VOLUME XXXVI

MUENSTER, COOKE COUNTY, TEXAS 76252 MAY 19, 1972

NUMBER 26

For the fourth time within a decade our nation was shocked Monday by the news that a prominent political figure was gunned down by an assassin. Fortunately Governor George Wallace survived the attempt on his life, but that does not change the fact that his assailant's intention was to murder him. To that extent the incident parallels the killings of President Kennedy, Robert Kennedy and Martin Luther King.

The sentiment of the country was expressed dozens of times by high ranking government officials. They condemned the shooting as cowardly and contemptible, the sign of a twisted mind's solution for political disagreement, a reflection of the national sickness which has been asserting itself so frequently in recent years.

America will go along with most of those comments. We find it hard to name a rating low enough to fit such a character. And certainly we'll agree that there's too much of the spirit of anarchy, which seems to assume that violence is justified in getting rid of politicians or their ideas.

However most of America does not go along with excusing the murderous scoundrel as being sick. The word is too mild, too humane, to apply in such a case. The word sickness seems to imply the guilty person has some sort of affliction, that he's really not responsible and is to be pitied more than blamed. Well, it's about time to call a spade a spade. Let the public discussion be stripped of the sob-sister stuff and tell bluntly that the assassin is the worst kind of public enemy and deserves the maximum punishment for his deed.

Perhaps a little thought on the subject will give some idea of why another important person has been shot. The country's official sympathy toward criminals encourages them to go on and do their thing, knowing very well that they will likely escape just punishment. Murderers of Robert Kennedy and Dr. King are still cheating justice. The murderer of President Kennedy paid only because another criminal wanted him dead.

Such miscarriage of justice impresses us more when the victims are nationally prominent. But we have the same shocking fact confronting us in thousands of cases in which the victims were less prominent. We hardly need to be reminded that the news every day reports several murders but it never mentions an execution. On the contrary murderers are being paroled daily after short prison terms and very frequently go out and murder again.

We're on the wrong track when we hope for reform in the criminal minds. In the first place our national tendency toward leniency and permissiveness allow the revolutionary anarchists to openly advocate treason and violence. Public enemies have little trouble finding people who can be persuaded to do their bidding. Lowering the boom on them and their puppets is one of the first steps needed to turn off the sour, hostile, treacherous disposition toward public figures.

Additional help is possible from our news media. They can, if they'll try, create a public atmosphere of more patriotism, more confidence in public officials, and less tolerance to those who preach the false ism and promote violence.

Next on the national want list is a common sense attitude toward murder. Nine people out of ten are convinced that its principal cause is the leniency of our laws along with the handicaps placed on law enforcement personnel. We're concerned about the extreme solicitude for the accused's rights and so little regard for society's rights. We're aware that conclusive evidence of guilt can be thrown out because of a flaw in procedure. Many criminals are not caught, many do not come to trial, many escape conviction in court, and the few who are convicted get an early parole and return to crime.

Political assassinations can be prevented when we go back to the ten commandments for a standard of procedure. It says very plainly, thou shalt not kill, and it implies that the killer must be punished. Car-

Lone Star Gas Asks for Increase

(May 17, 1972) — Lone Star Gas Company today asked the city of Muenster, to increase local residential and commercial natural gas rates by approximately 7.7% to enable the company to earn a reasonable rate of return on the fair value of properties used to serve the public.

The application for rate increase listed increased cost of buying gas, higher property and equipment costs, increased costs for employee compensation, higher interest rates on borrowed money and increased taxes as primary reasons for the income deficiency.

"In addition," stated A. G. Lippe, representative of the Muenster distribution office, "Lone Star has a commitment to its customers to vigorously compete for supplies of natural gas to keep its reserves in a favorable position. While other sections of the country are experiencing some shortages of natural gas, Lone Star has maintained favorable supplies. The gas cost adjustment portion of the application placed before the City Council today," continued Lippe, "will help Lone Star maintain its favorable gas supply position and assure our customers of natural gas service for the future."

Approval of the company's application would increase the average monthly residential gas bill by approximately $.45.

Lone Star serves more than 467 customers in Muenster.

Buehrig Is Named History Scholar At Midwestern U

Robert Buehrig, husband of the former Margie Fuhrmann and son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Val Fuhrmann, was recently named History Scholar of the Year by the History Department of Midwestern University, and received a certificate recognizing his achievements during MU's Honors Day Ceremonies.

Mr. Buehrig has been named to the Dean's Honor Roll for the Spring Semester of 1972. In order to be eligible for nomination to the Dean's Honor Roll, students must be enrolled for a minimum of 15 semester hours and must earn no grade lower than A. Mr. Buehrig attained the perfect average of 3.0 on a 3.0 scale while carrying a course overload of 18 hours. He has also completed his history requirements with a perfect 3.0 average for 30 semester hours. He will graduate in December, 1972.

Gym is Available For Rec. Program

A supervised program of summer recreation in the public school gym is possible if a sufficient number of adults will take on the responsibility of supervising.

Members of the school board discussed the program at their meeting last Thursday and approved use of the gym for that purpose on condition that a responsible adult will be there full time to keep it orderly. It was suggested to make the gym available daily from 9 to 11 and 2 to 4. In case students want to play, or practice, basketball or volley ball they are expected to bring their own balls.

Parents who like the idea may see Superintendent L. B. Bruns or Principal Charles Cash.

Visitors Invited to Revival May 26-28 At Baptist Church

Never hit a man when he's down. He may get up again.

Bloodmobile Visit Nets 79 Pints for Local Blood Bank

Blood donors of Muenster and neighboring communities missed their quota by a single pint during Wednesday's visit of a bloodmobile from the Red Cross Blood Bank Center of Wichita Falls.

Their quota, based on the quantity drawn from the Muenster blood bank the past six months, was 80 units — and they gave 79. The records show that 93 persons registered, 14 were rejected, and 79 donated. Included with the group was Maurus J. Hacker, who qualified for Gallon Club membership at the December collection and now has started on his second gallon.

The blood collection center, with nine beds, was set up in the basement of the K of C hall from 3 to 6:30 o'clock.

Muenster is one of a number of communities in the Wichita Falls Red Cross blood bank system. Bloodmobile visits to those communities are scheduled regularly so that each community in its turn provides fresh blood for all the others.

Purpose of the membership is to provide blood without cost to patients of Muenster Hospital and also to residents of Muenster Hospital District who get transfusions in other hospitals. The only cost is the blood bank's expense of collecting, storing and transporting and the hospital's expense of transfusing. The cost to patient is about $30 less than normal. At the same time the hospital saves about $150 a month formerly paid in stocking fees.

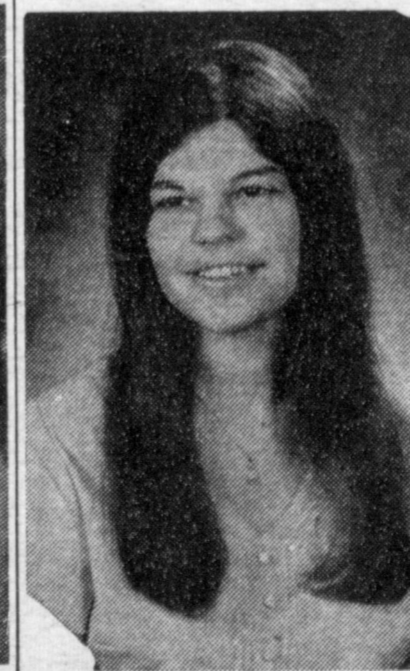

Blood center personnel here for Wednesday's collection were Registered Nurses Theresa Donaldson, Linda Broadhurst, Margaret Service and Jo Ann Smith and a helper James Gill.

They were assisted by Registered Nurses Jo Ann Walterscheid, Elaine Stephens, Jeanine Flusche and Carol Fuhrmann of Muenster and Polly Berry and Jo Jean Blankenship of Saint Jo.

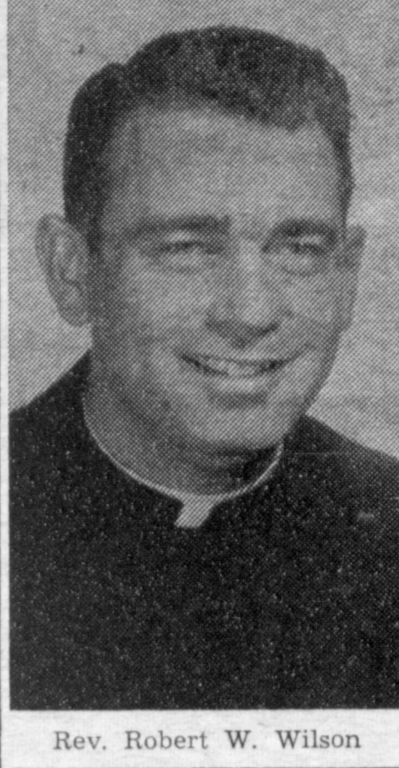

Hospital Auxiliary personnel who assisted with the paper work and served refreshments were Carol Grewing, Frances Bayer, Carolyn Bayer, Betty Rose Walterscheid, Betty Jean Bindel, Shirley Grewing, Kay Pagel, Louise Trubench, Gertrude Fisher, Tillie Schoech, Loretta Wimmer, Margie Starke and Minnie Faye Cook of Saint Jo.

She has been a member of Phi Theta Kappa, Texas Nurses Association and the Gun Club. She will continue on the staff at Wilson N. Jones Hospital in Sherman until August when she plans to work at the new St. Joseph's Hospital in Bryan and continue her education at Texas A&M University.

City Council Has Routine Meeting

Routine business plus conversation made up the regular meeting of the city council Monday night. Along with attending to correspondence and bills, the members discussed a proposed ordinance on vandalism, their sewer problems and a possible annexation, but took no action on any of the subjects.

Ray Swirczynski inquired about expected taxes and expected benefits of joining the city and the procedure involved in annexing.

The vandalism ordinance was tabled on a suggestion that it be broadened to include a greater variety of offenses. And the aldermen were concerned about problems in treating sewage.

The council was informed that its project of opening Fifth street two blocks from Hickory to Mesquite is now under way and the pool will open Saturday of next week.

In winning the title the TSC Texans outperformed 51 colleges and universities in a meet sanctioned by the NCAA and the AAU. They scored 22 points to edge New Mexico U and Villanova U, which tied for second with 21 points. Villanova was the defending national champ and before the meet was rated with Nebraska and Michigan State as a favorite.

Lippe took first place in his division and joined his team captain in setting new national collegiate bench press records in their respective classes. Both were named on the All-American team selected by NCAA.

Sr. Gemma Vogel Honored as Top Parochial Teacher

Olivetian Benedictine Sister Gemma Vogel, junior high mathematics teacher at Holy Souls School in Little Rock, Ark., has been selected as the city's outstanding young parochial school educator for 1972.

Sister Gemma, now in her second year at Holy Souls, was honored along with ten public school educators and administrators by Little Rock Jaycees, sponsors of the event, at an awards luncheon May 10 at the Worthen Bank Building. State Commissioner of Education Arch W. Ford spoke.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Vogel of Muenster, Sister Gemma has devised individualized mathematics programs in her classes which have kept the interest of students, regardless of their backgrounds in mathematics.

A member of the Olivetan Benedictine Community of Jonesboro, Sister Gemma uses math labs, tapes, and numerous math resource tests to give the students an individual program. Tests have shown that students in her classes rate higher than traditional math classes.

She attended Sacred Heart School and is a graduate of Arkansas State University with a degree in Elementary Education. She has advanced her education with graduate work at NTSU, Denton, where she will take another course this summer, and has attended workshops in mathematics and human development. Before going to Little Rock she taught at Lake Arthur, La.

She is active in National Catholic Education Association, National Council of Teachers of mathematics, and Diocesan Sisters' Senate.

Thinking Small Also Important MHS Grads Told

Graduates of Muenster High school at their commencement service last Friday night were advised to think small in striving for their goal in life.

Dr. George Tade, chairman of the speech department and the division of humanities of Texas Christian University, told the class that the big thought is not enough. They'll also need to do the innumerable little things that should be done as they advance step by step toward their big dream.

He also named maturity as one of the principal essentials in successful living. In that he included the maturity to know one's self, to be aware of strength and weakness, of greater and lesser talents, and set one's course accordingly. Also the maturity to control one's self in keeping with the laws of God and country, the customs and courtesies of civilization and the dictates of common sense. And there's the maturity to give ourselves, to apply our energies and talents for the good of family, community and country.

Referring to the problems of our day, he noted that very age has been a crisis to those who lived in it but solutions will come if people will think their small thoughts and do their small things for good. That kind of living, an imitation of St. Francis, is the surest way to peace in our time.

Other commencement speakers were Cheryl Otto in the Valedictory and Danny Fette in the Salutatory.

Urban Endres, president of the school board, introduced Dr. Tade and, assisted by Superintendent L. B. Bruns, awarded high school diplomas.

Ed Cler, vice-president of the board, was assisted by Principal C. O. Cash in awarding elementary diplomas. Mr. Cash presented the valedictory and salutatory awards.

Also on the program were an invocation by James Johnson, eighth grade salutatorian, and benediction by Monty Reiter, eighth grade valedictorian.

Bettye Dodds played the processional and recessional and, accompanied by Kris Stormer, gave a vocal solo. An extra on the public school's commencement calendar was a special service at the weekly Wednesday evening mass for CCD students. Elementary and high school grads attended in caps and gowns and were honored in the liturgy. Also CCD teachers and helpers received awards and students with perfect CCD attendance received certificates.

Other indications of things to come if the nation should go irrevocably to the people who call policemen "pigs" are also present on the campus. Only a few years ago it was a pretty area in a deteriorating district. There were many grass-covered quadrangles bordered by hedges or flowers. Now most of the quadrangles have been trampled into mud or dust, and those which are green are under attack.

The defacement of other areas of the city goes on apace. The subways are being steadily polluted and silted up by the graffiti of the illiterate and nearly illiterate. If this is the handwriting on the wall, we are in serious trouble.

Quotable Quote

William Randolph Hearst Jr., Editor in Chief of the Hearst Newspapers, just back from a fact-finding trip around the world:

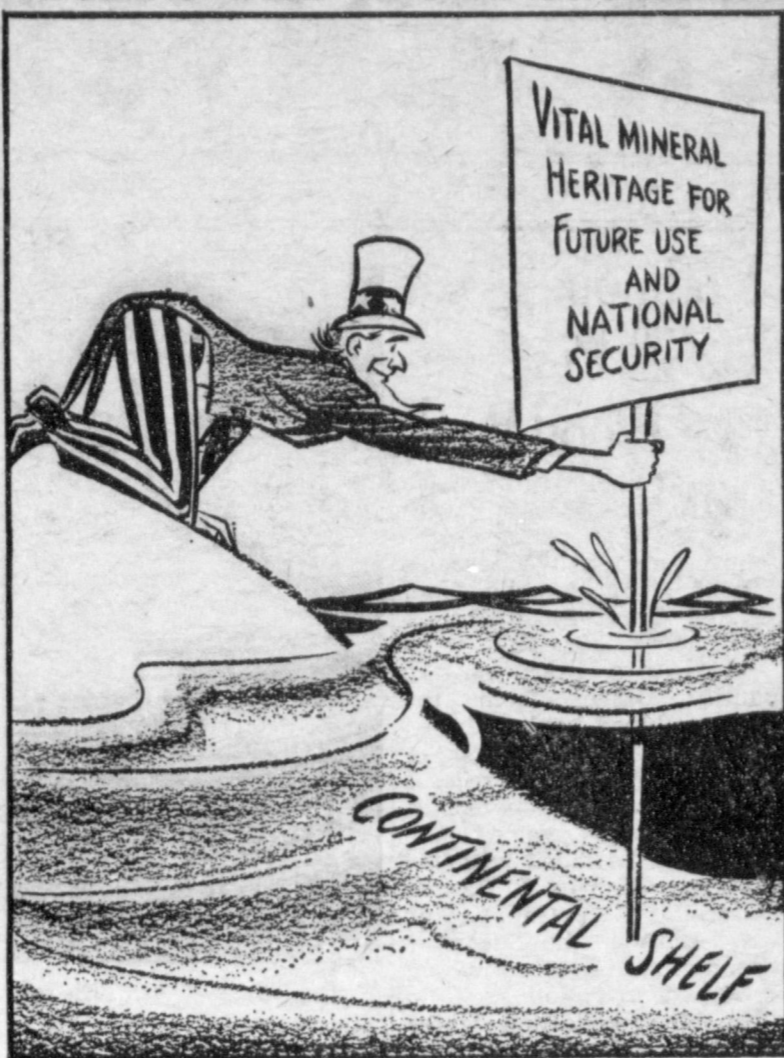

"It is a bit disturbing to get home and realize how many Americans fail to face one of the grimmest facts there is — the Communism keeps working day and night to destroy freedom wherever it exists. The next time somebody tells you that Communism is nothing to worry about, you can be sure of one of two things. Either he hasn't got all his marbles or he is quite far left of center politically and ideologically."

OCEANS WILL BE NEW FRONTIER

By the year 2,000 the United States population may have reached 300 million. New sources will have to be found to provide food, clothing and shelter.

Land-based reserves of natural resources are being rapidly depleted. Industry is looking to the oceans, and in particular to the continental Margins off our shores.

Geologists and scientists have located vast supplies of oil, gas and sulphur, iron, manganese, nickel and cobalt and other minerals. Venturesome companies are working hard to develop ways to extract them from the sea.

The United States Government has proposed a treaty in which we would renounce a major portion of this vital mineral heritage and place these resources under the control of an as-yet undefined International Seabed Resources Authority.

Such an agency could be controlled by nations whose interests may be different or even hostile to our own. America's long-term interests lie in forthrightly asserting our exclusive jurisdiction over the resources of our Continental Shelf and Slope and in establishing a progressive ocean resources policy that will encourage private enterprise to probe this new frontier.

Minimize Driving Dangers at Night

Nighttime driving is almost three times as dangerous as driving during daylight hours, according to research reports.

Eyes that test perfect in vision examinations have only 75 percent of that vision at night.

The lessened ability to see, combined with the narrow tunnel illuminated by headlights and fatigue, contribute to danger on the roads at night, reports the Mazda Consumer Information Council. The hazard is increased when driving covers unfamiliar territory.

What can you do to minimize the risk when you must travel at night? Mazda, the distributor of the rotary engine automobile, offers these safety hints.

If you know you'll be driving at night, wear sunglasses during the day, but take them off when darkness starts to descend. This practice will help your eyes to adjust easier.

Mazda also suggests having your headlights cleaned before darkness sets in. A single day's accumulation of dust and bugs can cut the output of headlights by half, according to Mazda.

An alert navigator with an up-to-date map should prepare the driver for entrances and exits on highways, Mazda suggests. Having a current map is especially important because many of last year's maps may be confusingly outdated in areas.

If your travel route includes a superhighway, enter with plenty of gas. Mazda's research showed running out of gas to be one of the major causes of car trouble on interstates. A stopped car, even on the side of the highway, is a sitting target for drowsy drivers.

Once on a freeway, maintain a speed consistent with other traffic, but don't travel with a group of cars moving at the same rate of speed. According to Mazda, this type of driving especially at night, is the preliminary to a multiple-car pile up.

Dialectics

Ask a Marxist-Socialist why he does what he does, and he will tell you that he is abiding by "the infallible science of Dialectics," allegedly discovered by their mental and spiritual leader, Karl Marx.

Unfortunately, not everyone can make very much sense out of "dialectics," but never mind; the comrades still claim to explain everything in the world by their pseudo-science. And if you still don't understand it, that simply means that you are not qualified to be a member of the Intellectual Elite, (themselves) who are destined to rule the world.

The Freedom Leadership Foundation, a splendid group of freedom-loving youth in Washington, D. C., recently passed on an enlightening "explanation" of dialectics, they in turn having received it from Dr. Sanford I. Berman, and we pass it on to you:

Some peasants, the story goes, came to their priest and asked him what dialectics are.

"It is difficult to explain," the priest said, "but suppose two men, one clean and the other dirty, came here. I offer them a bath. Which one will take it?"

"The dirty one," the peasants replied.

"No," said the priest, "The clean one, because he is accustomed to bathe. The other attaches no value to it."

"Now who would take the bath?" the priest asked.

"The clean one," was the answer.

"No," said the priest, "the dirty one, because he needs it. Now who would take it?"

"The dirty one," replied the peasants.

"No," said the priest, "both of them for the clean one is accustomed to bathe, and the dirty one requires it."

"Now," said the priest, "which one would take the bath?"

"Both," replied the peasants.

"No, neither, for the dirty one isn't used to bathing, and the clean one doesn't need it.

"But, Father," the confused peasants interrupted, "each time you say something different, and each time it is the answer which suits your arguments."

"Ah, my children," replied the priest. "Now you know what dialectics are!"

Lakeview, Ore., Examiner: "Instead of taking the guns away from law-abiding citizens, we have a better suggestion to insure safety in the streets. Let Congress pass a law making it mandatory for every citizen to own and carry arms, wherever he goes. The armed criminal is bravest when he knows his victims are not armed; he is very cautious when he knows his victim will shoot back . . . or very likely shoot first."

The jumping mouse makes normal leaps of four to seven feet, but when frightened it can jump up to 10 feet.

Glass Drive Nets
$71 for Missions

Sacred Heart students' glass for re-cycling, shipped last Thursday, netted $71 for the missions, according to Sister Theresina, coordinator and sponsor of the drive.

The shipment weighing three and a half tons was trucked to the Corsicana re-cycling plant free of charge by Tony Trubenbach Jr. His wife accompanied him and they had a conducted tour through the plant. It makes Coca-Cola bottles. As a souvenir the Trubenbachs received a Coke bottle saving bank which they, in turn, gave to Sister Theresina.

Again, she thanks all who helped in various ways during the glass campaign and emphasized that Sacred Heart is no longer in the glass collecting business.
