75,000 Acres in '53 Is District Goal In Clover Program

75,000 acres of sweet clover in 1953 is the goal of a soil building program just launched in the Upper Elm-Red Soil Conservation District. Originated by the supervisors of the Upper Elm-Red district, the program has acquired the support of SCS technicians, vocational agriculture teachers and county agents.

A similar program for increasing vetch acreage was conducted last fall and received special promotion in a series of meetings sponsored by the First State Bank of Gainesville.

Clover is recommended as a soil builder for black land of the district whereas vetch is recommended for sandy land.

To date no special promotional meetings for clover have been arranged. The program is conducted entirely by county agents, teachers, technicians of the several SCS work units, and the district supervisors.

According to Emmitt Yoder, conservationist of the Muenster work unit, the present plan is to depend on personal contacts and small meetings to bring the clover message to blackland farmers. In most cases it will be a matter of selling the individual on the idea that he can achieve the double goal of immediate cash return and greater future yields.

The main objective, he said, is (Continued on Page 8)

Mrs. Holland Joins Public School Staff

Mrs. Weldon Holland is the new third and fourth grades teacher at the Muenster Public School succeeding Miss Waldine Midgett, who resigned during the Christmas holidays to accept a position at the Eldorado, Texas, school.

Mrs. Holland, a graduate of North Texas State College, taught three years at Forestburg. She replaces Mrs. Lucile Kidd of Gainesville, who served as temporary teacher during the past two weeks.

Mrs. George Umberson of Saint Jo, Mr. Holland's aunt is living with the Hollands and caring for their child while they are teaching.

Chalmers Addresses Local PTA Meeting

An address by W. E. Chalmers, county superintendent of schools, highlighted the regular meeting of the Parent-Teachers Association Tuesday night in the school auditorium. His subject was "The Don't and Do Methods of Child Training".

"Enlist the child on your side instead of driving him over to the enemy", he told the group. "Every time you scold . . . treat him unjustly, refuse to listen to his side of the story . . . you are driving him away from you and forcing him to make secret plans which you will never know about until it is too late, if ever".

Preceding the talk, Mrs. Ervin Hamric, president, conducted the business session and Superintendent Weldon Cowan gave a report on his trip to Austin where he attended a school administrators advisory conference. Cowan also reported that the indebtedness on band instruments has been reduced to $125.

Mrs. John Mosman was elected vice-president replacing Miss Waldine Midgett.

Community Hit by 2 Days of Winter

This community had its first taste of real winter Thursday, Friday, and Saturday of last week . . . and it was glad not to get much more than a taste. In all the cold wave stayed on for only about 48 hours. It roared in about mid morning Thursday and was definitely on its way out about the same hour on Saturday.

A temperature of 16 Friday was the season's lowest to date, about 40 degrees below that of the previous day. Later sleet fell to a depth of approximately two inches. Streets and roads were treacherous, but there were no reports of accidents. When it melted it netted about .2 inch to the community's water record.

The temperature Saturday started at 18 and continued rising steadily until mid afternoon. Sunday the weather was balmy again.

There's Nothing Like That "Money-in-the- Bank" Feeling

Sudden emergencies . . . additional expenses . . . you're ready for them! They don't cast any every-day shadow over you.

And, you know, it's really amazing how fast an account can grow, just through regular deposits.

No sir, there's nothing like money in the bank for that extra margin of security.

A new type motor oil for the new cars

Your new car needs this new type oil

Prevents "4000-mile knock." Many 1952 and practically all the 1953 automobiles have high compression engines.

You've heard about these fine new engines.

You know, for example, that they require gasoline with extra anti-knock performance . . . a gasoline like Humble Esso Extra.

Now, Detroit's automotive engineers have discovered that high compression engines need an entirely new type of motor oil. With conventional oils in the crankcase, the new engines have a tendency to ping, or knock, after four to eight thousand miles of driving.

This "4000-mile knock" is caused by combustion chamber deposits; these increase the compression ratio to a point where no commercial gasoline will give you anti-knock performance.

Humble Esso Uniflo, an entirely new type motor oil, prevents the formation of deposits that cause "4000-mile knock" in high compression engines if you begin to use it regularly in the first 1000 miles of driving.

Protects against friction wear and acid corrosion. Second, the engineers discovered that friction is the chief cause of wear in automobile engines. Moving parts in the new engines are so carefully machined that they fit very closely. This gives you much better performance from your car, but it also requires superior lubrication. Heavy oils and oils that "thicken" in cold weather don't flow readily between such closely fitting parts. The result is excessive wear from friction, and expensive engine overhauls . . . To minimize friction wear . . . again you need Humble's new Esso Uniflo Motor Oil.

Esso Uniflo has such an amazingly high viscosity index that it gives you the quick-flowing characteristics of an SAE 5W oil at 25° below zero Fahrenheit, and the tough, full body of an SAE 20 oil at 110° Fahrenheit.

Furthermore, the additives in Esso Uniflo are anti-acid—this new type oil cuts acid corrosion as much as 50%.

You Need Only One Grade of Humble Esso Uniflo.

You use it year 'round. Esso Uniflo meets all the specifications for SAE viscosity classifications 5W, 10W, 20W and 20. It is a heavy duty, detergent oil, recommended for API service classifications ML (light duty), MM (medium duty), MS (severe duty) and DG (general diesel duty). Its viscosity index is amazingly high.

Premium Value—Premium Price

Humble Esso Uniflo costs something more than most motor oils. But you'll agree that the small extra cost—less than one-tenth of a cent for each mile of driving—is cheap insurance against "4000-mile knock," friction wear, and acid corrosion!

A Word to Owners of Older Automobiles

If you use an oil meeting SAE viscosity classifications up to 20—you will find it profitable to change to Humble's new type Esso Uniflo. It will protect your car against friction wear and acid corrosion; reduce starting drag and extend battery life.

If your engine has just been rebuilt—change to Esso Uniflo. It will prevent the deposits causing "4000-mile knock"; it will protect against wear from friction and corrosion, reduce starting drag and extend battery life.

If you use SAE 30 or SAE 40 oil—Humble continues to recommend Esso Extra Motor Oil No. 3, a high quality, heavy duty, detergent oil with a viscosity index second only to that of Esso Uniflo.

MORE ABOUT SOCIAL SECURITY

Another phase of the Social Security set-up which is badly in need of correction is the way the money is handled — the money which is deducted from your pay and mine and the remittances our employers make for us in addition to what we pay.

As it is now the net effect of sending this money to Washington is to increase the national debt. I submit that there isn't any security for you or me or anyone else in debt—public or private.

It may be hard for you to believe that your government, which is supposed to be the very essence of honor and integrity, would force you to buy an old age pension, whether you want it or not, then spend the money it collects from you and your employer, leaving nothing with which to pay your claim when it becomes due, except a Treasury Department I. O. U.—but that's exactly how it is.

Here's how it works. The money deducted from your pay, plus an equal amount paid by your employer, is remitted to Washington, it is deposited in the general fund of the Treasury, and is used by the Treasury to pay the day-to-day operating expenses of the Federal Government. In other words, the money which is supposed to provide a pension for your old age is spent as soon as it gets to Washington.

Once a year Congress appropriates for the Social Security Board whatever amount the Board says is necessary to enable it to pay operating expenses and benefits for the next year. The difference between what Congress appropriates for the Board and the total amount of Social Security collections for that year is added to the Social Security Reserve Fund. By way of an easily understood illustration, let us assume that last year Social Security collections totaled $3.5 billion, and that the appropriation for the Board for the same year was $1.5 billion. This would leave $2 billion to be added to the Reserve. Right there is where the increase in the national debt comes in. A brand-new, special government bond is issued to the Social Security Board for $2 billion and the national debt is increased by that amount.

These special government bonds are non-negotiable, cannot be sold on the open market, can only be redeemed by the Treasury, and the only way in which the Treasury can get the money to redeem these bonds is by having Congress levy a special tax on everyone for that purpose. Yes, everyone would have to pay these taxes, including those who have already paid once for their old age pensions. In words of one syllable, this means paying twice for one benefit. But, you say, "that's crooked, that's fraud," and you are exactly 100 percent right. It is the biggest fraud ever put across on an unsuspecting people.

What's the answer? How can this condition be corrected and Social Security made an honest agency? As I see it the remedy is a very simple one.

First, take Social Security out of the Federal Security Agency and make it an independent agency. Second, have all Social Security Funds remitted directly to the Social Security Board. Third, the Board would pay its operating expenses and current benefits out of these funds, and then invest what is left over for the Reserve Fund in negotiable government bonds bought in the open market.

All private insurance companies in the country have part of their reserve funds invested in government bonds. The Social Security Board under this plan would invest its Reserve Fund in exactly the same kind of government bonds. There would not be any increase in the national debt involved because the Board would be buying bonds which had already been issued and when the Board needed to cash some bonds all it would have to do would be to sell them in the open market, just as any bank or insurance company does when funds are required.

Handling the Social Security Security the honest agency it set-up in this way would eliminate the fraud and make Social very definitely should be.

In competition with others, always give them the credit for being a little smarter than you are.

AGE NO LIMIT

What would the world have missed had a retirement age, even at 70, been universally enforced.

Gladstone was Prime Minister of England at 83, Benjamin Franklin helped frame the Constitution of the United States at 80; Oliver Wendell Holmes retired from the Supreme Court bench at 91; Henry Ford, when past 80, took up the presidency of the Ford Motor Co. for the second time after his son's death; and Alonzo Stagg was named the "Football Man of the Year" at 81.—W. M. Johnson, M.D.

GOOD QUESTION

A magician traveling on a troopship, had his pet parrot with him. When ever the magician performed his sleight-of-hand stunts the parrot began a running fire of observations and kept them up throughout the act. Finally, their ship was torpedoed and sunk.

Magician and parrot found themselves together on a life raft. After they had been floating around for hours, the parrot said in disgust: "All right all right I give up. What did you do with the ship?"

The path of least resistance is usually downhill.

Mary had been promoted to the third grade.

Meeting the second grade teacher, whom she had liked very much, she said, "Gee, Miss Kate, I wish you were smart enough to teach me this year, too!"

Life is a place of service, and in that service one may suffer much, but more often experiences a great deal of joy. That joy can be real only if people have a definite object in life aside from themselves and their personal happiness.—Tolstoi.

"Where do General Electric's engineers come from?" a visitor asked us. "I suppose they all got trained at MIT, or Cornell, or Michigan."

His question set us pondering, so we started plowing through the file cabinet for an answer. And, of course, it turned out as you'd imagine—NO. General Electric engineers don't always come from eastern technical schools. They won their slide rules from colleges in every state.

Maybe you'd like to hear how many of our bright engineers got their engineering education in your home state. Here's part of the list...

328 came from colleges in Kansas... 207 from Oklahoma... 125 Nebraska... 103 Montana... 97 South Dakota... 87 North Dakota... 47 Arkansas... 41 Wyoming... 411 came from Texas colleges... well, the list includes every state.

One out of every twenty employees at General Electric is an engineer or scientist. You know that a big part of our work is improving products and working out new ideas.

Right now young men from your home state are working on big and important engineering jobs at General Electric. You should be mighty proud of them because—take our word—they're doing a swell job.

You can put your confidence in—

Electric Cooking

Costs only half as much as I thought!

And electric cooking costs only half as much as you think, too! Yes, cleaner, cooler electric cooking actually costs less than 1¢ per person per meal. That's because you cook with magic "free heat" most of the time. The oven thermostat cuts the electricity off and back on as needed to keep the temperature even, and the current is on less than half of the time. Much of the surface cooking uses the low heat position on the range—inexpensive as an ordinary light bulb. No doubt about it, when you cook electrically, with accurately-controlled, even heat, you cook with real thrift—and good taste, too!

Soil Conservation Notes

Grassed outlets are a necessary part of any successful and permanent terrace system. Just as a foundation determines how long a building will stand, a good safe terrace outlet determines the success of the terrace system in stopping erosion.

In the Muenster area where fields are large many terracing operations depend upon sodded waterways along natural drains to serve as safe outlets for terrace run-off water. Since terrace outlets are required to carry large amounts of water it is essential that water ways have a good heavy grass cover before water is turned on them.

Bermuda grass is the most desirable grass for use on terrace outlets. This grass usually forms a dense sod within two growing seasons after it is planted. This erosion resisting sod will carry a large volume of water safely without danger of sheet or gully erosion.

Bermuda grass is established by planting roots in a well prepared seed bed during the winter or early spring before the grass begins to grow. The roots can be either planted by hand or with a sprigging machine. The Upper Elm-Red Soil Conservation district has a machine available for use by landowners cooperating with the district. The machine operates best on a deep plowed, well harrowed seed bed. It opens the furrow, drops the roots and covers them in one operation. It will cover about 20 acres an hour.

Operation waterway will soon get underway around Muenster. A source of Bermuda grass roots has been located north of Muenster on Red River, and digging operations will begin next week. Many farmers have already had their waterway site marked off and have the land plowed, well prepared, and ready to start.

Those who have waterways ready for the sodding operations include W. F. Davidson, Norbert Koesler, Johnny Klement, Eddie Sicking, Tony Wimmer, J. W. Fleitman, Leo and Eddie Schmitt, Joe Mages, Al Wiesman, J. W. Sicking, Emmett Sicking and Thomas Sicking.

Local soil conservation service personnel list four essentials for establishing Bermuda grass waterways: first is proper location and width of sodded strip. It must be located so the terraces will lead the water to it and be wide enough to handle the run-off safely; second the seed bed must be deep plowed and well pulverized so the roots can be properly covered; third, the roots should be good, fresh, healthy roots for quick growth; fourth, weeds and Johnson grass must be controlled during the summer to reduce competition for sunlight, water and food.

Commercial fertilizers applied at time of planting or as a top dressing, aid greatly in establishing a waterway quickly.

Contact the SCS personnel for further information and assistance in getting started on establishing your waterway this year.

The Ragon McElreaths and children spent Sunday at Sivells Bend visiting the Lish McElreath family.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Siekman of Tulsa spent Friday and Saturday here as guests of the Henry Fettes.

SYMBOL OF VAST CHANGE

Every phase of human life has been revolutionized in the last century. And nowhere have there been more spectacular changes than in the oldest industry of all—agriculture.

One hundred years ago four out of five people worked at the job of producing raw materials for food, clothing and shelter. Today these basic needs are supplied by just one out of five. And even that doesn't tell the whole story—for we have far better and more varied foods and other products of agricultural origin than in past times.

This is very largely the result of the application of the machine to farm jobs that were once accomplished slowly and laboriously by hand. It is not an exaggeration to say that, on the modern farm, the machine has displaced hand labor. It does the work much more economically and efficiently than is possible with human muscle. And its usefulness is not limited to the production of crops. The machine makes it possible for the farmer to conserve and improve his soil and to fight successfully against such old natural ravages as floods and erosion. The machine gives more food from fewer acres today, and at the same time assures that the soil will be fertile and productive tomorrow.

The plow, the seeder, the baler, the cultivator, the tractor, the combine and all the other machines symbolize the amazing advances agriculture has made in the span of a long lifetime. And they symbolize, as well, farming's present-day status as a business and a profession.

County ABA Group Re-elects Officers

Directors of the Cooke County Artificial Breeders Association met in the city hall here Monday night to elect officers for 1953 and to discuss the coming year's program.

Re-elected for another term are Paul Fisher, president; Alfred Bayer, vice president; and Van Hill of Gainesville, secretary-treasurer.

County Agent Gerald York met with the group for the first time. Also in attendance were Assistant Agent Virgil Dahlberg and Technician Albert Klement.

The men discussed the annual Dairy Day program to be held in April and made plans for a special ABA show, with prizes, as an added feature of the program.

The membership roster showed 60 active, participating members in the association.

Both MHS Teams End First Division With .500 Standing

Closing the first division of their round robin schedule both Muenster teams moved up to the 50-50 status in conference competition by taking a double header from Callisburg Wednesday night.

The boys started their season by upsetting Forestburg then losing to Prairie Valley and Saint Jo. The girls lost to Forestburg and Prairie Valley and nosed out Saint Jo.

Friday night at Saint Jo the local girls made a strong start that carried them through in spite of Saint Jo's rally in the second half. The mid-game count was 14-7 and the final count 24-21. Carol Hellman accounted for 12 of the points and Sis Myrick for 10.

In the boys game Aytes, Richey and Whitt were back in action after missing the Prairie Valley game because of flu, but still were not up to par. Saint Jo steadily pulled ahead all the way through for a final score of 40-26. At half time it was 20-13. Aytes led with 9 points and other teammates ringed a few points each.

At Henrietta Tuesday night the boys made a good start but weakened gradually as first stringers fouled out of the game. At the half, with Richey already on the bench, Muenster led 27-25. In the next half McElreath, Dougherty and Whitt went out and Henrietta pulled ahead for a final score of 64-48. Henrietta meanwhile fared better on the fouts. None of its players had to leave. Richey, though playing only a half, led the scoring with 15. Aytes made 14.

Muenster girls were definitely outclassed and fell behind 22-7 in the first half. In the next 27, competing mostly with the Henrietta reserves, they held their own for a final score of 40-25.

Playing Callisburg in the local gym Wednesday the MHS girls increased their margin all the way through and wound up with the big end of a 36-15 score. The count at the half was 15-8. Carol Hellman led the shooting with 15 points.

The last game saw the smoothly clicking Hornet quint turn in a richly deserved 70-40 victory over the alert and hard working Wildcats. After allowing the visitors a flying start for 4 points they took charge and kept the advantage the rest of the way. At the half they led 35-15. Meanwhile Callisburg did a nice job of hustling and earned every one of its 40 points.

Starting early in the evening, juniors of the two schools met in practice games before the conference headliners. Callisburg junior girls won 15-9 and Muenster junior boys won 44-11.

amount of wisdom in it . . . in that it requires every citizen to assume at least a small responsibility for his citizenship. Were it not for this personal tax there would be thousands who would make no direct contribution whatever to the state's support. There are thousands who pay no property tax, and the state has no income tax.

To that the poll tax critics report that thousands are not financially able to make the payment. Piffle! What able bodied man or woman earning a living cannot spare a dollar six bits toward supporting the state government? Anybody can if he makes up his mind to do it. Remember too, the law exempts handicapped persons. In 99 per cent of the cases persons who fail to pay just don't want to pay. They are renegeing on their responsibility to the state and don't deserve a vote in running the state.

That in general is your poll tax law, the law which civil rights agitators would force us to take off the books, but which is actually a fair and reasonable personal tax worthy of adoption by every state. There's nothing wrong about it except the name and the fact that our state leaders are making no effort to clear up a general misunderstanding . . . plus a lax attitude on the part of tax collectors. It's time that they started referring to it as a man's just obligation of citizenship rather than a mere optional tax to qualify for voting.

As a final thought . . . the deadline for paying your poll tax is Jan. 31, only 8 days from now. And remember, it's a tax you owe, not just one you pay if you want to vote.

Lone Star Delivers
Billion Feet of Gas
In 24 Hour Period

Lone Star Gas Company delivered its first billion cubic feet of gas in a 24-hour period, as of 7 o'clock Saturday morning, to more than 620,000 customers in 387 cities and towns in Texas and Oklahoma, according to reports from the firm's Dallas headquarters.

The record breaking consumption resulted from Friday's siege of cold weather combined with growth of the company's operating territory, the report stated. It followed on the heels of another record set this winter which witnessed a period of 54-straight days when temperatures averaged below 65 degrees and required constant heat.

The stretch of heating started in mid-November and continued through December and into January over most of the Lone Star system.

The total send-out through Saturday morning was 1,060,400,000 (billion) cubic feet of gas. On Wednesday, the day before the cold wave struck, total consumption was about one-half of Friday's peak. The previous high for a 24-hour period was 936,700,000 (million) cubic feet recorded at 7 a.m. on January 30, 1951.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Lueb of Durant, Okla., formerly of Lindsay, observed their 40th wedding anniversary on Wednesday, Jan. 21.

Clover Program - - -

to conserve and improve the land for future generations. That in itself would be worth considerable sacrifice, but the clover program does not require a sacrifice. On the contrary it more than pays its own way besides paying handsome future dividends.

Yoder is loaded with local success stories on clover programs, including the value of the crop itself and the increased yields of follow-up crops.

To start, he explains, clover can be seeded into a small grain crop. After that crop is harvested the clover field provides good grazing or hay crops until spring and will still yield a good crop in seed, worth as much as the average grain crop.

But the greatest value is in what the clover does for the soil. As a deep rooted, legume it penetrates hard pans, increases moisture intake capacity and makes subsoil moisture available to plant life, besides increasing the soil's nitrogen content. And when plowed under it returns precious organic matter to the soil.

The benefits are apparent in future yields. Figures turned in by local farmers show that clover conditioning pays off in much higher yields.
