Grounds for Impeachment?

A new book written by Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas has raised a storm of angry protest among members of congress. In the book, "Points of Rebellion", the 72 year old jurist appears to justify the use of violence and disregard for law and order by anti-American demonstrators. He describes our nation, loosely, as "the Establishment" without defining exactly what he means by the word. For example, on page 53 he writes, "The major parties are controlled by the Establishment and the result is a form of political bankruptcy." He charges that our country is not controlled by the people, but by "special interests" who "use its powers to favor themselves and to perpetuate regimes of oppression, exploitation and discrimination". On page 56 he declares:

"The two parties have become almost indistinguishable, and each is controlled by the Establishment", and then follows with the accusation that "powers that be faintly echo Adolf Hitler, who said in 1938: 'The streets of our country are in turmoil. The universities are filled with students rebelling and rioting... We need law and order.'"

Of course Mr. Douglas does not explain that the rioting youth in Germany were in fact the fascist youth who helped bring Hitler to power and later became his Storm Troopers and Gestapo agents. But it seems to us to be altogether shocking that a man who is an official in the highest court of law in the land, should equate "law and order" with fascism.

Could not Justice Douglas just as easily have quoted Daniel Webster, who in a speech before the U. S. Senate, described our country as "a great, popular, constitutional government guarded by law and by judiciary, and defended by the affections of the whole people." Or could he have not recalled that President Calvin Coolidge, in his inaugural address on March 4, 1925, declared that "In a republic the first rule for guidance of the citizens is obedience to law... Those who want their rights respected under the Constitution and the law ought to set the example themselves of observing the Constitution and the law...?"

If Mr. Douglas has lost faith in a lawful society, governed by the people and for the people, then we must agree with some members of Congress who have already declared that he should be replaced.

A Message from J. Edgar Hoover

It was Patrick Henry who said, "Bad men cannot make good citizens. It is impossible," he added, "that a nation of infidels or idolaters should be a nation of free men... A vitiated state of morals, a corrupted public conscience, is incompatible with freedom."

I suggest there is a pertinent message for present-day Americans in Patrick Henry's warning. Moral decadence and disrespect for law thrive where self-discipline is weak. In a society of free men, there must be an abundance of personal integrity and discipline. We need only to look back at the 1960's to see what has been happening to our moral standards.

For the past several years our citizens have been baraged with unbridled vulgarity, obscenity, blasphemy, perversion, and public desecration of our cherished ideals and symbols. In the face of these perplexing conditions, many citizens are practically moral cowards. Afraid of being labeled puritanical or "square," they tolerate and condone acts and habits which they know are morally wrong but which they do not have the courage to denounce and oppose. This is unfortunate, because they fail themselves, their children, and their country.

Where morality and decency are concerned, Americans must not let rationalization and doubletalk confuse them. There is nothing enlightening, enduring, or progressive about degeneracy.

Let us make no mistake about it. Human dignity, individual values, civil rights, and freedom for all citizens cannot exist without order and self-discipline. We need discipline to lift us above the baseness of indulgence, discipline to stand for right over wrong, discipline to uphold and preserve our ideals and principles of democracy, and discipline to respect and obey the law.

Let those whose actions are incompatible with the freedoms of our society know that their rights and privileges end where the rights and privileges of others begin.

Fouling Our Own Nest

Environmental pollution is a people problem, as well as an industrial problem. While we demand that industry do something about polluting air and water, we should go a step farther and crack down on the individual polluters that number in the tens of millions.

The National Academy of Sciences in cooperation with the highway departments of 29 states has just completed a study. It shows a lot of people aren't nearly as concerned about pollution as they profess to be. Each month, American motorists drop an average of 1,304 pieces of trash on every mile of the nation's vast network of primary highways - nearly 16,000 pieces per mile each year. Paper items accounted for 59 per cent of total roadside litter. The rest was tabulated at 16 per cent cans, 6 per cent plastic items, 6 per cent bottles and jars, and 13 per cent miscellaneous.

The large miscellaneous grouping included tires, lumber and a variety of unclassified items ranging from hair curlers, underwear and false teeth to ice chests and washing machines. This is the work of a public that, judging by press accounts, is calling for instant solutions to all of our environmental problems.

The Public Service Company of Colorado observed that glue manufacturers can't eliminate the chemicals in their product that youngsters love to inhale, but they do have a surprise in store for the next sniffer. Model airplane glue will have a new additive, synthetic oil of mustard, that will create a jolt in the nasal area. The additive produces the same effects that you would receive from eating very hot mustard or horseradish - excessive tearing.

A Sin of Our Generation

Our nation is caught in the misery of a debilitating and possibly fatal sickness—inflation. The immediate cause of this disease is accurately ascribed to excessive federal government spending, but there is a more fundamental force involved.

Inflation is caused by the selfishness and greed of the present generation of citizens who demand more benefits from government than they are willing to pay for in taxes. The resulting deficits are translated into rising prices and increases in the cost of living. Those citizens who depend upon welfare, Social Security or savings are most severely affected.

Inflation is legalized robbery! It reduces the purchasing power of the dollar and thus destroys the value of savings. A $100 U. S. Treasury bond cashed today will buy less than half as much goods and service as the same amount of money would have purchased in 1940.

Unlike Robin Hood, inflation robs those who have the least—elderly pensioners, widows and children. It is a cruel and unjust tax on every citizen. However, we brought it on ourselves by our constant demands on Congress for more and more government benefits, subsidies and services—trying to get something for nothing.

Wartime spending is often cited as the principal cause of inflation but, as Dr. Arthur Burns, Chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, points out, less than one-third of the $74 billion increase in federal spending since 1964 was for defense. The present Congress has done little except increase spending. Important and needed legislation to check crime, change the direction of farm programs, strengthen farmer bargaining associations and provide rules for farm labor negotiations lies bottled up in committee while huge giveaway programs slide through easily.

It is time for a "house-cleaning" at the elections this year. Voters should study carefully the voting record of their members of Congress and leave the big spenders at home. Fortunately, there is a roll call vote in the House of Representatives on the recent attempt to over-ride the President's veto of the huge Health, Education and Welfare appropriation bill. Every voter who is worried about inflation should welcome this opportunity to identify and vote against the spenders.

The mistaken belief held by many citizens that the economic problems which cause poverty, low farm prices, poor schools and other disparities can be cured by big federal spending programs must be corrected. This is of paramount importance. The failure of the New Deal, Fair Deal and Great Society attempts to cure these ills with huge government programs should be convincing.

Our generation needs a revival of morality. We should renounce the "sin" of transferring our debts and deficits through inflation to elderly pensioners, those who save, and the children of the new generation. —Charles B. Shuman, President, American Farm Bureau Federation.

BUT WISHING WON'T MAKE IT SO!

IT'S YOUR MONEY

If you would like to have something really big to stew over, why not consider the federal debt, which now stands at $277 billion. If that is too overpowering, take the annual interest on the debt alone—approximately $18 billion dollars.

Suppose that we had no national debt, and that huge sum we pay in annual interest could be put to a really constructive use.

For example, President Nixon has proposed that an additional $10 billion be spent for municipal waste treatment plants, over the next five years. If the $18 billion now going to interest were available, the entire project could be under way this year!

Stewart Udall recently said that it would take about $100 billion until the end of the century to restore the water, land and air to its natural quality. Again, if that $18 billion didn't have to go for debt charges, pollution might be controlled in a half-dozen years instead of thirty.

Well, you may say, all this is useless speculation because the debt is there—all $277 billion of it—and we have to pay the interest each year. True enough, but just stewing about the problem should show the folly of ever again having an unbalanced federal budget except in a national emergency. During the past five years alone interest costs increased by some 70 per cent. Isn't it about time for all of us to do more worrying and begin to apply the brakes on government spending?

Mrs. Frank Wolf of Stratton, Colo., a visitor here Saturday to Monday, was honored at a Saturday night dinner party in the home of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Jake Wolf. Other guests were the honoree's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Weinzapfel, and Mrs. Tony Otto. Sunday the Weinzapfels entertained for the visitor and took her sight-seeing through the area and to visit other relatives: Herbert Meurers, David Brights and Henry Weinzapfel and Mrs. Tony Gremminger. Monday Henry Weinzapfel flew his aunt to Wichita Falls where she will visit before returning to Colorado. It was her first time to travel by air.

Mrs. Wolf's daughter of Slaton went to Colorado to bring her to Texas to spend a month's vacation. Relatives she visited included Mrs. Ed Otto of Wichita Falls and Mrs. Charlie Meurer at Windthorst. She is the former Carrie Meurer.

Relatives Attend Sister Thomasine's Rites in Arkansas

Mr. and Mrs. Norbert Walterscheid, Mr. and Mrs. Hank Walterscheid, Raymond and Andy Walterscheid and Mrs. John Hacker, Mrs. James Eckart and Mrs. Lee Roy Yosten attended the funeral of Sister Thomasine Walterscheid in Jonesboro, Ark., Wednesday, March 18.

The concelebrated Requiem Mass had as principal celebrant the Most Rev. Lawrence P. Graves, Auxiliary Bishop of the Little Rock Diocese. Five other concelebrants included Father Louis Deuster of Jonesboro where services were held in Holy Angels Convent Chapel. Burial followed in the convent cemetery.

Sister Thomasine who was administrator of Mercy Hospital in Brinkley, Ark., was at St. Bernard's Hospital in Jonesboro for a medical check-up and died suddenly early on March 16.

Daughter of the late Theresa and John Walterscheid

she was born in Muenster Sept. 7, 1908, and had been an Olivetan Benedictine Sister for over 40 years. She made profession of religious vows on July 2, 1929, obtained the B. S. nursing degree at St. Louis University in 1934 and her Administrative Degree at the same university in 1957.

Her life of dedication was spent in bedside nursing, supervisory work, and as service director and instructor at the nurses' training school at St. Bernard's Hospital. She served as administrator of St. Bernard's for ten years and had been administrator at Mercy Hospital the past three years.

She served as a delegate for a number of Arkansas State Hospital committees, was a president of the Jonesboro District Nurses' Association and president of the Arkansas Catholic Hospital Association.

Pallbearers were six doctors from St. Bernard's staff who had worked with Sister Thomasine.

If the world learned from history, how different both would be.

NOTES FROM THE LIBRARY

By Bettie Luke

New books on the shelves of Muenster Public Library include "Campus Apocalypse" by Donald Rogan who focuses attention on the student search that lies behind these diverse phenomena and discusses with great penetration the seriousness and inevitability involved.

New biographies recently shelved include "Don Quixote" the ingenious gentleman by Miguel de Cervantes.

Also "Pearl S. Buck" by Theodore F. Harris in consultation with Pearl S. Buck. The result is a life story of this remarkable woman from her birth to the present time.

Another interesting book is "Henry Long" by T. Harry Williams. Long, one of the most extraordinary figures in American political history, had become at the time of his death a serious rival to Franklin D. Roosevelt for the presidency. The library also has an autobiography of Theodore Roosevelt.

A blessed Easter to everyone is the wish of the staff at the library.

St. Joseph Society Has Election and Hosts Buffet Meal

Election of a new secretary and treasurer was the principal business at a meeting of the parish St. Joseph Society on the feast day of its patron March 19.

Wilfred Bindel, president, presided. His term continues for another year as does that of Joe Hoenig, vice president.

Denis Walterscheid is the new secretary succeeding Robert Knabe Sr. and Victor Hartman is the new treasurer succeeding Gerald Hess.

Some 30 members and Pastors Father Placidus and Father Andrew attended the meeting in the club house after attending the 7:30 p.m. Mass in Sacred Heart Church.

While the men were in business session, wives and members of St. Anne's Society were entertained with a movie in the Parish Hall. It was a travel-historical film shown by Sister Leonore.

Afterward the women joined the men in the club house for a catered fried chicken buffet meal.

In keeping with a tradition almost as old as Muenster itself special services were held in Sacred Heart Church to honor St. Joseph and all students had a holiday from classes.

Early day pioneers vowed to observe March 19 in a special way in honor of St. Joseph, patron of builders and himself a carpenter, as a plea to protect their church and community from destructive storms after two churches had been demolished by tornadoes. There have been no serious storm losses since.

Mental Health Unit Approved For Cooke County

Provision for the care of all ages of mentally handicapped persons is currently under way in Cooke County.

Along with the child development center for mentally and physically handicapped children, officials of the county and the city of Gainesville have agreed to cooperate with the state in establishing a mental health center, which will share building space with the child development center.

The building is the former Booker T. Washington school which has been vacant for several years following integration of its students in the other schools of Gainesville.

Personnel of the child development center and volunteers have been busy during weekends repairing and repainting and generally improving the place. Douglas Hobbs, vice president of the center, said that the plan includes establishing a public park on the playground. He also asked the city council to provide free water and sewer service, garbage pickup and additional lighting for the building and grounds.

The mental health facility is a unit of the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation. County Judge William Carroll explained that the state's participation in the project consists of paying salaries of a psychiatrist nurse and secretary and the fees of a psychiatrist, who would provide outpatient treatment one day a week. The state will also pay half of the drug expense.

The city and county part of the agreement consists of providing a location and office equipment and paying the other half of the drug bill. The space has been provided by the Child Development Center. The city and county will share equally on the drug bill, estimated at $2,000 each per year, and on office equipment. The state has budgeted $8,200 for the proposed facility, and more funds are possibly available if needed. The state funds will be used for salaries, professional fees and drug costs.

Regarding local need of the mental health unit, Judge Carroll pointed out that about 90 persons of the county are committed to the state hospital each year. The local services are to be available to all and persons able to pay are to be charged.

'70 Highway Map Features Travel Trails of Texas

AUSTIN -- The 1970 Official State Highway Map of Texas, released today by the Texas Highway Department, invites all motorists to "Drive the Texas Travel Trails."

Pictured on the map cover is a portion of the Transmountain Loop at El Paso, a starting point for the Mountain Trail. Completed in 1969, this spectacular highway is officially designated Loop 375. Its construction through Franklin Mountains involved the largest earthmoving project in the history of the Texas Highway Department.

More than half a million copies of the 1970 Official State Highway Map rolled off the presses in the first printing, and they are now being distributed by the Department. Before the end of the year another million copies will be printed to meet the ever-growing demand for this popular map. More than a million 1969 maps were distributed to motorists through Highway Department District offices, tourist bureaus and visitor centers, and on written request to the Department in Austin.

The Texas motorist will find the new highway map easier to read because of an enlarged type face. Area inset maps on the reverse side of the map have been enlarged, and more towns are shown by outline rather than by a circle.

Added this year are more than 100 miles of the Interstate highway system. Urban sections completed or redesignated as Interstate highways during the past year are shown in Dallas and San Antonio insets.

Although construction emphasis may have been on the Interstate system, the map invites the motorist to follow the 10 Texas Travel Trails, as routes to adventure: "There are some special routes which lead to adventure and legend... to sunny recreation areas and landscapes of scenic grandeur. The Texas Travel Trails are routes which meander from green parks to sparkling lakes, cruising the byways to pleasure. Each one explores a different, distinctive region, lush forestlands where wild orchids grow, or majestic mountains where Apache legends are still told."

Visitors will find expert assistance in planning travels along the Travel Trails or a long high-speed Interstate routes at 11 tourist information bureaus operated by the Highway Department. Ten bureaus are marked on the map. The eleventh is in the Capitol Building in Austin. Trained travel counselors in these information bureaus and centers assisted a million tourists last year.

Designated by small green squares on the 1970 map are safety rest areas that include a comfort station, drinking fountains, fireplaces, and special travel displays featuring both Statewide and local points of interest and handy map dispensers. Motorists also will appreciate the familiar shaded picnic tables.

Altogether, the Texas Highway Department has provided approximately 1,100 safety rest areas, roadside parks and scenic turnouts for the safety and convenience of highway users in Texas.

Roadside parks are indicated by the familiar green dot symbol, and green triangles show the location of State parks. They are listed in an index on the map face.

Other helpful information on the map includes listings of Highway Department district offices, Department of Public Safety offices, and Highway Department Tourist Bureaus and Visitor Centers.

Back again this year is a handy conversion table in Spanish for the benefit of Latin American visitors. The table converts kilometers to miles and liters to gallons.

The Official State Highway Map is one of the most popular of more than eight million pieces of travel-oriented literature distributed each year by the Texas Highway Department. Copies of the map are available at Highway Department Tourist Bureaus, at Department District offices and from the Texas Highway Department, Travel and Information Division, Austin 78703.

Modern Dormitory Nears Completion At County College

A modern dormitory, designed to accommodate 108 students is nearing final stages of construction at Cooke County Junior College.

The $500,000 structure was made possible by a low interest loan from the Department of Housing and Urban Development. The loan is to be repaid from dormitory use fees paid by student occupants. Taxpayers of the local junior college district will not be expected to assume any portion of construction costs of the new student housing facility.

According to information released by Norris Scott, Dean of Student Services, the dormitory is to be a co-educational facility with girls occupying the west wing and boys occupying the east wing. The two areas are to be separated by a common lobby that will be equipped with lounge furniture, color television, and carpeting. Vending machines will be available to permit students to purchase Cokes and snacks. Laundry facilities will also be available for student use. Meals may be taken at the school cafeteria.

Student quarters are designed to accommodate two individuals in each suite. Separate clothes closets, storage spaces, and desks have been provided for student occupants. All rooms are equipped with individual temperature controls. Cable television service and private telephones are available at extra cost.

Quarters in the new dormitory will be assigned on a first request first served basis. Students desiring accommodations here for the fall semester should send a written request and a twenty dollar room deposit to the Dean of Student Services at Cooke County Junior College.

The facility will be supervised by a resident dormitory supervisor. Applications are currently being accepted for this position.

Why Does Money
Cost So Much?

Bank customers -- the man who wants a home mortgage or a personal loan, the company in need of cash for expansion, the small business who needs a loan for new equipment -- all are asking: why is money tight and why are interest rates so high?

The main reason we are in a tight money squeeze is because the government is struggling to curb inflation. In other words, TIGHT MONEY and HIGH INTEREST RATES are a result of inflation. To put a stop to excessive spending by the public and by business, the Federal Reserve System has tightened credit so that banks and other lenders are not able to make all the loans to meet the wants of their customers.

INFLATION, THE CULPRIT
Inflation is at the root of the problem. Prices in the supermarkets and department stores have spiraled in the past two years as have apartment rentals, the cost of a house or new car and just about everything that comes with a price tag.

This kind of sweeping inflation at the rate of five or six per cent a year can't go along without having an effect on interest rates. Just as prices in all other areas have risen, so too have bank loan rates. And heavy borrowing over the past several months has only helped to drive up interest rates.

Most people don't know that full service banks are not at liberty to charge whatever they want. Aside from the Federal Reserve's regulation over the country's monetary policies, other lenders are in competition with the banks. For instance, insurance companies, leasing companies, finance companies, to name a few, compete with full service banks in the credit market. Therefore, rates within a number of areas help establish interest rates which banks charge on a competitive basis.

And when the Federal Reserve moved to tighten money, full service banks were, in return, forced to tighten their own lending policies. That is why many banks have asked people not to borrow unless it is really necessary.

WHAT'S TO COME?
While people may not understand why banks have had to restrict their lending, these policies will, in the final analysis, help the Federal Reserve accomplish its objective -- that of easing the demand for money. When people start saving larger amounts bank reserves will be healthier. And when these things happen, the Federal Reserve will be able to ease credit restrictions. Then the nation's banks will have more money to meet the expanding needs of their communities.

Scholarships Are Available in Air Force ROTC

High School Juniors - - - Within the next year you will be giving very serious thought to your future, and in particular the first step - a college education. For many of you, finances may be a factor as to which school you are able to attend. Perhaps the United States Air Force ROTC program can be an assist to you. The Air Force offers a four year scholarship program for selected freshmen. The scholarship consists of full tuition, laboratory and associated fees, an allowance for books, plus a tax-free allowance of $50 a month as long as the scholarship is in effect.

If the college of your choice has the four-year AFROTC program, you may want to consider applying for the scholarship. The training you get while in AFROTC cannot be matched. It will help you develop your leadership potential; create disciplined personality; and generally prepare you for entrance into the Air Force Officer Profession upon completion of your college work.

The cut-off date for application is normally the 14th of November of the Senior year.

For further details, see your high school counselor. If he doesn't have the detailed information concerning the program, ask him to write or you write directly for it. Address inquiries to Air Force ROTC (ARTOD), Maxwell AFB, Alabama 36112, and ask for the bulletin on the "Air Force ROTC Scholarship Program".

ing together now. This war would be different if Laos, Cambodia, Thailand, Free China and the others would only admit the danger and act accordingly.

Such an alignment of free nations could and should be carried still farther. All the free countries hauling munitions to North Vietnam ought to be reminded that they're on the wrong side. And our country ought to exercise its responsibility as freedom's leader by organizing effective opposition rather than doing other people's fighting and wasting time on futile negotiation with the Reds.

As things are going now US and civilization are both losing. That's especially tragic when there's a way for both to win but nothing is done about it.

Just a State of Mind
In case you feel you're getting old, And falling far behind, Forget it; just remember age is but a state of mind.

You only feel that way because Your hair is grey; there's gout, Your hearing's getting pretty bad, Your teeth are wearing out.

It's true you have some wrinkles, Your posture's getting stooped, And almost any hour of day You feel just like you're pooped.

But do not be discouraged, In case you're partly blind, You do not have to worry It's just a state of mind.

The Rotarian.

Track Teams in Practice Meet at Saint Jo Thursday

Track activity this week for the two Muenster schools consists mostly of a practice session today (Thursday) with a few other local outfits on the Saint Jo track. Participating schools are Muenster, Sacred Heart, Saint Jo, Era and possibly also Valley View. What they do will not count for the record but it will be competitive practice which hopefully will sharpen performance.

The following day Sacred Heart boys will be at the Marietta, Okla., meet. They will be in fast company, principally to improve their style some more. The Hornets, originally booked for the Marietta meet, have withdrawn.

More important to both local teams is the Red River Relay at Saint Jo which was re-scheduled for April 4 after called off last Saturday because of a cold wave. About thirty teams formerly entered have been invited but some possibly will not show because of other bookings for that date. Some, however will change. Glenn Richardson and Tom Joy, both entered at Saginaw, said they will go to the Saint Jo meet. Nearness is one inducement. Competing in a full field of class B teams is another.

Robert Fisher on A&M Honor Roll

Robert Fisher has been named a Distinguished Student at Texas A&M University. The ranking, which is limited to the top ten per cent of the undergraduate enrollment, requires a grade point ratio of at least 3.25 out of a possible 4 and no grade lower than C.

Robert is a senior majoring in electrical engineering. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Fisher, a graduate of Muenster High School and a former student at Cooke County Junior College.

Jaycees to Treat Kiddies Sunday in Easter Egg Hunt

All kiddies of the community through eight years are invited to be guests of the Muenster Jaycees at an Easter egg hunt Sunday.

It will be held in City Park starting at 2 p.m. under direction of Donald Fisher, chairman. The hunt will be conducted in two sections, one for tiny tots through five years of age, the other for children six through eight.

Prizes are offered in each section for finding the golden egg and for finding the most eggs.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Endres and Jean, Sue and Donna of Oklahoma City were visitors here Saturday night and Sunday. The remainder of their weekend was spent with the Dick Endres family in Fort Worth, especially a new grandson.

Texas Led Nation Last Year in New Industrial Plants

AUSTIN, Tex. -- With a total of 901 new plants, Texas has earned No. 1 rating among the states in industrial development for 1969 -- first time in its history.

Gov. Preston Smith announced that Dun and Bradstreet Corporation, in a report published by the Fortune Magazine marketing research staff, bestowed the recognition.

Number of new plants in Texas last year exceeded California's by 42 per cent. California was in second place.

Texas is the only southwestern state to rank in the top ten of new industrial locations.

Only six other states now exceed Texas' overall total of 15,576 manufacturing plants. Number increased by six per cent during last year.

Smith credited the increase to efforts of the Texas Industrial Commission and "the close-knit alliance between local, regional and state development groups and the partnership of industry and government that we have in Texas to promote a better life for all citizens."

"Top ten states invested $7.9 million in programs to attract industry last year. Texas spent only $385,570 or less than five per cent of the total. State's share of the 3,813 new plants nationwide was 24 per cent.

"For an investment of one half the average, Texas has been able to accomplish nearly three times the results," Smith boasted.

Other states among the top ten were Georgia with 609, Illinois with 290, Alabama with 289, Indiana with 240, Florida with 224, Minnesota with 224, Ohio with 212 and North Carolina with 189.

"My husband is to be named Man-of-the-Year." "Well, that shows you what a lousy year we have had."
