Federal Aid to Education, whatever one thinks of it as a political issue, presents one consideration that is very important to parochial schools. As pointed out here last Sunday by T. P. Flahive of Dallas, it involves the high cost of keeping pace with improving standards in public schools.

That applies because distribution of such funds would result in better facilities which would eventually be regarded as standard requirements for affiliation. Obviously, parochial schools would have trouble keeping up in the education field if denied the same help that is given to public schools. On that premise Flahive asserted that, as a matter of justice, federal aid should become available to all schools if it becomes available to any.

He also mentioned that parochial schools deserve consideration for substantial relief to the public tax burden. Over the nation the cost of educating a child in elementary and high school is estimated at about $390 a year. So, with an enrollment of over six million, parochial schools are reducing the public's bill by more than two billion dollars a year. From that standpoint it becomes a matter of economy as well as justice to help keep the parochial schools in business.

In presenting those opinions the speaker emphasized that parochial schools should be satisfied to receive aid only in courses which are identical to those of public schools, such as mathematics and physical science. Those subjects necessarily are the same in all schools and all students have an equal right to help in them. Where subjects differ, as in social science, an exception is justified on the constitutional ground that government should not help toward establishing any one religion. But it is obvious that all children should be equally eligible for help in courses that have no relation to religion.

Those observations have definite merit. They deserve to be figured if the issue of federal aid to education comes up again. And, as before, the proposal of help should be defeated unless all children are eligible to receive its benefits.

But the big question still remaining is "Should any federal aid be given to any school?" Should the federal government spend the additional billions of dollars when the record shows that states and local communities are making wonderful progress on their own? Should they interfere in a matter which has been traditionally a state and local responsibility? A big percentage of this country is still convinced that its schools will be better off without the federal snoo-pervision that inevitably goes with federal aid. Folks are likewise convinced that federal aid eventually comes out their own pockets and the money does a terrific lot of shrinking on the way to and from Washington — that they can get much more for their money by doing the job themselves.

Accordingly, it still seems that the country will be better off if legislators will decline again to put the federal government's nose into state and local business. But if they decide to tap us taxpayers for educational handouts, justice demands that parochial as well as public schools participate in the benefit.

On that subject it should be added that a method of indirect federal aid to education, proposed by Senator John Tower, has a lot of merit. He favors a tax exemption on college fees and tuition up to a limit of $420 a year. To the average parent of a college student that would be a welcome saving of over $80 a year. Indirectly it is a way of giving federal aid to education, and it has the special merit of helping without the added expense of federal administration or the added interference of federal regulation. In the long run it would probably accomplish more than twice as much for the money as the National Education Association's proposal of direct help.

In principle the idea is fine. But, needless to say, parents of private school children would be more pleased if it were amended to include all tuitions and fees. That would help the millions of youngsters who are paying to attend pri-

Santa Claus Is Coming to Town

Kiddies of Muenster will get to see Santa Claus and get some goodies on Main Street about 2:45 p.m. Saturday. Local Jaycees are sponsoring his visit and have also stocked his bag with candy etc.

His schedule, as told to the Jaycees, is to arrive by plane about 2:30 o'clock. He will fly over town a while waving from the plane and giving the little ones a chance to see him. Then he'll land on the Fleitman pasture east of town. He will be met there by Jaycees driving the city fire truck.

In town he will be in the second block of North Main, in front of Hamric's and the Charm Shop. For the time the street will be blocked so the youngsters' party will not be disturbed by traffic.

Lt. John Broome telephoned his wife's parents to let them know that he had flown in from Germany Sunday but that Juanita had not accompanied him. He told them the funeral would be Thursday and that he would be here to see them Sunday before flying back to Germany.

Kathmans, at Albuquerque, because there isn't enough time to see them in person.

NEWS OF THE SICK

Mrs. Joe Wilde got back into circulation this week after being a shut-in with a sprained ankle. The icy weather last Wednesday caused a slip and a fall turning the left ankle.

Six-year-old Gary Koerner, son of the William Koerners of Pilot Point, continues as a patient at Flow Hospital in Denton where his illness was diagnosed as spinal meningitis about two weeks ago. He has responded to treatment and is reported doing well. Doctors have given assurance that the period of contagion is long since past and there is no danger of catching the disease for the little boy. He's the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bindel of Muenster.

Claude Klement has started back to school on crutches, his broken ankle still in a cast but mending. The fourth grader is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Klement. Fall from a load of hay the latter part of November caused the injury.

Kathy Selby is a shut-in at the home of her parents, the Kenneth Selbys, this week on account of measles.

Mrs. Ben Haverkamp was dismissed from Gainesville Hospital Sunday evening and is convalescing at the home of her sister-in-law Mrs. John Kathman.

Word this week from Kountze advises that Elton Ballinger, former Marysville resident, is a patient in the hospital at Kountze since suffering a stroke last week. He has been living there with a daughter since his home at Marysville was destroyed by fire.

Parochial Schools Should Share in Aid to Education

A program of federal aid to education without a provision for the nation's parochial schools would be both illogical and discriminatory. That was the opinion presented by T. P. Flahive of Dallas in a talk to the North Texas district meeting of the Catholic State League here Sunday.

He pointed out that the legal right of Catholics to operate a separate school system has been upheld by a Supreme Court ruling, but the right becomes meaningless if too much handicap is imposed on parochial schools. That circumstance would result, he said, if parochial schools could not keep pace with physical developments because of receiving less help than the public schools got. It would be discriminatory because it would disregard equal rights of the children.

Flahive declined to express himself on the issue of federal aid to education. He said only that if it is approved all schools should participate.

He also mentioned that it is good business to keep parochial schools going. With public school education costing an average of $390, Catholics educating six million youngsters are saving the states over two billion a year.

If the law is passed, he said, parochial schools have a right to expect help in purely secular subjects such as math and science. Those courses are the same in all schools. However aid would not be proper in social studies, which can and may be influenced by Catholic viewpoint. Doing so would invite criticism on violating the principle of separation of church and state.

Flahive pointed out that two other federal aid programs do not discriminate against Catholics — the school lunch program and the GI bill. Also that political changes since the bill's former defeat seem more favorable for parochial schools.

Schools Have Eight Christmas Holidays

Eight holidays await children of the two Muenster schools — all of next week and three days of the following week — plus a pair of week-ends.

The Christmas vacation begins with dismissal of classes on Friday and it ends on New Year's day. Classes resume at the usual hour on Jan. 2.

Tests to Decide Best Height for City Fire Siren

The Muenster city council Monday night voted to test its fire siren at several heights to determine whether its efficiency can be improved.

Reports at the meeting indicated that some areas cannot hear it distinctly whereas other areas farther away, even miles out in the country, can hear the siren. So councilmen considered a possibility that the unit should be installed at another level.

At installation time the city learned that 35 feet, the height of the local installation, is normally a satisfactory level for the siren. That is on the first horizontal beam of the water tower. Now the council wonders whether it should be higher or lower, whether there is a height from which sound waves will carry more distinctly to a larger area of town. Experiments will have to give the answer.

Parochial Teams Win Two, Lose One At Pilot Point

Regulars and B stringers of the Sacred Heart Tigers sacked up a pair of wins at Pilot Point Tuesday night as the Tigerettes dropped another game.

The Tigers first team had a real thriller that was not decided until the last whistle. It was a see saw all the way and Sacred Heart hit its winning field goal, making the count 42-40, less than a minute before the end. Ending the other quarters the Bearcats were leading but in each period the Tigers enjoyed temporary leads. Counts ending the quarters were 13-12, 23-21 and 35-28. Top scorers were Virgil Hess and Tommy Fuhrmann with 11 each and Cyril Yosten with 8.

First on the program was the boys B game, which was a 52-22 run-away for the Tigers. They took an early lead and gained all the way as Ray Wimmer bagged 21 points and Larry Hess 19.

The Tigerettes did okay the first quarter for a count of 8-8 and went scoreless the second period as Pilot Point made it 14-8. Next two quarters the hosting girls kept gaining, 21-11 and 35-20. Sacred Heart's best scorers were Mary Wimmer 8, Kathy Derichsweiler 7.

Ben Davis in Race For Tax Office

Ben Davis of 1200 Locust Street, Gainesville, this week authorized the Enterprise to announce his candidacy for the office of Cooke County Tax Assessor-Collector in next year's Democratic primary.

His formal statement to voters will appear in a later issue of the Enterprise.

Franchise Granted To Electric Co-op By City Council

A franchise to operate in the area just annexed to the city and in the area to be annexed within the next fifty years was granted to the Cooke County Electric Cooperative by the Muenster city council in its meeting Monday night.

Formal application for the franchise had been submitted by the co-op several weeks ago. As a result two firms now have franchises to sell electric power within the city limits. Texas Power and Light Company has had the franchise for many years, and its franchise extends also to the area recently annexed and to that which will be annexed later. The other is limited to the area newly annexed and to be annexed later.

Another limitation also applies to the rural electric co-op. Under existing law when a city reaches a population of 1500 the co-op is no longer permitted to serve additional customers in the area. It may keep those it has at the time but it cannot extend its service to new customers.

The same rate for service charges will be used by both firms. It is the rate previously approved by the city for TP&L and accepted as agreeable to the electric co-op.

The new arrangement means that two systems of lines will serve the area. To avoid excessive duplication of service lines the intention is to observe a gentleman's agreement not to extend a line into an area already served by the other. When a new home is built it will get service from the nearest existing line.

MHS Teams Lose At Tournament

Muenster teams were eliminated in their first games at the Saint Jo invitation tournament last weekend.

Unlike most other tournaments of this area it did not have a consolation bracket, so there was no second chance after losses to Callisburg in the two opening games.

Muenster girls made a good start in their game for a first quarter lead of 8-5 and were trailing 16-15 at the half. Callisburg got hot in the third, jumping to a 44-24 lead and coasted to the 49-27 win. Leading Muenster scorers were Sandra Cain and Dolores Monday with 10 each.

The boys game was Callisburg's from the start. After a hot first quarter the Wildcats improved their margin every period for the count of 64-31. Hornet scorers were Reiter 16, Russell 7, and Vogel 5.

Knights to Treat Kiddies Sunday at Santa Claus Party

Knights of Columbus will entertain their kiddies Sunday night with the council's annual Christmas party at 8 o'clock in the KC hall.

Like last year, this one will be divided to give separate treats for the children of two age groups. Younger one, aged 10 and under, are invited to the Santa Claus party upstairs. Two Santas will be there to visit with the little ones and to give candy and gifts. The older children will have their party downstairs, without a Santa Claus.

Eagle, 32 Other Badges Given at Court of Honor

A court of honor in which the Eagle Award and 32 other advancement badges were awarded was the highlight of 1963 for Muenster Troop 664 Boy Scouts.

The program was held Monday night. It included dinner and a Christmas party. Forty-four Scouts, their parents, committee members and other guests brought attendance to about 125.

Joe Hartman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Hartman, is the Eagle Scout. The badge presentation was made by Ervin Hamric.

Five boys advanced to First Class, six went into Second Class Scouting and eight received Tenderfoot badges. Presentation was made by John Mosman, Ray Voth and Bill Miller, respectively.

As the boys received their honors, miniature duplicate awards were presented and they pinned them on their mothers.

The evening began with dinner, the honor court followed, and a Christmas party with a gift exchange and Santa in attendance brought a successful program to close on a high note.

Scoutmaster Ed Schneider was master of ceremonies and introduced guests. These included Oscar Boren, district executive, and Mrs. Boren of Durant, Okla., and Fathers Alcuin Kubis, Bruno Fuhrmann and Martin Fischer. Mrs. Joe Lehnertz received recognition for catering the meal. Father Alcuin gave the invocation and benediction.

Sammy Endres recited the Scout Oath and three boys, Don Hartman, Jim Dangelmayr and Mike Endres, earned merit badges in Public Speaking by giving their talks. Arthur Endres made the introductions.

Parish Hall, scene of the program, was festive with holiday decor. Tables carried out the Yule theme and places were marked with miniature red Santa packs filled with mints and nuts. Party activity centered around a large lighted tree.

It was announced that the next meeting will be on January 6 and will feature renewal of the charter.

In addition to being decorated as an Eagle Scout Joe Hartman received six merit badges. Sammy Endres earned seven merit badges. Ervin Hamric made the presentations.

Advanced to First Class Scouts are Kenny Swirczynski, Alvin Hoening, Mike Endres, Jim Dangelmayr, Don Hartman.

Going into Second Class Scouting are Robert Knauf, Herbert Fette Jr., Jerry Fleitman, Daniel Schmitt, Alvin Hoening, Tommy Trachta.

Alvin Hartman Is Named Fire Chief

Muenster Volunteer Fire Department had election of officers at the December meeting and elected Alvin Hartman as fire chief. He had been assistant chief the past two years.

Henry Pels Jr. is the new assistant chief. Ed Endres continues as secretary. Gene Hoedebeck, retiring chief, was elected a three-year trustee. Ed Schneider and Joe Moser are trustees with unexpired terms.

Brief Illness of Butch Bruns, 14 Ended by Death

Lawrence B. Bruns Jr., better known as "Butch", lost his struggle with a short illness when he slipped away quietly early last Friday morning.

He was the 14 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Bruns. His father is superintendent of Muenster Public School.

Butch's serious illness started the night before Thanksgiving when he complained of severe stomach ache. He said then that he had been having less severe pains for several days before.

He underwent emergency surgery in Gainesville hospital that night and came home a week later. Tuesday of last week he was taken to an Oklahoma City hospital for special care and treatment. Death came while he slept.

Seldom have so many paid tribute to a local young man as came to rosary services and the final rites.

Funeral services were conducted Sunday afternoon at 4:30 in Sacred Heart Church. Father Alvin Kubis officiated at the requiem mass and delivered the sermon. Burial was in Sacred Heart Cemetery. Miller Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

Bearers were Stan Endres, Steven Hess, Robert Miller, Jerry Otto, Glenn Owen, Glenn Trachta, Tommy Trachta and Steve Yosten.

Five rosary services were held at the Miller Chapel. The three Saturday afternoon were by school children at 4, St. Anne's Society at 4:45 and the community rosary at 8 p.m. Sunday afternoon Boy Scouts recited the rosary at 1:15 and altar boys at 2 o'clock.

At the funeral his classmates of the eighth grade parochial school formed a guard of honor at the church door. Boy Scout troop in full dress uniform, with Scoutmaster Ed Schneider, were honor guards at the cemetery.

Butch was born Oct. 4, 1949, in Fort Worth and came to Muenster as soon as he was old enough to travel. Mr. Bruns had joined the Public School staff that year as manual arts instructor.

In addition to the parents, survivors are a brother, Robert, and a sister, Beverly; grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Bruns of Gainesville and Mrs. C. E. Dunn of Hurst.

How To Solve The Social Security Scandal
 "Are you counting on Social Security? If so, you ought to be interested in a few facts about the status of your 'rainy day' fund." So begins an article in the November-December issue of Freedom Magazine.

We are continually assured by bureaucrats that Social Security is a financially sound system. But Mark Andrews, author of the article, reveals correspondence he received from the Chief Actuary of the system. In it, the official admits that Social Security is not "actuarially sound" and is not intended to be!

The Actuary claims that the system doesn't have to be sound because it is compulsory. Therefore they can always tax future participants to pay the benefits promised to today's contributors. Any insurance company that operated on that premise would, of course, be prosecuted by the same government that operates Social Security. Yet the system is $320 billion short of having the money to pay promised benefits to present members.

The author of the article cites additional material received from the Actuary, in which it is revealed that they expect future members to make up the $320 billion shortage. They estimate that present members will pay $255 billion in taxes and collect $544 billion in benefits. While future members will pay $640 billion in

A Diet Badly Needed

S.S. taxes and collect only $377 billion.

In other words, present members will receive over twice what they put in; while future members will get back only about half of what they put in. And even then, the figures still leave a $26 billion deficit that will undoubtedly have to come out of the general tax fund.

The article states: "We are robbing our children to pay for our own benefits . . . and even then, it still comes out $26 billion short."

Is there a solution? Yes, fortunately. The author points out that the system can be — and should be — transferred to private enterprise. There it will be administered soundly with the customer's interest foremost.

And no one will suffer from the transfer. For, as the article cites: "Equitable Life Assurance Society has indicated that for the potential incomes presently anticipated, insurance companies of America could guarantee 150 per cent to 200 per cent of our political promises and fund the program to boot!"

"Such is the genius of America's great private enterprise system . . . and such, by comparison, is the failure of government-in-business." Governments are incapable of approaching these problems on a financially-sound basis for they are interested only in political implications.

There can be no doubt that the solution advanced is the correct and just one. Politicians will scream that their "sacred cow" must be administered by the government. They will probably even claim that millions of poor "little people" will suffer without the government's Social Security.

But it is for those so-called "little people" that this transfer must take place. Common decency demands that we get the system into competent hands before it is too late — before all those who have come to rely on it are left in the cold, with nothing to show for all they've put into it.

THE FIRING OF A GOOD OFFICIAL

Because Otto F. Otepka, veteran career officer, was dedicated to national security and believed Congress ought to know of security failures, the State Department fired him.

Specifically, he was discharged for giving "confidential" information to a Senate subcommittee, conduct described as "unbecoming an officer" of the Department of State.

The "confidential" information involved data on wretchedly bad advice by official State counselors which contributed to the government's failure to realize in time that Fidel Castro was a plain Cuban Red.

Is it "conduct unbecoming an officer" to reveal facts, involving among others William Wieland, a top-ranking State official, and the ill-informed, stupid recommendations they made in sugaring over or disclaiming Castro's Communism?

Are we to believe it more becoming in the chief security evaluation officer of the State Department to hide the shells of grave errors and incompetence?

Congressman H. D. Gross of Iowa called Mr. Otepka's ouster "most reprehensible". He declared the State Officer was fired for providing a committee of Congress with information necessary to show that "other officials of government were not telling the truth."

The dismissal of Mr. Otepka, a conscientious and courageous State Department official, is indeed reprehensible. He simply didn't want sleazy security methods in sensitive areas and is convinced, as we are, that far too many dubious characters are esconced in the department's advisory echelon.

The Otepka case is not finished. It should be appealed, to the courts if necessary.

What irony to punish him for baring State Department security errors and do nothing about the men who were miserably taken in by the Castro flimflam!

Sabotaging Freedom's Efforts

Speaking of the "Wheat Deal" with Russia, let's examine the Congressional Record on Senator Frank Lausche's stand. Said he:

"Mr. President, I have received a number of communications from persons who, I believe, are familiar with the farm problem in the Communist countries. The communications state that the farmers of the Communist countries are sabotaging the government by deliberately failing to produce food, for the purpose of bringing to an end the Communist domination. The letters I am receiving also state that by selling wheat to Russia, we would sabotage the efforts of the farmers of those Communist nations in their efforts to emancipate themselves.

"We are, of course, motivated to a minor degree by humanitarian purposes in urging the sale of this food. We are also motivated by the prospect of obtaining gold for our country.

"The decision which, I believe, ultimately must be made, is how we are best to insure the future life of our Nation, and how best we can induce the farmers of the Communist countries to continue their efforts to break down the entrenchment of the Communist governments.

"A few days ago I stated my opposition to this proposal. My opposition is growing stronger, rather than weaker."

And so is ours!

THE MISSING RIGHT

In all the current furor over civil rights we have not heard nor seen a single mention of an extremely important right — the right of a worker to join, or not to join, a labor union.

This is a deplorable omission because compulsory unionism, which requires workers in unionized plants to join unions in order to hold their jobs, is still permitted in 30 of the 50 states.

It is our view that the 30 states should take immediate steps to restore the right of free choice in union membership by enacting the same type of right-to-work laws extant in their 20 sister states.

CDA Members Play Santa Claus to Local Shut-ins

Members of Muenster court Catholic Daughters of America played Santa Claus Sunday to local shut-ins. It was the organization's annual Christmas party. Instead of gift exchanges among themselves members give homemade goodies, fruits and nuts to fix baskets for shut-ins. They assembled 29 gift packages. Also remembered the pastors and Benedictine Sisters. Members took the fixings to their meeting Friday night. About 40 attended the business session. Seven of them returned to the KC Hall Sunday afternoon to pack and then deliver the baskets. On this final detail were Mmes. Charles Taylor, Steve Moster, Martin Trubebach, Paul Fisher, Charley Hellman and Gene Schmitz and Miss Marie Trubebach. The business session Friday night was routine with one highlight: the court paid off its hospital pledge for this year. Miss Marie Trubebach, Mass Crusade chairman, enlisted volunteers; Mrs. Bernard Wolf reported on the Institute held recently in Fort Worth; Mrs. Gene Schmitz read an article on "The Twelve Days of Christmas," relating to the spiritual; and Mrs. Charles Taylor, grand regent, read a short article from the NCCW publication. Father Alcuin, court chaplain, gave his monthly message. It related to Advent and Christmas. After adjournment members had coffee and cookies for refreshments.

Joyce Haverkamp Gilbert Boydston Say Vows at Mass

Miss Joyce Haverkamp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alois Haverkamp of Muenster, became the bride of Gilbert Odell Boydston of Gainesville in nuptial services at Sacred Heart Church Saturday at 4 p.m.

Father Alcuin Kubis directed the exchange of vows and officiated at the nuptial mass.

The bride wore a formal gown of white peau de soie with appliques of lace ornamenting the fitted bodice and skirt with back fullness that swept into a chapel train. A bow at the back gave the hint of a bustle. A queen's crown held her bouffant veil and she carried a purple-throated white orchid and feathered carnations atop her prayer book. Her father escorted her up the aisle and gave her in marriage.

Honor attendants were the bride's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Travis Wickliffe of Irving. She wore a green brocade dress, street length with bell skirt and elbow sleeves. Her matching pillbox hat was covered with a brief veil and her flowers were red carnations.

David Forgey, bride's brother-in-law of Dallas, and Lennie Haverkamp, a cousin, ushered.

After mass the bride placed a bouquet of white gladioli on the Blessed Virgin's altar. Mrs. Norbert Walterscheid was vocal soloist. Anthony Luke, organist, and the men's choir provided music for the mass. Wedding reception and buffet were held in the Parish Hall where Misses Flora Mae Sims and Joan Kaiser registered guests. The newlyweds are at home in Gainesville following a short honeymoon trip. He is employed at S&W Packing Company. His parents are the late Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Boydston. The bride is a graduate of Sacred Heart High School.

New Liability Law Effective Jan. 1

An amendment to the state's Motor Vehicle Safety Responsibility Act, to become effective on January 1, assures greater financial protection to persons who get hurt in auto accidents.

The minimum limit on liability for bodily injury has been raised to $10,000 for each person and $20,000 for each occurrence — a hundred percent increase on the liability minimum for both.

The new limit applies to all liability insurance, regardless of the lower figures shown on many current policies, says Earl Fisher of the Weinzapfel Insurance Agency. Hence it is mandatory that all policies with lower limits be endorsed to reflect the increase.

Actually, he said, the change concerns a fairly low percentage of policies. Since the law was passed, in July, agents have been writing their policies to comply. Furthermore many policies are not affected anyway because their liability is higher than the new minimum requirements.

The quartet became acquainted with Muenster people at the Dallas Fair on Muenster Day and have been visitors here ever since whenever the opportunity presented itself.

They are Max Schoberl, Manfred Buchheimer, Peter Schnetzer and Heinz Spertl. Coming with them was Jerry Lauzon, also of Fort Sill who hails from Massachusetts. They were overnight houseguests at the homes of Messrs. and Mrs. Ludwig Kieninger, Earl Fisher and Albert Hess.

After that the Kieningers were hosts for breakfast, some 40 guests attending. A highlight of Sunday was a visit at the Ernest Medders home and the German boys who are talented musicians sang some of their native songs.

WHERE'S HENRY TONIGHT?

Several years ago Henry cast his lot with this twenty-four-hour-a-day business. He is just one of hundreds who make it their business to provide around-the-clock service to TP&L's 415,000 customers. He may be out repairing lines blown down in a storm — or re-fusing a transformer. He may be out in the neighborhood talking to his friends about our rich American heritage. He may be off in another state trying to persuade a manufacturer to locate a new plant in his town — or away at TP&L's training center learning how he can improve himself and do a better job for TP&L and you. But lots of nights lots of Henrys are away from home. And you, our patrons, are the beneficiaries. For you see, we are so organized, with 40 district and local offices, that there is always a Henry close to you who is trained and ready to respond to your every need for low cost dependable power.

But even without the amendment it's a good idea. Besides helping all who attend college it applies the principle of federal aid in the proper way — by giving to the student rather than the school, and enabling each student to apply that aid in attending the school of his choice. That, incidentally, was the principle applied in the GI bill. The student was allowed to choose his school. Other students should have the same right.
