Mary E. Hofbauer, William Hermes are Married Wednesday

Miss Mary Evelyn Hofbauer became the bride of Clem William Hermes of Camp Chaffee, Ark., in nuptial services performed at 8:30 a.m. in Sacred Heart church Wednesday, Feb. 13. Rev. Father Louis officiated at the double ring ceremony and high mass.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clem Hofbauer of Muenster and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Hermes of Lindsay.

White gladioli and greenery adorned the altar before which the couple exchanged their vows and blue satin ribbon bows marked pews down the center aisle of the church.

Mr. Hofbauer gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a lovely gown of white bridal satin designed with a chantilly lace v-shaped yoke, petal point sleeves and Peter Pan collar. The full skirt fell in graceful folds from the fitted v-shaped bodice, over a hooped underskirt and extended into a chapel length train.

The bride's tiered veil of illusion was finger tip length, held in place by a crown of seed pearls. Her flowers were an arm bouquet of calla lilies, and she carried a white prayer book, a gift from the groom.

For something old and borrowed she wore a handsome gold cross and chain belonging to her grandmother, Mrs. Mike Kleiss, who wore it at her wedding 50 years ago. She completed bridal tradition with sapphire earrings for something blue.

Miss Irma Hofbauer was her sister's maid of honor and the groom's sister, Miss Marcella Hermes was bridesmaid. They wore identical frocks of blue net over taffeta with bouffant skirts and fitted bodices topped with bolero jackets with high standing collars. They wore matching gauntlets and carried colonial bouquets of white Garza mums. Their headdresses consisted of Garza mums and blue net, and they wore rhinestone bracelets, necklaces and earrings, gifts from the bride.

The groom's attendants were his brother, Richard Hermes, best man, and the bride's brother, Denis Hofbauer. Ushers were Julius Hermes Jr., and Larry Hofbauer.

Mrs. Hofbauer attended her daughter's wedding in a gray and navy pin check sharkskin suit with navy accessories and a white carnation corsage. Mrs. Hermes wore a dark blue ensemble with matching accessories and a white carnation corsage. Grandmothers of the couple, Mrs. Mike Kleiss of Muenster and Mrs. Anna Loerwald of Lindsay, also had white carnation corsages.

Breakfast in the home of the groom's parents followed the church services. Guests in addition to the bridal party were the Rev. pastors, the parents and the grandmothers. Decorations and table service stressed the blue and white color scheme.

At noon Mr. and Mrs. Hofbauer were hosts in their home for a dinner for 30 guests. The linen table cloth, napkins, silver and china used on the bride's table was the same used by her mother and father on their wedding day. A three-tiered, decorated cake centered the board.

At five o'clock an informal reception began in the parish hall and supper was served buffet style to about 180 guests. Miss Ethel Mae Bayer, close friend of the bride, presided at the guest book.

Here again the bride's colors of white and blue were used in decorations. The bride's table held the wedding cake flanked with white tapers. Arrangements of Garza mums adorned the tables and held vantage spots throughout the hall.

During the evening the newlyweds left on a wedding trip. They will be back here during the weekend of the 23rd and will leave from here for Fort Smith, Ark., to make their home. For traveling the bride wore a burgundy gabardine suit with white accessories and a corsage of yellow roses.

The bride is a graduate of Sacred Heart High School with the class of 1949. The groom graduated from high school at Lindsay and has been in the army 11 months, stationed at Camp Chaffey.

MRS. RAY WILDE HOSTESS TO GAY MATRONS CLUB

Party rooms also carried out the Valentine theme in decorations and floral arrangements.

Mrs. Arthur Endres won the high score and the galloping awards and Mrs. Francis Wiese received the low score award. Tally cards were heart shaped, edged with lace.

Present were Meses. Arthur Felderhoff, Urban Endres, Val Fuhrman, Arthur Endres, Francis Wiese, Ray Otto, Paul Endres, Pat Hennigan, Bernard Swirczynski, Herman Stoffels and Gilbert Endres.

The American Way by Dr. Alfred P. Haake INDIVIDUALISM

The fashion of the day is collectivism. Called by different names, in every case it means looking to government for our rights and benefits. People who believe in individualism are often laughed at for being old-fashioned, for trusting in God rather than in government. But, no one need apologize for believing in individualism.

It is the truly modern philosophy toward which mankind has been striving for centuries. Collectivism is reactionary, a throw-back to the days of savage tribes which subordinated every individual to the leaders of the tribe. It was to get away from collectivistic tyranny that individualism was born.

In the days of Caesar Augustus human life was cheap and the individual of little or no consequence. The State was paramount, and human slavery was a universally accepted institution. Into that world Jesus of Nazareth brought the philosophy of the INDIVIDUAL, his responsibility to God, and set in motion the long-overdue movement to make the individual the master and the government his servant.

The trend of social evolution took the course of increasing emphasis on the individual. It is toward the status of Child of God that the individual has the opportunity and responsibility of performing his stewardship and the exercise of his personal faculties.

The truly progressive trend is toward greater individualism and the working out of voluntary cooperative controls to protect all individuals. Collectivism is a reversal of this trend in the direction of materialism and atheism exemplified in the glory of the triumphant and all powerful State.

If people really understood both collectivism and individualism, we would be safe from dictatorship. No dictator would arise among a people who believed their rights to be inherent and coming from God. If it DID arise, no dictatorship could live, even with force of arms, so long as men really wanted to retain those rights.

Individualism means we consider the individual human being an entity, or person, in himself and by virtue of merely being born. The individual comes first — the State comes after. That individual possess inherent and unalienable rights to pursue his happiness within a society in which men deal with each other as equals before the law.

It does not mean the individual can do as he pleases without regard for other individuals. There must be limitations on each individual to prevent his destroying the rights of other individuals. It also means we cannot serve the common good, as is often believed, abolishing individual rights; for what we call the common good is the sum total of each individual good. There can be no good except as it is good for individuals. The whole is the sum of its parts. Individuals must be made sound and strong if the whole is to be sound and strong.

Individualism means the right of every individual to own property, to make contracts with other individuals, to speak his mind, either in print or by word of mouth, to meet in assembly with other persons, to worship God, to engage in business or occupation of his own choosing — all subject to common justice — that is to laws or rules which protect and preserve the rights of all individuals from being destroyed by unrestrained exercise of rights by some individuals. America was founded, grew great, will continue to live and grow greater, on that individualism.

A simple way to say it is that we must understand and believe in God and in his laws. A very wise and good man, speaking to individuals, once said it this way: "Seek ye first the Kingdom of God and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you." That is the moral and spiritual basis of individualism.

Airwaves Manna

We live today in a world of hunger. For millions in other lands, it is hunger for food, hunger for freedom. In America, most favored of all, it is hunger for faith, for something to believe in. So, it is little wonder that in this country our best seller is the Holy Bible, and that, for the past six years, our greatest radio program, by most any standard measurement has been the dramatization of the life of Christ, "The Greatest Story Ever Told." It has received every honor that the radio industry could bestow, plus citations and commendations from all sorts of organizations. And it should be noted, to the everlasting credit of our much maligned "commercialism" that this noteworthy program, presented without a commercial message of any sort, without credits to writers, players, technicians or any one else, has been sponsored week after week by a business concern that is very much interested in selling its products to all of us the other six days of the week.

Nation's Farms are Fewer But Larger

The 1950 census showed that we have 713,000 fewer farms than in 1940, but the acreage is larger.

Here are some of the findings: 1950, about 5,300,000 farms compared with about 6,000,000 in 1940; average size, 210.5 acres in 1950, 174 acres in 1940; 3,500,000 farm tractors in 1950 compared with 1,500,000 in 1940; 80% of the farms electrified in 1950 compared with 30% in 1940.

GEORGE WASHINGTON HAS GIVEN US A STERN WARNING

By DR. JOHN A. O'BRIEN
 (University of Notre Dame)

HORACE MANN is generally regarded as the founder of our public school system. Before his death in 1859 he made this statement which may come as a surprise to many:

"If the intellect, however gifted, be not governed by a sense of justice, love of mankind, and a devotion to duty, its possessor is only a more splendid, as he is a more dangerous barbarian. For we are fully persuaded that the salt of religious truth can alone preserve education from abuse."

The rejection of that saving salt, unwittingly brought about by the diversity of creeds and the resulting administrative difficulty, has caused such a decline of morality in our land that educators, social planners, and legislators are now struggling desperately to find a way to restore the lost heaven.

THAT PENETRATING student of political science, Edmund Burke, proclaimed this same truth to the people of Britain, when he declared:

"True religion is the foundation of society, the basis on which all true civil government rests and from which power derives its authority, laws their efficacy, and both their sanction. If it is once shaken by contempt, the whole fabric cannot be stable or lasting."

The voice, however, which will strike the most responsive chord in the hearts of the American people is that of the beloved Father of our country, George Washington.

IN HIS FAREWELL Address, Washington took particular pains to warn his countrymen of the importance of religion for political welfare and as a basis for public morality.

"Of all the dispositions and habits which lead to political prosperity, religion and morality are indispensable supports. In vain would that man claim the tribute of patriotism, who should labor to subvert these great pillars of human happiness, these firmest props of the duties of men and citizens. And let us with caution indulge the supposition that morality can be maintained without religion. Whatever may be conceded to the influence of refined education on minds of peculiar structure, reason and experience both forbid us to expect that national morality can prevail in exclusion of religious principles."

THESE ARE WORDS of melior wisdom, which America can afford to neglect only at a cost of national morality and welfare.

They give witness to the age-old truth that morality is the fruit which grows upon the tree of religion, and that the best way of cultivating that fruit is by nourishing the tree upon which it grows.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Jiggs Gets Four "Hot-Foots"

Cappy Miller's bought himself a new car. We won't be seeing his old jalopy bouncing over the back roads any more. I'm going to miss it, too.

Many a morning Cappy and I drove off in that rattletrap for a day's hunting or fishing. We'd pile rods or guns in back, and prop open the trunk compartment—so Jiggs, Cappy's pointer, could jump in and go along.

They say when Cappy bought the new car home he opened up the hood to show off the engine—and poor old Jiggs hopped right in! Figured it was the trunk. He hopped right out in a hurry, too. That cylinder head was mighty hot.

From where I sit, old habits are hard to shake, once they get a hold. Like, for instance, too many people are still in the habit of trying to run their neighbors' lives—telling them how to act, what to wear, whether or not to enjoy a refreshing glass of beer. I say that kind of thinking's outmoded . . . ought to be turned in for a new model!

Why So Many Decide To BECOME CATHOLICS

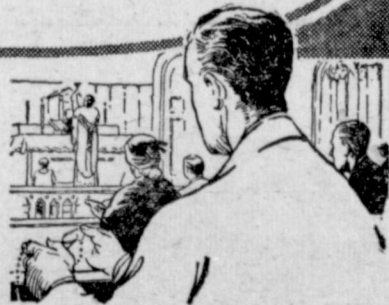

Every week . . . all over the world . . . thousands of people are received into the Catholic Church as converts.

In some cases, they are prominent, even famous people, and newspapers and magazines will interview them to ask: "Why are you adopting the Catholic Faith?" Usually, however, these converts are just average people and nobody bothers to ask them "Why?"

Yet the reasons which prompt the average person to become a Catholic are tremendously impressive. They are worth the most careful study of all who seek the salvation of their immortal souls, and who search for spiritual truth in a world of confusion.

It isn't easy to become a Catholic. It involves more than a mere declaration of faith and regular attendance at a nearby church. Thorough instruction in Catholic beliefs and obligations comes first, and a firm and fervent conviction must be demonstrated. The Sacraments of Baptism, Confirmation, Penance and Holy Communion must follow. And these are only the beginnings of Catholic life and Catholic obligations.

Nobody would undertake to meet such rigid requirements out of mere curiosity, or as a passing fancy. It may be assumed, therefore, that the average person who is thinking of becoming a Catholic has been moved by some strong reasons to feel this way. Is it merely because he has friends and neighbors who are Catholic . . . because the Catholic Church spans the earth and dates back to the Apostles . . . because in the Catholic Church there is unity of creed and worship, authority and a distinctive form of ritual?

Any one of a hundred reasons may be responsible for the initial interest of a Catholic convert. But what is it that prompts so many of them to investigate Catholic beliefs and teachings, and then say to themselves: "This is it!"

The answer comes from the lips of numerous average people who were not originally Catholics but are today. They tell in a clear and understandable way what they found when they looked into the teaching, worship and history of the Catholic Church with an open mind . . . and into the life and teaching of Jesus Christ. They answer questions which may linger in your mind in a way which any non-Catholic can easily understand, for they too once stood on the outside and, in some cases, were even antagonistic to everything Catholic.

 An interesting pamphlet which you cannot obtain elsewhere . . .

describing the experiences of average people who were originally non-Catholics but are now devoted members of the age-old, world-wide Catholic Church . . . explaining how and why they became Catholics . . . how and why the Catholic Faith can aid and enrich your own personal and family life. Mrs. Earl Walterscheid won the five pound box of chocolates given as first prize in the fancy costume contest held in connection with the VFW Auxiliary sponsored Valentine dance. About 30 entered the competition for which orchestra members were judges. The winner's costume was a heavenly blue satin dress with red crepe paper ruffles at neck and sleeves, a heart shaped pep-lum of the red and a border of hearts circling the flared skirt near the hemline.

A large crowd attended the dance which was a benefit for the VFW and the Auxiliary.

ODD BUT TRUE

The watchman, a somewhat dull-witted but loyal fellow, was to be called to testify concerning danger signals. He was primed by the contractor, and when called to the stand swore steadfastly that ample lanterns had been hung in the area. On the strength of his testimony, the case was closed, and the contractor congratulated him warmly. "You did very well, Sam," he commented. "Were you nervous?" "Wal, not exactly, Boss," replied Sam, "but I'll tell you I sure was scared that lawyer feller was goin' to ask me if them lanterns was lit."

WORDS TO REMEMBER

More and more we work not for ourselves but for the state. In time, if permitted to continue, this trend cannot fail to be destructive. For no nation may survive in freedom once its people become the servants of the state, a condition to which we are now pointed with dreadful certainty. Labor, as always, will be the first to feel its frightful consequences. — General Douglas MacArthur.

Lincoln's Advice

"In all that the people can individually do as well for themselves, government ought not to interfere."

So said Abraham Lincoln in 1854 — almost a century ago.

The words are prophetically significant in 1952, when our government seems bent on constant interference with our economic life.

In 1854 the government was helping people to help themselves by throwing open new territories for settlement, promoting the China trade, and initiating good relations with Japan. Federal expenditures that year were about $60,000,000, and a little less than Federal income.

If our 1952 government would confine itself to projects which individuals can't handle, we would avoid Federal deficits on the heels of multi-billion-dollar budgets. The Great Emancipator believed in economic freedom as well as personal freedom. We'd do well to heed his advice.

Soil Conservation Notes

The appearance of clover seed ads in The Muenster Enterprise is always a sure sign that spring is just around the corner. It's a sign of other things too. It shows that the farmers in these parts have learned the advantages of including sweet clovers in the crop rotation for soil protection and improvement. It also shows that the clovers can be a cash crop as well as an excellent forage crop.

Many farmers around Muenster are completing plans to sow sweet clovers and alfalfa on field areas and many will overseed pastures and meadows to biennial sweet clover to provide more and better grazing. Clover is usually sown the first two weeks in March in this area.

The big job of waterway establishment is getting under way in this area. A wide waterway has been staked on the Joe Wilde farm northeast of Muenster and the land has been plowed and prepared for sodding to Bermuda grass.

Emmett Sicking is making preparation to sod a waterway on his farm south of Myra.

New tanks for livestock water have been built on the R. M. Zipper farm north of Muenster and on the C. J. Fette ranch northeast of Marysville.

Many owners of grassland who are cooperating with Upper Elm-Red Soil Conservation district in developing and improving their grasses are making plans to seed retired cultivated land to King Ranch bluestem. Now is the time to do this important conservation job.

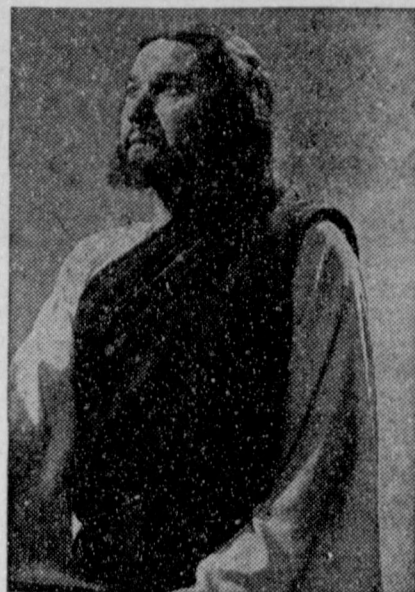

Farmers and ranchers who are planting grass seed include Joe Enderby, 20 acres of KR following a planting of Hubam clover; Paul Rivoire, 30 acres of KR for seed production to use in other retired land; Bill Blanton; 36 acres of the bluestem on land that has been pre-reconditioned with hairy vetch; and Earl Hollandsworth 80 acres of grass seed mixture.

Charlie Strauss plans to increase his KR bluestem acreage this spring using seed he produced last summer.

The Soil Conservation Service, assisting the Upper Elm-Red Soil Conservation District in working with cooperating farmers and ranchers in their grass program have developed over a period of years some important key points which they believe are essential for success:

They are: Use good seed with high purity and germination. Areas that can be worked without danger of erosion should be one-wayed or disked as seedbed preparation. The seed bed should be firmed by rain or roller before seeding. Precondition the land with a legume before grass is seeded, or overseed with adapted legumes after grass has had one season of growth.

All seeding should be done by April 15th. Use special native grass seed drill, lime spreader or broadcast by hand. Very little, if any, soil should cover seed when planting. Protect the seeded areas, especially native bluestem, from grazing during the growing season un-

Joseph Meier as The Christus Passion Play Comes To Auditorium At Dallas, March 1-9

A stage presentation that annually vies with the best Broadway productions, and which boasts a far longer "run" than any other, soon will be given in Dallas by a group of professional actors who maintain the traditional realism of the 710-year-old vehicle. The Black Hills Passion Play is scheduled for March 1st through 9th at the Fair Park Auditorium in Dallas.

Starring the renowned Josef Meier in his heart-warming role as The Christus and supported by a huge cast, the Passion Play brings to Dallas the "oldest story" presented by the world's oldest and most famous cast. The story of the last seven days in the life of Jesus of Nazareth unfolds in 22 scenes. Tons of scenery and unusual lighting effects bring to spectators the feeling of actually being present at the time these immortal events took place two thousand years ago.

Josef Meier, an American citizen since 1938, who is the seventh generation of his family to enact this impressive role of the Christus, came originally from Luenen, Westphalia, Germany, where the play originated in 1242. The entire play is presented in English.

The role of Mary, the Mother of Jesus, is portrayed by Clare Hume, who in private life is Mrs. Josef Meier. Mrs. Meier, an American woman, has achieved acclaim both in this country and abroad, and brings to the role a rare and sympathetic understanding.

The play, which has been termed the greatest dramatic production ever staged depicting the story of Christ, will be presented for nine days here. Premiere performance is at 8:15 o'clock, Saturday, March 1st.

Other numbers on the program were by the Scoutmaster who extended thanks to the Auxiliary for the flag, the troop's pledge of allegiance to the flag and a recitation on the flag by Larry Kathman. The assemblage sang the National Anthem to close the program. Sister Dolores played the piano accompaniment.

A pot luck supper held in connection with the program featured fried chicken, baked chicken and dressing and other delicacies. About 70 persons were in attendance.

MHS Makes Plans For Interscholastic League Competition

Track, field, literary events and baseball are all included in this year's interscholastic program at Muenster High School.

Superintendent Weldon Cowan announced this week that Muenster Hi will participate in the District 40-B track, field and literary meet to be held in Saint Jo on April 3 and 4. Other district members are Saint Jo, Forestburg, Prairie Valley and Callisburg. Events in which the school will compete and the contestants for each event are not determined at this time.

The baseball district, identified as 24-B consists of ten teams. To simplify the schedule it has been split into two divisions of five teams each. Each division will have its double round robin schedule after which division winners will play for the district title. The West Division includes Muenster, Valley View, Whitesboro, Pilot Point and Krum. The East Division includes Collinsville, Howe, Southmayd, Tioga, and Tom Bean.

FFA Banquet

when farmers scoffed at the agricultural experts he observed that the experts are now welcomed by most farmers. The gradual effect of vocational agriculture in schools, he said, has contributed much toward that change.

The program, under the direction of Toastmaster Wilfred Klement, started with a brief report by each officer explaining the duty of his station. Father Louis Deuster gave the invocation and also the benediction at the close.

Larry Joe Walterscheid represented the chapter in extending a welcome to dads and guests and Rudy Hellman represented the fathers in his response. Joe Noggler gave a summary of the chapter's projects.

During the chicken dinner, prepared by Mmes. Joe Lehnertz, Ralph Maglaughlin and Gladys Ashlock and served by the FHA girls, LaQueta Cain and Marcelene Wimmer entertained with piano and vocal numbers. After the dinner Chapter Secretary Billy Whitt presented Ralph Maglaughlin, advisor, with a gift certificate for a new hat and President Wilfred Klement presented a table cloth to the FHA girls for their project room.

The closing ceremony was a group recitation of the pledge to the flag by members and guests.

New Gilbert Studio Will Have Formal Opening Saturday

A formal opening of the Gilbert Studio at 106 W. Elm, Gainesville on Saturday of this week marks the completion of a remodeling and decorating program that started shortly after the location was leased on January 1 of this year.

Owners of the studio are Miss Jo Gilbert and Mrs. Mary Block, sisters, who have been in the photography business for many years. Starting photography as a hobby in their school days, both worked in other studios before 1941 when they set up their own studio at Camp Howze. Since 1946, when the camp closed, they have operated a leased studio in Gainesville.

Along with their years of experience Miss Gilbert and Mrs. Block have taken special training under R. E. Cochrane of Enid, Okla., J. C. James of Houston and the Eastman School of Photography at Winona Lake, Minn.

Miss Gilbert, who has an art degree from TSCW, Denton, has also had courses in glamour photography at Topeka, Kansas, and in heavy oil work at Kansas City. Last April she attended a course in miniature painting in the nationally famous Moore Studios of New Orleans.

Visitors at the formal opening Saturday will have an opportunity to register for an attendance prize, a free oil color portrait.

knows China better than he does. He knows that China wants to be rid of Red Rule, and that he can depend on plenty of guerilla help once he gets started.

The campaign could become a repetition of the Spanish civil war when Franco gathered more and more men as he advanced and eventually ran the Reds out of the country.

The whole situation is baffling. In Europe we fret and worry because the people are so reluctant to cooperate. In Formosa we ignore trained men who beg to cooperate.

Maybe voters this year will settle that problem for the politicians.
