NUMBER 32

With reference to more proposed changes in the country's welfare program, politicians seem rather determined to avoid any similarity to the old WPA of depression times.

Apparently some of those do gooders don't wish to degrade the welfare beneficiaries by requiring them to do menial work — or in some cases, any work at all. They have the idea that our affluent society is able to support these people who have the right to live in dignity even though they are not earning their way.

The reference to WPA recalls memories of the days when the term was somewhat less than complimentary. Standard jokes of the time ridiculed the men who leaned on their shovels and worked at a snail's pace. So, to revive the agency or one like it would provide a ready made stigma on its beneficiaries.

In this someone seems to have gone off on a tangent. At this time the image of a person raking leaves or picking up trash or digging a ditch would be very complimentary to the typical reliefer. The WPA man, though not a model of efficiency, was eminently useful and honest compared with today's chiseler who doesn't want a job because loafing pays almost as much, who drives a late model car to pick up his free groceries, who makes a business of having illegitimate children or being nominally divorced in order to collect aid for dependent children.

Back in the thirties lots of practical people thought that WPA was a colossal waste. They said, rightfully, that a mechanical loader could fill trucks a lot more cheaply than dozens of gravel scoopers, and that a digging machine was better for ditch digging. Without question projects cost more under WPA than they would have under the usual methods.

But there were other considerations. In the first place WPA served a two fold purpose, the first of which was to sustain people who were not able to take care of themselves. The other was a sort of bonus, a return on our expenditure for charity. It accomplished many things that otherwise would not have been done. It organized millions of unemployed in a way to take care of their personal needs but still accomplished many things of definite value.

We of Muenster would probably have waited years longer for our sewer if WPA had not helped. The country would have waited for new schools and libraries and airports and roads and parks if WPA had not been there. Its record stands out in sharp contrast with the record of non-achievement in today's welfare program.

And there's still another factor. The old WPA was offered and accepted as a way of getting through hard times. It was not, like present relief, a way of life. It did not offer the security and comforts that a person wanted, the result being that people were on the alert to get jobs and get off the taxpayers' backs as soon as possible. The beneficiary's pride likewise had a bearing on the situation. People still believed in the dignity of work. They were more satisfied when they felt that they were earning their way.

So, let's not brush off the WPA as being unworthy of our times. If we'll figure in its merit as a charitable system plus its very considerable material achievement, we'll have to agree that it is far better than our present handout system. We like the idea of getting a return, however small, from our welfare expenditures. Even more so we prefer the attitude that went along with WPA rather than today's problems of illegitimacy, laziness, cheating and a widespread notion that the world owes everyone a living.

Free Swim Classes Start Next Week

This community's annual Red Cross program of free swimming classes will be conducted in two parts this year, according to Mrs. Polly Lewis of the County Red Cross chapter, who will be in charge of both.

She announced this week that life saving classes will be held five days of next week, beginning on July 3. And after that, starting on July 10, there will be two weeks of classes for beginners and any others under the life saving rating. Adults as well as children are welcome in any of the classes.

Mrs. Lewis also pointed out that enrollment is not restricted to the community. This is a Red Cross program and everyone is welcome to either the swim classes or the life saving classes.

However the usual requirement still applies. Each applicant must have a parent's statement indicating permission and a doctor's statement indicating physical fitness. Adults do not need a statement of permission but they must have the doctor's statement of condition.

Something new on the form this year is a line for physical handicap which hinders the student but is not serious enough to prevent taking lessons. The purpose is to alert instructors to those who need closer observation. A copy of the form is printed elsewhere in this paper and more forms will be available at the local doctors' offices and at the Enterprise and swimming pool. The filled out form must be presented when a person applies for the lessons.

Age requirement for Junior Life Saving is 11 years old or completion of the fifth grade. For Senior Life Saving it is 15 years old or completion of the ninth grade.

Minimum requirement for the other swim class is completion of a year of school, the purpose being to restrict the class to children who have learned to respond to instruction.

The plan this year is to divide the swim classes into two groups, one to take all of its instruction the first week, the other to attend the second week. This schedule is preferred to the previous one in which students attended alternate days for two weeks.

Mrs. Lewis is enthusiastic about the swimming instruction program. The teaching staff, according to Red Cross standards will be the best ever in Muenster. Nine persons of the sixteen who completed the Red Cross Water Safety Instruction class at Gainesville a few weeks ago were from Muenster and are available as teachers in the local class.

Along with others having the WSI rating there will be at least a dozen with the WSI qualification. And qualified helpers can be recruited from the life saving classes.

Quintin Hess left Friday for Iran where he will work in the oil fields. His family will join him at a later date. Meanwhile they are moving from the Schenk farm house to 910 N. Elm in the former A. J. Luttmner home.

Mercury Soars as Drought Hangs on Muenster is sweating nowadays in the most severe heat of the year to date. After enjoying cooler than usual weather up to the official arrival of Summer, the community has been toughing through a steady heat wave since the change of season last week Wednesday.

Local weatherman Steve Moster has a thermometer which registers high and low readings but isn't certain that he has it properly located. However his reports for last Saturday and the next three days are 104, 110, 109 and 107.

And Wednesday's at mid-afternoon is 105.

Meanwhile the drought also hangs on. The city's last reading was .22 inch on June 21, bringing the month's total to .84. Total for the year to date is only 9.15 inches. Although better than last year's 7.43 at the end of June, this is far below normal at this time. Usually the figure is between 15 and 25 inches at the end of June.

Herewith is the local 10 year record.

The American's Creed

The American's Creed was written in 1918 by William Tyler Page, as the winning nationwide contest entry. The then-Mayor of Baltimore, James H. Preston, donated the $1,000 award.

"I believe in the United States of America as a Government of the people, by the people, for the people; whose just powers are derived from the consent of the governed; a democracy in a republic, a sovereign Nation of many sovereign States; a perfect union, one and inseparable, established upon those principles of freedom, equality, justice and humanity for which American patriots sacrificed their lives and fortunes. I therefore believe it is my duty to my country to love it; to support its Constitution; to obey its laws; to respect its flag; and to defend it against all enemies."

Group Discusses Bridge and Road

Optimism prevailed in a group of sixteen persons who met here last Thursday night to discuss prospects for a proposed bridge across Red River and a road south to Fort Worth.

Their dinner meeting in Rohmer's Restaurant was headed by Robert Schleider Jr. of Wichita Falls, district engineer of the Texas Highway Department, who said that Texas is ready to do its part on the joint bridge project whenever Oklahoma gives the word. He said that the Texas Highway Commission has given its approval and the appropriation is waiting.

Other discussion concerned the increasing traffic to this area lately and the probability of much more when the new Dallas-Fort Worth Airport is opened. It was suggested that so much activity would justify a road from the bridge to Fort Worth.

Location for the proposed bridge still is not definitely decided. To determine that question the suggestion was to inquire as to the preference of the people concerned on both sides of the river. Local people are partial to the site near Bulcher, which is about equally distant from Muenster, Saint Jo and Nocona.

The proposed road south was visualized as possibly starting from I 35W at Haslet and going through Slidell, Leo, Rosston and Freemound.

Persons attending were Robert Schleider Jr. and B. L. Dickerson, highway engineers of Wichita Falls; Dr. Marvin Knight, Marvin English, and S. W. English of the Rosston-Era area; Mr. and Mrs. Prentis Harris and Mrs. Jessie Harris of Bulcher, Robert Bayer and Earl Taylor, commissioners of Cooke County; J. E. Cooksey, commissioner of Montague County; H. D. Field of Saint Jo; Barry LeBaron of Texoma Regional Planning Commission; and J. M. Weinzapfel, Ray Wilde and Ernest Jaska of Muenster.

Postmaster Calls Attention to New Mail Pick Up Time

Postmaster Arthur Endres again this week calls attention to the time change for mail pick up at Muenster Post Office.

He stresses the importance of getting mail in the office or outside drop box for the first pick up at 3:15 p.m. The new schedule went into effect Thursday, the 29th.

Any mail dispatched from the post office building must be there before 3:15 p.m. However a special "box-tap" trip is made later to pick up first class mail from the outside box. That truck arrives here at 5:55 p.m. So, letters mailed outside up to that time will leave town.

Endres stressed that the 3:15 pickup is the only pickup of the day for mail from the post office building. Anything arriving after that time will have to wait until the next day — except letter mailed in the outside box until 5:55.

There is no change of time for incoming mail.

The Men In Service

Roy Wimmer got back into uniform for training at Fort Hood. He's due home Sunday after two weeks of soldiering. Roy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Wimmer.

Meeting Date Changed

Members of Muenster VFW Auxiliary are reminded of the change of meeting date, effective this month. There will be no more meetings on the first Monday of each month, but on the third Monday of the month instead. Next meeting for the Auxiliary will be July 17.

Jaycee Picnic Sunday Is City Park Project

Muenster Jaycees are making their final preparations this week for an old fashioned picnic loaded with fun for youngsters and oldsters as a benefit event for their city park improvement project. It will be in the city park Sunday.

Harold Flusche, chairman, says that it will begin at noon and will offer a great variety of concessions and contests ending with a fast moving auction sale and a dance for the younger generation.

Concessions will include barbecue sandwiches, cold drinks, candies, fish pond, popcorn, sno cones, white elephant store and kiddie rides.

In addition there will be a horseshoe tournament starting at 1 o'clock, with trophies for the winners; also the parade and contest of decorated bicycles and tricycles starting at 4 o'clock. Kids are reminded that judging for this contest will be strictly on their bikes and trikes and the decorations will carry out the July 4 theme. Being in costume will not help the contestant.

Being promoted as one of the top features of the day is the Auction, which starts at 8 o'clock. Jaycees have been scrounging and twisting arms for weeks in gathering together an assortment of items which will be disposed of under the auctioneer's gavel, preferably for more than its actual value. Items to be sold include a big variety of merchandise from the regular stock of the donors plus left overs from the white elephant store. Bill Martin will be the auctioneer.

The dance will be on the tennis court, will start about 9 o'clock, and will have music by Cherry Rhone.

The Jaycee park improvement project is a continuation of work which started several years ago and has done wonders for the park's appearance. It is the project for which the chapter received a plaque and nation wide recognition in the 1969 national convention.

It started with clearing brush and small trees, filling in a gully and planting carpet grass. And it has continued with building paved tennis courts with back stops, picnic tables and platforms, barbecue grills, fencing, repairing and adding to play ground equipment, and general fix-up and paint-up.

Newest version of the improvement will be apparent at the park Sunday as people find table and seating accom-

JC Prexy Returns From Convention At Atlanta, Ga.

Wayne Klement and Jerry O'Neal and their wives, representing the Muenster and Nocona Jaycee chapters are back home from the 52nd national Jaycee convention in Atlanta, Ga., Sunday through Friday of last week. Klement and O'Neal are presidents of their chapters.

They were among about 350 Texans in the crowd of more than 18,000 Jaycees and report proudly that Texas was recognized for outstanding achievement of the past year and also was very well represented at the convention, as indicated by the following:

Rick Clayton of Abilene, former state president, was elected national vice-president.

Texas won the outstanding hospitality party trophy, its first at a national convention.

The Houston Jaycees chapter was recognized as the nation's best for last year.

Texas marched second in the parade of states, indicating its rating as runner up for the top national title.

And the Texas-backed candidate, Sam Winer of West Virginia, was elected national president.

Gina Hofbauer Will Compete in Pageant for Little Miss World Title

At the awards breakfast in Waco, Gina received a trophy for best all around girl in the nine year old group of 59. There were 141 contestants in the 7-12 age group.

Blonde haired, blue eyed Gina is the daughter of Mrs. Norma Dowd and Denis Hofbauer. Her mother was with her at the Waco Pageant June 18-24.

For her talent presentation Gina tap danced and sang Hello Dolly. She wore a silver metallic and pink lace dress with a bustle and feather plumes, a matching hat, and silver shoes.

She also appeared in a full-skirted mint green party dress, a white crepe interview dress, and a two-piece aqua hot pants sportswear outfit with matching hat and white boots.

The world event will be on national television.

Muenster Schools Set August 14, 21 As Opening Dates

Summer vacation is about half over for students of this community, a reminder which came as a sort of shock in the Sacred Heart Parish bulletin of last Sunday.

Father Placidus Eckart announced that the parochial school will open on Monday August 21, which leaves just seven more weeks of freedom for those youngsters.

And there's even less time for students who will attend across the street. Superintendent L. B. Bruns announces that the public school's first class day will be August 14 and enrollment will be on the preceding Tuesday.

Father Placidus explained that the Sacred Heart opening was delayed because some of its teachers will be in school until the 19th. He also said the Benedictine Sisters will have the same number here as last year but there will be changes. Two known now are Sister Carmelita succeeding Sister Amora and Sister Fidelis succeeding Sister Helen. Sister Carmelita has taught here before. Sister Fidelis Rohmer is a native of the parish assigned here the first time since joining the convent.

Superintendent Bruns said that the school year for the public school faculty begins on August 8. As in the previous year they have 180 days of duty, which includes 180 days of teaching and 10 days of in-service training. The first three days of that service will be on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday following registration and others will be scattered through the rest of the school year.

The school calendar with 180 class days, will end with commencement on May 11 unless severe weather or some other cause requires make up days. Holidays are listed as follows.

Sept. 4, Labor Day.
Nov. 23 & 24, Thanksgiving.
Dec. 22 to Jan. 2, Christmas.
April 20, Good Friday.
April 23, Easter Monday.
In addition students will be free on Nov. 3 and Feb. 16 while teachers spend the day in in-service training. Baccalaureate is scheduled for May 6, the last class day for May 10 and graduation for May 11.

J. Edgar Hoover And the Bible

In one of his last interviews with the press, shortly before his death J. Edgar Hoover told Washington reporter Trude B. Feldman that the Bible had been the guide to his daily life, and that each day he would find a few minutes — whether at the home, in his office at the FBI headquarters, or while traveling — to meditate and pray.

"I have read the Bible all my life," Mr. Hoover said. "Over the years, the teachings of the Bible have been the guide to my daily life."

Asked if the principles of his religion guided him in the organization and operation of the FBI, Mr. Hoover replied: "Yes. I have administered the FBI on the principles of honesty, integrity and fair play. We in the FBI work hard to protect both the individual right and the safety of the community. Religion, if it is to be meaningful, must be an integral part of everyday life."

In response to another question by Miss Feldman, Mr. Hoover said:

"Religion gives men and women strength to face the vicissitudes of everyday living. It helps mold character and personality. It enables the individual to make decisions which are fair and honest. All too frequently, we find evidence — through crime, subversion and corruption — that the principles of religion do not really influence the lives of some people. . . . A nation without respect for God is a nation which has lost its moral competence for living and vision for the future."

These are words for men and women in and out of public life to live by. And they go a long way toward explaining why J. Edgar Hoover will go down in history as one of the greatest of the great men who have served the cause of freedom in the service of the United States Government.

Let's Be Practical

The goal in water pollution control should be to insure a wide range of beneficial uses and values of our water resources for the greatest benefit of the American people.

It would be unrealistic to aim the nation's water pollution control efforts at the achievement of absolutely pure water. Such a drastic step is neither necessary nor desirable.

Recently, a gallon of distilled water was purchased in New York City for $1.75 plus 12 cents tax. By contrast a gallon of drinking water was drawn from a faucet in a suburban home at an estimated cost of one-twentieth of a cent. Even the distilled water was not absolutely "pure" since it still contained a small amount of dissolved solids. Though it cost 3500 times the cost of the drinking water, it probably would not support aquatic life.

Our national manufacturing operations discharge more than 14 trillion gallons of water per year. If these 14 trillion gallons had to be upgraded from river water to "pure" water of some degree, it could cost anywhere from $7 billion per year to $7 trillion per year, depending on the "purity" required.

Let's be practical.

I Am the United States

I was born on July 4, 1776, and the Declaration of Independence is my birth certificate. The bloodlines of the world run in my veins, because I offered freedom to the oppressed. I am many things, and many people. I AM THE UNITED STATES.

I am 200 million living souls — and the ghost of millions who have lived and died for me.

I am Nathan Hale and Paul Revere. I stood at Lexington and fired the shot heard around the world. I am Washington, Jefferson and Patrick Henry. I am John Paul Jones, the Green Mountain Boys, and Davy Crockett. I am Lee, Grant, and Abe Lincoln.

I remember the Alamo, the Maine and Pearl Harbor. When freedom called, I answered and stayed until it was over, over there. I left my heroic dead in Flanders Field, on the rock of Corregidor, and on the bleak slopes of Korea.

I am the Brooklyn Bridge, the wheat lands of Kansas, and the granite hills of Vermont. I am the coalfields of the Virginias and Pennsylvania, the fertile lands of the West, the Golden Gate and Grand Canyon. I am Independence Hall, the Monitor and the Merrimac.

I am big, I sprawl from the Atlantic to the Pacific, 3 million square miles throbbing with industry. I am more than 5 million farms. I am forest, field, mountain, and desert. I am quiet villages — and cities that never sleep.

You can look at me and see Ben Franklin walking down the streets of Philadelphia with his breadloaf under his arm. You can see Betsy Ross with her needle. You can see the lights of Christmas, and hear the strains of Auld Lang Syne as the calendar turns.

I am Babe Ruth and the World Series. I am 169,000 schools and colleges, and 250,000 churches where my people worship God as they think best. I am a ballot dropped in a box, the roar of a crowd in a stadium, and the voice of a choir in a cathedral. I am an editorial in a newspaper, and a letter to a Congressman.

I am Eli Whitney and Stephen Foster. I am Tom Edison, Albert Einstein and Billy Graham. I am Horace Greeley, Will Rogers, and the Wright brothers. I am George Washington Carver, Daniel Webster.

I am Longfellow, Harriet Beecher Stowe, Walt Whitman, and Thomas Paine.

Yes, I am the nation, and these are the things that I am. I was conceived in freedom and, God willing, in freedom I will spend the rest of my days.

May I possess always the integrity, the courage and the strength to keep myself unshackled, to remain a citadel of freedom and a beacon of hope to the world.

I AM THE UNITED STATES.

No Fault Insurance

Compulsory no-fault auto insurance is still being debated in most states, but there's joy in Boston — motorists are celebrating a 70.2 per cent cut in premium rates since 1970, and politicians on both sides are claiming credit for the whole thing.

That may have induced President Nixon to urge other states to act.

What kicked off the Bay State celebration was the state supreme court ordering a second cut in 1972 rates — a decision that will drop premiums a whopping 55.2 per cent below 1971 levels and trigger a rebate to motorists of $30 million — $40 million.

The decision was a catch-up operation. Costs to the insurers of furnishing the compulsory bodily injury coverage to motorists dropped so fast once wrecks were taken out of court in 1970 that the state is only now deciding how much drivers should pay.

The insurance commission made only a 15 per cent cut in premiums for the 1971 inaugural year. It proved unrealistically low; so, for 1972, a further 27.6 per cent reduction was ordered. Then to make up for the high premiums of 1971, the commission decided to double the 1972 reduction.

The court's ratification of the retroactive cut means a Boston car owner will pay $47 this year for coverage that cost him $117 in 1970, and that isn't the whole story.

Before the rebates start to flow, the insurance commission will take another look at the rates — and indications are that the combined reductions since 1970 may even exceed 70.2 per cent, meaning higher rebates.

The insurance companies are angry, of course — and so are the trial lawyers, whose prediction of a radical reduction in auto-injury court cases has proved all too true. But the motorists, not to mention the politicians, are whooping it up.

Your Children May Kill You

If such an abortion policy had been adopted in the past, many of the great men of the world would never have been permitted to make their outstanding contributions to society. Beethoven is one. There are many others. . . . Once you permit the killing of the unborn child there will be no stopping. There will be no age limit. You are setting off a chain reaction that will eventually make you the victim.

Your children will kill you because you permitted the killing of their brothers and sisters. Your children will kill you because they will not want to support you in your old age. Your children will kill you for your homes and estates.

If a doctor will take money for killing the innocent in the womb, he will kill you with a needle when paid by your children. This is the terrible nightmare you are creating for the future.

Words to Live By

Mr. John W. Gardner, former Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, writing in The Reader's Digest, asks, "Suppose that you could offer one word of advice to a young person living in the year 2000. One word! What would it be?" Mr. Gardner has posed this question to many friends over the past several years. He found the most frequently mentioned word was "Live". Live ranked among the three words most often mentioned for first place. The other two words were "Love" and "Learn".

After these first three words, Mr. Gardner found that agreement breaks down for choice of a fourth, a fifth and so on. However, after much searching and meditating, he arrived at what he calls, "Seven Words to Live By." He placed them in the following order: "Live, love, learn, think, give, laugh, try." As a final observation he asked: "Can you pack better advice into seven words?"

Free the Prisoners, Or . . .

Wives of three U.S. servicemen missing or captured in the Vietnam war visited President Richard M. Nixon at the White House and heard some reassuring news from him.

The news was that U.S. forces will continue to mine Red North Vietnam's chief ports, rivers and channels, and to bomb its railroads, bridges and roads, until our prisoners of war are sprung and the remaining missing men accounted for.

This, we are convinced, is the only self-respecting course for the United States to pursue — and the course that offers the best hope of getting those men released.

We're delighted, therefore, to see Mr. Nixon carry on with the new get-tough policy toward the Hanoi savages and sadists, and we hope nothing will deter him.

Doves, defeatists, domestic Reds and some perfectly sincere idealists will do their best to alter the Nixon resolve. But these folks have been giving Washington the wrong advice about Vietnam and all Indochina for years and years. Why take them seriously?

Population Scare

The scare of a population "explosion" is as old as Malthus, who predicted early in the last century that there would be standing room only on this earth by 1890.

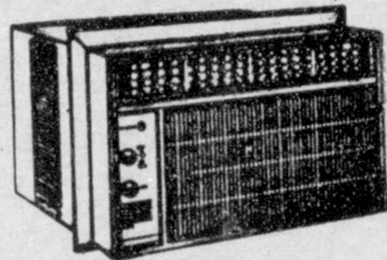

Dr. Karl Brandt at Stanford declares that "many nations need more people, not less, to cultivate food products and build a sound economy." The solution for India, he points out, is not so much birth control as bird control, and above all, more efficient agricultural methods. Birds in India eat up enough food for twice as many people as there are in the country.

What farmers need is an end to restrictive government controls and the creation of a free agricultural market based on supply and demand.

There are three basic errors of the population doom "experts": 1) They fail to realize that more people mean more production; 2) They fail to see that progress is continually being made in soil fertility, food preservation and distribution; 3) They fail to realize that poverty is caused by the incompetency of governments, particularly in socialist countries.

Texas FB Asks for Ban of Controls On Farm Products

Texas Farm Bureau President J. T. Woodson said today that farmers and ranchers are "greatly concerned that the Cost of Living Council may impose price controls on raw agricultural products."

In a telegram to President Nixon, the Texas farm leader said that "such action would cause irreparable harm to agriculture — the one industry that is least to blame for the current inflation."

"The current parity index shows that, on the average, agriculture is receiving less than three-fourths of what is termed a fair price for its products," Woodson said. "Supply and demand largely determine prices of agricultural products."

"Any attempt to impose an across-the-board 'freeze' on raw agricultural products will result in less, not more, food on America's dinner tables. This would cause black-marketeering on a scale that would damage your efforts to control inflation."

"In addition, such a price 'freeze' would create havoc in some commodities — such as poultry — where prices are now at or below the cost of production."

"Beef prices have come in for more criticism than other commodities. We remind you that cattle prices are now up to the same level they were some 20 years ago. The difference in price at the meat counter today is clearly the result of inflation over the past 20 years."

"In summary, we respectfully urge you to use your influence to prevent imposition of price controls on raw farm products. This will help assure the American consumers of a continued bountiful supply of food at reasonable prices."

Those who would save our world from chemical poisoning may have the right idea, but the banning of everything as they propose wouldn't save the world after all, for we'd have starvation, instead of poisoning. Many environmentalists seem to lack one needed ingredient in their plans: Common sense.

Mrs. Robison Hosts HD Club Meeting

Mrs. Ernest Robison, president of the Home Demonstration Club, received the members in her home for the June meeting. She opened the meeting with prayer and read an article on "Reverence for the Flag." Mrs. Albert Dangelmayr and Mrs. Al Walter told about visiting Senior Citizens this month and Mrs. Oscar Detten volunteered to visit next month.

Mrs. Bill Lutkenhaus reported on plans for the field trip to be made on Tuesday June 20. Others on the committee in charge of arrangements were Mrs. Alois Rohmer and Mrs. Albert Fleitman. A family get-together at Sycamore Lake is planned for Saturday July 8. Mrs. John Wieler gave the program on "Safety in your own backyard."

Seventeen members enjoyed finger foods, nuts, mints and punch served from a beautifully appointed table.

Chris Cains Home From Hawaii Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Chris Cains returned Tuesday June 13 from their wedding trip. They traveled by 747 Jet non stop Dallas to Hawaii and stayed at Denny's Imperial Hawaii Hotel on Waikiki Beach and enjoyed the swimming, shopping and many tourist attractions and sight seeing.

Among the tours they enjoyed were the Sunset Dinner Sail — a catamaran sail along Waikiki Beach to Diamond Head to view the magnificent sunset. Another was an all day tour, circling the island of Oahu with visits to a Buddhist Temple, Royal Mausoleum, Nuuanu, Pali, Windward Oahu with its banana groves and taro patches, the stately Mormon Temple and pineapple plantations.

Another day they visited the Governor's Mansion, Honolulu's Financial District, Iolani Palace and Punchbowl and the Muumuu Factory and Handcrafts of Hawaii. They attended the Don Ho Cocktail Show and on a night club tour visited both the Hawaiian Hut and the beautiful and elegant Kahala Hilton Hotel where they saw one of Hawaii's finest and most dynamic entertainers, Danny Kaleikini. Later they attended Tavana's Tahitian Revue and saw authentic Polynesian dancers.

On the Pearl Harbor Cruise they went to "Battleship Row", the sunken USS Utah and USS Arizona, and Honolulu Harbor and Leeward Oahu.

Enroute to an authentic Hawaiian Luau at a private residence they took the scenic drive to the windward side of Oahu and lovely Kahaluu where guests were greeted with the traditional lei of Aloha and Mai Tais. Family styled entertainment and many delicacies prepared by the family and songs and native dances made a memorable evening.

The Cains saw many more of the famous places and natural wonders of Hawaii — Mt. Haleakala, the Iao Valley, the orchid gardens, the Fern Grotto. And they visited the location of filming for Hawaii Five O and saw Zulu, co-star of the TV show who now has a night club act of his own there.

Barbie Davidson Chosen to Attend 4-H Ecology Meet

Barbie Davidson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Davidson, has been selected to attend the Sixth Annual Texas 4-H Ecology Conference June 27-30 at Wilkes Lodge in Marion County. The Federal Cartridge Corporation and the Association of Texas Soil and Water Conservation Districts is sponsoring the conference for older 4-H'ers who are interested in natural resources and who display outstanding leadership qualities.

During the four days the groups will utilize field trips and natural examples to learn in depth about forestry, rangelands, outdoor recreation, environmental quality, soil and water, and wildlife.

The purpose of the conference is to provide a better understanding and appreciation for natural resources and to give out-standing 4-H members additional, meaningful, and educational experiences in outdoor activities that will highlight project work in natural resources.

Hillcrest Manor's 3 June Birthday Patients Honored

Mrs. John Schilling celebrated her 89th birthday at a party hosted by the staff of Hillcrest Manor Nursing Home where she is a new patient for extended care following dismissal from Muenster Hospital earlier this month.

She has been a shut-in for some years after breaking a hip but was busy piecing tops for lap robes which she gave to area nursing home and hospital patients, sent to missions and gave to the Salvation Army. Last year she made over 350, almost one a day. Sharing party honors with her was Mrs. John Brooks of Gainesville, also a new resident, who was 72 and Charles Newland of Gainesville who was 89.

Each month residents who have birthdays are honored at a party attended by patients and staff. Family members also attend. Birthday cake and ice cream are served.

Loan Eligibility Expanded by FHA

Many additional families in Texas are now eligible for rural housing loans from the Farmers Home Administration, FHA State Director J. Lynn Futch announced today.

"In families where both husband and wife are employed," Futch explained, "the new policy permits half of the wife's gross income to be excluded in determining whether the total family income is within the maximum limit for loan eligibility."

For example, the husband is the principal source of income with $6,000. His wife earns $4,000. His entire income, plus half of his wife's, or $2,000, total $8,000. This is within Texas' moderate income level of $8,000 so the family may be eligible for a Farmers Home Administration loan.

James V. Smith, National Administrator of Farmers Home Administration emphasized that newly-eligible families must demonstrate that they otherwise merit FHA financing, and that credit is not available from regular commercial sources.

"The new policy will assist families in which the wife's income is needed to improve the standard of living. Note that if the wife is the principal breadwinner, the rule does not apply. This change will in no way affect our expanding service to low-income families," Mr. Smith said.

Loans may be made to families that will buy or build homes in open country or towns of up to 10,000 population, and who are not able to secure credit from regular commercial sources. Complete information is available from the agency's 143 county offices located in county seat towns throughout Texas.

Health Hints FROM BLUE SHIELD

Automotive Safety for Children

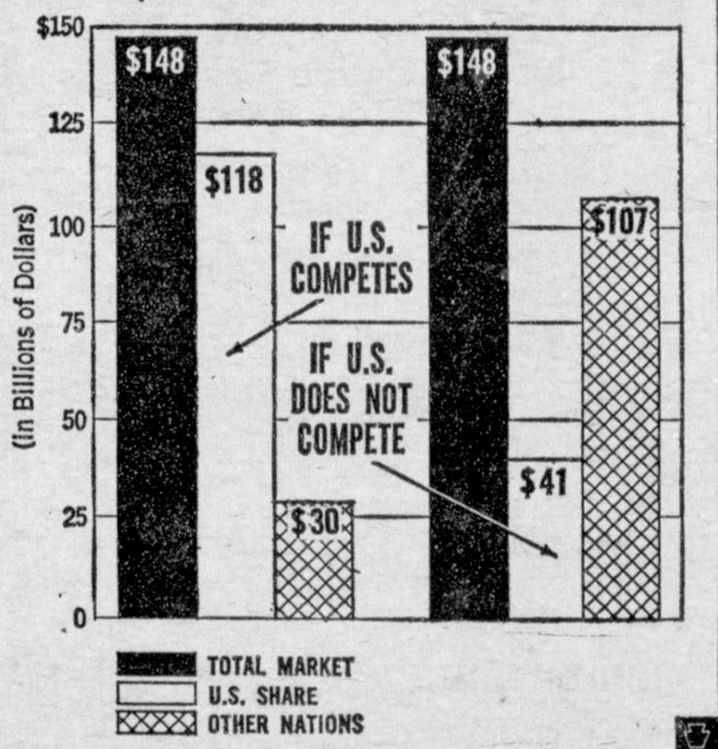

Without realizing it, many parents risk their children's lives daily by allowing them to ride by their side in an automobile. Protect your child from being one of the 1,000 children under five killed each year in auto accidents, or the many more permanently disabled, through the use of a specially designed and properly used safety restraining device.

According to the Physicians for Automotive Safety, seat belts remain the single, most effective safety device presently available to save lives and prevent permanent disabilities. However, standard safety belts must not be used to protect children under the age of four, weighing less than 40 pounds because they exert too much pressure on the abdominal area. (Likewise, a parent and lap-sitting child sharing the same belt present the same set of problems.)

Although the safest place for a small child may ordinarily be his mother's arms, this is not true in an automobile because the child may be crushed between the adult and the vehicle in a collision. To reduce the number of infant auto fatalities and injuries and to assist parents in securing effective safety restraints, the Federal government has passed a motor vehicle safety standard prohibiting the manufacture of devices not meeting adequate standards. While even the most effective safety device cannot prevent all injuries, the use of properly designed equipment will reduce the severity of an injury and may save your child's life. For further information write: Physicians for Automotive Safety, 50 Union Ave., Irvington, N.J. 07111.

Billions at Stake in Aircraft Market

The world market for commercial aircraft during the 12 years from 1974 through 1985 is estimated at $148 billion. If the U.S. could retain its present 80 percent of this market sales would amount to $118 billion during the 12-year period. If it does not aggressively enter all segments of this market (long-range, including SST; medium-range, including the Airbus; short-range, including both vertical and short takeoff and landing aircraft) it stands to lose $78 billion. This translates into the loss of 1,479,000 man-years of employment, $29.6 billion in payrolls, nearly $10.6 billion in Federal income taxes, and a negative balance of trade in aerospace products of $18.3 billion, instead of a healthy surplus.

THANKS

Many thanks for many kind remembrances while I was a patient at Muenster Hospital. The cards, flowers, gifts and visits meant much to me. Special thanks to Dr. Kralick and the hospital staff. And thanks from my family for the food and help they received from friends and relatives. We are all grateful.
 — Mrs. Herbie Walterscheid

I wish to thank everybody who remembered me with flowers, cards, food, gifts, visits, help, Masses and prayers during my stay at Gainesville Hospital and at Baylor Hospital in Dallas. You will be in my continual thoughts.
 — Alex Lutkenhaus

THE INFORMED CONSUMER

By Crawford C. Martin
Attorney General of Texas

You are at home busily cleaning the house when you hear a knock on the door. You answer to find a man dressed as a delivery boy standing on your porch with a panel truck parked in front of your house. He politely inquires as to the whereabouts of Mrs. Jones, your neighbor, and you inform him that you do not know where she is. With this, he gets a sad look on his face and informs you that he has a C.O.D. package for Mrs. Jones and she said it was very important that she get the package today since it was to be a present for a friend of hers who was having a surprise party tonight. He doesn't know what to do since he won't be able to come back again and he really doesn't want to disappoint Mrs. Jones. It is at this time that a happy glow comes across his face and he hits upon a plan whereby you can do your neighbor a big favor. All you have to do is pay him the C.O.D. charges and then get your money back from Mrs. Jones.

This way she will receive the package in time and not be disappointed. After all, the C.O.D. charges amount to only $10. Being a friendly neighbor, you give the delivery man $10 and he goes on his way leaving you with a warm feeling inside, knowing that you have helped Mrs. Jones.

Later in the day when Mrs. Jones returns, the warm feeling begins to turn to doubt because Mrs. Jones informs you that she has not ordered any C.O.D. packages. You open the package to inspect its contents and find only rocks.

Another take-off on this scheme, and perhaps even more insidious, is practiced where there has been a recent death in a family. The knock on the door in this case presents a person who has a package for Mr. Smith at this address. When informed that Mr. Smith has recently passed away, the stranger gets a sad look on his face and says that Mr. Smith was in his store last week and picked out a beautiful gift for Mrs. Smith.

It was to be a surprise and Mr. Smith was so happy because he just knew that the gift would bring Mrs. Smith so much pleasure. Sentiment often pushes the person to go ahead and accept the item and pay for it, usually at an inflated price, and even though they don't need it, because it had been picked out for them by their deceased loved one. Be an informed consumer. Don't fall for rackets similar to those above described. When a stranger knocks on your door and asks for money, demand proof of his identity. Know all the facts before you part with your money.

Self-control is a virtue that individuals recommend to their friends.

Tips On Car Care

The "Smell" Of Car Trouble

Start the engine and hold your nose. Or maybe noxious fumes seep in while the car is in motion. If your auto has a malfunctioning pollution control valve, here's one instance where pollution is really hurting both breath and budget.

Nicknamed the Pollution Control Valve, PCV actually stands for the positive crankcase ventilation system, according to Fram Corporation engineers.

Crankcase gasses are a combination of unburned fuel, water and gases escaping around the piston rings into the crankcase. Mechanics call it "blow-by", but no matter what it's called it has to be removed from the engine or it will corrode piston pins, timing chains and other parts of the engine exposed to these corrosive fumes. Your car probably has one of three crankcase ventilation systems.

The original crankcase ventilating method simply vented blow-by gases into the atmosphere. As of 1963 (earlier in California) it became mandatory for new cars to have what is called the PCV system whereby all crankcase gases recirculate through the engine by becoming part of the air-fuel mixture. But at high speeds, fumes could reverse through the oil filler tube into the atmosphere.

The 'closed' systems used since 1968 are so designed that crankcase gases can only escape through the air cleaner back into the carburetor. But, these fumes can contaminate the lubricating oil quicker, resulting in a poorer running engine. This new system is 100% effective in keeping crankcase gases from polluting the atmosphere. But, Fram engineers remind us, how effective it is in not polluting your engine is up to you. You have to remember to change them every 12,000 miles.

DPS Expects 58 Traffic Deaths in July 4 Weekend

Colonel Wilson E. Speir, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, today estimated that traffic accidents would claim 58 lives in Texas during the 102-hour July 4th holiday weekend from 6 p.m. Friday, June 30 to midnight Tuesday, July 4.

The DPS director said that if the holiday is typical, approximately one-third of the fatal accidents will involve only one vehicle.

Traffic law violations will contribute to many of the fatal mishaps with the major factors including speed too fast for conditions and driving while intoxicated.

In an effort to hold the toll down, Speir said the DPS, local law enforcement agencies, and the news media of Texas will cooperate in a special "Operation Motorcade" program. Information on fatal collisions will be tabulated at DPS Headquarters in Austin and released three times per day during the holidays in an effort to increase driver awareness.

All available Department of Public Safety patrolmen will be on duty, placing special emphasis on drinking and reckless drivers. Across the state, many city police departments and county sheriff's departments will have extra personnel assigned to intensified enforcement efforts.

"I urge all Texans and visitors to put on their best driving manners and actively join in the 'Operation Motorcade' effort so that this July 4th holiday might be as safe as possible," Speir said.

Gorillas are not Ferocious
The gorilla has long been described by explorers as a deadly beast, always beating its breast, roaring and killing men who dared to come near. Carl Akeley, in his book, "In Brightest Africa," says these animals are really indifferent to the presence of man, and are sometimes inquisitive enough to come quite close. He says accounts of the ferocity of gorillas have been written from imagination, in order to provide the necessary element of "danger" to explorations.

Tips On Car Care

The "Look" Of Car Trouble

When your exhaust looks like a low-flying cloud, power is sluggish and mileage is reduced, take a look at your carburetor air filter. Just tapping it may produce a dirt fall-out. If so — there's your trouble — a clogged air filter, according to Fram engineers.

The air filter is a busy filter. Consider that your car needs 10,000 gallons of air for every one gallon of gas. And every bit of that air has to go through the air filter. No wonder it gets clogged up. A clogged air filter can upset the air-fuel ratio in the carburetor resulting in a 75% increase in exhaust emissions — plus that ever-present low mileage — bad for your lungs and bad for your pocket book.

Research has shown that in 10,000 miles of travel air filters clear out as much as two pounds of dust and grit. Without clean air filtration all that dirt would wear out your engine in just a few years.

Solution: Change your air filter every 10,000 to 12,000 miles at annual tune-up time. Because a car with a clogged air filter is throwing away as much as 12% to 15% in mileage efficiency, a new air filter pays for itself in the first 1,500 miles. That's actually something for nothing!

By the way, where you live has a bearing on filter changes too. Airborne contamination is relatively high in the country and suburbs, but it is approximately twice as bad in the cities, and 15 times as heavy around industry and construction! In more polluted areas the air filter should be checked and perhaps changed more frequently. Fram reminds us, it's a clean thought to keep in mind.

No Age Limit for Payment of SS Tax

There is no age limit for the payment of social security taxes, but all workers, regardless of their age, pay the tax on their covered earnings. This reminder comes from Gus Jones, District Manager of the Sherman district office of the Social Security Administration.

"It makes no difference that a worker may be over age 65, or over age 72, or receiving social security insurance payments," Jones explained. "Social security taxes are payable if a worker is paid covered wages of any amount, or has covered income of $400 or more from his own business in a year."

Wages paid to the spouse, or child under age 21, by an individual employer, are not covered by social security, and should not be reported, Jones pointed out; however, the wages of a parent who works in the business of his son or daughter are covered but not if the parent works in his child's home.

Well, What Do You Know? fun, games and knowledge

by MARTHA GLAUBER SHAPP, Editor, The New Book of Knowledge

What is a solar eclipse?

An eclipse of the sun is called a solar eclipse. It occurs when the moon passes directly between the sun and earth. As seen from various points on the earth, the moon blocks out the sun. A total eclipse of the sun occurs only when the sun, moon, and earth are in a straight line. You might expect this to happen once a month. But because of the tilt of the moon's orbit, it happens only about twice a year.

How long do insects live?

There is no average length of life for adult insects as a group. The life of one kind of insect may be very short. Most adult moths and butterflies live for only a few days or weeks. Some insects live for one summer; some live for several years. Probably the insect with the longest life is the queen of one kind of termite that lives in the tropics. Some scientists think this queen termite may live for as long as 50 years.

Why do we have Easter eggs?

The egg has symbolized renewed life since ancient days. The egg is said to be a symbol of life because in all living creatures life begins in the egg. The Persians and Egyptians also colored eggs and ate them during their new year's celebration, which came in the spring.

What is the origin of the clef signs?

The clef signs come from the old Gothic letters C, F, and G, which were placed on certain lines of the staff to indicate the pitch of that line and, consequently, the pitch of the remaining lines and spaces. The word "clef," which is a French word, comes from the Latin clavis, or "key." The signs were called keys because they unlocked the secrets of the staff.

A&M Specialist Tells Why Food Prices Are Higher

A lot is being said about high food prices these days, but few explanations are being offered other than accusations as to who is to blame. "Beware of the fickle finger of guilt lest it point to each of us," contends Dr. William Vastine, food distribution specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service at Texas A&M University.

"For instance, consumer demands and tastes have increased drastically over recent years," says the specialist. "Higher quality foods are demanded and more convenience items are requested. Variety and convenience are key words in the present state of food products."

Non-food items are also getting a larger share of every dollar spent at the supermarket. Recent studies indicate that about 28 cents of each dollar spent at food outlets goes for non-food items, notes Vastine. For example, he adds that more total money is being spent at supermarkets for paper products and foil than for eggs.

Some Supermarkets now offer almost 10,000 items to meet varying consumer demands. "It's difficult to compare prices with so many new items being added to grocery shelves during the past few years," the specialist points out.

"Granted, food prices have increased, some 3 percent last year, and are expected to increase 4 to 4.5 percent in 1972. But not all food items have gone up in price. Consider poultry and dairy products and pork. All these have experienced price declines in recent months, according to information from the U.S. Department of Agriculture."

The factors of supply and demand have a big effect on food prices, according to the specialist. "A good example is beef. Beef has been in short supply and high demand so naturally prices have been higher. In fact, beef prices have increased to the peak level they were in 1952. On the other hand, can you list

Texoma RPC Gets $21,200 from State For Police Work

Texoma Regional Planning Commission, Denison, was one of 26 regional and metropolitan area planning councils awarded criminal justice planning grants for fiscal 1973 today by Governor Preston Smith. Amount was $21,200.

The awards, totaling $793,718, will come from the Criminal Justice Council, which oversees statewide law enforcement planning and administers funds from the U.S.

Department of Justice for crime control projects in Texas.

many other items that are at the same price level that they were 20 years ago?" "Although beef prices are up at the present time, beef producers are not necessarily getting rich. Costs have skyrocketed, especially the cost of replacement stock. The cost-price squeeze which has been evident in agriculture in recent years has made it difficult to realize a profit," says Vastine.

Processing and retailing costs have also spiraled. And with consumers demanding more processing and special packaging, prices of products on the grocery shelf may be quite high compared to a few years ago. In many cases, home preparation may be the answer to high food prices, contends the specialist.

The old adage of "you get what you pay for" may never be more true than it is today, says Vastine. "If we were willing to go back to the standard of living of 20 years ago, the total food bill might not seem so high. Yet, back then the consumer was paying 23 cents of his take-home dollar for food as compared with only about 16 cents today."

Where do the other 84 cents of the take-home dollar go? How about a new or second car, a camper, color television, eating out and all the other luxuries we enjoy? The prices of many of these things have increased more rapidly than prices of food items, yet, we are not as conscious of such increases.

Schoech Family Is Together for Visit

Mr. and Mrs. Andy Schoech entertained children and grandchildren who joined this week at their home for a vacation visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Schoech and six children Mel Jr., Arnie, Joy, Ricky, Aaron and Sissy came from Kingsville and Father Frowin Schoech came from Subiaco, Ark.

They met Sunday evening in Dallas at the home of their sister and brother-in-law, the Peter Walls, and came to Muenster together.

Monday the group celebrated Aaron's fourth birthday with a party featuring games, refreshments and party favors. A cousin Sherie Felderhoff also was a guest.

Mrs. Wall came from Dallas Wednesday to spend the day.

The Melvin Schoechs started home Thursday. Father Frowin will return to Subiaco Saturday and go from there to Memphis, Tenn., to spend the summer.

Insurance Group Elects Delegates To State Meeting

Meeting of Muenster Branch of Catholic Life Insurance Union was held here Thursday evening in the Parish Hall.

A social hour and fried chicken meal were followed by a short business session during which delegates were elected to the state convention to be held in Victoria on July 14, 15 and 16.

Delegates named are Al Hess, Alfred Rohmer, Joe Hoening, Arthur Endres, Bernard Swirczynski and Wilfred Bindel.

Tom Acker, district supervisor, gave a talk on the merits of Catholic Life Insurance, stressing that a portion of premiums is returned to the local branch. There is a choice of policy to cover almost any need and the union is in strong financial condition having reserves well above state requirements, he said.

During the week 13 groups of campers enjoyed reed basket weaving, Macrame, cardboard loom weaving, cornstarch and soda clay modeling, rock gardens and dried grasses, tie dyeing, leather necklaces, hanging pots, sand modeling, rock painting, making wind chimes.

They also practiced lashing, fire building, compass reading, knots, use of tools, sign language, singing, nature trails and outdoor cooking.

On the final evening a Ceremony was held in the usual amphitheatre on the side of a hill and the girls proved to their parents and friends in the program that they could live in the woods without home luxuries.

Group leaders from Muenster were Mrs. Betty Ann Trubenbach and Mrs. Loyd Trubenbach. Other mothers of the 11 local girls each spent one day at camp.

Pixy Bluebirds present were Leslie Reiter, Rene Stelzer, Donna Trubenbach, Jennie Felderhoff, Susie Felderhoff and Tina Hesse.

Is your minister inclined to make his sermons too lengthy? Remind him of this story of Mark Twain's: "I once heard a preacher who was powerful good. I decided to give him every cent I had with me. But he kept at it too long. "Ten minutes later I decided to keep the bills and just give him loose change. Another ten minutes and I was darned if I'd give him anything at all. "Then when he finally stopped, and the plate came around, I was so exhausted, I extracted two dollars out of sheer spite."

Insurance Group Elects Delegates To State Meeting

Meeting of Muenster Branch of Catholic Life Insurance Union was held here Thursday evening in the Parish Hall.

A social hour and fried chicken meal were followed by a short business session during which delegates were elected to the state convention to be held in Victoria on July 14, 15 and 16.

Delegates named are Al Hess, Alfred Rohmer, Joe Hoening, Arthur Endres, Bernard Swirczynski and Wilfred Bindel.

Tom Acker, district supervisor, gave a talk on the merits of Catholic Life Insurance, stressing that a portion of premiums is returned to the local branch. There is a choice of policy to cover almost any need and the union is in strong financial condition having reserves well above state requirements, he said.

During the week 13 groups of campers enjoyed reed basket weaving, Macrame, cardboard loom weaving, cornstarch and soda clay modeling, rock gardens and dried grasses, tie dyeing, leather necklaces, hanging pots, sand modeling, rock painting, making wind chimes.

They also practiced lashing, fire building, compass reading, knots, use of tools, sign language, singing, nature trails and outdoor cooking.

On the final evening a Ceremony was held in the usual amphitheatre on the side of a hill and the girls proved to their parents and friends in the program that they could live in the woods without home luxuries.

Group leaders from Muenster were Mrs. Betty Ann Trubenbach and Mrs. Loyd Trubenbach. Other mothers of the 11 local girls each spent one day at camp.

Girls Grooming Class Held in Muenster

The "Pigtails and Powder Puffs" course on grooming sponsored by Cooke County Electric Co-op and conducted by Carolyn Block was in Muenster this week, June 26-30. There will be another course here July 10 to 14 in Muenster Public High School.

A farmer came in one evening to find the whole house in a mess.

"What on earth happened?" he asked his wife. "You're always wondering what I do all day," she replied. "Well, now you know. I didn't do it today!"

The young couple had been keeping up an animated conversation throughout the concert, and finally a man behind them exclaimed, "What a pesky nuisance!"

The young man turned indignantly and asked, "Were you referring to me, sir?" "Goodness, no," the man assured him blandly.

"I meant the musicians — they're making such an infernal racket that I can't make out a word you're saying."

Just before the molting period, ducks and geese fly to bodies of water where they will be safe from land enemies. The reason: They molt their primary feathers all at one time and for a short period cannot fly.

Alex Lutkenhaus was surprised with a birthday party and family gathering Sunday at the home of Lennie Vogel in Dallas. Mrs. Joe Vogel baked the birthday cake.

Elmo, not known for his agile brain, came back to his locked car and found the keys not in his pocket. Looking into the car he saw them dangling from the ignition. He decided to call the dealer where he had purchased the auto and asked him what to do.

"Tell me," he asked, "how can I get in?"

"Hold on," said the dealer. "We'll send you a set of duplicate keys."

"Hurry," replied Elmo, "It looks like rain and the top is down."

Confetti - - - like a sure way to cause a switch by every conservative and middle of the roader in the party.

Of course there's also a possibility that he will appeal to lots of liberal Republicans and take their votes away from Nixon. The situation seems to suggest that this time more than ever before the parties may come out of the campaign rather definitely identified as liberal and conservative. That would be a big improvement over our present silly system in which each party has both liberals and conservatives but neither has a definite set of principles. We're hoping for a clear cut difference in policy along with the difference of name.

Mike Lutkenhaus, small son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lutkenhaus, is recovering from a broken collar bone sustained when he fell out of bed.

It pays to advertise with the Muenster Enterprise.
