

You and I would say that anyone who supports Communism cannot be regarded as fit to teach in American schools. So we get quite a jolt from an incident in which a teacher got fired for a mildly uncomplimentary remark about a well known Communist revolutionary.

The teacher in a junior high school of New York asked his pupils to write an essay about someone they greatly admired. A 12-year-old girl wrote about Angela Davis and said that "monuments should be built to her."

The teacher gave a B plus on the essay but jotted a note in the margin hoping that in the future she would find someone else, black or white, to admire. That's all he said. He made no mention of her Communist affiliation, her revolutionary activity or the fact that she was on the FBI most wanted list as a fugitive from justice.

For that very mild expression of his opinion he was fired from his job. The Daily Worker, Communist newspaper, learned about the incident and organized the protest which pressured the school administration to get rid of him. School authorities, or the teachers union, or the ACLU, which makes a big show of defending a person's right to free speech, did not have the principle or guts to do anything about it.

Can you imagine anything as outrageous? How do you like the idea of having school policies determined by the Daily Worker? Or of being fired from an American school for just a slightly critical remark about someone who is known to be a fanatic enemy of the country? It all goes to show that it's really later than we think.

It was pleasing last week to hear that President Nixon has chosen Spiro Agnew again as his running mate for the general election. Not only because Agnew seems like the best possible as a vote getter but even more so because his staunch defense of the administration and his chief has earned the party's gratitude.

Agnew, a political unknown four years ago, has worked his way to the top in public esteem. He did a magnificent job of crushing the intellectual snobs who ridiculed the president and his policies. More than anyone else he exposed the slanted presentation of news in the mass media.

He was the champion of truth, the spokesman for millions of average people who resented the news manipulations that made our country look bad and favored the enemy's side of the war. There's a good reason why he became the most popular speaker of the country. Lots of folks who think like him were happy to have him talking for them.

However, the delay in giving Agnew the nod was disappointing to this column, even though, politically, there probably was a good reason for it. As the politicians think, it might have been good strategy to calculate the make-up of the opposition before making the choice. If the Demos come up with someone who might get some conservative votes the GOP might want someone to swing some liberal votes. Whatever the reason, it's gratifying now to know that conservatism's leading spokesman is on the ticket. To us that means that Nixon and other party leaders are a little more committed to conservative policies.

A recent column by Paul Harvey admits regretfully that our country goofed last year when some environmentalists in Congress turned down the SST plan. He says it's humiliating to think that our country chooses to be second best in a line which has been a specialty here for years while France and England roam over the world sacking up orders for their version of the great plane.

But what Harvey says next takes the edge off the disappointment. Boeing's 747 has proven itself as the greatest of all the other planes. It is the first plane ever to fly 2.5 billion miles without a fatality. Almost 200 of the wonder planes are now in service, all but 60 of them for US airlines.

Six of the planes have flown more than 3 million miles each, 37 have gone over 2.5 million. Each 747 now in use averages nine hours of flight every day. Combined, all of them have more than a half million flight hours and they have carried 18 million passengers.

2 Big-Name Cowboys Receive Surgery Here

Two prominent cowboys are currently here as patients of Dr. Marvin Knight in Muenster Memorial Hospital. One is Rodeo Cowboy Larry Mahan, the only five time consecutive all around world champion rodeo cowboy, and the other is Bill Thomas, this year's Number 1 draft choice on the world champion Dallas Cowboys.

Both are here for surgery performed Tuesday night in the local hospital. Thomas expects to be here until the weekend. And he'll be in front of his hospital room TV Friday night watching the college all star game he had hoped to play in.

The fleet footed 220 pound rookie from Boston College had been going strong in practice at the Cowboys' training camp in California when his left shoulder started giving trouble Monday. X-Ray revealed that a staple which had been used to repair the shoulder in earlier surgery had worked loose. So, he was sent by plane to Dr. Knight, the team physician, who sent him here for removal of the staple. The formerly injured bone is completely healed, so the staple isn't needed any more.

Both of the ailing cowboys are very much impressed by their stay in the local hospital. They like the comforts, the quiet and the prompt friendly attention of hospital personnel.

Mahan's experience was somewhat like Thomas' in that he came a long way to have his problem treated. He was competing in a Cheyenne, Wyo., rodeo when he pulled the bicep of his left arm. He headed for Dr. Knight, first trying to make it in his private plane, but parked it at Denver and finished the trip by air liner. And Dr. Knight brought him here for surgery to re-attach the bicep to the bone.

Mahan says that the injury put him out of rodeo competition for the rest of the season and fouled up his chance of winning the champ cowboy title for the sixth time. He had similar bad luck last year when a broken leg put him out of the running.

Mahan shares with Jim Shoulders of Oklahoma the distinction of being world champion cowboy five times, but he's ahead in making the grade five consecutive years. Shoulders did it three years, skipped one, then two more.

Along with his rodeo work Mahan has lots of other interests, at which he is assisted by his business manager, Dan Murphy, who was here to see him Tuesday. He has appeared in two movies "J. W. Coop" and "The Honkers." Also, he endorses a number of clothing items, like boots, hats, underwear. And during spare time he headquarters at Frisco doing actual cowboy work with his friend Walt Garrison of the Dallas Cowboys.

County Tax Rate Raised 3 Cents

The Cooke County tax rate has been increased 3 cents to a present total of $1.02 per $100 of assessed valuation. The raise was approved Monday by the commissioners court to meet the increased cost of conducting court and providing right of way for highway construction.

Higher court cost results from establishing District Court No. 235 to relieve the overload formerly carried by the District 16 court. The hike of 2 cents is regarded sufficient to pay the additional jurors needed.

The other one cent provides principally for the right of way to change Highway 82 to a four lane road from Muenster to the Montague county line. The county's cost of that item is estimated at $100,000 and the amount will be matched by the state.

The present rate of $1.02 is divided as follows. General 48 cents, road and bridge fund 21 cents, permanent improvements 3 cents, jury fund 5 cents, road and bridge special fund 15 cents, FM and lateral fund 10 cents.

Total county valuations are estimated at $53.7 million, an increase of $1.9 million over last year. Taxes are assessed at 20 per cent of actual value.

Tuggle Bumped 12-6 by All Stars

The Tuggle Motor team, champ of the local baseball junior division could not stand up to the combined talent of the other three teams. It lost 12-6 in the all star game Monday night which pulled down the curtain on the 1972 season.

The all stars started strong with 5 runs in the first and added 1 each the next four innings plus 3 in the sixth. The game was ended at that point because Tuggle, even with a limit of 5 runs could not have won.

Pitchers were Kenny Hartman and Mike Hesse, allowing 5 hits and 12 walks for Tuggle, and Jeff Hess and Phil Wolf giving up 7 hits and 7 walks for the All Stars.

Tuggle hitters were Kenny Hartman a home run and a single, Mike Stephens 2 singles, Mark Felderhoff a double, Gene Yosten a double, Terry Knabe a single. For the Stars Floyd Felderhoff tripled, Mel Walterscheid doubled, Phil Wolf, Chris Jaska and David Felderhoff singled.

All Stars were chosen from the Wilde team coached by Steve Fette and Mark Moser, the Bank team coached by Danny Yosten and the Grewing team coached by Mike Frost and Ernest Jaska. They were Jeff Hess, Phil Wolf, Floyd Felderhoff, Curtis Pangel, Kent Fuhrman, Kirk Mollenkopf, Chris Jaska, Duane Knabe, David Felderhoff and Monte Endres.

Tuggle's team coached by Fred Knabe and Leonard Reiter were Craig Walterscheid, John Stephens, Craig Bayer, Mark Felderhoff, Kenny Hartman, Michael Stephens, Mike Hesse, Terry Knabe, Gene Yosten, John Walterscheid and Mark Richardson.

182 Get Awards In Two Weeks of Swim Classes

1972 swimming classes at the Muenster pool came to an end last Friday as badges and pins were awarded to 58 youngsters in beginners, advanced beginners, intermediate and swimmers classes.

That boosted the total number of local awards to 182. The other 124 had been given the previous week — 101 to pupils of the above named classifications plus 13 in senior life saving and 10 in junior life saving.

The total enrolled in all categories of swimming and life saving was 317.

The entire program was sponsored by the Cooke County Red Cross Chapter under direction of Mrs. Robert Lewis. It was free to everyone and all of the program personnel donated their time.

The program started with courses in junior and senior life saving after which some of the students assisted as instructors in beginning classes which were held through the next two weeks. Regular instructors included 10 with Water Safety Instructor rating and 10 with Senior Life Saver rating. Recorders were Mrs. Gerry Sangster and Mrs. Elaine Richards.

Herbert Knabe at Firemen's School

Fire Chief Herbert Knabe was the city's representative last week in the annual firemen's training school at Texas A&M University. He was enrolled in the Basic Fire Fighters' course, which stresses care and use of equipment and safety rules in fire fighting. The classes were held mostly at the school's $750,000 firemen's training field and partly in the college classrooms and labs.

The training field includes buildings, fuel trucks, oil pits, a jet fighter and other items which are set afire giving firemen the opportunity to apply their skill and technique. The public is invited to that demonstration.

Attendance at the training school serves a two fold purpose. Besides training men in basics and new developments, which are intended to be discussed by each student in his own organization, the school qualifies a city for credit on its fire insurance premiums. The savings apply to all who buy insurance and their combined value is far more than the cost of the course. The city of Muenster sponsors the fireman's attendance there.

Firemen Answer Two Calls Monday

Muenster firemen had to hustle Monday, at about 3 p.m. to save three barns on the Paul Fetch farm occupied by Pat Hess a mile northeast of town. A fire that started on the neighboring Schmitt pasture spread up to the three buildings but firemen succeeded in keeping all from igniting.

It was a mysterious fire, originating out in the pasture with no apparent cause. Observers guessed that it might have been caused by an electric fence — which was unheeded of here as a cause of fire — or possibly by a piece of glass focusing the sun's rays on some dry grass. Loss of pasture was estimated at about 12 acres on Schmitt's and 6 acres on Fetsch's.

Shortly after their return the firemen were asked to Rosston where a grass fire touched off a small barn on the Odella Bewley place. It was practically gone by the time Muenster and Forestburg firemen arrived, however the house, also threatened, was saved. It started with a trash fire that got out of control.

Robert Hartman Wins Trophy in Jr. Golf Tourney

Robert Hartman was the only prize winner in the group of five Muenster entries in the Nocona junior golf tournament last week. He won the consolation trophy in Flight 3 of the tourney. Danny Walterscheid was runner up for the same honor but got no prize. Robert's scores were 96 and 94 for the two 18-hole rounds.

The other entries from here were Emilio Antonetti, Terry Walterscheid and Ronnie Felderhoff.

IN GERMANY — Airman Clifford Zimmerer has reported to Germany for a new assignment after completing an overseas leave with his parents, the Raymond Zimmerers and other relatives. ## Over 30 Expected For Tigers' First Practice Aug. 14

More than 30 youngsters are expected to report to Coach Robert Steele on August 14 when the Sacred Heart Tigers begin practice for their 1972 football season.

Steele announced this week that he is looking for five returning seniors including four starters, eleven junior including 5 starters, and three sophomores including one starter, along with fifteen freshmen. With some of the boys playing both offense and defense, there will be six veterans on offense and seven on defense. Tigers who carry the big part of the load are Gary Endres, Mark Schmitt, Kevin Pels, Larry Bayer, David Krahl, Melvin Luke and Karl Hess.

Unofficially the season's preparation begins with a party. It will be a hamburger and ice cream event for players and pep squad Friday night, the 11th, beginning at 7:30 o'clock. The following night equipment will be issued so that the Monday practice can start without delay.

The team will have early morning workouts for a week and start the regular afternoon practice schedule when school starts on August 21. The first three days will be in shorts and helmets, then the regular football gear.

Coach Robert Steele came to Sacred Heart from Anna, where he was assistant coach in football and head coach in track and girls basketball. A native of Denton, he was an all district halfback in football and all state in track. He attended college at NTSU. Mike Turbeville of Gainesville will be Steele's assistant in coaching football.

The Tigers' first test will come on August 25 when they meet the Alvord Bulldogs at Alvord in a scrimmage session. A week later they will be at Pottsboro for a similar test.

The Sacred Heart schedule has a new look this year, the only similarity being a game with the Sadler-Southmayd Rams. Otherwise the list of opponents is completely new. One reason for that is the Tigers decided to quit the TISC league, which is made up mostly of schools which might classify as AA or AAA in the UIL rating whereas Sacred Heart would be rated as B. Another reason is that several former foes are fully occupied in an 11-member district and have no room left on their schedules for Sacred Heart.

The Tiger schedule: Sept. 8, S&S, there Sept. 15, Gunter, there Sept. 22, open Sept. 29, Westminster, here Oct. 7, Trinity Christian, here Oct. 13, Callisburg, there Oct. 21, Lake Worth B, here Oct. 26, Whitesboro B, there Nov. 3, Dixon, Okla., here Nov. 9, Bowie B, there Nov. 16, Henrietta B, here

Mr. and Mrs. John Henry Streng and two children visited his parents, the Johnny Henry Kammerdiener and Paul Kelley, all of Gainesville. Judges for the boys were Vernon Friedrich and A. R. Robbins, both of Gainesville.

Bloodmobile Will Be Here Wednesday at 3

The Bloodmobile from the Red Cross Blood Center of Wichita Falls will make its second and final visit of this year to Muenster on Wednesday of next week. It will be set up at the K of C Hall between 3 and 6:15 p.m.

The community's quota, based on its need over a six months period, has been set at 80 units. To reach that goal, normally, a minimum of 100 potential donors is required — to make allowance for about 20 per cent who cannot be accepted because of physical history or medical history.

All who can possibly give are urged to report. Though the quota is relatively small it will need widespread response to assure success of this community project.

Program officials again are emphasizing the advantages of making advance appointments. It is a time saver for donors in that it enables them to make their donations without delay and it helps Bloodmobile personnel by tending to level off slack and rush times.

Appointments may be made by calling the Muenster Hospital, 759-2271, between the hours of 8 and 5 on week days. This doesn't mean however that donors will be accepted only by appointment. Anyone who forgets or fails otherwise to get an assigned time is urged to report anyway.

The main point to remember is that the donations Wednesday are being made for this community. Perhaps for a relative or friend, perhaps for one's self. Though assured that no local person will be denied whether or not the goal is met, it will be a matter of pride to know that Muenster has taken care of itself.

As in the past, local volunteers will conduct the collection, except for the actual drawing of blood. Ladies of the Hospital Auxiliary will do the registrations and tagging and serve refreshments. Local

Local 4-H'ers Win On Record Books In County Judging

To finish their 4-H year, sixty Cooke County 4-H boys and girls submitted their record books for judging at the county level. To complete this activity each 4-H'er must compile a record of his project, take pictures, select news clippings, gather correspondence, and organize any other material that can be used for the 4-H biography of this year and previous years in 4-H.

The winning records on both junior and senior levels go to district competition. From district senior winners try for state recognition with a chance to possibly win a trip to the National 4-H Congress in Chicago for awards ranging from $50 savings bonds to $1600 scholarships in 43 categories.

Twenty seniors entered their 4-H record books in 14 different award programs and Muenster winners are: Achievement — Lenora Fleitman, blue, district; Barbie Davidson, blue.

nursing personnel again will give their time for screening, examination, typing and general nursing attention as required. Personnel from the Wichita Falls blood center will collect the blood.

The Red Cross blood bank program offers a valuable service to all residents of the Muenster Hospital District, to all patients of the hospital, and to the hospital itself. The blood is available without charge to those residents and those patients — because it is given without charge by local people. The charge for a transfusion covers only the cost of collection, storage, transporting and the hospital's charge of transfusing. Overall cost is about $30 less than for the usual transfusion. Besides that the hospital saves about $150 a month for stocking fees.

Sponsors of the local program are the Knights of Columbus and the Veterans of Foreign Wars, with J. W. Fisher as chairman and David Bright as administrator.

They point to the special satisfaction that each donor enjoys in the awareness that his pint of blood, freely given, is very important to the person who receives it. The need of it is positively determined in every patient, so a donor has the assurance that his blood will be used in saving a life. There is more satisfaction in knowing that this very vital medicine is manufactured in one's own body. This is more than ordinary medication.

There's even more satisfaction in the final disposition of blood which is not needed during the 21 days when it is available for direct use. After that it is still useful for breaking down into components which can be stored and used for an indefinite time.

Schedule Changes For WSI Classes

There has been a change in the Water Safety Instructor class scheduled this week at the Muenster pool. Because only two reported Monday morning the classes have been re-scheduled for Monday afternoon, 2 to 5 o'clock, while the pool is open for adult ladies. Persons who find that hour preferable are invited to come.

Other details about the class are unchanged. Mrs. Robert Lewis is the instructor. Requirement is a senior life saver rating and minimum age of 17. Classes include review of senior life saving and improvement of swimming strokes and the course can be finished next summer at the WSI course scheduled at Gainesville's pool.

4-H Team Gives Demonstration at AMPI Dallas Meet

Lenora Fleitman and Kim Reiter, 4-H team from Muenster, were in Dallas Wednesday and Thursday as guests of Associated Milk Producers, Inc.

The girls presented their demonstration for the Southern Region meeting of the cooperative. This demonstration explains AMPI, a milk marketing cooperative, and how it functions. The 4-H'ers worked with posters originally but now use slides for the larger audiences.

They have given the demonstration for Kiwanis and Rotary Clubs and the Chamber of Commerce at Gainesville.

Hornet Annuals Await Pick-up

The Treaty In Moscow

Everyone hopes that the recent arms treaty will truly give us at least one generation of peace. It is not advantageous to the U.S., but that is to be expected when dealing with the Communists.

The Soviets will have more intercontinental missiles and more nuclear submarines. The arms race is being frozen with the U.S. second in offensive strategic weapons. Whom do we have to thank for this?

Well, who elects the Senators who are determined to disarm the U.S.? Congress has stripped the U.S. of its lead. Once we lost it, the Kremlin leaped at the chance to keep us there.

The Soviets not only have the lead, but the capability of widening it. While they were increasing it, our Senate was cutting defense funds. The President did the best he could, keeping us at least a close second. To stay there, the U.S. must upgrade its weapons as permitted by the agreement.

The Soviets certainly will modernize theirs, probably not within the agreement. Moscow's record of promises kept is shoddy, to put it mildly.

A Senate Judiciary Committee report lists 25 summit agreements between the U.S. President and the Soviet chief, signed at Teheran, Yalta, Potsdam and Geneva. Only one was kept, the Soviet promise to fight Japan, which she finally did in the last week of the war. The Soviets then demanded the Japanese island of Hokkaido. It took General MacArthur's firm stand to back them down. Soviet promises of free elections in Korea and East Europe, repatriation of their prisoners, free access to Berlin and free navigation of the Danube were all broken.

Nor can these broken promises be blamed on Stalin. He died in 1953. At Geneva in 1955, the Soviets promised to re-unify Germany through free elections. They promised to halt nuclear testing in 1958, but continued it in 1961. They said that the 1962 Cuban arms build-up was defensive. They signed a nonproliferation treaty in 1969 to limit the arms race, but instead they accelerated missile construction and now lead the U.S. In 1970 they approved a Middle East cease-fire, then broke it by sending more arms to the Suez Canal.

These are only recent broken promises. Going back to the 1930's we find that the U.S.S.R. broke agreements with Poland, Finland, Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania — confiscating all or part of their territories.

It is difficult to feel comfortable if our national security depends on Soviet promises and U.S. naivete.

The UN Evaluates Itself

The United Nations is continuing its string of failures. Only once, twenty years ago in Korea, did it act effectively. And that was because of a Soviet boycott. Since then, things have gone down hill.

Last December, the U.N. failed to halt the bloody India-Pakistan war, as it had failed to stop the three previous ones. Its efforts in the Middle East have also been unsuccessful. The U.N. has not even taken action to outlaw nations that harbor hijackers.

Added to these woes is the likelihood that the U.S. will no longer underwrite the organization. General ineffectiveness, excessive costs and spy scandals have disillusioned the American public.

With criticisms mounting, the U.N. conducted an evaluation of its high-level officials, agencies and institutions. It was hoped that self-evaluation would show that the U.N. was doing a good job.

But the researchers found that the U.N. is a "confused bureaucratic organization with enormous waste." Investigator A. R. Arasteh, who supported the U.N. for two decades, reports that "the U.N. now needs experts to cure its own maladies rather than sending experts abroad to train and advise others."

Agencies such as the Industrial Development Organization, the Institute for Training and Research and the U.N. Development Program were all failures to "harmonize international needs and national interests."

With the evidence of U.N. failures gathered, Arasteh draws his conclusion: "It is decidedly realistic for the U.S. to reduce its share of funds to the U.N."

Sticking to Principles

The attempted assassination of Governor Wallace led to renewed demands for additional controls on firearms. If controls were the answer to such crimes, a majority of citizens would probably favor them. But, they are not the answer.

General Maxwell E. Rich, executive vice president of the National Rifle Association, in an "NRA Official Statement" following the attempt on the Governor's life, again stressed the basic principles involved when he said, "Certain well-meaning, but misguided, individuals suggest that additional gun laws are the cure-all for attempted assassinations and crime. This thinking is a fallacy. The man charged with the shooting of Governor Wallace was in violation of local and State (Wisconsin and Maryland) firearms control laws before he fired. As the NRA, and many thoughtful leaders, have constantly stressed — let us rigidly enforce those laws now on the books and invoke mandatory penalties for the criminal use of a firearm, such as those now part of the Federal Gun Control Act of 1968 and those called for by many bills presently before the Congress. . . . We call for swift and stringent punishment of the criminal, and we will support any legislation which is meaningful in the fight against crime but which also protects the rights and privileges of the law-abiding."

Law-abiding gun owners who have borne the brunt of the emotional antigun crusade are among the first to support workable laws aimed at controlling criminal use of firearms — just as they are first to oppose undercutting one of the most fundamental of all U.S. rights — the right of the law-abiding to own guns for sport and for protection of homes and persons.

This Is National Farm Safety Week

President Richard M. Nixon has declared the week beginning July 25 as National Farm Safety Week.

In his proclamation setting the observance, the President said: "I urge all persons engaged in agriculture and all those allied with agriculture to take appropriate measures to reduce the number and severity of accidents. Let us strive to bring the technology of safety to agriculture as successfully as we have brought it to the technology of production."

Technology, combined with the skill and energy of our farmers and ranchers, the President noted, has made possible a plentiful supply of high quality agricultural products, thus enabling us to make great strides in the battle against hunger.

Modern technology has also increased the risk of accidents to our farmers and ranchers, Nixon said. "Each year thousands are injured or lose their lives in agricultural accidents or in mishaps on public roads, in homes, or in recreational activities. The dollar cost of these accidents exceeds $2 billion annually, but the price in terms of pain and anguish and disruption of family life is immeasurable," said the President.

President Nixon, in proclaiming National Farm Safety Week, urged those engaged in the agriculture industry to take a decisive stand for safety. "Many accidents can be prevented," he said, "by eliminating hazards and using protective equipment at work, by defensive driving, and by general safe practices at home and during recreation."

Review Requested On Death Penalty

Texas and Georgia will ask the U.S. Supreme Court to review its decision declaring the death penalty, as it is most often applied, unconstitutional.

Meanwhile, Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin has received a request from the Texas Board of Pardons and Paroles for an official interpretation of the June 29 Supreme Court decision. The Board also wanted to know if the death penalty actually had been declared unconstitutional. Some justices hinted a constitutional death penalty provision may be possible.

The Board will continue to follow the procedure of not recommending commutation for the 45 inmates on death row until it receives a formal request from the prisoner, judge, district attorney and sheriff in each case.

To Be An American

I do not choose to be a common man. It is my right to be uncommon — if I can. I seek opportunity — not security. I do not wish to be a kept citizen, humbled and dulled by having the State look after me. I want to take the calculated risk, to dream and to build, to fall and to succeed. I refuse to barter incentive for a dole. I prefer the challenge of life to the guaranteed calm of utopia.

I will not trade freedom for beneficence nor my dignity for a handout.

It is my heritage to think and act for myself, enjoy the benefit of my creations, and to face the world boldly and say "This I have done."

All this is what it means to be an American.

Dr. R. P. McDonald Added to Dist. 4 Extension Staff

DENTON (Special) — Dr. Richard P. McDonald became livestock specialist here July 1 on the area staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service of Texas A&M University.

His appointment was announced by Dr. John E. Hutchison of College Station, director of the Extension Service.

"Dr. McDonald's extensive knowledge of the crossbreeding of beef cattle," said Dr. Hutchison, "will be much to the advantage of North Central Texas cattlemen as they realign their operations on the basis of crossbreeding."

McDonald, a May graduate of Louisiana State University at Baton Rouge, where his master's and doctoral studies centered on genetics, has joined an area staff of other specialists in plant pathology, agronomy, dairying, economics and entomology.

In the 17 counties of Extension District 4, headquartered here, he will work with livestock producers, county Extension agents, and organizations, agencies and other individuals also interested in livestock production.

500 Kin Join to Fete Sr. Anselma At Park Reunion

A huge family reunion and covered dish picnic dinner of the Haverkamp clan in Muenster City Park Sunday honored Sister Anselma Haverkamp who is visiting in Muenster, Gainesville, and Lindsay. She celebrated her golden jubilee as a Benedictine nun in Jonesboro, Ark., earlier this month and the reunion was a jubilee honor by her seven brothers, their children and families.

A conservative estimate placed the number attending at 500. The group got re-acquainted with relatives they had not seen in years and made the acquaintances of newcomers into the family by birth and marriage.

The four generations attended from Texas and Oklahoma.

Mrs. Willard Zimmerer of Dallas brought a handsome jubilee cake for her aunt. She had dressed a small doll in authentic nun habit to top the cake and it was inscribed with "Golden Anniversary — Sister Anselma."

Pictures were made and the youngsters went swimming. Special guests were Father Bede and Father Leonard and Sister Gemma Vogel and Sister Clarice Schumacher.

Sister Anselma's brothers are John, Ben, Bill and Alois Haverkamp of Muenster, Frank Haverkamp Sr. of Lindsay and Joe and Charlie Haverkamp of Gainesville.

Tuggle Nips Wilde 15-12 in Play off For Junior Title

Tuggle Motor Company's team is the champ of the junior division of little league baseball. The title was decided last Thursday night in a play-off game with Wilde Chevrolet by a score of 15-12. Wilde made a big start by bringing in 2 in the first and 5 in the second for a 7 run lead at the top of the second. But Tuggle's 5 runs in the bottom of the second trimmed the lead to 2, and another 5 run inning gave Tuggle a lead of 3. Wilde caught up in the top of the fourth but Tuggle made 5 more and took a 5 run lead. Wilde's 2 in the fifth trimmed the lead to 3, but that was the end of the scoring. Kenny Hartman and Mike Hesse pitched for Tuggle, allowing 4 singles and 10 walks. Wayne Richards and Phil Wolf gave up 4 hits and 11 walks for Wilde.

Tuggle hitters were Craig Walterscheid, Kenny Hartman and Mike Hesse, each a home run and Terry Knabe a triple. Wilde hitters were Wayne Richards, Floyd Felderhoff, Phil Wolf and Mike Lewis.

Trio Returns from Hawaii Vacation

Mrs. Al Yosten, back from a Hawaiian holiday, reports a wonderful time. She traveled with her sisters Mrs. Homer Savage of Garland and Mrs. Justin Jezek of Celina. It was an 11-day Texas Instruments flying tour with over 300 of the plant's employees and relatives aboard the big 747 jet. The flight from Dallas took them to Honolulu and from there to Kauai and Kona for two days on each island, then back to Honolulu for four days. They also had time on their own.

Their several conducted tours for sight-seeing included Hanalei-Lumaha where they viewed the Hole-in-the-Mountain, the Sleeping Giant, pineapple fields and Hanalei Bay. On the Waimea Canyon-Wailua River Tour they saw the Grand Canyon of the Pacific, Alekoka Fishponds and the area that was the ancient and mysterious religious rites of Hawaiian Chieftains. For this they traveled by boat to Fern Grotto.

On Kona they saw Hawaii National Park, Kilauaea Volcano, Halemaumau Crater, Tree Fern Forest, National Park Museum, had lunch at the famous Volcano House and toured the city of Hilo. This included the Orchid Gardens, Rainbow Falls and the vast Parker Ranch, the world's second largest cattle ranch. Another day it was Kona Coast Cruise aboard a glass bottom boat and the coral gardens.

A sunset dinner sail took them back to Honolulu for the remainder of their stay. This cruise was along Waikiki Beach to Diamond Head. Another tour included Pearl Harbor, Iolani Palace, Punchbowl, Pacific National Cemetery, and the little grass shack of Robert Louis Stevenson. Also the Polynesian Cultural Center for a dinner show.

The Circle Island Tour, a 109 mile trip, took the tourists to sugar and pineapple fields, a Mormon temple, Buddhist Temple, Hawaiian Royal Mausoleum, Coconut Island, Kaneohe Air Station, Schofield Barracks, Pearl Harbor and downtown Honolulu.

On the Pearl Harbor Cruise the group saw Battleship Row, the sunken USS Utah and Arizona, Honolulu Harbor and Leeward Oahu.

A Hawaiian luau provided an evening of fun, food, songs and dancing. On their own time Mrs. Yosten and her sisters visited the Hilton Hotel in Honolulu where Lawrence Welk and his orchestra were playing.

Mrs. Mary Wolf and granddaughter Charlotte Hermes of Gainesville visited the Adam Wolf family Wednesday afternoon checking on one of the twins who has a broken arm.

Muenster Wins Awards at CSL State Convention

Muenster carried off most of the prizes that were awarded at the state convention of the Catholic State League in Victoria July 14-16.

Miss Kim Reiter, Muenster CYO's candidate for Miss CYO, won the state title at the youth rally, the group's CYO scrap book took first place honors, Muenster's St. Joseph Society was first in membership, and Miss Margie Felderhoff won first in the NCWU essay contest and Miss Phyllis Bindel was second in the youth essay contest. Miss Felderhoff's essay has been forwarded for national competition.

This is the second consecutive year Muenster's CYO candidate has won the state title and the second win for the scrapbook. They brought back the large traveling trophy that has been in circulation for seven years and becomes the property of a youth organization that wins it for three consecutive years. The local group also received a small trophy in remembrance of having won first on the scrapbook last year.

St. Joseph Society won a statue and a cash award on its membership campaign.

The 71st convention theme of CSL was themed on Faith, Education and Involvement. Some 1500 delegates and visitors attended from throughout Texas.

Three bishops honored the convention by their presence. The Most Reverend John J. Cassata, Bishop of Fort Worth, spoke on "Involvement in Truth," and Bishop Steven A. Leven of San Antonio addressed the assemblage on "Faith." Bishop Thomas Tschoepe attended from Dallas.

Rt. Rev. Abbot Alfred Hoenig of Corpus Christi spiritual director of the women's section, was present.

A workshop "Religious Education" was conducted by Sisters of the Incarnate Word and Blessed Sacrament. Another workshop, "Birthright," was headed by Mrs. M. O. Turner, director of Birthright Incorporated of San Antonio. During the closing session, Amarillo was chosen as the convention city for the 72nd convention in 1973.

Attending from Muenster were Messrs. and Mmes. Arthur Endres, Joe Hoenig, Dennis Walterscheid, Wilfred Bindel, Dennis Hess and B. J. Swirczynski, Guy, Benny and Brian Bindel and Misses Susan Endres, Phyllis Bindel, Doreen Pels, Cheryl Bayer, Janet Knabe and Kim Reiter.

Lindsay was represented by Lenny Hermes, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Nortman, Dorothy Hermes, Ray Hermes, Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Fuhrmann, Misses Martha and Betty Fuhrmann. Martha Fuhrmann won third place on her essay.

Party for Ball Team

Members of Tuggle Motor Company's Little League team ended the season Monday night with a party after the game. Boys and their parents went to the City Park for ice cream and cake. Hostesses were Mmes. Jerry Walterscheid, Fred Knabe and Mel Stephens. Mrs. Walterscheid baked the cake, topped it with a miniature baseball diamond and figurines and inscribed names of the players on the sides.

Help Banks Check Robbery Threat

The next time you visit your neighborhood bank you may find your favorite teller behind a transparent wall. The bank isn't trying to put her on display, but to discourage would-be bandits.

No doubt about it, bank robbery is one of the fastest growing "businesses" in this country. From 1960 to 1970 the number of bank holdups in the United States increased more than six-fold — from 225 to 1,416, according to a report by the Insurance and Protective Committee of the American Bankers Association. This report also noted that cash losses from these robberies soared from $1,208,814 to $9,557,000 during that period.

The exposed almost "help-yourself" tellers' compartments at most banks provide too easy access to bandits. To reduce the chances of robbery, many banks are enclosing the tellers' compartments with large sheets of clear Plexiglas acrylic plastic.

Banks are installing shields of Plexiglas because they eliminate casual theft and discourage armed robbery by restricting access to bank assets and personnel without creating a fortress-like environment. How large an area the shield covers and thickness of individual shields depends upon the bank management's assessment of its security problem. A number of banks are using 1/4-inch or thicker clear Plexiglas sheet when a combination of separation and protection from small arms fire is desired.

While affording exceptional security, shields of Plexiglas don't inhibit the normal flow of business. The panels are so transparent there is only a minimal effect of separation. With some installations, conversation between tellers and customers is carried on through "communicators," small circular openings in the center of the plastic sheets. At other locations, the protective panels are staggered slightly to provide "sound channels." However, the spaces between the sheets of Plexiglas are too narrow to permit a robber to push his hand between them.

To reduce the chances for robberies, many banks are enclosing the tellers' compartments with sheets of clear Plexiglas acrylic plastic. The acrylic shields deter would-be holdup men without interfering with the normal flow of business.

With both types of Plexiglas panels, money, checks and other business papers are handled via a pass-through tray of heavy-gauge metal set in the counter top. The acrylic sheet is set almost flush with the tray, so no weapon can be thrust under the plastic panel.

The security panels of Plexiglas have other significant advantages. For one thing, bank personnel report they feel more secure. There is a sturdy barrier between them and would-be attackers, so they feel more at ease with customers, particularly new ones. Also, the public's feeling of confidence in a bank is enhanced by this type of security measure. It's tangible evidence of the care a bank takes with its assets.

Dividers and shields of Plexiglas sheet are relatively economical. Depending on thickness, Plexiglas sheet costs approximately one-third less than bullet-resisting glass. Installation is easy because of acrylic's light weight — half that of glass — and ease of fabrication. The large acrylic sheets can be cut to almost any shape to fit around a teller's window or regular counter areas. In addition, the plastic panels can be heated and formed to create a curved glazing around counters and pillars.

In adopting security measures based on Plexiglas, banks have concluded that exposed cash is far too tempting a target for bandits. Common sense calls for reducing access to make robbery as difficult as possible. When security must be combined with a pleasing appearance, the best answer is clear Plexiglas sheet.

Plexiglas is a trademark of Rohm and Haas Company, Reg. U.S. Pat. Off.

Well, What Do You Know?

fun, games and knowledge

by MARTHA GLAUBER SHAPP, Editor, The New Book of Knowledge

Can you tell temperature by touch?

You can tell whether something is warm or cold simply by feeling it. But this is not always a good way. About 300 years ago an Englishman named John Locke performed an experiment. He showed that our sense of touch is a poor way to tell temperature. Locke took three pans and filled one of them with water that was about as hot as he could stand. He filled another pan with lukewarm water. And he filled a third with very cold water. He placed his left hand in the hot water and his right hand in the cold water. He kept his hands in the pans for a full minute, then took his hands out of the pans and put them both into the pan of lukewarm water. He found that the water felt cold to his left hand. And it felt hot to his right hand. He concluded that our sense of touch is not an accurate way of telling temperature.

Is there such a thing as red snow?

Snow or rain can be red if the air contains red dust particles. Snowflakes or raindrops forming around these dust particles take on a reddish color. Red snows and red rains occur in those parts of Europe—especially Italy—where the air is filled with dust particles from the red sands of the Sahara desert.

Why are ships christened with champagne?

In olden days ships were christened with wine or water. The Romans and Greeks used water as a sign of purification in blessing a new ship. Red wine was later adopted for launchings. At first, wine was drunk as a good-luck toast as the ship slid into the water. Champagne came into use because it was more expensive and was thought more fitting to the occasion. At first the champagne was poured on the ship. Now the champagne bottle is smashed on the prow. The bottle is enclosed in a metal mesh covering to protect against flying glass.

What makes curly hair?

Imagine that you cut across a shaft of straight hair and a shaft of curly hair, as you might cut across two tree trunks. If you were to look at the cut section of straight hair under the microscope, you would see that it is round. The cut section of curly hair is oval or flat. The flatter the hair is, the more easily it bends and the curlier it is.

THE INFORMED CONSUMER

By Crawford C. Martin
Attorney General of Texas

"How do I know if I'm really getting a bargain when I buy something with 'cents off,' 'introductory offer' or 'economy size'?" Consumers I've talked to throughout Texas ask me about these special price promotions, which are often confusing and misleading.

The Federal Trade Commission is very concerned with this problem and recently issued new regulations to help the consumer when buying nonfood consumer products. The Food and Drug Administration is writing its own regulations to make them compatible with the FTC's. They'll be completed soon, and will apply the same kinds of controls to food, drugs, and cosmetics. Let's take a close look at these rules and see just what they mean to you.

"Introductory offers," under the new regulations, can be made for only six months. They are limited to a new product or one that has been changed in a functional way, such as a soap which adds "deodorant protection." The introductory offer must be made at a lower price than what will normally be charged after the introductory offer.

You've probably seen one brand of a product offered in "economy," "family" and "budget" size, and know how confusing it can be determining which is the best bargain. Now, "economy size" promotions may not be made unless a company offers only one-size package with a label designating it as a money-saving size, such as "economy" or "family." The company must also at the same time offer the same brand of the commodity in at least one smaller size.

The economy size package must sell at a substantially reduced price per unit of weight, volume, measure, or count. More specifically, it must save the consumer at least 5% of the actual price of any other package of the same brand. The new regulations for "cents off" basically concerns the method of informing the consumer that the price of the product is a stated number of "cents off" the regular price. The company must supply the retail store with a sign or shelf marker clearly showing the "cents off" and the "regular price." For example: "Regular price, 67c, 8c off, you pay 59c."

As of June 30, 1972, the product's package or label must also clearly show that the price marked represents the savings in the specific amount of "cents off" the "regular price."

These new regulations will guarantee that you really will get the savings promised by "cents off," "introductory offer" and "economy size." The Federal Trade Commission has made the chore of distinguishing between real and implied savings a little easier for all of us.

Safety Shoes Are First Requirement For Farm Safety

When it comes to personal protective equipment on the ranch or farm, one of the least dispensable items is the safety shoe.

Accidents involving the feet and toes account for about one out of every 10 disabling work injuries. In agricultural work, surveys show, however, the frequency to be similar, because farm and ranch workers are involved in jobs that expose the feet to a variety of hazards like dropping heavy materials, getting the feet caught under a rotary mower, being stepped on by animals and run-over by machinery or stepping on sharp objects.

The National Safety Council recommends the use of shoes with metal toe boxes and puncture and skid-resistant soles if a person performs construction and building maintenance work; handles dairy animals, horses or other livestock; operates rotary mowing equipment; works with timber, uses axes or grubs stumps; handles heavy objects, farm supplies and other materials; runs and maintains farm equipment and operates power tools.

Safety foot wear generally is not much more expensive than regular shoes. For work in wet conditions boots or rubber shoes with metal box toes are available as are shoes with additional protection such as reinforced insoles and metatarsus and shin protection.

Safety shoes can be purchased at many shoe stores, especially those that handle work shoes, and from safety suppliers, mail order firms and their retail outlets.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

OUR SOIL ★ OUR STRENGTH

The U.S. Department of Agriculture which includes the Soil Conservation Service has released a precautionary statement relating to the safe use of pesticides. In keeping with Farm Safety Week, July 24-28 this statement is listed below and should be observed by those who use pesticides on Farms and Ranches or in the home, yard, or garden.

—Pesticides used improperly can be injurious to man, animal, and plants. Follow the directions and heed all precautions on the labels.

—Store pesticides in original containers under lock and key — out of the reach of children and animals — and away from food and feed.

—Apply pesticides selectively and carefully so that they do not endanger humans, livestock, crops, beneficial insects, fish, and wildlife. Do not apply pesticides when there is danger of drift, when honey bees or other pollinating insects are visiting plants, or in ways that may contaminate water or leave illegal residues.

—Avoid prolonged inhalation of pesticide sprays or dusts wear protective clothing and equipment if specified on the container. As a minimum the person using the pesticides should be fully clothed.

—If your hands become contaminated with a pesticide, do not eat, drink, or smoke until you have washed. In case a pesticide is swallowed or gets in the eyes, follow the first aid treatment given on the labels, and get prompt medical attention. If a pesticide is spilled on your skin or clothing, remove clothing immediately and wash skin thoroughly.

—Do not clean spray equipment or dump excess spray material near ponds, streams, or wells. Because it is difficult to remove all traces of herbicides from equipment, do not use the same equipment for insecticides or fungicides that you use for herbicides.

—Dispose of empty pesticide containers promptly. Have them buried at a sanitary land-fill, or crush and bury them in a level, isolated place. In town you should wrap containers in several layers of newspapers and place them in your trash cans.

NOTE: Some states have restrictions on the use of certain pesticides. Check your state and local regulations. Also, because regulations of pesticides are under constant review by the Federal Environmental Protection Agency, consult your County agricultural agent or State Extension specialist to be sure the intended use is still registered.

AN ORDINANCE FIXING AND DETERMINING THE GENERAL SERVICE RATE TO BE CHARGED FOR SALES OF NATURAL GAS TO RESIDENTIAL AND COMMERCIAL CONSUMERS WITHIN THE CITY LIMITS OF MUENSTER, COOKE COUNTY, TEXAS, AND PROVIDING FOR THE MANNER IN WHICH SUCH RATE MAY BE CHANGED, ADJUSTED AND AMENDED.

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF MUENSTER:

SECTION 1. Effective with the first gas bills rendered from and after thirty (30) days from the date of final passage of this ordinance, the maximum general service rate for sales of natural gas rendered to residential and commercial consumers within the city limits of Muenster by Lone Star Gas Company, a Texas corporation, its successors and assigns, is hereby fixed and determined as follows:

800 cu. ft. or fraction thereof	$1.900 Gross; $1.71 Net
Next 1,200 cu. ft. at $1.600 per Mcf Gross; $1.44 per Mcf Net
Next 3,000 cu. ft. at 1.000 per Mcf Gross; .90 per Mcf Net
Next 20,000 cu. ft. at .700 per Mcf Gross; .63 per Mcf Net
Next 25,000 cu. ft. at .644 per Mcf Gross; .58 per Mcf Net
All Over

No gas bill will be rendered to any residential or commercial consumer served under the above rate not consuming any gas during any monthly billing period.

ADJUSTMENTS

The amount of each net monthly bill computed at the above-stated rates shall be subject to the following adjustments: Plus or minus the amount of any increase or decrease, respectively, above or below the 42.5 cents per Mcf level in the intracompany city gate charge as authorized by the Board of Commissioners of the State of Texas or the regulatory body having jurisdiction for gas delivered to Lone Star Gas Company's distribution system for sale to residential and commercial consumers where such changes are caused by increases or decreases in the cost of gas purchased by the Company; plus an amount equivalent to the proportionate part of any new tax, or increased tax, or any other governmental imposition, rental, fee or charge (except state, county, city and special district ad valorem taxes and taxes on net income) levied, assessed or imposed subsequent to April 1, 1972, upon or allocable to the Company's distribution operations, by any new or amended law, ordinance or contract. Each gross monthly bill shall be adjusted proportionately. Company, at its option, may forego the application of any adjustment if such adjustment would result in an increase in the monthly bill; however, failure of Company to apply any adjustment shall not constitute a waiver of Company's right from time to time, or at any time, to make any adjustment, in whole or in part, in any subsequent current monthly bill that may be applicable to such bill.

Net rate shall apply to all bills paid within ten days from monthly billing date; gross rate shall be applicable thereafter.

The above rate is applicable to each residential and commercial consumer per meter per month or for any part of a month for which gas is used at the same location.

In addition to the aforesaid rates, Company shall have the right to collect such reasonable charges as are necessary to conduct its business and to carry out its reasonable rules and regulations in effect.

SECTION 2. The rate set forth in Section 1 may be changed and amended by either the City or Company furnishing gas in the manner provided by law. Service hereunder is subject to the orders of regulatory bodies having jurisdiction, and to the Company's Rules and Regulations currently on file in the Company's office.

SECTION 3. It is hereby found and determined that the meetings at which this ordinance was passed were open to the public, as required by Texas law, and that advance public notice of the time, place and purpose of said meetings was given, and that this rate ordinance is in compliance with the applicable general criteria issued by the Price Commission under the Economic Stabilization Act of 1970, as amended.

TP&L's planning now for the grandkids of the 1980's

The babies (and grandbabies) of the 1980's in TP&L-territory will have all the electric power they'll need because, right now, we're planning and building to meet the needs of the 1980's... and beyond.

Just this past year, TP&L spent over $100 million on new generating units, additions and improvements to transmission and distribution lines and other facilities necessary to produce and supply electricity. Recently, two new generating units have been placed in service. Still other units which are now under construction or in advanced stages of planning are scheduled to be put into operation in 1973, 1975, 1976, 1977 and 1978.

Due to rising prices in materials and labor, the cost of this necessary construction will be greater than ever before experienced by the Company. However, keeping pace with the ever-increasing need for electric power is a major part of TP&L's obligations to its customers and TP&L will meet this obligation in the future, as it has in the past.

sengers. All of that without one fatality when there were a number of high fatality accidents by other planes.

That could be explained partly as luck but we have to remember that luck has a tendency to show up more often when performance is good. So, even if this was partly luck, the record is still phenomenal, and the luck really should be credited to excellence.

Considering this fact we now have lots of consolation over loss of the SST project. Perhaps the 747 rather than the SST is the plane of tomorrow. Perhaps not the first in speed or range or capacity, but likely the first in safety, economy and all around service to the public.

We'd like to know that US can and will build an SST. But at the same time we have a feeling that Boeing's 747 will remain the first choice of passengers around the world.

Fuhrmann Family Reunion Includes Mass and Supper

Members of the Fuhrmann families gathered again this year for a reunion which included Mass, a covered dish supper and a songfest. They got together on July 19 at Lindsay.

First reunion was held on July 15, 1908, the feast of St. Henry and successive reunions were held whenever possible near that date.

For this year's event, Father Joseph Fuhrmann came from Van Buren, Ark., to be principal celebrant of the 5 p.m. Mass in St. Peter Church. Con-celebrating with him were relatives, Father David Flusche, Father Nicholas Fuhrmann, Father Bruno Fuhrmann, and Father Jerry Mosman, and Father Damian Wewers, Lindsay pastor and Father Bede Mitchel of Muenster. Father David gave the sermon. Brother Henry Fuhrmann and Brother Louis Fuhrmann attended.

The supper party with songfest was held in the school cafeteria. Relatives attended from far and near, those attending from the greatest distance coming from Georgia, Texas and Arkansas towns were well represented.

Six of the eight remaining children of the 12 of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Fuhrmann who attended the first reunion in 1908 attended the 1972 gathering. They are Father Joseph, Mrs. A. C. Flusche, Tony, Willie and H. S. Fuhrmann of Lindsay, and Mrs. Alfons Koesler Sr. of Muenster. Mrs. Anna Loerwald of Gainesville and Mrs. Max Koesler of Vinita, Okla., were unable to attend.

The group recalled the first reunion which was comparatively small and the grand celebration in 1958 on the golden anniversary of that reunion.

Sister Catherine Henry attended with her parents and family, the H. S. Fuhrmanns. She had a week's vacation coming from San Antonio. Her teaching assignment when the fall term opens will be at Iota, La.

Prehistoric Stegosaurus, which weighed 6½ tons, had a brain weighing only 2½ ounces.
