In this era of hippies and yuppies and revolt from traditions and customs of the past, it is not surprising that many youngsters are confused. They encounter vague ideas about the reason for living, about God's part in our every day happenings, about the kind of world God gave us and how it happens to be in its present sad condition.

Well, it is comforting to know that some are not so confused. Felix Becker has an essay from a grand-daughter in Maryland expressing good old solid attitudes toward the problems that have some people baffled.

She's positive about claiming that God is not to blame for the ugliness around us. "He gave us the trees, flowers and grass, the birds flying in a sky of fluffy clouds, and stars overlooking everything. He gave us life with a heart, a free will and a mind of our own, and our lives are up to us. It is man's own free will to do what he wants.

"Wars are the work of man. If President Johnson and communist leaders really wanted to they could come to a peace treaty. But man has his own free will, and if the leaders of one country don't want peace, then that is their own wish. God did not make guns and bombs, man did."

It's a pity that many adults nowadays aren't thinking as clearly as this school girl does. Some seem to think that war is an act of God, punishing people for disobeying His rules. Some look upon war and suffering and ugliness as reasons to doubt that there is a God.

Well, the young lady has a firm answer on both issues. The flowers, birds and sky and the mysterious beauties of human lives all say that God is wonderful and good. But war and ugliness are the doing of man.

Perhaps, as the essay suggests, there may be another slant to the Garden of Eden story. Perhaps all of creation was a Garden of Eden. Perhaps, like Adam and Eve, the generations since have obscured the original beauty and happiness by their own meanness. After all, later generations have no better record than Adam and Eve, are no less to blame for the troubles they've had.

The essay in general puts emphasis on one main topic. God made the world good and beautiful and turned it over to us human beings. It would still be good and beautiful if men had run it by His rules. But they made a mess of it when they got too worldly wise and did things their own way.

That not only gives an adequate explanation for things as they are. It also presents a more pleasing image of the Creator. He doesn't need to bother with the unpleasantness of punishing people. They punish themselves by the consequence of their misdeeds.

Nevertheless that view, as reasonable as it seems, still leaves a question. How about the suffering of people who obviously are not at fault? We see them so often. The victims of riots, the women and children left homeless and hungry by war, the victims of flood, storm or fire. Seeing their undeserved suffering shakes some people's belief in Divine justice.

And here's where we come to another basic belief which is essential to the concept of a kind and just God. There must be a life beyond for final compensation or punishment. How else can one account for the innocent who suffer or the guilty who escape justice?

Unfortunately too many people have lost sight of those fundamentals. The world picture would be a lot different if more were aware that the Creator did a magnificent job in making the world for us, that mankind itself is to blame for the trouble it has, that the wise guys who cheat on the Divine rules as well as the unfortunates who seem to be cheated by fate will all get what they deserve in the final reckoning.

Congressman Otto Passman returns from a trip to Thailand saying he is shocked to hear that members of the Peace Corps on duty there publicly denounce this country's policy in Vietnam. Likewise he's disappointed to hear that Peace Corps does not require its members to support the nation's policy while serving overseas. Jack Vaughn, director of the corps, told him that he misunderstood the concept of the organization and what it

Barn, Contents Lost in Fire at Bruno Fleitman's

A fire of undetermined origin destroyed a barn and all its contents at Bruno Fleitman's Sunday night.

It was far advanced when discovered about 11 o'clock. Martin Bayer reported it to the fire department. At about the same time Robert Klement saw the blaze while driving past and went to the house and awakened the family. When firemen arrived they found the fire far beyond any chance of control.

The firemen spent the rest of the night protecting three nearby buildings the nearest of which was about 100 feet away. Steam rose from them as water was sprayed on and damage was confined to just scorching. Firemen also helped Fleitman move a tractor from about 75 feet away to a safer distance.

The barn's lower level had granary with feed and space for livestock. The upper level was full of hay. All of the hay and grain burned. No livestock was there. The building size is about 55x65.

Physics Equipment Added to SH High

Sacred Heart High Physics department started the new term with two new pieces of equipment made by Father Andrew Wever, instructor of mechanical drawing and shop.

One is a powerful vacuum and compression pump mounted handsomely. Father Andrew used the motor of an abandoned refrigerator. The pump produces a vacuum and pressure adequate for any physics demonstration. Father's skill has fashioned an apparatus which Central Scientific sells for approximately $140 under the name of Cenco Pressovac Vacuum and Pressure Pump. The latter has a few more accessories and is more elegant than the homemade pump but the essentials are the same.

The other new addition is an induction coil. The coil itself hails from an old Ford. The device operates on six volts and the spark is about one inch long. A considerably fancier apparatus is listed at $89.50 in the Cenco catalogue.

The Physics department is truly grateful to Father Andrew for his continued interest. Last year he supplied a number of valuable additions he made.

Proudly announcing a daughter are Mr. and Mrs. Julius Hermes Jr. of Lindsay. Now their three boys Bobby, Kenny and Steve have a sister. She arrived Wednesday, Aug. 28, at Gainesville Hospital, 7:30 p.m., weighing seven pounds six and a half ounces. Others welcoming her are grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Julius Hermes Sr. of Lindsay and Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Flusche of Muenster and great-grandmothers Mrs. Tony Otto of Muenster and Mrs. Anna Loerwald of Lindsay.

From Lubbock comes announcement of the birth of a son to Mr. and Mrs. Don Muller, formerly of Muenster. The new baby is a brother for Ronnie, Stephen and Gay Lynn. His grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Joe Vogel and Mr. and Mrs. Matt Muller, all of Muenster. Mrs. Vogel is in Lubbock for a visit with her daughter and family. The newcomer arrived Thursday, Aug. 29.

Slugfest Closes Season for Center

Muenster softballers ended their '68 season with a slugfest Friday night, inflicting a 17-4 loss on the Independents of Nocona.

The game was a dandy until the fifth, which started with the score at 1-1. Then Muenster batters got the visiting picture's measure and brought in a few runs. Trying to salvage the game Nocona put in another pitcher, but the effort backfired. At the end of the inning the score was 13-1.

The rest of the game was under control again but the pressure was relieved and each side managed for a few more runs.

When you think of yesterday without regret, and of tomorrow without fear, you are on the road to success.

He: "Which is this?"

Former Resident Frances Bernauer Dies at Decatur

Miss Frances Bernauer, 77, a former resident of Muenster, died at 4:30 p.m. Monday in a Decatur hospital after a two-week illness.

Funeral services were held here from Sacred Heart Church Wednesday, 10:30 a.m. and burial followed in Sacred Heart Cemetery. Father Albert Tyl, pastor of Decatur Catholic Church, officiated at the requiem Mass, delivered the sermon and conducted graveside rites. Christian Funeral Home of Decatur was in charge of arrangements. Rosary was recited in the funeral home chapel Tuesday at 7 p.m.

Bearers were Al and Conrad Flusche, Bernard and Leonard Haverkamp and Dan and David Haverkamp.

Miss Bernauer was born in St. Joseph, Tenn., Feb. 25, 1897, and came to Muenster with her parents when she was a young girl. Later she returned to Tennessee to be employed in Memphis. In recent years she made her home with her sister, Mrs. L. W. Flusche in Decatur. She survives. Other survivors are three sisters-in-law, Mrs. Lena Bernauer of Gainesville and Mrs. L. A. and Joe Bernauer of Muenster and a large number of nephews and nieces.

Relatives and friends in addition to those from Muenster at the services attended from Decatur, Waco, West, Fort Worth and Longview.

Callisburg Edges Sacred Heart in Scrimmage Test

A thrilling 80 yard scoring romp by one of the visiting Wildcats of Callisburg was the difference in the practice scrimmage on the Tiger field Thursday night. Except for the six-pointer the teams were about even.

Coach Joe Felderhoff said his boys had good streaks and bad streaks. They were obviously jittery as the play started but did better as the session got farther along and they settled down. He also said that defense was clicking better than offense.

That fact is explained partly by usual early season troubles with timing, which happens to be amplified by a major change in backfield assignments. Lee Roy Hess, last year's quarterback, has been moved to running back and the quarterback chore has been turned over to Sophomore Freddie Fuhrmann. Miscues were expected because of the newness of jobs, however Felderhoff is pleased with the over-all result. He expects the system to operate smoother and more effectively when players get the feel of it.

On defense the Tigers and Wildcats were about equally effective. Sacred Heart was held to two nice gains, Callisburg to the 80 yard sprint. Good work by the forward wall is given credit for the nice showing. Its charges frequently dumped the opponents for losses.

The Tigers have another scrimmage booked before their season opener here with Saint Jo on September 14. They'll mix with Era Friday night.

Hornet Potential Shows in Practice Tussle with Chico

The Muenster Hornets looked fine, but they also made a lot of fumbles to lose the fruits of their good work in last Friday's scrimmage with the Chico Dragons.

Their test under pressure can be summed up as total gains of 417 yards on running plays and 45 on passes for 23 first downs — but nine fumbles. Five of those bobbles were inside the 10 yard line. Nervousness of the first encounter along with bad timing on a number of plays accounted for the slip-ups in the opinion of Coach Glenn Richardson.

He said most of the fumbles came early and the boys steadied considerably later in the practice. However they still need work on timing, hope to iron out most of their kinks this week.

Otherwise the Hornets got along wonderfully. Besides gaining on almost all the offensive plays the team was equally stout on defense, often throwing the visitors for losses.

The practice was well advanced before Chico made a first down. Its total gains for the night were four first downs. However total yardage, according to Richardson's estimate, is very low. Dragons seemed to lose as much as they gained.

A husky and aggressive line gave them their troubles. In fact there were two lines, the whites and the blues, both putting lots of pressure on Chico. The tussle showed Richardson that he has talent in depth, and that applies also to the backfield, which likewise has whites and blues.

The team concentrated on running plays and finished without a good test of its passing ability. Only nine passes were tried. Five of them were completed for a yardage of 45.

Considering everything, Coach Richardson is happy with his proteges. They are well advanced for this stage of the season, they have a good array of talent fired up by desire and hustle.

Their next test will be with the Bulldogs at Alford Friday night. Alford, like Chico, dumped the Hornets last year in district play but is in a different conference this year.

After Friday the Hornets will play for keeps. Their season opens here on the 13th with Fannindel as the opponent.

Building Notes

Work is well advanced on three new homes for the community. In the far north part of town Maurus Rohmer is putting up a three bedroom brick veneer home with two baths, central heating and cooling and double garage.

Just beyond the northwest city limit James Mollenkopf has reached the painting and floor covering stage. Features of his are three bedrooms, three baths, brick veneer, central heating and cooling, carpet, fireplace.

About two miles north of town Alois Rohmer is nearing completion on his new home with lots of built-ins, three bedrooms, two baths, office, central heat and air conditioning.

Charles Bayer's is a major remodeling job. The former carport was converted to a bedroom and bath and another carport is being added. Also added inside is a number of cabinets.

Getting set for future building, Ray Klement has torn down an old house at the corner of Oak and Sixth, just across from Sacred Heart Church. A part of that house was one of the first in Muenster, the combined Hesse store and residence in which the community's first Mass was celebrated on Dec. 8, 1889. It was remodeled into a one story residence about fifty years ago. Square cut nails in the lumber indicate the building's age.

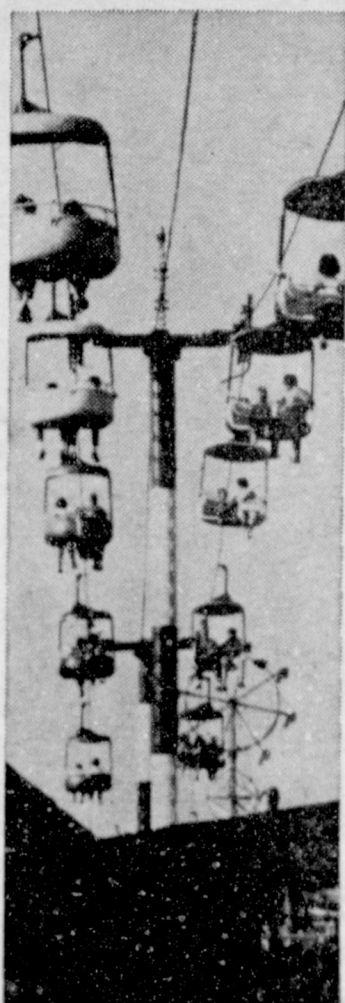

The biggest local job here at this time is the primary treatment plant for the Muenster sewer. Finished now is the "race track" in which a half million gallons of sewage will be oxidized by rapid flow. Mechanism to keep the sewage circulating is expected early in November and the plant should be finished in December. The contract also includes work in the present plant which is to be used for secondary treatment.

Gene Hoedebeck has finished minor repairs in the half century old building which has just become the home of Hoedebeck GMC. A paint job followed the repairs.

The Bill Ottos have re-done 1 room of their home with paint and paneling.

A complete interior paint job greeted the students returning to Sacred Heart High School this year.

Other new paint jobs include the outside and inside at Muenster Enterprise, outside at Ed Klement's, Alvin Hartman's and Jerry Wimmer's homes, and at Muenster Machine Shop, and inside paint for the former Nedham house now owned by Mrs. Johnny French.

FIRST TIME—A portable, five-story high sky ride will be used for the first time in Texas this Sept. 20-29 at the Texas Western Fair of Fort Worth. The Sky Glider, a California innovation, will transport visitors across the Fort Worth Fairgrounds.

Grand Jury Raps County Officials

Commissioners of Cooke County were reprimanded last Friday by the grand jury for using the county's employees and equipment to do work for individuals.

The statement referred to the practice of working on private roads and driveways by the county crews and also said that the guilt is shared by individuals who ask for the favors. The statement recommended that future requests for that kind of help be referred to the commissioners court, and that the commissioners perform only the work that is approved by the court.

Grand Jury Raps County Officials

A less severe reprimand was directed to other county officials for use of county equipment and supplies to help individuals. Violations in the other offices have been comparatively few.

The violations were named in connection with statutes specifying nature and procedure for work on private property and pointing out that such work without approval of the entire commissioners court is a violation of the law.

The grand jury began its investigation of commissioners' practices on August 9 and continued them through the 16th and 24th before releasing the statement on the 30th. It was the last business conducted by the grand jury, which has been serving the county since May.

In addition to the request that county officials in the future abide by the law relative to use of county time and funds, the grand jury asked that its report be placed in the minutes of the commissioners court and reviewed annually.

Members of the grand jury were Dave Tupman, foreman, Albert Dangelmayr, Henry Weinzapfel, Joe Siegmund, John Calhoun, James Amyx, and Norman Compton, and Mmes. R. B. Durham Jr., Scott McMahon, Anna Mae Bezner, Lee Mueller and Freddie Simmons.

'69 Car Inspection Began September 1

AUSTIN — The 1969 vehicle inspection period began September 1 in Texas according to Colonel Wilson E. (Pat) Speir, acting director of the Texas Department of Public Safety.

More than six-million vehicles are expected to receive compulsory inspection prior to the April 15, 1969 deadline," Speir said. Inspections may be performed at any of the almost 5,500 vehicle inspection stations in Texas, each of which displays the official vehicle inspection sign. Texas law requires inspection of the brakes, lighting equipment, horns and warning devices, mirrors, windshield wipers, front seat belts where seat belt anchorages were part of the manufacturer's original equipment in the vehicle, steering (including power steering) and wheels and rims (not to include removal of the wheel from the vehicle) on all motor vehicles registered in the state. Special inspection provisions apply to trailers, semi-trailers, pole trailers or mobil homes having a loaded gross weight in excess of 4,000 pounds.

The minimum fee is $1.75, this does not include the cost of repairs or adjustments necessary to enable the vehicle to pass inspection.

Speir said the new vehicle inspection sticker will be a two and one-half inch square replica of a DPS patrolman's badge with red background. Motorists are urged to have the 1969 inspection performed as soon as possible to insure that their vehicles are mechanically safe for fall and winter driving.

YOUR PRIVATE POSTMAN

The job of delivering the mail in the United States may have outgrown the Post Office. We think so because of the way private mail-carrying services have sprung up in several big cities.

In New York, for example, 80 trucks are used to pick up and deliver clients' mail at post office terminals 24 hours a day.

In Oklahoma, the Independent Postal Service of America (IPSA) employs 275 "postmen" to handle three to four million pieces of mail weekly for customers who include three major chain department stores.

IPSA is getting ready to franchise operations in Dallas, Denver and St. Louis this month, and has an eye on every U.S. city with upwards of 100,000 people.

Federal law banning the use of official letter boxes by private services isn't hamstringing IPSA. Its men deliver mail to homes in plastic bags hung on door knobs.

We seem to recall that one of our country's Founding Fathers foresaw that the government wouldn't be able to handle all mail. No one need despair. Enterprising Americans will seize the chance to earn money by providing mail service at prices which people are willing to pay. Competition could even wake up the postal monopoly subsidized by the taxpayers.

Rules Changed on Vote for President

AUSTIN, Tex — Until this year no one could vote in any election in Texas unless he had lived in the state for a full year. "Not so now", says Secretary of State Roy P. Barrera.

As the result of a statute passed by the Texas Legislature in 1967, following voter approval of a constitutional amendment in 1966, voting rules have been changed.

Barrera, as state's chief election officer, advises that any citizen of the United States, 21 years of age or older, who has resided in Texas less than one year and for at least 60 days as of the election, who satisfies the condition of a qualified voter in the state from whence he came to Texas and would have been qualified to vote had he remained there, may vote in the Presidential Election here this fall.

However, Barrera points out, the voter can not vote in any office except that of president and vice president of the United States.

Furthermore, he must apply for a ballot at the office of the county clerk in the county of his residence... sometime during a 15-day period beginning September 6. If the voter has an official document attesting the fact that he was a registered voter in the state of his former residence, he should take the document with him when he applies for his ballot. This will eliminate the necessity of the clerk verifying eligibility at the place of his former residence.

It is important to note too, says Barrera, that once declared eligible to vote, the newcomer must cast his ballot in the county clerk's office... not on November 5, the general election date... but sometime during the 15-day period preceding the general election.

RUSSIAN SUB "RAMMER"

A report that a United States nuclear submarine was damaged recently in an underwater collision with a Russian sub gives credence to the belief that the missing Scorpion might have met its fate in a similar encounter.

Quoting a "reliable source," the Norfolk Ledger-Star said an American sub, as yet not identified, spent two months undergoing repairs at Rota, Spain.

It was believed damaged in what amounts to an underwater game of "chicken." Russian submarines repeatedly have followed our Polaris submarines after they leave European ports. The United States subs have their system of 16 missiles set on targets in Russia.

The Soviet subs are reported to chart a collision course with the United States submarines with the intent of forcing them off course pre-

THEY JUST GROW!

THIS PROBLEM MUST BE SOLVED

Federal bureaucracy gives words a new meaning. For example, "temporary" is synonymous with "forever"; "emergency" becomes "a way of life"; "failure becomes "an incentive for expansion."

While business will drop an ineffective project after a short trial run, government is more likely to expand it on the theory that a little more money will assure its success.

So, old federal programs continue to pile up. New ones are added. In 1955, the Hoover Commission deplored the fact that 25 federal agencies had water resource development programs; in 1967 40 agencies were involved.

In 1964, there were 239 programs of grants-in-aid to state and local governments; now there are more than 500.

Ten cabinet departments and more than 15 other agencies are involved in education; 8 departments and 4 agencies operate major credit programs. There are between 15 and 30 separate manpower programs administered by public and private agencies, supported by public funds, in each major metropolitan area.

A privately published, 1,000-page encyclopedia of government programs, not limited to assistance, lists more than 5,000 services — from "aerial photographs" to "zoological parks" provided by the national government in its 1968 edition.

Congress should take a long hard look at the many overlapping and conflicting agencies and take the necessary action for consolidation and elimination. It's time that cities and states look for problem solutions closer to home!

sumably forcing them to re-adjust their missile settings. It appears they also may be trying to compel them to abandon their missions entirely.

The nature of the underwater skirmishing would make it possible for the Russians to sink a great many submarines if it has developed a special type of sub that can ram other subs and still manage to survive. If the ramming takes place at great depth and the sub it hits goes to the bottom, it would be impossible to prove anything because present rescue equipment can't rescue crewmen when a vessel is in more than 600 feet of water.

"Impelled by signs of spring and curiosity as to how the motoring public was responding to nature's unfolding beauty, a man took a two-mile hike down the highway the other day. Along with birds and buds, here is what he saw: Two empty milk cartons, nine empty whiskey bottles, nineteen empty potato chip bags, six empty paint cans, twelve empty unidentified cans, sixteen miscellaneous items, and a hundred and ninety-six empty beer cans. This, mind you, was on one side of one road in only two miles."

THE FUTURE OF POVERTY

One of the numerous difficulties inherent in the Federal Government's fumbling attack on poverty, through such devices as the negative income tax or the guaranteed annual income, is the virtual impossibility of setting a dollar figure on the "poverty level" income — and getting it to hold still.

So long as the government adheres to its inflationary policies, the amount of money it takes to provide a family of a given size with what is arbitrarily judged to be a "decent" level of living will continue to rise. At last report, the poverty planners were talking about a minimum income of $3,200 a year.

But later news dispatches contain these items:

St. Louis, Mo — Steamfitters Local 562, negotiating a year ahead of contract expiration, has been guaranteed $418 a week, or $20,900 for 50 weeks, by 1972. Dayton, Ohio — Carpenters have won a 65.4% pay increase over four years, adding up to $17,600 by 1970.

At this rate, the "poverty level" may very well be set at $10,000 a year within the next decade.

But there's hope for everybody within the next 30 years, apparently. By the year 2000, says I. W. Abel, president of the Steelworkers union, "we might have to, in effect, pay people for not working, just as we pay farmers for not growing things." This will be necessary, he says, because of computerization, which will allow a small portion of the work force to produce everything needed.

And bring non-labor unions? —Palm Beach Post-Times

A policeman in Dallas asked an injured pedestrian if by chance he'd noticed the license plate number of the driver who'd hit him.

"No," he answered. "But I'd remember his laugh anywhere."

Cowpoke: How much are your spurs?

Clerk: Ten dollars a pair.

Cowpoke: Here's five dollars, give me one.

Clerk: What can you do with one spur?

Cowpoke: Well, I reckon if I get one side of the horse going, the other side will keep up.

Salvation Army to Send Truck Sept. 9

Usable coats and woolen garments are needed by the Salvation Army, announced Major Byron A. Freeman, commanding officer of the Salvation Army Men's Rehabilitation Center for North and North Central Texas.

"Winter clothing for men, women, and children will soon be in heavy demand. We also need work clothes," added Major Freeman. Clothing completely worn and not repairable is also valuable to the Salvation Army as it is salvaged for bulk sale, as rags.

The Salvation Army truck will be in Muenster on Sept. 9. A telephone call to 759-4311 will bring the Salvation Army truck to any home or business in the area. Persons wishing to deduct the fair value of the gift from their taxable income will be sent receipts on request to the driver. ## What Can Red Angus Do For You?

RED ANGUS FACTS:

1. The only solid red beef breed that is naturally polled.
2. Top quality carcass.
3. Red color always breeds true (Color is fixed).
4. Red color not discriminated against in North or South.
5. No nurse cows.
6. High resistance to Pink Eye.
7. No sunburnt udder problem.
8. A performance testing breed.
9. Individually inspected and type rated.
10. Crossbreeding flexibility is outstanding.
  - a. Knock horns off with a RED ANGUS bull.
  - b. Economical, sensible and safe way to dehorn.
  - c. Obtain the benefits of hybrid vigor.
  - d. Maintain or improve carcass quality.
  - e. Leave basic color and color pattern unchanged. (Red is recessive.)

Angus Cattle have long been known for longevity, mothering ability, hardiness, smaller calves at birth, feeding ability, and carcass quality.

As a new breed, RED ANGUS Cattle production offers opportunity on the ground floor, with a sound progressive breeding program.

Red Angus can increase the amount you receive from a weaning calf as much as $15.00 per calf.

A performance testing program is a part of the registry requirement and a goal to be "Best by Test." It is the opinion of the RED ANGUS breeders that registry breeders should produce the kind of cattle commercial men can use and make money using. We have never had a dwarf.

Hereford breeders are finding it convenient to use RED ANGUS bulls on yearlings for an extra calf crop, keeping the red color.

Cancelled Stamps Again Solicited By SH Students

"Now that the academic year has already completed 1/36 of its cycle it is important to remind our friends to send their cancelled stamps to Sacred Heart School," says Sister Theresina who is annually in charge of the stamp project.

"We are in business more than ever, because the miseries and needs of the poor of the war world are constantly increasing," she said. "Cancelled stamps," she explained are sold to stamp collectors through the Mission Stamp Bureau and the money is used to alleviate the misery of the poor around the globe.

If time does not permit donors to cut or tear the stamps from envelopes, send the envelopes, and students will do the rest. Foreign stamps, Duck Stamps (Hunting license), Vatican stamps and pre-cancelled stamps are especially valuable. Pre-cancelled are those that have the name of the city and state printed between two parallel lines. First Day Issue stamps on their envelopes are also treasured. And, just any old stamp may be valuable, Sister Theresina added.

The school gratefully acknowledges the loyalty of many people in Muenster and friends from elsewhere who have troubled themselves to help in this mission project. New friends are invited to join in the good cause.

Wiring Systems Are Inadequate If Ten Years Old

COLLEGE STATION, Aug. 22 — If your farm or home wiring system has not been updated within the past ten years give this remodeling task a top priority in your plans for the year ahead, suggests W. S. Allen, Extension agricultural engineer of Texas A&M University.

Allen points out that electrical loads have more than doubled on most farms and in most homes during this period. "Neglect this task and you improve your chances for having some serious electrical problems," he says.

First, but not necessarily the most important, is the fire hazard caused by inadequate wiring, the engineer specialist adds.

Second, inadequate wiring can be even more expensive than a rewiring job in the long run, he points out. Studies show that 10 percent of the electricity you buy can be lost in the wiring system. While that may not be so bad in terms of cost, the effect this has on electrical appliances can be a real drain on the pocketbook.

Research shows that a 10 percent drop in voltage has the following effect on your appliances:

10 percent less heat from heating devices
 30 percent less light from light bulbs.

19 percent less starting torque from a motor
 11 percent more current needed on motor windings

23 percent more heat produced in motor windings.
 And, Allen notes that motor windings operating 18 degrees F. warmer than normal will last only half as long.

How can you tell if your wiring is outdated? The agricultural engineer suggests that you watch for dimming lights, sluggish motors that overheat, slow heating devices, blown fuses, or electrical shocks from small appliances (that's a real danger sign).

Government spending far beyond income has intensified inflation and placed the American consumer in a staggering price squeeze. In fact the red ink on government ledgers is so tremendous that it is past ordinary comprehension....

For instance... the government in the past six years has spent $60 billion more than its income from the taxpayers. This averages about $50 million a day or $100,000 a minute, every minute, eight hours a day, 40 hours a week.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

Parallel Terraces
 By: John Pipes, Agricultural Engineer, Soil Conservation Service

Are you dis-satisfied with your terrace system? Would you like to terrace a field but hesitate to do so because you do not want a bunch of point rows? If the answer to either or both of the above questions is "yes", you should contact your local Soil Conservation Service office.

The old "point-rows" or "odd-areas" terraces of horse and mule days are being overhauled to fit modern farm machinery and methods.

Farmers who have tried parallel terraces are enthusiastic about it. With parallel terraces, point rows are greatly reduced or eliminated. Also, farmers enjoy a saving of time and fuel with less wear and tear on equipment.

Construction methods of parallel terraces are essentially the same as those for conventional terraces. Alternating construction from the upper to the lower side may be a means of eliminating excessive grades and objectional variations. Some extra cutting and filling in terrace channels may be warranted to keep point row areas at a minimum and insure adequate performance of the terrace. Land farming may be necessary between terraces to eliminate high and low spots that would interfere with proper furrow drainage or cause excessive ponding.

You can get technical help to plan and install a parallel system by going to your local Soil Conservation Service office.

WATERWAYS

Upper Elm-Red Soil and Water Conservation District Cooperators Mattie Lien Sappenfield, Gene Klement, Kenneth and Robert Klement, Alfred Sicking and Werner Becker are making plans to prepare seedbeds for sodding waterways next spring, according to Cecil Chaney, SCS technician. Waterways are the foundation of a terrace system. Without a good grass outlet to empty the terrace water, erosion problems usually occur.

Deep gullies have been made by emptying terraces into road ditches or unprotected outlets. The gullies then begin to go back up the terrace channels. These eroded areas are unproductive, a silt source area for land below and sometimes dangerous during cultivation. In most cases, if the landowner had established a bermudagrass waterway before the terraces were constructed, these problems would have been eliminated.

The SCS technician assists district cooperators in planning, designing and establishing waterways that will provide proper outlets for the terraces to be constructed later. The best location for the waterways are in the natural watercourses or depressions in the fields. Many times these depressions can easily be made into a good waterway with little or no shaping, before the grass is sodded. These areas will not interfere with the cultivation of crops in the remaining fields. They sometimes provide hay and grazing benefits, besides providing a safe place to empty the terrace water.

The conservation districts were established to assist cooperators in carrying out Soil and Water Conservation practices. This assistance is available through the Soil Conservation Service. "SCS technicians will be glad to assist district cooperators to develop a conservation plan on their farm that will conserve their soil and water", the supervisors said.

Fort Hood GIs Try a Different Kind of Service

FORT HOOD, TEXAS — For many soldiers at this Army post, the return to civilian life will mean going directly from the service into a service station.

A program to prepare soon-to-be-discharged GIs for positions as service station dealers is now under way here in a "Tiger Training Trailer" of Humble Oil & Refining Company.

Operating a service station is one of the many skills in which servicemen are being trained at Fort Hood and other military bases under Project Transition — a Department of Defense program designed to help veterans make the shift from military to civilian life.

A government survey last year showed that about half of the men being discharged from the armed forces could benefit from some type of training or re-training in civilian occupational skills.

When the Defense Department called on private industry to help launch Project Transition, Humble was the first company to volunteer.

The company started a pilot program at Fort Knox, Ky., to provide GIs with training in service station operations. The results were very favorable: Of the 14 men who completed that training course early this year, eight have become Humble dealers.

Humble has now extended the program to more than a dozen other military bases, including Fort Hood — the post that handles more discharges than any other Army post. (More than 800,000 servicemen are expected to return to civilian life this year. Of these, about 20,000 will receive their discharges at Fort Hood.)

The training at Fort Hood is the same as that provided by Humble at 55 schools throughout the nation. It covers such subjects as automotive products, engine operation and maintenance, accounting, credit, and advertising and sales promotion.

There are nine trainees in the first Fort Hood contingent. Over the eight-week training period, they are attending classes half a day and spending the other half-day at their Army duties.

Most of the classes are held in a large house trailer which has been converted into an air-conditioned classroom. The men also receive on-the-job training at a Humble service station.

When the men complete their training, Humble will send a letter of introduction to its district marketing managers in the areas where the veterans will live. Along with the letter will go the training record of the man involved.

THEY'RE WILD ABOUT TEXAS! Literally, they are Texas wildlife — everything, or everybody, from ocelots and armadillos to sunfish and snakes will be on exhibit in the Agriculture Building during the 1968 State Fair of Texas Oct. 5-20 in Dallas. The wildlife exhibit, presented by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, is made up of the many birds, mammals, fishes and reptiles from the various geographical sections of Texas — all live.

HANDLE MANURE AS A LIQUID--
Quickly, Easily,
At a low cost!

The new Clay Honey Wagon liquid manure spreader allows one man to load and spread 5,000 gallons per hour. It's the first real answer to getting valuable manure (liquid, solids and bedding) out of pits or livestock areas and spreading it on your fields. Easy loading is provided by Honey Wagon's dual purpose PTO-powered pump which produces a vacuum in the big 800 and 1,475 gallon tanks. Tank fills in 4 minutes or less. Reverse process and pump produces pressure to force manure out in exceptionally even, 25-foot-wide spray pattern. Agitator in tank homogenizes solids and liquids to keep tanks from ever clogging. Isn't it time you started handling your manure the logical way... in a liquid? See us today for complete details... or better yet...

Good News about WRINKLES

By Marie Davant

NEW YORK — Chemical science has found a white substance that works wonders on dry-skin wrinkles.

In only a few days, those wrinkles begin to vanish. Soon, the crow's-feet and many small wrinkles around the eyes and mouth have already disappeared.

But that is not all. Use it one day, and it is entirely possible you will see improvement in the weathered surface of your skin. Steadily, dullness and muddiness lighten and more youthful clarity returns. Even "old-age" (weathered) brown spots on hands and arms steadily fade away.

Rich oils lubricate pores so blackheads can slip out without squeezing. Surface pimples dry up or become less noticeable.

But don't take my word for it, make a 10-day test without risking a penny. Just get a jar of Peacock's Imperial Creme at your department or drug store. Use this thrilling cream for 10 days — satisfaction guaranteed or return unused portion to retailer for full refund. No questions asked.

Peacock's Imperial Creme can work wonders for dry-skin wrinkles, crow's-feet, brown spots and other weathered blemishes. You may obtain Imperial Creme for $2.00 at:

Then we spend $50,000 for a gymnasium so they can get exercise."

Americans consume more than 30 billion pounds of beef, veal, pork and lamb annually, twice as much as any other country, according to "The Kansas Restaurant." That's about 170 pounds per person. Since 1937, meat output has doubled to provide a population — which has increased by one-third — with 45 more pounds of meat per person. This larger amount of meat costs each of us an average of less than five per cent of disposable income, leaving 95 per cent for purchase of other goods and services. We get more meat for a smaller part of our paycheck than ever before.

Impressions of A Trip to Europe

If one survives the ordeals at the New York and the German airports, a visit to Germany is a very rewarding experience, as well as an addition to one's education.

The world news media have for a half century given us a very slanted image of Germany and its citizens. One has to visit them to appreciate the people who produced Mozart, Goethe, Shiller, Beethoven, Bach, Strauss and Wagner.

Today's Germany is a country of intense industrial and agricultural activity. All the scars of war have been removed, and instead one sees giant cranes at work erecting all new cities around the old.

I had assumed that Germany's whole area was one farm from France to Poland. Instead I was surprised to find about half its area in virgin timber, and the small farms all now merged into large mechanized units, with all modern machinery one finds in Texas. I have never seen so much food growing per acre. Its lands show no erosion or other evidence of depletion.

The streets of German and Austrian cities are very crowded with mini-automobiles, all traveling at a speed that I consider dangerous, especially to American drivers.

The shops in Germany are packed with all kinds of foods, and any merchandise that one would find in Dallas. The prices are about 20 percent lower than in America, except coffee and gasoline (benzene to them) which is much higher.

Marianne, my wife, spent many days visiting the myriad of relatives. It was her first visit there since 1961. Leila went then but cannot remember much, but this visit was very exciting to her, especially her visits with so many cousins, and trying to communicate with them. Leila enjoyed the Vienna Opera, and the trip through Vienna Wood. We went to the Czech border, but all visitors were then streaming into Austria, so we didn't cross the iron curtain. We left Frankfurt at 1 p.m. Aug. 18th and slept in Muenster that night. But don't overlook the seven hour time differential. A. V. Grant.

Confetti - - -

was setting out to do. What kind of insanity is this? Imagine our country paying out good money to send these representatives to the Thais only to find that they are actually working for the enemy — trying to change over a nation which is on our side. Thailand has 2700 troops in Vietnam, offers to send more.

Here's another case of twisted thinking in Washington. Everybody has a right to the country's jobs but no duty to be loyal to it. There's no wrong in treasonable sabotage of our country's best interests. There's no limit to the right of free speech. Here's an area that urgently needs improving when the next administration takes over.
