Hornets Run Wild In 31-6 Win Over Alvord Bulldogs

Apparently some of the political big shots in Texas are worried about the number of people who will vote the straight ticket even though their personal preference happens to lean toward Ike.

An indication of that is the newly hatched scheme which, if approved, will enable voters to cast a ballot for Ike in the Democratic column. The idea is to scratch Stevenson's name in the Democratic column and write in Eisenhower, and, of course, scratch Eisenhower's name in the Republican column.

Originators of the idea claim it serves the purpose of allowing a person to vote for Eisenhower and still uphold the widespread Southern tradition of being loyal to the party. But they're not so sure how votes are to be counted. If votes for Ike count for him regardless of the column they are marked in the idea will be all right. But if a vote in a party's column is considered a vote for the party's nominee the idea can not work out as intended.

It all seems so silly. Why this scheming hocus pocus intended to let people kid themselves into thinking they are not bolting the party when a mere ounce of common sense tells them they are? A vote for Ike, no matter how it's disguised, is a Republican vote. Anybody ought to know that much.

Instead of this foolishness the political leaders ought to be working on an honest, straightforward campaign to inform people that there is no such thing as a moral obligation or a sacred tradition requiring them to vote as their papies and grandpapas did.

In the first place that pledge on the primary ballot, which requires support of party nominees in the general election, does not apply to presidential candidates. Courts have ruled on that. People did not vote on presidential nominees in the primary, so the pledge cannot be regarded as applying to presidential nominees.

This widespread erroneous belief violates the basic principle of free choice in an election. For any Texan it's equivalent to saying that a person cannot participate in a local election unless he agrees first to vote Democratic in the presidential race. Does that make sense?

Another bit of information that might be spread to counteract this loyalty yackety yack is the plain fact that the straight ticket isn't even a matter of tradition, and hasn't been for a long time. A Democratic vote now isn't the same as a Democratic vote of yesteryear. The name is the same, but that's all.

Original principles have been cast aside and replaced by bureaucracy, socialism and radicalism of various sorts. Actually the Republican party today is much nearer traditional Democratic principles than the Democratic party is. So how do they justify the drive about party loyalty? Politicians, not we common people, are the ones who violated loyalty. They stole a good name, tacked it to socialism, graft, corruption etc. Meanwhile they tricked us into going on in support of the old name.

But we're gradually wising up. More and more people are realizing that real loyalty . . . that is to Democratic principle instead of name . . . is a vote for the Republican ticket.

Out of the Nixon affair comes one of the most wholesome signs of what to expect if and when Ike gets into the White House. It is deeply significant that Ike did not brush off charges against his running mate with a sneering denial such as Harry made on several occasions. Ike promptly said let the man prove himself, and he left no doubt that Nixon must clear himself to remain on the ticket.

That's the kind of principle we want to see in the White House. We want a man who will demand exposing the facts on any person who is under suspicion. In other words we want a man who puts loyalty to country ahead of loyalty to cronies. We'd have fewer reds and crooks in

12 Boy Scouts Pass Advancement Tests

Twelve boy scouts of the local troop passed tests for advancement this week, and others are working for merit badges that will be awarded during a court of honor on October 20.

Hiking to the scout camp on the Danglmayr Ranch and passing cooking tests Sunday were Dan Hamric, Giles Trubenbach, Tim Mosman, Gerald Pels, Gene Schoech, Cecil Wolf, Melvin Kaiser, Melvin Wilde, Gene Hartman, Johnny Fette and Bernard Hesse. Scoutmaster Nick Miller accompanied the boys.

Monday night Larry Hofbauer went before a board of review, passing tests for merit badges for pathfinding, camping and pioneering. This completed his tests to qualify for an Eagle Scout rating. He is the second boy of the Muenster troop to qualify for this honor. Randy Bayer qualified in August.

News of Sick And Injured

Danny Owen, son of the Clarence Owens, had an operation for appendicitis at Saint Jo Clinic Monday.

Mrs. Joe Luke underwent nose surgery Friday at Gainesville Sanitarium and was dismissed Saturday evening. She broke her nose the previous Saturday in a fall at her home.

Miss Florence Fette was permitted to leave St. Paul's Hospital for a weekend visit here with her parents, the Joe Fettes and family. She is improving steadily from polio and doctors believe she will be sufficiently recovered in about three more weeks to be dismissed from the hospital and spend her time convalescing at home.

August Walterscheid entered veterans hospital in McKinney Monday for a check-up. He will be there about a week. His wife and their daughter, Mrs. Norbert Koessler, took him to McKinney.

Claude Bayer, 8, son of the Johnny Bayers, was dismissed Sunday from the Baylor Hospital in Dallas, where on Thursday he underwent eye surgery. About two weeks ago the youngster was hit in the eye during play. He didn't complain until several days later and was taken to Gainesville for examination which revealed that the eye had hemorrhaged internally and a blood clot had settled over the pupil causing blindness. Treatment to dissolve the clot was unsuccessful and surgery became necessary. Doctors at Baylor said the operation was a success and that Claude's vision will not be impaired.

Carolyn Voth, 14, daughter of the Ben Voths, entered Baylor Hospital in Dallas for medical treatment Monday. Her mother, joined by Mrs. Agnes Gordon of Sherman and Miss Viola Kuhn of Lindsay, took her to Dallas.

Mrs. Marcus Fuhrmann was permitted to leave St. Vincent's hospital for a weekend visit with her parents, the Henry Luebs in Kenefic, Okla. Her husband went to Sherman to take her to Kenefic. Her two small daughters were also there. Mrs. Fuhrmann is recovering from polio that afflicted her on June 30. Paralysis has loosened up in her arms and she has good control of the muscles there but is unable to walk. She will be measured for leg braces in about a month.

The Earl Walterscheids and his mother, Mrs. C. M. Walterscheid, visited in Dallas Thursday with their little son and grandson, Chris. It was the mother and grandmother's first visit with the boy since he contracted polio on Sept. 5. They visited him again Sunday at Parkland Hospital and find him improving rapidly. His doctor, reporting by phone on his condition Tuesday, told the parents Chris had started walking again and that he could probably come home this weekend.

Miss Louie Schmitz of Craig, Colo., is here for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Schmitz. She is on a two-week vacation.

TD on First Play Gives Eagles 7-0 Win Over Tigers

On their first offensive play of the game the Catholic High Eagles of Texarkana beat the Sacred Heart Tigers on the local field Friday night.

And they were lucky to win. From that point on the little Tigers, outweighed an average of 15 to 20 pounds per man, out-fought and outplayed their visitors and missed several good chances to even the count.

In first-downs the Tigers led 6 to 3 and in total yardage they led 89 to 81. Their chief weakness was failure to connect on at least 3 passes when the intended receiver was in the open with a long chance to score. Another was lack of goal line punch.

As the game opened the Eagles appeared to have a cinch. Jerry Henscheid's kick return for 20 yards was followed by a net loss of 5 on three plays and a blocked

The American Way

BOOT ON OTHER FOOT

By George Peck

In his speech at Portland, Oregon, on September 8th, Governor Adlai E. Stevenson denounced what he feared was the development of "a one-party press in a two-party country." He went on to assert that the "overwhelming majority" of the American press opposed Democrats "automatically," and he ridiculed the contention of some editors that a Democrat victory this year would endanger the survival of the two-party system.

In stating that a vast majority of the press is clamoring for a Democrat defeat in November, the Democrat Presidential nominee is correct. He could not however, be more wrong in his deduction that this is a menace to the two-party system. On the contrary, this insurgence of the editors against continuing the Democrat administration in power for another four years indicates that if the two-party system is to survive, there must be a change of administration come next January 20th.

The fact that many editors who steadfastly supported the Democratic ticket through the third and fourth terms of Franklin Roosevelt and the re-election of Harry Truman in 1948, have now come to the conclusion that if "the mess" which is festering in Washington today, is to be cleared up, it can only be done by a complete change of administration.

These editors do not for a moment doubt the sincerity and integrity of Adlai Stevenson, but they have serious doubts, in fact, they feel certain that if he is elected, try as he will, he will not be able to do the over-all, thorough job of house-cleaning that is essential to saving this nation from complete moral, political and economic disintegration.

To give the Democratic Party another four years in power during which to further entrench itself could well sound the death knell of the Republican Party and put an end to America's two-party system. That is why so many editors have temporarily switched their allegiance to the Republican Party. They feel, and with good reason, that with the demise of the opposition party, it would not be long until freedom of the press would follow it to the graveyard.

None of these editors maintains that all of the grafters and wasters are contained within the Democrat Party and that if elected, all of the Republicans would be without sin. Should the Republican Party triumph at the polls on November 4th, not too many moons will have waxed and waned until many of these same editors will again join hands with the opposition in pointing out flaws, as they will inevitably develop, in the administration of the country's affairs by the party of the elephant.

All of us can be eternally thankful to the gentlemen of the press. They are the watchdogs who keep our elected representatives on their toes, and failing this, lead the fight to dehorse them.

Even the Democrat Party itself is on record to the effect that it is bad business for the nation to maintain one political party in power for too long a period of time. In 1884, after the Republicans had been in power for sixteen years the Democratic Party platform had this to say:

"The Government should not always be controlled by one political party. Frequent change of administration is as necessary as constant recurrence to the popular will.

"Otherwise, abuses grow, and the Government, instead of being carried on for the general welfare, becomes an instrumentality for imposing heavy burdens on the many who are governed, for the benefit of the few who govern. Public servants thus become arbitrary rulers."

Doesn't that put the boot on the other foot? Well, at any rate the newspaper editors of that day called for a change and the voters apparently decided that the Democrats had "something" when they drew up their 1884 platform, because in November of that year they elected Grover Cleveland, a Democrat, to Presidency. They felt it was time for a change.

It is a safe guess that none of the Democrat candidates are going to quote the 1884 platform of their party in their campaign speeches. That platform, incidentally, justifies the position taken by the present day press which Governor Stevenson decries. Yea, verily, it is time for a change!

OIL BUSINESS

The demand for oil increases every year.

Americans need more oil for more automobiles, for more airplanes, more ships, more high speed locomotives and more of many things besides.

And just as one merchant competes with another for your business, oil companies compete for it, too—for the gallons of gasoline and quarts of companies vie with each other to develop low cost transportation. Refineries compete to supply more and better oil products. Salesmen compete on the basis of quality products and the service rendered.

It's a good thing, this competition, a healthy thing. It is the life of the oil business; it keeps the industry vigorous, progressive, enterprising.

But its chief benefit is to you and other Americans. Competition within the oil industry discovers and develops a natural resource necessary not only to modern living but to national defense. It supplies you and the country with continuously improved petroleum products; today, two gallons of gasoline do work that required three in 1925, but the gasoline costs no more than it did then.

motor oil you buy; to supply the ships, the locomotives, the industries, the airplanes.

The competition is intense, and it spreads throughout the industry. Oil companies compete with each other to find and produce more oil. Pipe line

Soil Conservation Notes

It's bound to start raining again at the end of this dry spell . . . at least that's the opinion of some of the farmers cooperating with the Upper Elm-Red Soil Conservation District to install soil saving practices on their farms.

In anticipation of the coming rains, terraces are still being built to protect sloping cropland from erosion by run-off water. Arthur Hellman has just completed construction of 2.2 miles of channel type terraces on his farm operated by Henry Grewing. These broad easy-to-cross terraces will protect about 50 acres of farmland from soil losses caused by excess run-off water. The terraces outlet onto pasture sod.

Alfred Sicking is using a crawler tractor and plow to work his new terraces up into shape so they will handle the winter and spring rains, and C. M. Walterscheid is building 2400 feet of field terraces on his farm north of Muenster.

A mile of terraces has been laid out on Alfred Bayer's farm one mile north of Muenster. These terraces will empty into a waterway along a natural drain that was sodded to Bermuda grass three years ago.

Terraces are also being built on the Gus Sicking farm south of Muenster and on the Gus Lutkenhaus farm south of Myra.

A farm pond to furnish water for livestock has just been completed on the R. M. Davidson farm at Marysville. The pond will impound water from a spring and is already filling up. Hubert Felderhoff is enlarging the pond on his farm at Era and Bruno Fleitman and Johnny Bayer recently cleaned and deepened ponds on their farms.

Rain fell near Forestburg recently and put some good moisture in the ground. Cooperators in that fortunate area are taking advantage of the favorable moisture conditions to sow vetch and rye for winter ground cover and early spring grazing. Ben Perryman had sown 25 acres of vetch and rye and Howard Sledge has sown 30 acres of vetch on cropland and on pasture land.

DHIA Records Show Steady Production In Summer Months

The Cooke County Dairy Herd Improvement association maintained a high standard of production in spite of the dry, hot summer months, according to reports released for the months of June, July and August.

Sixteen herds were tested each month. The number of cows in milk dropped from 402 in June to 380 in July and to 355 in August. Monthly average is figured on total number of cows in a herd including both fresh and dry cows.

In June Tony Nehib's herd was tops in production with Alfred Bayer's second and Raymond Porter's third. The following month Raymond Porter's cows topped the production list, Peter Prescher's were second, and John Knabe's third. In August Porter's herd again led with Alfred Bayer's and Richard Frasher's tying for second place, and Jimmy Ralston's coming in third.
 Individual high producers of butterfat during the three month period were, for June, Ira Smith's R26 with 65 pounds, Alfred Bayer's Nancy 64, and Paul

Fisher's Jackie 62.
 In July Jack Barnhart's 103 topped butter fat production with 80 pounds, and Peter Pres-cher owned the second and third high producers averaging 66 and 67 pounds.

In August Richard Frasher's Susie led with 56 pounds, Barnhart's 71 was in second place with 55, and John Knabe's Horny tied with Porter's Jane for 50
 pounds.

The August summary shows that there are 490 cows in the association.

Tigers Lose - - -

kick giving the Eagles the ball on the Tiger 22.

The next play was the visitors' only completed pass and their longest gain of the contest. Ciganiero tossed to Hunter who ran across without being touched. The kick for the extra point was good and the score stood at 7-0.

The Tiger come-back was good but not good enough. Gilbert Knabe started it with a 25 yard kick return to the 41. A short gain and a penalty made it first down on the visitors 48. Gilbert Knabe almost got loose but was hauled down after a 27 yard gain. Albert Knabe's 1 and Mollenkopf's 9 made it first down on the 11, but the Eagles braced there and took the ball over on downs on the 14.

Catholic Hi made it first down on the 28 in three plays but kicked when the next series failed. Sacred Heart's ball on its 41.

A gain and a penalty made first down on the Eagles 49, but the advance halted in the next series. The Tigers kicked and regained the ball on the Eagle 27 after the receiver fumbled.

Held again, the Tigers kicked, Mollenkopf's aim just missing the coffin-corner and rolling into the end zone, and the ball went into play on the 20.

The Eagles reached first down on the 33 in 3 plays then failed again on the next series and lost the ball on downs on the 40.

Gilbert Knabe's 29 returned the Tigers to scoring position for the second time and for the second time the attack bogged down when it counted most. Four tries netted 3 and the Eagles got the ball on the 8 just before the half ended.

The second half was a stalemate, neither team completing a first down until near the end of the game.

Sacred Heart kicked but the Catholic High receiver fumbled and Hennigan recovered. Tigers ball on the Eagle 38.

Three Tiger tries lost 6 yards and they booted. Eagles on their 10. Two plays gained 9 but the Eagles fumbled and Sacred Heart recovered on the 19.

Again the goal line attack failed. Four tries netted 5 and the Tigers lost the ball on downs on the 14.

Catholic Hi kicked after failing to gain. Tigers' ball on their 46. Again no gain and Sacred Heart kicked. Eagles on their 34.

The kick following 3 unsuccessful plays was high and bounced back to the Eagle 46.

Four Tiger attempts gained 7 and the Eagles got the ball on downs on their 39.

Catholic high kicked after a penalty and two incomplete passes. Tigers on their 39.

Sacred Heart failed to gain and kicked setting the visitors back to their 20.

Three plays reached the 30 but Catholic Hi had to kick on the next series. Tigers on their 41.

Two penalties made it first down on the Eagle 49 and 3 more plays added 9 but a fumble and Catholic High's recovery brought the game to an end.

Mrs. Claude Cannon and Mrs. R. J. Samples attended a training meeting for home demonstration club food chairmen in Gainesville Friday. Miss Bernice Puckett gave the demonstration on new master mix recipes.

office now if Harry had followed that policy instead of resorting to angry denials.

Incidentally, one queer development since the Nixon incident is Adlai's refusal to list contributors to his special fund. What's wrong? Is there something irregular about the source and circumstances of those "donations"?

Hornets Win - - -

Alvord recovered on its 34. Two line plays gained 10 but the next series fizzled and the Bulldogs kicked to the Hornet 37. A pass Hamric to Fleitman for 12 yards ended the half.

Alvord received to open the next period, Nivens returning 4 to the 34. Chestnut picked up 9 and Nivens' fumble on the next play was recovered by Muenster on Alvord's 47. Richey and Noggler carried for 12, then Hamric passed to Richey for a TD.

Receiving again Alvord followed with a first down on its 31 and kicked when the next series failed. Short gains by Whitt, Meurer and Jones made a first down on the 50, but the drive was short. Jones kicked into the end zone, giving Alvord the ball on the 20. Two plays later the Bulldogs fumbled and Muenster recovered on the 25. A pass to Fleitman picked up 16 and Hamric carried the rest of the way. The final quarter, with Muenster playing several reserves, was mostly a deadlock broken only by Nivens' 51 yard touchdown run after intercepting Hamric's pass.
