NUMBER 31

Hubert Humphrey, with obvious intention of convincing the Democratic convention that he's a better candidate than George McGovern, told the nation Monday that McGovern would be a calamity to the party unless he moderates considerably on some of his ultra liberal ideas.

Of course we know as well as Humphrey that this is just a foxy scheme to dump the present forerunner of the party race. There is no such thing as changing to a less liberal platform and convincing the voters that it is his true image. They've heard from him before. They know what he stands for. And in case some forget, or did not know, the Republican opposition will go all out to show him at his liberal worst.

The astute old politician, HHH rightfully is telling the party leaders that McGovern can't win on his own platform, and letting those leaders figure out for themselves that the public will not be impressed even if McGovern tries to change.

The problem in Hubert's scheme, however, is that he offers such a very small improvement. As a dedicated member of Americans for Democratic Action, Humphrey long ago labeled himself as one of the country's principal liberals. Though probably not so far left as George, he's still too liberal for most of the country. Besides, he lost to Nixon four years ago, which puts him at a disadvantage for this contest.

So, the two leaders in the contest for Democratic nomination are both unacceptable to the party, a fact which Ted Kennedy must be thinking about as he gradually works up to admitting that he's available for a draft. But he's another ultra liberal, little different from George and Hubert, with the Kennedy political charm as a possible asset and the Chappaquiddick incident as positive liability.

Really the Demos have a serious problem on their hands. Their leading prospects are all too liberal for the party's good. On the other side is George Wallace, who was going strong in the primaries until the attempted assassination ended his campaigning. If given a chance he could run better than any of the other Democrats, but obviously the party cannot tolerate a standard bearer so far to the right.

It seems that no matter whom the party picks it will have trouble. It has two extremes and either seems a lot closer to the GOP than to the other. We can expect lots of Wallace fans to go for Nixon rather than McGovern. We can also expect McGovern people to vote for Nixon rather than Wallace.

This kind of thinking may be figured as a factor in the predicted Nixon victory in November. However it also seems that the president is due to get lots of votes on his own merit. The big issue, concerning the Vietnam war, is looking better by the day and may be completely ended before November. Nixon is bringing the boys home on schedule. And recently his retaliatory mining and bombing operation has so blunted the North Vietnam offensive that South Vietnam is now conceded a fair chance of kicking out the invaders completely. Good signs are also read into the diplomatic news. Kissinger's trip to Peking while the Russian big boss went to Hanoi has been interpreted as a double peace feeler. Perhaps it's also significant that the Reds at the Paris conference, who used to shun the meetings, are begging lately to have the talks resumed.

We're for the recent Nixon statement saying US will continue to apply the pressure until our prisoners are released and the North Vietnamese end their aggression in all of Southeast Asia, including Laos and Cambodia. As a matter of pride we want our country to win this thing, to bring back the prisoners, and to accomplish our original mission of turning back the aggression.

However, one thing still bugs this column. Why do we offer to settle for just stopping the attempted red takeover? According to centuries of war history any country that tried to subdue another laid itself open to conquest by the other. We wonder why success can't be carried to the extent of letting South Vietnam liberate

Roger Taylor Buys Muenster Hatchery

A change of ownership in one of the older business firms of this community was announced this week by Clive Gobble. He has sold the Muenster Hatchery, better known in recent years as Muenster Pest Control Service, to Roger Taylor of Houston.

Gobble said that Taylor bought the building along with equipment and supplies for control of insects, weeds and plant diseases. He did not buy any of the hatchery equipment or supplies.

Instead Gobble has arranged for an auction at which all the items not sold to Taylor are to be sold. It will be held this week Saturday at the hatchery with Bill Martin of Lindsay as auctioneer. The list of items includes a number of antiques, tools, household items etc.

Taylor expects to be here and take over the business on July 1. And he intends to add tree pruning to his herbicide and insecticide spraying business. Gobble will help him for a while, until he becomes acquainted with the business.

Taylor is a son of Mrs. Lorena Taylor, attended school here, is married to the former Jane Endres, is now employed in Houston.

Gobble has owned the hatchery since November 15, 1948 and started the pest control business in 1954.

Postal Center at Denton Installs Area Processing

The newest innovation of the United States Postal Service—Area Mail Processing—is to be installed at the Denton, TX Post Office within the next two weeks, Postmaster Arthur Endres announced today.

"The program is intended to speed the ultimate delivery of the mail and to gain maximum efficiency and economy through full utilization of Denton's post office," Endres said.

One electric cancelling machine is available at the Denton Post Office to move the increased mail volume from the associate offices.

"The Denton Post Office," Endres pointed out, "is a Sectional Center Facility, and the new system will revolve entirely around that capacity and that function."

"The program will take effect June 29," he said.

Area Mail processing is a plan whereby virtually all mail originating within a Sectional Center Area, including any or all of the associate offices of the Sectional Center Facility, will be consolidated at the SCF for complete preparation and processing for outgoing dispatch.

All mail deposited in the out-of-town street collection box or the out-of-town letter drops at the associate offices will be transferred to the SCF for processing and will bear the postmark designated for the SCF area.

The Denton SCF postmark will read, "U. S. Postal Service, TX 762," along with the date and AM-PM designation. The city postmark of Denton and each individual associate office will not be changed.

Mail deposited in a designated drop unit at a post office or a letter box labeled either "LOCAL" or "MUENSTER" will be postmarked at the local office of origin with the name of that office. Each postmaster will have deposit boxes and letter drop units designated for this purpose. All metered mail will bear the postmark of the office of origin.

It was emphasized by Endres that no office will lose its local postmark.

He asked specifically that customers no longer use the word "City" as an address in place of the name of the city of destination. "Obviously," he said, "in this system, a letter with just 'City' could lose its identity."

Post offices affected by this program in the Denton area are:

Bowie, Nocona, Decatur, Pilot Point, Gainesville, Roanoke, Justin, Saint Jo, Keller, Sanger, Muenster, and Whitesboro.

Centennial Attendance At Rosston Tops 3000

Rosston celebrated its 100th birthday on Saturday, June 17 with an old time party that drew over 3000 visitors to the small community in southwest Cooke County. The program began at 9:00 a.m. with a worship service in front of the Rosston store. Rev. Robert Young of Dallas gave a brief talk and Becky Young and Sally Green also of Dallas sang. Mitchell McCormick, Dallas presented guitar music and Father Bede Mitchell of Muenster also spoke briefly. The theme of the celebration "For God and Country" was emphasized throughout all plans.

For Centennial "Queen for a Day," Mrs. John Richardson was chosen. Other nominees were Mrs. Fern Fortenberry, Mrs. D. P. Wilson, Mrs. T. R. Settle, Mrs. Guy Griggs, Mrs. Fannie Brandon and Mrs. Opal Berry. Nominees ages were between 65 and 85. Master of ceremonies Bud Ford then crowned Mrs. Richardson; badged the sheriff Bill English and deputy Jim Harry and swore in the justice of peace George Berry.

The parade followed, and included the Tarrant County Posse, Gainesville Riding Club, Forestburg Riding Club, Queen's float, covered wagons, antique cars and the Senior Rodeo Queen Mrs. Ruby Holcomb, age 80, from Graham who rode side saddle. She is the former Ruby English of Rosston, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Bailey English.

There were several eye catching floats. Three Caudle sisters rode in a covered wagon with Marvin Brashear of Bowie to commemorate the time they arrived as teenagers in the Rosston area in 1917 by covered wagon with their parents from Haskell County. They are Irene, Mrs. B. A. Harry of Rosston, Rose, Mrs. Clarence Rice and Kate, Mrs. Hugh Robeson of Alvord.

Another float carried a brush arbor with a group dressed in pioneer style. Joe Brown directed them in gospel singing during the parade. And there was a barber shop quartet on another float.

Welcoming the many visitors were Mrs. Henry De Borden, age 93 and Mrs. Delia Totty, almost 90 who live near Gainesville now. Both spoke briefly.

During the afternoon there were contests for young and old alike, sack races, hog calling, turkey gobbling, greased pig races and others. There was a beauty contest to choose a queen to reign for the next 100 years. Arlene Richardson, granddaughter of the Centennial Queen was chosen. Other contestants were Debbie Ford, Marlys Durham, Syretta Morby, Kathy Ford and Linda

Death Ends Long Illness Of Elizabeth Koelzer, 81

Death in Muenster Hospital at 9 a.m., last Saturday ended the long illness of Miss Elizabeth Koelzer, 81, a resident of Muenster for about 70 years.

10 Picnic Tables For City Park Built by Jaycees

People coming to the Jaycee picnic on Sunday July 2 will find more accommodations awaiting them than last year. Ten new picnic tables are there — all metal and redwood with attached benches for about eight persons on each side. It means seating space for 160 more people.

Though ready for the event, the tables are not finished. They're to be mounted on concrete slabs later in the summer. This project is a part of the park improvement program for which funds are to be raised by the picnic.

Co-Chairman Harold Flusche said this week that the Jaycees are going all out to offer lots of attractions. They'll have a parade and contest of decorated bikes and trikes for the kids. And they remind interested people that costumes won't help — only decorations on the vehicles will count.

There'll also be a clown on the loose, fish pond, throw games and hayride, a white elephant sale, horseshoe tournament, dance, and auction, plus the usual abundance of sandwiches, candies and cold drinks.

Jaycees urge everybody to be there and have a big time for a good cause.

Denison Caravan Boosts Centennial June 24 to July 1

A group of bearded men and women and children in long dresses were in Muenster at 3:15 last Friday to boost the Denison Centennial celebration, which will begin this week Saturday and extend through next week.

Their activity included a few of the old time songs, square dancing, a speech inviting people to the celebration and distribution of placards and leaflets.

Feature attraction of the big show is an outdoor theatrical production "Century of Pride" dramatizing the hundred years of Denison's development. It has a cast of 428 persons, will be presented five times at Munson Stadium beginning at 8:30. Some of the other events are an old fashioned bargain day, sidewalk art show, barbecue, carnival, Katy day dress and beard judging, Kangaroo Karts and a big closing parade.

W. G. Jander of Benton, Arkansas, spent last week in Cooke County visiting his niece and family the Charles Davidsons of Marysville and his sister Mrs. O. B. Siegmund of Gainesville and many old friends here. Mr. Jander, 84, a Muenster native comes once a year and has not missed a summer visit in twelve years. For many years he arranged to be here to attend the Muenster Homecoming picnic.

Gas Rate Increase Receives City's Conditional Okay

The rate increase requested by Lone Star Gas Company received initial approval at Monday night's city council meeting but is still subject to two more votes following as many readings.

Members decided that the 7½ per cent raise is justified on principle, since the company needs to meet higher costs like everyone else. But before giving a final OK the council wants assurance that the raise is spread evenly so that all consumers will share in it. It will not want the increases to apply only to certain rate categories.

The members indicated that they expect to be satisfied on that point in the next meeting, and if so will take their second and third votes then.

Also okayed by the council was approval for the Jaycees to use the city park for their annual benefit picnic July 2. The problems of vandalism and trespassing in the city park, and especially in the pool, were discussed with Sheriff Bill Pratt, who suggested adequate warning in ordinances and signs and stiff fines for violators. Councilmen also considered passing a law declaring the park off limits during certain hours.

Very welcome street improvement approved by the city is an oiling job on Cross Street from the park exit to South Main. Heavy traffic has been raising lots of dust from the gravel street.

Ronnie Hess Gets Track Scholarship

Ronnie Hess, who racked up a number of records on Sacred Heart's track team last season as a miler and half miler, has just received a scholarship from Eastern New Mexico University at Portales as a member of the cross country and track teams. The cross country team currently rates as one of the top five of the nation.

The scholarship covers cost of tuition and books, and a job will help cover other expenses. He'll be working under Bill Silverburg, once a roommate of the great Jim Ryan of Kansas State.

Ronnie expects to be in top condition when he reports to school late in August. He's been running an average of 7 to 8 miles a day this summer.

Something Old, Something New

Whether describing a political candidate or corn flakes, there is one familiar adjective: NEW. It is Madison Avenue's sine que non. The new politician comes from a new acting studio, not the old smoke-filled room. The new morality is really the old immorality. The new freedom is old promiscuity. The new marriage is the old Roman orgy.

and incontinence to Freud, concluding that the Austrian "took the individual off the hook of moral responsibility." Yes, the new morality, so highly touted by liberals, is really re-hashed Freud.

Freud, like Lenin, was a strident atheist who wrote vituperative attacks on Christianity. In fact, one purpose of Freud's psychoanalysis was to rid man of the "neuroses of religion."

Example after example is given by Dr. Sokoloff to show that modern liberalism is merely corrupt Freud. Its ethics are contaminated with permissiveness that vitiates it.

But there is hope. Dr. Sokoloff, author of some two dozen books and an internationally famous biologist-philosopher, disproves many of Freud's theses with modern science. Religious rebirth among Western nations, especially their youth, is another reason for hope.

"The misery of man and the death of all that is decent in society is unavoidable if we reject God's guidance in our affairs and deny the immortality of the soul," writes the author. He thinks that American liberalism is dying and that the old morality still has a chance.

US Farmers' Stake in Freedom

A farmer needs capital of $250,000 for a 480-acre hog-corn farm in eastern Nebraska, and he needs $1,765,000 for a 22,000-acre cow-calf ranch in northern Nebraska, according to Philip A. Henderson, economist of the University of Nebraska. A study by him was quoted in Successful Farming.

The study assumes that a young man with the ability to operate a farm or ranch profitably could make $14,000 to $18,000 in a non-farm job. Land, trucks, tractors, machinery, silos, cars and all the other materials needed on a modern farm make the farmer of today a true capitalist-entrepreneur. He needs money at every turn. In addition to his vast personal industry, he needs good fortune by way of weather for corn and grasses and other crops, and his animals have to remain in good health. The government can make or break him in a number of ways.

The day of the very small farmer, with 40 to 50 acres, is becoming less and less profitable. The average farm size is more than 350 acres. The agriculturist of today is a man of culture as well as many abilities. Karl Marx was wrong in a number of his assumptions, but nowhere more so than in his remarks about the "idiocy of village life." With the publication of books and periodicals on an enormous scale, and the addition of radio, television and the telephone, the farmer is at least as smart as the average man.

There is good reason to look after the independence of American farmers. Without being badgered and hamstrung at every turn by his government (as happens to farmers under socialism) the average American farmer produces food for 44 persons, with the number still rising. About 95 per cent of American farms are family owned. May they ever prosper.

The woman was shopping in the supermarket and as she went from counter to counter, she kept humming and singing to herself.

"You seem to be very happy," the clerk remarked, smiling in the face of all this good cheer.

"I have every reason to be," replied the woman. "I have a beautiful home, two lovely children, a comfortable sum of money in the bank, my husband's life is insured for $250,000 — and he's very sick."

According to The Elks Magazine, "Trees and grass can serve a practical purpose in addition to making your home more beautiful. The Department of Agriculture reports that a barrier of trees in combination with a grassy lawn can cut down traffic noise by as much as 65 percent. This is because trees and grass both absorb noise."

Combination Health Plan Is Better

Coming up in Congress are new ideas for expanding health care—almost 80 separate bills. The most extreme plan would establish a single massive Federal program costing an estimated $70 billion annually. Another of the major proposals would rely primarily on private insurance carriers and cost approximately $8 billion a year.

The first would require a tremendous additional bureaucracy to handle millions of claims, plus a large "police department" to monitor hospital, physician, and laboratory fees and charges.

The other is a three-step proposal which would: 1) mandate a minimum standard of health insurance for each employer to provide for his employees and their dependents; 2) create a pool which would pay the health insurance premiums for those who could not afford such payments; and 3) continue medicare for the aged, blind, and the disabled.

At the other extreme the least expensive plan is one which would cover catastrophic illnesses only. While this plan is easier on the pocketbook, it does not treat the root causes of skyrocketing health-care costs, but prescribes only for one of the factors. The best buy is not always the cheapest nor the most expensive.

It makes good sense to weld the benefits of existing private medical care and private health insurance plans with a government program to assure that everyone will be eligible for adequate medical treatment. Under a total government take-over, the cure for runaway health expenses might be worse than the admitted ills of rising costs and insufficient facilities which now exist.

NOTES FROM THE LIBRARY

By Bettie Luke

We are having a busy summer at the Library participating in the annual reading program, the Story Hour on Wednesday 10 a.m. - 11 a.m. and providing time for youngsters using the visual aids from the Cooke County Department of Education every Tuesday and Thursday 10 a.m. - 11 a.m. Anyone with a reading problem is invited to participate. We also have material to help students who have problems in Math, etc.

We are gratified to see so many youngsters coming to the Story Hour - only two more story hours this summer - so don't miss the fun. We are very grateful to all the ladies who are making it a big success. Many are participating in the Reading Program. We hope every child will read twelve or more books to be eligible for a certificate signed by the State Librarian. "Come and read with us."

Darlington, Wisc., Lafayette County News: "A member of the older generation stated, 'I survived WW-II, three auto accidents, 2 bad marriages, 4 grandchildren, 2 depressions, 13 company strikes, 3 mortgages, and a bankruptcy - and some fresh teenager tells me: You don't know what life is all about.'"

Sheila Hennigan And Jean Gebman Say Nuptial Vows

Miss Sheila Marie Hennigan became the bride of Jean Renee Gebman of Santa Monica, California, Saturday afternoon at 5 p.m. in Sacred Heart Church. A cousin of the bride, Father Jerry Mosman, assistant pastor of St. Bartholomew Church in Fort Worth heard the double ring vows and read the Nuptial Mass.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pat Hennigan Sr. and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Gebman of Syracuse, New York. Mixed yellow and tangerine gladioli and white Killian daisies and candelabra of votive lights entwined with daisies were used to decorate the altar space.

Presented by her father, the bride chose a formal gown of diamond white sheer organza over peau and Venice lace. The highrise waistline lent a special elegance to the demibelled skirt and the entire bodice was overlaid with Venice lace showing a solitaire neckline with matching lace on the Dresden sleeves and cuffs. A tapered head piece overlaid with lace held a full length double layered Mantilla edged in matching lace that extended into a full chapel length. She wore a heart shaped diamond necklace, a gift of the groom and carried a cascade of stephanotis, daisies, yellow sweetheart roses and gypsophylla and crystal rosary beads, a gift of her grandmother Mrs. William Sandman.

Miss Janie Knauf of Austin was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Misses Dolores and Ann Sicking of Fort Worth, former room-mates of the bride. They wore identical gowns of sheer organza. The bodices were yellow with high necklines trimmed with a stand up pleated ruffle extending down the front to the high rise waistline. The long full sleeves were finished with a matching pleated ruffle. The skirts were also long and full and fashioned of a sheer multi-floral tangerine, yellow and white on yellow background. They wore white lacy picture hats and carried European baskets of yellow daisies, gold pom-poms, gypsophylla and tangerine sweetheart roses.

Celeste Gebman of Syracuse, New York, sister of the groom was flower girl and dressed identically to the bridesmaids. She handed a basket of white and yellow daisies to the bride for presentation at the Blessed Virgin's altar.

The bride's mother was attired in sheer apricot dacron with matching accessories and the groom's mother wore a pale apple green dress with white accessories. Both mothers had cymbidium orchid corsages.

Clark Gebman of Syracuse, New York, was his brother's best man. Tim and Mike Hennigan, bride's brothers were groomsmen. Tom Hennigan, a brother and Steve Rohmer a cousin were ushers, and Joe Hennigan, youngest brother of the bride was ring bearer.

Presenting the offertory gifts were the groom's sister Ann Gebman of Syracuse and Tom Hennigan bride's brother and Mr. and Mrs. Rex Simons, bride's cousins of Dover, New Hampshire.

Acolytes were bride's cousins Brian Baca of Santa Fe, New Mexico, Billy Rohmer, Chris Stoffels and Ronnie Sandman of Lindsay.

Pat Hennigan, Jr., bride's brother was organist and Mrs. David Walterscheid and Dr. Martin Kralicke were vocalists. They sang "A Time for Us," "How Great Thou Art," "We've Only Just Begun" and "On This Day."

Wedding reception, dinner and dance were held in the KC Hall. Miss June Stoffels and Miss Debbie Hess registered 150 guests. Mrs. Al Horn cut the tiered cake. Dinner and dance music was furnished by the "Check Mates" of Dallas.

For traveling the bride chose a Navy ensemble with red and white trim and red accessories. After a wedding trip to San Francisco and Carmel, California the newlyweds will be at home at 844 7th St. Santa Monica, California. He is a research engineer for the Rand Corporation. Tony Felderhoffs Have Two Parties

Mr. and Mrs. Tony Felderhoff had two parties and many guests Sunday when their family gathered for a noon cook-out and remained for supper. Only missing members were Charles and family of Houston who phoned with Father's Day greetings. In the afternoon the Felderhoffs were hosts to seventy relatives and friends who came to a farewell party for Wencil Muck, whose son-in-law and daughter Mr. and Mrs. Clovis Lewis of Jackson, Mississippi were guests of the Felderhoffs for several days. One day they drove to Lawton, Okla., to visit other relatives.

During the Sunday afternoon party Laurie Ann Walterscheid and Christi Felderhoff assisted their grandmother with hostess duties and served punch and cookies during the come and go event. Monday Mr. and Mrs. Lewis returned to Jackson, taking her father home with them.

The Tom Joys entertained with a party Sunday for their daughter Mary Elizabeth who was two years old Friday, June 16. Decorations, party favors and refreshments carried out a pastel carousel theme. A pink birthday cake, lemonade and flower pot ice cream cups were served to nine youngsters. Adults joined the party for sandwiches, birthday cake and coffee. The guests included the honoree's god-parents Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Hartman, Monica and Kenny, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Martin, Estelle and Ernie, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Schmitt, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Felderhoff, Rose, Ann, and Jenny. Christi Felderhoff missed the party because she was helping her grandmother Mrs. Tony Felderhoff entertain at another party.

Games, favors, picture taking and gifts made a happy busy afternoon for the group. There was also a new bright red wagon for Mary Elizabeth and Mrs. Andy Schoech who was unable to attend sent hobby horses she had made for the birthday girl and her big brother, Preston.

Sunday was a busy happy triple celebration for Mrs. Joe Wilde who entertained with a turkey and barbecue dinner at noon with gifts honoring the fathers in the family, and son Ray Wilde whose birthday was Sunday, and daughter Gladys, Mrs. Rufus Bezner. Her birthday was the previous Saturday while she and her family were vacationing in Florida for three weeks with Rufus who is employed there for an oil company. They all returned home last Thursday. Also present were Chris and Jan Cain who had returned Tuesday from their wedding trip to Hawaii.

All family members were together except Brian Bezner who is working this summer in Florida and Rufus who flew back to work Friday night. Guests were the Ray Wildes and family, Mrs. Rufus Bezner and family, the James Bezner family, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Wilde of Carrollton, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Bezner of Gainesville, Rick Bezner of Dallas, Mike Sturm of Gainesville, Mr. and Mrs. Chris Cain and Mrs. Agnes Lehnertz who were twenty four present for noon dinner and most stayed for supper. He will have his leg in a full cast for two more weeks. It was broken and the ankle crushed four weeks ago when his Yamaha fell on it.
