VOLUME XLIV

MUENSTER COOKE COUNTY TEXAS 76252

JANUARY 4, 1980

NUMBER 7

As we are exchanging the customary good wishes at the arrival of another new year, few if any of us are remembering that an old friend of this country has little reason to be happy. January 1, 1980, is the date on which this country's betrayal of Taiwan, the Republic of China, becomes effective.

As some of us will recall, in spite of deplorably inadequate objection by the media, The Carter Administration in December, 1978, broke diplomatic relationship with the Republic of China in order to satisfy the demands of Communist China, whose friendship we were so eager to win.

The Reds told Carter and Company that an essential condition for establishing diplomatic relations with them was to break diplomatic relations with Taiwan. It was a simple ugly condition that "you can't be my friend unless you will betray and insult this other friend."

It made no difference that the former friend did nothing to deserve such treatment, that in fact the relations had been ideal for thirty years. It made no difference that basic courtesy as well as appreciation and mutual respect urged us to stand by an old friend; nor that we were turning against one of the few remaining supporters of our free way of life and helping a sworn enemy of freedom and this country; nor that the word of the Reds is worthless and our commitment to Red China will be in effect only as long as it serves the Red purpose.

In spite of all that, our administration went along with the Communists. We turned traitor to basic integrity and honor as well as to our country's best interests when we knuckled under to the arrogant Red demand.

More recently the administration capitulated to another Communist demand. It has terminated its mutual defense treaty with the Republic of China. Also effective on January 1, is the new U.S. policy not to help the ROC in case some other country tries to take it over. Considering that Mainland China has been claiming a right to jurisdiction over the little nation, and has vowed to take it, this declaration of the US hands-off policy is equivalent to an invitation for the Reds to help themselves.

This attitude is especially regrettable in the light of our part in the Communist takeover of the Mainland China and establishment of the Republic of China. When Chiang Kai-shek in the late forties was resisting the Red revolution we responded with too little and too late in our promise to help the Chinese struggle for survival. However we did back up our promise to the extent of helping refugees establish themselves on Taiwan, and signing a mutual defense treaty to guarantee their independence. Because of our involvement in getting Taiwanese into their present predicament, we certainly ought to feel some responsibility to them. Leaving them abandoned is a violation of principle.

About the only thing to be said in our favor is that our break-away is slightly modified by lifting an embargo on arms sales to the ROC. The ban on shipments, which had been in effect since diplomatic relations with Mainland China were established more than a year ago, expired January 1. Apparently the Reds, who are dictating our policies with ROC, decided the let us do that much business with our old friends. But they draw the line on sophisticated weapons which would be more effective in defense of the island republic. F-16 fighter aircraft, ASW anti-submarine missiles, ships and some other aircraft are still ban-

Postal Service Sponsors National Letter Writing Week

The Postal Service announced today it will sponsor a National Letter Writing Week from February 24 through March 1, 1980.

The objectives of the special week are to focus attention on the power of the written word and letter writing to shape opinions, preserve memories, lift spirits, and link people and to encourage more personal correspondence.

There will be special school activities, highlighted by the publication of a new 64-page book, "All About Letters," prepared by the Postal Service with the cooperation of the National Council of Teachers of English. The book is designed for students in grades six through twelve and will be distributed by the Council.

During National Letter Writing Week, many post offices will offer to students special guided tours of their facilities and in some cases will send postal representatives to classrooms to talk and answer questions about the mail service.

The Weather

Low and high temperatures of the past week were recorded as follows by Steve Moster. Dec. 27, 46 and 62; 28th, 52 and 55; 30th, 34 and 48; 31st, 32 and 50; Jan. 1, 30 and 60; Jan. 2, 40 and 62.

Moisture readings were .03 on Dec. 28, .77 on Dec. 29, and .02 on Dec. 30. The rain totals were .82 for the week and 2.06 inches for the month.

MHS Wins Trophy At Springtown

Muenster High's Hornets won their second trophy of the season during the past weekend in a holiday tournament at Springtown. They were winners of the consolation bracket by a 75-66 score in a hot contest with Carroll-Southlake. Their previous trophy was for runner-up in the champ bracket of Slidell's tournament.

The Hornets could not find the basket in their opening game with Springtown. They ended the first quarter at the short end of 15-7 and were outscored in the next periods also for deficits of 37-22 and 57-32. Finally they gained in the fourth, but not enough. Final score was 73-55.

MHS scorers were Todd Richey 19, Don Frazier 18, Floyd Felderhoff 5, Phil Wolf 5, Mark Felderhoff 4, Ricky Winn 4.

In the consolation semifinal with Milsap they jumped to a 19-3 first quarter lead and used most of the margin in the next three periods while hanging on for a 58-54 win. They led 33-23 at the half and 45-42 at the third and gained one point in the fourth.

In addition to schools, National Letter Writing Week will also be observed by business, media and trade associations. Museums, public libraries and other buildings of historic significance will be encouraged to display books about letters and letters written by famous people who have helped influence the course of human events throughout the ages.

The occasion will also be marked by the issuance of a special three-pair set of U.S. postage stamps.

Prominent Americans in all walks of life are being asked to share with the Postal Service letters from their experience that have preserved memories, shaped opinions, and lifted spirits, the three themes to be stressed during Letter Writing Week. The results of this survey will be made available during the Week.

All-Area Selections Honor Father Stephen and Tigers

Sacred Heart's Tigers and Valley View's Eagles, the two district champions of this area in 1979 football, shared top honors in the Gainesville Register's selection of all area teams and coaches as published in the Register during the weekend.

Included in the area are all near-by teams except the Gainesville Leopards, a

Bob Knauf Named On Farm Bureau State Committee

Bob Knauf is a member of the Texas Farm Bureau Young Farmer and Rancher Advisory Committee. He has just been notified of the appointment by Carrol Chaloupka, president of the Texas Farm Bureau.

The committee, which includes one member from each of the state's 13 Farm Bureau districts, has the responsibility of evaluating current Farm Bureau programs and their effectiveness in fulfilling Young Farmer and Rancher needs. It is provided with vast amounts of important information enabling members to become more informed about subject areas vitally affecting farmers and ranchers.

Events scheduled soon on Knauf's calendar are the Texas Farm Bureau's leadership conference at Austin in January and the national Young Farmers and Ranchers convention at Nashville, Tenn., in February.

TP&L Asks for Rate Hike

Texas Power & Light Company will file Jan. 4 with the City Council of Muenster and the Public Utility Commission of Texas a request for a $124 million, 15.35 per cent systemwide increase in revenues, Tom Parsons said today.

Parsons said that the rate increase is being sought "primarily because of the effect of inflation on all areas of the Company operation. We are also experiencing more costs as a result of increasing federal regulations. This is especially true in TP&L's program to construct new generating plants that use lignite coal and nuclear fuels."

The overall request is an average for all classes of customers. The increase will vary from one rate class to another.

For example, the average monthly residential bill, based on 11,440 kilowatt hours per year, would increase $8.04 per month or 20.6 per cent. Rates for municipal services would increase 20.1 per cent and commercial and industrial 12.7 per cent.

"With the effects of inflation and with the need to build power plants that use fuel other than gas and oil, present revenues are going to be inadequate to meet our costs of providing service in the future," Parsons said.

The Power Plant and Industrial Fuel Use Act of 1978 requires that utilities cannot use gas as a boiler fuel except under certain exemptions after Jan. 1 1990. Texas Power & Light is producing 50 per cent of its electricity with lignite coal at this time.

And that figure is due to rise as the Company has five lignite-fueled units either under construction or planned.

The Company also is joint owner in the Comanche Peak nuclear power plant near Glen Rose that is estimated to have the first of two units on line in 1981.

"As supplies of natural gas and oil become less available, and much more expensive, the use of lignite and nuclear fuels will continue to help ensure that our customers will have a dependable supply of electricity at a reasonable price," Parsons said.

"Inflation is TP&L's most serious problem," he said. "We also know that inflation is hurting our customers, and we understand why no one wants another rate increase."

We have to ask for additional rate relief at this time if we are to meet our obligations to our customers and to continue our present construction schedule, covering from gas to lignite and nuclear," Parsons said.

"It has been two years since we have asked for a rate increase and this request is in compliance with the President's voluntary price guidelines. But I must emphasize that this increase is the minimum we feel is necessary to continue our program to utilize the less expensive and more abundant fuels to supply electricity to our customers."

Harvey Schmitt Elected Fire Chief

Harvey Schmitt, assistant chief of the Muenster Volunteer Firemen for two years, is the newly elected chief succeeding Rick Stewart who has served in the office for two years and was assistant for six years.

Others elected are Chris Sicking as assistant chief succeeding Schmitt, Ronnie Felderhoff as secretary-treasurer succeeding Tom Swirczynski who has served four years, and Rick Stewart as trustee succeeding Henry Pels whose term has expired. Trustees who continue in office are John Yosten 2 years, and Herbie Knabe, 1 year.

Members of the fire department and their years of service are as follows. Don Abney 2, Clinton Endres 5, Ronnie Felderhoff 2, Clyde Fisher 16, Mike Frost 4, Jim Gehrig 3, Alvin Hartman, Bobby Hartman 2, Jerry Hennigan 2, Ervin Henscheid 10, Andy Knabe 2, Henry Knabe 7, Herbie Knabe 14, Henry Pels 24, Harvey Schmitt 14, Ed Schneider 24, Chris Sicking 2, Rex Simmons 2, Rick Stewart 10, Tom Swirczynski 6, Bob Vogel 14, Jim Vogel 11, Jim Voth 11, Bob Walterscheid 12, Rick Walterscheid 3, Randy Williams 1, John Yosten 11.

Retired members with 20 or more years of active service are Joe Fisher, Joe Knabe, Earl Fisher, Ed Endres and Gene Hoedebeck.

AAA team.

Area coaches of the year are Father Stephen Eckart of the Tigers and John Kassen of the Eagles. Both of their teams advanced to semi-finals of their respective districts in the state playoffs.

The dream teams were identified as first, second and honorable mention on offense, and first, second and honorable mention on defense. Valley View led the list with 14 selections and Sacred Heart was next with 9. Other team representatives were Lindsay 8, Callisburg 7, Whitesboro 6, Muenster 4, Saint Jo 3 and Era 3.

Sacred Heart selections were listed as follows. First Offense: Mel Walterscheid, tight end. Second Offense: Mark Nasche, running back and Paul Bartush, tackle. Honorable Mention Offense: Kenny Hartman, quarterback. First Defense: John Hartman, line and Mike Hesse, secondary. Second Defense: Paul Bartush, line and Kenny Hartman, linebacker.

Muenster Hornet selections were as follows. Second offense: Curtis Pagel, guard. Honorable Mention Offense: Kevin Klement, running back. First Defense: Curtis Pagel, lineman. Second Defense: Floyd Felderhoff, end.

IRS Receives Copies of Taxpayer Income Reports

Around the first of every year, your employer, bank, the company you own stock in, and others who paid you income send you statements showing how much was paid to you the previous year. Later, when you file your federal income tax return, you have to include on your return the information from the statements.

You're not the only one who gets copies of these statements. Your bank, employer, stockbroker send returns to the Internal Revenue Service as well. That adds up to quite a lot of information returns. In 1977, over 494 million information returns arrived at the ten IRS Service Centers. Over two thirds of these were sent on magnetic computer tape, disks and diskettes. The rest were paper forms. What does the IRS do with this information? As often as possible, it matches the returns against the amounts taxpayers report on their income tax returns. IRS calls this the Information Returns Program.

The present IRS matching efforts are largely a result of the Revenue Act of 1962. That legislation required payers of income, such as interest and dividends as low as ten dollars, to furnish information statements or returns to both those receiving the payment and the IRS. By using its then newly acquired computers, IRS could match those returns with income tax returns and determine if a return had been filed and if all income had been properly reported.

Income information is reported to the IRS on three basic types of information returns. The ones individual taxpayers are probably most familiar with are the W-2 Forms they receive from employers showing wages, tips, other compensation and the amount of tax withheld. Another type, Forms 1099 and 1087 are sent to the IRS by corporations, banks, etc., and reports rents, royalties, interest, dividends and other non-wage income. A third type of information return includes income distribution schedules from partnerships, small businesses and fiduciary tax returns. In addition, some foreign countries have treaties with the U.S. reporting income earned abroad by U.S. citizens.

Soil Conservation District Sponsors Essay Contest

For the 20th consecutive year high school students of the Upper Elm-Red Soil and Water Conservation District are invited to participate in an essay contest on conservation sponsored by directors of the district.

J.H. Bayer, chairman of the board, made the announcement this week, stating that any boy or girl living in Upper Elm-Red SWCD who is not a high school graduate may enter the contest. The essay subject is "Forty Years of Soil and Water Conservation Districts in Texas," and the entry deadline is February 1, 1980. The essays will be judged locally in the district and incentive prizes of $25, $15 and $10 will be awarded for first, second and third places respectively. The first place award will be presented at the annual conservation awards banquet in the spring.

Bayer urges all vocational agriculture teachers of the three-county district, along with English teachers, to encourage student participation as an exercise in good composition as well as an occasion to become better informed on conservation of natural resources.

Entries of 300 words or less should be sent to the Upper Elm-Red SWCD, P.O. Box 340, Gainesville, Texas, 76240, no later than February 1, 1980. Each essay must be identified by the contestant's name, address and name of school plainly written on the first page or attached.

Receiving an award in this contest does not jeopardize a student's eligibility in the Texas Interscholastic League.

Golf Tournament Scheduled Sunday

Members of the Muenster Golf Association will have their monthly tournament next Sunday, Jan. 6, 10 a.m. at the Gainesville Golf Course. It will be a scramble tournament preceded by a short meeting. The directors, Adam Wolf, Dan Hamric and Mark Hess especially urge the new members to enter.

1979 Moisture Measured 36.02 in

Rainfall of the past year, which started strong and ended weak, finally came out with 1.48 inch more than the average of the previous ten years. The total, as shown on Steve Moster's official weather bureau record was 36.02 inches whereas the average of 1969 through 1978 was 34.59.

The past year started with generous moisture, in the form of snow and sleet as well as rain, and had the area in great condition for the year's extra good grain crop. The total through May was 24.52 inches, after which the next seven months produced only 11.50 inches.

Herewith is the rain measure of the past year along with that of the previous ten years. It shows that the total was above normal five times and below normal six times. Also that the first half of the year is normally wetter than the second however the months of heavy rainfall have been mostly in the second half of the year. Sept. 1970 has the record with 11.61 and August 1971 is next with 11.57. Other big months were September and October, 1974, with 8.94 and 9.28 and July '73 with 8.91. Last year's wettest was March with 8.97.

MORE ON THE CHRYSLER PROBLEM
 The nation's tenth largest company, the Chrysler Corporation, worth some $13 billion is putting up a tremendous fight for its corporate life. One of the most formidable lobbying efforts in history has been organized in an attempt to get congressional support for government aid to save the ailing auto maker. High-powered Washington lobbyists, with both Democrat and Republican connections, have been engaged to direct the effort, aided by senators and congressmen from states with large concentrations of Chrysler employees. Also enlisted are the 4,700 dealers and many of the 19,000 suppliers. The Congress and the public are being inundated with the propaganda deluge designed to induce the Federal government to provide loan guarantees. This means, on the bottom line, a subsidy from the taxpayers although Chrysler does not present it in that light, of course.

What has brought on the problem for this huge corporation which has seen its share of the auto market drop from 16 percent in 1970 to 9 percent this year? In a word: mismanagement! In a study to provide background data and illuminate the potential economic consequences of a Chrysler bankruptcy, the Congressional Budget Office inadvertently documented this major cause when it reported that most Chrysler facilities are in the Detroit area and "are old, inefficient in their spatial layout, limited in their potential for expansion, and located in areas known to have some of the most inefficient and troublesome workforces available." There you have it spelled out: management failed to make the right decisions to modernize or relocate as other auto makers did.

Although our economic system is certainly no longer truly "free enterprise," fortunately it is largely still "private enterprise." At any rate, we should be intelligent enough not to weaken the system but rather should strive to strengthen it wherever possible. The system is directed by the twin mechanisms of profit and loss. The consumers, by their patronage or lack thereof, determine what is going to be produced. Those businesses which supply the wants of the consumers earn profits; those which do not suffer losses. It is as important that we permit losses to occur as that we allow profits, because losses eliminate the inefficient and divert capital to other more productive uses. In the words of Dr. Milton Friedman, "Bailing out Chrysler would simply preserve unproductive jobs at the expense of productive jobs." After all, there is only so much capital available to the economy. It is vitally important that capital, as all other scarce resources, be allocated properly. The unhampered market will do this most efficiently. We must not set the precedent of establishing government as the allocator of capital. To bailout Chrysler would amount to exactly that.

Although there were 6,000 bankruptcies last year and 7,000 the year before, it may not be necessary for Chrysler to declare bankruptcy. There is good evidence to indicate that Chrysler could be saved by reform of the excessively stringent regulatory statutes which hurt that firm and all others. According to Congressman David A. Stockman of Michigan, the Motor Vehicle Regulatory Improvement Act, if passed, would permit Chrysler to obtain the necessary financing "in the private money market rather than at the public trough," and save "new car buyers as much as $1,000 per car by eliminating Washington-mandated extras they don't want and don't need." As always, freedom works best!

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
 TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—State Capitol halls were decked out in the Christmas spirit last week, but government slowed to an idle as employees left for the holidays. While taxpayers are mulling the benefits of one week of "less government," they can also enjoy a couple of Christmas presents from the state.

State Treasurer Warren G. Harding announced the treasury received an extra $189 million from interest earned during the fiscal year ending Nov. 30. It was a nice present for Harding, too, since he campaigned on a theme of better money management practices and increased earnings from state cash funds.

Another half-plus for citizens is a State Insurance Board staff proposal to lower premiums on credit life, accident and health insurance.

If the proposal becomes policy, premiums would drop 14 percent on credit life and 10 percent on credit accident and health. Consumers could save $25 to $120 on a typical 2- to 5-year loan, the staff said.

Radioactive "Incidents"
 A Department of Health official last week said Texas has had about 300 "incidents" involving radioactive materials, with about 45 involving transportation of the materials.

Ed Baily, administrator of the Radiation Control Branch, defined an "incident" as a case of overexposure of radiation, improper packaging of radiation source shipments, loss of such materials, or anything "out of the ordinary" that calls for special investigation. Baily spoke at a seminar to inform users, shippers, transporters and receivers of such materials about regulatory requirements.

Baily said reporting of transportation incidents was "very good," but that some licensees were hesitant in reporting incidents from fear of bad publicity.

He also said he thought the handling of radioactive materials was better regulated than hazardous chemical wastes.

Special Session
 Gov. Bill Clements, concerned about the recent large buildup of radioactive waste in Texas, said creating a nuclear waste storage dump in Texas may be the fourth topic for the special session he intends to call in March or September.

Clements has also said he supports the creation of such a dump in New Mexico, not Texas.

In general, debate on the controversial subject is not centered on the need for a dump, but on its eventual location.

Clements' late concern is an apparent turnaround from his statement last year that Texas was willing to accommodate a nuclear waste dump. Some 2,000 55-gallon drums of waste per month brought into the Galveston area this fall have caused many state officials to rethink the issue.

Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby thinks any special session would be a waste of tax money. Interviewed on the Capitol Eye radio-television program, Hobby slammed all of Clements' reasons for wanting to bring the Legislature back to Austin.

—Hobby thinks initiative and referendum is a bypass of the legislative process of examination and compromise. Clements is a strong advocate of I&R.

—Hobby thinks wiretapping is an intrusion of government into the lives of private citizens and that controls should be increased. Clements is the state's strongest advocate of increased wiretapping of narcotics traffickers.

—Clements wants broad tax relief measures. Hobby argues that Texas is "one of the lowest-taxing states," and that Texas education already will need more money because of an increase in children in the public school system.

Hobby, who presides over the Senate, and House Speaker Bill Clayton both see no need for the promised special session. Should Clements go ahead and call the legislators back to their chambers, the resulting fireworks may be visible both in Mexico and Oklahoma.

Clements: Defeat Carter

When President Jimmy Carter comes to campaign in Texas, Clements may well toss a rubber chicken onto his presidential dinner plate, just as he did to former Attorney General John Hill, Clements' gubernatorial opponent.

The Republican governor has never been more outspoken in his opposition to the president as he was at a gathering of petroleum officials last week.

Clements urged the petroleum industry to work to defeat Carter at the polls.

And responding to a query about his policy differences with Sen. Edward Kennedy, Clements said: "I'm not sure what Kennedy knows. He certainly didn't know his way to the ferry, did he?"

Later that evening Clements said he was willing to study the establishing of a state aid system in Texas to allow parents to send their children to private schools.

The widespread belief that crocodiles eat their young is false, according to National Wildlife magazine. After baby crocs emerge from their eggs, their mother does take them into her mouth—into a piece of elastic skin across her lower jaw—but only to carry them safely to water's edge for release.

Accent On Health

Texas Department of Health
 Raymond T. Moore, M.D.,
 Commissioner

If you're looking for better health in 1980 and the years to come, start with an evaluation of your own health habits.

You'll be surprised how much you can do for yourself.

"Everyone should assume more responsibility for his or her own good health. In fact, you could say that good health today is a do-it-yourself proposition in many ways," says Dr. C. R. Allen Jr., Director of the Chronic Disease Division of the Texas Department of Health.

"You may think that what I'm suggesting may sound a bit old fashioned in this age of organ transplants, open-heart surgery, and other forms of highly-sophisticated medical technology," said Dr. Allen. But, he adds, the following suggestions will work.

(1) Develop a sense of health awareness. "This includes having regular physical examinations, following your doctor's instructions, and learning basic first aid such as cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR)," Dr. Allen said. "Learn to take care of yourself by adopting an overall healthy lifestyle."

Dr. Allen said a few years ago, Dr. Lester Breslow, Dean of the School of Public Health, University of California, studied 7,000 adults for five and one-half years.

"Results showed that seven simple health habits—three meals a day at regular intervals, eating breakfast, moderate exercise, seven or eight hours sleep at night, moderate weight, no smoking, and no alcohol or only in moderation—were associated with a longer life," he explained.

"These specific studies showed that a 45-year-old man who practices at least three of these habits can expect to live to about age 67. But a man who has six or seven of these habits can expect to live to age 78, a difference of 11 years. Also, the study showed that the physical health of those following all seven was consistently about the same as those 30 years younger who followed few or none of them."

(2) Learn more about good nutrition. You should maintain your normal weight. Too much weight contributes to high blood pressure, hardening of the arteries and other medical problems. Don't overlook fresh fruits and vegetables. Eat three balanced meals a day and try to reduce the intake of salt, saturated fat and sugar. It is estimated that the consumption of sugar exceeds 125 pounds per American per year.

(3) Avoid substance abuse. Stop smoking. Smoking has been linked to lung cancer, pulmonary disease, heart disease and other health problems.

Avoid alcohol in excess. "Certainly one can't deny the relationship of alcohol to the number of auto accidents and the homicides that occur in Texas yearly. During 1978, accidents were the fourth leading cause of death, homicides the seventh, and suicides the eighth in Texas," Dr. Allen said.

(4) Get regular exercise and adequate rest. There are many ways to exercise. Jogging might be right for some, while brisk walking could be better for others. Getting plenty of sleep is important during the cold winter months, when the body's defenses should be at their peak.

(5) Use your seat belts. "Once again, I think it is important to remember that accidents were the fourth leading cause of deaths in Texas, right behind deaths from heart disease, cancer, and cerebrovascular

(6) Learn to manage stress and try to enjoy your life. "Each and everyone of us whose work is not physically demanding, should have an exercise program, hobbies or outside interests to relieve the stress," said Dr. Allen. "I think it is also important to remember that what might be the maximum for you in emotional stress or physical stress, might be minimum for another person. You should just make sure that you are not exceeding what your body or mind can stand."

Dr. Allen cited an example. "It's been said that the reason Jack Nicklaus is such a good golfer is because he enjoys fishing so much. At times the golfing tour becomes demanding and creates stress. So what does Nicklaus do? He grabs a fishing pole to relax."

Double Ring Ceremony Unites Laura Kralicke and Kevin Pels

Laura Ann Kralicke became the bride of Kevin H. Pels Saturday evening, December 29, in a Nuptial Mass in Sacred Heart Church at 5 p.m. Father Stephen Eckart officiated for the double ring ceremony before a main altar decorated with red poinsettias and Christmas trees.

The bride is a daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Martin Kralicke and the groom is a son of Mrs. Ed Pels and the late Mr. Pels.

The bride was presented at the altar by her father. She was wearing a formal bridal gown of ivory satin designed with a Victorian neckline, bishop sleeves and chapel length train. The entire bodice and sleeves were appliqued with silk Venice lace which also formed an elegant border at the skirt hemline.

A cap of matching lace held her cathedral length veil.

She carried a cascade silk arrangement of white bridal flowers accented with pale green florets and miniature dahlias, carnations, valley lilies and forget-me-nots and pale burgundy roses. Her great-grandmother's rosary was entwined in the bridal bouquet for sentiment and "something borrowed" was the traditional sixpence.

Attendants
The wedding ceremony began just before twilight, and as the processional began, church lights were dimmed and the sanctuary was lighted only by two large Christmas trees and traditional religious Christmas decorations. For the processional the bridal attendants carried lighted, globed candles tied with light green and burgundy

Hood Club Holds
Christmas Party

The Hood Community Improvement Club held its annual Christmas party on Saturday evening, December 15 in the club building.

Mrs. Raymond Zimmerer and Mrs. Eva Thomsen led Christmas carols.

Young people of the community, directed by Mrs. Imogene Zimmerer and Mrs. Lanita Lewter, presented a short program.

Each member received a gift that had been placed near the decorated Christmas tree.

Refreshments of candy, cookies, sandwiches, chips and dips, coffee and tea were served to members and guests.

The next meeting of the Hood Community Improvement Club will be on January 14 at 7:30 p.m. in the club building.

roses, and velvet streamers and placed them on the altar where they remained throughout the ceremony. As the organist began the Wedding March the Church was again fully lighted as the bride and her father approached the altar.

Dianne Kralicke was her sister's maid of honor. Liz Kralicke, another sister of Dallas, Bev Pels, the groom's sister of Muenster and Susan Lee, a friend, of Lake Village, Arkansas were bridesmaids.

They were identically gownned in dresses of Bangkok Teal Quiana designed with pleated bodice, peplum waistline and high Victorian neckline.

The flower girl was Susette Fuhrmann, groom's niece and the ring bearer was Matthew Stormer, bride's nephew. The flower girl wore a white dress with sash matching the bridesmaids' dresses, and carried a basket of flowers.

Scott Felderhoff, a friend of the groom was the best man and groomsmen were John Bartush, a friend, Mark Hess a cousin, and Jeff Young a friend of Cleveland, Texas.

Ushers were Dr. Stephen Kralicke, bride's brother of Grapevine and Bob Pels, groom's brother.

Readings for the Liturgy were given by the bride's sister, Margaret Stormer and by the groom's brother, Guy Pels.

Wedding music included songs by the bride's sister Mary Lou Kralicke with organ or guitar accompaniment, as guests assembled and during the Mass; organ music by Mrs. David Bright accompanied by flutist Julia Bright for the wedding processional; and a vocal solo "Ave Maria" by the bride's father, as the couple knelt at the Blessed Virgin's altar after the ceremony.

The bride and groom lit their Unity candle following their vows, and placed it between the bridesmaids' candles on the altar.

Reception

A reception, dinner and dance followed in the Sacred Heart Community Center for 350 guests. Linda Flusche and Lynda Yosten secured signatures in the bride's book.

Doreen Taylor, Janet Voth, Mary Endres and Gayle Miller served the wedding cake. All are friends of the bride. The all white wedding cake was four tiered and decorated with bells and doves and accented with greenery. Hall decorations included tall red candles and silver poinsettias.

Guests danced to music by Sage.

The bride and groom are graduates of Sacred Heart High School. She is a student at the University of Houston College of Optometry and he is a graduate of the University of Houston College of Pharmacy and is a registered pharmacist employed by Walgreen's in Houston. When they return from a wedding trip they will reside in Houston.

Rehearsal Dinner

The rehearsal dinner was held on Friday, December 28 in the Community Center, hosted by the groom's family for about 50 guests.

A shower honored the bride-elect on December 16 when each guest was given a letter of the alphabet and brought a gift beginning with that letter.

Out of town guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Pels and family of Shreveport, Jerry Pels of Houston, Mr. and Mrs. Bob De Rocher of San Antonio, Mr. and Mrs. H.N. Ekern of Vernon, Mr. and Mrs. Rolf Reinart and family of Wichita Falls, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Crenshaw of Wichita Falls, Mrs. Virginia Mickelson of Superior, Wisc., Dr. and Mrs. Ed Tisdale of Sherman, Mr. and Mrs. Don Pecore of San Antonio, and Mrs. Annie Weingartner of Lantana, Florida.

Also Mr. and Mrs. John Pegg of Wichita Falls, Dwayne Rohmer of St. Louis; and Alan Rohmer, Karen Luttmier and Barbie Hess all of Dallas; and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Fuhrmann of Irving, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Taylor of Terrell, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Deltz of New Braunfels and Shayne Melton of Clear Lake, Texas.

family of Gainesville. Unable to join them on Christmas were Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Campbell and Jennifer of Denver who will arrive this weekend for a visit.

In the late afternoon and evening the above group was together again in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Matt Muller for Christmas visit. Joining them were Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Muller and family of Bedford; Ed Sturges and daughter Laura of Euless; Mr. and Mrs. Pete Hellinger and family of Lindsay; Mrs. Eva Blanton and daughters of Mineral Wells; and Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Muller and family, Mr. and Mrs. Norbert Knabe and family and Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Schilling.

Raymond Zimmerer
Spending Christmas Day in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Zimmerer were Mr. and Mrs. Ray J. Zimmerer, Jr. and sons Matthew and Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Zimmerer and sons Tim, David, Anthony and Douglas, Linda Zimmerer and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Zimmerer.

Leo Henscheid
At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Henscheid, Christmas day guests were their children and grandchildren, Mr. and Mrs. Damian Hellman of Irving and their four children, all students at Texas Tech, Kevin, Linda, Donald and Joel Hellman. Also Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Henscheid and sons Jeff, Mark and Greg of Irving. Mr. and Mrs. Lenton McClendon of Dallas were guests of her parents on Sunday and Monday and drove to Devol Oklahoma to spend Christmas Day with his mother.

With the Richters
Mrs. Jodie French and Mrs. Ruthie Needham spent Christmas in Odessa in the home of their son and nephew and family, Mr. and Mrs. Billy Frank Richter and children, Gina Marie, Tracey Lynn and William Carl. The Richters moved to Odessa from Houston early last September. Jodie and Ruthie left on December 23 and returned on December 26.

Pam and Dave
Mr. and Mrs. David Fette hosted members of the Luke families following Midnight Mass on Christmas Eve.

Guests were Mrs. Fette's sister, Molly Gosney of College Station, who spent the holidays here, and Messrs. and Mmes. Anthony Luke, W.J. Luke, Dan Luke, Bernard Luke and R.N. Fette and their families and Mrs. Ben Luke.

During the party, a phone call with holiday greetings was received from Molly and Pam's parents, Col. and Mrs. Robert Gosney and daughter Amy, who are stationed in Liberia, Africa.

Mrs. Ben Luke
A family reunion was held on Christmas afternoon with a covered dish supper hosted by Dr. and Mrs. Bernard Luke and Stephen and Stuart, for members of his family.

Attending were Mrs. Ben Luke, Messrs. and Mmes. Anthony, Bill and Dan Luke and R.N. Fette and their families; and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Luke and family of Arlington. A special guest was Katie Herr of Muenster.

Dr. and Mrs. Gene Luke and family of Holbrook, Arizona spent several days here before and again after Christmas. Father Eugene Luke of Subiaco, Ark. was a guest Wednesday through Saturday. The out of town guests were hosted by the Dan Luke family for dinner Thursday evening.

Unable to join the group were Mrs. Charles Denny of San Antonio who will arrive later and the Al Kuhn family of Chesterfield, Missouri, who spent Thanksgiving here.

Black Family Reunion
Children and grandchildren from Cooke County and Dallas gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Black in Myra for the family's annual holiday reunion held this year on Christmas Eve. Dinner at 6, gift exchanging around a floor-to-ceiling decorated tree and picture taking were included with reunions. Three baby grandchildren were attending for the first time and Rosa Driever was a special guest.

Mrs. Joe Vogel
Children and grandchildren home to spend the Christmas Eve and Christmas Day with Mrs. Joe Vogel were Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Sherrill and family of Fort Worth; Mr. and Mrs. Don Vogel; and Tracey and Dale Vogel of Grand Prairie; Mr. and Mrs. John Lusk, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Vogel, Weldon and Wilbert Vogel all of Dallas; Mr. and Mrs. Danny Hoenig and family, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Beyer; Janie, Brenda and Carol Beyer, all of Denton; Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Otto and family of Gainesville; Mrs. Dorothy Beyer of Lindsay, Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Walterscheid, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Hess and family; Kari and Michael Vogel all of Muenster.

Charles Switzers
Mr. and Mrs. Charles Switzer enjoyed a family reunion, with all their children at home on Christmas Day for a gift exchange, turkey dinner and supper. Attending were Florentine, Charlie, Kevin, Charlene and Larry Switzer, also Mr. and Mrs. Steve Jeffries and Amber and Missy of Gainesville, Mr. and Mrs. Alan Britian and Jason, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Switzer of Fort Worth, Mr. and Mrs. Phil Mullins and Marcy, Darrell and Holly. Other guests were Sally Sherrill and Henry Knabe.

Ben Haverkamp
The Christmas party for Mr. and Mrs. Ben Haverkamp was held Sunday evening, December 23 at the Colonial Restaurant in Gainesville with supper prepared by a daughter, Mrs. Merlin Wilson. The honor guests opened and displayed their Christmas gifts.

Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Benny Haverkamp and family, Mr. and Mrs. Lenny Haverkamp and family, Mr. and Mrs. Alan Britian and family, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Jeffries and family, Mr. and Mrs. Phil Mullins and family, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Switzer and family, Mr. and Mrs. Lacy Shotwell and family. Merlin Wilson was unable to attend because of illness in his family; he was at the bedside of an uncle in Modesto, California.

Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. John Switzer of Yoakum, Monica Gehrig, Sally Sherrill, Glen Hess and Henry Knabe.

Texas Cabbage Hits Market

AUSTIN--Texas is currently the major supplier of winter cabbage to the United States, Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown has reported.

The reason, Brown said, is that Florida cabbage is late this season and supplies from New York, New Jersey and the Carolinas have almost disappeared.

"After a dismal start that saw our cabbage growers getting $1.75-$2 a sack, prices have risen to $2.75-$3," the Commissioner said.

An unofficial estimate of 14,000 acres is expected to be harvested in the Lower Rio Grande Valley, the state's biggest producer of winter vegetables from the fall through spring quarters.

More than 700 truckloads, each carrying 50,000 pounds of cabbage, had left the valley by mid-December. Last year's figure at the same time was 835.

County Agent Gives Advice on Storage Of Ag Chemicals

Most gardeners have agricultural chemicals left over from raising this year's garden. These chemicals should be stored properly so they will be effective next year, says Neil Tibbets, County Agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Dispose of small amounts of left-over chemicals by pouring them in a hole dug in the yard, preferably in an area away from the garden. Then fill the hole with soil. Wrap the empty container in a newspaper and break it over a trash bag with a hammer to prevent further use or possible explosion.

Tibbets advises not to destroy herbicides in this manner since they can be taken up by surrounding trees and cause severe damage.

To hold over good chemicals for next year's garden, pack the materials in airtight containers such as quart or gallon jars. Be sure to leave fungicides in their original bags. Simply slip the bag into the jar and seal it. Then place the jar in an area that does not receive sunlight or is exposed to extreme temperatures.

Although some chemicals can be kept from one year to the next with proper handling and storage, it's best not to keep them for more than one year, advises Tibbets.

More information on the use of agricultural chemicals for home gardens is available from the county Extension Office.

Ranchland such as this could be in the future for qualified applicants for loan guarantees under the new Family Farm and Ranch Security Program, to be administered by the Texas Department of Agriculture. Commissioner Reagan V. Brown has reported that all the preliminary activities to establish the program are now underway with a target date for completion set for this summer.

Ranchers, Environmentalists To Discuss Predator Control

AUSTIN -- Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown urges all interested persons to participate in a Predator Control Summit to be held here January 15, 1980, beginning at 9 a.m.

Leaders from agricultural and environmental organizations and government officials will present their solutions to the predator problem, which last year cost the livestock industry $13 million.

The meeting is open to the public. It will be held in Room 118 of the Stephen F. Austin Office Building (17th Street and North Congress) in Austin.

Cecil Andrus, the Secretary of the Interior, is scheduled to be the keynote speaker. Brown pointed out that predators affect all the livestock industry, but the most critical losses have been sustained by sheep and goat raisers.

The number of sheep and goats has decreased 74% since the 1940's, with 30% of the decline coming in the last six years, Brown said.

"We have long been embroiled in a near-deadlock with groups who are fearful that any type of control program will eradicate the predators or will endanger the environment in some way," Brown explained.

"The time has come for producers and opponents to control methods to sit down and discuss their views and to emerge with some satisfactory answers. This summit meeting should provide such an opportunity," he added.

Major speakers for both groups have agreed to participate on the program. Persons who wish to send in written testimony should address it to Predator Control Summit, Texas Department of Agriculture, P. O. Box 12847, Austin, Texas 78711.

Hornets...

Todd Richey 8, Phil Wolf 2 and Larry Fleitman 2.
In the consolation final the Hornets trailed 19-16 at the first period and gained in each of the remaining three periods. They led 33-31 at the half, 53-49 at the third quarter and 75-66 at the end. Ricky Winn and Floyd Felderhoff shared scoring honors with 18 each and Don Frazier and Todd Richey were close behind with 17 and 14. Mark Felderhoff added 4, Phil Wolf 2 and Tim Schneider 2.

The tournament marked the end of pre-district activity. MHS teams will play their 14-A opener Friday at Pottsville and will host Lindsay next Tuesday.

What to Know About Ski Boot Maintenance

1. Most flexible plastics have a "memory"—they tend to hold a shape after taking that shape for some time. For this reason it's important to buckle your boots before storing them; otherwise they may "freeze" in the unbuckled position.
2. Mildew can be a problem if boots are stored with wet liners. Pull the inner boots out and dry them thoroughly before storing boots for any length of time.
3. Boots that used to be warm, but are now cold, are probably leaking. The usual source of the leak is a worn out snow dam, the rubber weather-stripping built into the flap over the toe of the boot under the first buckle. Cover the flap with a piece of duct tape to stop the leak.
4. Broken buckles and cables can be quickly replaced by any well-equipped ski shop. Cracked shells usually can't be permanently repaired, though they can be sealed temporarily. Nicks and scratches on the shell won't affect boot performance.
5. Most inner boot repairs are minor, and can be accomplished with duct tape, a needle and thread, and a little ingenuity. Leaky flow pockets, however, are usually terminal, not to mention messy. If you encounter such a problem, you should be able to replace the inner boots under warranty.

What to Look for in Ski Boots

Recreational models of ski boots have various characteristics and modifications which cater to skiers with different tastes and skiing styles, and the skier's degree of skill. The unfortunate result of some specialization is the confusion it can cause the inexperienced buyer.

Although the characteristics of each can vary widely, most recreational boots fall into two basic categories. One, which might be called the freestyle or mogul school, produces boots that are fairly soft in the mid-range and then stiffen rapidly in backward flex. Freestyle-type boots are not as hard on the shins in the bumps and tend to be more forgiving of skier error, but do require a somewhat more emphatic turn initiation.

The other category, the racing school, leans toward a stiffer mid-range with a somewhat more gradual stiffening. Racing-type boots are more responsive, especially in turn initiation, and are less likely to lead to extreme body positions, but usually require more strength and tend to be bucky in the bumps, especially when used in conjunction with shorter skis (roughly below 185 cm.).

Recreational skiers who ski a wide variety of conditions, or who are not too sure of their skiing direction yet, might find that boots with forward-lean and flex adjustments can solve their boot selection problem. These adjustments have become more effective in recent years and, depending on their design, do give a choice of mid-range and overall stiffness.

John Henry Auran, Senior Editor of Skiing Magazine, said, "Boot characteristics can be changed slightly by varying the buckle settings, and more substantially through the use of padding or by resorting to boot modification. The only catch to the last approach is that some of these modifications will void the warranty."

Auran also noted, "It's absolutely essential that the foot properly fill the boot if the boot is to deliver its designed performance. Voids, usually over the instep or around the ankle, not only result in unwelcome pressure points but also reduce the efficiency of the boot, since little or nothing happens at the skis until the slack is taken up. Fit is important not only for comfort, but for performance, too."

IRS...

The IRS matches information returns against the tax returns in its Individual Master File, a computer system containing the tax accounts of all individual taxpayers. Information returns sent in on magnetic media are much easier and cheaper to process and match. For example, it costs the IRS about $200 to process and match 100,000 information returns on magnetic tape, and about $26,000 to process the same number of paper documents. Because of the relatively low cost of processing, the IRS matches nearly 100 percent of the magnetic tape documents, while about 15 percent of the paper documents were matched in 1977. Even so, the IRS says that its methods of matching paper documents with tax returns ensures that any consistent omissions will be detected.

This year, the IRS is improving its matching program through a cooperative effort with the Social Security Administration, called Combined Annual Wage Reporting. As of January 1, 1979, employers file tax year 1978 Forms W-2 and W-2P (for pensions) with the SSA, which transfers the information to computer tape and shares it with the IRS. By receiving the W-2 and W-2P information on magnetic tape, the IRS expects to match almost all wage and pension information.

Whether documents are on magnetic tape or on paper, it is important that each document has the correct Taxpayer Identification Number (TIN) of the person receiving the payment. An individual taxpayer's TIN is the Social Security Number, while the TIN for an employer's business account is called an Employer Identification Number. When a TIN is entered incorrectly on an information document, or left off altogether, the IRS must find the correct one. Sometimes that involves correspondence with the taxpayer. To reduce errors, the IRS urges taxpayers to use their TINs on all correspondence with the tax agency, and to check TINs on income statements sent to them to be sure the payer has the correct TIN.

 to the Muenster Auxiliary by the Flower Mound VFW Post 8894 as part of an Americanism project.
 Making the presentation to both kindergartens, first, second and third grade classes, were Mary Ann Walterscheid, Auxiliary patriotic instructor and Linda Knabe, Auxiliary president.

In making the presentations, Mrs. Walterscheid gave a short explanation of the meaning of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Organization.
 Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Mages moved from Dallas last week and are now at home in Gainesville on Elmwood Street.
 Mr. and Mrs. John Switzer of Yoakum were recent guests of his brother and family, the Charles Switzers, and visited his mother Mrs. Edna Switzer of St. Richard's Villa. They also attended the funeral of a relative in Fort Worth.

 Pamela Ann Clegg, small daughter of the Keith Cleggs of Gainesville spent several days in the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Sicking and family in Muenster.

Retain Pecan Quality by Proper Storage

By Neil Tibbets
It would be a shame to lose your pecans now. They are hard to grow during hot, dry summers, like the one we just experienced. Proper storage is very important to retain their naturally good quality and taste.

Pecans are semi-perishable and unless properly cared for may become inedible due to mold, off flavor, discoloration or insect damage. These detrimental characteristics can be prevented if proper storage practices are employed. Several of the important factors to consider include: adequate drying, proper packaging and refrigeration.

According to County Extension Agent, Neil Tibbets, it is imperative to start with a high quality nut since proper storage conditions will not improve quality, only maintain it at or near post-harvest cured conditions.

High oil content and the fact that the oil is 93 per cent unsaturated is one of the most important factors affecting the storability of pecans. Nutritionists say that an unsaturated oil is healthier, but this type oil shortens the shelf life of pecan products because of increased susceptibility to rancidity.

Tibbets says that homeowners should store pecans in a polyethylene bag, either in shell or shelled, and place them in the refrigerator or the deep freeze, depending on how long they want to store them. At room temperature the shelf life is 4 months in the shell and 3 months shelled. In the refrigerator the pecans will hold good quality for 19 months in the shell or 12 months shelled. Pecans can be held in the deep freeze near 0 degrees for two years with very little adverse effect on the kernel quality.

Confetti...

Moreover, in spite of the Administration's pledge not to change any other existing treaties and formal agreements between US and Taiwan, the Administration now says it will end the air transport agreement between us and ROC...again at the insistence of Mainland China.

The shabby treatment that our country has given the ROC leaves us both ashamed and dumbfounded. This thing is a gross violation of national integrity and a pitifully short sighted policy with regard to national interest. If serves as notice to all the world that friendship and honor in the international arena is meaningless to the U.S. It convinces other nations that they can have no confidence in US. We believe in expediency, not principle.

Carter and Co., while smugly satisfied that they have made a great deal, ought to wake up and realize that they have been suckered instead. In the first place they can't win in a treaty with the Reds. Any part of the agreement that does not turn in the Reds' favor will be broken by them anyway. Besides, we have given other countries reason to lose respect for us. We lost both ways on this deal.

Renowned Old Master Drawings To Be Shown At Kimbell Art Museum

"Eighteenth Century Master Drawings" will be on view at the Kimbell Art Museum Jan. 19 - March 2. The exhibition includes more than 80 drawing from the famous collection of the Ashmolean Museum, University of Oxford, which is the oldest public museum in England.

Since few of the Ashmolean's eighteenth century drawings have been publicly displayed elsewhere, the exhibition offers a unique opportunity to study a choice selection of the museum's holdings.

Works by Italian, English and French masters are included. The largest representation is Italian, including outstanding examples by Canaletto, Guardi, Piranesi, Ricci and G.B. Tiepolo. There are excellent English works by Blake, Fuseli, Gainsborough, Reynolds, Romney, Rolanson and Turner. The more than 30 sheets by French artists include drawings by Boucher, Chardin, Fragonard, Greuze, Robert and Watteau.

Paintings by many of these masters hang in the Kimbell's permanent collection, providing interesting comparisons for visitors to the drawing exhibition. These painters include Canaletto, Guardi, Gainsborough, Reynolds, Romney, Turner, Zoffany, Boucher, Fragonard and Robert. The Kimbell also holds drawings by Boucher and Tiepolo.

Although the Ashmolean Museum was established in 1683, its great drawings collection was not begun until 1846 when a number of
