MUENSTER, COOKE COUNTY, TEXAS,

APRIL 15, 1955

NUMBER 21

The $64 question of the year... what to do about Quemoy and Matsu islands... got another airing Monday night as Adlai Stevenson rambled through about 4,000 words without stating definitely that the islands should or should not be defended by this country against a red Chinese attack.

Perhaps that was his indirect way of saying that we should pull out if a show down comes. It just seems he was inviting people to infer that such a course is better than getting ourselves involved.

If such is the case it can be said that his talk definitely was not good for the cause of world freedom. He'd have rendered a far greater service if he had come out boldly to rally public opinion in determined support of the islands.

Actually, there's a question as to whether the appeasement policy is even expedient. Considering the harm to our country's prestige, the greater difficulty in our later defense of Formosa, and the increasing world threat that accompanies further spread of communism, it would seem that plain judgment requires us to stand pat.

Fortunately President Eisenhower shows no signs of revealing his plans with regard to the islands, even though there are good reasons to believe he has made up his mind. Military judgment generally agrees that the islands are vital to the defense of Formosa, and Ike has said that they will be defended if, in his opinion, they are essential for meeting that obligation.

Besides, we would expect the president to consider principle, which stands strongly in support of defending the islands. It's plainly obvious that this country's betrayals during the past decade are responsible for the present Chinese mess.

And that's not all. Helping the Chinese is a part of our more comprehensive duty to work ceaselessly toward the eventual removal of the red menace everywhere. We, more than any other people, facilitated its spread.

As matters stand now Eisenhower is in a splendid position to apply both principle and strategy. He can do a better job of protecting the last remnant of freedom, of checking further red conquest, or of supporting a Nationalist campaign of liberation.

Of course he is also risking war, and that seems to be the big worry of so many people. However, in this we should give him credit for realizing that we and the rest of the free world have better chances now, with definite advantages on our side, than we would have after making concessions.

Like Stevenson, we all hate the thought of another war. At the same time we ought to consider which is the better for us... (Continued on Page 10)

AMMUNITION FOR "V" DAY—Workers at Eli Lilly and Company, Indianapolis, Ind., are among employees of several pharmaceutical houses packaging vials of polio vaccine in anticipation of "V-Day"—vaccination day—which will occur across the nation at times set by separate communities. Children in first and second grades—an age bracket highly susceptible to the disease—will receive the three-shot Salk treatment on a voluntary basis under a program sponsored by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. Because the supply of vaccine is still limited, only children in certain other specific age groups will be able to receive the shots at this time.

Homes of District Receive Booklet On Local School

The 24 page booklet entitled "A Look at Your Public School," published by the local trustees and Superintendent H. H. Homsley, reached practically all homes of the district in Wednesday's and Thursday's mail.

Homsley said Wednesday that so far as he knows a copy has been sent to every family, however, any home that might have been overlooked is urged to write or phone for a copy. "We are proud of it, and we want it in every home," he said.

The booklet gives a comprehensive picture of the local school system including class work, athletics, activities, financial structure, cooperation with Sacred Heart School, future possibilities and a glance at the community supporting it.

A map shows the district of 180 square miles, 643 scholastics and valuation of $3,961,460, and a two-page spread shows where school money comes from and how it is spent.

Pictures snapped at classes include one in Sacred Heart School indicating the cooperative arrangement in which a small number of each school attend special classes in the other. Another view shows public school students, on released time, attending a religion class with Sacred Heart students. The bus system shows another cooperative arrangement in which both schools save by contracting with a common carrier.

A chart shows that the list of subjects offered here is almost equal to that in most schools of twice the size, and another shows that the list could be made considerably larger in a system including all children of the district. It is also indicated that such a system would add more than $60,000 to the annual district revenue and allow increasing the faculty from 13 to 30.

The book also acknowledges the help given to the school by several local organizations and ends with a group of views showing industries and resources reflecting the economic stability upon which the school district is founded.

Rigler Will Talk At P-TA Meeting

A talk by Lewis Rigler, Texas Ranger stationed at Gainesville, will feature next Tuesday night's P-TA meeting, Mrs. Ervin Hamric, president announced this week.

Also on the meeting's program is the organization's annual election of officers.

Bob Swirczynski of Ardmore visited relatives here last Friday and was accompanied back by his son, Roy, who spent the holidays at home. He attends school here.

MHS Juniors Stage Class Play April 18

"Hillbilly Courtship," a feudin' and fightin' comedy, will be presented by the junior class of Muenster High school next Monday, April 18, in the school auditorium at 8 p.m.

The play is about a feud between the Peppins and the Stilbuys led by Ma Peppins enacted by Juanita Wieler, and Pa Stilbuys portrayed by Billy Nieball who are the "feudin'est" of all the hillbillies until pa's son, played by Wallace Dougherty, and Ma's daughter, played by Queenie Homsley, strike up a romance that finally brings the two families together on peaceful terms.

Lawrence Milner takes the part of the village half-wit and Norma Klement and Wanda Richey are kitted hillbillies who have been singing on the radio. Others in the cast are Don Flusche, Colette Hellman, Jimmy Jack Biffle and Jimmy Harris.

Lawrence Bruns and Mrs. John Hosea are directing the production.

Banquet Wednesday To Honor Athletes Of Parochial High

Members of the Sacred Heart High football and basketball teams will be the honored guests next Wednesday night, April 20, at the school's athletic banquet in the parish lunch room. The annual social event, formerly given for the football team, was changed this year to include participants in both sports and was postponed until the end of the basketball season.

A part of the program will consist of presenting basketball awards, which are expected to arrive in time for the banquet. Football lettermen, who received their awards shortly after the season, will also be recognized. The banquet will be followed by a dance in the parish hall.

Tickets can be obtained now from Mrs. George Mollenkopf, Mrs. Al Walterscheid, Variety Store, Farmers' Store and Main Cafe. The price is $1.00 per person. Persons who wish to attend are asked to get their tickets on or before next Monday. That date has been set as the deadline so cooks can know in advance how many to prepare for.

Films to Feature Garden Club Meet

An extra treat at the regular meeting of the Civic League and Garden Club next Monday night will be the showing of travel films and other interesting movies by Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Schmidt of Sanier.

All members are invited to bring their husbands to the meeting. It was pointed out that some of the films are of special interest to men.

Mrs. Ben Luke will be hostess in her home and urges a full attendance. The time is 8 p.m.

Wiesman, Bengfort Retained on Board Of Electric Co-op

Al Wiesman of Muenster and Joe Bengfort of Lindsay were re-elected to three year terms on the board of directors of the Cooke County Electric Cooperative Association at the organization's annual general meeting Tuesday night in the Muenster High School auditorium.

Both were unanimously elected. Their names had been recommended by a nominating committee and no other candidates were nominated at the meeting.

Promptly after the meeting the directors held a short session to elect their officers for the coming year, and the decision again was to retain officers in their former positions. They are Jack Crowner of Nocona, president, Al Wiesman, vice-president, and J. A. Klement, secretary treasurer. The other directors are Bengfort, Tom Skinner of Nocona, R. M. Felty of Hood, and Doye Doty of Valley View.

The meeting, attended by 225 members and about the same number of visitors, started with entertainment by the Larry Sterling band of Nocona, which is named after the youngest member of the group, a 7 year old fiddler who put on a delightful show. It included several numbers featuring him, songs by two girls and an impersonation of a famous radio personality by Mrs. Joe Allyson of Nocona. An invocation by Rev. D. S. Pettijohn and a welcome by Mayor Endres preceded the business session.

In addition to the election of directors and a report on the year's business, the meeting presented a talk on the future of REA co-ops by Manager M. D. Kaderli. He discussed recommendations of the Hoover Commission, especially that which calls for transfer of financing to private concerns and of supervision to the Federal Power Commission. Those changes, if made, may cause changes in operation of the co-ops, he said.

The meeting ended with the traditional drawing for attendance prizes. However the list of prizes was somewhat smaller this year because each member received a billfold as he registered.

Winners and their prizes were as follows: Mrs. M. C. Corbin, Muenster, 8 cup coffee maker; F. J. Zimmerer, Lindsay, Electric Clock; Roy Atteberry, Muenster, coffee maker; Meinrad Hesse, Muenster, clock; Everett Kile, Whitesboro, electric shaver; Charlie Myers, Hood, coffee maker; J. P. Hill, Bonita, Porta-Vac sweeper; Mrs. Mack Smith, Forestburg, electric iron.

New Regulations Show Lower Rates For Car Insurance

Good news for most car insurance purchasers is the new set of rates just released by the State Insurance Department of Texas. According to reports Tuesday from Ray Wilde and Earl Fisher, the rate has increased for young men under 25, but all others, especially farmers and ranchers, can insure their vehicles for less than before.

Rates have been reduced on fire, theft, collision and liability coverage on all cars. In addition farmers and ranchers are entitled to a discount of 20 per cent from the regular collision and liability charges. The reason for the better price is that farmers and ranchers not only drive less but also drive mostly on rural roads, where they are less likely to have accidents.

Another feature of the new regulation favors boys and girls who have had a course of driver training approved by the Texas Education Agency. They are entitled to a 10 per cent discount from the rate they would otherwise have to pay.

Still another feature is an opportunity to include compensation for death or disability with car insurance for a small additional charge.

The new regulation also acknowledges the fact that women under 25 have a better driving record than men in the same age bracket. Their insurance rate has been reduced, the men's increased.

Primary Pupils to Get Polio Vaccine Shots Next Week

Salk vaccine shots for immunization against polio will probably be available here during the coming week end. Dr. T. S. Myrick disclosed Wednesday that he expects his shipment of the vaccine to arrive on Friday or Saturday.

Immediately after that persons other than first and second graders can get their shots. The small school children, those who have permission of parents, will receive the shots free in cooperation with the nation wide vaccination of primary pupils. The date and time for those shots will be set at the convenience of teachers and the doctor.

Parents who wish to have their children take the polio shots are reminded again that they must submit their written permission to the teachers. Also, they are advised to send in their statements Monday morning or before, so permission will be there in case the shots can be given early in the week.

Other persons wanting the vaccine will have to pay the rate of $6.00 for the course of three shots.

Local Trackmen Run In Tarleton Relay

Muenster High trackmen got a few points and more experience last Saturday as they participated in the fourth annual Tarleton State Relay at Stephenville. Joe Noggler scored in three events for a total of seven points but other entries failed to help the count. Noggler was second in the 220 and third in the 100 and the broad jump. However his best performances were the preliminaries of the two sprints, in which he set new records for the 4-year old Tarleton meet. He clocked 10 second flat on the 100 and 21.7 on the 220. Ammons of Mineral Wells edged him in both final races.

In other Muenster entries Dougherty ran sixth in the 880, Harris ran sixth in the mile and the 440 relay team ran fifth. Moon failed to qualify for the discus final.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Wolf visited his mother, Mrs. Henry Wolf, Sr., in Dallas Monday. She is a patient at Gaston Hospital.

County Will Vote May 7 on Special 10c Tax for Roads

For the third time in about 8 months, voters of Cooke County are asked to approve an additional ad valorem tax for the purpose of raising money to finance a road improvement program. The request differs however from the two previous requests in that it specifies an increase of 10 cents per $100 of valuation whereas the others specified an increase of 30 cents.

Members of the commissioners court in their regular session Monday ordered the special tax election for Saturday, May 7.

Their decision was prompted by the report of a state highway representative and also by the urging of a group of business men.

The highway representative said that money has been appropriated for re-building Highway 82 between Gainesville and the Grayson County line into a four-lane road, however the project cannot proceed unless the county arranges to provide the necessary right of way. He further stated that the project will be cancelled and the money spent elsewhere if the county does not qualify soon.

The group of business men urged the commissioners to act immediately and take no chances of missing the opportunity. Some were formerly members of the group which led the opposition against the two 30 cent tax elections. At that time they agreed that some funds should be provided to finance the proposed road improvement but insisted that the amount asked was too high, stating that 10 cents would be more reasonable.

According to the court's estimate the proposed tax will increase the county's available fund by about $30,000 a year. They (Continued on Page 10)

Four Groups Play At Spring Concert And Variety Show

Four concerts in one, with a few individual acts added for good measure, made up the Spring Concert and Variety Show presented by Bill Searcy's Muenster Band Wednesday night in the Muenster High auditorium.

The program opened with six numbers by the beginning band. Next came the high school concert band with five concert numbers and a novelty "Serenade to an Insomniac".

The variety show featured the Rhythmairs orchestra, which is made up mostly of Muenster Band members. It consisted of three orchestra numbers, one accompanied by a dancing octette, a novelty version of "The Three Bears", another novelty entitled "Coke Bottle Symphony", a vocal solo by Marcelene Wimmer, and an accordion and harmonica novelty act by E. E. Seely of Denison. Seely worked the crowd when he sang while playing the harmonica and accordion, then again when he hummed and played the two instruments... while hiding a lighted cigarette in his mouth.

The last concert was presented by the 306th Army Reserve stage band of Dallas, a unit which has been playing on high school programs in North Texas. Director Bill Searcy is a member of the band. Along with its program of five numbers the band presented three young ladies, one in a solo and the other two in a Charleston dance.

Soil Conservation Notes

Rains of the past week have caused a slow down in conservation measures being applied by cooperators of the Upper Elm-Red Soil Conservation District. This slow down is only temporary, however, and should actually speed up work as soon as ground dries enough to permit work in the fields. Cooperators who intend to use the district-owned grass seed drills are urged to make their arrangements so that every one won't want them at the same time.

Martin Bayer has recently planted an acre of Coastal Bermuda grass on his farm north of Muenster. He intends to use this high producing grass as pasture. Hubert Felderhoff and Sons have also planted about an acre of Coastal Bermuda.

Bermuda grass plantings have about stopped now because it is late enough in the season to make it hard to get roots which have not begun to grow.

Cler Brothers began thinking about getting a better stand of King Ranch Bluestem on the lower part of the waterway on the home place last summer. So they baled hay on the upper part of the waterway in order to get the seed. This hay has been stored all winter and now they are ready to scatter it to improve their stand of grass.

Sodding operations on three of the new flood prevention reservoirs are scheduled to begin Tuesday in order to give the dams a fresh coat of grass to cover up bare slopes which need protection from erosion. These operations have been held up due to lack of moisture. In case there is another dry spell there should be enough water in these sites to allow irrigation to make sure the grass on these dams will live.

Cooperators around Muenster who have new farm ponds are Rafe McElreath and H. E. McElreath. These ponds are on places near Marysville. Both ponds will permit better grass management by providing a better distribution of livestock water.

YOUR TURN, PRAVDA

According to press dispatches, Russian spokesmen have boasted that one of their plants, employing 350 men, had produced 750,000 tons of dolomite in a year. They claimed that this is a world's record, and attributed it to "socialist competition."

Their answer came in a letter to Pravda, the Soviet newspaper, written by workers in a Michigan dolomite operation, which has 200 men on the payroll. The letter said that this operation had passed the 750,000 ton mark six years ago and produced more than 2,500,000 tons in 1954. It continued: "We boys are paid immensely better than your boys. And we have job security. We can quit any time we want to and move on somewhere else. We can own our own homes and vote as we please, and worship God as we please—and if we please. Liberty is a great producer of many things, including dolomite."

What have you got to say to that, Pravda?

GOOD NEWS FOR THE COMMUNISTS

If a survey made by the Opinion Research Corporation among seniors in 86 high schools, scattered across the country, is correct, there is something alarmingly wrong with American education.

According to the results, 82 per cent of these students do not believe we have competition in business; 60 per cent feel owners get too large a share of the profits; 61 per cent reject the profit motive as necessary to the survival of our free system; 55 per cent accept the classic communist doctrine of "from each according to ability, to each according to needs," and 60 per cent think a worker should not produce all he can.

This should make the men in the Kremlin and our other ideological enemies happy. For, if such views are widely held and acted upon by our citizens of tomorrow, we will destroy this nation from within—which is what the Communists want beyond anything else.

HEARING IS SEEING

If you wear glasses, and have a notion you hear better with them on, you're right! And similarly, those who wear hearing aids see better when they are using them.

The close partnership of the eye and ear, which psychologists have long suspected, has finally been proved in scientific tests reported by the American Hearing Aid Association. As otologists (ear doctors to you) have known for years, speech is normally controlled by the ear. Thus, any substantial loss of hearing which exists at birth, or occurs soon thereafter, will hinder both language development and the establishment of adequate speech habits. And we can now add that vision, as well as hearing, will be less perceptive.

Another established fact, not well enough understood, is that hearing losses which occur after childhood may cause speech defects in those who previously spoke in a normal manner. When the ear can no longer serve as a monitor—when you can't hear your own voice clearly—a slow speech degeneration sets in. Enunciation becomes blurred. Monotony replaces the normal melody of speech. Intonations disappear and the voice becomes rigid. And, as the hearing loss grows, the speaker loses control of the loudness of his own voice.

Unfortunately, a hearing loss can be so gradual that it is far more difficult for the individual to detect than impairment of vision. Thus, it is of the utmost importance that if there is any suspicion of hearing loss—especially with children—to see your physician, an ear doctor or a hearing aid specialist without delay. When you see better, you hear better—and vice-versa.

The Power of Prayer

"A physician who walks into a sickroom is not alone. He can only minister to the ailing person with the material tools of scientific medicine. His faith in a higher power does the rest." These are the words of Dr.

Muscling In

Elmer Hess, newly-elected president of the American Medical Association, who believes that "any doctor who lacks faith in the Supreme Being has no right to practice medicine."

His words are a challenge, not only to doctors who put their whole trust in science, but to every individual who is tempted to doubt the role faith plays in everyday existence.

Many doctors have testified to cures wrought in seemingly hopeless cases by the power of prayer. History tells of armies that have won extraordinary victories in the flush of religious enthusiasm. Many men and women with only prayer to sustain them have achieved incredible personal triumphs in the face of seemingly hopeless odds.

It has been said that while a man may be able to do nothing alone, with God on his side there is nothing he cannot accomplish. "The more I know," wrote Louis Pasteur, a man great in the annals of medical research, in a letter to his children, "the more nearly is my faith that of a Breton peasant. Could I but know all, I would have the faith of a Breton's wife."

When his ship was torpedoed off the South American coast during World War II, U.S. Seaman Bernard Izzi and four others were left adrift in the open sea for 83 days. They suffered from scorching heat by day, freezing cold by night. They went for days without water. That they survived at all seemed a miracle of human endurance. Seaman Izzi gave the entire credit to prayer:

"I cannot remember how many prayers we offered," he said afterward. "We kept on pleading with God to help us. And I knew our prayers were going to be heard."

Prayer, which is faith in action, is not a formalized set of words necessarily, but a powerful means of tapping the flow of divine energy. "Ask and you shall receive," said Jesus Christ. Numberless are the times when the truth of this promise has been proved in the lives of men.

Nor does faith necessarily reveal its power only in dramatic and mysterious ways. It would be impossible to estimate how many people have been rescued by faith from despair caused by a sudden tragedy in their lives. Or to guess how many otherwise weak and fallible natures have risen to heights of spiritual power and grace—surely the noblest goal of prayer—through steadfast faith in the omnipotence and infinite goodness of God.

PAUSE FOR REFLECTION

... with James C. Ingebretsen, President, Spiritual Mobilization. Instinct largely regulates animals. Mechanical laws regulate machines. But a highly complex combination of mental and emotional responses regulates human beings.

Endowed with some intelligence, they are yet ruled largely by their emotions. This is why the entertainer, who helps us laugh, receives many times the income of the educator, who only helps us learn.

A product that has what advertisers call "snob appeal" sells better than an equally good, or even better, similar product that lacks this appeal.

Style commands far higher prices in clothing than does warmth—or even comfort.

We often drive ourselves crazy trying to keep up with the Joneses without even bothering to find out where the Joneses are going.

Man, with his tarnished halo and broken wings, is indeed both a ludicrous and a pitiful figure. Made for winging upward, he tends to wallow downward. Only the Spirit of God in his heart can give strength enough to his drooping wings to enable him to "take off" and rise above the fears and hates and passions that threaten to destroy him.

TWO FORMS OF TYRANNY

The Secretary of Labor has said that the Right to Work laws, which are now in effect in 17 states, have done more harm than good.

He is entitled to his views. But it is a significant fact that there has been a flood of comment—from newspapers, publicists, government officials, and others—which holds that he is greatly mistaken.

Henry Hazlitt gave a widely-held opinion when he wrote in

God Must Rule Our Lives

By Conrad Hilton, President of Hilton Hotels

WE ALL KNOW people who think that more money, better medicines, greater research and bigger H-Bombs will solve the world's problems. Their answer to communism is to raise the standard of living. That is a good answer but it is only partly right. It responds only to a part of man. It ignores the part that really makes him a man: the image of God in him, his intellect and will.

Since communism is a kind of religion, it must be fought by men and women religiously inspired. Today communism conquers the world and threatens us because we have given up the religion which was once the center of our life and culture. A life without God's conscious influence is a secular life. In taking religion out of our lives we have actually opened the door to communism by letting in secularism, its twin brother.

SECULARISM DOESN'T FIGHT religion or morality; it simply ignores them. Secularism considers God and morality as meaningless for the twentieth century. This drug of secularism is spreading throughout our country and into all our towns and homes. It is dulling our appreciation of the spiritual and is making us think of comfort and health as the only goods. Thus secularism weakens our fight against communism, because like communism it ignores the most important part of our lives: our spiritual part.

The way to fight communism is to fight the secularism of Godlessness in our daily lives. Like all Americans, I admire the greatness of our country and our way of life. I marvel at its freedom of opportunity, its progress in the physical sciences, its tremendous material advancements for better and easier living. Most of all, I admire the goodness and greatness of the American people.

BUT IS IT NECESSARY to cut God completely from a place in that American way of life? I can't run my hotels without God. Mr. Eisenhower has told me he cannot run the country without God. Yet we who are the American people try to run our busy daily lives without any conscious turning to God for help and guidance. True, we may go to Church on Sunday for public worship. But our life goes on seven days a week. Is God and His law at the heart and head of that life?

Each of us has a mission in the fight against communism. Of course we all know what a mission is. When your son or brother was sent on a mission over Germany a few years ago he knew that meant he had a job to do—and he did it. Against communism our mission is to bring Christ to our country and the world to make them strong against their enemy.

OUR MISSION CONSISTS specifically in putting Christ at the center of our lives and to bring Him, His love and His law, into our family, our work, our social and political life. We are all members of the most important task force in history. Unless we accomplish our individual mission to follow Christ and His teaching we jeopardize the whole campaign; we risk a failure that means slavery for ourselves, our country, and the world.

Newsweek: "To compel a man to join a union as a condition of holding his job puts irresponsible power in the hands of union bosses and is a gross infringement on the individual's right to work."

Years ago some employers blacklisted union members. This was tyranny and it was outlawed. What amounts to a blacklisting of non-union workers is equally as bad a tyranny.

"...there shall be ONE fold and ONE shepherd"

Jim Brown read these words in the Gospel of St. John and was deeply disturbed.

Elsewhere in his Bible... in the Epistle to the Ephesians... he noted the exhortation of St. Paul that there be "One Lord, one Faith, one Baptism."

"Where," he asked Father Crane, "is this unity of which the Bible speaks? How is anyone to know which is 'the one Fold... the one Faith... the one Baptism,' when Christ's followers are divided into hundreds of denominations, many holding conflicting beliefs?"

The priest agreed that good and sincere people are indeed confused by the claims and counter-claims of a divided Christianity. Instead of traveling on a single highway clearly marked with the words: "Come—follow me," they find themselves wandering in a network of roads with signs pointing in all directions.

"But how," Jim persisted, "can the average person know what to do? When doctrinal claims contradict one another, how am I to know which is right and which is wrong?"

A study of Christian history, Father Crane replied, will provide a better answer for the troubled and confused than would a study of conflicting creeds.

"History will tell you, Jim," the priest went on, "that Christ proclaimed His intention to establish a Church, with Peter as its head and the other Apostles as its bishops. History further tells us that this is the Catholic Church, which was established during the time of the Apostles, with Peter as its first leader—the first Pope." The Mass, Father Crane continued, was the central act of public worship in the early Church, as it is today. There were seven Sacraments for the early Christians—seven for Catholics the world over today. Catholics of 1,900 years ago confessed to a priest, and they do so today. Catholics believed then, as now, that Baptism removes original sin... that matrimony is a Sacrament, not just a civil ceremony... that bishops and priests receive their powers through a Sacrament instituted by Christ.

"Many people," Father Crane concluded, "who are either uninformed or misinformed about the Catholic Faith, would want to be Catholics if they knew the truth. So all we ask is that you learn for yourself what the Catholic Church teaches and what Catholics, since the days of the Apostles, have sincerely believed."

A free pamphlet explaining why Christ's followers are no longer united in "one Fold"... under "one Shepherd", will be sent in a plain wrapper upon request. And nobody will call on you. Write today for Pamphlet No. KC-39.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Learn How to Pull Together

Saw a kid go by the Clarion office on a brand-new coaster wagon yesterday—and it reminded me of when my brother and I were about forty years younger.

Our folks weren't poor, but there wasn't enough to buy two wagons for Christmas. We got one between us. Dad made a rule that we each could have it for a week—but the boy with the wagon was responsible for keeping the kitchen wood-box filled.

Seemed a bargain to Bud and me—at first. But soon we discovered it was no more fun playing alone than working alone. It wasn't long before we were sharing the wagon in return for sharing the chores.

From where I sit, you can't enjoy a privilege yourself if you're going to deny it to others. There are some folks who want the right to enjoy their favorite beverage—but would deny me my right to an occasional glass of beer. I doubt if such people get their full "share" of happiness, though.

My Competitors

We ran across the following a few days ago and thought it worthy of passing on. A businessman has a plaque on the wall above his desk which reads:

"My competitors do more for me than my friends do; my friends are too polite to point out my weaknesses, but my competitors go to great expense to advertise them.

"My competitors are efficient, diligent, and attentive; they make me search for ways to improve my products and service.

"My competitors would take my business away from me if they could; this keeps me alert to hold what I have.

"If I had no competitors, I would be lazy, incompetent, inattentive; I need the discipline they enforce upon me.

"I salute my competitors; they have been good to me. God bless them all."—The Wylie News.

At 95, He Works a Mere 48-Hour Week

LOUISVILLE, Ky.—At 95, Charles Frederick Breckel has cut down on his work week.

He puts in a mere eight hours a day, six days a week.

The Louisville printer, who operates his own shop, remembers when he got up at 4 a.m. and sometimes worked 16 hours.

Now he gets up at 5 for the 8-hour shift, walking the four blocks from his home to his shop.

Breckel, who thinks he might be the oldest printer in the country, lives strictly by the Benjamin Franklin formula: Early to bed, early to rise.

At the shop, he sets some of the larger type and locks up all the printing forms for the press. And, according to his sons, he's still "boss."

There's a reason he didn't retire when he reached the normal retirement age 30 years ago. It's because he noticed in newspapers that many people died a year or so after they retired.

In his own family, he said, he had a brother who "didn't live very long because he retired." The brother died at the age of 71.

Eating is Better Than 30 Years Ago But Costs No More

WASHINGTON—You are living better today than you did 30 years ago. So says the Dept. of Agriculture.

You do it by eating better foods of far greater variety. And these foods, the department says, do not take any larger share of your earnings than the less varied diet of the early 1920s.

The department backed up its statements in a 44-page pamphlet entitled "More and Better Foods—From Today's Pay Check."

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson leads off the bluish-green covered brochure with this: "An hour of your labor will now buy more food—and better food—for your family than ever before.

"Farmers, food processors, manufacturers, and distributors helped to make this possible by using science and invention to increase and improve their service to consumers.

"The result is that your family is eating more nutritious food of far greater variety."

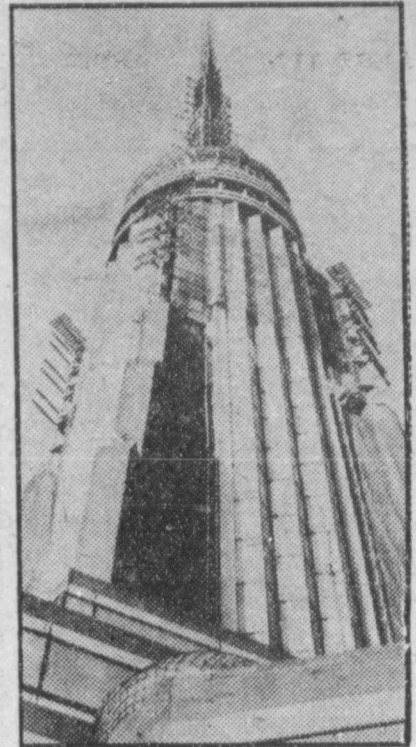

The story about the changes in food production, processing, distribution, and use then is told through cartoons.

The pamphlet shows with appropriate sketches that 30 years ago an hour's take home pay would buy 5 1/2 loaves of bread, or 1 1/2 pounds of steak, or 1 1/2 pounds of chicken, or 3 1/2 quarts of milk, or one dozen oranges, or 3 1/2 cans of tomatoes.

This is a trifle to what the sketch for 1955 shows. It says an hour's take home pay will buy 10 loaves of bread, or two pounds of steak, or three pounds of chicken, or seven quarts of milk, or three dozen oranges, or 9 1/2 cans of tomatoes.

"I hear your store was robbed last night," said the sympathetic customer to the local merchant. "Did you lose much?"

"I lost quite a bit," the storekeeper responded, "but it would have been a lot worse if the burglars had gotten in the night before. You see, yesterday, I just finished marking everything down twenty per cent."

Cooke DHIA Leads State Associations

Cows of the Cooke County Dairy Herd Improvement association ran up the top figure in both milk and butterfat production to take first place among associations of the state during the month of February, it has been revealed.

The 608 cows in 21 herds produced an average of 790 pounds of milk and 31 pounds of butterfat, crowding out the Wichita Valley DHIA which was second. Dallas county was third in the state averages.

There are 22 associations in operation in Texas with a total of 11,690 cows in 260 herds tested during the month. State averages were 610 pounds of milk per cow and 27 pounds of butterfat.

Alfred Bayer of Muenster is president of the Cooke association and Carl Kemplin is supervisor.

They viewed the storm damage at the Sisters' home and school. Part of the roof was ripped off the building which is a two-story structure serving as both school and sisters' home. The nuns lived on the second floor and much of their furniture and clothing was damaged by rain after the roof left the building.

Water also damaged two classrooms on the first floor. Classes are being held now in the cafeteria and hall. Until repair work is finished the Sisters are living with Mrs. Miller.

Refreshments of fruit punch and individual decorated cakes were served. The refreshment table was covered with lace and was centered with an arrangement of white stock and candy-tuft.

EASTER EGG HUNT HELD AT JOHNNY ARENDT FARM

Mrs. Johnny Arendt entertained her youngsters and all their cousins with an Easter egg hunt at the Arendt farm Monday afternoon. Janet Arendt found the most eggs and received a prize.

Refreshments of sandwiches, punch and cookies were served by the hostess to 22 children and their mothers, and a special guest for the occasion, Mrs. Paul Arendt, grandmother of all the children present.

Those present were Mrs. Earl Walterscheid and sons Chris, Kenny, Rickey and Gary, Mrs. Andy Arendt and children Andy Jr., Davey, Kathy and Janey, Mrs. Artie Arendt and children Gayle, Nancy, Arelene and Billy, Mrs. Ray Voth and daughters Mona, Valli and Linda, Mrs. Paul Arendt Jr. and daughters Janet and Patsy, Mrs. Vincent Zimmerer and Rudy, Mrs. Albert Herr and Paula, the hostess and her youngsters Shiela, Hank and Marian.

All the children came dressed in their new Easter outfits and had individual and group pictures made.

Two girls, walking home together, were discussing their current heart interests. Said one: "Now I ask you, Isabel, how could I like him? He's so deceitful, pretending to believe me when he knows I'm lying to him?"

10c Tax Election

base their figure on the present valuation of about $36 million less about $5 million deduction under the homestead law, which exempts the first $3,000 of a homestead's valuation. That amounts to about $31,000, and further allowance for delinquencies cuts the expected income to the amount stated.

An odd circumstance relating to the proposal is that the Highway 82 improvement project is the big motive behind the special tax election, but it will have to derive its benefit indirectly rather than directly. Money raised by the tax can be used only for rural road improvement, for providing F-M road right of way, and for soil conservation.

However, while the additional tax must go into the road and bridge fund it enables commissioners to allocate less to the fund from their other revenue sources. A corresponding amount can then be provided to finance retirement of the right of way debt.

It is also estimated that the revenue from this tax will be adequate for other road improvement projects, in case other such opportunities arise.

Confetti

fight when odds favor us, or to keep retreating until odds favor the Reds.

It isn't just an oddity of history that all this fussing is going on over two small islands. They happen to be mighty important. If any of us over here have doubts on that score we need only to notice the red propaganda. Obviously commies think they are important, and that's plenty of reason for us to insist on protecting them. Whatever their value to us, we can't permit them to become an asset to the enemy.
