Formal Ceremony Monday Dedicates New Public School

In times like these when most of the world, including this nation, seems primarily concerned with materialistic interests, it is inspiring indeed to attend a secular event which places its principal emphasis on spiritual values.

Such an event was the dedication of our new public school on Labor Day. The several messages of the program can be summarized as a single objective, to educate the hearts as well as the minds of Muenster children. . . an objective which harmonizes perfectly with traditional ideals of this community and brings to reality the community's original purpose of expanding local opportunity and safe guarding local control without sacrificing one iota of local principle.

What's more, the high ideals expressed during the dedication ceremonies were not just empty words. They are applied in every day schedules which, in compliance with majority wishes of the community, provide free time for children to start the day with religious service and attend regular religious instruction. In short, the Muenster public school makes every provision that can be made by any public school for the spiritual welfare of its children. It pays all possible heed to the Divine admonition to live not only by bread but by the word of God. Pursuing that principle it cannot fail to train hearts as well as minds.

Considering all the angles, this community has every reason to be proud of its school system. . . meaning the entire field of moral and secular educational opportunities offered by the two Muenster schools. Few places can equal this in thoroughness of coverage of spiritual, academic and vocational instruction.

Nevertheless it is a sad fact that a great deal of misunderstanding tends to obscure a proper appreciation of our advantages. So many still have the mistaken idea that the success of either school must be built upon the failure of the other. As a result of that opinion more than a few unpleasant things have been said and done and the issue was further confused by mixing in personal animosities.

The sooner we can clear up this muddle the better it will be for all of us. The sooner we can restore the old time confidence and understanding and co-operation among our people, the sooner we can get back on our old smooth course of friendly living and put an end to some of this unnecessary wear and tear on dispositions.

As the first step in that direction let's try to realize that in practically every case an unkind word or deed was probably provoked by another unkind word or deed. Appraising them in that light most all of us should feel that we're about even on the give and take, so why not cancel out the unpleasant memories.

With personal animosities eliminated, let's settle down to basic facts, the first and most important of which is that neither school has to survive on the failure of the other. Whatever doubt might have existed on that point was definitely settled last summer with the news that both schools now qualify as accredited high schools. We don't have to choose between them. We can have both, with a top rating for each. With that settled there's really nothing left to fuss about.

Summing up the situation, it simply amounts to a handsome net gain in the community's school system. The fine academic course previously offered is still here. In addition we have another affiliated academic course plus an affiliated vocational course. . . bringing more opportunities to Muenster children. With all that before us we should not be fussing about what to eliminate. Rather we ought to get our heads together to figure out just how we can derive the greatest possible (Continued on Page 8)

Dedicated to the ideals of truth, justice, character and citizenship, Muenster's new $300,000 public school building was formally opened with solemn ceremony Monday morning.

The program was dignified by special emphasis on spiritual rather than temporal values. Speakers made brief mention of the excellence of the building and its facilities but spoke at length of the virtues which are essential to a life of service to God and country.

E. S. Lawson opened the ceremony with an invocation asking Divine blessing on all who are responsible for erecting the building and on the children who will attend it. Rev. Benjamin Bedford expressed the same spirit in his closing benediction and County Superintendent Hubert Moss, responding to Herbert Meurer's address of welcome referred to character and morality as the basis of useful citizenship.

Father Anthony Schroeder sounded the keynote of the service in his dedicatory prayer beseeching Almighty God to grant that the school will ever serve His Divine purpose by imparting a knowledge of basic morality as well as the other school subjects.

Elaborating on the same theme Congressman Ed Gossett spoke on the need of developing good hearts as well as good minds. He said that schools have a responsibility before God and man to impress on children the essential nature of eternal values. . . essential to happiness both here and hereafter.

As the text of his address Gossett chose a frequently quoted statement from one of the state's early leaders, Mirabeau K. Lamar: "A cultivated mind. . . is the guarding genius of democracy, the only dictator that free men acknowledge and the only security that free men desire." Unfortunately, he said, the quo-

Ruffnecks Lose to Nocona in Final of Softball Play-off

Muenster's Ruffnecks came out second best in the Cooke-Montague softball race which ended last Thursday night with Nocona chalking up an easy 6-2 win in the third game of a 3 out of 5 final play-off series.

Prior to defeating the Ruffnecks in the finals Nocona defeated the Bezner Chicks in the semifinal. In that Muenster drew an easy decision when Valley View, leader in the regular loop standing, withdrew and conceded the semi-final series. The league trailing Gainesville Merchants and Saint Jo were out of the play-off competition.

MERCY MISSION — A welcome sight over the heads of G.I.'s in South Korea is this helicopter, one of a fleet used to evacuate wounded to rear-line hospitals. Equipped with two special litter compartments hooked to its sides, the 'copter excels in performing mercy missions in inaccessible terrain. The "eggbeaters" are also used in reconnaissance work.

WAR'S SNORES—Unmindful of his talkative buddies, an American G.I. sleeps peacefully in a straw-filled foxhole at an advanced battalion command post in South Korea. His helmet helps to drown out the words of Pfc. Everett Elliott of Cambridge, Md., at left, and Sgt. Glennis Binion of Ault, Ky.

News of Sick And Injured

Emil Rohmer is at veterans hospital in McKinney for a check up and treatment for an old back ailment.

Miss Jeanette Meurer who was planning to leave Monday for Denver, Colo., to enter Loretta Heights College, became ill with the mumps Saturday and will be delayed in leaving until she recovers.

John Dave Meurer missed the opening of classes this week on account of illness.

Kenny Fette, young son of the Herman Fettes, is walking again and is attending school after having to stay off his right foot for about a week after he ran a piece of wire through his heel.

Billy Frank Richter missed the opening of school this week on account of the mumps but is recovering nicely at his home.

Henry Weinzapfel, senior at the public school, is absent from classes on account of the mumps. Jimmy Schumacher sustained a painful head wound when he ran against a wall at the K of C hall Sunday evening during play. A clamp, inserted in the wound, was removed Wednesday.

Mrs. Rufus Bezner is back at her home in Gainesville where she is convalescing from injuries sustained in a car accident on August 26. Her back injury is responding to treatment and she will not have to wear a cast, as was first reported. She had been a patient at M&S hospital.

Louis Nieball of Dallas who has been ill with a heart ailment and who was hospitalized in Odessa after suffering an attack there as he was preparing to be best man at his brother's wedding, was sufficiently recovered to be moved to veterans hospital in Dallas last week.

Bernard Swirczynski Elected President of Sacred Heart Alumni

Bernard Swirczynski heads the Sacred Heart Alumni Association as president as the result of the election of officers during the annual business meeting Tuesday night. Other officers are Mrs. James Bezner, vice president, Miss Rosalee Fuhrmann, secretary, and Herbie Herr, treasurer. These executives will appoint committee chairmen.

Plans for activity during the coming year were outlined and enthusiastically endorsed. They include sponsoring the annual parish observance of Thanksgiving to commemorate the 25th anniversary of the building of the present Sacred Heart school. Members set November 5 as their meeting date when they will complete plans for the Thanksgiving program. The association also plans to have its holiday dinner dance the latter part of December.

Mrs. James Bezner, retiring president, presided at the meeting and Father Anthony led the opening prayer.

September Starts With .63 Inch Rain

An apparent carry-over from the wettest month on record here gave Muenster a start of .63 inch of rain so far for September.

Readings from Steve Moster's official US Weather Bureau records show measures of .05 at 7 a.m. Sept. 3, .18 at noon Sept. 4, and .40 at 7 a.m. Sept. 5.

John and Ed Hess Rescue Man Dying Of Electrocution

The courage and presence of mind of John and Ed Hess saved a man from death by electrocution about 6 o'clock Monday afternoon. According to word received by the brothers Tuesday the man is recovering satisfactorily in a Denton hospital.

While returning home from Sanger they stopped where a large group of cars had gathered about 4 miles south of Valley View. They found the victim lying on his back at the side of the road with a live electric power line under his legs slightly above the knees.

According to an account given by Ed, the man was paralyzed with pain and lay helpless begging someone to take him off the wire, but everyone in the crowd seemed afraid to take the risk.

The brothers hurriedly figured out their rescue plan. Ed got a firm hold on John's clothes to pull him to safety, just in case. And John was to free the victim. At first he tried lifting the man by his feet but found the shoes too hot to handle. Next he hooked his fingers in the cuffs of the man's trousers and heaved. That worked. It flipped the man's body completely over and into the clear.

Burns sustained during the man's ordeal seared deep into his legs, and he appeared to be near death from shock and pain when freed from the wire. An ambulance took him to a Denton hospital. Neither John nor Ed was able to recall his name.

The man's misfortune resulted from his attempt to help others. Shortly before a car crashed into a high-line pole and knocked it over. When he arrived he stopped to assist screaming victims in the car and got himself involved with the wire. In the end he was more seriously injured than the crash victims.

According to remarks from the crowd, the Hess brothers report, the car driver also was a victim of circumstances. Some claimed that he lost control of his car and crashed after a glancing collision with another car, which first stopped but then drove off without waiting to help.

TP&L is Ready To Meet Greater Power Demands

The present emergency in Korea finds that part of North, Central and East Texas served by Texas Power & Light Company adequately supplied with electric power to meet increased industrial and military expansion as well as fulfill civilian needs.

W. W. Lynch, president of TP&L Company, said there was no danger of a shortage within the area unless government limitations are imposed which would prevent the completion of the construction program now under way.

Texas Power & Light Company, said Mr. Lynch, can supply more than twice as much electricity today as it could in 1941, just prior to World War II. "At that time," he said, "the Company had a capacity of 155,940 kilowatts. Today its available capacity is 328,900 kilowatts. Within the last two years, two major installations alone have accounted for 83,000 kilowatts of the increase—a 70,000 kilowatt generator at the main generating station at Trindad and a 13,000 kilowatt unit at the Waco plant."

The TP&L expansion program, which started immediately after materials became available following the late war, has added not only generating capacity, but also facilities for transmitting and distributing the power (Continued on Page 7)

Muenster Schools Gain 26; Combined Enrollment is 603

Scholastic enrollment at the Muenster schools showed another increase this year as combined figures jumped from 577 to 603.

Of that figure 457 are in the parochial school and 146 are in the public school as compared with 429 and 148 respectively at the school opening last year.

Enrollments at both schools are due to increase slightly within the next week or two when several children, now caught by a minor epidemic of mumps, are permitted to return to class.

A breakdown of figures reveals a gain in both high school and grade children. Sacred Heart High gained 15 and Muenster High lost 4 for a net gain of 11. In the grade departments the parochial school gained 13 and the public school gained 2 for a net gain of 15.

The count in each school as revealed Wednesday afternoon is as follows: parochial high school 64, public high school 73, parochial elementary 393, public school elementary 73.

As in previous years, children of both schools are participating in the school lunch program, which is now under joint sponsorship of the Sacred Heart Parish and the Public School, with executive authority in the church committee and the school board.

Formerly sponsored by the Sacred Heart P-TA, the lunch program was taken over by the other organizations on the request of federal agencies which provide food for the program. The joint sponsors engaged Mrs. Rudy Hellman to continue managing the program.

Model Plane Show Popularity Grows

The popularity of the flying exhibition put on by Muenster's model airplane club is growing. The group this week accepted an invitation from Father Thomas Weinzapfel to put on its miniature flying circus at the Saint John's Parish picnic on Sunday, Sept. 17 at Valley View.

On Thursday, Sept. 21, the group will be at Bowie's Montague County Fair, appearing in the parade and flying at 4 o'clock. Appearances made to date were at the Montague Grape Festival and at the Nocona Old Timers' Reunion.

Maneuvers of the midjet planes usually consist of looping, diving, hopping and dog fights. The latter act has two or more planes with a crepe paper streamer behind each and the purpose of each is to cut the streamer off another plane.

Until recently members of the group were Paul Walterscheid, James Walterscheid, John Dobias, Albert Hess, Tommy Felderhoff. The latest to join are David Biffle of Myra and Harlan Bridwell of Forestburg. All fly stunt model planes with 52 foot control wires.

Win at Fleetwood Keeps Muenster in T & O Loop Play-off

Staging a stout come-back after the previous week's heart-breaking 5-6 loss, Muenster's baseball team clipped Fleetwood 11 to 7 last Sunday for a tie in the T & O League semi-final playoff. Next Sunday's game at Fleetwood will decide which of the two teams will oppose the Bowie-Nocona series winner for the league title.

So far Nocona and Bowie have not played any of their semi-final games. The contests scheduled for the past two Sundays have both been rained out.

Vows Exchanged by Emily Fette and Leonard Hartman

Miss Emily Fette exchanged marriage vows with Leonard Hartman Wednesday morning in nuptial services performed in Sacred Heart church at 8:30. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Fette and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hartman, all of Muenster. Rev. Anthony Schroeder officiated at the single ring ceremony and at the wedding high mass. Anthony Luke, organist, played the traditional wedding marches and assisted the choir in rendering music for the mass. Acolytes were Jimmy Fette and Jerry Klement, nephews of the bride; Donald Lehnertz and Robert Meurer, her cousins; and Ronald Herr. Rev. Father Salvador of Dallas was present in the sanctuary.

The altar before which the couple exchanged their vows was banked with red cox-combs and greenery.

The bride wore a becoming beige crepe dress with graceful side draping, a brown velvet hat with a short veil and other accessories in brown. She carried her flowers, an orchid corsage, on top of her prayer book. Adding a bit of sentiment, she wore an antique gold cross and chain formerly belonging to her paternal great grandmother, Mrs. Nick Endres; and now the property of her grandmother, Mrs. Henry Fette. All brides in the family have worn this piece of jewelry at their weddings.

Miss Florence Fette attended her sister as maid of honor. She wore a teal blue dress with brown accessories and a corsage of yellow roses.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Fette wore a cocoa brown crepe ensemble with a corsage of lavender tinted carnations. The groom's mother wore a silk floral print costume with a corsage of lavender tinted carnations.

The bride's two grandmothers, Mmes. Henry Fette and Joe Otto, wore Estereed daisy corsages with their costumes.

After the church services, brunch was served in the home of the bride's parents to immediate members of both families. The house was adorned with mari-golds and dahlias.

The bride's table was laid with an heirloom linen cloth, spun a hundred years ago by her paternal great-great-grandmother who used it at her wedding in 1850. It is now the property of Mrs. Joe Lehnertz. Centering the table was a fan shaped wedding cake.

Mrs. Bernard Swirczynski presided at the bride's book.

Father Salvador, an accomplished pianist, presented musical selections after the meal.

Other out of town guests were Miss Lorraine Otto of Amarillo, Miss Lorette Hartman of Dallas and Miss Dolly Lehnertz of McKinney.

When Mr. and Mrs. Hartman left on their wedding trip she was wearing a green and brown checked suit with brown accessories and the orchid she carried at the wedding.

When they return they will make their home here where he engages in farming.

The bride is a native of Muenster, a graduate of Sacred Heart High school and of St. Paul's School of Nursing in Dallas where she received her nurse's diploma in June 1949. She is the first grandchild of Messrs. and Mmes. Joe Otto and Henry Fette to be married.

Mr. Hartman was born and educated in Muenster and served in the U.S. Army for one year during 1949-1950.

Labor Day guests in the Needham home were Mrs. Bob Woodruff of Bartlesville, Okla., Mrs. Jerry Piper and son of Dallas, Mrs. Eddie Green and daughter, Eddie Louise, of Gainesville and their guests, Mrs. Ralph Bolander and son of Temple City, Calif., Mrs. Corah McMackin and Mr. and Mrs. Kenley McMackin and son of Wichita Falls. Some of the visitors were overnight guests Sunday and some were over night guests Monday.

Uncle Sam Accused As Biggest Hoarder

WASHINGTON. — Uncle Sam was described Saturday as the biggest hoarder in the world by Representative Shafer of Michigan.

"Uncle Sam has enough typewriter ribbons to last for decades," Shafer said in a statement. "He has enough desks to carry 4,000,000 people on the federal payroll instead of 2,000,000."

"He has a 93-year supply of fluorescent light bulbs, a 247-year supply of loose-leaf binders, and carloads of easily obtainable commodities now cluttering up Uncle Sam's warehouse space in various parts of the country."

Shafer said the rise in prices is determined more by the expenditures of the federal government than by "any hoarding done by housewives or a few gullible people who rush out to try to stock up."

A dozen blue balloons, suspended from the ceiling over the gift table, showered the honoree with colored confetti as she began opening her gifts.

A progressive 42 series followed. Score cards were small blue fans edged with white lace and inscribed "Emily and Len, Sept. 6, 1950." In the games, prize winners were Mmes. M. J. Endres, high score, Joe Fette, low tally, and Henry Fette galloping award. They presented their gifts to the honor guest.

A late supper concluded the evening's entertainment.

3 Texas Cities Use Fluoride Salts to Check Tooth Decay

Austin Texas — City fathers in three Texas cities, by artificially adding fluoride salts to their municipal water supplies, are making the dream of fewer tooth cavities come true.

Corpus Christi and Marshall have fluoridation systems working now. Austin has one in the installation process.

If things go according to plan, children in these towns will be spared easily half the visits they now have to make to their family dentists, because they'll have fewer cavities.

State Health Officer Geo. W. Cox describes the fluoridation process as a "tremendous step forward in the fight against dental diseases. It's simple and inexpensive, as well as effective."

"It won't be a cure-all," cautions Dr. Edward Taylor, director of dental health at the State Health Department. "It won't give children complete protection against tooth decay, but it will reduce decay from 23 to 47 percent."

He said that range of reduction percentage had been established in departmental experiments with artificial fluoridation in Marshall.

The addition of the chemical to drinking water in the ratio of 1 to 1.5 parts per million parts of water now has been recommended as a decay control measure by the United States Public Health Service, the American Water Works Association, and the Association of State and Territorial Dental Health Directors.

Recommendations are subject to approval of state and local health departments, which has been granted in the case of the three Texas cities.

Mr. and Mrs. Tip Self of Dallas visited relatives here Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hess had as their guest several days this week her cousin, Mrs. James Hilda Fleitman, Raymond of Dallas.

The American Way Disloyal Minorities

By George Peck

There are some Americans (thank God they constitute only a small minority of our total population) whose only thought in time of war is how many dollars they can make out of the suffering, bloodshed and anguish which armed conflict inevitably visits upon mankind. These comparative few not only risk their own necks thereby, but endanger the lives and liberties of the many, many patriotic citizens.

It is true that we are not yet actually engaged in an all-out war, but since the shooting started in Korea, there have been some American businessmen who already have given evidence they are thinking only of profits and not of service to America. Their selfishness, their lack of patriotism jeopardizes the "American Way" under which they do business.

And also, unfortunately, there are some American wage-earners who, despite the grave emergency, are still obsessed with the unsound idea of extracting the utmost farthing in wages for the least possible work done.

Then there are some American politicians who, in these troublous times, are still playing to the gallery, giving more thought to how many votes they can garner next November than to the country's welfare. When the situation calls for statesmanship, they resort to petty politics.

If the "bad" boys among the business fraternity wake up some unhappy morning to find a foreign invader in possession of their businesses, they will have only themselves to blame.

If the greedy wage earners answer their alarm clocks some forlorn morning to find themselves no longer free to work when, where, and how they choose, but forced to toil long hours at starvation wages under the lash of a foreign dictator, who but themselves will they be able to censure for that loss of liberty?

If the American politicians, who continue to play politics as usual, wake up on Wednesday morning, November 8th, after the voters have "gone to bat," to find themselves out of jobs, then indeed justice will have been served.

These minorities among the businessmen, wage earners and politicians apparently are beyond redemption. Appeals to their patriotism, humanitarianism and altruism fall on deaf ears. Perhaps they can be reached by appeals to their greed and selfishness, with which human frailties they seem to be so richly endowed.

Surely, their selfishness, all decent motives falling, should dictate to them that this is a time for all-effort, all-out sacrifices, all-out expenditure of capital, labor and statesmanship on behalf of America. If they fail to recognize this self-evident truth they are fools as well as money-grabbers and power-seekers, because they take the risk of selling themselves down the river, while they drag patriotic citizens with them.

If even the selfish urge will not deter them from risking their own necks and imperiling ours, some way must be found to make them toe the mark. It is a crying shame that in this hour of America's great need, crubs and controls must be enforced upon all of us because of the greed and avarice of the few who comprise these disloyal minorities.

A LETTER FROM OLE SARGE

As the Korean conflict enters its ninth week of hostilities, changes in manpower requirements and enlargement of training facilities continue to dominate military activity within the United States.

From Fourth Army headquarters in San Antonio comes word that two new replacement training centers are to be opened in the Fourth Army area. The first of the two, an antiaircraft center, will be established at Fort Bliss, Texas with operations scheduled to get under way August 28; while the other, an artillery center, will be located at Fort Sill, Oklahoma and will begin operations September 4.

Personnel assigned to these new centers will receive eight weeks of advanced training, under a new training plan not yet published. The training will follow the initial six weeks of basic training.

Meanwhile, the Department of the Army announced that Reserve officers of company grades can now apply for active duty regardless of arm or service. The announcement said that company grade officers will be accepted by the Army as long as the maximum age requirements of 41 for Lieutenants and 45 for Captains are met. The Air Force has announced that it will recall 50 Reserve Chaplains to active duty in the grades of First Lieutenant and Captain under the age of 42. At the same time, the AF stated that 300 additional young clergymen were needed to be commissioned as First Lieutenants in the Reserve, to form a reservoir for future Air Force needs. They would not be called to active duty, however, until specifically needed to meet Air Force requirements.

The Army and Air Force are seeking to build up their strength levels with qualified volunteers. They indicate that many choice jobs are open to single men between the ages of 18 and 34 who can qualify and who act now. They also point out that all the benefits of a regular enlistment will go to the volunteer. It wouldn't be bad advice for men who are contemplating a military career, to investigate the possibilities of a regular enlistment in the United States Army or Air Force.

So long,
 Ole Sarge

What Our Money Isn't Buying

Charles F. Kettering, the internationally famous research scientist, recently delivered himself of an intriguing and pungent statement that is worth thinking about.

"One of the things we have to be thankful for," said Mr. Kettering, "is that we don't get as much government as we pay for!"

Consider a Federal budget of more than $40,000,000,000 a year. Add on top of that a Texas state budget of more than $500,000,000 a year. And then pile on our county and city budgets.

That's an almost inconceivable amount of money to spend on government, or on anything else, for that matter. It can buy a tremendous amount of anything, except, apparently, efficient government.

Suppose that money were spent efficiently. We would be a most unhappy people here in Texas and the rest of the United States. We would be governed to the death. Or at least most of us, who like to have some personal choice and freedom in the conduct of our lives, would certainly think so.

Following the tenor of Mr. Kettering's somewhat cynical remark, maybe it is a good thing that governments seem to have an infallible talent for wasting money.

Yet such a view is decidedly repugnant to the Texas character. We maintain with great determination that we should not be called upon to subsidize inefficiency and waste. We need government—less than we now have, certainly, but nonetheless we need some—and we have a right to demand we pay the least possible for it.

Contrary to popular belief lettuce contains no opium.

The per capita cost of operating our Government for the first year (1789) was approximately 20c.

Squint's Drumming For Fair Play!

Squint Miller's mighty proud of the lot he owns that fronts on River Road—one of the prettiest spots around here.

He's been in a stew about it lately, though. Seems that trash-dumpers take one look at his property, stop their car or truck, and out goes a load of rubbish, spilling all over his place and the roadside, too. Wouldn't that make you mad?

Last night Squint dropped by the house. Over a friendly glass of beer, he tells me what he's done. "I put a couple of empty oil drums out there," he says, "with a big sign reading: 'If you must dump trash—use these—I like to keep my property clean!'"

From where I sit, Squint's sign should make any would-be roadside trash-dumpers pretty darned ashamed of themselves. Now and then some folks just have to be reminded that they ought to have as much regard for their neighbors' rights as they do for their own.

Gainesville Rite Unites Ed Sicking And Betty Walter

Miss Betty Walter became the bride of Edward Sicking on Thursday morning, August 31, in a nuptial service performed at 8:30 in St. Mary's church at Gainesville. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Walter of Gainesville and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Sicking of Muenster.

Rev. Peter Molloy officiated at the single ring ceremony and at the nuptial mass. Miss Anne Gallagher, organist, presented the wedding music and accompanied Mrs. Adolph Dudenhoefer, who sang.

Mr. Walter gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a wedding gown of white satin with long fitted sleeves, square neckline embroidered with seed pearls, fitted V waist and cathedral length train. Her fingertip length veil of illusion was caught to clusters of waxen orange blossoms, borrowed from her aunt, Mrs. Andrew Wimmer. She carried her flowers, white carnations and stephanotis, on top of a white prayer book. Touches of blue maline and satin in the bouquet added "something blue" to the corsage.

The bride's attendants were her sisters, Misses Florence and Mary Jo Walter. Both wore dresses of chartreuse taffeta with lace overskirts of brown, haloes of brown mums caught to matching lace and net, and brown lace mitts and carried bouquets of bronze mums.

The bridegroom's attendants were his brothers, Alois and Paul Sicking.

Henry Felderhoff and Joe Henry Walterscheid were ushers, John Paul Walter, brother of the bride, Rodney Walter and Carl Walterscheid, her cousins, and Leroy Berend, were acolytes for the wedding mass. Mothers of the bridal pair wore pink carnation corsages with their costumes.

Members of the families of the couple, including the bride's grandmothers, Mmes. Wm. Walterscheid and John Walter, were ushered to seats marked off with white satin bows. White gladioli, fern and palms were used in floral arrangements to decorate the church.

After the services, breakfast was served in the home of the bride's parents for immediate families of the couple. The Walter home was decorated with flowers carrying out the bride's colors of chartreuse and brown.

During the afternoon an informal reception and buffet supper honored the newlyweds. Miss Mary Ann Bauer presided at the guest book. The buffet table held a large decorated bride's cake which was cut by the couple and served by Mmes. Joe Lehnertz, Joe Bayer and Harold Walterscheid. Among the wedding guests was Rev. Henry Felderhoff of Cleburne, uncle of the groom. A dance at night in the Lindsay hall concluded the day's festivities.

When the couple left on a wedding trip the bride was wearing a tan suit with red accessories, and the carnation corsage she carried at the wedding. Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Sicking will be at home in Muenster where he engages in farming.

The Main Question

The professor was delivering the final lecture of the term. He dwelt with much emphasis on the fact that each student should devote all the intervening time preparing for the final examinations.

"The examination papers are now in the hands of the printer. Are there any questions to be asked?"

Silence prevailed. Suddenly a voice from the rear inquired: "Who is the printer?"

REV. LEO KOESLER HONORED AT FAMILY GATHERINGS

Rev. Leo Koesler arrived Friday for a vacation visit with his parents, the Alfons Koeslers and other relatives. He came here from Dallas where he had been assisting with parish work during the summer and when he leaves Sunday will go to Subiaco. He will be there until about Oct. 1, when he will return to the Catholic University in Washington, D. C.

During the week a number of family gatherings and dinners have been given in his honor. Sunday all members of the family were at the Alfons Koesler home to spend the day. Another out of town member of the family was Mrs. J. D. Caplinger of Sherman.

Monday night Mr. and Mrs. Tony Hermes entertained in their home in Lindsay, and Tuesday the family gathered at the Norbert Koesler home.

SHOWER FOR SISTERS HELD THURSDAY AFTERNOON

More than a hundred women of the community gathered at the parish lunch room last Thursday afternoon for the annual shower complementing the Benedictine Sisters.

After the presentation of gifts including items for the kitchen and pantry, with other items such as blankets, the group spent an informal hour of getting acquainted with the teachers, visiting, and playing table games.

Ladies all brought covered dishes for a buffet supper which concluded the afternoon. Hostesses were Mrs. Joe Hoeng, president of St. Anne's Society, the sponsor group, and Mmes. Ben Hellman, M. J. Endres, Frank Kathman and Al Fleitman.

As an additional gift, delivered to coincide with the shower, Voth and Cain, drilling contractors, presented a new model 8-foot Frigidaire to the Sisters.

When Government Runs a Business

The two giant enterprises in the communications field in this country are the Bell Telephone System and the United States Post Office Department. The privately owned Bell System paid $346,144,000 in taxes last year, while the Post Office Department, of course, paid none. The Bell System operated at a substantial profit, while the Postal Service incurred an operating loss of $577,471,000. The total value of all physical properties owned by the Bell System is reported at $9½ billions. The Post Office Department has no idea whatever of the value of its vast property holdings.

Conditioned To Scarcity

A government bureau has issued a new comparison of commodity costs in the Soviet Union and the United States, based upon the working time required to earn the money needed to buy goods. It is a revealing example of the vast differences between a free, competitive economy, and a controlled economy in which practically everything is rationed and priced arbitrarily by the government.

To buy a pound of bread the Russian worker must put in 19 minutes, and the American worker six minutes. To buy a bar of soap the respective times are 41 minutes and three minutes. In the case of a pair of women's shoes, the figures are 72 hours as against 3½ hours. If the Russian wants a new suit, he must work 376 hours to earn it. His American equivalent can earn the price in a trifle more than 24 hours.

SOCIALIST DODGES SOCIALIZED MEDICINE FOR HIS OPERATION

A number of high officials in the British Labor Government, which put Britain's socialized medicine program into effect, do not use socialized medical facilities when they personally need a doctor's care, according to "Medicine Today and Tomorrow," organ of the British Socialist Medical Association.

The magazine made its statement while scolding Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin for having two minor operations in a private hospital not operated by the Health Service. He preferred to pay his own bill rather than use the service set up for the general public.

"He is not the only person prominent in the Labor movement who has gone outside the National Health Service," said the magazine.

TP&L Is Ready

to points of consumption as the demands require. By the end of the present year 1,000 kilowatts of additional electric power will be added to the system, with 5,000 more scheduled for next year, 75,000 kilowatts in 1953 and another 75,000 in 1954. This makes a total of 156,000 additional kilowatts capacity to be added by TP&L Company within the next four years.

Even greater use of present generating capacity could be made by the conversion of many industrial plants, now operating on a one-shift basis, to a two- or three-shift operation, which would come with conversion to a full emergency basis, Mr. Lynch pointed out. This would enable existing power plant equipment to meet power requirements of expanded industry for more hours each day.

Another factor to be considered in the efficient utilization of available power is the fact that the Texas Power & Light Company's system is interconnected with the lines of adjacent systems, so that surplus power can instantly be made available at any point within the area served in the event of an emergency. This fact alone would enable the company to operate safely on a lower margin of reserve capacity. It also forms one of the greatest sources of strength because it insures uninterrupted electric power in such an emergency.

While Mr. Lynch pointed out that the Company's power picture today indicates ample power for all anticipated needs, he emphasized that any interruption in the current expansion program, especially in completing the new equipment now under construction, could alter the picture.

"Under the present program," he stated, "Texas Power & Light Company will be able to meet all reasonable industrial, military and civilian power needs in the event of a full-scale war. Its margin of reserve capacity, together with the advantages of the interconnected system, is expected to cover any increase in power consumption that may result from stepped-up military output."

LEVERAGE gives a POWER "PLUS" to the new

FERGUSON TRACTOR

A tractor has got to have power to spare. That's a must. But power to do the heavy work is not a matter of great size, overweight, or clumsy operation. How much and how efficiently power is applied to the implement... that's what counts.

The specially-designed overhead-valve engine of the New Ferguson Tractor, combined with the one and only Ferguson System of Linkage and Hydraulic Control, provides adequate power fully utilized.

Power properly managed for the wide range of work is the power-principle of the New Ferguson. Power combined with leverage! Whether you judge tractor performance by how easy it makes your work, the time saved, or by how much it lowers your cost of production, ask for your demonstration now.

POWER THAT SPELLS LOWER COST

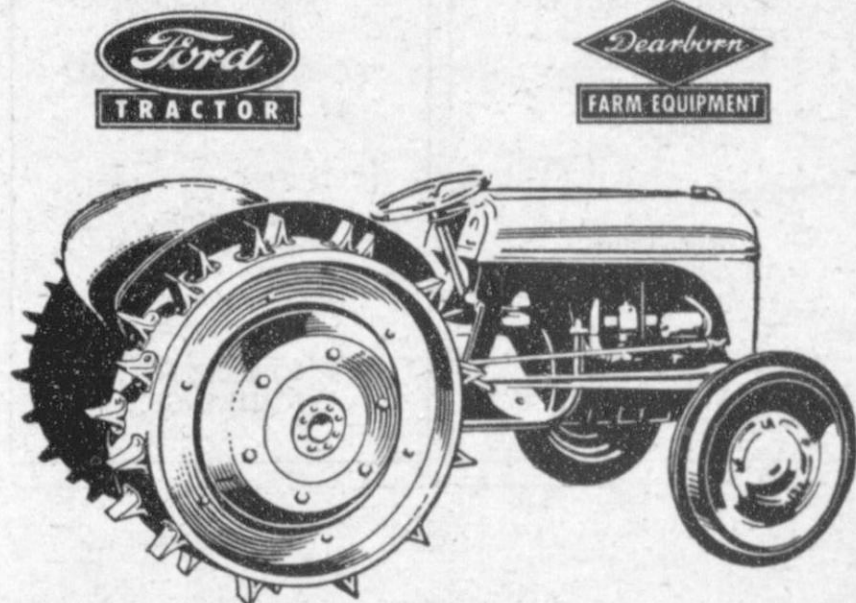

Continental overhead-valve engine has the reserve power, lets you use third gear when you would expect to need second, saves on fuel.

It's the FERGUSON SYSTEM that makes the difference!

Dedication - - -

tation as generally used is not complete and the passage omitted is really the most significant part of it. That passage is: "when guided and controlled by virtue."

In keeping with that principle Gossett stated that the cultivated mind which is not guided and controlled by virtue is not an asset to the community or the nation. As an example he cited ancient Rome once famous for its justice and industry, a good and powerful nation while guided and controlled by virtue, but an easy prey for the barbarian hordes after it discarded virtue for a life of indolence, graft and corruption.

A more recent example is England, the nation which when guided and controlled by virtue had the strength to maintain world peace but when weakened by soft living and socialism deteriorated into a second rate nation.

Now, Gossett said, the Pax Britannica era is ended and the Pax Americana era has begun. Whether this nation will measure up to the job of preserving world peace along with its own independence depends more on American virtue than wealth.

Superintendent Weldon Cowan as master of ceremonies presented the speakers who participated in the dedication and also introduced the architect, Stanley Brown of Dallas.

The program, lasting from 10 to 10:45, was broadcast over Gainesville's radio station, KGAF. For a half hour before the audience was entertained by the Gainesville High School band.

As the ceremonies closed Cowan invited visitors to inspect the new building and to pause in the homemaking department for coffee which was served by girls of the homemaking classes.

Included in the attendance of about 300 were large groups from Gainesville and Saint Jo and a number of visitors from more distant places.

benefit from the whole set-up. Muenster's job is to adopt a general educational policy which will permit it to maintain local control and take advantage of all state-offered facilities without forsaking traditional principles. We don't have to choose between two blessings. We can find a way to keep both of them.

Electric Range

Imagine being cool, relaxed and rested after preparing a lavish seven-course dinner. Sounds like fiction, but it's fact . . . with a new electric range! Cooking electrically is now a small matter of turning a switch. You just prepare the food . . . set the automatic oven control that maintains an even, uniform heat . . . and dependable, low-cost electricity does the rest. No fuss, no bother . . . perfect results every time. Your kitchen remains degrees cooler, because your electric range is insulated to keep heat inside. Then, too, its high-speed cooking units are in direct contact with the cooking vessel, so very little heat escapes around or up the sides. No wonder, the happiest, best cooks choose modern electric ranges!
