

Another function of big government is about to begin. With the details worked out on the new program of revenue sharing, the big boys in Washington will introduce, at least on a limited scale, another version of redistributing the wealth.

The method is embarrassingly similar to the well known communist slogan: "From each according to his ability and to each according to his needs." For instance, the states which are regarded as most affluent by the politicians, and which have already kicked in larger tax payments, will receive the smaller portions of revenue sharing. New York, they say, is in line for the biggest slices, on a per capita basis, whereas Texas is in line for the small slices.

As it looks from here, this is another unfair way of handling the distribution. In general a state's financial status is directly related to its fiscal policies. A government that spends lavishly and pampers its drones will go deeper into the red than others, and it needs more help to get back on its feet. Naturally, we wonder why Texas, after managing its money better, should have to help pay New York's bills.

Something else also impresses us about revenue sharing. It's going to show a lot of local people that they aren't really running their communities after all. After a proposed project has been turned down by taxpayers it could be financed by revenue sharing funds. It might encourage a tendency of doing lots of things that aren't really needed, just because the money is available. An "easy come, easy go" attitude.

On the other hand we can see a way whereby a frugal local government would be able to overcome this objection to the program. That is to accept whatever is offered but use it as a means of relieving the local tax load.

One fact must be accepted. The federal government, in order to distribute all the goodies, must necessarily gouge that much more out of us taxpayers. We know we'll have to pay more to provide the big give-away. We can offset the extra cost by using our benefits to lower local taxes.

Senator John Tower, in discussing the program, points out that the federal government has pre-empted so much of the revenue base that local governments find little left for them to tap. It's a reason why local, county and state governments have trouble getting enough for their needs. That's why the big federal government, with a guilt complex for having hogged the revenue, feels a duty to give some of it back — and we agree that it should be given back. But then we come to a problem. How can Uncle Sam, already $400 billion in the red, afford to hand out another $5 or $6 billion? How can we possibly avoid more inflation with even greater problems than the give away scheme will relieve?

From what we've seen of give-aways in the past we think that this offers more fault than merit. The money has to be taken from us before it can be re-distributed to us. The whole process involves lots of people and lots of red tape, for which the federal government gets a big handling fee. So, over all, the program costs lots more than it pays. About the only thing to be said for it is that it will give work to thousands of additional federal employees and will give help that isn't otherwise available to a number of states, counties and cities that are in bad financial condition.

Senator Tower, says he supports the idea because it relieves the severe financial bind in which some of our state and local governments find themselves. However, he hopes that it will not become a permanent fixture of governmental operations. "While it is important to return a portion of the federal revenue to state and local governments now, I would prefer to see the state and local governments be given a sufficient portion of the revenue base to meet their needs directly, without the revenues having to be passed through the federal bureau-

Tigers Will Host Class AA Eagles Of Wilson, Okla.

Sacred Heart Tigers are making a giant step this week in leaving Class B competition and taking on a Double-A team. Their foes, the Eagles of Wilson, Okla., have a high school enrollment of 310 and would be classified as AA in the Texas UIL.

The game will be played on the Tiger field starting at 8 o'clock.

The visitors fit their AA classification in size and experience and record. They will have a weight advantage of about 20 pounds per man, and they have loads of experience with nine seniors and six juniors on their offense and defense starting lineups. The entire lineup has only three sophomores.

Their record to date is 1-2, the win being 28-18 over Elmore City, the equivalent of a Class A school here. The losses were 28-0 to Marietta and 37-12 to Tishomingo, both AAA outfits.

Big threats, according to Coach Bob Steele are a hard running 190 pound fullback and a good passing attack.

The Tigers on the other hand have two wins over Class B teams, and, though at a disadvantage in size and experience, they have good speed. Everything considered they have to rate as the underdog but they're ready and eager to take on the odds.

Total Count in County Schools Reported at 5539

Enrollment in high school, elementary and pre-school grades in all Cooke County schools this year is 5539, a decline of 101 since last year. The figures were announced this week by County Superintendent Kit Carson.

Gainesville Public School lost 136 and St. Mary's 12, and Muenster Public School lost 50. Gains were indicated as follows: Valley View 24, Callisburg 37, Era 29, Lindsay 13, Sacred Heart 10, Walnut Bend 3, Sivelis Bend 11.

MHS Exes Set For Homecoming Festivity Oct. 6

Plans are shaping up for the MHS homecoming which is only a week away.

The big feature will be the renewal of an old football rivalry with the Lake Dallas Falcons and homecoming crowning ceremonies at the game. And other events are a social hour in the lunch room for all exes before the game and a dance for everybody after the game.

Honored guests will be graduates of the 1952 and 1962 classes. They have received individual invitations to the festivities. Others are included in a general invitation directed to all of the exes.

Candidates for homecoming queen are four seniors: Marlene Herr, Dianne Serna, Darlene Wolf and Janet Swirczynski. One of them will be elected by the football team and her identity will be kept secret until the crowning ceremony. The other three will join representatives of freshmen, sophomore and junior classes as princesses in the queen's court. The underclassmen princesses are Shirley Swirczynski, Dianne Yosten and Margie Wolf.

Chartered Buses Going to Newcastle

As of Wednesday afternoon, a few seats are still available on a chartered bus going to the Muenster-Newcastle football game. Another bus is already filled.

Mrs. Carl Walterscheid said that the second bus has a capacity of 46 seats and 31 of those are taken. The others will be reserved on a first come first served basis.

Reservations are to be made with Mrs. Walterscheid, phone 4219. The cost of a round trip ticket is $5.70.

Hornets Walloped 21-0 by Bearcats

The Bearcats were up and the Hornets were down when the two teams clashed last Friday night, so it was a long, dreary game for Muenster High fans, and the score was 21-0.

Whitesboro, which had been dropped to lose, came here on a rebound from a tough loss the week before, whereas Muenster had not readjusted from an easy win in its previous game. It did not take long to learn that the visitors had taken charge. They ran with authority and stopped the Muenster runners cold — allowing a rushing yardage of minus 10 for the game.

The Hornets' only chance was their passing game, which was hindered considerably by wet weather and even more by increasing emphasis on pass defense. With little to worry about in the rushing department, the Cat defenders bore down on Jim Endres and his receivers.

In spite of all that the Muenster passes gained almost 200 yards and were stopped short of the goal twice, by a fumble and an interception.

Whitesboro, on the other hand, ran up total yardage of 336, including two big plays for 48 yards and 81 yards. Discounting those two runs the total gains were almost even. Another factor was turnovers. Muenster lost possession on three interceptions and two fumbles, Whitesboro on one fumble.

The game opened with a 21 yard pass from Jim Endres to Alan Miller and a kick on the next series. Then a first down by Whitesboro and a kick. Two plays later the Cats got into business by recovering a fumble on Muenster's 33. Ten plays made the distance.

Hornets Look for Season's Second Win at Northwest

With a 1-1 record on the line, Muenster High Hornets will try the hard way to get back in the win column this week. They'll take on the Double-A outfit from Northwest, a big consolidated school in the Justin-Rhyme-Haslet area.

Coach Glenn Richardson said this week that he knows little about the size or experience of the team or its strong and weak points, but the record so far indicates that the teams will probably be well matched.

Northwest lost to Aledo, which is rated as a strong Class A team and it triumphed over Boyd, which was clobbered 44-0 by the Hornets.

Richardson added, however, that comparative scores in this case surely can't be regarded as a sign. Boyd's game here was not as one sided as the score. And the Hornets' performance last week was definitely below par. Further more injury problems remain bad. Tom Hennigan, out last week, is still doubtful, and Hank Trachta had to miss Monday and Tuesday practice.

Shaping up boys to replace these two first string backs may take a lot of doing.

In fact, says the coach, the team was in an all around slump. Rushing was a total failure, principally because of poor blocking. Passing, though gaining about 200 yards, included more misses than should be blamed on the wet weather. And the defensive work was deficient in both effort and technique. Overconfidence was another factor. After romping over Boyd the Hornets slacked up and Whitesboro cashed in.

The job this week is to overcome attitude and mistakes. If that happens and the Hornets play up to their capability they have a good chance for their second win. Fortunately Trachta and Hennigan are alone on the ailing list. All others seem to be in good condition.

For Hornet fans going to the game, Richardson explains that Northwest is located about 2.5 miles west of I-35-W on State Highway 114. The exit from I-35-W is about midway between Denton and Fort Worth.

Elm-Red District To Elect Director In Zone 4, Oct. 10

Tuesday, October 10 is election day for a soil and water conservation district director Zone 4. Elections are being held throughout Texas for new directors for Zone 4.

The special meeting for the Upper Elm-Red Soil and Water Conservation District will be held in the Valley View School, at 8:00 p.m. Keith Kemplin of Valley View has been serving as the director of this zone for the past 10 years. He has decided not to serve again and some one else will need to be elected.

Cooke County Agricultural Agent, Neil Tibbets, will be in charge of the meeting. A program of special interest will be presented prior to the election.

To be eligible to vote a person must own agricultural land within the subdivision where the election is being held. He or she must live in a county, all or any part of which, is in the Conservation District, and must be 21 years old or older.

Directors serve a term of five years. The term of office begins the day he or she is elected.

Directors do not receive a salary nor do they receive pay for their services. They receive a token payment of $10 for each meeting not to exceed 20 meetings annually. They also receive a small travel expense to and from official meetings.

Enrollments Grow In Texas Colleges

Texas college and universities are still climbing, though not so fast as in the early 1960's.

About 454,000 students enrolled in public and private, junior and senior colleges by September 14. This compares with about 438,000 at the same time last year. The Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System concludes there will be about a three and a half per cent increase in enrollments this fall over 1971.

Enrollment in all segments of higher education last year was more than 475,000, and projections by the Board point to about 493,000 this year. While senior college enrollments are up less than one per cent, the community colleges have an increase of more than 11 per cent in their student bodies.

Ronald Fuhrmann Earns Wings as Marine Aviator

Ronald Fuhrmann was graduated Saturday in ceremonies at Ellison Field, Pensacola, Florida, received his Marine aviator wings, and advanced to first lieutenant.

Seeing him in the ceremonies were his mother, Mrs. Adolph Fuhrmann, his fiancée Miss Patti Felderhoff and uncle and aunt Mr. and Mrs. John Kupper of Valley View. During the chapel ceremony Miss Felderhoff pinned on his lieutenant bars and his mother, uncle and aunt received memento wings.

A tea hour, a happy hour, a barbecue steak supper on the terrace and a dance in the officers' club were other highlights of the day.

Inbetween time Ronald took the Muenster and Valley View group through the air base and other area bases where he trained, to the beach and a tour of the Carrier Lexington. The previous Monday he had to land his helicopter, flying in formation, on the carrier enroute from Pensacola to Corpus Christi.

The Muenster and Valley View group left last Wednesday by car, spent overnight with Mrs. Fuhrmann's brother and wife, the Andrew Kuppers at Kaufman, and included scenic drives on the 1700 mile trip.

Lieut. Fuhrmann will be home late this week on a two-week vacation, then spend two weeks recruiting at colleges, and report at Jacksonville, N. C. for assignment.

It's the same route his older brother Lt. Michael Fuhrmann, followed. He is on assignment in Vietnam, has advanced to commander in chief, pilot in command of helicopters.

The office of county clerk Frank Scoggin is also the place to arrange for absentee voting. He said that through last Friday he has received more than 100 applications for ballots. Compared with 143 absentee votes cast in the last general election, this indicates a big absentee vote and also a big total vote. The great majority of absentees are expected to be college students away from home who can't conveniently be back on election day.

Scoggin said that official absentee balloting will get under way in his office on October 18 and end on November 3.

Addition of the 18-20 year old group to the electorate this year assures a record high number of registrations. Mrs. Hillis said that 11,582 were registered Monday and the total was likely to reach 12,000. The previous record was 10,331 in the 1968 general election.

The contest here is booked to start at 9 a.m. on the Muenster High football field. Until that time entries can sign up by coming to Endres Motor Co. with a parent. Boys aged 8 through 13 are eligible and each year will be a group in the competition. Top three winners in each of those groups will receive gold, silver and bronze trophies.

Scoring in the competition is based on distance and accuracy. The ball is thrown, place kicked or punted and the score for each is the distance less a deduction for distance to right or left of the center line. Those 3 figures are added then for each contestant's score.

This contest is the beginning of the nation wide competition. Top scorers of the six age groups advance progressively to zone, district, area, division and national levels.

Local Jaycees will have charge of the competition and Endres Motor Co. is providing the trophies.

Muenster Juniors Tie Another 6-6 With Whitesboro

Junior teams of Muenster and Whitesboro just can't decide who is better. Playing last Thursday night for the second time this season, they ended again with a 6-6 deadlock, identically the same score as the week before.

The teams spent the first half with about equal success in moving the ball but neither able to keep going.

Then both got hot in the third period. The Bearkittens drove from midfield and finished the job with a nice sweep around left end for 15 yards.

In their turn the Little Monsters did likewise. After a kickoff return to midfield they went all the way for the catch-up score. Their payoff was on a pass for 15 yards from Tim Wolf to Mark Mollenkopf.

In the final period Whitesboro made another good start but was stopped on the 30. On their try to break the tie the Monsters ran out of time. They moved 50 yards after taking over the ball and the best gainer was a pass from Wolf to Mark Sicking for 20.

Law — With a Double Standard?

By Dr. George S. Benson
 Following is our report on some of the incidents witnessed by our NEP staff while covering the Republican National Convention in Miami Beach and the violent assault on delegates, citizens and property by mobsters who were identified in the local press as "non-delegates."

Flamingo Park was headquarters and campground for about 3,000 "non-delegates." Communist Vietcong, flags flew from flagstaves throughout the park. On Sunday afternoon, 21 members of the American Nazi Party walked into the campground crowded with hippie-types and noisy with revolutionary platform harangues. Led by their Commander Matt Koehl, the Nazis who loudly proclaim their anti-Semitism and anti-Communism) took over a platform and loud-speaker mike being used by one of the women's "protest" organizations. Koehl swept his eyes across the expanse of tent-city and pointed to the Communist flags. "Where are the American flags?" he shouted. "It looks like Soviet Russia, doesn't it." As he spoke, one of the Nazis unfurled a Communist National Liberation Front (Vietcong) flag soaked in kerosene, and set it afire.

Rough Treatment for Dissent
 The camp "security" forces crowded around the platform and held the crowd back. But a missile was thrown from the screaming "non-delegates." Some of the crowd rushed on stage and grappled with Koehl. Chairs were wielded, heads split, blood flowed as the fight whirled around the platform. In the end, the Nazis, most of them beat up, were carried out of the campgrounds. There were no arrests.

Later, after the Communist flag bearers "non-delegates" had carried their colors throughout downtown Miami Beach and had begun their assault upon delegates, citizens and property (without arrests), Mayor Chuck Hall, who had persuaded the City Council to give the "non-delegates" Flamingo park, had his police force arrest Koehl and charge him with displaying a swastika. Koehl protested directly face-to-face to the Mayor. "I told him," Mayor Hall said, "that a city ordinance prohibited display of the swastika." Koehl was formally charged.

Other Reportage

From Miami newspapers:
 "Miami Beach Police Chief Rocky Pomerance has insisted his policy is to make as few arrests as possible, rerouting traffic around the demonstrators to give them the streets so long as they are non-violent." — MIAMI HERALD, Monday (first day), Aug. 21.
 "Demonstrators themselves were using tear gas against delegates, and residents and police" — DAILY SUN REPORTER, Thurs., Aug. 24.
 "Violence flared throughout Miami Beach last night as police and demonstrators clashed at scores of locations in a 50-block-long area. Scores were injured and police for the first time brought out tear gas and used their sticks to ward off rocks thrown by demonstrators and assaults on police lines" — SUN REPORTER, Thurs., Aug. 24.
 "Republicans were cursed and shoved as they entered their cars, pummeled by fists and sticks. Some delegates entered the Convention Hall red eyed from tear gas. . . . The first six delegates arrived at 6:30 p.m. Each held a policeman's hand as they raced to the main gate at 18th and Washington, 150 protesters in pursuit. Bloodsuckers! Warmongers! the demonstrators screamed. . . . Splinter groups swirled in pockets of chaos on all sides of the Convention complex. . . . The major protest band, numbers swollen by independent street groups, rampaged up Collins Avenue, overturning trash bins, ripping distributor caps from stalled autos and slashing tires. Most traffic was stopped in the streets." — MIAMI HERALD, Thurs., Aug. 24.

Attacks and Indignities
 "Sharon Kelly, an attractive blonde delegate from South Carolina, arrived at Convention Hall with her hairdo messed and fire in her eyes. 'Twenty hippie girls surrounded me,' she said. 'They bounced me around like a ping-pong ball.' One screamed, 'you blonde bitch.' . . . 'I thought I was going to be killed,' said Mississippi delegate Jerry Gilbreath. Their reaction came after running the gauntlet of curses, spit, tear gas and flying eggs. 'I got hit on the foot with a brick and they tore my wife's stocking off and hit her on the arm with something,' said William Mounger. 'We put the women and children in the middle — they were crying and hysterical.'" — MIAMI HERALD, Thurs., Aug. 24.

What happened at Miami Beach was a national disgrace, an ugly display of the breakdown of law and order throughout America. If our free society is to survive, a single standard for law and order must be restored and the law enforced evenly.

Food a Bargain in U.S.
 The Arizona Farm Bureau Federation reports a statement by U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz: "The American consumer now pays only 17.5 cents of each dollar for food. There's no country on the face of the earth that gets food as cheap as do the Americans. At no time in the history of this country have we bought food as cheap as that (17.5 cents)." He also said before a panel of radio broadcasters: "Take the last 15 to 20 years — as compared to the late 1950's an hour's work today buys: 25 percent more pork than it did 20 years ago, 20 percent more beef, 13 percent more potatoes, 30 percent more milk and 40 percent more eggs. Compared to income, food is America's best buy."

Hanoi's Newest Sanctuary

Thanks to a successful propaganda effort, the North Vietnamese can now stock war supplies in full view of American pilots without being attacked.

The Communists place guns, spare parts, ammunition and vehicles on their dikes. American pilots cannot attack them where they are because that would cause a furor at home — Jane Fonda, Ramsey Clark, The New Times, George McGovern and Abbie Hoffman would have a fit.

So, instead of blasting concentrated military supplies, U. S. planes must attack single trucks as they leave the dike sanctuaries. This is more dangerous and less effective. Too often, supplies get through and more fliers are lost. Oh that's ok, say some, as long as those previous dikes are not touched.

Besides this haphazard military procedure, there is another danger. Red anti-aircraft batteries could be placed on the dikes. Naturally, the U.S. still would not attack the dikes, leaving us a Manchurian sanctuary situation. (During the Korean War, U.S. pilots could not chase Red planes into "neutral" Man-

 The whole situation is so ridiculous that it defies reason. Defying reason is nothing new to our peace-at-any-price advocates, but can you imagine them saying it was unfair to bomb German dams, storage areas and supply centers during World War II?

No one complained when we bombed Japanese cities and destroyed their dikes. President Roosevelt did not beg Tokyo to end the war. Resolution and strength in battle and diplomacy are the ways wars are won.

If the U.S. had promised not to bomb parts of Japan, the Japanese would certainly have used those sanctuaries to their advantage. But now we are granting the Communists this advantage, an advantage that will prolong the war and cost much blood.

Hospital Auxiliary Plans Membership Drive and Benefit

Muenster Hospital Auxiliary has reorganized for a new year after dispensing with monthly meetings during the summer and new officers assumed duties at the Thursday night meeting.

Mrs. Arthur Bayer, president, presided. Other officers are Mrs. Mel Stephens, senior vice president; Mrs. Dan Hamric, junior vice president; Mrs. Andy Wimmer, treasurer; Mrs. Charles Bayer, secretary.

Members decided to launch a membership drive and planned a benefit to enrich the treasury for their next project for Muenster Hospital. David Bright, hospital administrator, met with the group and said he has a project in mind.

The benefit will be a fashion variety show themed "You've Come a Long Way, Baby, in Entertainment and Fashion." Mrs. Roy Monday accepted general chairmanship. Plans are to present the show in early November.

In connection with the membership drive, now in progress, it was decided that dues will apply from September to September and member dues are due at this time. Mrs. Mel Stephens is in charge.

Mrs. Carl Walterscheid won the door prize.

Two Earn Air Trip To Kansas City, Mo.

Kim Reiter, SH senior 4-H club member, and Lenora Fleitman, Community 4-H club member, as a team won an all-expense-paid trip to Kansas City, Mo., to perform at a meeting of Associated Milk Producers Assn.

They earned the trip on their method demonstration of cooperatives, using the AMPI. Previously they had given their demonstration to several civic groups and at AMPI functions.

In addition to the excitement of air travel the girls were delighted with several sight-seeing tours in Kansas City and attended a meeting in which Earl Butz, secretary of agriculture, spoke on the unity of the association.

Queen Candidates For Homecoming Revealed at SHH

Queen candidates for Sacred Heart High School's 1972 Homecoming were revealed this week. They are Seniors Susan Endres, Nancy Fuhrmann, Christi Koesler and Debby Walterscheid.

At the same time maids of honor in the queen's court were told. They are Beverly Walterscheid, junior; Laura Kralicke, sophomore; Dianne Kralicke, freshman.

Members of the Tiger football squad chose queen candidates from a list of six nominees selected by senior members of the team. Maids of honor were chosen by their respective classmates on the Tiger squad.

Tiger Queen will be chosen by an entire student body vote during Homecoming Week, Oct. 1 through 7, but ballots will not be tabulated until the night of the game and her identity will remain secret until coronation ceremonies at half-time of the Tiger-Trinity Christian game October 7.

Other homecoming festivities include a before-game social hour and refreshments for all alumni members and the 43 honored graduates of 1942, 1952, and 1962, and an after-game dance in the school gym.

Pedestrian Safety

With back-to-school days here again, remind children of these simple pedestrian rules: always stand on the curb while waiting to cross, walk only with the signal light or at the direction of a police officer or school crossing guard, look both ways and watch for turning cars, walk fast but don't run, do not loiter in the middle of the street, and where there is no sidewalk — walk on the left side facing oncoming traffic.

Fabric-Related Fires

Keep safety as well as fashion in mind when buying youngsters clothing. While all fabrics will burn if exposed to intense heat or flames, fabric-related fires in the home can be avoided in most cases. Buy tightly woven fabrics which generally burn more slowly. Avoid fuzzy or brushed fabrics which burn more readily. If possible, choose close-fitting pajamas which are less likely to support a fire than loose fitting ones. This is also true for flowing robes, flared sleeves, ruffles and other frills which are not only more likely to catch fire, but also support flame spread. Most important of all, use common sense when buying children's clothing and remember that most fabric fires occur in the home—usually in the kitchen, bedroom or nursery.

BIRTHS

News of the birth of a grandchild has come to Mrs. Oscar Detten. The newcomer is a little boy, Michael Aaron Detten, son of S.Sgt. and Mrs. Billy Detten of Leesburg, Florida. They have two other children, Billy and Elizabeth. The father is presently on duty in the Panama Canal Zone. His family resides in Leesburg. Joe Lutkenhaus of Muenster is the baby's grandfather.

Mrs. Katie Wilder is grandma again. Her newest grandchild is a little girl, Elizabeth Zimmerer, seven pounds five ounces, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Zimmerer of Tecoman, Colima, Mexico. She was born there Sept. 15 and is a sister for Louis, Theresa and Gabriel. Fritz Zimmerer and family are well known locally through their visits in Muenster with his mother.

Little Monsters Nip Saint Jo 22-8

Muenster Junior High's Little Monsters broke into the win column Tuesday by trimming Saint Jo's Panther Kittens 22-8. In their first two games they had to settle for 6-6 ties with Whitesboro.

The Monsters had the game their way from the start. Following kickoff they made a 40 yard drive to the 15 and lost their first scoring opportunity on a fumble. Sharing the ball carrying job were Tim Wolf, Mark Sicking, Mark Mollenkopf and Nick Walterscheid.

On their next try they did better. Starting from their 30 they made 25 in short steady gains before Mollenkopf broke away for 45 and the TD. Wolf followed over for honor points.

Their next chance was in the second period, starting from midfield. A steady drive advanced to the 1 and Walterscheid finished the job. Again Wolf added 2 points.

The third period was more of the same. The drive went for 56 yards and Wolf made the last 9. A try for extra points failed.

A fumble stopped the next Monster effort. After 40 yards gained on a pass from Wolf to Sicking they fumbled the ball away on the 19.

Four plays later the Kittens had to kick, but regained possession as Muenster's fumbled the reception. Playing Monster reserves, they did better and headed goalward. They got on the board with only 30 seconds to go and made good on the try for extra points.

Mrs. Victor Hartman's birthday Wednesday brought telephoned greetings and a visit over the line with a daughter, Mrs. Teddy Gremminger of Denver, Colo. The day before another daughter Mrs. Keith Tompkins and son David and daughter Mrs. Mike Fedor of Arlington came with gifts and greetings.

Campfire Group Organizes, Elects

Colynda Henscheid is president; Marlene Swirczynski, vice president; Renee Wilde, secretary. Bernadette Knabe, reporter, Bev Trubenbach, Christi Felderhoff and Nancy Luke, recreation leaders.

At their first meeting Wednesday the girls decided to meet once a week. Their name means faithful.

Mrs. Ray Wilde is assistant leader and Wilde Chevrolet is sponsor.

Racing pigeons have averaged 93-95 miles per hour over an 80-mile course.

Red Privilege in UN

The Chinese Communists, now that they've been welcomed into the United Nations, are making a great many expensive demands. One of them is a special translation privilege, involving the hiring of scores of printing of countless documents altogether costing the U. N. an extra $5 million a year. Our Chinese friends who were kicked out to make room for the communists — never needed and never requested such special treatment. Guess who's picking up that extra $5 million tab? That's right: You are, the American taxpayer.

Well, What Do You Know? fun, games and knowledge

by MARTHA GLAUBER SHAPP, Editor, The New Book of Knowledge

Would you like to make a finger painting?

Anybody can make a finger painting. By moving your hand in free, sweeping strokes over glossy paper that has been coated with wet, pastelike paint, it is easy to make a painting.

The materials are inexpensive and available anywhere. You can buy special paper, but any glossy or coated paper may be used.

Although finger paint is for sale in artists' and hobby shops, you can mix your own. Mix 1/2 cup of laundry starch with enough cold water to make a paste. Add enough water to make 8 cups. Heat until clear, stirring constantly. Then stir in 1/4 cup soap flakes, dissolving them throughout. To color, add 1 heaping tablespoon of powdered tempera paint to each 8 ounces of the mixture. Mix as many colors as desired. If necessary, add more water. To paint, mixture should be as thick as cream.

Wet a large sheet of glossy paper and spread it evenly on a table, without air bubbles. Place a tablespoon of finger paint on paper and spread it uniformly over entire surface.

Using palm, fingertips, and all parts of your hand, you can create patterns and designs. Experiment — make a fist or scratch with your fingernails. Use your imagination and express your ideas through your fingers.

(For a free booklet, "The Magic Carpet," illustrated in color from The New Book of Knowledge, send name and address to Martha Glauber Shapp, Box 47, Putnam Valley, New York 10579.)

Older Drivers Not Forgotten

Nearly 40 million Americans are senior citizens. These people, 55 years of age and older, often have lives more troubled than the "twixt 12 and 20" group.

No one denies that adolescence is a difficult period, but the golden years are also trying. For example, older people have a difficult time getting automobile insurance. This is only right, one might think, because their reflexes are supposedly slower, inspiring their ability to drive safely.

A condescending view of older drivers, however, is unjustified. A Philadelphia insurance company proved it. Colonial Penn Insurance Company analyzed the driving records of a half-million drivers over age 50 and found that they averaged fewer accidents than all other drivers. Their faith in the older driver has led the company to remove all age limits from its auto insurance policy.

Independent studies by The National Safety Council support these findings. Older drivers constitute about 30 percent of the driving public, yet they are involved in only about 20 percent of the accidents, according to the Safety Council.

Older drivers have greater driving experience; they rest more frequently, and rarely test their endurance with distance drives. Because they are rested and alert, older drivers are safer than fatigued younger drivers. Nor do older people drive swiftly or impatiently.

The insurance company was impressed with the excellent safety records of elderly drivers. It was the first company to offer guaranteed insurance to age 80. Today, the insurance is guaranteed renewable as long as the driver remains healthy enough to drive safely, does not have his license revoked, and pays his premiums.

This is an outstanding example of private enterprise meeting social needs through innovation. Colonial Penn has had good results with health and life insurance for older Americans, and expects continued success with automobile coverage for them.

Annual Hay Show Booked October 16 At County College

The third annual Cooke County Hay Show is scheduled for Monday, October 16. Bales of hay should be delivered to the Cooke County Junior College by Friday, October 6. The hay will be stored in the woodwork shop, which is behind the administration building.

The hay show will be conducted by the same rules and regulations as in the past. Hay must be there by Friday, October 6, so that samples can be taken and run before Monday, the 16th. Judging will be done from 1 to 5 p.m. on Monday, the 16th, and an educational program will be held at 8 p.m. following the judging.

Tommy White of Denton, area dairy specialist of the extension service; and Joe Cole of Denton, area agronomist of the extension service, will be the official judges. Tommy Davidson, agricultural instructor at CCJC, or the county extension office can be contacted for information on delivering the hay. All dairymen and livestock producers of the county are encouraged to enter their hay to find out the true value of what they have to feed.

Uncle Sap

According to the Oregon Voter Digest: "Uncle Sam's reputation . . . for playing Uncle Sap to a disdainful and contemptuous world seems in no danger to eclipse or change. We recently granted a military aid credit of $10 million to Chile. It made no difference that the Chilean government is pro-communist and anti-U.S. It made no difference that the Chilean government has seized without compensation several large American holdings in Chile. Uncle Sap was just being himself, always most generous to his mortal enemies."

A man is just as big as the thing that makes him angry.

Few of us have the opportunity to do great things, but most of us can do small things in a great way.

Army Worms Are Invading County

by Neil Tibbets

The invasion of army worms is underway in Cooke County. Calls have already been received in the extension office regarding army worm control. Farmers and ranchers that are interested in early pasture from early seeded small grain and volunteer should check the fields daily.

The eggs are laid at night by a moth and will hatch in about five days. The young worms will feed approximately three weeks and then will go into the soil to pupate and stay in this stage about 10 days before hatching into a moth. This is the complete life cycle which will take from 30 to 40 days.

The army worm is easy to control if sprayed before the damage is done. Chemicals that would be recommended for pasture and hay crops would be Sevin 80% wettable powder at the 2 lb. per acre rate. There is no grazing or hay restriction on Sevin. Parathion or Methyl parathion at the 4 lb. concentration is recommended at 3/4 to 1 pint per acre. There is a 15 day waiting period for harvesting or grazing.

There are other chemicals that will do a good job, but have a longer waiting period before grazing or are not recommended to be used on livestock feed. The army worms do damage in a very short time, crops should be checked often. Contact the county extension office if information is needed.

SUKKOT FESTIVAL OF SHELTERS

September 23-24, 1972
Hebrew Date: Tishri 15, 5733

During Sukkot special emphasis is placed upon the family as a unit. The holidays are a time of rejoicing. A shelter is built or simulated to remind Jews of the booths erected by their forefathers during the years of wandering in the wilderness. This scripture from The Living Bible is the authority for the observance of Sukkot.

"Five days after the Day of Atonement on the fifteenth day of the seventh month (of the Hebrew calendar), is the Festival of Shelters to be celebrated before the Lord for seven days. On the first day there will be a sacred assembly of all the people; don't do any hard work that day. On each of the seven days of the festival you are to sacrifice an offering by fire to the Lord. The eighth day requires another sacred convocation of all the people, at which time there will again be an offering by fire to the Lord. It is a joyous celebration, and no heavy work is permitted. (These, then, are the regular annual festivals—sacred convocations of all people—when offerings to the Lord are to be made by fire. These annual festivals are in addition to your regular weekly days of holy rest. The sacrifices made during the festivals are to be in addition to your regular giving and normal fulfillment of your vows.) These last days of September, at the end of your harvesting, are the time to celebrate this seven-day festival before the Lord. Remember that the first and last days of the festival are days of solemn rest. On the first day, take boughs of fruit trees laden with fruit, and palm fronds, and boughs of leafy trees—such as willows that grow by the brooks—and (build shelters with them), rejoicing before the Lord your God for seven days. This seven-day annual feast is a law from generation to generation. During those seven days, all of you who are native Israelites are to live in these shelters. The purpose of this is to remind the people of Israel, generation after generation, that I rescued you from Egypt, and caused you to live in shelters. I am Jehovah your God." (Leviticus 23:34-43)

The Living Bible

SUKKOT begins five days after Yom Kippur, the most solemn day in the Jewish Religion. The Sukkot celebration encompasses a week of both worship and festivities which include feasting.

Check Up if Your Social Security Check Is Overdue

On the third of next month, over twenty-eight million people will receive a social security check. Of that number, 4200 beneficiaries live here in the Coke County area.

But even with that many checks going out each month, social security is still "vitaly interested in seeing that every check is delivered on time," according to Gus Jones, Sherman social security district manager.

Social security checks normally arrive on the third day of the month, but sometimes a check may be late. "If your check is late, we advise you to wait three days, until the sixth of the month, before notifying us that you did not get your check. During this three day wait, many checks arrive which were simply held up in the mail," says Jones.

But a beneficiary should contact the nearest social security office if his check does not arrive on the sixth of the month. This contact can be by phone call, letter, or personal visit to the social security office, Jones advises.

"We often find that the problem which delays a check is a recent change of address. To insure that all social security checks are delivered on time, we ask every social security beneficiary to notify us, as well as the post office, whenever he moves or changes his mailing address," Jones continues.

Sometimes other problems cause check delays. Representatives in the local social security office will be able to trace the particular problem involved in each case. If a check is due, a replacement check will be issued as quickly as possible to avoid further inconvenience.

Social security checks are paid to retired workers and their families, disabled men and women and their families, and the surviving families of deceased workers.

If you need assistance with any social security problem, a representative may be contacted in Gainesville each Tuesday and Thursday from 9:30 a.m. to 12:00 noon in the Federal Building.

THE INFORMED CONSUMER

By Crawford C. Martin
Attorney General of Texas

The typical American home is a potential death trap for the unsuspecting child and the unwary adult. According to the Public Health Service, each year 500,000 children swallow a poisonous household product which has been left within their reach — and 500 die.

A recent move by the Food and Drug Administration is a step in the right direction to overcome this hazard. Since September 13, 1972, manufacturers of certain liquid furniture polishes have to package their products in childproof containers.

The regulation covers liquid furniture polishes that contain at least 10 per cent mineral seal oil, which is a crude form of mineral oil used to put a shine on furniture. When swallowed by children such polishes can cause lung disease.

Furniture polish packages must pass two tests under the new regulations. First, a sample of children under five years old must not be able to open the package 85 per cent of the time, but a panel of adults must be able to open it 90 per cent of the time. The second test stipulates that the opening of the container must restrict the flow of polish so that only about a half teaspoon can be obtained from one shake or squeeze of the opened container.

The FDA is moving to require childproof containers as these for toxic products containing turpentine or petroleum distillates, methyl alcohol and sulfuric acid. Common household substances that would be affected include paint thinners, solvents, auto gasoline, antifreeze and certain liquid drain cleaners. These toxic or caustic products, if accidentally consumed can cause serious injury or death. Severe damage to throat and stomach, permanent blindness, and lung disease often result. Some are dangerously caustic if merely dropped on the skin. The warning labels now attached to these products aren't very effective in alerting inquisitive toddlers and pre-schoolers. Also, the appearance, color, and sometimes masked fragrance can trap a child into a fatal error.

The new FDA ruling in regard to furniture polish containers and others they propose will reduce the danger to the consumer — but only the consumer himself can eliminate hazards. When you use toxic products, read the directions and warning statements carefully before each use — don't rely on your memory. Use only as directed, as experimenting can be dangerous. If you must transfer the contents into a new container, label it clearly, never put poisons in food or beverage containers. It's a good idea to destroy empty containers and not leave them around for children or pets to discover. Children are experts at finding household hazards, so store them out of their reach and keep all poisons under lock and key.

SHH Seniors and Parents Honored At Get-Together

Sacred Heart High seniors and their parents shared honors at a special senior day on Sept. 14.

The day began with a special Mass celebrated in Sacred Heart Church by Father Placidus, pastor. Juniors planned the special liturgy based on the theme "You've Only Just Begun," selecting music and banners to carry out the theme.

After Mass, parents and teachers got together for a coffee break while seniors got ready for an assembly honoring and entertaining their parents in the school library.

Following a program of songs and skits, seniors and parents participated in a workshop on working together.

Conducting the workshop was Ronnie Martin of Region XI Education Service Center in Fort Worth. Beginning with a mini-workshop on communications, activity moved to a session on working together in groups. Problem for the workshop provided entertainment as well as demonstrating some of the principles of working together.

The program concluded with luncheon in the school cafeteria for seniors and parents with sophomores and freshmen in charge of table decorations and assisting with serving.

Music, movies and memories of "The Dazzling Thirties" will share a spotlight during the 1972 State Fair of Texas, October 7-22, at Fair Park in Dallas. Saluting the new and the nostalgic, the fair will present the varied worlds of fashion, automobiles, livestock and entertainment plus a captivating theme exhibition. Beyond the theater and exhibit halls, the carnival atmosphere of parades, midway rides, souvenir stands and mouth-watering food specialties will enchant more than three million visitors during the 16-day exposition.

School for Girls where he is chaplain.

Guest speaker for the program was R. H. Chilton, chief of casework service for the State School for Girls at Gainesville. He told about care and education, about vocational classes that are available, and answered questions from the floor.

The school presently has about 200 girls — half as many as in earlier years. Average stay for a girl is about one year. Efforts are made to get the girls back into their own communities with their families, he said.

Clergy present, introduced by Father Gajda, host pastor, were Father James Gillespie of Gainesville who led the opening prayer, Father Michael Irvin of Bridgeport-Jacksonboro, Father Severius Blank of Pilot Point, and Father Damian Wewers of Lindsay who closed the meeting with prayer.

It was announced that the next meeting will be held in November at Decatur.

After adjournment Valley View members were hostesses for a noon luncheon.

Attending from Muenster in addition to Mrs. Fisher were Mmes Tony Gremminger, John Mosman, Andy Schoech, Ed Pels, John Herr and Herb McDaniel.

Campaign on VD Awareness Begun by Health Dept.

What's the biggest communicable disease problem in Texas today?

Diphtheria? Polio? Measles? Rubella?

These are serious diseases and are distinct threats if the immunization levels decline. But the ones getting highest priorities in Texas and the nation right now are venereal diseases, says your State Health Department.

If that comes as a surprise, there's a reason. VD is something people are unaccustomed to talking about. It has always been there, silently exacting its toll as a dangerouscrippler and killer. But venereal disease was and is a silent epidemic. There are no preventive vaccines to take for syphilis and gonorrhea, so the diseases keep occurring — and spreading under a mantle of secrecy, fear and social stigma.

The Texas State Department of Health, with federal assistance, has started a state-wide public awareness campaign to let the public know what is happening — and what can be done about it.

In addition to public service advertisements in the state's local newspapers, and a radio and television campaign, the State Health Department plans to conduct a series of seminars or conferences.

The first conference for health professionals and community officials is scheduled September 20-21 at the Royal Coach Inn in Dallas. It is jointly sponsored by the State Health Department and Blue Cross-Shield of Texas. All participants will be provided with an information kit, a distillation of the most current authoritative literature put together by the American Social Health Association.

The seminar is a high-level one, with separate symposiums for physicians and pharmacists. The program is accepted, hour for hour, for a maximum of 15 1/2 elective hours by the American Academy of Family Physicians.

Speakers will focus on the VD problem in Texas, state and local VD control efforts, health aspects of untreated venereal disease, current research in the VD field, development of a VD community educational campaign, and community action prototypes.

Texas does have a problem, along with the other 49 states in the nation. In 1971, for example, the number of reported new cases of syphilis and gonorrhea in Texas exceeded 55,000. But that figure is just the tip of the iceberg. Experience shows that only about one in five cases is actually reported to health officials.

Last year in the United States the number of reported gonorrhea cases exceeded 624,000, according to the U. S. Public Health Service. In this country it is estimated that there are a half-million cases of syphilis infecting people who don't even know they have it.

The awareness campaign has several purposes, but there are two or three major ones. First, the extent of the problem must be made clear to everyone, along with the knowledge that VD can happen to anyone. Secondly, the campaign will emphasize the method of transmission — from one infected person to another person through intimate contact. And, thirdly, it will stress the necessity for immediate treatment should disease symptoms appear.

Early diagnosis, early treatment and good epidemiology in tracing VD to its source are three essentials in curbing this VD epidemic, says the State Health Department.

Milepost Markers Put to New Uses By Highway Dept.

AUSTIN — Have you ever wondered if you can "get there from here" while whizzing down the Interstate and trying to decide where to get off?

The Texas Highway Department is making it easier for motorists by improving milepost markers and exit signs along the State's interstate Highway facilities.

The familiar little green signs with the white numbers can help a driver if his car breaks down or runs out of gas. The motorist can report the nearest milepost to a service station or garage. The Highway Patrol use the markers to pinpoint accidents and to describe accident locations — and the Department uses the reports to analyze highway hazards.

Mileposts are numbered in increasing order from the southern and western ends of Interstate highways in Texas. For example, milepost "0" on IH 35 is at the center of the Rio Grande at Laredo. The last milepost on IH 35 would be near the south end of the Red River Bridge north of Gainesville on the Texas-Oklahoma line, 504.23 miles from the Rio Grande.

IH 10 mileposts are numbered from the Texas-New Mexico state line near Anthony, north of El Paso. Mile 380.52 is in the center of the Sabine River Bridge near Orange at the Texas-Louisiana state line.

New markers will have "mile" written at the top with mileage numbers placed horizontally below. Current markers have only numbers. It is hoped that the addition of the word mile will ease the confusion as to what those "little green signs" mean.

Milepost markers will be coordinated with the new exit signs. New exit signs for the first time will carry exit numbers based on milepost numbers.

For example, if a motorist is looking for exit number 102, he can watch the milepost numbers until he reaches milepost number 100 — then he can expect exit number 102 which will be located at, or near, milepost number 102. The exit number and the milepost number will always be the same.

All the three types of exit signs will carry exit numbers: The advance guide sign that tells how far to the exit and bears the route and destination, the exit direction sign that repeats the route and destination, and the exit sign near the off ramp.

In a strange city it should be easier for the motorist to watch for the number of an exit than to look for the name of a street or interchange. Also, it should be easier for motorists to follow exit numbers.

The improved milepost and exit signs gradually are going up on a new construction and replacement basis. They currently are being installed only on Interstate Highway facilities.

Next Week is 4-H Week in Texas

by Craig Rosenbaum
Governor Preston Smith has proclaimed the week of October 1-7 as "4-H week in Texas."

Theme of this year's observance is "A New Day — A New Way."

According to the proclamation issued by Smith, "The 1972 Theme expresses the thrust of today's 4-H program as it helps prepare young people to become better citizens in our changing world."

The proclamation continues, "Texas 4-H members working with educational learn-by-doing projects apply the latest research and scientific information to their work, keeping records, arranging exhibits and giving demonstrations to pass the information to others."

"The leadership and citizenship training which 4-H members receive in this program is a valuable asset to our state and to our democratic way of life."

4-H continues to expand into new program areas and is designed to meet the needs and interests of all youngsters between the ages of 9 and 19.

A total of 420 boys and girls are currently enrolled in 4-H in Cooke County. However, many more are eligible to participate and are encouraged to ask their friends about 4-H or to visit the county Extension office.

4-H is a part of the educational program of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service of Texas A&M University and is directed at the local level by county Extension agents. Volunteer adult leaders and other local citizens assist with the program.

Several special programs and activities are planned during 4-H Week to recognize 4-Hers, their parents, friends and supporters. Every-one is encouraged to participate to learn more about 4-H — the action-oriented, learning-by-doing youth organization.

Tiger Cubs Blast Gunter Kids 26-0

Sacred Heart's seventh graders had a picnic Tuesday night rolling over the Gunter youngsters by a convincing 26-0 count. The game was as one sided as the score as the Cubs piled up 12 first downs and held their visitors to only one.

They got their start early after holding Gunter on the first series. They moved 53 yards in eight plays with Kenny and Billy Felderhoff making steady gains and Robert Hartman going over on a quarterback sneak.

Their next score came on their next possession, which started with the second quarter. It happened in two big plays, Billy Felderhoff gaining 15 yards to the 30 and Danny Walterscheid going in from there.

The third TD barely beat the half time whistle. Backed up near their own goal the visitors were badly smeared on a fourth down gamble and Sacred Heart had only 10 to go. Billy Felderhoff made it in one play just as time ran out. Robert Hartman's run upped the count to 20-0.

Starting the second half the Cubs were goalward bound again. After holding the visitors on the first series they went from midfield in six plays. Ken Felderhoff scored from the 9.

That was the end of the scoring but not the end of the action. Interceptions were made by Joe Hoedebeck, Fred Koesler and Benny Bindel.

And just before the end Danny Walterscheid took a pass from Robert Hartman and headed for pay dirt. He made a nice broken field run and gained 68 yards to the 12 before being brought down.

Christmas Display Up

At Lindsay, Herman Martin has his Christmas display almost ready to go. He has all the animated characters and other exhibits in place and plans to light up early — October 9 for the first time and continue through Dec. 25. As always, visitors are welcome to drive by his home and see. Herman was disappointed in the past week when a prankster disconnected wires on his display.

"Red Carpet Service" Starts at Muenster Butane

The homemaker, tired of muddy tracks, unshaven repairmen and unsatisfactory results when she has to call for appliance repair, now has a weapon with which she can strike back — a postpaid card which allows her to rate both the serviceman and his work.

It's part of a unique program — Maytag Red Carpet Service — now being offered in this area by Muenster Butane Company. Originated by a major home laundry appliance manufacturer, it aims at helping service organizations in supplying promptly the quality appliance service justifiably demanded by consumers.

As its name implies, customers receiving this service will be given the full "Red Carpet" treatment. The firm authorized to handle the program gains through a buildup of greater customer satisfaction and confidence.

In qualifying for the program, Muenster Butane Company had to meet a set of rigid standards established by the Maytag company's service department. The local firm is required to have adequate facilities and trained service personnel, provide service within 24 hours, and have its men properly uniformed and its trucks identified with official Red Carpet Service decals.

A serviceman making a call wears his official uniform, including red bow tie and official hat, carries a white toolbox bearing Red Carpet Service insignias, and has credentials certifying him as a qualified Maytag service specialist. Carrying two official Red Carpets, he places one over the appliance and the other on the floor for his toolbox and tools to prevent marring either the appliance or the floor. Before his work is finished he sprays the appliance with a cleaner and wipes it thoroughly. On leaving, he hands the homemaker an evaluation card which she is asked to fill out and mail.

Maytag considers the program another step in the direction it has followed in the more than half-century it has manufactured home laundry appliances, during which efficient appliance service has been a guiding principle and major objective.

What this country needs is a good five-cent bumper sticker remover.

Pupil: "A new car."

Confetti - - -

He explained that when the concept was first introduced he tried to head it off by legislation designed to return a portion of the revenue base to state and local governments. We'll go along with him on that thinking. We too think that city, county and state should do their own collecting of revenue, but we doubt whether it will ever again collect this portion of it. Repealing this government program will be like so many others. The change never arrives.

Still another feature worries us. They say no strings will be attached to revenue sharing. In effect it is an admission that Uncle Sam owes you, so here it is to use as you please. That was the line when the federal government stuck its nose into education and a number of other federal programs. Maybe there are no strings now, but they are coming. We can be sure of that. And then, when we've become dependent on the giveaway, the bureaucrats will threaten to take it away, unless we do exactly as we are told.

Driving is a lot like baseball — it's the number of times you get home safely that counts.

It used to be a crime to pass counterfeit money — in fact passers of counterfeit money were given stiff prison sentences. The reason sentences were meted out was because counterfeit money was worthless and the recipient had to absorb the loss. But, it shouldn't be a great offense today because the dollar — the great American dollar isn't worth too much more than the counterfeit. If Americans do not change, one of these days the dollar will be just as worthless as the counterfeit.
