Local KC Council Reveals Plan for District Initiation

How many people of Muenster were pleased, and how many were disappointed, by the decision last week to have the two local schools go their separate ways? It would be interesting to have a vote on that subject, especially in view of the fact that the champions of both sides of the issue claim the support of a good stout majority of the community.

Another question, probably much more significant is how would the community vote on the issue if it were thoroughly familiar with all the details pertaining thereto?

Some folks will probably say this column is inexcusably out of line in bringing up the subject after it has been settled by a decision of the bishop of the diocese. After all he's the spiritual superior of the parish and well qualified to judge on what's best for the souls under his jurisdiction.

However there's another point to consider, in the light of which this column's viewpoint is altogether respectful of his judgment and vision. That is a recent remark by Father Louis to the effect the local school program must originate here. Father Louis was emphatic in pointing out that the bishop does not originate the program but only approves what has originated here. So, whatever you think of the present arrangement, just remember that the bishop decided as he did because, for the present at least, he believes it is most conducive to peace and harmony in the community.

That he has an open mind on the subject is apparent from the fact that he has seriously considered the school board's proposal. He went so far as to ask the nuns whether they would be willing to cooperate in the program. That's not the way of a man who opposes the program on principle.

For that matter the nuns cannot be blamed for their decision, in the light of reports and rumors that have come to them. They are in doubt as to whether they are being used as stepping stones to put over a program only to be booted out later. So it's reasonable for them to play it safe and express their preference for the existing arrangement. No one can say that they oppose the program on principle because members of their order are now teaching elsewhere under the proposed arrangement.

In short the whole issue boils down to the fact that, as we were told years ago, this is a local affair and it will stay that way until we work out our own solution.

In that respect this column probably owes the community its profound apologies. It has been reluctant to publicize a community squabble hoping all along that a reasonable solution was just around the corner. Recent developments seem to indicate that the policy was pitifully shortsighted.

In another part of this paper appears a general outline of the system this community could adopt. It is printed at the request of the school board, to inform any who might be in doubt that this is not a reckless scheme jeopardizing the community's religious standards or traditions but a common sense plan to develop a better school system while relieving the parish of a double burden in educating its children. The trustees' attitude now is to forget the issue and settle down to the job of maintaining a good public school with the enrollment and facilities they have. They'll not lift a finger for the cause until others convince them that the community is unified in its desire for a change.

Since that's the case, perhaps it's time for others to start thinking. After all it's their problem too. And the first thing to consider is principle. Is there a way to preserve religious standards and traditions while taking advantage of public school facilities? The best answer to that is another question: Would anyone expect much of a change when the same children continue under the influence of the same teachers? Especially when arrangements have been made to

The basic route of the tour included the Twin Cities, Minneapolis and St. Paul, the principal cities of Western Canada—Winnipeg, Edmonton, Prince George, Prince Rupert and Vancouver—and visits to important scenic and agricultural areas in the Northwestern section of the U. S.

WITH THE MEN IN SERVICE

On Overseas Leave

Lt. Bill Eberhart is here to spend a 30-day leave with family members before going to Germany for army duty. His wife and sons left Fort Hood ahead of him and spent the past few weeks with his sister, Mrs. Wm. Flusche and family at Lindsay.

Receives New Rating

Hugh (Cotton) Endres, serving with the Navy Air Force on Saipan, writes his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Endres, that he has received the rating he was working for and is now an AP 3, which he mentioned is equivalent to an army sergeant.

Still at Stoneman

Pvts. Tommy Knabe and Gilbert Yosten are still at Camp Stoneman, Calif., awaiting overseas orders. According to letters home this week they expect to be there about two or three more weeks. Both boys recently enjoyed a visit with the Norbert Henscheids at Hayward, Calif., about 40 miles from camp.

Begins Basic Training

Pvt. Mike Driever has finally started basic training after being in the army nine weeks. He's at Camp Roberts, and has the following address: Pvt. Mike Driever, US 54119893; Btry. B, 87th Armd. F. A. Bn., 1st Platoon; 7th Armd. Div.; Camp Roberts, Calif.

WE'RE GOING TO PRINT SERVICE MEN'S PICTURES

Occasionally our readers have suggested that this paper revive its World War II custom of publishing pictures of local men and boys serving in the armed forces.

The idea appeals to us, so the Enterprise this week invites parents or friends to bring in the pictures along with information on where they are and what they're doing.

Father Cletus Joins Laneri Hi Faculty

Father Cletus Post assistant pastor of Sacred Heart church and athletic director of Sacred Heart High School since August 1950 has been appointed to the faculty of Laneri High School at Fort Worth. His appointment along with that of Fathers Albert Schreiber, Bede Mitchell and Augustine Linbeck was made last week by Bishop Thomas Gorman upon the nomination of Abbot Paul Nahlen of Subiaco Abbey.

Unconfirmed reports are that Subiaco will send Fathers Christopher Paladino and William DeAngelis here to serve as assistant pastors and to assist with teaching duties at Sacred Heart High. Both served on the staff of Subiaco Academy last year.

FHA Girls Conduct One Week Nursery

Next week a dozen tiny tots of Muenster, aged 2 to 6, will get to attend a free nursery school conducted by FHA girls under supervision of Miss Patsy Scott. The short course in child-care is part of the girls' summer work in homemaking.

The classes will be held Monday through Friday from 9 to 11:30 o'clock in the homemaking department of the public school. The first 12 children to report Monday morning will be admitted.

Merger Rejected; Muenster Continues Separate Schools

Possibilities of combining Muenster's two schools into a single tax supported unit ended abruptly last week with the arrival of a letter from Bishop Thomas K. Gorman of Dallas explaining that the Benedictine Sisters decline to teach under the proposed system and it will therefore be necessary for the Sacred Heart School to continue as a private school and that regulations issued and publicly promulgated by him as Bishop of Dallas be carried out exactly as directed.

In his letter to the Muenster school board the bishop quoted Mother Perpetua, Superior of Holy Angels' Convent, Jonesboro, Ark., as preferring to withdraw the sisters from Muenster if the parochial school is absorbed into the public school system, which she said would be better than submit to the eventual humiliation of being forced out later by public school authorities.

The quote did not mention the basis on which such a development is anticipated, and members of the school board stated it must be the result of a misunderstanding because the proposal as submitted by them provides for a year to year agreement which can be dissolved by either side if and when the arrangement proves to be unsatisfactory. They further stated that qualifications to participate in the proposed consolidated program are identical to those required for maintaining accreditation in the parochial school.

Whatever the reasons behind the failure to consolidate, the result is that Muenster will continue to have two separate school systems, and the parochial school will continue its former expansion plan which includes the erection of more classroom space and the addition of vocational subjects.

In connection with these developments the school trustees have decided to publicize a summary of the consolidation plan drawn up by themselves with the advice of Father Louis Deuster and the approval of the Texas Education Agency in order to let the community judge on the merits of their proposal. Substantially it is as follows.

To lease present parochial facilities and hire nuns who qualify under state school requirements. To operate two elementary departments in separate buildings because the large enrollment requires such an arrangement and also allows parents a choice of nuns or lay teachers for their children. To have a combined high school department with nuns in the parochial building and lay teachers in the public school building, the nuns

PVT. WILFRED HESS, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hess, is taking basic army training at Fort Bliss, El Paso since May 16. He was inducted into the service in Dallas on April 28. His complete address is: Pvt. Wilfred F. Hess; US 54125748; Btry. D-9, AAA RTC; Fort Bliss, Texas.

Kiwanis Pee Wees Beat Scouts 11-7

Muenster Boy Scouts played a good game all the way through but they were outclassed and finally outscored 11 to 7 in their game with the Kiwanis sponsored Pee Wees of Gainesville here Friday night.

In the first inning the local lads jumped to a 4 point lead as the visiting hurler had trouble pitching from the regular pitcher's box, but tallied only 3 more after the box was moved forward for the regulation Pee Wee distance in the second inning.

Meanwhile Howard Mollenkopf, with one arm in a sling, pitched a steady game for the scouts all the way through and capped the performance by laying down a one-handed bunt and beating it out for a hit.

The Kiwanis enjoyed a slight advantage in size and experience over the scouts. Most of them were 14 years old. The scouts averaged two years younger.

New Farms Eligible For Wheat Allotment

Farmers on land on which no wheat was seeded for any of the years 1951, 1952 and 1953 may apply for a 1954 wheat acreage allotment, according to C. M. Porter, Chairman of the Cooke County Production and Marketing Administration Committee.

To be considered for an allotment on a farm which had no wheat seeded for any of these years, the farmer must make his application at the county PMA office located in the basement of the court house, not later than June 30, 1953.

Blank application forms are available at the county PMA office for use in filing requests for allotments.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sprengel and two daughters have moved to Muenster to make their home in the former Maggie Grewing house. He is employed at the J. B. Wilde Garage. Formerly of Pilot Point, the Sprengels had been residing in Gainesville until living quarters were available here.

Harvesting Steady On Best Grain Crop In Muenster History

As harvesting hits its peak in this area it is becoming more apparent that the year's grain crop is by far the best ever. Yields that used to be considered as phenomenal are average this year and yields that used to be unbelievable are happening here and there. On the other hand the average good crop of normal years isn't worth mentioning now.

A. C. Enderby reports that he averaged 52 bushels of wheat per acre on a 15 acre field and 36.5 on his entire crop of 150 acres. His brother Joe averaged 58 on 8 acres and Ike Fulton averaged 48 on 6 acres. Another report, unconfirmed at this time, is that a farmer at Hood averaged 80 on a small field.

Those are some of the exceptional reports, however other reports indicate that average yields are doing very well. Al Trubenbach figured his crop at 34 per. Arthur Hellman made 36 per on a 30 acre field and estimates that another field now being combined will yield about 30. Tony Walterscheid isn't far enough along to make a good estimate but others are saying he will average about 40.

In most cases it is still too early to figure yields over the community. Very few have finished their combining and they cannot estimate the average until they know the total crop. All that is certain so far is that grain is abundant and quality is good. Tests run from 60 to 63, according to a report from Arthur Felderhoff. Another report is that practically all the better crops are in legume-treated fields.

Reports on oats are less stupendous but still good. Arthur Hellman expects to average 75 on one field. Emmitt Yoder reports on crop of over 100 per.

Weather continues to be ideal for the grain harvest... hot, dry and breezy... but it's definitely bad for pastures, alfalfa and other growing crops.

Vows Exchanged by Doris Lee Eberhart And Monte Hellman

Miss Doris Lee Eberhart and Monte Hellman exchanged marriage vows Tuesday morning in a double ring ceremony performed in Sacred Heart church at 8 o'clock. Rev. Thomas Weinzapfel of Dallas officiated at the service and was celebrant of the nuptial mass.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hellman and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Hellman.

Clarence Hellman gave the bride in marriage. She was lovely in a waltz length gown of white Chantilly lace and nylon net over satin. The fitted, strapless bodice was topped with a lace jacket designed with Peter Pan collar and long petal point sleeves. Scalloped lace inserts adorned the bouffant skirt.

The fingertip length veil of French illusion was scalloped and fell from a stiffly starched Chantilly lace crown.

The bride carried an orchid and stephanotis atop a white prayer book which was carried by the groom's grandmother, Mrs. G. H. Hellman, at her wedding 48 years ago. Her white linen handkerchief was made by Mrs. Ben Hellman. She wore pearl earrings, a gift from the groom.

Miss Mary Nell Hellman was her sister's maid of honor wearing a yellow organdy dress in waltz length with a hooped skirt. She wore a yellow lace crown and carried an arm bouquet of orchid asters.

Damian Hellman attended his brother as best man. Both wore navy blue trousers and white coats. Glenn Hellman and Herbie Herr were ushers.

The bride's mother wore a white linen dress with a black straw picture hat and other accessories in black. The groom's mother wore a black faille dress with white accessories. Both had corsages of pink carnations.

Grandmothers of the couple, Mmes. John Eberhart, Catherine Huchton, Ben Hellman and G. H. Hellman, had white carnation corsages, and the grandfathers, Frank Trubebach and G. H. Hellman wore white carnation boutonnières. The third grandfather, John Eberhart, was unable to attend the wedding due to illness.

Anthony Luke, organist, presented the wedding music, with Miss Pauline Myrick as soloist. She sang three selections.

The church was decorated with white, yellow and orchid gladioli, carrying out the bride's chosen colors.

Immediately after the services, members of the bridal party were guests at a breakfast given by the bride's aunt, Mrs. Richard Trachta, in her home. The table was laid with a homespun linen cloth made by the groom's paternal great, great grandmother. It is four generations old and is traditional in all family weddings.

Luncheon was served at 1 o'clock in the Rudy Hellman home for family members, and a reception and buffet supper were held in the Clarence Hellman home. Miss Gretchen Hellman, sister of the groom, presided at the bride's book registering 125 guests.

The home was decorated with orchid and yellow cut flowers and yellow and white glads.

The three tiered wedding cake centered the bride's table which was laid with a handsome cut work cloth hand made by Mrs. Ben Hellman.

A dance at night in the VFW Hall concluded the day's festivities.

When the couple left on their wedding trip that will take them to Milwaukee, Wis., where they will make their home, the bride was wearing a light grey dress with navy accessories and the orchid from her wedding bouquet.

Mr. and Mrs. Hellman are both graduates of Sacred Heart High school. She is a 1952 graduate of St. Paul's School of Nursing in Dallas and has been employed at Mount Sinai hospital in Milwaukee for the past five months. She will continue her work there.

Mr. Hellman graduated from Marquette University in 1952 and is now a junior in medical school at Marquette. He will receive his medical degree in June 1955.

The American Way

ATLEEISM
 By George Peck

Isn't it high time that we, the American people, begin to realize that ninety-nine per cent of the criticism levelled at Senator Joseph R. McCarthy gets its impetus from the Commies and their pals, the Pinkos, who infest this nation?

These subversives have good reason to hate the Senator from Wisconsin. Not being burdened with any scruples, there is nothing to which they will not stoop in their frenzy to besmirch the man who, more than any other American, has exposed them for what they are—the enemies of America.

We should love Senator McCarthy for these enemies he has made. And the more these traitors within our gates vent their spleen upon him, the greater should be our love for him and the stronger we should rally behind him in his efforts to have every last one of them removed from Government, school, church, radio, television, motion pictures and stage.

And we owe Senator McCarthy a further vote of thanks for telling ex-Premier Attlee a thing or three after the latter sounded off last month before the British parliament with a snide attack on the U. S. A. Mr. McCarthy took up the cudgels on behalf of all of us in letting Mr. Attlee know how this nation feels about having its hand bitten by the British bulldog, which animal Americans have been feeding for so long a time. Somehow I seem to prefer McCarthyism to Attleeism.

Another champion of America is Senator William E. Jenner (Republican of Indiana). On May 13, 1953, he issued a statement to the press which I am not only happy to quote here, but to add that it is a statement with which I most heartily concur. Said the Hoosier Senator:

"Ex-Premier Clement Attlee has told us he does not approve of the American Constitution. Attlee insists that President Eisenhower shall attend a personal conference of the executive heads of the Big Powers, and that he shall come with full authority, unimpeded by the powers the American Constitution has given to Congress.

"Americans have chosen limited government. Mr. Attlee prefers a government in which the executive has unlimited power.

"Perhaps we can better understand Mr. Attlee's criticisms of the United States, and those of his party when we see clearly his political ideology.

"Admiral Leahy in his book, I WAS THERE, quotes a letter he wrote to President Roosevelt on January 25, 1942, with a report that 'Mr. Churchill will in the near future be replaced as Prime Minister by Major Attlee who is the only person in England acceptable to the Soviet and to British Labor.'

"Perhaps that explains why Major Attlee is ready now to bring Red China into the UN and the Security Council, even while the blood of American soldiers is being spilled today in Korea. Churchill did not oppose the sell-out to Red China. He said only that we should wait until we have an armistice first, but he would put the Chinese Reds on the governing board of the UN over our forces in Korea and Japan.

"This is the thanks we get for the billions we have given to Britain. Twice we saved her from defeat. Again and again we have saved her from bankruptcy. Now we are told to come to terms with Britain's friend and our enemy, even if we must by-pass the Constitution to sell out our country."

Well said, Senator Jenner. All of us are sleeping better nights in the knowledge that we have men like you and Senator McCarthy in the U. S. Senate. Jennerism and McCarthyism are synonyms for Americanism. You can write your own ticket as to a synonym for Attleeism. My own is not suitable for printing in this respectable newspaper.

Sidewalk Saints Are On The Increase

The most urgent need of our times is sanctity. We know the names of yesterday's saints, but what of holiness in our own day?

Tomorrow's saints are on earth today—their sanctity hidden, unrecognized. But I am convinced our generation is extremely productive of saints, more so doubtless than any other period of Christian history. What is even more wonderful and even more easily proved: our saints are found on every level of this generation's life, especially among laymen.

The heroic sanctity which I assert is the need of the hour shows up in the most surprising places. On Sunday, June 7, 1925, a humble workman, Matt Talbot, dies suddenly in a street. Under his clothes are found instruments of penance. For forty years he has practiced austerities reminiscent of legends of the hermits of old. None had known his sanctity during his lifetime. He dies. Interest is aroused. Within six months following the publication of a sketch of his life, twenty thousand copies have been bought up by other workers.

Among the soldiers who die in World War I is a young lieutenant, killed as soon as he reaches the front. In his knapsack they find a spiritual diary revealing the heroic holiness which the Church gave him. It is the document of a saint. The spiritual reflections of that soldier have ever since inspired many thousands of young soldiers.

We hear so much of the evil geniuses of our day: of the dictators, the racketeers, the perverse and the traitors. It is well that we recall occasionally the other side of the ledger.

Christian heroism, heroic holiness among men, is the one and only solution of the problems of life. It is precisely when the state of human history seems worst that God pours forth His most abundant graces and prepares for the richest harvest of holiness.

It is my conviction that such a harvest is in preparation among us, and that this period of history will see more sanctity among the laity than any other century has witnessed.—(By Archbishop Richard J. Cushing.)

Customer: Say, waiter, this steak isn't very tender."

Waiter: If it's affection you're seeking, sir, you'll have to speak to the cashier.

Conscience is the only clue which will eternally guide a President clear of all doubts and inconsistencies.—Jefferson

One reason so many children are seen on the streets at night is that they're afraid to stay home alone.

CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY

Little Miss Gloria Haverkamp celebrated her fifth birthday Tuesday with a party at the home of her parents, the Leo J. Haverkamps. Her mother directed games and served refreshments to Randy, Charlene and Rickey Wimmer, Douglas Otto, Janice and Ruthie Yosten, who remembered the honoree with gifts. Mothers present were Mrs. Charlie Wimmer and Mrs. Ray Otto.

Soil Conservation Notes

Grass fires have become a hazard in the Muenster area this spring, according to local soil conservation technicians who explain that there exists a real danger from fire sweeping across the pastures and causing severe damage to the small amount of grass that remains.

The fire hazard of grasslands has come about from a combination of the tricks of nature. Last year during the drought permanent grasses were overgrazed and severely injured on most farms. As a result the grasses have made a weak, slow growth this year. The weakened condition of base grasses has given annual grasses and weeds a chance to grow. Annual bromegrasses and weeds have taken full advantage of the situation and have grown profusely. They are mature now and have turned pastures brown with their dried forage and brown seed heads. They present a fire hazard that cannot be ignored. A fire sweeping across pastureland now during this dry weather would kill out the base grasses and destroy all grazing prospects for this summer.

Earthen tanks to supply livestock water have been constructed on farms operated by Charlie Randall at Myra and on the H. C. Knox farm near Forestburg.

Meetings to discuss the principles of range management and benefits from growing vetch were held recently in the Bulcher and Forestburg communities. Soil conservation service technicians from Muenster led the discussion and presented grass and vetch samples and clipping along with production figures to bring out management principles. Attending the meeting at Bulcher were E. Newby, Wayne Dennis, Weldon Dennis, Dexter Dowd, C. C. Hilderbrand and J. B. Dennis.

Attending the Forestburg meeting were J. P. Hudspeth, Mack Traylor, Howard Sledge, John Barclay, J. M. Dunn, Virgil Greenwood, Andy Lee Knox; Ollie Coleman, Willie Orrell, H. C. Knox, Ben Perryman, William and Johnny Moore, Lonnie Young, and Clay Sparks vocational ag teacher at Forestburg.

PICTURE ARRANGING IS TOPIC AT BULCHER CLUB

Picture Arranging was the topic discussed at the regular meeting of the Bulcher Home Demonstration Club on June 4. Mrs. Johnny West was in charge of the program. She showed a variety of pictures and demonstrated ways to arrange different types of pictures.

The meeting was held in the community center building with Mrs. Bailey Dennis as hostess. Mrs. Frieda Dowd presided during the business session and Mrs. Ava Dennis read the club creed. Members answered roll call with: The Kind of Pictures I Like Best.

During the recreational hour Sunshine gifts were exchanged and Secret Pals' names were revealed. It was decided to discontinue the gift exchange and to honor each member on her birthday instead.

The hostess served refreshments to 11 members and five children.

Post Office Raises Box Rental Rates

Effective July 1 box rent rates in the Muenster post office will advance in compliance with a bulletin received by Arthur Endres. It is the first increase in box rent rates since 1907 and applies to every post office in the nation.

New quarterly rates for Muenster, based on the $10,000 to $40,000 annual gross receipts schedule drawn up by the post office department, are as follows:

former 45c boxes, now 90c
former 60c boxes, now $1.10
former 75c boxes, now $1.50

Actually the increase represents a double jump in rental prices to Muenster box holders. Along with the general advance local boxes are subject to another advance as a result of the post office's increased receipts. Gross income in 1952 exceeded $10,000 and increase in box rents because of that increase becomes effective July 1. From July 1, 1946, up to now local rates were determined by the $5,000 to $10,000 classification.

Blessed Events

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Swirczynski of Fort Worth announce the arrival of their daughter on June 2. They have one other child, a son, James.

Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Andrews of Fort Worth have announced the birth of their first child, a six pound 11 ounce daughter named Carla Kay. She is the great granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reeve Cooke of Muenster and the granddaughter of the S. L. Duffey of Fort Worth, formerly of Marysville. Mrs. Andrews is the former Barbara Lou Duffey.

SCHAD FAMILIES HAVE ALL-DAY REUNION SUNDAY

Members of the Schad families gathered for a reunion Sunday in the home of the Henry Schads in Gainesville. The get-together honored Sister Robertine of Bellville, Ill. She is a sister of Henry, Joe and Miss Lena Schad of Gainesville and Mrs. Annie Fox of Waco, and a sister-in-law of Mrs. Sophie Schad of Lindsay. Making up the party were family members from Muenster, Lindsay and Gainesville, the James Foxes of Dallas and Mrs. Annie Fox of Waco. She remained for an extended visit with relatives.

Mrs. Lottie Winchester, route 3, received medical care at Gainesville Sanitarium this week.

RANCHERS OPPOSE FEDERAL CONTROLS

Gov. Thornton of Colorado told President Eisenhower recently that 85 to 90 per cent of Western cattle growers don't want "government handouts or subsidies."

The cattlemen, Mr. Thornton explained, prefer to be left on a "free enterprise basis" rather than be subsidized and controlled by the Federal government. The ranchers believe, the governor added, that they are paying too much for feed grain, but expect that situation to work itself out.

the bus system, is considerably over $30,000 a year. If contemplated expansions are realized the annual expense, to the parish, would exceed $40,000. And if a new building were erected interest and principal costs would add at least another $10,000. By conservative estimate, the parish can save more than $50,000 a year by consolidating its schools.

Still another proposal made by the board concerns additional classroom facilities. If the parish were to build it, the public school could arrange to pay a reasonable lease if the district passed an additional small tax to provide the funds. There's little chance that the community would fail to see the benefit of such a tax.

That's the proposal in general . . . offered to preserve the community's traditional religious training along with developing a better school system and saving many thousands of dollars a year. And just in case it doesn't work out as proposed it includes the provision that the agreement can be terminated if either side desires.

Sunday Show Stars
C. Boyer as Jesuit

A remarkable act of faith is the theme of "The First Legion" appearing on the screen of the Relax Theatre next Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, June 14, 15, 16.

The brilliant cast is headed by Charles Boyer—who gives up his romantic roles for that of a Jesuit priest.

Leo G. Carroll plays the role of the head priest in the seminary, and William Demarest portrays the casual, witty parish priest. Barbara Rush gives a heart-touching characterization of the semi-invalid, whose faith and belief brought her the gift of a remarkable cure.

The film was adapted by Emmet Lavery from his own stirring play of the same title.

A special prevue has been arranged by the Relax management for members of the clergy, press and radio Saturday morning at 10 o'clock.

school will have more opportunities.

The only problem is the expense. To support the proposed private system folks of the parish will be expected to pay an annual operations cost of close to $50,000 besides retiring the debt on a new building. The cost of that structure has not been announced here to date but a building trade journal has just published an item saying that plans are being drawn for a $240,000 parish school at Muenster. Add that amount to the new church debt to estimate the total parish obligation. Then add the annual expense of operating church and school to determine what people will have to pay. Will they do it? Can they do it?

Instead of taking on that kind of a burden why not solve the problem by claiming our rightful share of the state school fund? The parish need not spend a penny on school expense . . . nor compromise its principles . . . in developing one of the finest school systems of the state.

From the looks of things now, we have at least another year to think it over. During that time let's try to concentrate more on the issues and less on the personal antagonisms that have developed so far.

provide as much religious instruction as before?

Well, that's how it was proposed. As regards elementary grades there would be no change whatever. The same teachers and the same pupils in the same building . . . because enrollment will be large enough to require more than one teacher in every grade, so every parent who wants to keep children under the sisters' instruction will have that opportunity.

In high school the proposal is to arrange for religious instruction besides having nuns as teachers in some of the classes. Still another proposal was to have Father Louis serve as the school's principal, and the position has been offered to him. Considering all the angles it is obvious that the school board was trying to work in harmony with the aims and ideals of the parish. There is no doubt that the system could have worked if people had wanted it to.

Even in the event of future state regulations or any other developments not compatible with parish ideals there's always the possibility of ending the arrangement. The parish would still have its own property and its own teachers. The whole deal is clearly a case of everything to gain and nothing to lose.

Since the plan is not adopted, however, we can be grateful that the bishop has decided to keep the parochial school forging ahead. Approval of a new building and additional courses is fine. Kids attending the parochial
