Over 400 Visiting Children Expected At Scholastic Meet

Muenster, Saint Jo and Callisburg are the principal contenders in the interscholastic league track and literary meet which is expected to bring more than 400 visiting school children to Muenster this Thursday and Friday. Since last week two other schools, Forestburg and Caps Corner have announced their intention to compete, but they are entering fewer events than the other three schools.

The meet started at 9 o'clock Thursday with tennis matches in the gym. Events are both singles and doubles for junior boys and girls and senior boys and girls. Saint Jo and Muenster compete in the first 8 contests and Callisburg takes on the winners in the next 8 matches. The last four of these matches are scheduled for Friday afternoon.

Next on the program is a one-act play contest Thursday night in the auditorium. Muenster appears at 7 in "Be Home by Midnight". Callisburg, at 8 o'clock, presents "Sparkin'" and Saint Jo comes on at 9 with "Minor Miracle".

Remaining literary events continue Friday morning and include: Declamation in sub-junior and senior divisions for both boys and girls; Number Sense in elementary and high school; Debate for high school only; Extemporaneous speech for

Volley Tourney Ends Band Fund Benefits

The volley ball tournament last weekend ended the series of band benefit promotions sponsored by the Lions Club since last September. Proceeds of the tourney amounted to $105.02, which fell $20.62 short of the amount needed for final payment, but the shortage was made up by a public spirited citizen who, according to Weldon Cowan, prefers to remain anonymous.

As expected, school kids emerged as champs in both divisions of the tournament. FFA had little trouble beating the Senior boys two straight and Senior girls also won two straight over the VFW Auxiliary.

In semi-finals FFA boys beat PTA men, Senior boys beat the Juniors, Senior girls beat the Sophomores and VFW Auxiliary beat the PTA ladies.

Two Cars Burn

Two car fires near here during the weekend resulted in the loss of one automobile and painful burns to its driver, Mrs. Lloyd Barnhart of Marysville. The other car and its occupants fared better, they had help from the Muenster Fire Department.

Mrs. Barnhart, driving to town at noon Saturday in the 1946 Chevrolet belonging to her brother, Charlie Winchester, tried unsuccessfully to put out the blaze before going for help. When help arrived the car was a total loss. Mrs. Barnhart was taken to Gainesville Sanitarium for treatment and was kept overnight.

The other car, a '46 Pontiac, belonged to a family of six enroute to Texarkana from Lubbock Sunday afternoon.

A dragging brake shoe is said to have caused the fire. The car was on the highway east of Muenster at the Andrew Schoech farm.

Upholstery was burned out and a two-wheel trailer containing clothing and household items was badly damaged; but no one was injured and the family continued on its way Monday morning after replacement of a few wires.

Dairymen Invited to Field Day at Dallas

Dairymen especially, and any other interested person, will have a chance to see modern dairying from A to Z at a field day sponsored by the artificial breeders farm of Dallas on April 11.

Those intending to go are asked to make reservation at the county agent's office before April 1. A Cooke County caravan to the event will leave from the court house at 8 and return about 5.

DOLLS FOR THE DUTCH—Rag dolls for little Dutch girls are presented to Baroness De Vos Van Steenwick, wife of the Netherlands consul general in New York City. Donors are 4-year-olds Vivian Albright, at left, and Bianca Rivera. The 60 toys were made by children in a New York day nursery who sympathized with the flood-stricken children of Holland.

Mothers Honored at Annual Banquet of Local FHA Chapter

Forty-three mothers were honored guests of their daughters Monday night at the annual Mother-Daughter Banquet of the Muenster-FHA chapter in the library at the public school. Ninety-eight members and guests enjoyed the Western Round-Up, theme of this year's party.

Guest speaker for the event was Mrs. Onieta Pierce of Denton, Area 5 supervisor of the Future Homemakers of America. Her help enabled the chapter to get affiliation the first year. She is a favorite speaker for local FHA events and this was her third appearance as guest speaker at the annual banquet. She spoke on "Future Homemaking" and paid special tribute to the senior class of 1953, the last charter members.

Western theme decorations included leather jackets, cowboy hats, boots and lariet ropes in the windows; two saddles in vantage spots, potted cactus and daffodils. Bronze statues of horses and cowboys adorned the tables. Fancy, miniature boots, filled with nuts and "corn", and attractive "saddle" programs marked each place.

Musical numbers were presented by Carol Hellman, Mildred Fisher, Edna Swirczynski and Mary Nell Hellman as a quartet, and by Pauline Myrick, soloist, who paid special tribute to mothers with the song "Mother". Everyone joined in the group singing of western ballads.

Joan Klement, president, was toastmistress; Mrs. R. P. Cain led the invocation after the opening ritual; Doris Reiter extended welcome, and Mrs. Rudy Hellman gave the response. Lynette Walterscheid gave the benediction.

Wilfred Klement, FHA Sweetheart, was introduced and was presented with a gift.

The western menu consisted of barbecued chicken, baked beans, relishes, potato salad, apple pie a la mode and coffee. The meal was prepared by FHA members under the supervision of Miss Patsy Ann Scott and Mrs. Joe Lehnertz and was served by FFA boys wearing blue jeans, western shirts and cowboy boots.

Building And Improvement Notes

The latest new house for the city is the future L. A. Bernauer home started Monday on Fifth a block west of Main. It will be a 3-bedroom brick veneered house.

Another new job started this week is a 32x50 quonset type barn with 23 foot shed attached on the Bruno Fleitman farm north of town.

Nearing completion is Nick Miller's new funeral home east of the ball park. Carpenter work is finished and painting is due to start in a few days.

Summer School to Be Held Here, If ---

Summer school courses may be available this year at the Muenster Public School. It all depends on whether enough students, or parents, are interested to justify the course. Superintendent Weldon Cowan said Wednesday that it can be arranged for as many as ten students.

The possibility developed this week when one student asked for a chance to earn an extra credit during the summer. After thinking over the request Cowan decided that the class is feasible if enough students will enroll.

Since the school budget does not provide for summer courses the school would have to charge tuition. The charge decided on would be $10 per student for one subject during the six weeks course. The charge for additional subjects would be $5 each.

Mr. Cowan said that according to state regulations a student can earn a half credit during that six weeks course. A student who failed a subject in either the first or second half of the school year can make up the lost time.

For most students, Cowan said, the principal value in summer school is the opportunity to strengthen their weak subjects.

Children from the third to the twelfth grades will be accepted. School hours will be 9 to 12 Monday through Friday, and students will spend that time working problems and exercises in their subjects. The instructors will work as a private tutor, making assignments and giving individual help whenever it is needed.

Courses will be limited to academic subjects . . . no commercial, vocational nor scientific subjects. Cowan also pointed out that students from both the local schools are welcome to enroll.

Students or parents desiring further information are urged to see Superintendent Cowan.

Trustee Candidates Slow to Announce

With the deadline for filing candidacies still five days away, the ballot for the Muenster Independent School District trustee election is still blank. Two trustees are to be elected for the positions now held by E. S. Lawson and Earl Robison.

The deadline has passed and the ticket is complete for elections to the county school board. Earl Robison is unopposed as Precinct 4 representative on the board, but Precinct 3 is due to have a race. James Abner Enderby and Rich Kirby are the contenders.

When Mrs. Ray Evans returned from a visit with her sister, Mrs. Howard Couch and husband in Detroit last Thursday she was accompanied by Mrs. Couch for a visit here. Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Evans and Mrs. Couch drove to Madill, Okla., for a visit with Ray's mother.

Condensed Milk, New FMA Product, Assures Continued Milk Market Here

Beginning early next week, perhaps late this week, the FMA cheese plant will be in the milk condensing business.

Engineers at the plant have almost finished installing about $30,000 worth of new equipment which will bring welcome relief to the FMA's recent marketing problems and at the same time assure a continued market to local Grade B milk producers.

Plant Manager Rudy Hellman said the Garland plant of the Kraft Company is ready to accept about 17,000 pounds of condensed milk daily from here. The milk will be used principally in making Kraft caramels.

The new set-up will enable the plant to handle as much as 50,000 pounds of additional milk per day. That is the volume needed to make the daily allowable of condensed milk.

In the meantime the plant can continue making cheese for Kraft up to the volume that can be produced from local milk receipts. Because of a large cheese surplus all over the nation the company recently asked FMA to discontinue outside purchases of milk but agreed to continue accepting cheese made from local milk. That arrangement is still in effect.

However, there are other problems in cheese marketing. Because of the surplus prices are lower and orders are slower. FMA has a considerable surplus of its own awaiting Kraft orders.

The change at the FMA plant will gradually eliminate the local cheese surplus. With the first 50,000 pounds of daily receipts going into condensed milk, there will be less cheese made. Regular receipts now are about 60,000 pounds a day. That will leave 10,000 for processing into cheese. Allowing for higher production when outside milk comes in during the flush season, the average will still be considerably less than before.

Another result of the plant change will be a big increase in cream production. Heretofore a few cans a day were produced, as a by-product in reducing the butterfat content of milk and also by salvaging the left over butterfat from whey. A larger percentage of cream is taken out before condensing the milk and the total daily volume is expected to jump to 70 or 80 ten-gallon cans. The cream will be sold mostly to large butter plants in Oklahoma.

The plant had to make quite a number of additions and changes to get into the condensing business. Principal units are a cream

News of Sick And Injured

Felix Becker was dismissed from Gainesville Sanitarium Monday, 12 days after major surgery, and is up and around at his home.

Mrs. Mollie Walterscheid was dismissed from Gainesville Sanitarium Sunday evening and is convalescing at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John Wieler. She still spends most of her time in bed, but is up in a wheelchair for short periods each day.

Mrs. August Friske is back in Gainesville Sanitarium again after suffering another heart attack Sunday. She was recovering at her home from earlier heart attacks that sent her to the hospital on March 1. Her daughter, Mrs. Joe Luke, is attending her bedside.

Howard Gibson, employe at Endres Motor Co., was back on the job Wednesday after being off duty since last Friday when he was hurt in a freak accident during work. He lost an eye tooth and knocked two other teeth loose when a coil spring popped out and hit him as he opened the trunk on a car.

Miss Margaret Mary Schad, 15, daughter of the Al Schads of Gainesville, underwent surgery at Gainesville Sanitarium Monday.

Dale Wilde was in Dallas Monday for a regular check up and is progressing well enough to exchange the long leg brace for a shorter one. His mother, Mrs. Richard Wilde and his aunt, Miss Marie Lutkenhaus went to Dallas with him.

Sister Alberta, a former local teacher and on the staff at St. Joseph's school in Rhineland this year, has been seriously ill in Bethania Hospital in Wichita Falls but is recovering and will be dismissed this week if her condition continues improving.

Best Rain of Year Measures 1.48 In.

Plant life in and around Muenster got a dandy assist Tuesday from the best rain of the year. Light rains with a few fairly heavy downpours scattered through most of the day, measured 1.48 at Steve Moser's official rain gauge.

That brings the month's total rainfall to date to 2.46 inches and puts the top soil in excellent condition though it still falls short of supplying adequate moisture to subsoil. Previous rains for 53 amounted to .52 inch in January and 1.08 in February . . . 4.06 for the year so far.

As a result grain and pasture prospects are good and row crops have a good seed bed waiting. Gardens too are thriving, and the big problem concerning them now is a shortage of seed potatoes. Lots of folks are still waiting for theirs.

Workers Named for Red Cross Drive

Facing a $475 quota with a late start this community will have to work fast to complete the 1953 Red Cross drive before the end of the month.

However, the drive is organized and due to start immediately. The solicitors are Miss Olivia Stock, Mrs. Lawrence Roberg and Charley Hellman, H. L. Jackson and Edgar Klement.

The delay resulted from the inability of E. S. Lawson, who headed the past three campaigns, to serve as community chairman. His present work keeps him out of the area every day. When Lawson discovered he could not serve he turned over his file to J. M. Weinzapfel, member of the county Red Cross board of directors. With time running short Weinzapfel took over the chairmanship job.

Notify Cowan If Child Was Missed In Scholastic Count

Are there any scholastic age-children in the Muenster School District who have been overlooked in the current school census? If so Superintendent Weldon Cowan would like to be notified.

Cowan said Wednesday that he has enumerated all but about a half dozen families, so far as he knows. But he is not certain that he has listed all the little tots who are reaching school age this year, especially if such children have no brothers or sisters on previous scholastic records.

As a check on himself Cowan compares his new list with the old one to be sure no previously listed child has been missed. In every such case he has inquired whether the family has a child reaching school age this year. However he has no check on families not on last year's scholastic roll, hence is not certain that he has listed all new scholastics of such families.

Parents who know that their child has been missed are urged to notify Mr. Cowan at once.

PTA Elects Officers

With one exception the Muenster PTA retained all its officers in an election held at the regular meeting Tuesday night. L. B. Bruns is parliamentary successing Ralph Maglaughlin. Officers re-elected are Mrs. Ervin Hamric, president; Mrs. John Mosman, vice-president; Mrs. Al Wiesman, treasurer; Mrs. M. D. Kaderli, secretary.

A new project started by the organization is the purchase of uniforms for the band. Members voted to start the fund with $120.

One of the better signs of the times is the increasing frequency of reports of prayers at public gatherings or important meetings. President Eisenhower got off to a good start with an inspiring prayer at his inauguration. Secretary of Agriculture Benson is due equal commendation for opening a crucial conference by invoking divine guidance.

And now comes a report from some town in New York where restaurants are printing prayers on their menu cards. There are three prayers, so the item says, for Catholics, Protestants and Jews.

It strains the imagination to think how much good could be accomplished in this country if the idea were adopted generally. Of the many millions of daily restaurant patrons it's a safe guess that at least a few million would respond to the reminder and spend a few moments each returning devout thanks to God. That's a powerful lot of extra praying for the nation as a whole, very possibly enough to bring a powerful lot of extra blessings.

On an average, Americans are not irreligious. Quite a number neglect the Lord. They just don't give Him much thought. But they are ready to join in a group prayer at some gathering and heartily approve of the idea. We know from local comment that a pause for prayer before football games is popular here. The same kind of people would give the same kind of approval to prayers on menus.

In spite of what scoffers say, it is hard to imagine that the Heavenly-Father will fail to respond somehow when millions devoutly ask for blessing and guidance. The Christian concept of an all-good and all-powerful God does not allow such a belief.

Another thing the scoffers seem to overlook is that people who pray often bring about some very fine achievements even without Divine help. Those who have the faith to pray also have the intention, so far as it lies in their power, to make God's will prevail. That's only reasonable. And it's also reasonable that the people themselves make a better nation and a better world when they strive to do things God's way.

Whether or not the average blessing comes as a Divine favor or as a result of men's willingness to do God's will is a question for the theologians. But as far as results are concerned we average people know the answer. History tells us that the peoples which got along the best are those which tried to get along with God.

To realize this fact on a nation wide scope would be the most wholesome development in our country's history. The wiles of the Moscow mob would soon lose their appeal if we tackled every world problem with a firm determination to solve it so as to merit Divine approval. The standard to be guided by is what's best for all God's creatures, not what wins us an advantage in the game of international power politics.

In the last analysis we always get back to the simple fact that God created the earth and all mankind, and laid down the rules by which the world can get along in harmony. Every time man disregards those rules he makes a mess of things. The first essential to harmony is faith, and the first mark of faith is prayer . . . which

SWEETHEART ROYALTY.—Rev. Andy Stowe, pastor of the First Baptist Church, is shown presenting gifts to Queen Bonnie Hammer and King Vernon Clayton after crowning ceremony at the Sweetheart Banquet. Miss Hammer is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Hammer and Mr. Clayton is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Clayton.

Youths of Baptist Church Have First Sweetheart Banquet

Young people of the First Baptist Church and their guests attended the first annual "Sweetheart Banquet" Thursday evening in the public school library and saw Miss Bonnie Hammer and Vernon Clayton crowned as Sweetheart queen and king for 1953. The names of the king and queen had been kept a secret until the surprise disclosure.

The group, totaling about 80 young people and several adult guests, gathered in the "flight terminal" in one of the classrooms at 7:30 to await the "take off" of the "Sweetheart Special" of the Heart and Arrow Airlines, theme of the party.

The "terminal" included counters, tickets, baggage, check room and information desk. Benches and chairs were arranged back to back to represent a waiting room. Posters and pictures of places of interest from different airlines adorned the walls.

E. L. Savage Jr., educational director of the First Baptist Church of Gainesville, acting as "co-pilot" stood at the door of the "plane" in the dining room as the couples stepped up to enter. The door was a realistic reproduction of an airplane door made of cardboard with rounded corners, painted silver, with marking of a flying heart on each side.

As guests were seated they fastened their "safety belts" for the "take-off." "Flight stewardesses", mothers of the young people and other women of the church, served the meal.

Mr. Savage emceed the program. Entertainment was cleverly furnished during "stops". Miss Sandra Gantt, Eddie Ballew, Harold Gardner and Dickie Carter, all of Gainesville, presented vocal numbers, including "Sweethearts", "Make Believe" and "Tulips in Heather".

At one "stop" Rev. Andy Stowe, pastor, presented the Sweetheart nominees: Rita Cain, Nellie Winchester, Patsy Cain and Bonnie Hammer and Wendell Richey, Donny Whitt, Vernon Clayton and David Robinson.

Later he announced the king and queen, placed crowns on their heads, gave them gifts and presented Queen Bonnie with an arm bouquet of red roses.

For the past several Sundays young people attending Sunday School had the opportunity to cast votes for their favorites.

Rev. Milton Du Priest, evangelist from Fort Worth, was guest speaker and "pilot" for the evening. He began with a humorous talk, then gave his Christian testimony and told how important a Christian life is to every one, especially to young people. He used as his text Jesus' words to Peter: Simon, son of Jonas, lovest thou me?

Red and white decorations were carried out throughout the banquet hall. Styrofoam hearts with silver arrows, red flowers and tall white tapers were placed at intervals on the tables. Winged nut cups and programs marked each place. The programs were in the form of a flight folder folded in three parts with leaflets in each section giving the program and menu.

The head table held a large styrofoam heart on a red satin base centered with a Bible, flanked by red tulips. The setting was spotlighted from above.

Superintendent Weldon Cowan gave the invocation and Rev. Stowe gave the benediction after thanking all who helped arrange the program and assisted in its presentation.

R. M. Zipper joined his brother and wife, the Joe, Zippers and their little granddaughter, Patty Zipper, all of Dallas, on a trip to Hereford Friday to visit their mother, Mrs. Margaret Zipper, who will be 90 years old this summer. She makes her home with her daughter, Mrs. Ed Jesko and family and is still "feeling fine" according to a report she gave on herself. The visitors also stopped with their other sister, Mrs. Bill Ohlig and family and their nephew, Charlie Berend and family. They returned home Sunday. While they were away, Mrs. R. M. Zipper had as her guests here her daughters, Joan of Fort Worth and Ernie and her husband, the Jim Stockmans of Dallas.

NCCW Hears Book Review at Meeting

A book review highlighted the regular quarterly meeting of the Sherman Deanery National Council of Catholic Women of Thursday, March 12, in Sherman when Mrs. A. T. Gribble of the host parish reviewed "Along a Little Way" by Frances Parkinson Keyes.

Other interesting program topics included a panel discussion with Mrs. C. A. Fisher as chairman. Mrs. Adolph Fuhrmann of Lindsay and Mrs. Tony Gremminger took part, the latter speaking on the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine and the former on Teen-Agers.

More than a hundred women, including about 25 from Muenster, registered for the meeting in St. Mary's parish hall.

Father Walter of Denton, deanery moderator, opened the meeting with prayer and Mrs. Frank Kontur, president of the host council extended welcome. Mrs.

H. J. Wiechern, deanery president, spoke, and Msgr. McCullough introduced the following visiting clergy: Rev. Fathers Louis Deuster of Muenster, Conrad Herda of Lindsay, Herman Redder of Gainesville, Walter Bojnie-wicz of Denton, Anthony Guidja of Valley View, Henry Felderhoff of Denison and Untereiner of Pilot Point.

Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament followed the meeting and refreshments, served by the host council, concluded the afternoon.

PAT STELZER HONORED ON 18TH BIRTHDAY SUNDAY

Present, and presenting gift remembrances to the honoree, were Burt Hamric, John Aytes, Merlin Joe Evans, Gus Stelzer, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Aytes, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Herb, and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Tempel.

LOOKING AHEAD

BY GEORGE S. BENSON
 President—Harding College,

GOOD MAN FOR AGRICULTURE

A Short time after Ezra Taft Benson had taken the oath of office as Secretary of Agriculture, he called together the key people whom he'd personally appointed—15 policy-making executives and a few of their top aides. As they sat down in a semi-circle fronting the great walnut desk in the Secretary's spacious private office, a mid-morning January sun illuminated the towering white shaft of the Washington Monument seen through the windows to his left.

"It is my wish," said Secretary Benson, "that as we meet here—in this first staff conference, and in those to come—we open our meeting with a word of prayer. If there is any objection..." He didn't finish; for his staff, as if moved by a single impulse, rose quietly, heads-bowed. The Secretary rose and said a short prayer, giving thanks and beseeching God for guidance. This staff meeting prayer has become a custom. It is characteristic of the new Agriculture Department.

Wholesome Atmosphere

Several of Secretary Benson's immediate associates smoke, and at the first few meetings a few cigars, a few cigarettes and a pipe or two were in evidence. The Secretary didn't mind. But as the character of the staff conferences began to be felt by all, the smoking stopped. "Smoking just seemed out of harmony with the atmosphere of our meetings," a high official in the department told me. "Everybody sensed it and we smokers especially."

As this column is written I've just come from spending a day in the sprawling graystone building, just off the Mall, where decisions

Labor And Management Can Come To Terms

WE AMERICANS so easily think "there oughta be a law" that will solve all problems. We're all fed up with industrial unrest, convinced of the wastefulness of strikes, burned up with Commies ruining good unions, fighting mad about defiant and crooked labor leaders, so what's our solution?

"PASS some strict laws!" Will that solve matters? Hardly. Legal efforts to reform abuses will diminish industrial warfare's fury. They won't bring industrial peace. For such peace depends principally upon good will and mutual trust between labor and management.

SUCH GOOD WILL can come only when both labor and management accept basic principles taught by Christ and His Church.

Today's world has too many Christians who don't know the principles, even more who refuse to accept the principles. They come up with: "Too idealistic, won't work."

LABOR AND MANAGEMENT must accept the principles; then work out methods of applying principles to cases. That's not easy.

It takes long sessions of collective bargaining, honest efforts to cure mistakes in unions, sincere efforts by management to treat labor as a partner and not merely as a dangerous adversary. Labor must admit it sometimes unjustly breaks contracts; management must admit it sometimes concedes minimum justice only under severe pressure.

Merely making laws won't accomplish objectives best won through collective bargaining.

BEWARE of glib articles labeled: "How to End Strikes." Such titles indicate ignorance of the complex nature of industrial warfare. It takes top experts long years of study to work out practical solutions. But all must start with principles.

Laws by themselves won't solve the problem. But curing the hearts of greedy union leaders, so they labor for their members' rights, not just their own power dreams, will help.

NOT THIS alone, but curing the hearts of greedy management will help. Management must acknowledge its responsibility for dissatisfied workers.

international problems of agriculture.

A Dedicated Servant

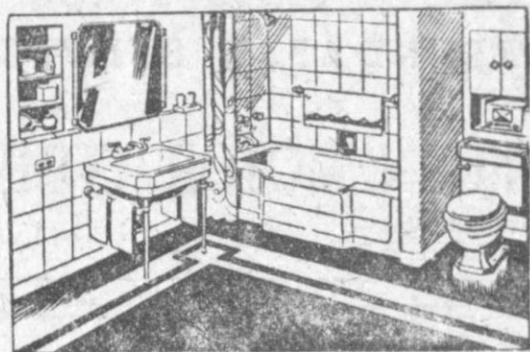

After digging into his background and visiting with him here in Washington, I'm convinced that Ezra Benson is dedicated to (1) increasing reliance upon God in America, (2) strengthening our Constitutional government, (3) bettering life in America for everybody, and (4) improving the living standards and economic security on the farms of America. He feels, I'm sure, that his best contribution to the nation's economic stability would be to help strengthen self-reliance, thus halting the disease of government handouts; to work toward vastly improved farm to acquaint himself with the marketing information and facilities throughout the nation; and to place the emphasis, in Washington and throughout the Agriculture Department setup, on expanding and improving agricultural research and education for the benefit of the people on the millions of all-sized farms in America.

He has called in the farm leaders from every section of the country to help him formulate programs based on this thinking.

"Dr. Benson," he said as I was leaving, "I have great faith in the good horse-sense of the American people. They want sensible agricultural programs. That's what we will try to develop and offer to the nation."

The American people, it seems to me, can have faith in a man who thinks and talks like that.

are being made directly affecting the long-range welfare of America's 6,000,000 farm families and indirectly affecting the whole nation's future. I talked to a number of Mr. Benson's closest assistants and spent some time with the Secretary himself. I got a glimpse of the heart and mind of the new Agriculture Department and an understanding of the basic philosophy that will shape its future farm programs. What I saw and heard was good.

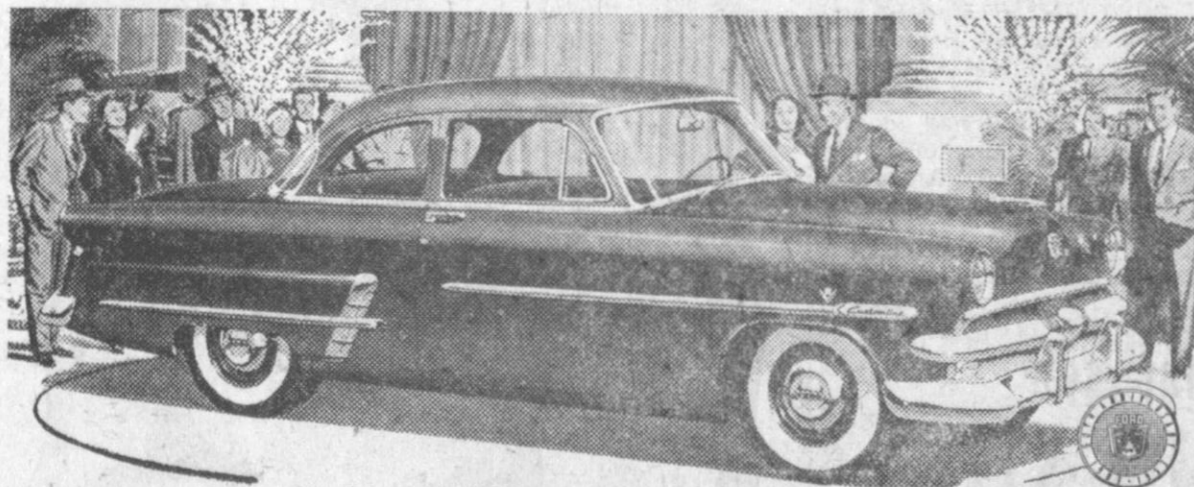

His Know-How Recognized

At 53, Secretary Benson is a strapping six-footer, handsome, vigorous. He speaks easily, forthrightly. He's a family man, with four daughters and two sons. His background and his capabilities seem to equip him perfectly for the Agriculture post. He grew up on an Idaho farm and chose agriculture as a career. He spent seven college years preparing—at Utah State Agriculture College, Brigham Young University, Iowa State College, and the University of California.

He has operated his own farm; but his farming knowhow and his grasp of the great universal problems of American agriculture have constantly taken him away from his own acres. He's served as county agent, extension economist and marketing specialist; and as professor-chairman of the Department of Agricultural Economics and Marketing at the University of Idaho. He helped build the farmer cooperative movement in America, and served for years in Washington as executive secretary of the National Council of Farmer Cooperatives. During the war President Roosevelt appointed him to the National Agricultural Advisory Committee. He has spent sufficient time abroad

Soil Conservation Notes

Without grass man is doomed and without man's careful management grass is doomed. We are caught in a vicious circle in which man must take care of the grass so that grass will take care of him, according to technicians of the local soil conservation service.

Grasses have been through a severe drought and they have been hurt. Grasses are much like an animal that has been on a starvation diet; it is in a weakened condition and needs special care to bring it back to normal. The grass needs a rest and a chance to build up its food supply so that it may become a vigorous productive plant again.

Grasses manufacture their own food in the green leaf. Because of the lack of moisture and overuse the past summer there were few green leaves left and many plants starved to death. Those that lived had very little chance to make food and store it in their root system for growth this spring. In this weakened condition the grass needs all the rest it can get so that food supplies may be renewed.

Reduced stocking rates and rotational deferred grazing on pastures and rangeland must be practiced to give the grasslands a chance to recover and improve. The old thumb rule of "take half and leave half" will give more and better grazing and will protect the top soil from erosion by producing a thick litter on the ground. A good rotation to follow on native grasses in this area is complete rest for one half the pasture from now until June and rest for the other half of grassland from June until frost.

The June until frost rest period allows the grass to build up food reserves through production of forage or leaf area and also allows for seed to be produced to increase the number of plants. This deferred pasture makes an ideal place for wintering livestock since it provides food and shelter.

A good growth of sweet clover in the fields to furnish temporary grazing during the summer is an excellent way to allow pasture grasses some relief from grazing pressure. The longer livestock can be kept on the fields the more rest and growth the grasses will get. The more rest they get the more vigorous they will grow.

Cooperators in the Muenster area of the Upper Elm-Red soil conservation district have been busy sowing sweet clovers and alfalfa this spring for hay, grazing and soil conditioning. Those that already have their legumes in the ground include Paul Sicking with 20 acres of biennial white sweet clover up to a good stand. J. H. Bayer has 18 acres already seeded to two-year sweet clover and plans for about 20 more acres as soon as the fields are dry enough.

Ray Sicking has seeded 10 acres to alfalfa and 20 acres to clover. Walter Reed at Myra has planted about five acres to alfalfa and has seeded buffalo grass on part of his pasture. At Rosston George Berry has seeded 30 acres to alfalfa and Jim. Dill has planted 40 acres to clover.

In the waterway sodding department Howard King, of Myra has planted eight acres of Bermuda grass on a drain that crosses his fields. Herman Zimmerer has sodded four acres of pasture to Bermuda grass on the farm he operates northeast of Muenster. The two-row district-owned sprigging machine was used to plant the grass roots.

America was in better shape when we had more whittlers and fewer chislers.

Crops Get Little Of an Average Rain

What happens to rain when it finally falls on Texas? Chancellor Gibb Gilchrist of the Texas A & M College system says this is the general rule: One-fourth of the state's total rainfall never reaches the ground. It is absorbed by the atmosphere. Of that which reaches the ground, about 17 percent goes into rivers and creeks. About 35 percent of this amount goes all the way to the Gulf of Mexico. About 77 percent of the water that soaks into the ground supports useless brush and weeds. "For example, it takes three times as much water to grow one pound of mesquite wood as it does to grow a pound of pine." Using this general breakdown as a guide, how much of an average general rain will actually be used by crops and pasture? About 6 percent.

FARMERS BUYING MORE MACHINES

Farmers have been buying more and more machinery during the past 10 years, and are now using 60 per cent more machines and power than a decade ago. Since Jan. 1, 1941, the number of tractors on farms has increased 150 per cent, the number of motor trucks 120 per cent, milking machines, 225 per cent, grain combines 300 per cent, and corn pickers 300 per cent. Industrial research has promoted the trend toward machinery by developing machines to offset the shortage in farm workers.

36 Traffic Deaths For Each War Death

Thirty six civilians are injured in motor vehicle accidents on the home front for every U.S. serviceman wounded in battle in Korea, according to the Association of Casualty and Surety Companies. Over the two and one half years of war in Korea, official Department of Defense figures listed 83,000 servicemen in the wounded column of the casualty lists. For the same period of time, the Association reports that injured victims of automobile accidents totaled 3,350,000, or 3,602 percent more than those injured in battle. The Association, which first discovered that the millionth victim of the automobile would die in December, 1951, took a daily average for the 30 months since the Korean War began and found that 102 servicemen have been wounded to 3,673 civilians who suffered injuries in automobile accidents. Starting with the first battle of the Revolution in April, 1775, and continuing through the major and minor wars in which the United States has fought, approximately 1,270,000 men have been wounded in battle. It took 177 years for non-fatal war casualties to reach that number. However, in the little over 50 years since the automobile became a means of transportation, 33,000,000 men, women and children have been injured in traffic accidents.

Thus, twenty six persons have been injured in Motor vehicle accidents to every American serviceman who was wounded in all of the wars in the country's history, the Association pointed out. Putting it another way, in half a century automobile injuries total 2,603 percent more than all of the U.S. war wounded in one and three-fourths centuries.

"That the automobile has outstripped war as a killer, is now recognized," said Thomas N. Boate, manager of the Accident Prevention Department of the Association. "In the span of less than a man's lifetime, the automobile has killed 1,075,000 persons, while the total number of battle dead in all our wars, according to the latest statistics, reached 1,009,000. This is now some 64,000 short of the automobile's 52 year toll and only a year ago the figures were about equal.

"The Association by no means wishes to minimize the tragedy of American youths and men who are being wounded in Korea. It is a shocking situation and one that all Americans hope to see brought to a speedy and honorable end. It is also tragic to learn, however, that many times more good American citizens—men, women and children—are being killed in traffic accidents without comparable demands that this national menace be stopped, too.

"The tremendous disproportion between traffic and war casualties can be traced directly to sheer carelessness and official negligence. If a foreign enemy were to kill 38,000 persons and wound over 1,300,000 more, as automobile accidents did in 1952, the nation would be rightly and righteously outraged. The fact that the careless acts of American citizens themselves cause such a catastrophe every year does not minimize either the personal or national loss that grows worse every year.

Condensed Milk

separator, the condensing boiler, a cooling unit, a thermos tank and an ice plant. No additional equipment was needed to supply heat for the condenser, but changes in piping were necessary so steam can be directed to either the milk or the whey condenser.

In its condensing process milk goes first to separators where excess butter fat is taken out, then to the condensing tank where it is boiled in a vacuum at 120 degrees. Moisture is taken off until the liquid is reduced to a third of its original volume. After that the condensed product goes through a cooling unit to reduce its temperature to 35 degrees. Then it is stored in the thermos tank until loaded in the thermos truck for delivery. Both storage tank and truck have a 30,000 pound capacity. The ice plant is needed to make about 50,000 pounds of ice water required for cooling the product from 120 to 35 degrees. While condensing equipment is idle the ice plant makes about 30 tons of ice. When the condensing process starts water is passed over the ice reserve and the plant keeps running to provide additional refrigeration. To cool water to the required temperature without an ice reserve would require a much larger refrigerating unit.

Time Skips 10 Days

We celebrate New Year's on January 1 because 10 days have been lifted bodily from time.

These 10 days disappeared on two occasions. The first time was in 1582 when several countries of Europe swore allegiance to the new calendar created by Pope Gregory VIII which found the world some 10 days behind itself due to errors in time calculations.

In order to make the correction, the people of these countries were asked to sacrifice the days from October 5 to 15, inclusive. It was essential to have October 15 follow October 5 by just one day, and bravely, millions allowed it to be so.

The second occasion, and the one which makes the American New Year celebration come at the right time, occurred in 1752. It was then that England decided to cease holding out against the Gregorian calendar. England discarded the period from September 3 to September 13.

It was a confused period. Social calendars were mixed up, babies were 11 days old after only being alive for two days, vacations were cut short. But it finally straightened itself out and to day the calendar is on schedule.

To Saint Catherine, canonized in 1947, we owe the design of the Miraculous Medal.

Getting back to that remark about doing things so as to merit Divine approval, how about Columnist George Sokolsky's recent suggestion that the United States offer colonizing opportunities in Alaska to refugees from Red tyranny? He was referring to the thousands, now destitute, who escaped from Iron Curtain countries of Europe and are finding temporary refuge under Western benevolence. Though better off than before, they're still miserable. They're not living like human beings should live.

Instead of just doling out food and clothes we could restore those people's self support and self respect . . . incidentally make some mighty loyal and valuable citizens of them. Well, why not? We have lots of room for them in Alaska's vast undeveloped area. They are the same kind of folks who, a few decades ago, came over and helped make America what it is today. Besides they could be mighty good folks to have handy in case that oft-mentioned Soviet attack on Alaska should ever develop. It appears the Sokolsky suggestion merits some serious thought in the higher circles of Washington.
