

Miss Evelyn Vogel
And Clifford Otto
United Saturday

Miss Evelyn Vogel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Vogel, and Clifford Otto, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Otto, exchanged marriage vows in Sacred Heart church at 8:30 Saturday morning, Oct. 11. The day marked the silver wedding anniversary of the bride's parents.

Rev. Louis Deuster officiated at the double ring ceremony and at the nuptial high mass. Anthony Luke, organist, played the wedding marches and assisted the church choir in rendering music for the mass. White mums and greenery adorned the altar. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a lovely dress of nylon net over satin. Appliqued flowers in nylon adorned the bodice which was designed with a drop shoulder effect. The applique flowers also adorned the ballerina length skirt that terminated in a ruffle of permanent pleats. The bride's tiered veil was of illusion and her gauntlets were of nylon. She carried an orchid surrounded by white stephanotis, and wore a single strand of pearls borrowed from a close friend, Miss Maxine Hatcher of Gainesville.

Attendants for the couple were Miss Norma Vogel, sister of the bride, and Herbert Otto, brother of the groom. Walter Becker and J. P. Flusche were ushers.

Miss Vogel wore a dress of dusty rose taffeta with a circular skirt topped with a overskirt of matching nylon net. The fitted bodice was sleeveless with a stole effect of nylon net. Her flowers were white chrysanthemums in a colonial bouquet.

After the church services members of the bridal party, their parents and the pastors were served a wedding breakfast in the home of the bride's grandmother and great-aunt, Mrs. Emil Vogel and Miss Lena Kleiss.

A reception, beginning at 3:30, was held in the parish hall honoring the bridal couple and her parents. Miss Maxine Hatcher presided at the bride's book, and Mrs. Robert Beyer of Lindsay, daughter of the Vogels, presided at the silver wedding anniversary book. They registered 150 guests. A buffet supper was served at 5:30.

The hall was adorned to carry out the bride's colors of dusty rose and white, and the honor couples' table held identical cakes. Each was three tiered; the newlyweds' was topped with a bridal figurine and the Vogels' was topped with a silver 25. They were placed at alternate ends of the long table. An arrangement of mums and candles formed the centerpiece.

Mrs. Vogel wore a back ensemble with matching accessories and a corsage of salmon colored gladioli.

Present to help them celebrate the occasion were their attendants of 25 years ago. His brother, Al Vogel was best man and her niece, Mrs. Arthur Endres (Angeline Hartman) was maid of honor. After the meal the honor couples displayed many lovely gifts and then cut the two cakes, which hostesses served with coffee to those present.

When Mr. and Mrs. Otto left on their wedding trip to New Orleans the bride was wearing a navy blue suit with navy accessories and the orchid from her wedding bouquet. They will make their home at 202 Davis street in Gainesville when they return.

Both are graduates of Sacred Heart High school. Mr. Otto served two years in the army tank corps with 17 months of duty in Germany. His wife has been the bookkeeper for F. E. Schmitz Motor company for several years.

Among out of town guests at the wedding were the bride's brother, Wilbert Vogel of Bergstrom AFB in Austin, her sister, Miss Lillian Vogel of Fort Worth, the Carl Lukes of Hereford, and the Artie Arendts, F. E. Schmitz, the Tony and Al Reiters, the Ben Ottos, the Henry Luttmers and Harold Corcoran, all of Gainesville.

Nothing Completed

Efforts of the Air Force to secure ultra-modern radar fire-control equipment for the guns of its 600 mile-an-hour B-47 stratojets have ended in failure, the loss of undisclosed millions of dollars and more than a year's defense-time Undersecretary Roswell L. Gilpatrick has admitted.

Five contracts, dating back as far as 1946, have been abandoned since the contractor has been unable to produce the Goldbergerian devices on which he bid. As a result, the same company is now producing an "interim" gun control, though, as yet we do not have a single completely equipped stratojet wing in the Strategic Air Command.

This little incident suggests that the delays in our whole arms program may be largely due to insistence on equipment that is still theoretical. While no officer wants to authorize armament that may be considered obsolete by the time it's delivered, we do believe they still teach the boys at West Point that you can't shoot a gun you haven't got.

American Children
Under 9 Have 284
Million Bad Teeth

One-half of all children between three and nine have never been to a dentist, according to surveys, and the State Department of Health tags that as one reason why there are some 284 million cavities in the teeth of American kids between those ages.

Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, recommends these four rules as a method of getting children into sound dental health habits:

1. A well-balanced diet with consumption of sweets kept to a minimum. Sugar in excessive quantities produces the destructive mouth acids that cause dental decay.

2. Proper tooth brushing, beginning at an early age. This means brushing the teeth within ten minutes after eating.

3. Early detection and care of dental defects. This will prevent larger troubles later. Neglect may produce serious dental problems which will continue throughout life.

4. Either access to drinking water from a community water system containing the proper amount of fluorides for tooth decay prevention, or application of sodium fluoride to the teeth at periodic intervals. Children who drink fluoridated water from birth have from one-half to two-thirds less tooth decay than those who drink fluoride-free water.

Mrs. Victor Hartman and daughter, Patsy, went to Denton Thursday for a visit in the home of her daughter, the Keith Tompkins, and helped Sharon celebrate her birthday. She was three years old. They will remain until Sunday when Mr. Hartman and the Alvin Hartmans go to Denton for a visit and bring them back home.

Mayor and Mrs. John Hoffman, their daughters, Miss Gladys Ann, and Mrs. Earle Otto and little daughter, Elaine, visited in Wichita Falls Wednesday.

Chris Yosten, three-year-old son of the Werner Yostens, received medical treatment at Gainesville Sanitarium this week.

Rufus McElreath received medical treatment at Gainesville Sanitarium this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Schmitz of Lindsay visited relatives and friends here Wednesday afternoon.

Americans as a whole are highly susceptible to tooth decay by virtue of their diet, the state health officer points out. As a matter of fact, dental authorities say, this country has often been called "a nation of dental cripples." They urge all parents to realize that so-called "baby-teeth" are vital to good dental health in adulthood.

WHO'S WELL OFF?

None of the political candidates now bidding for votes has, to my knowledge, used the most powerful appeal—the promise of a living standard for everyone twice as high as today's. It isn't something government can do for us but it definitely is something the private enterprise system can achieve in a nation having the right kind of governmental leadership—wise and courageous management of government under sound governmental policies. People have a normal longing for prosperity and plenty. It is basic—fundamental—in human nature. Thus the promise of a better life is powerful.

In the American system the key to prosperity is production. There are two kinds of production—production for war and production for normal peaceful use. Beginning in 1938, when Hitler's Germany made its first warring moves our nation began to build up a war production prosperity. Most of us can remember that in 1938 the depression that had begun in 1930 had been only slightly relieved, in spite of extreme measures taken by government. In fact, in 1938 we still had 10,000,000 people unemployed.

War Spending

In 1938, even with its huge expenditures on depression projects, the Federal government spent only $6.9 billion. But late that year Hitler's aims became clearly evident. Our military spending leaped upwards. In 1939 the government spent $8.9 billion; in 1940, $9.2 billion. Then, with Hitler on the rampage in Europe, we went all out. War production and spending rose to the greatest height in history. The government spent $13 billion in 1941, $34 billion in 1942, $79 billion in 1943, $95 billion in 1944, $98 billion in 1945, and $60 billion in 1946.

Everybody got more dollars. We had a war prosperity. But our nation was paying a ghastly price in human lives and resources. Our battle casualties reached the awful total of 948,574—which means an average of 20,000 casualties for each of our 48 states. And the war swiftly stripped us of a tremendous amount of our natural resources. Nowhere was this more strikingly demonstrated than in Arkansas where a 25-35 year supply of aluminum ore was clawed out of the earth in a period of months.

Another War

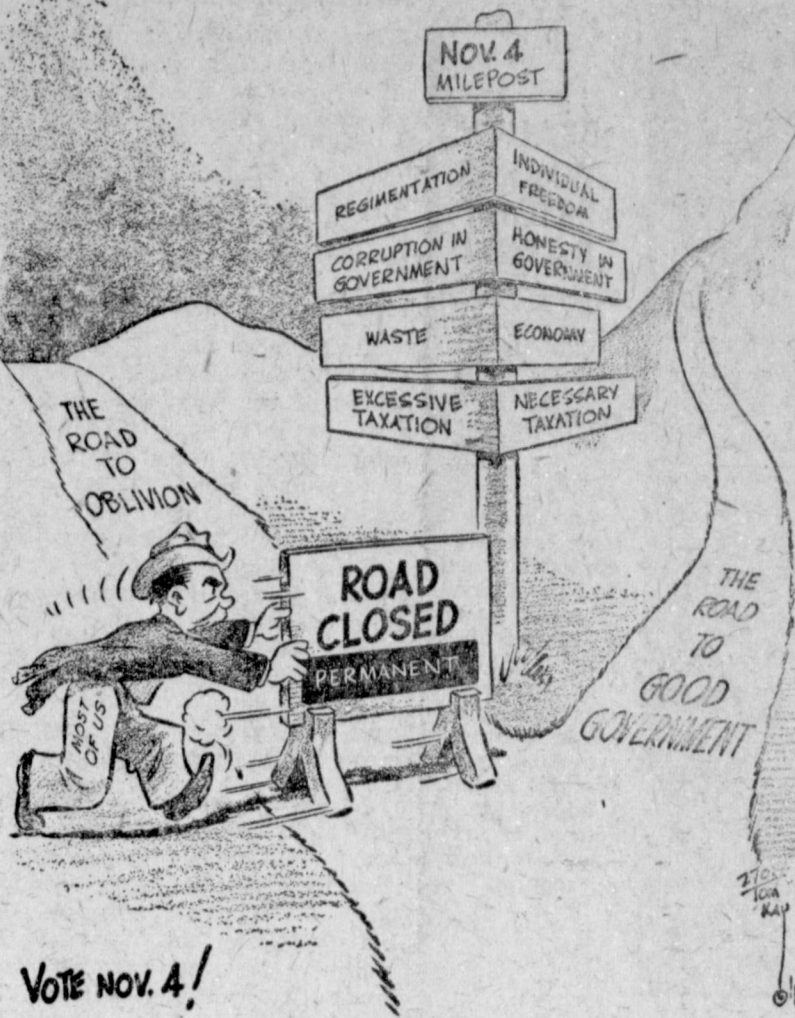

The World War II spending had hardly subsided when American soldiers found themselves fighting another frightful war—this one in Korea. And to the amazement of most American citizens, our government disclosed that our great stores of World War II armaments had been wasted away. Our men fought for months in Korea before renewed war production could supply them with sufficient weapons. Now we're back up to an $80 billion Federal budget with most of the billions going for war material.

We have great volumes of dollars in circulation and most people have more of them than before Korea, but the dollar's purchasing power is constantly dropping and the latest casualty report from Korea shows that 120,000 American men have been maimed or killed. Obviously a war production prosperity is not desirable. So the most powerful political appeal that a candidate could make would be the presentation of a logical program for transforming the war "prosperity"—which isn't really prosperity at all—to a sound peacetime prosperity that will continue to improve everybody's living standard.

It Could Be Done

Some may feel that only a miracle could accomplish this. Actually, intelligent and courageous leadership could go a long way toward accomplishing it. Two key requirements would be necessary: (1) the relieving of the immediate threat of all-out war with Russia; and (2) the restoration of the healthy production incentive that has made America the richest and most powerful nation on earth in a comparatively short time, and her people the best clothed, fed, housed and educated.

In short, if we would whittle government and taxes down to their proper size, give the proven American enterprise system an open field for productive expansion,

VOTE NOV. 4!

VOTE! Close That "Left" Road Forever

sion, and establish a common-sense policy for coping with the Communist menace, at home and abroad, our future would be far more secure and far brighter than we find it now when we examine all the factors in our present war production "prosperity." Yes, top flight leadership in American government could influence the opening of a great new era of progress and guide the world toward the lofty Christian goal of world peace.

American Educators Demand Return To God

THE NEED for moral training in the American school is compelling school administrators to rethink the relationship between religion and American education.

The issue is too serious to be treated casually. Sincere Americans favor a return to the American tradition of making religion an integral part of education.

FOR SOME REASON, however, the typical American school official loses all historical sense when he discusses the nature and origin of the public school itself. He affirms, over and over again, that the school must be "secular, and that religion has no place in it.

One gets the impression that the American people set about deliberately to eliminate religion from American education.

Nothing could be further from the truth.

THE FOUNDERS of this Nation, the noble men and women who endowed it with traditions, had no intention of secularizing American education. When they made the financial support of the school a function of local government, they acted for good reason.

They insisted upon the local control of education so that they could be assured of the continued existence of what they regarded as the most important element in the school program, the religious and moral training of their children.

THE AMERICAN TRADITION is that every American school promote respect for religion. This nation was conceived and brought forth by men of profound religious convictions. In the providence of God this nation has prospered so that it is acknowledged by almost all other nations to be the beneficiary of God's choicest blessings.

It remains to be seen whether the nation's children can reach the high destiny ordained for them by Almighty God. Much will depend upon the fidelity of the schools to the American tradition of respect for religion.

LET THE SCHOOLS be closed on important religious holidays. Let the children be excused to assist at church services. Let the name of God be respected within the precincts of every American school.

Let no child be embarrassed because of his religious belief. Woe to any teacher who is guilty of disrespect towards religion. (by Most Rev. James H. Ryan.)

OCT-12-18 THIS IS OIL PROGRESS WEEK

Progress 1952

Texans have a natural interest in the oil industry, which is so important in our State, and in the progress made since Oil Progress Week was last observed.

Here are a few quick facts:

New Wells—During the twelve months ending August 31, 1952, the Texas oil industry drilled 17,000 new wells, at a cost of over $700 million. Most of the heavy expense of drilling these new wells was paid from earnings plowed back into the development of the State's oil resources.

Transportation—The total mileage of Texas' trunk pipe lines for oil and finished products is over 29,000. This low-cost transportation system is a major factor in the maintenance of the low prices you pay for petroleum products.

Production—Production has reached a record level. Texas currently is producing about 46 per cent of all the crude oil produced in the U. S. In the year ending August 31, Texas production totaled about 1,015 million barrels. There are now 133,800 producing oil wells in Texas.

Reserves—Proved oil reserves in Texas of 18-billion barrels represented 57 per cent of the U. S. total at the beginning of 1952. During 1951, the last year for which figures are available, proved reserves increased two billion barrels. These are developed oil reserves and the figure is important: developed reserves supply our needs currently and provide reserve capacity that is immediately available when we need it.

Refining—The Texas refineries will have a big year. They now employ, in round numbers, 46,000 Texans, and process about 28% of all the oil refined in the U. S. The daily refining capacity of all Texas refineries exceeds 2,000,000 barrels. A program to expand and improve these facilities has been general throughout the industry.

Taxes—The Texas oil industry continues to be the largest tax-payer in the State. Through the year ending August 31, gross production taxes alone on Texas oil and natural gas amounted to more than $137 million; in addition, the industry pays large amounts in other taxes.

HUMBLE
TEXAS OPERATIONS

Average Production, in barrels daily	330,100

Humble Pipe Line Co. operates 5,895 miles of trunk lines for oil and finished products, which had transported a daily average of 722,600 barrels in the year ending August 31.

In brief, the Texas oil industry during the past year continued to do its part in meeting the demand for oil. It has expanded pipelines to provide low-cost transportation. It has improved facilities for making more and better petroleum products for your use. Today, two gallons of gasoline do work that required three gallons in 1925; and the gasoline costs no more than it did then.

By adding 28,600 civilians to the Federal payroll during June—more than 1,000 per working day—the government raised the number of its employees to 2,603,300, the Civil Service Commission announced.

If the Federal government piles up debt and creates inflation at the 1939-1952 rate, we may have a 28-cent dollar by 1965 instead of the 53-cent dollar we have now, according to an NAM research study.

Some time ago you may recall the President's explaining how hard he worked at his job, and likening himself to a character he said was buried at Tombstone, Ariz., and whose epitaph read: "Here lies Jack Williams, he done his damndest".

And if you think that is a lie, big or little, that grave-marker is out there for you to see. The people of Tombstone erected it after Harry had spoken.

Poor Eyesight May Cause Poor Grades

Poor eyesight can make a child "slow" in school. Uncorrected visual defects can cause a normally bright youngster to dislike school, fall behind in his class and become self-conscious about playing sports and games, says Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

A child, will rarely complain about poor vision. It may be blurred, he may see double, yet in three cases out of four, he will not tell anyone because he does not know how well he should see. That is why it is so important for parents and teachers to know the symptoms of eye trouble. An intelligent child may be victimized by poor vision both at school and with his playmates.

Too often a youngsters' eyes are neglected because no one knows that they will need care, Dr. Cox points out. For this reason, visual tests should be continued throughout the child's school career.

Some of the symptoms which may mean that a youngster has eye trouble are:

1. Rubs eye often, attempts to brush away blur.
2. Becomes irritable when doing close work.
3. Blinks more than usual, stumbles or trips over small objects.
4. Is over-sensitive to light; can't play games requiring distance vision.
5. Red-rimmed, encrusted or swollen eye lids.

When any of these symptoms are present, those responsible for the child's condition should have his eyes examined at once. Early correction will save many days of unpleasantness and possibly blindness.

For Bumper Crops Underground

Again it's harvest-time. And again, as from time immemorial, the good earth has provided, despite drought and flood, for the needs of its children. But not all the abundance has come from the surface. In this twentieth century we should consider too the harvest of petroleum that has come from beneath, and how close the relationship of the two crops has become.

If our oil crops were to fail, six million more farm workers could scarcely replace the trucks, tractors and self-propelled implements now on American farms. . . to say nothing of the horses and mules we haven't got, or the extra tillable acres we would need to feed them. But, because American oil men, like American farmers, learned the knack of making two blades of grass grow where one grew before, they were able to provide the two-and-a-half billion barrels of petroleum needed last year to keep our nation's economy and our defenses strong.

We can readily visualize one barrel of oil, or a dozen; but how can anyone conceive of 2,500,000,000? That amounts to more than one barrel for every member of the human race present on this earth, or to get back home where we need and use this much, it means approximately two gallons for every man woman and child every day in the week.

This huge accomplishment may be fine, for now; but America doesn't stand still. Just as the farmer faces the challenge of feeding more and more people off the same ground, so the oil industry must plan to produce twice as much by 1975. That's why the American petroleum industry is spending four billion dollars of its own money this year, in proving new oil lands, drilling new wells, improving refinery methods, building new refineries, more tankers and pipelines, in buying more trucks and opening more service stations.

By adding 28,600 civilians to the Federal payroll during June—more than 1,000 per working day—the government raised the number of its employees to 2,603,300, the Civil Service Commission announced.

If the Federal government piles up debt and creates inflation at the 1939-1952 rate, we may have a 28-cent dollar by 1965 instead of the 53-cent dollar we have now, according to an NAM research study.

Some time ago you may recall the President's explaining how hard he worked at his job, and likening himself to a character he said was buried at Tombstone, Ariz., and whose epitaph read: "Here lies Jack Williams, he done his damndest".

And if you think that is a lie, big or little, that grave-marker is out there for you to see. The people of Tombstone erected it . . . after Harry had spoken.

Poor Eyesight May Cause Poor Grades

Poor eyesight can make a child "slow" in school. Uncorrected visual defects can cause a normally bright youngster to dislike school, fall behind in his class and become self-conscious about playing sports and games, says Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

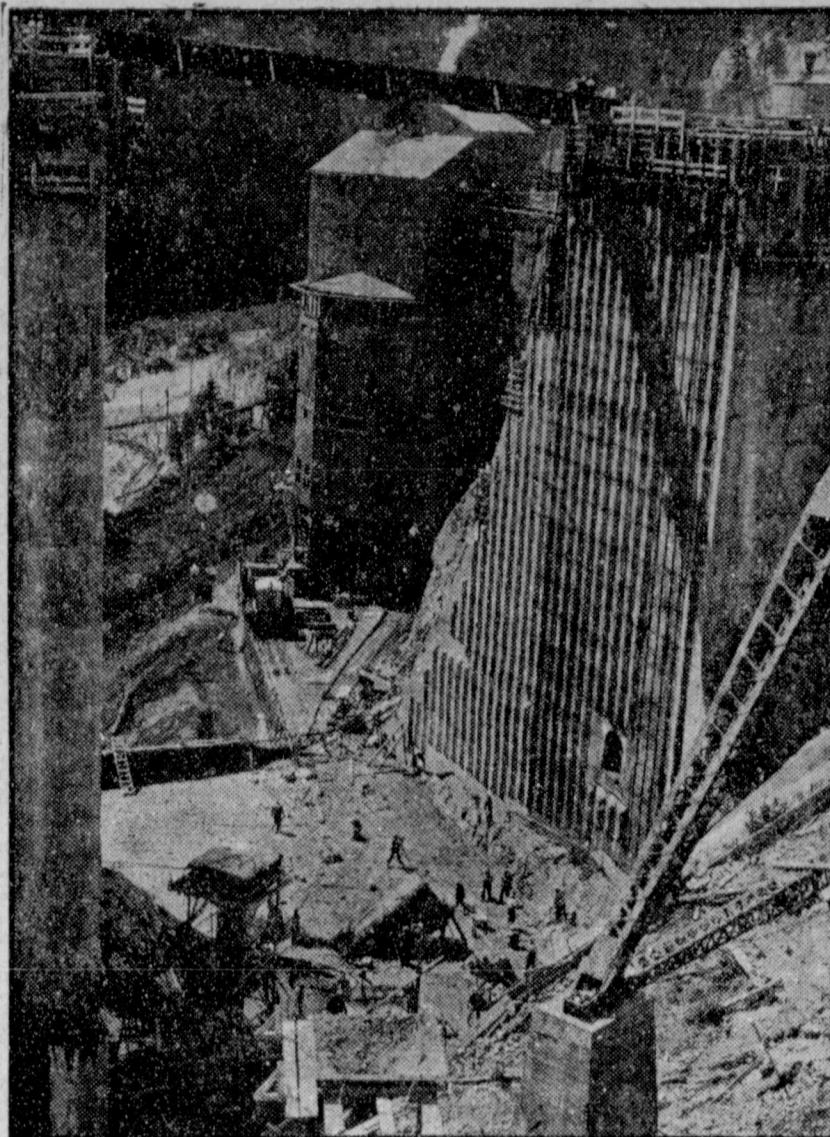

A child, will rarely complain about poor vision. It may be blurred, he may see double, yet in three cases out of four, he will not tell anyone because he does not know how well he should see. That is why it is so important for parents and teachers to know the symptoms of eye trouble. An intelligent child may be victimized by poor vision both at school and with his playmates.

Too often a youngsters' eyes are neglected because no one knows that they will need care, Dr. Cox points out. For this reason, visual tests should be continued throughout the child's school career.

Some of the symptoms which may mean that a youngster has eye trouble are:

1. Rubs eye often, attempts to brush away blur.
2. Becomes irritable when doing close work.
3. Blinks more than usual, stumbles or trips over small objects.
4. Is over-sensitive to light; can't play games requiring distance vision.
5. Red-rimmed, encrusted or swollen eye lids.

When any of these symptoms are present, those responsible for the child's condition should have his eyes examined at once. Early correction will save many days of unpleasantness and possibly blindness.

For Bumper Crops Underground

Again it's harvest-time. And again, as from time immemorial, the good earth has provided, despite drought and flood, for the needs of its children. But not all the abundance has come from the surface. In this twentieth century we should consider too the harvest of petroleum that has come from beneath, and how close the relationship of the two crops has become.

If our oil crops were to fail, six million more farm workers could scarcely replace the trucks, tractors and self-propelled implements now on American farms. . . to say nothing of the horses and mules we haven't got, or the extra tillable acres we would need to feed them. But, because American oil men, like American farmers, learned the knack of making two blades of grass grow where one grew before, they were able to provide the two-and-a-half billion barrels of petroleum needed last year to keep our nation's economy and our defenses strong.

We can readily visualize one barrel of oil, or a dozen; but how can anyone conceive of 2,500,000,000? That amounts to more than one barrel for every member of the human race present on this earth, or to get back home where we need and use this much, it means approximately two gallons for every man woman and child every day in the week.

This huge accomplishment may be fine, for now; but America doesn't stand still. Just as the farmer faces the challenge of feeding more and more people off the same ground, so the oil industry must plan to produce twice as much by 1975. That's why the American petroleum industry is spending four billion dollars of its own money this year, in proving new oil lands, drilling new wells, improving refinery methods, building new refineries, more tankers and pipelines, in buying more trucks and opening more service stations.

Certainly we could ask for no more impressive demonstration of confidence in this country of ours and in the free enterprise system that has made it great. The St. Anne's Mission Circle has reorganized after a period of inactivity, and Mrs. Frank Yosten has accepted the chairmanship.

The Circle plans to quilt for the missions, beginning in the near future. The meetings will be held in Mrs. Yosten's home. She stated Tuesday that there are two quilts for sale and that the ladies would like to do custom quilting.

At present four pieced tops are on hand but the circle lacks linings and cotton. The sale of the finished quilts, and receipts from custom quilting would enable the circle to buy the materials needed for mission quilting. Anyone wishing to contribute to the cause is invited to see Mrs. Yosten.

Present were Mrs. Tony Gremminger of Münster, Mrs. Alice Hemmi of Mrs. Catherine Morbitzer of Scotland, and his son and daughter-in-law, the William Weinzapfels of Windthorst. Tigers Win - - - placement because of an injury. As the game ended they were worn down to a frazzle but they had the double satisfaction of holding the team that specialized in offense and scoring on the team that specialized in defense.

Victory for the Tigers came in two thrilling plays just as the second quarter opened. Gilbert Knabe got loose on a gallop from the Tiger 35 and reached the Mick 5 before he was cut down. A pass Endres to Henscheid on the next play produced the only touchdown of the game and Mollenkopf's kick added an extra point.

With the exception of those few plays the first half was a deadlock played mostly in the Tiger end of the field. Sacred Heart received and fumbled on the first scrimmage play. Laneri gained short yardage in four tries and lost the ball on downs. The Tigers kicked after failing to gain and so did the Micks. Again the Tigers kicked but regained the ball on a Laneri fumble in midfield. Another series failed to gain and Mollenkopf booted to the Laneri 19.

Three plays netted 8 and the Micks kicked but an offside penalty against the Tigers gave them a first down. The next series failed and Laneri kicked to the Tiger 35. At that point Knabe broke loose and set up the lone TD.

The rest of the quarter was more of the same deadlock. Laneri kicked after failing to gain but regained the ball on a Tiger fumble on the Tiger 18, but gained only 2 in four more tries against the stiffened Tiger defense.

Taking over on downs the Tigers made short yardage and kicked to their 40, then held again, limiting the Cowtown boys to 5 yards in 4 tries.

A penalty on the next series gave Sacred Heart a first down. Mollenkopf kicked as the next series failed and Laneri again lost the ball on downs as the half ended.

The second half opened with the deadlock still in effect. Laneri lost the ball on a fumble . . . Sacred Heart kicked . . . Laneri kicked . . . Sacred Heart fumbled.

That was on the Tiger 45 and the next several plays went deep into Tiger area. A scramble for a pass was ruled as interference and Laneri got the benefit of a completion for 25 yards gain. Four line plays made it first down on the 10, a smeared play and two gains netted 1 and Felderhoff broke up a pass across the goal line.

Then the Tigers went into action, uncorking a steady drive from their own 9 to the Micks 5 before losing the ball on downs. Laneri failed to gain on the next series and kicked to their 29. Sacred Heart returned to the 19 for another first down but their scoring threat was broken up as Laneri intercepted a pass.

Then the Micks advanced. First down in 3 plays to the 31 . . . a kick on the next series and recovering the ball on the Tiger 40 . . . another first down on the Tiger 30 . . . but then a fumble recovered by the Tigers back on the 35.

That was the end of the scoring threats. The Tigers kicked to Laneri 37. Micks lost the ball on downs on the 40. Tigers lost the ball on a fumble on the 38. Laneri completed a neat pass to the Tiger 33, but four more downs failed and the Tigers took over on their 25 as the game ended.

KNIGHTS OBSERVE OCT. 12
Knights of Columbus Council No. 1167, comprising Gainesville and Lindsay, attended Mass and received Holy Communion in a body at St. Peter's church Sunday in observance of Columbus Day. St. John's Mass was sung by the church choir accompanied by Mrs. William Schmitz at the organ. About 75 members attended. After the church services, members of the Christian Mothers society served breakfast and school children presented a Columbus Day program.

Peewees Will Play - - little fellows lost 7-0 at Saint Jo and tied Callisburg 7-7 here. Judging from those tussles both of the coming games should be dandies.

The little fellows, some weighing as little as 100 pounds, are showing the type of skill and spunk that promises real talent on teams hereabouts in years to come.

Local boys expected to play in the two contests are D. Kaderli, Dick Cain, Don Flusche, Clifford Swirczynski, Lawrence Milner, Jimmy Harris, David Reiter, Jimmy Hellman, Robert Meurer, Wallace Dougherty, Hubert Richey and Jimmy Biffle.

Confetti - - toward success in Korea? Does our standing policy of allowing Moscow to call the tune in international affairs contribute toward peace anywhere in the world?

No matter how much Harry and Adlai rave about peace, we still believe that a change in administration cannot bring any more turmoil than we have had. In fact the Republicans have one big point in their favor. They are not committed to boners that have been made.

And how about the formula for prosperity? "Don't let them take it from you," the donkey boys are braying. As if you can keep blowing and blowing on a bubble without ever bursting it.

Before being taken in by that line let's consider for a moment whether we really have prosperity. If a man's debts are so big that he's on the verge of bankruptcy, do we consider him prosperous? Even when he is living like a king? Well, doesn't the same principle apply to a nation? Is any person silly enough to believe that this system of make-believe prosperity can go on and on? Even now the government can't borrow enough money. It has to make more and more paper money, causing more and more inflation. That's the sure way to ruin, and anybody knows it.

Well, that's the outfit that has the colossal presumption to talk to you about prosperity.

There's no sense in allowing ourselves to be kidded about this hocus pocus of national prosperity. In the last analysis it's no different from private business. The man who works hard and saves and cuts out unessential spending is the one who gets along. The one who loafs and borrows and lives high eventually goes on the rocks . . . unless he changes his ways in time.

As a nation we may be mighty close to the rocks now. It's high time to take on a management that will direct our economy more wisely.

The administration and Adlai don't like to discuss that, of course. They say instead that the individual never had it so good. To which we have to admit that we're living quite comfortably . . . in spite of the administration, not because of it.

Let's bear in mind that developments in farming and industry have raised our standard of living, and we'd enjoy more of the fruits of those developments if we did not have to worry with a meddling, spendthrift government. It's true we never had it so good, but it's also true that we have less than we are entitled to.

made by Dyer, Turner's sprints accounted for almost all of Valley View's substantial gains and his tackles contributed most in preventing a higher Hornet score.

Valley View received the opening kick and booted after short yardage. Then followed an exchange on fumbles and Muenster headed for its first score. Jones went over after gains by himself, Noggler and Richey for 59 yards. A pass for extra point failed.

TD number 2 started with recovery of a fumble on the Eagle 34. Noggler made 5, Jones 11, and Hamric's pass to Noggler completed the drive. Noggler's kick at this time added the Hornets' only extra point of the game.

A short gain and a penalty gave the Eagles a first down on their 40 and two beautiful runs by Turner netted two more first downs to the Hornet 24, but defense held there and the Hornets took over on their 19. Ten plays covered the distance to the next TD. Richey went over for the score.

Valley View apparently broke into the scoring column at this point as Turner evaded a half dozen tackles on his 60 yard sprint to the goal, but an offside ruling nullified the play. Two plays later Muenster recovered a fumble but the clock stopped another drive.

As the second half opened Muenster promptly marched from its 47 to the goal. Hamric scored on the fifth play.

Three plays later Noggler intercepted an Eagle pass and dashed 35 yards to another TD.

Turner returned the next kick-off on a beautiful dodging run to the Hornet 41, then kicked after three plays failed. Again Muenster went on the march advancing 50 yards to the 20 then losing the ball on downs. Turner gained 17 on two plays, then Muenster recovered a fumble on the Eagle 40. Six plays reached the goal, Whitt going over for the TD.

Taking the kick the Eagles promptly marked up their only score. Turner carried three times for a total of 19 then slipped the pigskin to Dyer who got loose for the 46 yard pay-off dash. A pass added the extra point.

The Hornets were going strong on another drive, from their 40 to the Eagles' 28, when the game ended.
