Local Man's Accident At Dallas Caused by Glaring of Headlights

Another accident was charged to the improper use of automobile headlights Thursday night of last week when Edgar Fette, driving his brown Plymouth coupe, collided with another Plymouth in Dallas.

Mr. Fette advises that he sustained a bump on the head which made him dizzy for several minutes and the four occupants of the other car were also shaken but no one was seriously injured. A lady occupant of the other car was rushed to the hospital but upon examination was found to be more frightened than hurt.

The accident occurred on Maple Avenue in the vicinity of the Mosher Steel Shops. Mr. Fette, returning to Muenster after a business trip to Dallas, was driving north when a south-bound car blinded him with its bright glare. He switched on his courtesy light but the other driver failed to do likewise. Driving blind on the narrow and rough street, Mr. Fette failed to avoid a chopped out place that pitched his left front end into the left rear of the oncoming car.

In order to clear up complications with Dallas police, Mr. Fette was detained in Dallas until the following day. At that time he also made arrangements to have the car hauled back to Muenster for repairs.

Ben Seyler Motor Co. was engaged to repair the car, which is badly damaged in the parts connected with the left front wheel.

JOE NEU DIES SUDDENLY AT LINDSAY HOME

Pioneer Is Victim of Brain Hemorrhage Wednesday; Funeral Friday

Joe F. Neu, 65, a pioneer of the Lindsay community, died suddenly in his home at 3 o'clock Wednesday morning from a brain hemorrhage. At his passing he was surrounded by his family, his doctor and The Rev. Father John Nigg, who, called at the first indication of danger, arrived in time to administer the Last Sacraments of the church.

Mr. Neu's funeral will be held from St. Peter's Church at Lindsay at 8:30 a'clock Friday morning. Father John stated Wednesday afternoon. At that time pallbearers had not been decided upon.

News of the death of Mr. Neu came as a shock to his many friends in Lindsay and Muenster. Only the day before his passing he drove from his farm to Lindsay and seemed to be in a perfectly normal condition. He has, however, been troubled with high blood pressure for some time.

Highway Crew Now Working On Culverts

The first job undertaken by the highway construction contractors is the widening of a culvert near the Joe Hacker home about two miles west of Muenster. The concrete wings of the culvert were being broken Wednesday afternoon preparatory to setting forms for a 37-foot extension on one side and a 26-foot extension on the other. It was stated at that time that the pouring of concrete would probably be begun sometime Friday.

The reason given for the construction of extensions is to provide ample space for additional fill-in dirt as well as a wider road bed. That plan is to be followed with regard to every culvert that does not meet the specifications for road base width.

Arrangements have been made by Mr. McKinney, contractor of the paving project, to get the lumber and cement to be used in all concrete work through the local Waples Painter lumber yard. It was estimated that a total of more than a carload of cement would be used in building culverts, bridges, extensions, and the 4,000 square feet of sidewalk for the Muenster city limits.

Discussion at K. C. Meeting Hits the Spot

Members Enjoy Arguments on Papers Introduced by Rev. Francis

About 25 members of the Muenster Knights of Columbus council thoroughly enjoyed the discussion created by problems introduced by Father Francis Zimmerer from the Sunday Visitor puzzle contest in their special meeting Wednesday night. The number represented a slight increase over that of the previous meeting in which religious problems were opened to roundtable discussion for the first time in the Muenster council.

The method followed in the program is to introduce some religious question such as, What Is a Catholic Obligated to Believe? or, At What Time Besides the Easter Season Must a Catholic Receive the Eucharist?, and select from a list of eight or ten possible answers the one correct answer.

For some of the problems the answer is easily agreed upon, but on others an interesting discussion is provoked by a difference in viewpoint or a disagreement over the meaning of certain expressions. To members the discussions serve not only to sharpen wits but also to revive doctrinal facts long forgotten and to arrive at some totally new ideas.

Especially lively interest was shown in some of the statements quoted by Father Francis from writings by Malachy, Theresa Neumann, Catherine Emerich, and Father Kapsner's "Be Gone Satan." All deal in prophecies relating to our time and the latter gives a detailed account of an exorcism conducted in an Iowa convent about 10 years ago.

Continuing their resolution to meet at least once a week during Lent the Knights will conduct another open discussion on religious problems next Wednesday.

DEMONSTRATION CLUB AT LINN MEETS IN HOWTON HOME

"If you want to be sure of good manners you must practice them at home," was the topic most stressed by members of the Linn Home Demonstration Club Tuesday afternoon when they met with Mrs. Jim Howton.

In presenting a one-act play on Etiquette, Mrs. Sam McCool and Mrs. Mims Lewis showed the correct table setting for the different courses in meals, and how to serve them.

Two readings, one entitled "The Proper Way of Introducing," and another called "Good Manners," were read by Mrs. Duda Rosson and Mrs. Ben Sicking.

After the business meeting games and singing were enjoyed. Those attending were Mesdames Duda Rosson, Doc Gray, Selby Fielder, Ben Sicking, Price McCool, Sam McCool, Mims Lewis, Mrs. Wright and Misses Willie Sowder, Irene and Rose Sicking.

At adjournment it was decided to meet with Mrs. Alfred Harrison on Tuesday, March 23.

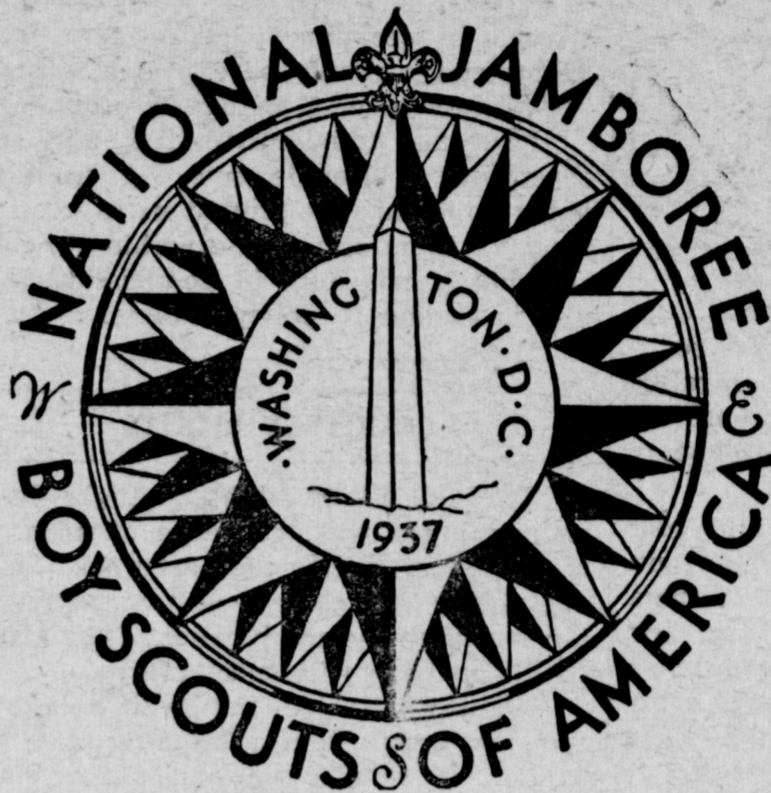

A. Harrison Buys First 'Post-Strike' Chevrolet

Alfred Harrison, buying a new Chevrolet Master Town Sedan, was the first person to receive a "post-strike" automobile in Muenster. The car arrived in a shipment with two other cars and a truck to J. B. Wilde late last week.

Other recent car sales by J. B. Wilde are a '30 Ford coach to Joe Hoenig, a '29 Ford pickup to Jim Staley of St. Jo, and a '30 Chevrolet coupe to Aaron D. Bell.

Boy Scouts Adopt Jamboree Insignia

In connection with the 27th annual Boy Scout Week, February 7 to 13, the Boy Scouts of America have released the design of the official insignia more than 25,000 boys will wear at the National Scout Jamboree at Washington, D. C., where they will camp together from June 30 to July 9. The compass is used in the design because the Scouts will come from "every nook and cranny" of the Nation in response to President Roosevelt's invitation.

Beer Election Ordered In County for March 20

A petition bearing the signatures of sufficient qualified voters to meet the legal requirements, asking that a beer election be held in Cooke County, presented to the Commissioners Court recently, was passed by the court this week and date of the election set for Saturday, March 20.

Absentee voting may be permitted Thursday, according to County Judge Ray Winder, providing the necessary election supplies are available on that date.

The question to be voted on is as follows: "Shall vinous or malt liquors of not more than 4 per cent alcoholic content by weight, be legalized?"

Fordson Appears as New Contender in Tractor Competition

The first Fordson tractor ever to be delivered out of Muenster was sold by Herr Motor Co. to Arthur Hellman, F. E. Schmitz, Ford salesman here advised Tuesday. Prior to this time Fordsons had been sold at either Gainesville or St. Jo.

After being out of local agricultural implement competition for several years Fordson springs a surprise on Muenster farmers by appearing with a tractor of the modern row work design. The two front wheels are only a few inches apart and designed for short turns as on other late model tractors.

Unlike most American built tractors that are invading foreign countries, the Fordson is an English built tractor invading American markets. Standard equipment tillage tools for it are provided by the Dempster Co., an organization that enjoys an old reputation as manufacturers of quality windmills and has only recently entered the tillage tool field.

6 SCOUTS PASSED BY REVIEW BOARD FOR 2ND CLASS RATING

Six Boy Scouts of the Muenster troop were advanced to second class rating following their examination Friday night, March 5, by the local Board of Review.

Those who passed the examination and are now awaiting their second class badges from Scout headquarters are Norman Luke, Tommy Weinzapfel, Louis Nieball, Ray Wilde, Maurice Pagel, and Edward Endres.

This group brings the total of second class Scouts at Muenster to seven, Herbert Camp having won his rating a short time before Christmas.

The Board of Review before whom the youngsters appeared was made up of Dr. T. S. Myrick, Jacob Pagel, J. M. Weinzapfel, R. R. Endres, and Herbert Meurer. The boys had previously been passed on by Scoutmaster Nick Miller.

Independent Teams of Cooke County Conduct Basketball Tournament

An urge to extend the basketball season has prompted Coaches Burger of Muenster and Green of Hays to stage an invitation basketball tournament limited to independent teams of Cooke County.

At the time of this writing arrangements are made to have the first game Wednesday night at the Gainesville Fair Park gymnasium. Other games are to be held either Friday or Saturday, depending on tentative schedules now being considered by the County Interscholastic League for use of the gymnasium.

Receipts of the tournament are to be prorated to cover expenses of the various teams and the purchase of trophies.

Six teams have entered the tournament. Hays, Muenster, Bulcher, Era, Marysville, and Gainesville Junior College have already drawn for places in the schedule but it is thought that another schedule will be drawn to include Valley View, Rosston, and Gainesville Independents or any one of them.

Members of the Farmers Marketing Association are considering a request recently received from Jack Garrett of Comanche, Texas, for 6,500,000 gallons of water to be used in construction work on Highway 5.

DEATH ENDS LONG ILLNESS ON MARCH 5

His Son and Two Nephews Read Requiem Mass Before Funeral

Fortified by the last sacraments and surrounded by members of his family, John Schad, 62, one of the Lindsay community's most prominent citizens, died at his home last Thursday, March 5, following an extended illness.

A solemn high mass of Requiem, for the repose of his soul was held Sunday morning at 10 o'clock in St. Peter's Church with the Rev. Father Alcuin, O. S. B., nephew of the deceased, as celebrant, the Rev. Father Francis, O. S. B., also a nephew, as deacon and Frater Sylvester, a son of the deceased, as sub-deacon.

The Caecilia Choir, under the direction of the Rev. Father John, with Miss Regina Fuhrmann at the organ sang Oswald Joos' four-voiced "Missa De Profundis." Immediately after Mass the remains were interred in St. Peter's Cemetery with the Rev. Father John officiating and George J. Carroll & Son of Gainesville in charge of the funeral arrangements.

Pallbearers selected from members of the St. Peter's Verein and the Knights of Columbus, two organizations of which Mr. Schad was a member, were as follows: Mike Fuhrmann, Ben Hermes and Pete Block of Lindsay and Charlie Puite, Joe Walter and Lawrence Bruns of Gainesville. Herman Zimmerer, Jr., was cross bearer.

Born in Plainview, Minn., on December 31, 1874, Mr. Schad came to Texas in 1894, settling in Cooke County. On November 20, 1900, he was married to Miss Sophie Zimmerer and began his career as a tiller of the soil. In this venture he proved to be highly successful, in view of the fact that at the time of his death he owned one of the best and most modern farms in the community. Besides being a successful

Toney Burger's five basketeers romped through to an easy victory in their first game with the newly organized Hays Independents last Friday night at Gainesville Fair Park gym. The score was 15 to 3.

In his remarks to the boys Mr. Clark stated how, by honest hard work, the boys could win trips to the A. & M. College and the Chicago Fat Stock Show.

The following officers were elected: Edgar Schmitz, president; Robert Kupper, vice-president, and Paul Fuhrmann, secretary.

The three spent the winter in Arizona for the sake of Mr. Seyler's health.

The 'How' of Industrial Development

One of the most lucid and skillful analyses yet made of the general outlook for further industrialization of Texas is found in a recent address by Richard Davy, Corpus Christi chemical engineer, before the Texas Academy of Science.

In connection with a program of research and education undertaken by the All-South Development Council, a report from the Texas bureau of the council in Dallas cites this analysis as being strikingly in agreement with the philosophy that seeks to point the way to a better balance of agriculture and industry for the South.

It may be granted that industrial development is predicated upon four primary factors, namely: (1) a market, (2) dependable sources of raw materials and labor, (3) a dependable present and future source of relatively low cost mechanical energy, and (4) a public attitude encouraging to the placing of capital at the disposition of industry.

Studying these factors with Texas and the Southwest in mind, it is quickly obvious that the Lone Star State fulfills the second and third requirements startingly well, what our great wealth of minerals, timber, water, gas and oil. Present-day wonders of transportation and advertising—and the not inconsiderable growth of the actual Southwest consumer market—account for Requirement No. 1, or at least make it a far from insurmountable goal.

But as to the fourth requirement—and by no means the least—it is unquestionably the sentiment of many that there is "infinite uncertainty," and that "the interpretation of public attitude will be a deciding factor in the establishment within the State of industrial projects now under consideration."

Looking at the Republic of Mexico and its failure to capitalize industrially on natural resources which

THE COMING ELECTION

DURING the past several years regular attempts have been made to legalize beer in Cooke County by local option elections. Another of those elections is being planned for the very near future.

The people of Muenster should consider that election especially important. Most of them want beer and all of them want their town to be known as a law abiding town. Under existing conditions the beer is quite generally available except at the times when officers make their periodic raids. But people who buy it realize they are unlawful and those who sell it are in constant dread of a heavy fine.

Local business men have been severely handicapped by the dry law. On the one hand they were faced with a loss of patronage if they did not handle beer, and on the other they risked an even greater loss in fines. Furthermore a man was practically helpless when ruffians invaded his business house. He could not call on the law's protection or stand on his constitutional rights to protect his own business or property without fear of being exposed as a law breaker.

If Cooke County citizens are interested in removing the stigma of lawbreaker from a majority of their own number, let them flock to the polls and vote for the legalization of beer.

After that has been done there still remains an opportunity for those who would legislate morality to outlaw beer in their own precincts. But as for the county itself, it's time we were emerging from the dark ages. Our Federal Government discovered long ago that prohibition is not practical, our State government agreed in due time but our own little county must persist in keeping an antiquated law on its books.

Let's give honest citizens a chance. Let them decide whether they are sinful in drinking a bottle of beer, but by all means let's stop branding them as law breakers if a bottle of beer is not contrary to the dictates of their conscience.

Make no mistake about it. The dries will be out in droves to protect their statute. Anyone who is interested in removing that statute would do well to realize that his vote is needed on election day.

FIRE INSURANCE

IT IS QUITE POSSIBLE that some have been wondering why Muenster has a fire marshal and what his duties are. His duties are to be constantly on the alert for fire hazards with a view to eliminating them, and to make periodic reports on the city to proper authorities. The purpose is to secure lower premiums for policy holders.

After forty years of paying the maximum keyrate of $1.00, citizens of Muenster were favored with a reduction to 54 cents. That change was brought about through the initiative of a local agent and several other enterprising citizens.

It is significant that no reduction in the rate was accomplished until recently. To policy holders now, that fact stands as a sort of indictment against the mutuals who controlled insurance here for so many years. People have been misled to assume that the small dividends allowed from time to time, made the mutuals the better companies but recent reductions in key rates reveal how much was actually paid out in excess despite the dividends.

The Enterprise wishes to encourage the trade-at-home policy. In line with that thought it adds a suggestion that anyone who considers buying fire insurance see some local agent. An agent somewhere will make a commission just as a merchant somewhere makes a profit when a sale of merchandise is made. If that profit is kept at home there is a chance that it will benefit some one else in the community.

Besides the trade-at-home policy and the advantage of keeping in the community men who will strive for better rates there is a further advantage of savings on lower rates in various types of business. Only local men are usually aware of a change in occupancy, hence only local agents can normally be expected to offer better rates after a change in occupancy.

Insurance premiums for the entire city constitute a sizeable sum. A trade-at-home policy should prompt us to keep as much of them as possible within our own community not only in commissions but also in savings to policy holders.

COURTESY LIGHTS

THE GLARE of bright headlights in an oncoming car was the cause of an automobile wreck during the past week. Since one of our own citizens was concerned in the smash-up the significance of the affair should strike us with special force.

When we consider the possible disaster that may result from a blinding glare we cannot but wonder why the use of courtesy lights is not made compulsory. In the above mentioned accident the local man was using his courtesy light but the other man thoughtlessly went on with his high beams. Result: A blinded driver who crashed into the offending car. Let that incident be food for thought to some of our drivers who will not throw on the low beam for the oncoming car. The one who caused that crash was too inconsiderate to give the other person a break, but he paid dearly when the blinded driver demolished his automobile.

A similar experience might easily be the fate of dozens of drivers around Muenster. Using courtesy lights here is the exception, not the rule. In that respect only one class of drivers show driving judgment. Truckers, the very persons who are attacked for making our roads unsafe, are the only drivers who, as a class, practice safety rules in the use of headlights. And they figure in considerably fewer crashes than the "safe" passenger car drivers.

An old saying is that a great many things do not have to be experienced; they can be learned from observation. For safety's sake let us observe someone else's mistake and avoid his experience.

BUY FROM YOUR HOME TOWN DEALER — HE IS YOUR FRIEND

A GOOD NEIGHBOR is a fine thing to have—but to be a good neighbor he must be interested in things you are—live, smile, sorrow, and laugh at the things you do. He must work alongside of you to help you make your town, your State or your country a better place in which to live. He can't do these things by remote control. He has to have his home, his business and his interests within a neighborly distance. Maybe he's next door, in the same town or several miles away—but he will still be your neighbor and your friend.

Your home town merchant is your neighbor and your friend. His world is your world. He makes and spends his money at home. This neighbor and friend of yours deserves your trade—because he can serve you better.—Anonymous.

Frank Roberg suffered a bad gash on his forehead when the key flew out of a wrench while he was working on the Knabe lease Saturday. After treatment by Dr. T. S. Myrick, Frank returned to his work.

Cheese shipments at the Muenster Cheese Factory continued at a steady pace this week as capacity loads were shipped to Fort Worth and Houston and another load was delivered to the Vernon Meat Co. truck.

Mrs. Joseph Hoffbauer, now living with her daughter at the Holy Angel's Convent in Jonesboro, Ark., is enjoying much better health than she did at Muenster, according to a recent letter received by her son, Andrew.

Care of Young Babies
At Tuesday Meeting

Bathing and dressing of babies were the outstanding subjects discussed at the regular meeting of the Muenster Health Club held Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Tony Gremminger with Miss Jane Harris, Cooke County health nurse presiding and 14 members in attendance.

Miss Harris explained in detail the procedure of giving oil baths to newly born babies as well as regular baths. Her intention of bathing a baby as had been announced at a previous meeting was not carried out because of her severe cold to which she did not wish to expose the child. She stated, however, that unless some difficulty again interferes the demonstration will be carried out at the next meeting.

farmer Mr. Schad was a splendid citizen and had hundreds of admiring friends.

He was a faithful and devoted member of the St. Peter's Verein, a frequent attendant at Holy Mass and daily approached the Table of the Lord to receive Holy Communion.

He was affiliated with the Knights of Columbus, was a member of the Sacred Heart League and served as a member on the church committee for ten years.

Mr. Schad was supervisor of the church property for six years and much of the beauty, orderliness and neatness of the St. Peter's Church yard and cemetery is attributed to his unselfish devotion and unstinting care.

Surviving are his widow; five sons, John, Jr., Aloys, Frater Sylvester, Lawrence, and Edward; five daughters, Sister M. Libaria of Yoa-kum, Sister Alma Sophie of St. Henry's Academy, San Antonio, Sister M. Vera of Castroville, Sister Helen Margaret of Our Lady of the Lake Convent, San Antonio, and Miss Sophie Mae Schad of Lindsay, and one grandchild.

Among other survivors are four brothers, Frank X., Joe W., Henry and Phillip Schad, all of Gainesville, and five sisters, Mrs. J. C. Ortner of Carroll, Iowa; Mrs. John Fox of Waco; Miss Theresa Schad, Dallas, Miss Lena Schad, Gainesville, and Sister M. Robertine of Notre Dame Academy, Quincy, Ill.

DEVELOPMENT

rival those of Texas—because investment of capital there has been extremely hazardous due to lack of a fostering government policy—it would appear that Texas, though to a lesser degree, suffers from the same condition.

We have no established policy which affords industry that security which invites investment of capital. The developed industries we now possess are continually harassed by threats of new or increased taxes, and in consequence new industry, when it analyzes what has gone before, approaches us with extreme caution.

It is not enough simply to develop our natural resources. Industry must be developed which will utilize them as raw materials, thereby adding, in many cases several hundred per cent, to their ultimate value and the economic wealth of the State. That is why there must be developed a strong public attitude against the sort of unlimited taxation which would destroy the profit possibilities of industry and would inhibit the potential creative capital necessary to keep in motion the magic cycle of production, wealth, population, demand and back again to production.

SCOUTS PREPARING FOR HIKE AND FEAST ON BIG ELM CREEK NEXT SUNDAY

Nick Miller and his troop of Boy Scouts are making preparations for their hike to Big Elm Creek about four miles south of Muenster next Sunday.

Plans as they stand at the present time call for a start between 9 and 10 a.m. with food and cooking utensils. Using creek water the boys intend to prepare their noon meal over an open fire and the principal item on their menu is mud-cooked roast which is prepared by wrapping seasoned meat in cheese cloth, covering with a layer of mud, and imbedding it in live coals for about two hours.

Some of the boys' time will be spent on scout tests.

Surviving are his widow; five sons, John, Jr., Aloys, Frater Sylvester, Lawrence, and Edward; five daughters, Sister M. Libaria of Yoa-kum, Sister Alma Sophie of St. Henry's Academy, San Antonio, Sister M. Vera of Castroville, Sister Helen Margaret of Our Lady of the Lake Convent, San Antonio, and Miss Sophie Mae Schad of Lindsay, and one grandchild.

Among other survivors are four brothers, Frank X., Joe W., Henry and Phillip Schad, all of Gainesville, and five sisters, Mrs. J. C. Ortner of Carroll, Iowa; Mrs. John Fox of Waco; Miss Theresa Schad, Dallas, Miss Lena Schad, Gainesville, and Sister M. Robertine of Notre Dame Academy, Quincy, Ill.

ANDY HOFFBAUER SPENDS SPARE TIME BEAUTIFYING HIS HOME AND PREMISES

During fair weather lately Mr. and Mrs. Andy Hoffbauer have been spending their spare time beautifying their home and its premises.

At the present time Andy is busy putting a new coat of paint on the house. In carrying out the color scheme of orange and white Andy is using the lighter shade as a body color and trimming with the darker. He is also trying a new scheme in using orange paint on screens and advises that he is well pleased with the general effect.

Other details of Andy's beautification program include an already completed rock garden, which will be used as a lily pond in the near future, a trellis, and a variety of shrubs and rose bushes.

GAINESVILLE TEACHERS TRIM SUMAC QUINTET IN THRILLER MONDAY NIGHT

A game that took some of the spunk out of Coach Burger's county champion Sumacs was their 30-to-23 loss to the Gainesville Teachers at Fair Park Gym Monday night. The Teachers is a team composed of pedagogues in Gainesville. In their game Monday they were assisted by Shaw of the Leopard quintet.

According to Toney Burger the game was a thriller all the way—even more so than the score indicated. Though the pros were usually in the lead their advantage never exceeded three points until two rapid fire double markers put the game on ice in the closing minutes. And several times the Sumacs forged to the front for a momentary lead.

Nabors, coach of the Leopards and lanky center for the Teachers held scoring honors with a total of 11 points and Renfro, Muenster's ace scorer, led his team mates with nine points.

CHALLENGE FOR SUMACS SENT BY SUBIACO FIVE; BURGER CANNOT ACCEPT

As a sequel to all the wild talk between local basketball fans and Subiaco College students during the Christmas holidays, the Subiaco team has issued a challenge to the Sumacs. Mr. Burger stated Wednesday that he received a telegram from Subiaco Tuesday inviting his team for a game on Friday.

The challenge came too late, Coach Burger advised, for his boys to accept. At the present time the Sumacs are participating in a county tournament of independent teams and therefore cannot make the trip.

At the same time the boys are now concerned over literary and athletic events in the coming Interscholastic League meet. Finally the time and expense of making a 600-mile trip is hardly justified by a single game, Mr. Burger added.

For that combination of reasons the Subiaco challenge will be passed up by Mr. Burger and all the wild talk about the relative merits of the two teams is doomed to continue with the return of the Subiaco students.

FIREMEN'S BALL TO BE DISCUSSED AT FIREMEN'S MEETING FRIDAY NIGHT

In accordance with a recent decision to hold their regular monthly meeting and practice on the same day, the Muenster Volunteer Fire Department will hold its meeting tonight after the regular practice session. Prior to this time meetings were held on Monday.

Outstanding in importance at tonight's meeting will be the plans for the Firemen's Ball to be held in the K. of C. Hall on April 8. Each member will be given some tickets to sell.

Jimmy Rudd and his Band will furnish music for the dance, which is being given to raise funds for additional fire equipment.

NAZIS TO USE FISH TO MAKE HOT DOGS

Hamburg, Germany, March 9.—German authorities, faced with a meat shortage, announced recently that hot dogs henceforth will be made of fish.

The ground-fish wieners were developed by experts of the Institute for Deep Sea Fisheries at Westermunde.

The German hotdog, longer than its American cousin, is called bockwurst.

UNEXPLODED SHELLS MENACING UNWARY CITIZENS OF LAWTON

Lawton, Okla., March 9.—Mankilling unexploded artillery duds menace unwary Lawtonites just as they do the tillers of the old European battlefields, Major Russell C. Snyder, Fort Sill Provost Marshal, said Sunday night.

Puzzling to the major is just what prompts residents hereabouts to pick up the unexploded shells at the restricted military firing range at nearby Fort Sill.

Thurmond Stephens, 22, of Lawton, is recovering from injuries suffered when he accidentally detonated a dud two miles west of here which someone had found on the reservation. He will be scarred for life. Two friends suffered minor injuries.

Cox, walking his beat, who found several small children playing with a deadly seventy-five millimeter dud on a Lawton street.

Horrified, he shooed the children away, violated strictest civil and military regulations by picking up the unexploded shell and carried it gingerly two miles to a creek where he threw it into the water.

Major Snyder theorized persons remove these man-killers ignorant of the danger involved, then rid themselves of the duds as conveniently as possible after the menace is discovered.

He said a shoe toe, inadvertently stubbed against a dud, might be enough to set it off.

Doctor Etter of Sherman was out on a wild goose chase when he drove over to Muenster for a visit with Dr. T. S. Myrick Sunday. After spending about an hour in futile waiting for the Doc, Dr. Etter returned to Sherman.

Relatives here were advised that John Bentler, a brother-in-law of Henry Schmitker and a cousin of the Fette family died at his home in Houghton, Iowa, on March 4.
