

PLANS FOR AIRPORT HERE ARE DISCUSSED BY C. OF C.

LETTERS from the aviation committee of the Waco Chamber of Commerce were ready Monday to the Board of Directors of the Brownwood Chamber of Commerce by Secretary Hilton Burks telling of plans for establishing an air mail route between Waco and San Angelo via Brownwood. It was stated that the Waco committee will be in Brownwood Friday or Saturday of this week. The chairman of the local airport committee, together with the secretary, Mr. Burks, were instructed to meet the visiting committee. Mr. Burks told the directors today that Mayor-City Manager W. D. McCulley had told him that the city of Brownwood would build suitable hangars for the use of airplanes and meet other requirements for a local airport if the Brown County Fair Association will cut off 50 acres on the east end of the fair grounds to be used as an airport. In order to do this it will be necessary to shorten the present track to one half mile and Mr. McCulley stated that the city would do this also. The Board of Directors of the Fair Association are to be called in session at an early date to decide upon the question of cutting off the 50 acres needed.

The finance committee made a report today, stating that a total of $35,500 had been subscribed to the Chamber of Commerce budget. The committee expected the total to reach $16,000 within the next few days. It was voted to publish the entire list of approximately 350 subscribers Saturday, April 14, in the Brownwood Bulletin, the subscribers to be listed in groups, according to business or profession.

Insull at San Angelo Mr. Insull, at San Angelo with his party early Wednesday, reiterated his statement that he would be unwilling to proceed with the Colorado power development project unless Brownwood is willing to concede priority to his concern for the 580,000 acre feet of water required in the power project.

Quoted by the San Angelo Standard, Mr. Insull said among other things:

Tells of Colorado People

"Mr. Insull explained the situation in which he finds himself with regard to the fight which has been going on by West Texas and South Texas people over the water of the Colorado River and its tributaries. He feels that he has gone as far as he can—and says he is willing to risk his position with the people of the state.

"I did not want to get mixed up in any dispute between any sections of the state," he said, "neither did I want to get into the hydro-electric power business in this state. I do not believe that it is a particularly profitable business. I would much rather buy the power from someone else at the dam than to build the dams. Lignite and oil will produce power today cheaper than water power on the Colorado River.

"And here is something else that I want you to get right. As between the use of West Texas water for irrigation and domestic purposes or for power—I am for its use for irrigation and domestic use first, last and all the time. Power can be created in many other ways. There is no substitute for water.

"In Wisconsin we have built hydro-electric plants and have been hailed as conservers of our natural resources. We thought our effort would meet with the same reaction in Texas when Jay Alexander presented his plan for power on the Colorado. We did not. We paid off and stepped down and out.

A few months later we were presented with the proposition by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce to release about 450,000 acre feet of water rights, which was practically our proposition at Dallas, and having made the offer, we didn't feel like backing it down so I said we'll go on with it.

"Everything seemed lovely until recently Brownwood wanted us to give their water rights priority to ours. I was not willing to take out 10 million dollars and subject to Brownwood's rights, even though I did feel that they would never come in conflict with each other.

"Anyone, I think, can see that it would be worth a great deal more to us to have an irrigation project in the territory we serve than to even make a little power by the use of water at a slightly lower cost than by the use of coal, lignite, oil or gas. With an intensively cultivated agricultural district, we could sell thousands of kilowatts of power upon which we could make much more money than we could hope to make from the saving of hydro plants. I think any business man can see this."

HOOVER ACTION ABOUT NEGROES HURTS CHANGES

WASHINGTON, April 10.—(AP)—Reading into the record today a newspaper story which appeared several days ago that Secretary Hoover had ordered negro clerks in the census bureau to be located on the floor with white persons, Senator Blease, Democrat, South Carolina, declared such action would foreclose any hope of the Republican breaking the "solid South" at the next election.

The article appeared in the Washington Post and it was said today at the department that at the time a statement was issued explaining that a small bureau division organization made up of negroes had been broken up in the bureau because racial segregation was forbidden.

Senator Blease had read a letter from a "white woman" whose name was not revealed complaining of the action and terming the negroes in the bureau in which she worked "Hoover chocolates."

"This is exactly what brought the Republican party into disrepute in the South," Blease said, "and made its name a stench in the nostrils of all white people."

MURPHEY RETURNS FROM CONVENTION ELECTRIC INDUSTRY

W. P. Murphey, district manager for the Texas Power & Light Company, returned Monday night from Edgewater Park, Miss., where he attended the convention of the southwestern district of the National Electric Light Association. Enroute home Mr. Murphey stopped in Dallas for a day or two, visiting with his son, Dr. Phelps Murphey, and family, and making the trip from Dallas to Brownwood by automobile Monday. Road conditions were unusually bad, he said this morning.

"The convention was the best I have ever attended, Mr. Murphey stated this morning. Edgewater Park is a small community, maintained principally as a winter resort, and there was nothing else to do but to attend the convention conferences and get all the benefit possible out of them," Mr. Murphey stated, although he added that there were ample facilities for recreation and entertainment.

Leaders in the electric industry from all over the country were present, and gave discussions of all phases of the industry. Mr. Murphey stated that he was gratified to learn that the plans that have been made for the installation of Brownwood's new "white way" conform to the very newest developments in such lighting installations, so that this city will be able to boast of the

WOODS FEARLESS PROSECUTOR JURY TOLD IN OUSTER

WASHINGTON, April 10.—(AP)—Within two hours after the state of the civil ouster suit against Le-Grande J. Woods, county attorney of Navarro county, five witnesses had testified here today that Woods' reputation for honesty and fair dealing was good, and that he was a vigorous prosecutor.

R. M. Albright of Barry, who was bailiff of the October, 1927, grand jury at Corsicana, testified that Woods was a "fearless" prosecutor. Woods, he said, had served as county attorney for one year before he was removed from office on the order of District Judge Hawkins Scarborough.

TEXAN DROPS DEAD

FORT WORTH, Tex., April 10.—(AP)—Funeral services will be held here today for G. W. Hollingsworth, 79, insurance man, who dropped dead Monday. Hollingsworth came here 94 years ago and was then employed by the Texas and Pacific railroad as head of a crew of chain surveyors working through West Texas.

COOLIDGE STILL IS OPPOSED TO FARM RELIEF BILL

WASHINGTON, April 10.—(AP)—President Coolidge believes that nothing has occurred to make the qualification fee of the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill conform to his ideas of constitutionality.

In the President's judgment, the bill as now drafted contains a large number of provisions he found necessary to criticize in his veto but chief among these is the equalization fee.

Mr. Coolidge, however, is very anxious that Congress take some positive action for the relief of the farmer along the lines which he has consistently maintained in his messages to Congress and in public addresses.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—(AP)—All perishable commodities, fruits, and vegetables particularly, would be excluded from provisions of the pending McNary-Haugen farm bill under an amendment accepted today by the Senate without a record vote.

Taking up the numerous pending amendments with prospects for early disposal of these, the Senate was rapidly reaching the point where a final vote on the controversial farm relief legislation was possible.

F. Wesner, principal of the school. All teachers of all departments of the school will have the work of their students on exhibit throughout Friday.

Mr. Wesner invites all to come and urges that Brownwood school patrons come and see just what is being done in Brownwood Junior High. The exhibits Friday will include those of the manual training department and domestic science department as well as the work of the literary departments.

5 Million Dollar Damage is Caused by Mexican Storm

MEXICO CITY, April 11.—(AP)—Dispatches from Torreon today said that the tornado which struck the state of Coahuila on Monday caused loss estimated at between ten million pesos ($5,000,000) and twenty-five million pesos (12,500,000).

Cotton plantations over a wide area were completely ruined. They will need to be sown, with the prospect that the harvest will be injured by the boll weevil.

KLAN CHIEF FLAYS SMITH

NEW YORK, April 10.—(AP)—The New York Herald Tribune today says that Dr. Hiram Wesley Evans, Imperial Wizard of the Ku Klux Klan, is in New York City looking over the political situation, especially in reference to the presidential candidacy of Governor Smith.

The newspaper quotes the Klan leader as blaming the forces of Governor Smith for internal dissension in the Klan such as has led to court action in Pittsburgh.

"Why for two years, brother," Dr. Evans is quoted as saying, "wherever a disgruntled Klansman could be found there has been money available for him to stir up what trouble he could. And the directions for spending it all have been post-marked 'New York.' It is perfectly plain that fear of the Klan's opposition has led the Smith machine to try to disrupt us before this 1928 campaign should come along. That is what is behind this Pennsylvania trouble. They tried to mess with my machine down there but I just took a few little steps, moved a man here and there, and now we're stronger than ever. Wait and see."

The Imperial Wizard asserted the Klan presented the nomination of Governor Smith in 1924 but said the New York Governor had a good chance this year of being nominated but would fail of election to the presidency.

He refused to "dignify" with comment the Pittsburgh trial in which affidavits taken charge him with murder, extorting, assault, kidnaping, lynchings, inciting to riots and other lesser crimes.

LADY BAILEY PLANE FALLS

LONDON, April 10.—(AP)—Two women flying rivals today apparently faced defeat in attempts to make flights between London and Capetown, South Africa.

An exchange telegraph dispatch from Capetown said that Lady Mary Bailey had crashed, while attempting to land at Tabora, Tanganyika. Her plane was badly wrecked but she escaped injury.

A Cairo dispatch to the Daily Mail said that Lady Heath, the former Mrs. Elliott Lytton, flying rival to Lady Bailey, had been prevented from continuing her flight to London from Capetown by British authorities.

Her plane was locked in the army shed at Helopolis, 5 miles from Cairo, and she was refused permission to fly over the Mediterranean unaccompanied. No escort was available.

CHARGE TEXAN IN TOT DEATH

AUSTIN, April 10.—(AP)—G. E. Mueller was charged with murder here today in connection with the finding of the body of an infant in a furnace at his barn. The charge was in a complaint filed by Humane Officer W. C. Russell before Justice of the Peace Frank Tannehill.

Another complaint charged Mueller with statutory criminal assault. His brother, Jacob Mueller, has been held on the assault charge, but officers intimated he might be released.

G. E. Mueller, a dairyman, heretofore had been charged with perjury and kidnaping. Officers say he has made a sworn statement.

Oklahoma Smith Forces Win in State Session

OKLAHOMA CITY, Apr. 10.—(AP)—Former Gov. Charles N. Haskell was selected as temporary chairman of the Democratic State convention here today. His election by adoption of an executive committee report was regarded as a victory of a coalition between state administration forces and Smith presidential advocates.

Cries of "steam roller" followed the announcement of Chairman George D. Key that the committee report had been adopted.

A third group, defined as "ultra-right" had planned to advocate Mose Anderson, state secretary of the Masonic Lodge, for temporary chairman, but his name was not placed in nomination.

FLOOD WATERS IN QUEBEC REGEDE, SIX LIVES LOST

MONTREAL, April 10.—(AP)—Flood waters, which had taken six lives and caused large property damage in the provinces of Quebec, Ontario and New Brunswick were receding today as cold weather settled down, checking seasonal melting of ice and snow.

Some suburbs of Montreal were still under water, caused by a huge ice jam in the St. Lawrence river which caused it to back up and

3,000 Head Stock Freeze to Death at Rock Springs

Rock Springs, Tex., April 10.—(AP)—Between 2,500 and 3,000 goats were frozen to death here in the weekend north, according to an estimate prepared today by Len Clark, president of the Edwards county Chamber of Commerce, who is a rancher and stock man.

The animals frozen were chiefly the late clip which had not had time to grow a protective covering. There are approximately 300,000 head of goats in the county. Little other damage was done, according to Mr. Clark, the mixture accompanying the northern helping snow considerably. Two inches of snow accompanied the north:

school board decided not to take any action relative to the election until the advice and opinion of an attorney could be had. The ballots cast in the trustee election were not canvassed at last night's meeting, hence no winners of the election were announced by the board. No canvass of the election returns will be made until the school officials have had ample time to make a complete and thorough study of the alleged irregularities that occurred in Saturday's election. It was stated Monday night by officials of the Board following the executive session of that body. It was indicated that an attorney would be employed today to make a thorough investigation of the entire affair, after which this attorney will give his opinion as to the most advisable course to be followed by the local school board.

Box Closed Early
Several citizens present last night told of arriving at the ward four voting place between six and seven o'clock Saturday afternoon and of being denied a vote on account of the polls being closed. After these men and women had told of being denied a vote due to the unexpected closing of the polls at six o'clock, John F. Mansfield, who served as judge in that voting precinct, explained why he closed the polls at six instead of seven.

Mr. Mansfield explained that he didn't know at what time the voting was supposed to stop, but late in the afternoon, about five o'clock, Superintendent E. J. Woodward came to the Coggin school, where the election was being held. Mr. Mansfield stated, Mr. Woodward was asked about the time of closing the polls, Mansfield stated. To this question Mr. Woodward could give no answer but returned to the school later with an order sent out by S. M. N. Marrs, state superintendent of education, which stated in all school elections the polls should open at eight o'clock and close at six. Mr. Mansfield stated that when he read that order he immediately closed the polls and stopped the voting. Mr. Mansfield stated that he was unaware at that time that there was an issue of any kind in Saturday's election.

No Board Action
Miss Carrie Reeves, former county superintendent of Brown county, and now a member of the local school board, stated that as a member of the board she could say that no action had been taken at all by the board relative to closing the polls at any hour Saturday. Miss Reeves assured all present that the board wanted to do the right thing about any irregularities that might have crept into the recent election. Miss Reeves stated that she was of the opinion that the statement issued by the State Department of Education should have been presented to the county attorney or county judge and held to be correct, that some publicity should have been given to the fact that the polls were to be closed at six o'clock instead of seven.

Will Talbot, secretary of the local school board and who was a candidate for re-election, also spoke in behalf of the school board and told of the incidents leading up to the closing of the polls at ward four at six o'clock. Mr. Talbot stated that he went to the Coggin school shortly before six o'clock to vote, and while there Mr. Woodward came in.

Mr. Mansfield overheard our conversation and asked to see the order from Mr. Marrs and the order was shown him. He asked us what we thought of it and we told him that we didn't know and therefore wouldn't say, that he was the election judge and that he could do as he saw fit. Mr. Talbot stated. It was then that Mr. Mansfield held up his hand and declared the polls closed and the voting stopped. Mr. Talbot stated, Talbot closed by stating that the board wanted to do the right thing about the unpleasant affair and added that, "the mixing of politics and school affairs is a darn poor thing."

Ward Two Closing
Hans Schroeder, a citizen in ward four who was deprived of a vote on account of the closing of the polls early, asked about the polls at ward two closing shortly after six o'clock and then opening again shortly thereafter. Mr. Schroeder asked, "What kind of an election was that Saturday, any way?"

At this point Superintendent E. J. Woodward offered an explanation of the entire procedure, giving a complete story of his connection with the affair. Mr. Woodward's statement follows:

Woodward's Statement
"I was in my office at the High School Saturday afternoon about four o'clock when H. A. Newby, election judge of Ward Three, came in and asked for additional tally sheets, stating that the voting was unusually heavy. I gave him the tally sheets and reading them the voting must be heavy at Ward Four, the largest voting precinct in the city. I felt it my duty as superintendent to go to that ward and ask if more tally sheets were needed. This I did and found that another tally sheet was really needed but that the election officials had been using plain paper to tally the votes. While there Mr. Mansfield asked me when the polls should close. This I did not know but I told him that I would try to find out. I immediately went to my home and called County Judge E. M. Davis, and asked him when the polls should close. Judge Davis didn't know but said he would look it up. While he was doing this I found the order governing school elections that had been sent out by State Superintendent S. M. N. Marrs. I advised Judge Davis of this and he told me that he found that, in his opinion, the polls should remain open until seven o'clock. I went back to the Coggin school and met Will Talbot as I went in. We discussed the question of closing the polls and while so doing Mr. Mansfield came over and asked if I had found out when the polls should close. I showed him the order from Mr. Marrs but told him that Judge Davis had ruled that the polls should remain open until seven, Mr. Mansfield decided immediately that the state superintendent should know his business, disregarding what I had told him of Judge Davis' opinion and immediately closed the voting."

Explains Law
County Attorney T. C. Wilkinson, Jr., explained the law relative to elections. He stated that there were two kinds of school elections, one governed by the state education department and the other by the city charter in incorporated cities. Mr. Wilkinson stated that the city charter of Brownwood regulated all elections and that it decreed that all elections should open at eight o'clock and close at seven.

W. D. Armstrong was the last speaker to make any statement before the school board retired in executive session. He stated that all four men who were apparently elected Saturday were satisfactory in every respect, but added that "there is no doubt about a few irregularities in the election." Mr. Armstrong suggested that the school board take these irregularities into consideration and after a thorough study of the conditions decide upon a course of action. Mr. Armstrong assured the school board that any action taken by them would meet with the approval of all parties concerned and closed his remarks by urging all to "avoid any fuss or row over the election."

In Saturday's election the four winning candidates were known to be favorable to the present school administration and to Superintendent E. J. Woodward. On the other hand the three defeated candidates had publicly expressed an opposition to the present administration. One of the four winning candidates, J. C. Galloway received the support

JESSE HOLMAN JONES

NO MAN IN TEXAS has been the recipient of more sincere compliments in recent weeks than has Jesse Holman Jones of Houston, the man who secured for his home city and for Texas the convention of the national Democratic party.

Some interesting details about Mr. Jones' life and work are given in the Dallas News, and they are passed along for the information of Bulletin readers.

Born in Robertson county, Tennessee, on April 5, 1874, Mr. Jones is the son of William Hasque and Ann (Holman) Jones.

Mr. Jones became president of the Southern Loan and Investment Company in 1905, which he had organized, and which afterward has been known as the Jesse H. Jones & Co.

In 1912 Mr. Jones organized the Houston Hotel Association, Inc., as principal owner and president, shortly afterward erecting the Rice Hotel in Houston.

Mr. Jones' varied and important business activities since 1898 have included banking and building and have had instrumental in the creation of a number of office and bank buildings, business blocks, hotels, apartments and theatres in Dallas, Houston, Fort Worth and New York.

As a banker he served as vice president of the Union National Bank of Houston from 1910 to 1918 and was vice president of the Seaboard National Bank from 1907 to 1917.

In 1926 Mr. Jones became owner and publisher of the Houston Chronicle. His other civic activities have included the chairmanship of the Houston harbor board between 1913 and 1917, formative years in the creation of Houston's magnificent inland waterway connection with the Gulf of Mexico.

Texas at large called upon him in 1926 to become director general of the Texas Centennial Celebration which in 1936 will observe the hundred years of Independence of Texas.

In 1917 Mr. Jones was made director general of military relief in the American Red Cross and was a member of the Red Cross Council by appointment of President Woodrow Wilson.

As director of finance for the Democratic national party, Mr. Jones has had one of the most responsible positions in the Nation's politics. He has long been recognized as a disinterested, genuine and forceful worker for the success of American government under our party form.

In 1920 he was married to Miss Mary Gibbs, daughter of Dr. Jasper Gibbs of Mexia. Mrs. Jones was entertained in Dallas Monday by a committee of women headed by Mrs. John O. McReynolds.

Various clubs of which Mr. Jones is a member include the Bankers' Club of America, Southern Society of New York, Metropolitan, National Press, Chevy Chase Country Club of Washington, National Democratic, Whist, Lotus, Ardley, Cavendish, Sleepy Hollow, Blind Brook Country, New York Press, Manhattan of New York, Englewood County (N. J.) He is a leading layman in the Methodist Church.

HOW COME?

WITHOUT AN INCREASE in the price of crude oil, without an advance in the labor bill, without a raise in freight rates or other transportation charges, without fuss or noise of any kind but with the utmost efficiency and dispatch, the price of gasoline was boosted another cent a few days ago in the local market.

One wonders how and why it is that half a dozen companies distributing oil products ostensibly in competition with each other are able to display such a brotherly spirit in the fixing of gasoline prices. There's no use in shopping around for gasoline. If one filling station says it's twenty-one cents per gallon, that's the price and no bargains are to be found.

Of course, it isn't the fault of the men who are managing the local filling stations. They manage 'em, but somebody else, somewhere, controls the price at which the product is sold. It is inconceivable that there should be such complete control of the selling price—not only in Brownwood but everywhere else—without some kind of collusion among the big companies which manufacture and distribute oil products all over the country.

There is a federal law prohibiting conspiracy in restraint of trade, but there are oil companies which apparently are smart enough to violate that law and get away with it.

An exchange refers to Pat Neff as a member of the Federal Railroad Medication Board. Perhaps they have finally found something useful for that board to do.

Contemporary Thought

Des Moines Register: The United States and the republic of Czechoslovakia have come to a passport agreement whereby Americans visiting Czechoslovakia need pay only $1 for a visa instead of the customary $10.

It is high time that protests of traveling Americans against the $10 visa should produce some results. The thing to bear in mind is that every one of the $10 visa charges made by foreign countries is in retaliation for our own American charge of $10, and that for every dollar we take out of a foreign visitor's pocket a good many dollars are taken from the pockets of Americans.

Anyhow, it is not good policy to penalize movement of people across boundaries. The whole system of high visas fees is a nuisance.

LET'S SEE—HOW DOES IT GO? Columbus Dispatch: The movement to preserve old Fort McHenry probably could be amply financed by acquiring every American citizen who can not repeat the words of "The Star-Spangled Banner" beyond the first verse, to pay into the fund one penny.

The Day In Texas

—By— WILL H. MAYES Austin, Texas

THE bureau of business research of the University of Texas has compiled the date—showing that there was a decrease in the business failures in March, 1928, as compared with the same month last year. This year the failures were 52 in number and in amounts aggregating $909,000; last March there were 59 with liabilities totaling $1,415,000.

The "researchers" have discovered that "the smaller concerns continue to have difficulty in making profits" and "it has been pointed out by some market specialists that this tendency is likely to increase as chain stores are extended." Most of us had guessed as much some time ago.

Topping State Highways Counties that are not taking the necessary steps to secure topping of State highways have themselves largely to blame for not getting a part of the State highway funds for such purposes, though, it must be admitted, some of them are so involved in bond issues that they can do nothing toward meeting the requirements of the Highway Commission.

The fortunate counties that will see roads topped under contracts to be let April 24th are: Kerr and Kimble, 39 miles; Schleicher and Sutton, 47 miles; Coleman, 61 miles, and Taylor 11 1/2 miles.

Wants City Phone Plant Because the Southwest Bell Telephone Company has gone into the courts to secure an order restraining the city from enforcing an ordinance which prohibits public utilities from changing their rates without consent of the city, Mayor Chambers of San Antonio, advocates a municipally-owned telephone system and would favor a bond issue to construct the plant. He characterizes the proposed new schedule of rates as "highway robbery."

Operating under a Delaware charter, the Western Gas Company will build a complete system, to include approximately 235 miles of gas pipe lines, to serve 20 communities in Hardeman, Ford, Knox, Baylor, Haskell, Jones and Fisher counties, which have heretofore been without gas. The company will obtain its gas by purchase from the Northern Texas Utilities Company.

More than 700 claims to the rights to develop nitrate deposits in Presidio county have been signed by Land Commissioner Robinson, which insures the working of a large acreage in that section. These claims are on school lands and were obtained for $10 an acre and a perpetual 2 per cent royalty.

Sodium nitrate is used as a farm fertilizer and but little is produced in this country, most of it being imported from Chile. While it has been known to exist in Presidio county, it has not been accessible to markets because of lack of roads.

Figures compiled by the secretary of the Southern Baptist Convention show that Texas, with 21,628 senior college and university students, leads all the Southern States in numbers, having nearly twice the number of North Carolina which comes second with 11,241. The total enrollment in the 15 Southern States was given as 122,096, which does not include the teachers' colleges. South Carolina leads all others in per capital enrollment having one student for every 199 population, Virginia being next with one for every 346, and Texas coming third with one for every 247.

Hearings are to be held before Texas and Oklahoma officials in regard to the bridge tolls being charged on four bridges across Red River between the two States. Assistant Attorney General Tilley of Texas, states that one bridge last year earned its capital stock from the tolls collected. The two States will endeavor to have the tolls reduced to a point where the tolls collected will produce for the owners only a prevailing interest rate.

It is reported that Al Smith and the Texas Anti-Saloon League have each engaged 40 hotel rooms at Houston for the National Democratic Convention, which would indicate that, financially at least, the wets and the drys have about an even pre-convention start.

The sheriff of Willacy county has captured two full grown mountain lions, which he took into Raymondville alive. He reports that he "got such a kick" out of the experience that he intends to see how many more he can take alive.

BUILDING CODE PLANS ARE DISCUSSED BY CITY COUNCIL

DISCUSSION of plans for a proposed building code and employment of a building inspector occupied City Council Tuesday night. It is proposed to pay the inspector from proceeds of a sliding scale to be charged for inspection. Need of the code and inspector were stressed by City Engineer Mark Ragsdale and City Attorney R. E. Lee, who were instructed several weeks ago to draw up an ordinance covering city building. Several more weeks will be required to finish the code, Judge Lee indicated.

last week to investigate advisability of taking up the blocks or enforcing the traffic ordinance under which the signals are maintained. C. E. Boyett, elected last week as alderman from Ward Two to succeed E. M. Boon, will be installed in office and all appointive city offices will be filled next Tuesday. Several changes in appointive offices are forecast. Votes were canvassed at a called meeting last Friday. A request for improvement of tennis courts in Coggin Park was read to Council, and investigation was promised. C. M. Collier, a patrolman, resigned. Rance Pettit, a fire department truck driver, resigned and is to be succeeded by Orville Bradley. Aldermen Boon and W. M. Baugh were absent from the meeting Tuesday.

The Difference Vitamins Make!

THE BEST IS ECONOMY. Take two birds each fifteen weeks old. The first one ate ten pounds of feed that didn't have the right growth vitamins in it. It cost four cents a pound. That's forty cents for the ten pounds the bird ate. Take another bird the same age—it ate PURINA POULTRY CHOW—Strong in vitamins of life and growth. It ate ten pounds at five cents a pound or 75c for the entire amount eaten. A penny a pound difference is more than usually occurs, and PURINA is worth a lot more than that to you. At the end of the 15 weeks one has not developed the vigor necessary for egg production. While the PURINA Bird is almost ready to lay. TOM HEENEY

TOM HEENEY FINALLY GETS BIG "BREAK" AFTER YEARS

BY HENRY L. FARRELL
NEA Service Writer

AMERICA, the Land of Opportunity has been discovered so many times in real life, plotted so often in fiction and moralized so much from the pulpit and the teacher's desk that the barefoot kid in the sticks and the hard-boiled little egg on the sidewalks of New York think it is a lot of junk.

Their fathers read in Horatio Alger's romantic stories of the utchir: who started out with a tin cup and a one-stringed fiddle and played his way into the master's room of a marble palace near Plaza. Their fathers believed it, maybe, until they found that every time they got a salary kick at the shop the Landlord and the grocer raised his dime in the corner bank. The early hardships of Rockefeller and Ford were their own faults, the kids will tell you, but give them the story of Babe Ruth or Jack Dempsey and they'll eat it up.

The Heroes of Today

Much of the real romance of success today, to the kids' notion, is wrapped around the rise of Babe Ruth from an orphanage, the climb of Jack Dempsey from the rods under a box car, and the graduation of Earl Sande from half-mile tracks in the pasture country where the roof of every barn leaked. And to the fathers of these hero-loving little hard-boiled eggs, the stories of these romances have almost as much appeal.

We always have them in front of us, it seems. Old stories being done over and new ones popping up almost daily. Not so long ago it was Luis Firpo who crawled out of steerage on a boat from South America with a rubber collar in the pocket of a soiled and ill-fitting suit and just a few years returned like a national hero to his native Argentine with one million dollars.

It seemed then these couldn't be any more extremities in romance, but another story, a parallel almost to the punctuation, popped up a few days ago when Tex Rickard announced that Tom Heeneey, a blacksmith from New Zealand, had been selected as the opponent for Gene Tunney in the next fight for the heavyweight championship of the world.

Heeneey's Pursue Not Known

Rickard didn't announce what the challenger would set in purse money for fighting the champion, but the sport fan knows what the challenger's share means in an heavyweight championship fight. Tom Heeneey, careful with his money, need never work again after getting the cut of that fight and imagination doesn't have to be stretched to picture him as a possible new champion and a million a year.

Heeneey's story is not only romantic to the point of fiction, but it features another character almost as romantic, good old Charley Harvey, his manager.

Where Heeneey advanced from a dime to a fortune in a little over a year, poor Charley Harvey has been battling adverse fortune for twenty years. He always figured that his break would come, but he was almost broken beyond repair, physically and financially, before the fates changed for him.

Heeneey and Harvey can tell the most interesting story that has been related in many, many days and there isn't any junk to it. There is the story of two hard-working fellows just trying to get along for years and who finally landed.

At a recent meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Richland Springs public schools, Noble W. Prentice was re-elected superintendent for the school year of 1928-29. Prentice has been connected with the Richland Springs schools for several years and has served as head of the schools there the past two years. Mr. Prentice is a graduate of Daniel Baker College of Brownwood. Since going to Richland Springs, Prentice has served as track coach and has won the district track and field championship the past two years.

During the past year the Richland Springs schools have made great progress. The faculty has been increased from ten members to fourteen and another grade teacher will be added for the next session. The faculty now consists of five high school teachers, seven grade school teachers and three special members, teachers of oratory, piano and stringed musical instruments.

The high school has been granted the fourth unit of affiliation in English, giving it the full fifteen required for college entrance. Work will be submitted for three additional units this year.

Since the beginning of the present school year, a new high school has been built and equipped and the grammar school repaired, to a total expense of approximately $30,000.00. The libraries and laboratory have been enlarged and complete stage furnishings and a piano provided for the auditorium.

The present enrollment for the grammar school is 184 and for the high school 109, making a total of 293 and an increase of twenty per cent over last year's enrollment.

NOBLE W. PRENTICE RE-ELECTED HEAD OF R. SPRINGS SCHOOL and the kids ate more than ever and took up more room.

Now and then the papers in this later generation would dispel some of the cynicism with the optimistic tale of the penniless painter who came through Ellis Island from Poland and who in a comparatively few years bought the Vanderbilt, the Astor, the Ryan and the Frick show places on Fifth avenue and replaced them with a million-dollar apartment.

From time to time the paper hold up to the kids the life stories of John D. Rockefeller, Henry Ford and the founders of million and billion-dollar fortunes.

The kids in this day of high-gear speed and quick action don't want to starve living in a garret, they don't want to wear the older

"PLAIN" MR. HOOVER, HIS HOBBIES FISHING, STORIES

EDITORS NOTE: This, the first of four articles describing Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover, is the fourth in a series of Presidential Campaign Portraits written for The Bulletin and NEA Service by Robert Talley. The second article on Mr. Hoover will appear tomorrow.

BY ROBERT TALLEY
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON, April 12.—The world knows Secretary of Commerce Hoover, Food Administrator Hoover, Belgian Relief Commissioner Hoover, Flood Relief Director Hoover, and a lot of other official Hoovers, but this story introduces plain Mr. Hoover.

Mr. Hoover, now out in the front as a presidential candidate, lives in a big house a few doors from the old S street mansion of Woodrow Wilson, who was his neighbor for several years. He is 54, muscular, does not play golf, has two sons—Allen, a junior at Leland Stanford, and Herbert Hoover, Jr., taking a post-graduate course in business administration at Harvard. He has recently become a grandfather, Herbert Hoover III having arrived on the scene only a few months ago. His one hobby is fishing.

His wife, Mrs. Lou Henry Hoover, is also a Leland Stanford graduate and an accomplished linguist. She speaks a number of languages, including Chinese. They were college sweethearts and each is the only one the other ever had.

BY day, Secretary Hoover sits behind a big, flat-topped, old-fashioned desk at the Department of Commerce Building, puffing on a pipe that has seen better days. By night, Mr. Hoover entertains intimate friends at his home (he dodges formal social events whenever he can) or lies awake until past midnight reading detective stories.

George Akerson, Hoover's secretary, reveals that Hoover's favorite detective story author is S. S. Van Dine, whose famous serials, "The Benson Murder Case" and "The Canary Murder Case" appeared serially in this paper. Hoover also likes biography. He has read Emil Ludwig's works, and when Ludwig was in Washington recently they talked for a long time in Hoover's office.

As an organizer, a do-er and a go-getter, Hoover is a genius, but as a politician he is a poor success. It is hard to imagine him as a campaigner. He shakes hands limply, usually talks with his eyes on the floor or while marking idly on a pad, looks sullen but is merely shy. If he ever slapped anybody on the back or laughed real loud, half of his office force probably would die of the shock.

Hoover approaches every question with the analytical mind of an engineer. Statistics, facts and problems are his meat.

Perhaps that is why he complains that most detective stories are dull because their so-called "mystery" plots are too easily fathomed by the reader.

Perhaps that is why, in addressing the Isaak Walton League, he said that there are caught in this country each year "500,000,000 fish, divided amongst 120,000,000 people, which is not so much as you might think at first, for it is only 4.1 fish per person, and it includes the little ones as well, and each of us eat 1085 times a year."

Hoover is the busiest man in Washington and probably holds more important positions than any other man in the world.

In addition to being secretary of commerce, he is president of the American Child Health Association; chairman of the American Relief Association Children's Fund; chairman of the Commission for Relief of Belgium; chairman of the St. Lawrence Waterway Commission; chairman of Better Homes in America; honorary president of the Isaak Walton League; member of the general committee of the American Red Cross and a trustee of Carnegie Institute and Stanford University.

In the past he has been president of the American Institute of Mining Engineers and has held dozens of other high positions, including that of chairman of the European Food Control and a member of the Allies' Supreme Economic Council and the World War Debt Commission.

He has been granted honorary degrees for public service by 36 universities and colleges; holds eight gold medals from foreign governments, technical and educational societies and is an honorary citizen of Belgium, Finland, Poland, and Estonia. The story goes that King George offered him a knighthood if he would become a citizen of Great Britain.

THE life story of Herbert Clark Hoover begins with an orphan in rural Iowa, both his mother and father having died before he was eight years old. His father was a poor blacksmith, and to this day Hoover bears on his foot an ugly scar showing where he stepped on a red-hot iron when a bare-foot boy.

The orphan was taken in by relatives, equally poor but honest and devout Quakers like his parents. Until he was 10, he toiled on an uncle's farm between Burlington and Cedar Rapids in Cedar county.

Hoover today tells of the old swimming hole under the willows down by the railroad bridge, of coasting down Cook's Hill on sleds in ice winter, of catching rabbits in a figure-four trap and how when fishing with a butcher string line and hooks that cost 10 for a dime, the boys used to spit on the bait for "good luck."

"And there never was a better cook than Aunt Millie," Hoover says. "I have since eaten presumably the very best food in the world as well as the worst, but I am able to say now that if all the cooks of Iowa are up to Aunt Millie's standard—she's a dear old lady now, far along in years—then the gourmets of the world should leave Paris for Iowa, at least for Cedar county."

Fishing is today Hoover's greatest hobby, of week-end he camps down on Chesapeake bay, a short drive from Washington.

WHEN the orphaned boy was 19, another uncle took him to Oregon where he was founding a Quaker colony. A land boom later attracted the uncle to Salem and young Hoover worked in his real estate office there.

In Salem, young Hoover joined the Quaker church, and even today he still holds his "birthright" (as the Quakers call it) and pays his dues there, although he attends a Quaker church in Washington.

Into the real estate office one day chanced a roving mining engineer with an alluring story. Hoover listened and immediately he decided to become a mining engineer. He had saved $200 and with this he set out for Leland Stanford University, then recently opened, to work his way through.

It has been said that at Stanford Hoover earned extra money by waiting on tables and taking care of babies of various professors, but he did neither of these things—although he did nearly every other kind of job that could be imagined.

He organized a system of collecting and delivering the students' laundry. He became instructor in hiring lecturers and musicians to come from San Francisco and give concerts. He did clerical work in the college office as a third means of gaining revenue.

Likely That Two Coleman Murder Cases be Delayed

COLEMAN, April 12.—(Sp.)—A quiet session of the 334th District Court looms here as the first week of civil procedure draws to an end.

Only two murder cases appear on the docket here and according to Judge J. O. Woodward both will likely be continued. D. F. Sanderson, Jr., whose sentence of five years to the state penitentiary in connection with the fatal shooting of his father, D. F. Sanderson, August, 1926, was reversed from the State Court of Criminal Appeals will likely not go to trial this term because of illness in his family.

Lack of material witnesses will also likely continue the murder case of Mary Dence, negro, charged with the death of her husband.

Two Army Flyers Die in Crash at Baton Rouge, La.

BATON ROUGE, Louisiana, April

12.—(AP)—Lieutenant Kenneth Boyd, Washington, D. C., and Corporal Ernest F. Koch, Van Metre, South Dakota, were killed yesterday when an airplane in which they were flying nose-dived 1,200 feet into the Mississippi river. The aviators jumped from the falling plane, witnesses said, but were too near earth to make use of their parachutes. Engine trouble was believed to have caused the accident. The flyers were enroute from the attack group field at Galveston, to Edgewood Arsenal, New Jersey.

where Lieutenant Boyd had been ordered to report for duty in connection with a chemical warfare unit. Lieutenants G. C. McGinley and Walter W. Gross, pilot officers of the third attack group at Galveston were here today to investigate the tragedy.

"13? HA, HA!"

THE number 13 is no jinx to Miss Nell Willhite, South Dakota's first graduate aviatrix and daughter of a well known rancher. She was the 13th student to enroll in the flying school conducted by a Sioux Falls aviation company, 13th to be graduated, and took her first solo flight on Friday the 13th, and after 13 hours of air instruction. She is to establish a passenger line between Pierre and Rapid City.

TO DISCHARGE SEWAGE ONTO LAND, REPORT

COLEMAN, April 12.—(AP)—Following reports from Brownwood concerning alleged improper disposal of sewage in this city, private owners here last night stated that numerous analysis of the water after passing through the plant here, revealed that all health requirements had been met with absolutely no bacteria evident.

However, the city commission of Coleman is reported to be at the present time working on details relative to greatly enlarged sewage systems and a disposal plant that will discharge the sewage on land. Recently Dr. T. B. Bailey, Brownwood city health officer and an associate visited the plant here in company with its owner and at that time expressed themselves as well pleased with the conditions and with the steps contemplated by the city's commissioners in regard to the situation.

The plant in use here is what is known as the aeration system by which air is directed into the water for purification. It is said to be used in cities such as Los Angeles and considered by health experts to be highly satisfactory. "If there is any discrepancy in the sewage disposal methods here, it will likely be rectified with all possible speed," was the opinion of W. J. Coulson, owner of the system here. Mayor E. P. Scarborough could not be reached last night, but it is understood that he is supporting with the other commissioners a revamped system, not primarily for sanitation reasons, but through an ever increasing demand on that particular department.

It was stated in City Council meeting Tuesday night that it was impossible to so purify sewage as to kill all bacteria and that it was imperative that the sewage not be emptied into the creeks which feed the Pecan Bayou. Brownwood's source of drinking water.

Mayor Thompson Not to Resign Chicago Office

CHICAGO, April 12.—(AP)—No matter how severe the ballot drubbing administered to his "America First" ticket in Tuesday's statewide primary election, Mayor Thompson has no intention whatever of resigning. "Why should I resign?" he asked when pressed by newspapermen. The question arose through a campaign statement in which the mayor was quoted as saying that he "might" resign if the Thompson candidate, State's Attorney Crowe, failed to win Republican renomination. He failed. Two investigations of campaign bombings, slayings, thuggery and irregularities were being discussed today.

DALLAS, March 16.—Aid to support a cotton acreage reduction program was voted here by the board of directors of the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton Association, it was announced today. The directors said they would back any "same program which may be worked, but as a result of the initiatory step" taken at the recent Jackson, Miss., mass meeting of Southern leaders.

The time is close at hand for planting Cotton in this section, and reports from many parts of the country indicate that the acreage is being reduced to a minimum, with the majority of farmers realizing the necessity in order to make more money from this Standard staple.

COMMISSIONERS HOLD MONTHLY SESSION TO CONSIDER BUSINESS

The Brown county Commission Court met in regular session on Monday morning shortly after eleven o'clock with three commissioners present. Commissioner C. D. Morrison of May, being absent. The Texas Power and Light Company was granted the right to erect an electric pole line from Austin Avenue, at the intersection of the Indian Creek road, down the Indian Creek road to the intersection of that road with Fourth Street, thence south on Fourth Street to the corner of the Roy Morris property. A petition signed by all residents in that community was read in court together with the application, made by the local light company asking for permission to make the extension granted. County Auditor E. A. Beckham gave his quarterly financial report to the court at today's meeting. Mr. Beckham's report revealed that the county treasurer had received from all sources a total of $180,669.74 during the first three months of 1928. Of this amount $131,515.93 was received from the collection of ad valorem taxes. The report also revealed that a total of $45,234.85 had been received as the county's part of automobile taxes paid this year. Other resources of revenue were as follows: Refunds to general fund, $1,062.10; road work, stray sales, etc., $27,970; fines, jury fees, etc., $1,883.60; interest on deposits, $330.63; received from oil royalties for February, $563.23. The court recessed for the noon hour and was to have met back again at 1:30 this afternoon.

MORTUARY

T. F. SMITH, 75, formerly of Brownwood, and father of E. F. Smith of this city, died in Fort Worth Saturday and was buried there Sunday. He moved to Fort Worth two years ago. Deceased is survived by seven children. He was a member of the Baptist church.

SARAH J. PERKINSON

Mrs. Sarah J. Perkinson, age 81, 1803 Avenue E, mother of Judge E. T. Perkinson, justice of peace of Precinct No. 1, died at her home early Tuesday morning following an extended illness. Mrs. Perkinson had been in very poor health for several months and her condition had been considered grave for several days. Her many friends in Brownwood will join with the family in mourning the death of Mrs. Perkinson, a devout Christian woman, a devoted mother and a friend to all.

Mrs. Perkinson was born in Collinsville, Illinois, December 7th, 1846, and had lived in Brownwood a little more than seven years, having come here from Brunswick, Missouri, where she had made her home for many years. Her body was taken to Brownwood for burial and final services Thursday of this week.

Funeral services were held at the family residence at four o'clock Tuesday afternoon and were conducted by Rev. J. W. Wayne, pastor of the Central Methodist Church, assisted by Rev. C. A. Johnson, pastor of the First Christian Church. The body left here Wednesday morning en route to its final resting place in Dallas, and at conclusion of the morning session seemed in a fighting mood. "Later in the day," he said, "I shall issue a prepared statement" on politics.

The governor said he probably would have considerable to say about Tom Love in his forthcoming statement.

HOUSTON, April 11.—(P)—Governor Dan Moody began an all-day political conference here immediately after his arrival Wednesday from Austin.

"You may say this right now," said the governor before entering a conference with Lynch Davidson, chairman of the Democrats of Houston, and other party leaders favoring the harmony movement, "that I feel even in this short time a great response from the people of Texas, to the call for harmony and unity in the party."

Reports came to me from El Paso to the Sabine and from South Texas to the Panhandle that reveal a tremendous reaction of the right sort. The people of Texas realize that the harmony movement is a practical solution of our political problem.

"My mission on this trip is political—there is no use disguising that fact. After a preliminary conference with Mr. Davidson on our program for the day we shall invite various leaders who are in sympathy with the harmony movement started at Dallas."

The governor said he probably would have time to leave the conference long enough to attend the first ball in the Texas League game this afternoon.

He had no comment to make on a report that Tom Love, Dallas leader of the ultra bone-dry faction, had decided to take the Democratic party pledge.

"I shall give out a statement later in the day, after I have talked with local leaders," he announced. Mr. Davidson treated the report of Mr. Love's change of heart as a trivial matter.

"He's just saying what he has said all the time in different wards," said Mr. Davidson. "He still tells 'em to let their consciences be their guides. The leopard's spots haven't changed."

AUSTIN, Tex., April 11.—(P)—Col. Alvin Owsley, candidate for the United States Senate said here Wednesday that he would be glad to support Governor Al Smith as the party nominee for president.

"I am sure," Col. Owsley said, "that if Governor Smith is elected, I could get much co-operation from him as senator from Texas. I know Governor Smith personally and he has a wonderful personality."

"As Governor Smith has always been in sympathy with the masses, I am sure he would favor the proposition for farm relief which I am advocating, that of the government extending aid to the farmer directly, without the red tape intervention of bureaus and swivel chair politicians, who know nothing of the farmer's 'roubles.'"

DALLAS, Tex., April 11.—(P)—Thomas B. Love, candidate for Lieutenant Governor on the Democratic ticket, today announced that he favors the re-election of Governor Dan Moody and that Al Smith supports will receive no aid from him.

"I am for Governor Dan Moody for re-election because I think he can best serve the cause of good government in Texas by following that course. I am a candidate for lieutenant-governor for the same reason.

"To pursue feuds and the reputation of being a 'fighter' is one thing, and to serve year by year and day by day in the cause of good government is another, and the latter is the only thing in politics worth while for me."

COUNCIL WANTS INVESTIGATION TWO COMPANIES

THE Attorney General's department of Texas will be asked to investigate charges of alleged violation of the anti-trust and monopoly law by two natural gas companies here it was decided in City Council meeting Tuesday night.

While no names were mentioned, City Attorney R. E. Lee, who asked for the investigation, told The Bulletin Brown County Gas Company and Community Natural Gas Company, Brownwood subsidiary of the Lone Star Gas Company of Dallas, were the two companies involved.

"I think I have enough evidence to make the investigation worth while," he told Council. Mayor City Manager W. D. McCulley asked that the Attorney General's department be requested to send a representative here.

It has been repeatedly charged in City Council sessions that the two companies are connected, and as often denied by officials of the two concerns. Thomas B. Longre, president, and two other officials of Brown County Gas recently were acquitted of charges of cutting a street without a permit, a misdemeanor, while action on their franchise still was pending before Council. The company attempted to connect a residence with their mains, and the three officials were charged after they and several workmen had been arrested.

The Brown County Gas franchise was granted last fall but was brought up for repassage when a minor error was discovered. Repassage was refused by Council when Longre declined to include in the franchise a clause voiding it should charges of combination be proved.

While Brown County Gas technically has no franchise under which to operate, it is supplying customers with gas. What course of action will be taken following refusal of a franchise, has not been made public.

Mrs. Longre was out of town Wednesday and could not be reached for a statement.

NEGRO MATE SLAYER DIES

HUNTSVILLE, April 12.—(P)—Chanting a prayer as attendants strapped electrodes on his legs, Willie Fisher, negro, at 12:22 a. m. Thursday was pronounced dead in the electric chair of the penitentiary here as the penalty for killing his wife, Rosa, in Houston in November, 1926.

The negro was led to the death chamber a few minutes after midnight by Assistant Warden Clegg Dewald, who asked him if he had anything to say.

"Now Suh," replied the doomed man, "but would like to say mah prayers."

He knelt before the black electric chair, bowed his head and repeated the Lord's prayer. Then he arose, stretched his arms toward the white ceiling of the narrow chamber and said: "God take me into heaven now, for I am ready."

The doomed man still was chanting prayers when the switch was thrown. His nerve lasted until the end and he never faltered from the time the death march began until he was pronounced dead 11 minutes after the first current was sent racing through his body.

C. W. Wilson and Earl Spivey, negro ministers of Huntsville, spent the last moments with the prisoner. Wilson said Fisher admitted killing his wife, but claimed the slaying was accidental. Fisher could not remember clearly details of the killing, Wilson said.

County School Superintendent J. Oscar Swindle has called a meeting of the County Board of Education for Monday afternoon, April 16, the meeting to be held in his office. At this time the election returns for county school trustees will be canvassed and made known. Several important questions are to come before the school board Monday and Mr. Swindle urges that all members be present and all others who have anything of interest to bring before the board.

Known Cal Since Boyhood, Doesn't Vote For Him DAUGHTY ON SCOUT PROGRAM

"I have known Calvin Coolidge ever since I was a small boy, but I haven't voted for him a single time," said F. A. Leonard, head of the Hot Wells Sanitarium, to a Bulletin reporter Monday morning.

"I was born at Cummington, Massachusetts, and when we moved to the city, it was always to Northampton, the home of Coolidge. When I first remember knowing Coolidge, he was a struggling young attorney in the latter city. He always attended to my father's legal affairs. But I never voted for him during his race for any office."

Mr. Leonard came to Texas eight years ago, shortly after Calvin Coolidge had been elected Governor of Massachusetts.

A demonstration and instruction in first aid, by Dr. Jewell Daughety, was the principal feature of the second session of the Leadership Training Course, at the First Presbyterian Church, Monday night.

Jack Brunberg, scout executive, announced at the meeting that the next session would be held outdoors, in the form of a Boy Scout hike or camp. The men will build their own fires, cook their own meals and do other things that a Scout is taught. The supplies will be furnished every one attending. It was said. The session will be held on Tuesday instead of Monday.

A total of fifty-three men have enrolled since the inauguration of the training course last week, Mr. Brunberg said.
