Mrs. August Friske, 73, a Muenster resident for 44 years, passed away suddenly Friday morning at about 8:30 at her home following a heart attack.

Funeral services were held Monday morning at 9 o'clock in Sacred Heart church with Rev. Louis Deuster officiating at the requiem high mass and at interment in Sacred Heart cemetery. He also delivered the funeral address. Rev. Herman Redder of Gainesville was present in the sanctuary. Nick Miller was in charge of funeral arrangements.

Bearers were Norman Luke, Jerry Friske, Wilfred Herr and Glenn Cathy, grandsons, and Eugene and John Michels, nephews of the deceased.

The body was at the George J. Carroll and Son Funeral Home in Gainesville until 2 p.m. Sunday when it was brought to the Miller Funeral Home here. A rosary service was held Saturday at 8 p.m. at the Carroll chapel and rosary was recited here at 8 p.m. Sunday.

Mrs. Friske, the former Miss Antonia Michels, was born in Bastrop, Texas, on Oct. 4, 1879, and was married there to August Friske on Jan. 5, 1897. They farmed there until 1906, then moved to Muenster settling on a farm west of town. In 1930 they retired from active work and built a home in the east part of the city. Mr. Friske died on Dec. 2, 1949.

After his death, Mrs. Friske moved to Gainesville where she was a member of St. Mary's parish. She returned to Muenster about three months ago, occupying the house adjoining that of her son-in-law and daughter, the Joe Lukes. She had been in ill health during the past year and had undergone major surgery shortly before moving back to Muenster.

Survivors are two sons, Martin Friske of Lindsay and Arnold Friske of Gainesville; two daughters, Mrs. Joe Luke of Muenster and Mrs. Emil Herr of Hereford; 13 grandchildren; 12 great grandchildren, and two sisters, Mrs. Walter Eschberger and Mrs. Henry Mattiza, both of Robstown.

Nelda Bayer Named Cooke County Farm Girl of the Month

Miss Nelda Bayer, Sacred Heart 4-H Club girl, was selected as the Gainesville Register's Farm Girl of the Month for August by a committee of Home Demonstration council women. She is the 15-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Bayer.

With six brothers and one sister, Nelda says there is never a dull moment in the Bayers' nine room house on their 215 acre farm. She helps with the daily housework, washing and ironing and the cooking of three daily meals. In her spare time she reads, sews and listens to the radio. She entered a dress she made in the 4-H dress review last April. While her parents were on a vacation this summer she assumed the responsibility of keeping house and taking care of her ten-month-old baby brother. She was assisted with these jobs by her grandmother and her sister, Patsy.

SHH Tigers Meet Era Next Thursday In Season Opener

Pointing for his season opener with the Era High Hornets at Era next Thursday night Father Christopher Paladino is pushing his Sacred Heart Tigers in an effort to develop a smooth working hard hitting aggregation.

In shaping his team he is depending mostly on his seven returning lettermen, four of whom will be in the backfield. Jerry Henscheid, former end has taken over as quarterback and the Knabe twins and Mollenkopf continue to hold down the other three positions. William Walterscheid, Sylvan Walterscheid and Meinrad Yosten are the three lettermen in the line.

Father Christopher is heading reports about the Era team and telling his boys to get ready for a hard game. Rumor has it that the Hornets, though rather weak last year were little affected by graduation and are developing into a strong team.

Since announcing his schedule two weeks ago Father Christopher has added two games and is still looking for an opponent on his open date, Oct. 2. The additions to the schedule are Bells on Sept. 24 and Gainesville "B" on Oct. 8.

All the relatives returned home Tuesday evening except the Cathys who will spend about 10 days here and in Lindsay with their parents, the C. F. Gobbles and the Martin Friskes.

Stand at Fair Nets $225 The band uniform fund got another substantial lift last week through the efforts of the Band Parents Club operating a concession at the Cooke County Fair. The club netted about $225 on the sale of sandwiches, coffee, cold drinks, cake and ice cream.

The Nick Block family spent the weekend in Perry, Okla., with relatives.

Hornets, Bearcats To Tangle Friday In Leeper Stadium

Coach Troy Stewart and his Muenster High Hornets are hoping for the best but expecting lots of tough competition when they open their 1953 season with Bo Reid's Whitesboro Bearcats Friday night in Leeper Stadium at Gainesville.

All that they know for sure about the Bearcat team is that it competes in a Class A circuit and that it has eleven lettermen left over from the outfit which bested last year's Hornets 27-7 in the season opener. All of them are slated to appear in the starting lineup.

Besides being rated a notch lower in the Interscholastic League the Hornets are handicapped by an early season organizational problem. With most of last year's linemen lost by graduation, Stewart had to start practically from scratch to develop an adequate forward wall out of former reserves and rookies. His backfield, however, is in better condition with Whitt, Noggler and Richey in the old positions and McElreath moved from end to succeed Hamric.

Though confident that he has the makings of a good team, Stewart is worried about its effectiveness after less than two weeks of practice with very few veterans as mainstays of the line. He has hardly had time to decide what players to place in the various positions.

September Starts With .76 in. Rain

Total rainfall for August was 2.48 bringing the year's total to 19.57. Adding the September rainfall the moisture for the year to date is 20.31.

City Shopping for Fluorination Unit

Installation of equipment for fluorinating Muenster city water is due to begin soon. At their meeting Tuesday night council members decided to start checking on the features and prices of several kinds of equipment with a view to installing as soon as possible.

The purchase of a fluorination unit had been approved by the council early this summer, but the project was shelved when the need of a new water well demanded prior attention.

Lots of Talk but Little Action on Pavement Project

Lots of people are talking about pavement but not many are doing anything about it. That, in general, summarizes the situation at this time, according to City Manager Steve Moser, but the outlook appears to be good after the project gets under way.

Moser was judging by the public response in Saint Jo. The contractor started there with a project of 8 blocks and has grown since to 28 blocks. That fact accounts for the paving crew's failure to get to Muenster last weekend, as mentioned originally. Continued interest resulted in continued work at Saint Jo.

For that reason the persons interested still have time to see their neighbors and develop projects for their streets. The method suggested by the city council is to place the money in escrow in the local bank. If the street is paved the contractor can get his payment with a minimum of both and if for some reason the job isn't done the property owner can get his refund just as easily.

The pavement proposed is 18 feet wide and will cost $1.00 per running foot. Shared equally by the owner on each side, that makes a cost of 50 cents per foot each. In case a person wants pavement to his curb or on his driveway he can get it at the same rate . . . 50 cents per running foot for a strip 9 feet wide.

The city is cooperating in the project by adding gravel base where needed, shaping the roadbed, and paying for the pavement of gaps at intersections and alley crossings.

In working out projects people are asked to get the cooperation especially of neighbors across the street. Pavement for one side of the street only will not be considered.

Members Authorize FMA Directors to Sell Cheese Plant

Members of the Farmers Marketing Association in a general meeting Monday night authorized their directors to represent them in negotiations with the North Texas Milk Producers Association concerning the sale of the FMA properties.

They voted unanimously to have the directors consider the amount offered by the North Texas association and to make the final decision on whether or not to sell.

Up to now no definite figure has been quoted but it is understood that the price will be approximately the value shown on the FMA's financial statement as of Jan. 1, 1953. That amount will enable the firm to liquidate its outstanding scrip and interest claims and also pay its customary dividends for the current year.

All the FMA property is included in the proposed deal. That consists of the cheese factory, the store, the frozen food locker plant, the transport trucks and any other items the organization owns.

Since the meeting the NTMPA has not indicated when its representatives will arrive to begin negotiations.

The proposal was explained to the membership by President J. B. Klement, Manager Rudy Hellman and Directors J. W. Hess and Albert Henscheid.

They stated that in its 23 years of operation the plant has manufactured over 40 million pounds of cheese and distributed over $1,200,000 in dividends besides providing a steady milk market that has added many more millions of dollars to community income, along with egg and produce markets that have contributed further to community prosperity.

Building And Improvement Notes

Poultry houses are out front in the community's building program nowadays, accounting for seven of the ten jobs currently in progress. Alfred Bayer and Lee Haverkamp are putting up 40 x 100 structures. Charles Davidson's is 40 x 80, J. H. Bayer's is 30 x 100, and Byron Sears' is 30 x 70. Paul Fisher and Henry N. Fuhrmann will have 24 x 50 buildings.

The other three jobs are houses. Interior work is well started on Alvin Fuhrmann's new home in the northwest part of town. Paul Walterscheid is adding a cellar and two rooms, new roofing and siding and remodeling some of the old interior of his home in the southeast part of town. Hubert Felderhoff has started a general repair and remodel job on a farm house southeast of Myra.

On the major building jobs: Inside work continues steadily at the church and consists mostly of oak trim and rough polishing on the terrazo floor. Meanwhile sidewalks are being built and dirt is being spread for landscaping.

Construction at the parochial high school is about to get out of the ground. Piers are finished and reinforcing is being put in place for the concrete foundation beams.

Digging is about half finished for the foundation of the public school cafeteria.

have had a serious effect on the Southwestern dairy industry in the past several years and the local plant has had a struggle to avoid joining 27 other milk processing plants which closed since 1946. Southern plants have not been able to compete with the larger plants up north which have the advantage of a cheaper, more abundant milk supply.

At the present time the local plant is subject to a double squeeze. The volume of locally produced milk is not large enough to assure profitable operation and surplus from other sources is not always available. If and when surplus is no longer available the plant would operate at a loss. During the month just past the plant processed only 700,000 pounds of local milk and 1,200,000 pounds of surplus.

The other problem is marketing the product. The cheese market is saturated by output of northern factories and the local plant has had to change to condensed milk. Last month it made $20,000 worth of condensed milk for which it had a waiting market but in the process it also made $75,000 worth of cream which was much harder to sell. Another headache is that among the several cream purchasers are plants which are having financial troubles of their own. There is a danger of the FMA being stuck with bad accounts.

Under ownership of the North Texas Producers the local plant would serve another purpose, which is not so much to show an operating profit as to reduce losses on surplus milk. The association's principal business is selling Grade A milk for human consumption.

The proposal, if NTMPA takes over the local plant, is to continue the Grade C milk market, processing that milk along with the Grade A surplus. Membership would be divided as Grade A and Grade C and dividends to each group would be computed separately.

Other probable developments are the establishment of a Grade A receiving station and expansion of plant facilities to make a larger variety of dairy products.

FMA directors all expressed themselves as favoring the sale of properties provided the price is satisfactory. Their immediate concern is to liquidate all member claims at full value, and their long range concern is to cooperate with the larger, stronger organization to continue the benefits the cheese factory has brought to the community in the past.

Members of the Hogan families, about 150 of them, gathered at Bowie Park Sunday for an all-day reunion with a picnic dinner, singing and music, and enjoyed the affair so much they decided to make it an annual affair during the Labor Day weekend each year.

"Argue," replied the poor man, "why, I haven't said a word." "No, but you were listening in a most unpleasant way."

Missing Chapters in the Schoolbooks

A high-school teacher writes us: "Please send me 50 copies of your booklet, Adventures Inside the Atom, for use with my students." Another wants material on new inventions. Or booklets on jet planes.

New things happen in science faster than textbooks can be revised.

New words puzzle our ears and eyes before these words are in dictionaries . . . atomic-pile reactors, silicones, jet engines with "afterburners," UHF television. Some problem for teachers, that.

Last year over 100,000 letters from schools hit our desks at General Electric asking for things in print on "what's new."

Just to give you an idea of how this adds up, one booklet, Adventures Inside the Atom, has been requested to the tune of five million copies since 1948.

Adventures in Jet Power, also handled in comic-book treatment, has since 1946 gone into eight printings.

This may surprise you: a new booklet, Why Study Math?, will run over a million copies this year. (It answers that question Junior is always raising.)

Nobody is happier than we are to know teen-agers have a lively appetite for what's buzzing in the world around them.

After all, whether they know it or not, our young people in school today will be the scientists and engineers of tomorrow. They can't know too much.

MURDER IN KOREA
 During the years that I've been aggressively combatting the infiltration of Communism in America, a person occasionally has asked: "What keeps you going in your crusade against Communism?" The answer: Our people as a whole don't fully understand the true nature or recognize the real danger of Communism. Until they do, all we love is threatened.

Phillip Deane, an English newspaperman in Korea, didn't learn the full truth about Communists until he was wounded and captured by the North Korean Reds. He was a prisoner for 33 months. He has put down his experiences in his book, "I Was A Captive In Korea" (Norton). His description of the Communists' brutality is almost unbelievable. Those people in America who are "soft" toward Communists, those who are everlastingly attacking our Congressional committees as they expose hidden Reds in government and elsewhere, ought to read and reread Phillip Deane's report on the death of Cordus H. Thornton, an American lieutenant from Texas whom the Reds captured along with Deane and remnants of Thornton's platoon.

The Tiger
 The North Korean Commandant known as "Tiger" ordered Thornton not to permit any of his men to collapse during a terrible starvation death march the Reds forced them to make. Finally, so many of his men fell dying along the way Lieutenant Thornton could no longer comply with the Tiger's command. The Texan was hauled before the Tiger. Phillip Deane reports the scene in his book:

"Why—did you let those five men drop out?" asked the Tiger. "Because, sir, they were dying." "Why did you not obey my orders and have them carried?" "Because, sir, that meant condemning the carriers to death from exhaustion."

"You knew I had ordered no one should drop out?" "Yes, sir."

"In wartime the penalty for disobedience is death. You disobeyed orders. I will kill you. That is what would happen in the American Army also, is it not?"

"In the American Army, sir, there would be a trial."

The Tiger turned to the assembled Korean soldiers: "I have authority to kill him. He has disobeyed orders. What must I do?"

"Kill him," screamed the soldiers, "kill them all."

"You see," said the Tiger to Lieutenant Thornton, "You have had your trial, a People's Trial. People's Justice. Now I will kill you."

"In Texas," said Thornton, a tone of contempt in his voice. "We call that lynching, not justice."

"Tell him," said the Tiger (to the Red soldiers), pointing to Thornton, "he must turn about."

Lieutenant Cordus H. Thornton was on parade. His shoulders squared, head up, shin in, arms firmly at his sides, he about-faced as one does during drill. The Tiger took a handkerchief and bound Lieutenant Thornton's eyes. Then with his pistol he shot him in the back of the neck. A tall, blond sergeant jumped forward and caught his officer's body before it touched the ground. Tenderly, as if carrying a child, the sergeant took the lieutenant's body to the ditch.

Only One Incident

This incident was a part of the education of Phillip Deane, newspaperman. But it was only one episode in the account of his 33 horrible months a captive of the Communists. Reading Deane's story, I was reminded of a statement made by Matthew Cvetie, the courageous American who spent nine years in the inner circle of Communism as a counter-spy for the FBI. "The Communists are mass murderers," Matt Cvetie said. "They've killed 25,000,000 people in cold blood in China; and if they gain control in America they already have made plans to kill a still larger number of our citizens, men, women and children." Matt Cvetie knows. He was one of them, in disguise, for nine years.

And yet many people are hamstringing the efforts being made in this country to expose and stamp out this evil, godless, savage conspiracy which has infiltrated all phases of our national life, and which would destroy religion, constitutional government, and private ownership of property. In self defense we should outlaw Communism and all its front apparatuses.

Marriage Demands Give And Take

MARRIAGE IS A merger of two different personalities. It is a hard enough job to throw up a bridge between two opposite shores, but it is a still harder job to build a permanent bridge of understanding and harmony between two opposite temperaments, two utterly different dispositions.

After all, by the time you marry, your partner is pretty well set in his traits and his character. The concrete has hardened; and frankly, there is little you can do about it. As the school-girl wrote, "We get our parents at so late an age that it is impossible to change their habits."

The same applies to husbands and wives. You do not marry something like a bouquet that you can take apart and rearrange as you would like to see it. You marry someone who is more like a book, already bound and the pages numbered. Often the best you can do is to thank God for the good qualities there, and to pray to Him about the bad ones.

HOWEVER, HERE IS one suggestion from the Department of Agriculture. The Department had suggested to an inquirer many ways to get rid of dandelions. None worked, so finally the Department told him, "We suggest you learn to love them." If it is asking too much to learn to love your partner's faults, at least learn to overlook them. Perhaps you have a few dandelions of your own, perhaps some cactus. There you can surely make headway, because correcting faults is like tying a necktie; we can always do it easier on ourselves than on anybody else.

Every one of us should now and then own up to the fact that we, and not the other party were at fault. The hardest words in English to pronounce are: "I was wrong," because you have to say them not with the tongue and teeth, but with the conscience and the heart. That is why, when one of the parties in a marriage flies off the handle like an axe-head, the other, whether right or wrong, should bury the hatchet—and not in the other party's skull. For, if we do not take the first step toward reconciliation, what are we but ersatz Christians or church-going pagans!

SURELY, IF ONLY one party is determined that there will be no quarrel, then there can be no quarrel. It takes two to fight. Naturally there will be times when one party's nerves are jangled and out of tune and off-key, but that is precisely the time when the other party has to hold the melody, sweet and sure, so that the other can get back on key.

The soft answer is still the best defense against wrath. The softest answer is that whispered to God in prayer. With His powerful help and our own humble self-control, friction can be reduced to a fraction.—(Rev. Joseph Mantion.)

If a plane flew straight south from Portland, Maine, it could land in the Pacific Ocean off Iquique, Chile.

A teacher wrote on the blackboard the following sentence: "He was bent on seeing her." Then she asked the class to state it in good English. One bright youngster raised his hand and said, "The sight of her doubled him up."

10,000 Miles a Year Costs About $908

It costs almost 6 percent more to run your car now than it did two years ago says the American Automobile Association.

Reporting its finding yesterday after a nation-wide survey, the association said over-all car upkeep this year—for the average motorist who drives 10,000 miles annually—amounts to $908. The average figure in 1951 was $861.

The survey covered increases ranging from gasoline and oil prices to insurance fees.

which is about a half acre in size, and helps prepare food for the home freezer. She says she gathered a lot of helpful ideas on food preparation for the deep freeze at the 4-H camp in Trinidad this summer. She and her mother have canned peaches, pineapple, beans, peas and other garden vegetables.

Even though milking is not her regular job, she helps in the dairy barn when her father and brothers are not around. They have one of the most modern dairy barns in the country and milk about 30 cows in their Grade A dairy business. The Bayers also sell hatching eggs to the Western hatcheries and keep about 470 New Hampshire chickens.

This summer Nelda drove the tractor for her father during hay baling season and also drove the grain-pickup when he combined. She and her mother tend to home improvements and last fall re-papered Nelda's bedroom. This summer they re-did the dining room and kitchen and are planning to re-finish the bathroom. Nelda will be a sophomore in Sacred Heart school this year and is a member of the Sodality, pep squad, basketball team, glee club and St. Cecilia choir.

Her brother, Donald, was elected Farm Boy last year and is going to A&M college this year on a National Safety award scholarship presented him in Chicago last November at the National 4-H congress.

The other children are: Ernest, 17; Patsy, 13; Tommy, 8; twin brothers, David and Dale, 7; and the baby, Billy Chris, 10 months.

Miss Bayer will receive a $25 award from The Daily Register, sponsor of outstanding farm persons competition for the past three and one-half years.

The only honest way to settle a disagreement is on the basis of what's right—not who's right.
