WASHINGTON, D.C. — As the attention of the world has been drawn to the Middle East during the long and frustrating siege of our American Embassy in Iran, many Americans have begun to focus on attitudes held not only by our enemies, but our so-called allies as well.

We have watched with growing concern as one after another of our allies has demonstrated less than united support for the American position in Iran, conceding more and more to their own petroleum dependencies. The United States, we thought, stood alone.

All Americans were heartened, therefore, when the Canadian government revealed their involvement in the concealment and recent escape of six American diplomats from under the noses of the Iranians.

The successful plot to conceal the six in the Canadian Embassy in Tehran for three months undoubtedly has severely threatened Canadian-Iranian relations, but must surely seal a growing bond between the U.S. and our neighbors to the north.

It would seem that in our clamor for support from allied and non-allied nations abroad, we have often failed to keep our fences strong with our two closest neighbors — Mexico and Canada. With the increasing recognition of Mexico as an oil-exporting nation, we have turned more and more of our attention to that tattered fence along our southern border, while paying less and less attention to Canada.

Mexico has, with some cause, treated overtures toward more favorable trade with the U.S. with some disdain. Their actions in refusing the return of the Shah following his medical treatment in this country, were, to say the least, an embarrassment to our government, to point out only one example.

On the other hand, Canada, with perhaps the same justifiable sense of neglect, has demonstrated what I feel is a level of admirable support.

They have supported our position in Iran on every front, from the U.S. resolution on economic sanctions (vetted by the Russians) to halting their own imports of needed Iranian petroleum. This latter was done in the face of fuel shortages of their own.

Canada remains an important exporter of natural gas and some liquid petroleum to the U.S. Current long-standing contracts call for Canadian exports of up to 1 trillion cubic feet of natural gas per year to the U.S., making up 5 percent of our domestic consumption. The actual amount of Canadian liquid petroleum exported to the U.S. (about 100,000 barrels per day) is less significant in terms of overall supply than in its importance in easing a critical transportation bottleneck to the northern states.

On another front, Canada recently took the position that they would not make up the shortfall of grain exports to Russia caused by the American embargo precipitated by the invasion of Afghanistan.

While we might wish that our neighbor would join us in actual economic sanctions against Iran or in stopping their own scheduled grain sales to Russia, we cannot quarrel that when American lives were involved — six of them — they stood strong and tall on our side. That stand should not be minimized — or forgotten.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

 TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Governor Clements' remark last week that the U.S. hostages in Iran were "expedient" alongside national interests brought an angry rebuke from one captive's father, but it was not the gaffe some made it out to be.

Clements told reporters at his weekly news conference that the hostage issue had become secondary to the nation's interests. "If indeed our hostages are put into jeopardy, they have to become expendable—which is an ugly word—in regard to the national interest."

The ugly word "expendable" triggered a semantic reaction among a few Democratic party leaders, but most reporters let it slide. Clements was not altogether tarred and feathered, although the angry father of a captured Navy commander told reporters he wanted to talk to the Governor about the remark.

As one reporter remarked later, Clements was only verbalizing what a lot of people feel—that national defense comes first. "It was unfortunate that he did not choose a better word, but maybe 'expendable' was correct in his point of view."

The Governor, she pointed out, was not as trigger-lipped as many make him out to be.

Clements, a former deputy defense secretary under Presidents Nixon and Ford, caught more flak for his recommendations of a Naval blockade of the Persian Gulf to cut off oil shipments of Iranian oil, and a blockade around Cuba to prevent arms shipments from the Soviets.

Drafting Women
 Other Texans commented last week on the issue of registration of women for draft, and support for the plan came from all areas of the political spectrum. Liberal Congressmen Mickey Leland and Martin Frost, moderate J. J. "Jake" Pickle, and conservatives Ray Roberts, Charles Stenholm and Joe Wyatt spoke for registration, although not necessarily drafting of women for combat.

Republican Senator John Tower is opposed to registration for women.

Spending Champion
 A state auditor's report on legislator spending in fiscal 1978 listed Sen. Walter Mengden, a conservative Houston Republican, at the top. Mengden spent $100,895 on himself and his office. Senators behind him were Frank Lombardino, D-San Antonio, $95,860; Ron Clower, D-Garland, $85,698; and Chet Brooks, D-Houston, $81,098.

Leading in the House of Representatives were Roy English, D-Arlington, $57,970; Al Price, D-Beaumont, $55,458; Ron Wilson, D-Houston, $54,617; and Paul Ragsdale, D-Houston, $54,329.

Senate Facelift
 Redistricting next session may give the Texas Senate a more urban look in the '80s, according to figures released by Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby.

Population has increased heavily in Texas "Big Three" urban centers: Houston, Dallas-Fort Worth and San Antonio. As many as 10 Senators could come from those four cities in 1983.

Braecklein to Quit
 Dallas State Sen. Bill Braecklein, who recently converted to the Republican Party, announced last week he will not seek re-election in 1981. He cited heavy business commitments as his reason for leaving. Braecklein narrowly won as a Democrat in 1976, and changed parties last fall saying he could not support the Democratic presidential candidates.

Unions: Two Gains
 Attorney General Mark White ruled last week that state employees may have union dues deducted from paychecks, and there is no legal prohibition against allowing employees to be represented by unions in grievance procedures.

Labor leaders were pleased, calling the opinion a breakthrough for organized labor in the state.

The opinion was sought by State Comptroller Bob Bullock and written by three of seven members of the AG's opinions committee. After the committee split votes on the issue, White ruled in favor of the opinion.

Gov. Clements was not pleased with the opinion. He said he plans to seek legislation next session prohibiting payroll deduction of union dues.

Odds and Ends
 The Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System, recommended that the 1981 Legislature increase tuition rates and use part of the new revenues for increased faculty salaries. No dollar figure was recommended.

A Democrat who lost a bid last year for a seat on the Texas Railroad Commission, announced he is going to try again in 1981 but as a Republican. John Thomas Henderson of Austin is challenging incumbent John Poerner. Also in that race is State Rep. Buddy Temple, D-Diboll.

The Governor's promised special session in either August or September drew another blast last week, this one from State Sen. Roy Blake, D-Nacogdoches. Blake said Clements' proposed issues are not of emergency nature and, as such, the Governor's call will waste tax dollars.

UT Press issues book on football
 AUSTIN, Texas (Spl.) — It happens in many small Texas towns in the fall — bonfires, pep rallies, ribboned cars, refrigerated mums, bands, happy and sad locker rooms.

It is high school football, and the special kind of fervor it seems to generate has been captured in a new book from The University of Texas Press, "Rites of Fall: High School Football in Texas."

About 170 photographs record the rituals of Texas high school football — from gridiron action to partisan fans. The photographs are by Geoff Winningham of Rice University; the text by Al Reinert, a contributing editor of Texas Monthly.

Basic rules increase home-stored gasoline safety
 COLLEGE STATION — Home-stored gasoline used in lawn mowers, hedge and grass trimmers, chain saws and other appliances provides a major source of fire, death and property loss.

Observation of three basic rules can prevent accidents, says fire protection specialist John R. Rauch of Texas A&M University.

"Store gasoline only in an approved, self-closing can," Rauch recommends. "Never store nor use gasoline in a closed space, where spark sources can set off gasoline vapor. And certainly never use gasoline for cleaning."

CAPITOL UPDATE

John Tower
 U.S. SENATOR for TEXAS
 142 RUSSELL OFFICE BUILDING
 WASHINGTON, D.C. 20510

The Administration's $616 billion budget for fiscal year 1981 is a nightmare of deception, unrealistically optimistic projections, inadequacies concerning our defense budget and irresponsibly high domestic spending. One hardly knows where to start in to solve the problems it would create if enacted.

But let's look for a moment at what the budget means to you the taxpayer. The President is projecting a $16 billion deficit, based on his assumption revenues will be up by more than $75 billion. Where does the extra money come from? Some $19 billion will come from a Social Security tax increase.

But that's only the obvious tax increase. Everyone who has received a cost-of-living pay raise will pay more both in terms of numbers of dollars and percentage of his salary because he'll be pushed into a higher tax bracket.

Then, of course, the windfall profits tax will further bloat the federal treasury, and ultimately will be paid by the consumer.

The Administration is predicting a recession for this year, and there is serious question whether the revenue projections can be reached, even with the near-draconian tax burden working Americans will have to bear. And that tax burden will work against recovery from the recession.

If we are to solve the economic problems of the 1980's, we need new tax policies which place greater reliance on the private sector by expanding its productive capacity and efficiency. And the starting point is to give the American taxpayer greater control over his hard-earned income through substantial tax reductions for individuals and business.

A cut in tax rates will generate more jobs, greater economic activity and an expanded tax base which, over time, will yield the same or higher revenues, even with lower tax rates.

Just as important is readjusting, or "indexing," tax brackets so that cost-of-living wage increases are just that, and not an excuse for the federal government to grab a higher percentage of income.

We must also encourage personal savings and investment through tax exemptions and take other action to stimulate capital formation. Giving tax breaks to businesses so that they can accumulate money to invest may sound like only a way to help business, but it really would benefit everyone through improving productivity. In 1979, the productivity of the American worker actually declined by .9 percent. And without increasing productivity, there can be no real growth in the economy.

In short, we must restore a pattern of growth to the American economy through prudent but people-oriented tax policies.

Letter to the Editor

I am writing this letter on behalf of the Muenster Public School Senior CCD Class. At mass last Saturday evening Father Denis stated (I quote from memory) that "the Public School Senior CCD students were so unruly they ran off five CCD teachers."

To set the record straight, the original Senior CCD teacher was the former principal of Sacred Heart High School. Although I understand he was "run off", I scarcely believe it was the Senior CCD Class that was responsible. The other four teachers were strictly substitutes and agreed to fill in one week only. I have had the privilege of teaching the Senior CCD class for the past two months and would like to take this opportunity to let the parents of these young people know that their kids rate very high in department, politeness, and subject knowledge. It is a pleasure teaching these students and I am inclined to believe that Father Denis must have been misinformed.

Lois Marquardt Presented In Mezzo-Soprano Recital

Lois Marquardt, a mezzo-soprano of Muenster, was presented in a parlor recital Sunday afternoon, February 3, in the home of Gloria and John Mulkey of Gainesville. Mrs. Marquardt was accompanied by her voice teacher, Mrs. Pam Howeth of Gainesville.

The program began with a French song "Romance" followed by two operatic arias from "Le Prophete" and "Samson and Delilah," sung in French. The next three selections were in Italian by Marcello Durante and an aria from the opera "The Marriage of Figaro" by Mozart. Ending the first half of the program were two German Lieder, "Widmung" by Schumann and "Vergebliches Stanchen" by Brahms.

After a short intermission, the program continued with "Hear My Prayer, O Lord" from a "Suite of Biblical Songs." Then "O Divine Redeemer" by Gounod, and Malotte's "Twenty-Third Psalm." On a lighter note were "Loveliest of Trees" by Duke "Clouds" by Charles and "The Pasture" by Naginski. A song for her Irish guests was "A Little Bit of Heaven" by Ball, with the program ending with Jerome Kern's "Can't Help Lovin' Dat Man" from "Show Boat."

During the reception that followed, punch and coffee were poured by Mmes. Dolores Lippe and Juanita Bright, both of Muenster; and cookies and condiments were served by the hostess, Gloria Mulkey. The refreshment table was centered with an arrangement of Dutch Iris, Spider Daisies and blue candles.

Approximately thirty guests from Muenster and Gainesville enjoyed the performance. Special guests for the afternoon were Richard Marquardt who came from Shawano especially to hear his wife in performance, and their two sons, Scott and Doug Marquardt. Their daughter, a student in Wisconsin, was unable to come. Also attending was a friend, Mrs. Gerald Hamilton of Shawano, who was visiting friends in Denton.

Smoking Is No. 1 Cause of Lung Cancer

What is the most important advice John Pipes, President of the Cooke County American Cancer Society Unit can offer to help protect oneself against cancer?

"My number one bit of advice is this: if you are a cigarette smoker—quit. If you don't smoke—Don't start."

According to Pipes there has been 125 percent increase in lung cancer among American men over the last 25 years. Women, who have traditionally had a lower lung cancer rate are now dying of this disease in greater numbers because of their steadily increasing use of cigarettes. Between the 1950's and the mid-1970's, for example, lung cancer deaths among American women jumped 200 percent.

"So many people have heard the facts about the hazards of cigarettes that they may feel this is a tiresome bit of repetition," he said. "Also there is a tendency to blame something else for the fact that approximately 117,000 Americans will get lung cancer this year. It's tempting to blame air pollution. But the real culprit is the cigarette habit."

In spite of the fact that the cigarette story has been well-known since the famous Surgeon General's Report on the hazards of smoking in 1964, the incidence of lung cancer has increased.

"One of the most alarming trends," he said, "is increased cigarette smoking among teenage girls. The number of girls who smoke a pack or more a day quadrupled between 1964 and 1975. At least 30 percent of teenage boys also smoke."

The ACS has more than just the grim facts about the health consequences of cigarette smoking.

"The Cooke County ACS Unit is prepared to help people in Gainesville quit smoking. We have practical information, a "Quit kit" and "Quit Smoking Clinics". We believe that it's not enough to tell people about a health hazard. It's necessary to give them some help."

The fight against death from cigarette smoking is but one aspect of the ACS program designed to teach the public the facts about all forms of cancer. "We also support cancer research, provide free services for cancer patients and their families, and keep doctors, nurses and dentists informed of the latest advances in cancer diagnosis."

MHS English Class Hears Reading by CCC Teacher-Poet

Dr. Joe Colin Murphy, a poet and professor on the faculty of Cooke County College presented a poetry reading to the English IV class at Muenster Public School on Friday, February 1.

In relating some of his background to the students, he said that he wrote his first poem in 1940. At first he styled his work after the great European poets. Then he began writing about his own life and had his first poem accepted in a major journal in 1953.

Dr. Murphy has since had his works published in many magazines and journals including: "Texas Quarterly" and "Southwest Review."

Most of the poems that he read to the class were selected from his own published book of poems entitled "A Return to the Landscape."

The English IV class is taught by Mrs. Martha Koesler at MHS.

Tarleton's horse management program grants first degree

STEPHENVILLE — A 34-year-old mother of three has become the first person to earn a degree in horse production and management from a Texas university, even though she can never ride a horse again.

Cyndi Fanning of Granbury has become a part of history at Tarleton State University where she recently received her degree.

Fanning plans to establish a Texas office for an Oklahoma publication on horse shows and rodeos and to freelance write, a use of journalism skills she learned while recovering from a 1978 traffic accident.

That accident left her unable to work directly with horses, said officials at Tarleton State, part of The Texas A&M University System.

Tarleton's horse program is the only professional management-type program in Texas and is one of a few nationwide. It was established in 1976 and now has about 80 students.

Inflation Advice
Keep Current On Business Insurance
Inflation's steady climb could mean a fall for small and medium-sized businesses who are not up to date on their insurance requirements. According to Peter P. Conway, vice president of property and liability distribution for CNA Insurance, businesses should carefully review their insurance at least annually to ascertain that they have adequate coverage and that they are not overpaying for policies that might be providing overlapping protection.
"While large companies have full-time risk managers to monitor this, small companies usually do not," he said. "However, executives of smaller companies can use some of the same principles employed by the risk managers."
Most important, Conway suggests that the small business find an "industrious and conscientious" insurance agent and follow his advice. Likewise, the executive from the small business should take time to become familiar with the general principles of insurance.
Since the desire to save money on insurance premiums is a natural concern in these days of spiraling inflation, Conway suggests some tips:
• Buy insurance in packages instead of numerous separate policies, thereby eliminating duplication and possibly resulting in some bargain rates. An example would be getting comprehensive coverage for fire, boiler, and machinery damage, crime and pilferage and liability at the same time.
• Purchase policies with higher deductibles since being self-insured for "first dollar losses" can save a surprising amount in premiums.
• Undertake a thorough loss control program.
"A good loss control program can be particularly valuable in cutting costs," Conway said. "Such a program might entail such measures as improving office and plant safety, reducing hazardous storage of materials, putting up guard rails and expanding the sprinkler systems."
While saving money on insurance premiums is a common goal, Conway warned that too heavy an emphasis on reducing total premium payments can be risky in inflationary times.
"Savings should be related to adequate protection," he said. "If coverage is sacrificed and a business is hit by one or two large losses, the result could be disastrous."
Keeping abreast of your insurance situation is therefore all-important, he pointed out.

Who's Eligible For Disability Benefits In Social Security?

Many people have the mistaken idea that employees in the social security office decide whether an applicant for disability benefits is able to work or not. Gus Jones, social security district manager in Sherman said recently.

This just is not so, Jones said. People at the social security office do decide if a person meets non-medical requirements, such as whether having worked long enough and recently enough under social security to be eligible for checks.

But the information an applicant provides about his or her medical condition, including names of doctors or hospitals who did examinations or provided treatment, and his or her work experience is sent to the disability determination unit in Austin, Texas.

There, a team of professionals, one of whom is a doctor, reviews the claim. This team decides if the applicant is disabled within the meaning of the law and whether the person's condition prevents him or her from working for a year or more.

The team obtains medical reports from doctors and other sources of treatment or examination. If more information is needed, they may refer the applicant to a physician, clinic, or some other facility for another examination or test.

In addition to deciding if the applicant is disabled, the State agency considers whether or not vocational rehabilitation services could help the person return to work.

More information about disability benefits, as well as other social security programs, can be obtained at the Sherman social security office, located at 810 N. Travis. The telephone number is 893-4654.

Professor advises early tax returns for early refunds

COLLEGE STATION — Prepare tax returns as soon as possible after W-2 forms and other pertinent information is available, advises a Texas A&M University accounting professor and certified public accountant.

Dr. Larry Crumbley says early preparation allows time to obtain any missing information. Also a taxpayer may have a refund due.

"If this is the case, mail the tax return immediately, avoid the rush and receive a refund earlier," he says.

He adds that a refund received today is worth more than a refund three or four months from now. If the taxpayer owes money, he will probably want to delay mailing his return until April.

Anheuser-Busch Purchases Former Schlitz Brewery

Anheuser-Busch, Inc., the brewing subsidiary of Anheuser-Busch Companies, Inc., today completed its purchase of the former Jos. Schlitz Company brewery located outside of Baldwinville, N.Y., 10 miles northwest of Syracuse.

The purchase agreement, which was signed October 31, 1979, was conditioned upon obtaining appropriate assurances from governmental authorities. The Department of Justice informed Anheuser-Busch and Schlitz on January 31 that it would not oppose the closing of the transaction. Under the terms of the purchase agreement, Anheuser-Busch will pay Schlitz $100 million for the facility. The first of three installment payments was made today.

August A. Busch III, chairman and chief executive officer of Anheuser-Busch Companies, Inc., and Anheuser-Busch, Inc., said that with today's closing Anheuser-Busch effectively takes possession of the brewery, which will be designated the Baldwinville brewery.

Schlitz closed the brewery last December. Anheuser-Busch, as previously announced, will keep the facility closed for a period of 14 to 24 months to make more than $100 million worth of modifications. There are a number of major differences in Anheuser-Busch's brewing processes which necessitate that modifications be made so that the brewery can produce Anheuser-Busch products.

An average of 600 construction personnel will be employed as the modifications are made to the brewery, with peak employment of 1,000.

When reopened, the brewery will employ more than 600 people with an annual payroll exceeding $15 million. Schlitz employed approximately 400 people at the peak of its operations.

Hornets Win 48-40 In Playoff Opener

In a sensational thirty second finale on the MHS court last week, the Muenster Hornets nosed out Pottsboro to survive the first game of District 14-A playoffs. In doing so they qualified to meet Pilot Point in the second game of the district showdown.

Muenster ended its opener with a 48-40 triumph. Meanwhile Pilot Point beat Lindsay 53-50, Sanger beat Callisburg 89-44 and Celina beat Aubrey 64-47.

Following Muenster's 11-6 first quarter lead, Pottsboro recovered for 21-21 half time tie, and from there on the game was a thriller all the way. Almost all of the second half was a see saw with a 30-30 tie ending the third and a 40-40 tie a half minute before the end. At that point the Hornets took a two point lead and Cardinal trouble started.

Pottsboro promptly fouled in trying to steal the ball and MHS hit both of its 1 and 1 free throws. By the time the buzzer ended the Cardinal panic Muenster had poured in 8 points. Free throws were an important factor in the last period. MHS hit 10 of 16, Pottsboro missed all of 6.

Hornet scorers were Todd Richey 22, Floyd Felderhoff

11, Phil Wolf 11, Mark Felderhoff 2, Larry Fleitman 2, Ricky Winn 1.

Muenster girls were abruptly eliminated from the showdown by Lindsay in a 59-16 runaway. Other survivors of the girls' playoff openers were Callisburg, Pilot Point and Sanger.

MHS scorers were Wanda Schneider 5, Charlotte Fleitman 5, Stephanie Richey 4, Judy Walterscheid 2.

Playoff Ends for Hornets in 64-58 Loss to Pilot Point

The basketball season for Muenster's Hornets ended here Monday night in their 64-58 loss to the Pilot Point Bearcats. The game was their second in the 14-A district playoff and rounded out a full season record of 15-10. The record in the district race preceding the playoff was 3-4.

Extra cold shooting combined with foul trouble in accounting principally for the Hornets' misfortune. The boys missed lots of easy shots early in the game but more serious trouble came late when Floyd and Mark Felderhoff and Todd Richey fouled out. Meanwhile the infractions enabled the visitors to score 12 on 25 free throw tries whereas Muenster made 5 on 8 tries. One Bearcat fouled out.

The Hornets started with a 17-14 first quarter lead and dropped to a 35-27 deficit in the second. In the third they closed most of the gap, ending at the short end of 46-43. Playing short handed in the fourth, they finally settled for the 6 point loss.

Scorers were Phil Wolf 19, Floyd Felderhoff 15, Todd Richey 11, Ricky Winn 8, Mark Felderhoff 4.

City Gets $467 Rebate on Tax For Mixed Drinks

The City of Muenster has received a check in the amount of $467.19 from State Comptroller Bob Bullock as its 15 per cent rebate from the tax on mixed drinks sold here during the last quarter of last year.

This is a part of more than $5.8 million sent to 358 cities and 204 counties as their share of the 10 per cent gross receipts tax on more than $203 million in mixed drink sales in the three months.

Total tax collection for these sales amounted to $20.3 million and each of the cities and counties was rebated 15 per cent of the tax paid on mixed drinks within their boundaries. After paying the $5.8 million to cities and counties the state has some $14.5 million remaining for its general revenue fund.

Bullock said the total collected on mixed drinks last year was $77.9 million. The tax is collected by the Alcoholic Beverage Commission and the quarterly rebates are paid to cities and counties by the comptroller. A statement issued by Bullock reveals that Muenster received $467.19 for its 15 per cent of $3,114.61 total tax. Gainesville received $726.39 for its 15 per cent of $4,842.58; Lindsay received $879.96 for its 15 per cent $5,866.37; and the county received $2,965.81 for its 15 per cent of $19,772.09.

Hidden Treasure: Frankie's Extensive Coke Bottle Collection

Frankie Schmitz, well known in Gainesville and the county for many years for his business and civic activities, attracted widespread attention this week as owner of an extensive collection of Coca Cola souvenirs. The story was revealed last Sunday by Betty Stephenson of the Gainesville Register.

The outstanding collection is located in an underground storage room at his heel and sole manufacturing plant. It features almost every imaginable Coca Cola souvenir collected during the period of some 20 years prior to 1972 when he owned and operated the Gainesville Coca Cola plant.

There are bottles and glasses galore covering the full range used in handling and serving the Cokes, along with a vast array of signs, posters and other promotional materials.

In addition there is a vast collection of novelty items such as knives, nail clippers, pewter buttons, cuff links, playing cards, dart boards, peg boards, checkers and wearing apparel. His prize is a belt buckle dated 1886.

Many of these things were saved as Frankie came across them while operating his business. And more have been added at every opportunity since then as he visits other plants, flea markets, antique shops and what not. He has been to every Coca Cola plant in Japan and has acquired some pieces from South Africa.

A smaller and less impressive collection includes many items gathered while Frankie was a clown with the Gainesville Community Circus.

ations which indicate that the nation is asking young people to live up to their responsibilities without having previously lived up to its responsibility. In the first place, how about the no-win fiascos of Korea and Vietnam? That kind of blemish on the nation's record certainly does not inspire dedication.

Also, there are a number of miserable failures in preparedness. If American youths are sent into a shooting war they will face handicaps that could and should have been avoided by the Administration. It scrapped the B-1 bomber thereby giving the Soviets a decisive advantage over our ancient B-52 in strategic bombing. It deliberately retarded progress on production of both land based and submarine based missiles and it cut back the Navy's shipbuilding program by 30 percent.

Meanwhile the Carter crowd agreed to SALT 1 treaty without assurance that the Russians would be able to cheat, and was saved from SALT II only by the crisis in Iran and Afghanistan.

All the while we have observed the detente policy cooperating generously with the Soviet program of progress while neglecting our own needs. We've provided grain so their manpower could be taken off the land and put into the munitions factories. We helped them build a gigantic truck and tractor factory which now produces tanks and military vehicles.

Although we can't excuse the insolent attitude of some of the present objectors we can understand that at least some of the objection is justified.

However this does not rule out the extreme urgency of getting together and going all out for survival. If the showdown comes we'll have to work lots harder to overcome the lost time due to former neglect.

Nobel Economist Milton Friedman looks at the free market and the meaning of freedom in the new 10 part PBS series, FREE TO CHOOSE. Big government, a phenomenon of the last fifty years, is not the answer to our problems. It is the problem. We must stop looking to government as the source of all good things. Watch Milton Friedman in FREE TO CHOOSE every Friday at 9 p.m. on Channel 13.

Friedman's program this week is entitled "From Cradle to Grave." It concerns the welfare system in the U.S. which, he says, began with the best of motives and has ended up with deplorable results. Welfare is dangerous and wasteful, says Friedman. Recipients of welfare are treated like children, with their decision-making power and personal freedom taken away by well-meaning bureaucrats. Bureaucrats do not, and can not, spend your money as wisely as you yourself. And welfare creates a large pot of money waiting for abuse. HEW, for example, estimates that $7 1/2 billion was lost in one year through fraud, abuse and waste. Friedman says the best answer to the welfare mess is a negative income tax, which would assure a minimum income to all.
