tunnel before returning to his base.

"Prevention and control of whooping cough, especially among infants and small children, may be accomplished through use of approved vaccine and convalescent serum," Dr. Cox asserted, "and it is important that such measures be taken to protect them. Neglecting to do so, and allowing the young child to suffer an attack of this disease, may seriously impair his future health."

MILITARY PLANES DEMAND HUGE QUANTITIES OF OIL

The B-29, giant plane that helped bomb Japan to submission six years ago, consumed 440 gallons of gasoline an hour. The biggest heavy bomber of today, the B-36, consumes considerably more than twice as much—980 gallons an hour. In the case of fighter planes the proportionate increase in use of fuel is even greater. The P-51 of World War II burned 63 gallons an hour. But the F-48's used in Korea burn a full 355 gallons an hour. Battles in modern times have always been fought on oil, but today they take more oil than ever before. That is why the nation's petroleum industry is working harder than ever before to supply that oil.

Building And Improvement Notes

A general remodeling job is currently underway at the Ralph Esker home. Ralph is doing the work himself at nights and during spare time between plumbing and tin jobs. His plan includes asbestos siding for the outside, remodeling the front porch, changing several windows, and installing floor, ceiling, etc., to make a room out of the formerly unfinished attic.

Changes at the J. C. Trachta home have made it less convenient for burglars to hang around waiting for him to come home. The hedge is trimmed low and two floodlights on the garage keep the place brightly lit up. J. C. arranged for the changes shortly after two masked bandits robbed him as he stepped out of his car in front of the garage.

500 Cheer Play by MHS Junior Class

A crowd estimated at about 500 persons cheered at about "Desperate Ambrose" presented Friday night by juniors of Muenster High School as their annual class play. It was presented in the school auditorium under the direction of Mmes. Gladys Ashlock and Johann Bezner.

Actors and actresses were well cast for their respective roles and gave convincing performances.

Between acts, Mrs. Ashlock sang "I'll Take You Home Again Kathleen" and "Danny Boy." Miss Waldine Midgett played the piano accompaniment.

Each member of the junior class helped produce the play. Those not in the cast of characters served as ushers, ticket takers, and stage helpers.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul R. Nieball of San Angelo were here last week for a visit with his parents. From here Paul went to Dallas for an army physical examination. He enlisted in the regular army and is awaiting his call. Meanwhile he continues working at National Supply company in Odessa.

4-H Program—

to his heart—"The History of the Texas Rangers".

He gave a glowing account of Rangers and the part they played in the shaping of Texas history. He cited the trials of the early colonists and urged his young audience to be moved by the spirit of their forefathers whose courage and indomitable will conquered obstacles and set a shining example for young Texans to follow.

Father Louis pointed out that farming is of utmost importance and that 4-H work is helping boys and girls in this vital occupation. He encouraged members to love the land and take care of it so that it will take care of them.

Mr. Haws congratulated members on a fine record and commended local leaders for the help they give him in carrying on his work with the Muenster clubs.

Musical numbers consisted of two vocal selections by a quartet composed of Norma Jean Walterscheid, Carolyn Miller, Joan Hennigan, and Hazel Lerner with Sonny Walterscheid playing the accordion, and a vocal selection by the 7th and 8th grades of Sacred Heart school with Irma Hofbauer at the piano. The assemblage joined in a sing-song led by Clara Flusche.

Weldon Cowan, superintendent of Muenster High School, showed films provided by County Agent Haws.

B. Landrum of the Fort Worth Star Telegram was introduced as a guest for the evening.

Sacred Heart clubs were in charge of the program. The hall carried out the 4-H theme in decorations with huge 4-H emblems at vantage spots along the walls; smaller emblems as centerpieces for the tables and miniature emblems as boutonnieres for each person attending.

Members brought sandwiches and cookies for the supper, Muenster Mill provided the bottled drinks and the FMA Store provided the coffee. Adult leaders served.

Timmy Wimmer, junior 4-H member, won the door prize, 15 baby chicks donated by the Muenster Hatchery.
