City and school officials of Austin, along with state legislators and other public personnel, blew their tops during the weekend when confronted with a busing plan worked out by the Health Education and Welfare Department. Whether or not their complaints will accomplish anything remains to be seen. But their chances at best are rather slim. Normally the federal agency has the last word in a disagreement with the local group.

It seems that the Austin people were trying to work out a busing plan that would do the least possible damage to the present school system and cost as little as possible. HEW, however, proposes a more thorough and more expensive plan of mixing the races.

Despite all the pious words in support of desegregation, this kind of policy still seems like an outrage to many millions of people. As it looks to this column, the only accomplishment is to impose a major inconvenience and waste of time on the children and a major expense on the taxpayer. And above all it violates the American concept of freedom. It deprives them of their right to send children where they wish.

The Supreme Court decision which established this guideline is hard to understand. In fact it seems like a violation of the Constitution and a contradiction of the Court's 1954 ruling. Many of us recall incidents that followed the ruling. National Guard and federal marshals were called out to make sure that a child was not denied admittance to a school. The Court stated that every child has a right to attend the school of his choice.

Well, busing denies many children that right. Even though they prefer to attend their neighborhood schools they are told they have to go elsewhere, to achieve racial balance. It applies to both races, an imposition on both. And what does it actually accomplish? For all of the expense and hardship and inconvenience it does nothing to improve racial relations. Instead it is detrimental to racial relations. Being denied the right to go where one pleases is not conducive to a favorable attitude.

It is hard to see anything but bad in the railroad strike set off Monday by signalmen. If the disputing parties continue the stalemate for a long time they can cause serious economic troubles, slowing down the flow of both raw materials and finished products to a mere trickle. Since more than half of the country's goods moves by rail we can imagine what will happen to retail store stocks and to the materials used in factories. Perishable food will rot while consumers do without. Factories will have to shut down and workers will lose their jobs.

At best the parties will compromise on the demands and settle in a hurry, but it will still cause a nudge on the inflationary spiral. It will contribute to the trend which is gradually eroding the value of our money, which is in fact stealing from people who have saved, which has made a mockery of the virtue of thrift.

Indications are that the federal government will take a hand in settling the dispute. And we hope the solution will include the new proposal in which each side makes its best offer and an arbitrator selects one of them. This seems lots more sensible than the traditional head-butting negotiations.

At the risk of seeming like an old fogey, this column can recommend still another solution which would not only keep the economy running smoothly but also point the way to recovering some of the values that have been stolen by inflation.

Funeral services were held in Sacred Heart Church Tuesday at 10 a.m. for John Knabe, 82, who died at his home about 10 p.m. Sunday of a heart attack. He was a 68-year resident of Muenster.

Father Leonard Wangler was celebrant of the funeral Mass, delivered the sermon, and conducted graveside rites in Sacred Heart Cemetery. Nick Miller Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements. Rosary was recited in the Miller chapel Sunday at 4 p.m. and a wake service was held at 8 p.m. followed by a rosary conducted by Knights of Columbus and St. Joseph Society of which he was a member.

He married Miss Katie Gremminger of Windthorst there on Jan. 9, 1913, and farmed there two years, then lived in Muenster 12 years, returned to Windthorst to farm for six years and came back to Muenster in the fall of 1933 to stay, farming the same place north of town until he retired and where he died.

In 1963 Mr. and Mrs. Knabe celebrated their golden wedding anniversary. She died April 20, 1964.

Meeting Sunday Set to Organize Summer Softball

Organization of a girls summer softball program under sponsorship of the Muenster KCs will get under way Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the KC hall as players and team managers meet with the program chairman, Mrs. Charley Hellman.

First step in organizing was taken this week when Mrs. Hellman left a supply of application blanks at both schools. Girls will be expected to bring those applications with them to Sunday's meeting.

In case there are girls who did not get the applications, or lost them, they are invited to come to the meeting anyway. They will be given applications for returning at the first practice.

The applications are to be signed by a parent indicating permission to play and excusing the sponsor and management from liability in case of an accident.

If possible all team assignments will be made Sunday.

Local Firemen Win Trophies at Meet

Three members of the Muenster Volunteer Fire Department had a big day attending the 76th Annual West Texas Firemen's and Fire Marshal's Association convention Sunday in Graham. They won first and second place trophies in two contests and were awarded $25 cash prize for having traveled farthest to attend.

Ricky Stewart, Herbert Knabe and Gilbert Hess were the three who attended. Stewart and Knabe competed in the 2-man hook-up contest and finished first with a time of 12.4 seconds.

The three made up Muenster's team in the water polo tournament and scored wins over Nocona and Olney before losing to Electra in the final. Seven teams participated in each event.

Shortage of personnel kept them from competing in the only other event, the 6-man hookup contest.

Thinking is when your mouth stays shut and your head keeps talking to itself.

Let us be thankful for the fools. But for them, the rest of us could not succeed.

Council Approves 1800 ft. Extension Of Sewer Main

In a short meeting Monday night the Muenster city council set Tuesday, June 1, as opening date for the swimming pool, and the week of June 13 for a tax equalization meeting. It also approved extension of the sewer main some 1800 feet in the northeast part of town for the benefit of residential construction in the area.

Meeting of the tax equalization board was set after office personnel reported that rendition sheets are ready. The board will consider all changes of rendition and new renditions besides making its rendition on property that had not been rendered. After that notices will be sent out on all new and revised assessments. The hearing on these assessments will be on July 6.

Relative to the swim pool the council discussed the inconvenience and hazard when the pool is over-crowded, and two suggested remedies. One is to enlarge the pool. The preferred solution is to have two sessions set up for the busy days in order to divide the crowd.

The new water well was reported on schedule. Drilling to the Trinity sand is finished, perforating and clean-out should be finished soon, probably before completion of the 1800 feet extension of the 8 inch water main. A storage tank for the well is expected Friday.

With campus dissenting and rioting, we continuously hear claims of a "generation gap." But isn't it funny? A little money sent to Johnny at school by good ole dad sure seems to close this gap.

MHS Grads Hear Rev. Bill Hatler At Baccalaureate

An analogy of the Israelites entering the promised land and high school graduates entering the adult world was presented to Muenster High seniors at their baccalaureate service Sunday night in MHS auditorium.

The Reverend Bill Hatler, pastor of First Baptist Church, Muenster, addressed the grads with the 3500 year old story of Joshua's admonition to his people before they started their new lives in their own country.

He told the seniors to look at themselves, to consider their strength and their weakness with a view to self improvement in preparing for the future. He urged them to be at their best in meeting the opportunities as well as the pitfalls and problems.

The speaker pointed out that each person entering adult life receives the world as a gift. It is his to use as he pleases and to improve it where ever he can. And one should remember that the world tends to reflect his own attitude. If treated with kindness, love and respect it will give a good life. But if it is mistreated it will kick back.

As a final admonition he reminded the grads that they are masters of their worldly destiny in all respects but one. Their lives do not belong to themselves but to God. And they have the responsibility to spend it in a way that's pleasing to Him.

Others on the baccalaureate program were Dr. Larry Tisdale and Ray Wilde of the school board in the invocation and benediction; Bettye Dodds, assisted by Kristi Stormer, in a solo; Cheryl Otto, assisted by Bettye Dodds, in a solo; Urban Endres in the introduction for the Reverend Hatler; and Bettye Dodds in the processional and recessional.

Baseball Program For Summer to Be Organized Sunday

The annual summer baseball program sponsored by the Muenster Jaycees will be organized Sunday, May 23, as the boys and managers meet with Tom Joy at 2 o'clock in Sacred Heart gym.

At that time the boys will be assigned to teams and will be given the application slips which must be signed by a parent to indicate the boy's permission to play and non-liability of the sponsor and management in case of an injury.

The signed application slips are to be returned at a later meeting, to be announced Sunday, when the boys will be issued their uniforms. Joy said that no one can receive the uniform until his application has been turned in.

He also said that a few uniforms were not returned last year and the boys who have them will be expected to bring them to Sunday's meeting. To avoid this problem in the future the Jaycees are considering a deposit on each uniform.

Local JCs Attend State Convention Win Trophy Award

The local trio flew to Amarillo in a plane piloted by Hamric. Mrs. Paul Fisher accompanied them and spent the weekend with her daughter and family, the Charlie Morris at Happy. Mrs. Morris met them at the airport.

Confrontation Coming Up

California has been the mecca of migrants — rich and poor — since the dust bowl days of the 1930's. It is a land of mild climate and breath-taking scenery. It has also become a land of high taxes and mounting deficits. Particularly in Southern California, counties are dipping into reserves, "freezing" job positions, curtailing capital projects and delaying purchases of supplies in a last-ditch effort to stay within their budgets during 1971.

These, and similar facts about the sunny Southland, are revealed in a Los Angeles Times feature story by Ken Overaker. Mr. Overaker reports that, "Even though the 15 Southland counties planned to spend a total of $657 million more this year than they budgeted last year, most of them are walking a tightrope to keep from piling up deficits. . . . Moreover, the . . . counties are collecting nearly twice as much money from local

Cuba: A Dagger In the Heart

When Dr. Mario Lazo, the distinguished Cuban lawyer, wrote his book "Dagger in the Heart" (Twin Circle, 1970) he cleared up many misconceptions about pre-Castro Cuba. He showed, for example, that Cuba had a very high standard of living before Castro took over, higher than Mexico or any other Latin-American nation. Its educational system was outstanding, its social security programs all-inclusive, and its medical programs compared favorably in many respects with ours.

One of the figures widely used in the American press against Batista is that he killed "20,000 people" in the two-year period before Castro took over. The figure, pointed out Dr. Lazo, was created by Castro himself. The CIA estimated that 900 people were killed in those two tumultuous years, not 20,000 and that many of them were killed by Castro and his forces.

It was the U.S. State Department, The New York Times, CBS and other liberal forces, said Dr. Lazo, that put Castro in power with their propaganda. He proves it in his book, the classic work on how Cuba was taken over.

Liberalism has a passion for social innovation and reform. If the changes it fancies do not come rapidly, it favors revolution. Any Washington policymaker who adheres to these views, said Dr. Lazo, "is not qualified to deal with Latin-American affairs." Washington, please note!

Double Standard On Despotism

Every school child has been taught about the Nazi persecution of the Jews. Even small children can quote the figure of six million Jews killed by Hitler. What they seldom hear about is the more than 30 million people who were killed in the Soviet Union by Communism, or the comparable lives taken by Red regimes in the past few decades in Mainland China, North Korea, North Vietnam and Cuba. What is even more to the point, yet what they are very rarely told, is that these jailings and killings are still going on in Communist countries.

Most children are familiar with the sad stories of Auschwitz and Dachau. Few if any have heard of such similar places as Kilyma in the Soviet Union. The name of such notorious Communist butchers as Yezhov should be as familiar to us as Himmler. Yet even our university students have not heard of Kolyma or Yezhov.

The information is readily available. Books like Eugene Lyons' Workers Paradise Lost (Twin Circle, 1969) or Dr. Robert Conquest's The Great Terror (Macmillan, 1968) clearly tell the story. They also point out the very pertinent fact that, unlike modern Germany, the leaders of the Soviet Union today were close collaborators with Stalin and are still carrying on his murderous methods.

Radio announcers in New York City and elsewhere continue to refer to leaders of such countries as Spain as "Dictator Franco." The same announcers never say "dictator Kossygin." They do not even refer to Mao Tse-tung as "dictator Mao." It is all part of the dishonest double standard practiced by modern liberals, who continue to see some good in Communism, no matter how much brutality it practices.

10 Commandments for Parents

Popular entertainer Sam Levenson is known for his humor and his sharp repartee. But that Sam Levenson, the performer, has another side to his character, is well demonstrated by the altogether serious and non-funny rules for parents which he calls his "Ten Home Remedies for Juveniles." They read as follows:

1. Thou shalt guard thy children in the home and on the street.
2. Thou shalt make thy home a sanctuary of love and devotion.
3. Thou shalt honor the teachers of thy children and teach thy children to honor them.
4. Thou shalt not condone the faults of thy children through a misguided sense of family loyalty.
5. Thou shalt teach thy children respect for the law and keep them from the companionship of children who indicate disrespect for the law.
6. Thou shalt not lead thy children into temptation by providing them with the means thereof: too much money, a car, or adult privileges.
7. Thou shalt enforce decency in the dress of thy daughters, and dignity in the dress of thy sons.
8. Thou shalt protect the morals of thy children from the indiscretions of youthful ardor and inexperience.
9. Thou shalt conduct thine own affairs in such a manner as to set an example worthy of imitation by the children.
10. Thou shalt not permit thy children to bear arms except in the service of their country.

The nation registered a 26 percent cut in the number of operating farms over the last decade. Preliminary estimates for 1971 indicate that 2,876,000 farms will be in operation, down from 3,962,000 in 1960. Land in farms has declined about 5 percent over the same period, primarily because of losses to urbanization and highway construction. The disappearance of small farms and mergers into larger operating units has resulted in a 29 percent increase in the average size of farms over the last 10 years, from 297 to 389 acres.

FHA Raises Limit Real Estate Loans

Farmers Home Administration credit can now be available to farmers whose real estate debt may total as much as $100,000, according to James V. Smith, Administrator of this credit agency of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The new limit is authorized in recent legislation. It changes a 10-year-old maximum of $60,000 that has been outmoded by increases in land values and farm sizes.

Although the average FHA loan of $24,000 is far below the limit, the legislation has the effect of fixing $100,000 as the maximum amount FHA alone may lend to a farmer on real estate to buy, enlarge or improve a farm, or the maximum amount of real estate financing for one farmer that FHA may share with other lenders.

Mr. Smith said the legislation is expected to have wide effect in drawing more private capital into credit-scarce rural areas — an objective sought the past two years as FHA has stressed its participation in family farm financing with other lenders.

The agency can subordinate its mortgages to private individuals, banks, and other commercial lenders, or Federal Land Bank when the other lenders' loans are for authorized FHA loan purposes.

The Administrator said the new $100,000 total debt limit will help many young farmers and others, who could not get sufficient credit from any one lender, to finance their needs from combinations of lenders including FHA.

The new act also makes Viet Nam veterans eligible for priority consideration of loan applications. It abolishes a requirement that applicants enjoying veteran's preference must have a farm background, but requires training or experience in farming.

The Farmers Home Administration conducts farm, rural housing and community facility programs through a nationwide system of more than 1,700 rural offices.

The news magazine "South" states some startling population facts, pointing out that: ". . . someone is born in this country every 9 seconds; that there is a death every 16.5 seconds; that an immigrant arrives every 60 seconds, and that every 23 minutes a citizen leaves to reside in another country. The net result: an addition to our population every 15.5 seconds. Extended, this figure means four new citizens in just over a minute. That's over 232 per hour, and an increase of more than 5,575 every 24 hours!"

LIVE BETTER ELECTRICALLY... OUTDOORS

Spring is everywhere—so get out in it! Have a sunny day hamburger feast in the backyard...or call the party crowd for a cookout supper in the garden. But whatever you do—let electricity add even more pleasure to your outdoor living.

Turn aside the dark—beautifully—by accenting the walkway or patio with the gentle illumination of a Reddy Lite—a decorative sentinel light that automatically goes on duty at dusk, retires at dawn. Use the weatherproof convenience outlet to plug in your electric grill or lawn mower! Reddy Lites come in a variety of styles at your electric appliance dealer.

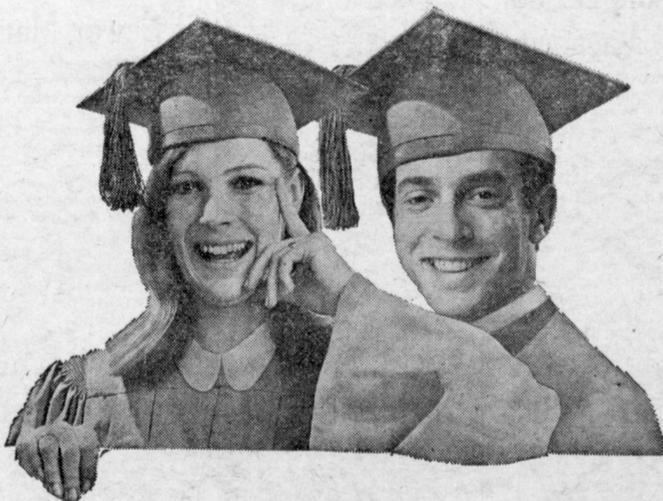

Set some steaks to sizzling on an electric grill and prepare to hear raves about the flavor! Or brown a roast or turkey to extra-juicy perfection. Just close the cover and set the precise oven-like controls. That delicious outdoor "charcoal" taste is yours, electrically! Your electric grill cleans itself! Set the dial and excess grease and drippings disappear. The electric grill is also totally weatherproofed... available in many sizes, styles... portable or permanent installation. Buy one at your appliance dealer.

Electricity—the Bright Spot in your life. Dependable, economical electricity is the most modern way to make living more luxurious throughout the house—and out of doors, too.

Let landscape lighting lend glamour to your home and gardens by night. Bathe a fountain or sculpture with light. Create an illusion of moonlight among your trees, or try special effects for outdoor entertaining. For landscape lighting kits, see your appliance dealer.

Biology Students Make Field Trip

Sacred Heart High juniors and their instructor Tom Joy held their biology class at Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Sicking's dairy farm Tuesday.

Subject for the field trip was dairy farming with lectures given by students Margie Felderhoff and Cletus Bayer.

The group inspected the dairy barn and learned about all types of equipment needed in dairying.

This year students in biology class formed groups of two and gave a special report once each semester. These reports took the place of semester tests gradewise.

Mr. Joy found the trip especially interesting as he had never been to a modern dairy farm before.

Substitute Feeds Are Needed During Forage Shortage

The shortage of moisture has seriously affected available forage supplies on many Cooke County dairy farms, says County Agricultural Agent, Neil Tibbets. Dairymen will need to consider alternate sources of fiber, should the situation continue very long.

Dairy cattle require a minimum of 16% crude fiber in their total ration to prevent the depression of milk fat production and to maintain the normal function of the digestive system.

Tibbets suggests that dairymen consider feeding a complete ration to their dairy herd. Research has shown that cottonseed hulls, beet pulp, and citrus pulp are excellent sources of fiber in the complete ration. These ingredients should constitute 30% to 40% of the complete ration. Cottonseed hulls at the 40% level are more satisfactory than the 30% level, said Tibbets.

Generally, it is not recommended practice to grind hay for addition to the grain ration because the cow can do it cheaper. However, ground hay may be utilized in the complete ration economically. Grinding hay for the complete ration will help insure that each animal receives her share and will help the dairyman to utilize a lower quality hay.

Additional information concerning complete rations can be obtained from the County Agricultural Agent's office.

Senator Hall Talks At Commencement Of Junior College

Senator Ralph M. Hall spoke at the 1971 graduation exercises at Cooke County Junior College on May 16, at 2:00 p.m. One hundred and eighty-nine were in the graduation ceremony. This was the largest graduating class in the history of the College.

Senator Hall expressed great confidence in the youth of today and asked that they take a positive attitude toward the former generation, especially the parents who provided educational opportunities for them by paying taxes and investing money in their education rather than putting it in the bank.

He stressed that the older generation has built the tall buildings, the fine churches, the beautiful automobiles, the equipment that took the astronauts to the moon, and that medical science has added 30 years to the life span of the human being in the past fifty years. Also that technology made it possible for Captain Alan Bean, the fourth man to walk on the face of the moon, to come from that distant planet to speak at the dedication ceremony of the new Parker Planetarium at the college.

Senator Hall also mentioned the legislation that he has introduced which would place the student body president of each state supported college on the Board of Regents of the respective institution.

Existing without central gas air conditioning is no way to live.

This summer and every summer central gas air conditioning can keep you cool, at a price you can live with. Very comfortably.

tion is simply to produce a little more for the compensation received. This doesn't mean working for less money. Let the pay level remain the same but give a little more time or hustle in return for it — thereby reducing the unit cost of a product. Let that be accompanied by the manufacturer's agreement to cut prices.

After these many years of seeing the ill effects of wages and prices chasing each other constantly upward, surely we can see the merits in a system which reverses that trend. If leaders of the country put their united effort behind this policy public opinion would endorse it eagerly and labor and industry would find it difficult not to fall in line.

We can imagine the effect on the country. Despite the same income people could live better because their current earnings and savings would both buy more. Business would pick up and so would jobs. Besides satisfying our demand for more products we might even regain some of the foreign trade we lost by outrageous production prices. In short, experience has shown what the price-wage spiral can do. Doesn't it seem reasonable then for those who control prices and wages to undo some of the trouble by exercising a little restraint?

The adjustment would be easier if people would only realize that prosperity doesn't depend on the volume of available money but rather on how much that money will buy.
