

At last the long awaited armistice comes to Korea. As yet we have no way of knowing whether it will lead to peace or to an outbreak of more intensive conflict than ever before.

Judging from past performances of the communists we have little reason to hope for a final peaceful solution. They are already propagandizing the armistice as a great victory and they can be expected to demand the kind of settlement that will substantiate their claims of victory. They are forcing a showdown on whether they are going to lose face or whether we lose prestige and self respect. It is hard to imagine how that can lead to anything but a renewal of hostilities.

Nevertheless, we can take a great deal of comfort from the fact that the armistice provides an opportunity for UN prisoners to return home and UN fighting men to enjoy a leave from the horrors they have been going through. In that respect alone it is a blessing. Besides, it marks a turning point in our policy in the event we have to continue the fight. There have been assurances that American men will no longer fight under handicaps. If the conflict breaks out again our forces will be in there to win. They will blast the enemy wherever they find him with whatever weapon they choose to use. So, the armistice is big and good news, even though it really offers little in the way of lasting peace.

Judging from reaction around Muenster, however, a person would hardly know that anything of national importance has happened. Since Sunday local conversation has been devoted almost exclusively to the latest development in this community's school problem.

Of all the unfortunate things that have happened here in the past several years, nothing stands out more conspicuously than the split-up of the school lunch program. Nothing has been accomplished by it except to intensify ill feeling and impose more burdens, in work and money, on the community. Those who engineered the change are due to learn soon, if they do not already know, that their achievement has caused far more harm than good. By the time the community adjusts itself to this break it will have spent thousands of needless dollars and as many needless hours of work. And for what? To perpetuate a split-up that should have been disposed of years ago.

The irony of this episode, however, is that it backfired. Some folks apparently were not very well informed. They could hardly have realized that terminating their agreement with the public school would necessarily leave them without equipment for their own program. Uncle Sam keeps a finger on the free lunch supplies and equipment, and the custodian, which in this case happens to be the public school, is accountable for every bit of it. Every item on the inventory had to be moved. The net result is that the parish will have to get new furniture and appliances and the public school will have to build a cafeteria. And the Muenster community pays both bills.

Perhaps this incident will backfire in another way also. It may help to convince some of our middle-of-the-roaders that quite a few local developments are not a result of sweetness and light. If absurdity has to run its course before common sense takes over, things like this ought to speed it along a little.

Just think of all the waste going on around here. Duplication of lunch rooms, bus systems, athletic fields, gymnasiums, classroom facilities and faculties. It stands to reason that we could save thousands of dollars every year by combining the two systems. By taking advantage of what the public school offers we could have a much more complete school system and save the parish over $60,000 a year in the bargain. Can we afford to sacrifice that much? How many realize how much community welfare is being retarded by that waste of money... and the lack of community harmony and cooperation?

If there are any who want to

Contractor Will Start New School Early Next Week

Work on the new Sacred Heart High School building will probably begin next Monday according to Elmer Brackett, superintendent for Walter Nashert, general contractor of Oklahoma City.

At this time he is awaiting completion of fill in work on the terrace in front of the building. Fill in to raise the elevation of the building itself has been completed. The dirt moving equipment is due to leave the job this weekend. After that certain areas will be covered with planks until it settles to a firm footing.

Mr. Brackett said his company will employ local labor as much as possible and bring in its own skilled workers for the special jobs. Clarence Wilson will be the foreman of carpenters.

Walter Nashert has the contract for the structural part of the building only. Charles L. Wilson of Gainesville has the plumbing and heating contract and Pat Parker of Gainesville has the electrical contract. The total of the three contracts is $189,345. Equipment and furnishings are not included in the figure.

The new building, designed by Buford and Feinburg of Dallas will have a 270 foot front and a total floor space of about 23,000 square feet. The west part of the building will include administrative and storage rooms, rest rooms and most of the class rooms. The east part includes a combined auditorium and gymnasium and more class rooms.

Pvt. Thomas J. Owens, whose wife, Betty, and parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Owens, live north of Muenster, is serving with the Third Infantry Division in Korea as a truck driver. He has been in the army since January this year and was at Fort Hood for basic training.

Enters Military Service

Danny Haverkamp was included in the county's selective service call for August and left Wednesday from Gainesville to begin his army training. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Haverkamp.

Return-To California

Marine PFC and Mrs. Paul R. Nieball left Monday to return to Camp Pendleton, Calif., after a 10-day leave spent here with homefolks and with her parents in Odessa.

On Duty In Japan

PFC Richard P. Hermes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Hermes of Lindsay, is serving in Japan as an honor guardsman with the 1st Cavalry Division's Defense Platoon. Hermes, an infantryman, entered the service in October 1952 and was last stationed at Camp Roberts, Calif. His platoon provides protection for 1st Cavalry Headquarters and engages in extensive ceremonial duties.

Three Day Pass

Pvt. Johnny Fisher of Fort Hood spent a three day pass here with his parents during the weekend. Saturday he had as guests, Amondo Herrera of Juarez, George Pappas of Mexico City, and Pete Duran of Fort Worth. The four boys were schoolmates at St. Edward's in Austin.

Telephone Co. Adds Another LD Circuit

Long distance telephone service to Muenster was improved last week by the addition of another line to be further improved by another line in the near future. The only catch is that the line just installed is shared by Muenster and Myra, hence is not always available to either station. But it helps.

Five long distance lines are now in use here, one to Nocona and Saint Jo and the four lines to Gainesville. Calls to more distant points are completed by making connection through Gainesville.

Over the past several years long distance calls from here have been increasing constantly. The past month, ending July 20, had a total of more than 3000, the largest number in the phone company's history.

FMA Cheese Plant Will Install Whey Powdering Unit

A roller type dryer to make powdered milk or whey is the next improvement planned for the FMA cheese factory.

Director Al Fleitman and Manager Rudy Hellman returned Wednesday from a trip to Petersburg, Ill., where they inspected such a unit and directors will meet later this week to consider buying it.

Purchase of a powdering machine was authorized by the directors a few weeks ago as a means of keeping pace with changes in the milk processing business.

For several weeks now the local plant has been making nothing but condensed milk, delivering an average of 10,000 pounds daily to the Kraft plant at Garland. Local milk receipts average about 50,000 pounds a day. Some 8,000 pounds of cream are separated from that and delivered to a butter factory at Shawnee, Okla. The skim milk is then condensed to 25 per cent of its original weight.

Two factors require the addition of a drying unit. The plant has lost its market for condensed whey as formerly produced but has a market for powdered whey. Besides the condenser is now used for condensing milk. Since its capacity is limited to 100,000 pounds in 24 hours the plant will have to make cheese out of its surplus during flush seasons and needs additional whey processing equipment to complete the job.

In the event that a market should develop for dried milk, the plant will be ready for that also. The new unit can be used for powdering milk as well as whey.

Chicks Beat Sherman

Rufus Bezner's Chicks broke into the win column here last Thursday night nosing out a team of Sherman softballers 5-4 in a dramatic seventh inning comeback to break the score which had been tied the previous inning by their visitors.

The Chicks scored early and held the lead until the sixth when Sherman knotted the count at 4 all.

The Gainesville boys, the only softball team in the county at this time has played only five games so far this season. They lost 2 to Muenster before the local team quit, one to Whitesboro, and has split a 2 game series with Sherman.

FOUR FAMILIES MOVE

Four Muenster families moved last week: Mr. and Mrs. Tony Fuhrman moved from their farm northeast of Muenster to Lindsay where they bought the property of the late Mrs. Juliana Metzler. The Fuhrman farm is now the home of their son, Marcus and family. The house that Marcus formerly lived in, northeast of Muenster, has been moved by its new owner, Earl Koelzer, to a location adjoining the George Koelzer place, northwest of town. The house vacated by the Earl Koelzers, south of Nick Yostens, is now the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Scoggins, who had been living with his parents until a place was available.

PVT. JULIUS HESS, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hess of Lindsay, is taking basic army training at Fort Bliss, El Paso. Before being inducted into the service on June 25 he was recognized as one of the outstanding 4-H club youths in Cooke county. He was Gold Star boy of the county in 1950 and was one of the Texas representatives at the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago on July 8. His address is: Pvt. Julius A. Hess, US 54133120; Btry. A, 12 Trng. Bn.; AAA-RTC; Fort Bliss, Texas.

Muenster Schools Name September 1 As Opening Date

Both Muenster schools will start the next scholastic year on Tuesday, September 1, according to announcements this week by Father Louis Deuster and Superintendent Weldon Cowan.

Both schools have decided that since Labor Day is late this year they had better not wait until it is past. Should bad weather close the schools for a few days they would have to shorten the Christmas vacation or end the school year later than usual. By this arrangement, if all goes well, children will get out earlier in May, which is all right with parents getting ready for harvest.

Labor Day will be a holiday at both schools.

Hay and Pasture Prospects Improve After Timely Rain

For the second time this year farm prospects in the Muenster area are beginning to look up. The drought which prevailed during the harvest of a magnificent grain crop and for several weeks following has been relieved at least to the extent that farmers can expect some pasture and hay along with a slight improvement of their sub-normal corn crop.

The rain which fell Friday of last week measured .92 inch and boosted the month's total to date to 4.06. The year's total now stands at 17.07 inches.

Technicians of the Soil Conservation Service work unit report that farmers generally are now optimistic over their prospects. Nicely developing pastures assure later grazing and hay fields indicate at least one good cutting. Johnson grass looks best. Alfalfa and prairie hay are encouraging. The danger of a feed shortage is fading fast, especially in view of the fact that many men have harvested oats as hay and corn as silage.

The poorest crop of the year is corn. Because of exceptionally hot and dry weather early in the season ears did not have a chance to fill out. There is little grain there to develop as a result of recent rains.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Helton and children, Peggy and Bill, of Waco spent the weekend at Myra as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Emmitt Yoder. Sunday afternoon the Ralph Maglaughlins and the Lee Toothakers joined them there for a visit. Helton, formerly connected with the Soil Conservation Service here and later at Weatherford, now lives on a farm at Waco. Before going home the Heltons stopped here for a visit with the R. M. Zippers.

Completion of New Water Well Near

Before the end of this week people of Muenster will know what quantity and quality of water they can expect from their new well.

The pump has arrived and the flow line from well to city reservoir is completed. Plans early Wednesday were to start the pump installation later that day or as soon thereafter as Norbert Knabe's well servicing rig can get on the job. After that electrical connections will be made by TP&L and the water will be pumped away until it is clear. Swabbing tests last week indicated that a good well can be expected.

The pump, originally due to be delivered early last week, was delayed in order that it could be equipped with a newly developed improvement. When the manufacturer received the order he phoned describing the improvement and saying it could be installed in a few days. The council decided it was worth waiting for.

George Letson's Grandfather Dies

Mr. and Mrs. George Letson and children, Mike and Dawn, were in Weatherford Monday and Tuesday and on Monday afternoon attended funeral services for his grandfather, S. L. Gibson, 94, who passed away Saturday night. Services were held at 4 p.m. at Temple Hall community, near Granbury, and burial was in Long Creek cemetery.

A native Texan, Gibson was born in Parker county and spent his life there and in Hood county. He was a retired farmer and stockman. For the past few years he had lived in the home of his daughter, Mrs. H. E. Letson of Weatherford.

Little Hooters Edge Auctioneers 2 to 0

In their second encounter with the Little Hooters of Gainesville here Sunday afternoon, the Muenster Auctioneers improved the score considerably but still failed to avenge the 13-1 defeat inflicted on them a few weeks earlier.

The Gainesville boys won 2-0 and marked up the better set of statistics in the bargain. They had 4 hits, 1 walk and 1 error as compared to Muenster's 2 hits, no walk and 2 errors. Alvin Fleitman and Gilbert Knabe got the two hits and Mollenkopf pitched the entire game for the home team. Osborn hurled 6 innings for the visitors and Banks, the team's ace pitcher, took over in the last inning.

The first Hooter tally came in the opening inning as Murphy singled, stole second, and came in on Nichols' hit. In the fourth Nichols reached first on an error, stole second, advanced to third on a wild pitch and scored on Jetton's single.

The next opponent for the Auctioneers will be Marysville here, Friday night at 8.

NEWS OF SICK AND INJURED

Sister Bertha, second grade teacher in Sacred Heart school for many years, is convalescing from a major operation performed last week at Saint Bernard's Hospital in Jonesboro, Ark.

Paul J. Nieball is back at home convalescing from a long illness that confined him to hospitals at McKinney and Dallas for the past four months.

Relatives here learned Tuesday that Mrs. Frank Walterscheid, former Muenster resident, underwent major surgery at St. Anthony's Hospital in Hereford Tuesday morning.

Dale Wilde entered Methodist Hospital in Dallas Tuesday and on Wednesday underwent surgery to strengthen his right ankle, still weak from polio. The operation will replace damaged muscle in his ankle with good muscle taken from another part of his body. His parents, the Richard Wildes, were with him for the surgery and his mother is remaining at his bedside. He will be a hospital patient about two weeks.

Parochial School To Have Separate Hot Meal Program

The last link of joint participation of the two Muenster schools was broken this week when officials of the Sacred Heart School announced they would operate a separate lunch program.

An announcement made in Masses Sunday and also in the parish weekly bulletin revealed that, by order of the Most Reverend Bishop, the church basement will no longer be available for operating the lunch program as in the past. Instead it will be used only for the Catholic school lunch program. The announcement further states that any furnishings or other properties not belonging to the parish are to be removed promptly by whoever is responsible for their being on church property.

After consulting by telephone with state school authorities at Austin the public school trustees, as custodians of the supplies and equipment, complied with the order Tuesday by moving approximately $12,000 worth of food and furnishings to the public school building.

In doing so they pointed out that practically all items in the lunch room were acquired either out of public school funds or out of lunch program operating revenues. Items acquired in the latter way remain under the supervision of the federal government, which sponsors and subsidizes the school lunch program. They must be listed on an inventory and the administering organization

Weinzapfel Nephew Drowns at Electra

Tommy Edward Wiist, 11-year-old great-nephew of Mrs. J. M. Weinzapfel and Mrs. John Meurer, was drowned while swimming near Electra Friday morning. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wiist of Texline. His mother is the former Antoinette Meurer, youngest daughter of the Joe Meurers of Windthorst.

Funeral services were held Monday at 10 a.m. in Sacred Heart church in Wichita Falls with burial in Sacred Heart cemetery.

Graded Egg Market Gets Little Interest

About 30 Muenster poultry raisers were at the public school Tuesday night to hear details on a county graded egg market, but little was done toward organizing a local program or collecting point.

Indications are that the program here will develop slowly if at all and those who participate will deal directly with the county collecting station, Embury's Feed Store at Gainesville.

Members of the store personnel and County Agent Gerald York explained that the program is hardly worth while for small flocks. The premiums on a few dozen eggs hardly compensate for the extra time and trouble required to qualify. Many of the larger local flock owners are not expected to be interested because they already have a good deal producing hatching eggs.

A special feature of the meeting was a talk on poultry management by W. J. Moore, poultry specialist of the A&M Extension Service. He illustrated his talk with slides on recommended poultry houses and equipment and other slides on production of quality eggs.

She also went to Torrington, Wyo., to visit a cousin. In Cheyenne she enjoyed attending the Frontier Days celebration and went sight-seeing.

During a fire in the middle of the night, the tenants of an apartment hotel rushed into the street carrying their most prized possessions. One woman noticed that the gentleman who lived directly above her was carrying a large, covered birdcage. What have you there? she asked of curiosity. That's my pet rooster, said the man. The woman gasped and fainted. When she revived, she told her anxious neighbor, I'm sorry I fainted, but you see, I've been under treatment by a psychiatrist for the past year because I kept hearing a rooster crowing."

A visiting minister, conducting services in a town noted for its horse races, delivered a vigorous denunciation of the sport. He was later informed, however, that the church's principal benefactor always attended the races, liked to place a bet now and then, and may have been offended by the sermon.

When he met the wealthy man next day, he said, I'm afraid I may have touched on one of your weaknesses, yesterday, but it was quite unintentional, I assure you.

Oh, don't mind at all, the sportsman answered genially. It's a mighty poor sermon that doesn't hit me somewhere.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hoenig celebrated their silver wedding anniversary Sunday with a family reunion and a six o'clock dinner in their home for about 45 guests. The couple was married in Sacred Heart church on July 24, 1928. Rev. Alphonse Mueller, then assistant pastor, officiated at the ceremony.

The Hoenigs are the parents of six children, all of whom were present at the celebration except Airman First Class Rupert Hoenig, their oldest son, who is stationed at Eglin AFB in Florida and was unable to attend. However, he talked to his parents by phone during the party, extended congratulations, and exchanged bits of news.

TWO WEDDINGS SET FOR TUESDAY, AUGUST 11TH

Announcement has been made of two approaching marriages both to be solemnized on August 11.

On that day Miss Ethel Mae Bayer, daughter of Mrs. Joe Bayer of Muenster, will become the bride of Leo Hesse, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hesse, also of Muenster. Their wedding will take place in Sacred Heart Church at 8 a.m.

At the same hour, in Saint Peter's church at Lindsay, Miss Betty Ann Dieter will exchange vows with Robert Reiter. Miss Dieter is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Dieter of Lindsay, and the prospective groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clem Reiter of Muenster.

Pre-nuptial parties are planned for both brides-to-be.

Alvin, Carlene, Lorette and Maxine Knauf left Friday to return to their home in Emporia, Kansas, after a 10-day vacation visit with relatives and friends. Their grandmother, Mrs. Joe Swirczynski accompanied them home. From there she will go to Bode, Iowa, to spend a few weeks with her daughter, Mrs. Clarence Erpelding and family. On Thursday before leaving, the Knauf quartet and their grandfather, Joe Swirczynski, spent the day in Fort Worth with Ed and George Swirczynski.

SOME WALL

This country is the world's foremost producer and consumer of soft coal, and we frequently see the magnitude of the coal industry's job expressed in nine-digit sets of statistics. One difficulty is that very few of us can visualize figures so large.

Here are three illustrations that give a vivid picture of coal mining today:

A wall 45 feet high and as wide as a standard-gauge railroad track could be built around the entire border of the country with the coal mined last year alone.

The Pentagon, with its 77,000,000 cubic feet of space, is the world's biggest office building. A single day's output of our soft coal mines would fill every inch of it.

A solid ribbon of coal reaching the 92,900,000 miles to the sun, 6 1/2 inches wide and one inch thick, could be provided with one year's U.S. soft coal output.

All this coal goes to make steel and electric power, to provide energy and heat in homes and factories, to be converted into plastics and all manner of articles in common use. In one way or another, it contributes to the lives of all of us.

MONEY MAKER FOR GOVERNMENT

By anybody's yardstick, General Motors is big business with a capital B. Its 1952 sales amounted to $7,549,154,419. The story of what happened to this money gives a cross section view of America's social and economic life. It demonstrates the malicious inaccuracy on the common charge that big business is necessarily bad.

In the first place, the company provided jobs for 458,630 workers to whom it paid $2,020,536,713 in salaries and wages. Government took a huge chunk of GM income—a total of $1,107,000,000 in taxes, which was over half the amount paid to employees.

Thousands of large and small companies supplying materials of all kinds received 48 1/2 cents of each GM dollar. With 487,624 stockholder-owners General Motors is in the truest sense a publicly owned enterprise. In return for the use of their savings, which made the business possible, these stockholders received 4 3/4 cents of each income dollar, or a total of $361,969,352; one third of the governments tax profit.

It would be a sad day for the American people and the United States treasury if such companies as this were forced from the roles of free competitive enterprise.

A department store floor-walker, thoroughly fed up with his job, quit and joined the police force. When asked why, he explained: The pay and the hours may not be so good, but at least the customer is always wrong.

TOO DULL

After five days of conference in Washington, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and the British and French ministers have each invited the Soviet Government to pick a meeting place and send their boy to make talk about the end of September. Most any day now, Switzerland is expected to offer a cool mountain retreat as a neutral meeting point. Here, on account of the echoes, the Russians could make twice as much noise as elsewhere.

But there seems little expectation of enthusiasm from the Kremlin. For one thing, the notes say that the meeting is intended to work out the unification of Germany, and to reach agreement on the Austrian peace treaty; and there would seem to be no reason why Russia would want to help the Western allies stabilize Europe against Communism. For another, this is to be strictly a second-team meeting—of foreign ministers, not heads of state as Sir Winston Churchill would like to have it. Thus, if the Russians thought they were being asked to another Yalta, where action would be swift, secret and binding (on the other parties), she might go for it. But, where the delegates have to report back home for instructions and authority, and where their discussions are likely to have at least some publicity, the whole thing would seem quite bourgeois to the Reds.

And another thing. How do the boys in the Kremlin know who will be around to speak for them come September?

Servicemen To Pick Buddies

A new Army regulation will allow soldiers forming friendships in basic training to continue to serve together. The rule states that men trained to the same duties may be formed into four-man teams, with friendship as a consideration.

Christianity Answers Today's Problems

By Clare Boothe Luce

TODAY IT IS a cliché to say Christianity has been tried and has failed. It is equally untrue to retort that it has not failed, because it has never been tried.

History shows that Christianity has been tried. Wherever it has been tried, with honest intent and passionate purpose, it has succeeded as nothing else ever tried by man has done.

Our form of government is a living monument to the incorporation in political forms of Christian principles concerning the freedom and dignity of the individual. Today, we are living on our spiritual capital.

HOW LONG CAN we demand to share in the benefits of Christianity, and yet refuse the practical task of even conserving, not to say increasing, these benefits? How long can we clamor for Christian treatment, while ignoring any obligation on our part to foster Christian belief?

No day goes by, no forum is held in America, without its quota of stirring appeals for our citizens to show high ideals and noble efforts in the solutions of our many melancholy problems. But we want to produce Christian deeds without Christian hearts, Christian thoughts without Christian minds. We desire to pluck the fruits of faith where we have left the branch of faith itself wither or be torn up.

ONLY MEN OF deep religious faith can lay down the challenge of totalitarianism. Only men who love their fellow men "in Christ" can prevent war if it is to be prevented, redeem its horrible ravages if it cannot.

Only the apostolic Christian is certain of victory in the struggle. For he is forever armed against loss. Defeat is victory, death itself is life, if he can still say with St. Paul:

"I HAVE FOUGHT the good fight, I have finished the course, I have kept the faith. For the rest, there is laid up for me a crown of justice, which the Lord, the just Judge, will give to me in that day; yet not to me only, but also to those who love His coming."

It may well be that the Folly of the Cross is still the only wisdom that can save our civilization.

† Paulist Feature Service, Washington 11, D. C.

A Communist, being deported, was in cabin 350 on a ship. A death occurred in cabin 250, and a detail of seamen were ordered to bury the corpse at sea. After the ceremonies, it was discovered that the corpse was still in room 250. With some alarm, the captain investigated and found the detail had gone to room 350 by mistake. That was the Communist. Why, he was alive. That's what he tried to tell us, but you know those Communists; you can't believe a word they say.

It's Fine To Be Fooled - Sometimes

Handy Peters entertained for the ladies of the Auxiliary the other night—and had the ladies believing for a while that he's the best marksman ever.

Handy put on a great act. He set up a whole bunch of balloons on a muslin backdrop and then took out his pea-shooter. He shot blindfolded, standing on his head, every which way—and broke a balloon every time!

No wonder Handy impressed the ladies. What they didn't know—till the show's end—was that Buck Mulligan was hiding behind the backdrop improving on Handy's aim with a hatpin.

From where I sit, we all get things "put over" on us now and again. When it's good-natured—fine! But, some folks would like to fool the rest of us into believing it's wrong to enjoy an occasional glass of beer—just because they prefer something else. For real American tolerance and neighborliness these people are simply "off target."

Insecticides Have Toxic Effect on Soil

How often and for how long can some of the new chemical insecticides be applied to the land without damaging crop yields?

The answer to this serious question is being sought by both Texas and federal plant pathologists. Their eventual conclusions may bring about a rearrangement of crop spraying procedures.

After five years of working with a wide range and amounts of insecticides, including some excessive dosages, some chemicals have been found to remain surprisingly toxic in the soil. The effects of others were relatively mild. An unusually heavy dosage of a popular brand was applied on a test plot of one acre in 1945. To date, the insecticide has lost very little of its toxic effect. We also know now that smaller amounts applied to crops as needed to control insects accumulate in the soil over the years.

The crops found most sensitive to this build-up in the soil are truck garden produce. Growth of some of these crops was reduced as repeated heavy dosages accumulated in the soil, or as increasingly large amounts were applied.

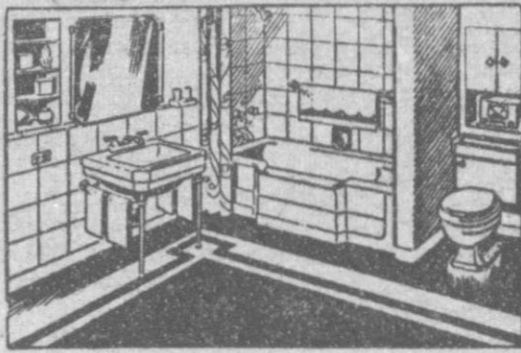

These research findings indicate that heavy, continuous use on the same land of the more stable insecticides may not be a good practice. The farmer should be especially careful to avoid careless, excessive, or improper use of chemicals.

DDT, the first and most widely used of the post-war insecticides, was studied more extensively than others. It was found that an application of about 30 pounds per acre per year could build up soil accumulations in 5 years that would damage the more sensitive plants.

Limited trials showed technical BHC to be less stable and lasting than DDT, but because of its high-toxicity to plants in the soil, it is capable of forming damaging accumulations if used too frequently at heavy rates. Toxaphene and parathion, however, were found to be so unstable in the soil that they are not expected to accumulate to a harmful degree if recommended practices are followed.

Until further tests are completed, farmers are strongly urged to strictly follow instructions set forth by manufacturers of insecticides. Any chemical can be a boon or curse to agriculture, depending upon how it is used.

WHY DOLLARS

LEAVE HOME

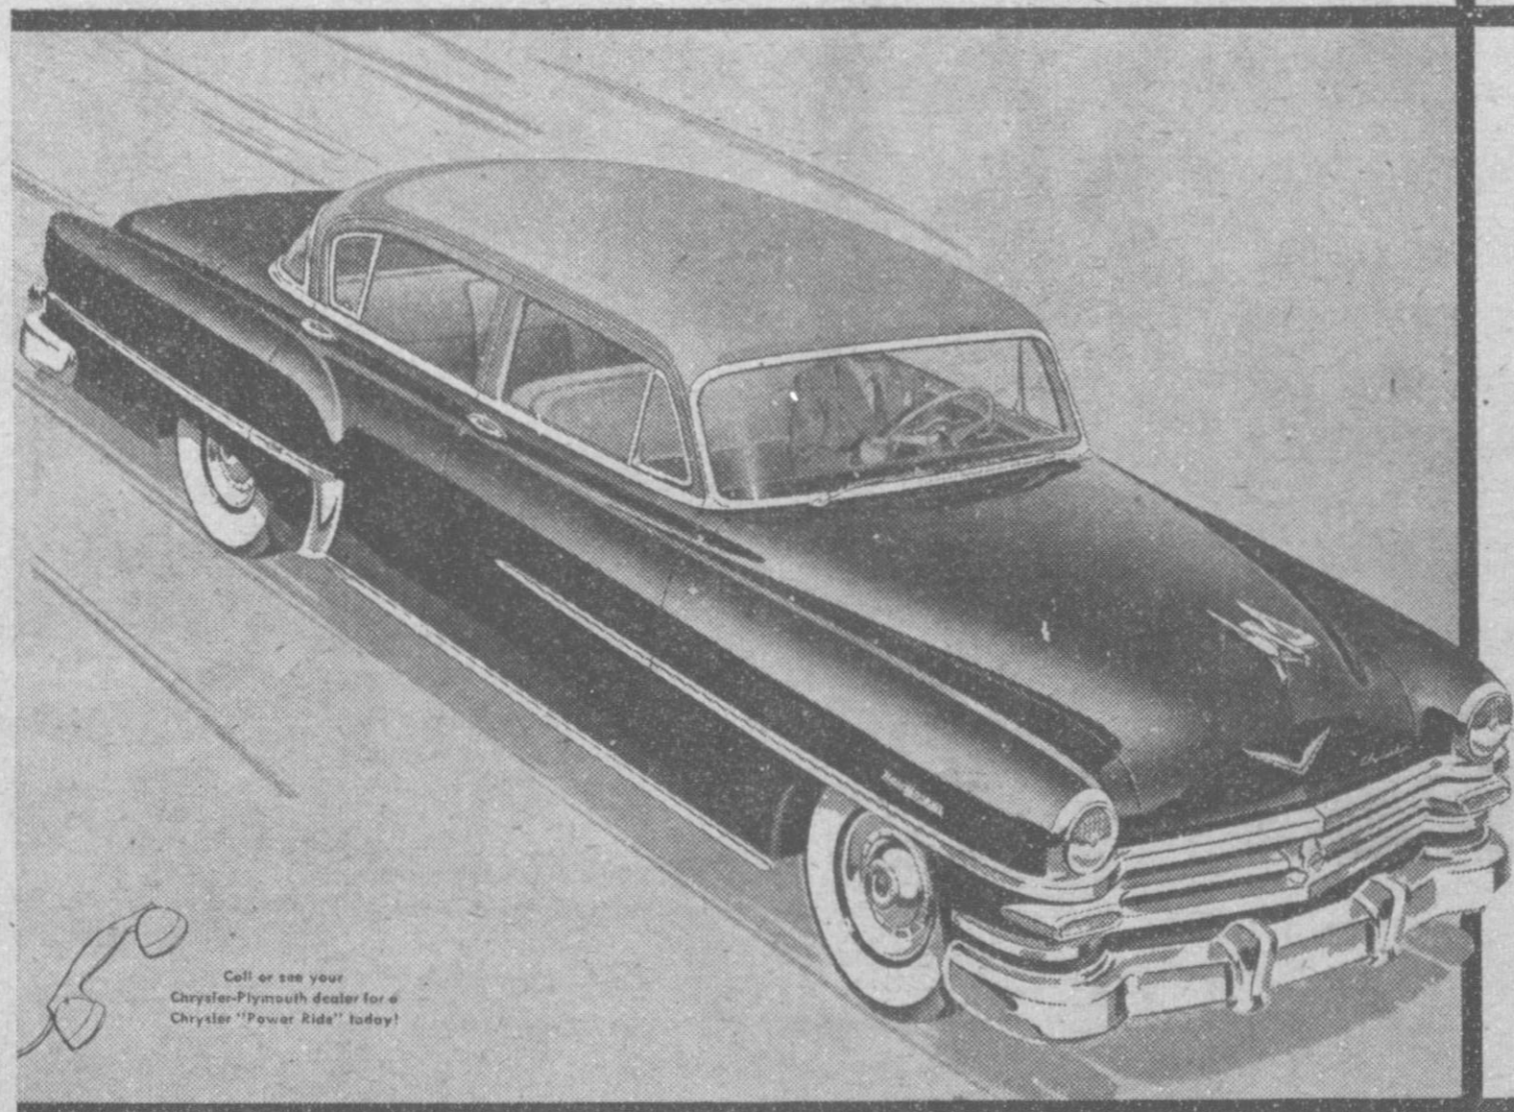

Too many of our home dollars succumb to the "glitter and glare" of big city temptation — and we let them go when we should show them how well they can do at home.

Unnecessary "big city buying" does harm to local merchants; it weakens our community. Let us make ourselves familiar with the quality and prices of the goods obtainable on home shelves before we permit our home-earned dollars to leave home.

Gainesville Junior College Announces Opening September 1

Gainesville Junior College announces the opening of the thirtieth annual session with registration on September 1 and 2, 1953, and the opening of classwork on September 3. Final date for late registration will be September 22, 1953.

Dean John H. Parker stresses the basic services rendered to students at Gainesville Junior College as the teaching of sound subject-matter courses leading to the Associate of Arts degree and preparing for a Bachelor's degree; furnishing the most adequate facilities possible with particular stress on the fact that the staff of the Junior College is composed of twenty members, seventeen of whom hold Master's degrees; and rendering definitely enlarged student services during 1953-1954.

For 29 years GJC has operated a municipal college which holds membership in the American Association of Junior Colleges, the Texas Association of Junior Colleges, the Texas Association of Colleges. She has the rating of the First Class College from the Texas Education Agency and is approved for both day and night classes by the Veterans Administration.

The college offers instruction in some 70 courses from which the student may choose the 60 to 66 semester hours leading to the Associate of Arts degree in such courses as arts, sciences, pre-medical, pre-technical, pre-engineering, pre-law, pre-music, pre-business administration, pre-secretarial, and various terminal courses.

Business offices of the college located at 1129 Lindsay Street will be open for conference between the hours of 9 and 12 o'clock daily during the week previous to registration.

Soil Conservation Notes

Terraces have long been one of man's best tools to halt soil and water losses from sloping fields. Terraces are not only a barrier against soil erosion, but also act as a stepping stone toward continued high crop production by keeping soil fertility and a greater amount of water at home on the farm where it is needed.

Farmers cooperating with the Upper Elm-Red soil conservation district around Muenster are busily building terraces to protect their fields from soil and water losses.

Ray Sicking is working on 9100 feet of terraces on his farm near Myra, using a three-disc plow and the island method of construction. These terraces will outlet onto a Bermuda grass waterway.

Tony Klement is constructing 2000 feet of terraces with a tractor and plow on his farm west of Muenster. These will also outlet onto a Bermuda grass waterway along a natural drain through the field.

Dr. L. B. Holland is building more than five miles of terraces on his farm seven miles northeast of Muenster. The terraces will replace an old terrace system that has proved inadequate to stop soil and water losses. The old terraces are being rubbed out and the new ones constructed to outlet onto a wide Bermuda and buffalo grass waterway that was put in three years ago. The wide grassed waterways not only serve as a safe outlet for the terraces, but also serve as excellent pasture for livestock.

Johnny Klement has just completed construction of a tank for livestock water on his farm at Hays. The pond is equipped with a pipe through the dam so that stock can water in a concrete tank behind the dam. Johnny plans to fence the cattle out of the pond and water them below the dam. By so doing the cattle will have better water to drink, cows will stay cleaner and the pond will be better for recreational purposes, such as fishing and swimming.

Tom Collier of Saint Jo has also completed construction of a pond to furnish livestock water in one of his pastures.

As long as members are returned to Congress because they 'brought home the bacon' it will be impossible to avoid deficit spending.

LOVELIEST OF ALL—Christine Martel of France, recently named Miss Universe, receives congratulations from actor Jeff Chandler. The two may be seeing more of each other in the future, as one of Christine's prizes is a contract at Universal-International studios, where Chandler is also under contract.

Five Year Plans Backfire for Reds

The standard of living in the Soviet Union has been declining constantly since 1928, says the U. S. Department of Labor.

A study of the real earnings of Soviet workers shows, the department emphasized, that the average Russian has to spend 45 per cent more time on the job now than he did in 1928 to buy an equal amount of bread, potatoes, beef, butter, eggs, milk, and sugar. The decline in living standards began, analysts found, when Russia started its five-year plans to expand heavy industry.

When you're in the right you can afford to keep your temper, but when in the wrong, you can't afford to lose it.

A Sergeant drilling a batch of recruits saw that one of them was out of step. Going to the man as they marched, he said sarcastically, Do you know, Bud, that they're all out of step except you?

Well, was the retort, you're in charge, you tell 'em.

MY MISTAKE

Tim Hurst was a powerfully built and two-fisted umpire in an era when only powerfully built and two-fisted umpires could survive. Working behind the plate once when John McGraw of the Baltimore Orioles was at bat, Hurst jerked his arm upward in a called strike. McGraw snorted angrily. The umpire called a second one and the batter, seethed even more. Then Hurst called the next pitch a ball. "You blind so-and-so!" shrieked McGraw. "It was right where the other one was." "Was it, Muggsy?" said Hurst, giving it to McGraw with every barrel. "Then it must have been a third strike and ye're out!"

We are never so happy or unhappy as we suppose.

"Why, yes," he said very somberly.

"Glad to do it."
They entered the room, and the passerby asked the other to lie down on the bed.

"Sorry, sir, I can't. I'm an undertaker and that's the only way I can do it."

Lunch Program

is held accountable for them.

The change presents a problem for both schools. The parochial school has a location but no federally subsidized program and practically no equipment to start with. The public school has all but the location. Of the two the parochial school apparently has the greater problem in organizing and furnishing its program and qualifying for federal aid. The temporary solution at the public school is to set up a lunch room in the homemaking department until a cafeteria can be built.

In spite of limited space, the trustees said, their lunch program will continue to serve its original purpose, which is to offer meals to all children regardless of where they attend school. Until the parochial pupils have their own lunch room they are invited to come to the public school for their meals. And they will still be welcome after the other lunch room is operating.

Another result of the change is that for a while at least, it leaves the community without accommodations to prepare and serve meals to large groups. In the past the lunch room has been used for wedding receptions, banquets and preparing box lunches for parish picnics.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Henscheid and son, Tommy, visited here with her parents, the Matt Neus, and other relatives, and with family members in Muenster from Saturday to Tuesday.

The Tripoli Club met for the regular monthly get-together in the home of Mrs. Ray Voth, where card games followed a chicken supper served to Mmes. Andy Arendt, Paul Arendt, Jr., Johnny Arendt, Albert Herr and Earl Walterscheid.

Earl and Donald Waiterscheid and Martin Trubenbach returned Thursday night from a several days vacation trip to the Rio Grande Valley and Corpus Christi. In LaFeria they visited Earl's sister-in-law and family, the Albert Bauers Jr., and in Corpus they stopped to see Rev. Thomas Buerigler, former Muenster pastor.

maintain that Muenster people have to do these things because their bishop says so, let them remember that he has said from the very beginning that we have a local problem and will have to solve it ourselves. Furthermore he has favorably considered a single school system here but another circumstance prevented its being realized. Besides, he approves the plan in other places. When he gives orders here he's only trying to stop our fussing, like a parent handling a couple of quarreling kids. When we get reasonable and start getting along with each other we'll also get along with him.

What this community needs is more thinking on possibilities to get the benefit of a united system while retaining its traditional religious teachings, and less thinking on ways and excuses to keep the schools separated. It can be done. Others are doing it. Why can't we?

As mentioned, several weeks ago, this paper has been reluctant all along to air this problem in print. The Enterprise goes to lots of places outside our community and it is far from proud to spread this kind of news abroad. But it also feels a responsibility to speak its piece when public welfare is at stake.

Well, it's high time now that we started thinking this problem through, calmly and thoroughly. It can be settled to the satisfaction and delight of at least ninety five per cent of our community.
