Court Clears AMPI In Ten Year Case

Just a few days after President Reagan's speech last Thursday concerning the economic mess US will have to overcome, the country is feeling a double benefit. It has his outline presenting a clear idea of many things that need to be done, and it has a definite improvement in attitude. There's an air of confidence, with the general public assuming that better times are definitely in sight, and people are willing, even eager, to make the necessary sacrifices.

The President simplified the situation by explaining that you don't impress kids a lot by urging greater effort in making ends meet, but you can by reducing their allowance. Likewise our government is determined to slash its appropriations as a means of relieving the strain on the budget, and on us taxpayers.

So, this leads to the second part of his program, a proposed 10 per cent income tax cut which can serve the double purpose of saving more of one's income for personal use, or improving or expanding business. The really attractive part of this tax program is the proposed continuation of reduction through the second and third year. The reduction of some 30 per cent in the tax we have been paying would be about as attractive as any economic bonanza we can imagine.

While doing this wishful thinking, we need to remember of course that there will be big problems. For instance, as pointed out by The President, we have the annual obligation of near $80 billion on our national debt of near a trillion dollars. In addition we have committed obligations to Social Security, the Veterans' program, retirement funds and many other funds. Our budget is loaded with fixed costs that can't be reduced or eliminated. Reagan's promised economies will apply only to the current business of maintaining and operating government business, paying salaries, improving our military, etc. Decreasing this current expense sufficiently to achieve an overall 10 per cent cut on the entire budget looms as a tremendous job.

At random, this column can come up with a number of good ideas that would fit fine in Reagan's recovery program. One of the best is an extensive slash of regulations, which cost us many billions of dollars every year. Those include the endless list of bureaucratic orders telling people how to run their own business, as well as reports that have to be turned in. They include environmental brainstorms which run up the cost of generating electricity, making cars and what not, all added to the prices we have to pay...plus the cost of hiring government personnel to process the tons of paper work that has to be submitted.

Another recommendation for savings is to eliminate hundreds of pork barrel grants which serve only to spread some of Uncle Sam's abundance among political favorites. Many of those grants are on projects too trifling to deserve consideration, such as elaborate expeditions to study the habits of birds and beasts in Africa. These are the kind of projects that spendthrift politicians use in bartering. Disregarding the real value to the country of the giveaway proposals, also disregarding the needless burden on taxpayers, they swap votes which result in treasury rip-offs to pamper their political pets.

Following ten years of litigation capped by a trial spanning 18 months, a federal district judge has vindicated Associated Milk Producers, Inc. (AMPI) and its members of charges claiming the dairy cooperative attempted to monopolize and foreclose fluid milk markets. Plaintiff in the protracted litigatory action was National Farmers Organization (NFO).

Ira Rutherford, AMPI general manager, explained the judge ruled in AMPI's favor in every phase of the case. Rutherford noted The Honorable John W. Oliver, chief judge of the U.S. District Court of the Western Division of Missouri, issued a 296 page written opinion late last week. In that opinion, the Court ruled NFO, by evidence of the record, failed to provide sufficient proof as a basis of their claims.

Rutherford also pointed out the judge found that since NFO failed to prove any of its claims, the plaintiffs are not entitled to the damages, injunctions or the divestiture sought against AMPI.

Irvin Elkin of Amery,

Wisconsin, AMPI president, said "this is a great day for dairy farmers and one we've long awaited. This decision supports the legality of cooperative marketing organizations and clears the way for them to function as they were intended." AMPI is the nation's largest dairy cooperative.

Specifically, the Court's opinion concluded that NFO failed to prove AMPI: 1. was involved in a conspiracy to eliminate NFO from the market; 2. monopolized or attempted to monopolize the dairy industry; 3. instigated litigation against NFO in bad faith; 4. attempted to foreclose NFO's access to any fluid market; 5. eliminated competition.

Rutherford stated that with this case's conclusion AMPI ends ten years of litigation that burdened the cooperative over an entire decade. "We are now free of any major litigation that could interfere with AMPI's efforts to do a better job of marketing its members' milk."

Associated Milk Producers, Inc. has members in 22 states and represents some 30,000 dairy farmers.

SH Teams Head for State

Winning a district basketball championship is great, but winning two of them is super, especially if it happens the same night.

Well, that's how it was Saturday night at Sacred Heart when both teams, boys and girls, won their playoffs with the two Gorman High teams of Tyler. The Tigerettes started the good work with a 41-33 triumph and the Tigers sweated out a thriller for their 39-37 decision.

Sacred Heart's teams got into the playoff by winning both divisions of the North Zone tournament of District 3AAA of TCIL. And Tyler Gorman got there by eliminating St. John's of Ennis in both divisions of the South Zone of the same district.

So now Coaches Jon LeBrasseur and Mary Beth Bartush will take their charges to San Antonio in quest of the big prizes in the TCIL state championship playoffs.

Action is scheduled Friday and Saturday of this week in HemisFair Arena with four boys and four girls teams competing for top honors of the AAA division as well as four teams each in the AAAA division. Tigerettes will meet Bishop Forest of Schuelenberg (11-5) at 9:30, and Tigers will meet Reicher of Waco (21-4) at 1 p.m. SHHS girls have a season record of 12-12, (10 of the last 13); and boys have a record of 19-8 (13 of last 16).

Likewise the remaining two AAA teams of each division play the remaining semifinals, after which semi final winners will play to determine champ and runnerup, and semi final losers will play for the No. 3 honor.

Teams will go to San Antonio Friday by chartered bus. Also Friday a number of fans intend to drive to the games. Fans at home will be able to hear the Sacred Heart games on KGAF Radio.

The Tigerettes started their shoot-out with a 12-10 first period lead but promptly dropped behind 17-14 as the visitors temporarily took charge. Then SH went to the press, which turned out to be the turning point of the contest. They outscored the opponents 11-1 in the brief rally which included a 25 footer by Nancy Sicking, a fast break for 2 by Anne Felderhoff and a 3 point play by Sicking as the buzzer sounded. SH led 25-18 at intermission.

After that the Tigerettes had no problems, holding comfortable leads of 32-21 and 41-33 at the end of the third and fourth periods. "All of the girls were Super" LeBrasseur said, "and they earned their reward by lots of hard work."

He added that a special heroine is Tammy Henschel who had been on a crutch for three days and put it aside for the occasion. Her record was 9 points and 9 rebounds. Sunday morning she had her fallen arch placed in a cast, which she intends to take off in time for the game at San Antonio.

Other standouts were Carol Walterscheid, 9 points and 15 rebounds, Susan Walterscheid, 7 points and 17 rebounds, Anne Felderhoff 8 points, Nancy Sicking 6 and Virginia Bartush 2.

Coach Jon was less enthusiastic about the Tigers, who "got by the Crusaders in a mistake-filled game." He said the good defense offset the poor offense, but the important factor was Brian Herr who came off the bench, rebounded 7 and stole 7 and led the scoring at 14, including 10 of 12 free throws.

Another big help was four foul shots by Brian Bednorz in the final pressure packed minute along with a fine floor game. Also Monte Endres scored 11 and rebounded 8, Bednorz scored 7, Kirk Mollenkopf 4, Gene Fuhrman 3, plus 9 rebounds.

Chamber Activity Centers on Banquet and Germanfest

The annual Chamber of Commerce banquet and Germanfest occupied the attention of Chamber members Tuesday at their regular luncheon meeting. In each case it was a matter of reviewing plans and progress and related activity.

Regarding the banquet the first word is that the date is postponed from March 13 to the 20th, the reason being mostly that time is rushing up on the necessary preliminaries. As usual, the banquet will be preceded by a combined membership drive and election of directors. A letter asks members to respond with a check for dues and include with it their vote for candidates listed on the ballot. Nominees are Lupe Evans, Monica Hess, Gene Davenport, Stan Endres, Don Hess, Larry Kinard and Bob Vogel. Members will vote for 4.

The letter also says that payment of dues entitles a business to two free banquet tickets and an individual to one free ticket. Membership dues are $30 a year for a business and $15 a year for an individual.

Relative to Germanfest, the message is that preparations are advancing steadily with Alvin Fuhrman as general chairman and Dick Ferber as assistant. Brochures are expected to be ready before the banquet, additional entertainment is planned and additional stage space is provided for it, flag poles will be erected at the historical marker, the small tent will be erected east of the large tent, and more security workers will be on hand.

Reluctantly the Chamber has decided to start charging a $1 admission price, the reason being that inflation keeps driving up expenses as indicated by last year's lower net in spite of larger attendance. A provision is that 5 per cent of the admissions will be set aside for the park fund.

It was pointed out that tents cost more, labor costs more and more, additional helpers are needed, rest room facilities cost more, and operating capital is needed. For instance, last year's $7,000 net has been reduced to $1,000 by the purchase of 50,000 beer cups for $6,000.

Need for more revenue led to a choice of charging admission or raising the charge for concessions. The Germanfest committee preferred the former way.

A meeting for continued Germanfest planning, especially for organizations or individuals wanting concessions, inside or outside the tents, is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. next Monday in the meeting room of the Telephone Building.

Winter's Coldest Plunges to 6 Degrees

This winter's coldest weather arrived Wednesday with a reading of 6 degrees and a chill factor of considerably below zero. But it did not last, and it did not include some of the other seasonable undesirables like sleet and freezing rain. Following the mercury plunge the reading climbed steadily to a high of 28 by mid-afternoon.

Other temperatures of the week have been moderate. Low and high readings were recorded as follows by Steve Moster. Feb. 5, 34 and 42;

Feb. 6, 39 and 42; Feb. 7, 40 and 56; Feb. 8, 30 and 52; Feb. 9, 34 and 60; Feb. 10, 40 and 42; Feb. 11, 6 and 28.

Meanwhile the drought has had very little relief. With a reading of .54 on the 10th, the February total now reaches .85 and the total for the year is 1.04 inches, which happens also to be the total since a 1.73 inch rain early in December. The combined measure for November, December, January and February is 4.07 inches.

Election Ordered for Three Trustees on School Board

The election of three trustees to the Muenster School Board on Saturday, April 4, was ordered by the board at its regular meeting last Thursday. Positions to be filled are Numbers 3 and 4, which are now being vacated by expiring terms of Ed Cler and Willie Walterscheid respectively. Another opening is for the remaining year in the unexpired term of Position 5, now held by Harold Bindel.

Bindel has filed for reelection but no one has announced for the three year terms. Cler is now completing his seventh term on the board and Walterscheid his second.

Persons who wish to be on the ballot are asked to file their candidacy in the office of Superintendent Charles Coffey on or before the March 4 deadline.

Muenster KC's Will Host District at Initiation Mar. 29

Initiation ceremonies for admission of new members into the five councils of the local Knights of Columbus district got under way last Saturday and will come to a close on Saturday, March 29.

The first event was the First or Admissions Degree hosted by the Denison council. Five candidates of the Muenster Council were in the initiation class, namely Dave Berres, Chris Walter, Alfordean Winn, George Bayer and Larry Fleitman. They were accompanied to Denison by Harold Flusche, Ben Fleitman Jr. and Eddie Fleitman.

Next on schedule is another admissions degree at Gainesville on the morning of March 29, to be followed by major degrees and related activities later in the day at Muenster.

The local program begins with Mass at 11 a.m. in Sacred Heart Church for members and candidates, local and visitors. That will be followed by a light lunch in the KC hall, then the second degree initiation and finally the third degree.

Councils to be hosted by Muenster for the March 29 event are Gainesville, Denison, Pilot Point and Denison.

Tax Districts in Trouble Senator Glasgow Reports

County wide tax appraisal and collection districts created last year by an act of the state legislature, may be in serious trouble, according to State Senator Bob Glasgow.

As reported in the Gainesville Register of February 10, a study now underway by a Senate committee points to probable changes in the districts and possibly even complete repeal. He further suggests that member units of the districts refrain from further commitments until the matter is settled.

The two local tax entities involved in the program are the City of Muenster and the Muenster ISD. Like the other participating units, each is charged for its share of the total budget based on its percentage of total valuation. For 1.09 per cent of the total, Muenster is assessed about $5,700 for the year and has made a quarterly payment of $1425. The school has been assessed $31,049.77 a year for 5.41 per cent of the total expense, and has remitted $8,249.77 to date. The total annual budget of the tax district is $479,700. New Building at Public School Nears Completion

After weeks of delay, construction of the new administration building at Muenster Public School has shifted into high gear, Superintendent Charles Coffey told the Muenster school board at its meeting last week. The indication is that it can be occupied early in March.

Presently bricklaying is in progress and inside items such as plumbing, fixtures, paneling, etc., are on hand ready for installation.

Located at the south end of the former football field, the new structure matches the school's other buildings, has some 2000 square feet of floor space, air conditioning, vinyl and tile floors. With a metal roof and extensive use of non-combustible materials inside, the building is rated as near 100 per cent fireproof.

The daughters of Mr. and Mrs. H.C. Sockwell hope you will join with their families in celebrating their fiftieth wedding anniversary. Open House in their honor will be held in the Sockwells' home in Forestburg on Sunday, February 22, from 2 until 4 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. H.C. Sockwell have lived in Forestburg for 20 years, after moving from Denton where he was in the refrigeration and air conditioning business, until he "retired" to ranching. Mrs. Sockwell, the former Miss Marion Caddell taught school in Denton before they married; and taught again in Forestburg 43 years later. She particularly enjoyed teaching grandchildren of friends she knew when she lived on her grandfather's ranch, now her present home.

Friends and relatives are cordially invited to call during the Open House on February 22.

Looking Ahead

NATIONAL EDUCATION PROGRAM

BACK TO SQUARE ONE
One of the main issues of the recent election campaign was the status of the nation's defenses. It was charged by candidate Ronald Reagan that the Carter administration had permitted our defense structure to become dangerously weak. Several very prominent and influential U. S. Senators also were challenged on the basis of their anti-defense voting records and were subsequently defeated. SALT II was a campaign issue as it was charged the proposed treaty would relegate the U.S. to a position of strategic inferiority. The questions being raised here are: would we become dangerously weak in the face of what? We would become strategically inferior to whom? Why should we need to strengthen defense forces now costing us some $150 billion annually?

Well, the answers are embodied in the fact that it seems most Americans have finally come to recognize that a militarily stronger Soviet Union poses a very real threat to the security and freedom of the American people and all others of the free world.

It's about time! For some forty years this forum has been striving to get this point across to the American people. And, of course, many other groups have worked for the same objective.

While this recognition is a very important milestone for the national consciousness, it is only one objective of many which must be achieved if we are to preserve our nation and our freedom. In order to accomplish these objectives we must do some serious thinking.

A good place to start would be to ask ourselves, "Why does the Soviet Union pose a threat to the security of the United States and the free world?" When this question is answered it exposes a whole line of thought which should be analyzed because of important conclusions to which it leads.

The Soviet Union poses a threat to the United States and the free world because it is the fountainhead and vanguard of the international communist movement which is determined to impose its control over the entire world. "The Communists believe, with great sincerity," said Dr. Fred Schwarz in a recent newsletter, "that they have an inescapable historic mandate to do this. Their preferred method of achieving it is by surrender, but the possibility of thermonuclear war also exists."

"The formula they are following to achieve the conquest of the United States is," continued Dr. Schwarz, "external encirclement, plus internal demoralization, plus thermonuclear blackmail, lead to progressive surrender."

For many of us such recognition is not new; like Dr. Schwarz and other students of Communism, we have been repeating such truisms over and over again for years. But what is important is that finally once again the thinking of the great majority of politically aware citizens, those who go to the polls to express themselves, has accepted the premise that we are threatened by the Soviets.

So we are back to square one where we were about 1960 when the late, great Director of the F.B.I., J. Edgar Hoover, warned us, "We are at war with communism and the sooner every red-blooded American realizes this the safer we will be." We must now build upon that premise and never permit ourselves to again be deluded in our thinking as we have over the past twenty years.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—One month after opening day of the new Legislature, bill action is rapid in the Senate and practically nil in the House... all because of a new tactic not seen at the Capitol since the 1930s.

The House has prevented itself from voting on any bills (other than emergency bills designated by the Governor) by refusing to lift a Constitutional provision which previous Legislatures lifted as a matter of tradition.

It is a confusing and complex strategy which has left many lawmakers and on-lookers scratching their heads.

Four-Fifths Rule

The Texas Constitution provides that the first 30 days of the session shall be devoted to the introduction of bills and the next 30 days devoted to committee hearings. Except for the governor's emergency bills, the Legislature is constitutionally prohibited from voting on any bill during the first 60 days of the session.

The kicker is this: the Constitution allows either house to override the above provisions by "an affirmative vote of fourth-fifths of its membership."

In every Legislature since the '30s, the members have mustered the necessary 120 "yes" to allow them to begin voting immediately... but not this time.

Reform-Minded Session?

This session a small group of Democrats and Republicans banded together on the second day of the session to keep the Constitutional provision intact. The press immediately tagged the group "The Terrible Termites," after a lobbyist complained they were gnawing away at Speaker Bill Clayton's power.

Since only 31 members are needed to keep up the strategy, it is most likely that the House will not fall into its regular rhythm until after the first 60 days. Reminiscent of the old "Dirty Thirty" days, a dissident minority is, at least for now, controlling House action.

Ramifications of the strategy are many, and probably includes some twists which the Termites did not foresee.

Clayton Stalled

The primary intent was to stall House Speaker Clayton, who in his previous three terms as gavel-wielder has steered his favorite legislation to early passage. By delaying the appointment of committee chairman for three weeks, Clayton had played on desire for those political plums to muster votes for his issues. This session Clayton named committee chairman a week earlier than previous sessions, but his issues are still pending.

And that's all he's getting for now. However, when the 60-day deadline rolls around, Clayton will be back in control of bill action in the House... and friend and foe alike will concede that the Speaker's knowledge of procedure is probably as vast as any legislator who has ever served in that chamber.

Clements Rolls On

The man who is taking advantage of the Termites ploy is wily Bill Clements, the governor who wants to turn Texas government farther to the right.

By simply declaring a bill "an emergency," Clements can authorize any bill for early consideration in the House. Until the 60-day deadline, Clements is the first gatekeeper for House bill action and it has enhanced his position. Legislators seeking immediate action on their pet projects must curry favor from the Governor, who is hardly known as a soft touch. While it is not absolute or permanent, this special leverage for Clements is definitely to his advantage.

Rock, Hard Place

The second gatekeeper is still Clayton, but the Termites have put him between a rock and a hard place. If they persist in their stalling action, Clayton is weakened in his dealing with Clements. Yet the Termites are unlikely to give up their ploy unless Clayton deals over certain concessions to them, not his wont.

Clayton is a conservative Democrat, and despite the recent Brilab woes, he is given good odds to continue his political career. A courageous, intelligent man, Clayton may well stand now at the cross-roads of his political life.

He is the epitome of the conservative Democrat in Texas, which may be a dying breed if the state continues to polarize politically. As the Republicans and moderate-liberal Democrats grow in strength, Clayton's middle ground may be eroding from under him. If he is to run for higher office, Clayton could conceivably switch political parties beginning this session with concessions to the Republicans. He is already accused of getting along too well with the GOP.

Friends close to Clayton believe he is too loyal a Democrat to change, and his political footsie games with Republicans stems from a genuine concern to help all Texans. But can Clayton make peace with the liberal faction, led by Rep. John Bryant of Dallas, which has offered him only headaches?

The burden is not just on his shoulders. Clayton is a wealthy man who could retire with pride for his political accomplishments, if so chosen. His nemesis faction must realize a new flexibility on their part: the voters have spoken for a new conservatism, hardly a passing political trend.

History will run its course, and men like Clayton, Clements and Bryant will act as they think best. The drama will be interesting as it unfolds in the coming months.

CAPITOL UPDATE

John Tower
U.S. SENATOR for TEXAS
142 RUSSELL OFFICE BUILDING
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20510

During the past few decades, we Americans have witnessed the steady, painful growth of our federal government. It has curtailed our freedoms, wreaked havoc on our economy and changed many aspects of the way we conduct our lives both at work and at home.

President Reagan has gotten off to a fast start, and I applaud his moves to show that he is serious in his efforts to put government in its place.

Within minutes of taking the oath of office, he has imposed a tough federal hiring freeze.

He has ordered cuts in government spending on travel and ended the constant round of office redecorating that always seems to be underway in Washington.

And he has vowed to attack federal red tape by naming Vice President George Bush to head a task force to study ways we can thin out federal regulations on businesses and individuals.

This new hiring freeze shows promise of being more effective than those imposed in the past, which often fell victim to the momentum that has built up within the federal bureaucracy. The new Administration's hiring freeze could reduce the number of federal workers by 6 percent a year.

And the President's efforts to trim government spending on travel and the use of outside consultants could create an additional savings to the taxpayers of up to $300 million in this year alone.

Along with the growth of the federal bureaucracy has come a corresponding growth in federal regulations and the President made the dramatic decision to halt action on all pending federal regulations for 60 days.

There is a clear and urgent need for such a move, especially in light of bushels of last-minute regulations promulgated in the last days before the arrival of a new Administration.

This freeze on implementing new regulations will allow the Administration to take a careful look at what needs to be trimmed.

I also believe we can expect a rejection of past attempts at regulatory reform through the addition of even more paperwork that accompanies the establishment of agencies created to review other agencies.

And I expect a new approach to be taken in analyzing new regulations. I hope that the current system will be replaced by one that will limit new regulations on those where benefits exceed the costs. At the very least agencies should be able to prove a reasonable relationship between the costs they impose and the benefits they anticipate.

Senator John Tower
The United States Senate
Washington, D.C. 20515

Dear Senator:
I am sure you are busy but please allow a few minutes to read my letter.

Today's world and the role the United States plays are more complex than ever before. This is why we have some new and different problems. In my opinion the United States ought to try to be a friend to the World, and not a conqueror or try to destroy the World.

Certainly, one should not feel honor-bound when dealing with kidnapers. But whatever course the United States takes in dealing with Iran, we should act with reason and not with emotions. I also feel the United States should honor the agreement made with Iran.

Yours very truly,

Eligibility Guidelines Change for Free and Reduced Price Meals

A change in the charge for reduced price meals under the National School Lunch and Child Nutrition Programs, along with a change of eligibility guidelines for free and reduced price meals, was announced this week by the Texas Education Agency, according to a statement by Superintendent Charles Coffey.

The new arrangement includes a reduction of 2 1/2 cents in reimbursement to the school for its free and paid meals, as well as a reduction of 15 1/2 cents in reimbursement for reduced price meals, plus a reduction of 2 cents a meal on the reimbursement for commodities.

These reductions mean that the net cost per meal to the school has increased, but the charge per meal will not increase proportionately. According to Superintendent Coffey the charge for a reduced price meal will increase from 10 to 20 cents, but there is no change in price for a free meal or a regular price meal. The regular price is 50 cents for grades 1-6 and 60 cents for grades 7-12. These prices will apply through the remainder of this school year.

According to Coffey the new guidelines will be applied to applications received at the beginning of the year. No new applications will be expected. The guidelines are published as follows.

Family Size	Free Meals	Reduced Price Meals
1	$0-5,700	5,700-8,350
2	0-7,220	7,220-10,730

Ronnie Felderhoff Files for Election

The first hat in the ring for the coming city election is that of Ronnie Felderhoff. He has filed his candidacy for Position 3, which presently is held by Ray Walterscheid. Still awaiting candidates are Position 5, now occupied by Ted Henschel, and the mayor's position held by Richard Grewing.

In last week's item about the election the Enterprise erroneously said that the terms of city offices are three years. It should have said two years.

Cold Facts About Cold Beer

A quality beer doesn't just happen. At Anheuser-Busch, our reputation as the world's leading brewer rests on the quality of our beers. They are brewed naturally (without chemical additives) with the finest ingredients, using traditional methods.

And now, our commitment to quality has taken another step forward as our family of wholesalers across the U.S. are building special Controlled Environment Warehouses to ensure that our fine beers reach you as fresh as possible. Here are the cold facts about our cold, fresh beers...

Fact
Like all perishable products, beer can go stale if improperly stored. Ideal storage conditions, of course, preserve freshness, and that means a better tasting product for the consumer. As part of our Controlled Environment Warehousing (CEW) program, Anheuser-Busch and its wholesalers throughout the country have determined how to store our fine products so they remain as close to "brewery fresh" as possible, preserving the quality we brew into our beers from the start.

Fact
Beer is best stored and served at a temperature of 38 to 42 degrees. Our CEW facilities are carefully designed to maintain temperatures as close to that mark as possible, given existing packaging technology. This is a real plus for our naturally-brewed beers, which contain no artificial preservatives.

Fact
The major enemies of beer freshness are naturally occurring reactions that take place while the product is being stored. These reactions break down the flavor and the body that all Anheuser-Busch beers are known for. By storing our beers in cooler temperatures, we're slowing down the reactions that could detract from their taste. Our traditional strict quality control measures will still be enforced in the marketplace and with our improved storage methods the freshness of our beers will be enhanced even further.

Fact
It is a common misconception that cooled beer will lose its taste if it is allowed to warm up. The fact is, the best way to store a beer is to keep it cool from the time it leaves the brewery until it's consumed. But if that proves impossible, the longer the beer has been kept cool, the better it will taste. So even if you don't put your beer in the refrigerator for several days after you bring it home from the store, it will still be fresher — and taste better — for having been stored in a CEW facility.

City Gets $801 As Tax Rebate on Mixed Drink Sales

The City of Muenster has received a check from State Comptroller Bob Bullock in the amount of $801.07 as it's 15 percent rebate on the tax collected here on the sale of mixed drinks.

The tax, authorized under the law that legalizes the sale of mixed drinks, is collected by the Alcoholic Beverage Commission and rebates are sent quarterly to cities and counties by the comptroller. The tax collected is 10 percent of the gross sales, the rebates to cities and counties where sold are 15 percent of the tax remitted. The pay period was for the last quarter of $980.

Also receiving checks for mixed drink sales were Gainesville, $651.55; Lindsay, $1,804.48 and Cooke County $4,287.12. Total taxable sales were listed at $5,340.46 in Muenster, $4,343.67 in Gainesville, $12,029.84 in Lindsay and $28,580.80 in the county.

Bullock said that 213 counties and 367 cities received a total of $7.3 million in rebates from the sale of mixed drinks during the past quarter and the state received more than $18 million as its share of the tax. During the past year city-county rebates added to $27.7 million and the state's share was $67.7 million.

The baby's cap was made by Mrs. H.H. Homsley.

Following the ceremony, a noon dinner was hosted by Aaron's maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Schneider, for about 25 members of both families including the paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Walt Klement and the great-grandmother, Mrs. Catherine Walterscheid.

They all remained to visit during the afternoon and to watch the Super Bowl.

Flu Facts From Texas Medical Assoc.

If you're suffering from a fever, coughing, sore throat, runny nose, and generally just ache all over, guess what you have? February marks the peak influenza season, so brace yourself to ward off or weather the attack says the Texas Medical Association (TMA).

Anyone can come down with the flu, especially if it is widespread in a community. It is more likely to be serious for those with chronic diseases, the aged or women who are pregnant.

The flu usually takes one to three days to develop. When it does come out into the open, you may notice chills, fever, headache, backache, muscular pains and a loss of appetite. Your temperature may go up quickly during and first day of symptoms, and will gradually drop over a few days. Fever usually lasts for about three days, but it may go on for as long as seven.

As your fever drops, you may notice more stuffiness in your nose and the cough may continue. There might also be a pus in the discharges from your nose and throat. From that point on, however, you'll begin healing quickly.

While most patients recover completely within a week, many continue to feel unusually tired for some time. The standard remedies of getting plenty of rest, drinking fluids and taking aspirin still hold true says the TMA. Hot chicken soup coupled with tender loving care couldn't hurt either. In most cases, the flu leaves no permanent after effects, but occasionally, people do develop other illnesses. The most common complication is pneumonia. Other sicknesses that piggyback the flu are persistent cough or bronchitis, sinus trouble and ear infections.

Cubs Hold Blue Gold Banquet

The Blue and Gold Banquet on Sunday, February 8 observed 13 years of Cub Scout membership and activity in Muenster for Pack 664 and opened the 14th year with great plans for the Cubs and a plea for more leaders, especially a Cubmaster.

Formal observance of Cub Scout Week began with a special Mass at 11 a.m. Sunday in Sacred Heart Church.

The noon meal in the VFW Hall was the traditional Blue and Gold Banquet, featuring a menu of fried chicken with the bountiful addition of covered dishes brought by each family. Table decorations were provided by the four dens.

Posting of the Colors ceremony was conducted by the Webelos, and leader Chris Walter; and the invocation was given by Father Denis Soerries.

David Fette was master of ceremonies. Special guests also included Father Maynard Marbough; Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Henscheid representing the VFW; Muenster Mayor and Mrs. Rich Grewing; Mrs. David Fette; Mark Hess, 1st Cub to join in 1968; Mrs. Linda Odom, district executive of Denton; Scoutmaster of Troop 664 and Mrs. Waylon Poole; and Bob Schaff of Gainesville, district executive; also Glenn Hess and Jeanie Haverkamp.

The pack history was given by Mark Hess. Pack 664 was originated in June 1968 in the Butterfield Trail District, and sponsored by the Knights of Columbus and the VFW. Joe Sicking was the first executive officer; Leonard Reiter the first cubmaster and Gerald Hess the assistant cubmaster. Membership included 40 cubs and 18 leaders.

In 1969 there were 42 cubs, 21 leaders, and Alvin Hartman was cubmaster. In 1971 there were 68 cubs, 29 leaders and Clyde Fisher was cubmaster.

Most Cubs then advanced into the Webelos and after 1973 the number of boys joining the cubs began to diminish until in 1978 there were only 16 cubs and 10 leaders. Since 1978 there has been renewed interest in cubscouting and in April 1980 there were 35 cubs and 9 leaders in Muenster. A total of 225 boys have participated during the 13 years. But the need for adult leaders is increasing.

Among outstanding activities has been the Pinewood Derby, presented first in 1972. The track was built by Father Andrew Wewer and is still in use. Muenster Jaycees have assisted each year in the project. The Turkey Shoot was first held in Muenster in 1979 in the Twin Pine Barn. Before that time it was held in Gainesville. In 1979 Den 4 was the first Muenster den to attend the Scout Circus in Fort Worth for the first time and participate by marching in the opening parade. In 1980 Den 4 members attended the Scout-A-Rama in Gainesville, winning first prize with their entry. Den 4 thus provided representation at major Council and District-wide events.

In 1980 Muenster Cubs have enjoyed the Father-Son Fishing Derby, Bicycle Rodeo, Day Camp, Camporee, Turkey Shoot, Caroling at St. Richard's Villa, Pinewood Derby and the annual Blue and Gold Banquet.

Adding to the program Sunday were skits performed by dens 1, 3 and 4 and the Webelos. (See accompanying pictures.) The advancement ceremony was conducted by Linda Odom and certificates of appreciation were presented by Lupe Evans. A complete list is in an accompanying story.

Closing remarks by David Fette included a plea for more leaders and especially a cubmaster. The closing cub prayer was given by Brian Bayer and the parent prayer by David Bayer.

The special inspiration was included in the closing ceremony:

It is easier to bend a boy than mend a man...

Cub Scouts have more need of models than of critics...

Someone said "Boys will be boys." He forgot to add "Boys will be men..."

You can preach a better sermon with your life than with your lips...

Others will follow in your footsteps more easily than they will follow your advice...

Are your closets packed with clothes you no longer use? Someone else could be wearing those clothes and shoes. Classified ads can help... Call 759-4311 or 759-4351.

Open House
This Weekend
 See how Capp Homes beats the high cost of housing.

Come see an open house that's totally unique...a Capp Homes Open House. What makes this open house so unusual? The house isn't even finished yet. The exterior is erected, but the interior is not yet complete. Why? Because we want you to see for yourself all the benefits of the "Finish-It-Yourself House" program.

You'll see the excellent quality of Capp construction materials and workmanship. Capp Homes are custom built from your plans or ours. Nothing is pre-fab or modular.

At the open house, you'll learn that by finishing it yourself, or by acting as your own general contractor, you'll save a bundle — thousands of dollars, compared to having an ordinary builder construct the same house on your lot.

And Capp has financing available...both construction loans and permanent mortgages for new qualified home buyers.

Find out more this weekend. Come to the Open House...rain or shine.

HERE'S HOW TO GET TO THE OPEN HOUSE.
 Time: Noon to 5 p.m.
 Date: Sunday, Feb. 15 - TODAY ONLY

Muenster High Loses To Era and Forestburg

The MHS basketball season, which has been lean from the start, took a turn for the worse during the current flu epidemic. Superintendent Winn said Wednesday 29 are absent and the number has been about the same for the past two weeks. And the problem has applied in a big way to basketball. Last Friday, for instance 3 MHS starters were absent for the Era game. They are Larry Fleitman, Steve Luke and Kevin Felderhoff, the team's tallest and best rebounders.

The end result was that Era's normal advantage was magnified and it went on a 90-35 scoring spree. Tim Schneider 12, and Wayne Carroll 9, led the Hornet scoring.

Playing Forestburg Tuesday night the team was complete but still not up to par. So, the Hornets lost 58-39 to the team which previously beat them by one point in overtime. Forestburg gained in every period for leads of 14-6, 25-16, 38-22 and 58-39. Scorers for MHS were Larry Fleitman 18, Ricky Winn 6, Kevin Felderhoff 4, Garland Tate 4, Tim Schneider 3, Steve Luke 2, Billy Grewing 2.

MHS girls had less flu trouble but normal Era trouble as they tied at 9-9 the first period and were outscored each of the remaining periods for counts of 21-15, 32-23 and 44-30. Their top scorers were Karla Walterscheid 9, Sandy Wimmer 8, Charlotte Fleitman 7.

Playing Forestburg the Hornets blew it in the second period. After a 10-10 first quarter tie they trailed 29-16 at intermission after which they played even in the second half for a final score of 52-39. Charlotte Fleitman hit 11 for MHS, Sandy Wimmer 10, Stephanie Richey 10, Peggy Winn 4, Mary Winn 4.

Junior Teams in District Tourney

Junior High boys of Muenster were the winners in one game in last week's district tournament and the girls were blanked.

The boys started with a win over Slidell and lost by 9 points to Forestburg in the semifinal of the champ bracket. Finally they lost to Krum in a try for third place honor.

The girls were wiped out 28-6 in their opener with Ponder and lost by a point to Slidell in consolation semifinal.

Golf Association Holds Tournament

The Muenster Golf Association will hold its regular tournament on Sunday, February 15, at 9:30 a.m. at the Gainesville Municipal Course. Weather permitting, of course.

Triple Play

CLEVELAND, Ohio—Pitcher Satchel Paige was more or less 42 years old and already a legend when he reached the big leagues in 1948. Baseball writer Arthur Daley quotes Paige with this story on how he singlehandedly made a triple play.

"The bases were full and there was a 3-2 count on the batter when I went in. I picked up an extra ball in the dugout, then I threw those two balls at the same time, one to first and one to third," Paige said.

"I picked off both runners and my motion was so good that the batter fanned. That was three outs."

Volley Tournament Booked March 2-7

Preparations for a week long volleyball tournament sponsored by the Sacred Heart Alumni on March 2-7 are currently in progress.

It will include men's and women's divisions with trophies to be awarded in each to the champ and runner-up and consolation winner.

Teams wishing to enter are asked to write to: Volleyball Tournament, PO Box 115, Muenster, Tx. 76252, indicating team name, men's or women's division, captain's name and address and phone number.

Eats and drinks will be available at a concession stand.

Asleep At The Wheel: Lots of people don't realize that prescription tranquilizers are very risky as far as driving is concerned. And you don't have to be zonked out to be in danger! "Downers" slow reflexes and impair judgement. One British study showed that drivers on Valium or any other mild tranquilizer are five times likelier to have car crashes than non-users.

Carol Walterscheid was all set for this rebound Saturday in the Tigerettes' district playoff with Gorman High of Tyler. Ready to help is Anne Felderhoff. Janie Hartman Photo

DRIVING IN THE DARK DEPARTMENT: At 60 MPH a car needs about 360 feet to come to a full stop. But its headlights can illuminate only 300 feet—at the most. So by the time you see a roadside hazard—a pedestrian, bike rider, stalled car, animal, etc.—it's already too late to come to a full stop. Moral: Don't drive so fast you leave your eyes behind.

The ball is coming Kirk Mollenhopf's way and the game is going the Tigers' way just before the final buzzer of the district championship contest with Tyler Gorman. Other Tigers shown are Brian Herr, Monte Endres and Gene Fuhrman. Janie Hartman Photo

National PTA urges public confidence and increased involvement in schools

Schools are for everybody! It is time to stop blasting them and get involved in improving them. The National PTA, recognizing the serious problems facing public education, identifies lack of public confidence, uninformed citizens and public apathy as major factors in a somewhat stalemate situation.

Targeting on raising the level of public confidence in public education as a first step in addressing the problems, PTA presently is engaged in its most comprehensive membership drive in an effort to increase community awareness and participation.

Because statistics show that students achieve better in schools where people care and are supportive, greater involvement, not only from parents but from the entire community, is being stressed.

Everyone, including the students themselves, is asked to make an active commitment to their school. Concurrently, school officials are encouraged to open the doors to help establish a unified cooperative effort between the educators and the human resources from the community.

Although the problems are many and schools are not wholly adequate in all aspects, the U.S. educational system still represents one of this country's greatest products.

It educates more children from more diverse backgrounds through higher grade levels than any other country in the world.

It continually makes new achievements in many areas, e.g., innovative methods of learning evaluation to facilitate individually tailored programs for student instruction.

However, education is perpetually bombarded with new mandates from the government as well as expanding demands by parents and the community.

At the same time it is shifting demographics, frequently reduced tax support bases, and serious disruptive influences, it is asked to incorporate a multitude of additional programs and meet increasing public expectations. Perhaps public education has been loaded with more than it is equipped to handle.

Education does need help... now! PTA is committed to answering this need. As the only national volunteer organization advocating for all children, with the priority of assuring the future of education for all youth, its over six million members generate the power to influence and effect change at the national, state, council and local levels.

An even larger membership, however, is required today to better respond to the diversity, complexity and quantity of current educational concerns.

Decisions and actions affecting children are made at all levels of PTA. Often nationally visible through legislation on child nutrition, school finance and youth employment initiatives, or through such projects as upgrading the quality of TV, urban education issues and comprehensive school health education, PTA's viable network translates these programs for adaptation to state and community needs.

Coalitions or cooperative liaisons also evolve at all PTA levels. Currently working at the national level with the National Urban League to design a model urban education project in Detroit, National PTA plans to develop a coalition of community leaders, educators, youth and citizens to identify and address the crucial issues.

On a more local basis in Houston, the City Council PTA and March of Dimes Foundation joined a dozen other groups in a countywide awareness campaign to alert parents and teenagers to the hazards of adolescent pregnancy.

PTA community accomplishments in areas of nutrition, health, safety, discipline and vandalism, and drug and alcohol abuse are endless and often expanded from an individual school program throughout the district. Inner-city schools have reacted to needs offering free services for sickle-cell anemia testing and clothing exchanges for children and adults.

Recent Gallup Poll findings on American education, indicating over 82 percent of the respondents see schools as "extremely important to one's future success," may be significant. If the groundwork is set for a more positive and realistic focus on education, more people must be made aware that their involvement in the schools will make a difference.

The system can be improved to assure our youth an opportunity to achieve in America's competitive society. Education is our heritage, our obligation and our commitment to the future.

WINTER DRIVING TIP: Don't forget to clean your car's headlights. Beary lenses reduce headlight illumination by up to one-fourth.

Muenster Public Library to Show Films

On Tuesday, (Feb. 17) at 10 a.m. and on Thursday (Feb. 19) at 4 p.m. three children's films will be shown. Inventive children is the theme. "Alexander and the Car with the Missing Headlight" (13 minutes) shown Alexander's adventure with his little old car, a dog, a woodpecker, a baby elephant and an African princess. "Goggles" (6 minutes) tells how two boys outsmart older boys before they can enjoy a pair of lensless motorcycle goggles. "The Telescope" (8 minutes) is an animated allegory about a girl who loves to gaze at the stars, and how her imagination can make the stars come close.

These monthly films are available through the Northeast Texas Library System film service for the enjoyment and education of our children. The staffers show these films as part of the community's library service.

The Muenster Public Library has announced that the Internal Revenue Service has free Tax Tape cassettes available to the public for use in preparing Federal income tax forms. The tapes include step-by-step instructions for Forms 1040A and 1040 as well as Schedules A and B. Many people appreciate the self-help approach to tax preparation. A cassette is available for library patrons to be used in the Muenster Public Library or checked out for use at home.

More educators studying in MBA programs

COLLEGE STATION — A profile of students entering the graduate business program at Texas A&M University this fall shows an eight-fold increase in the enrollment of former school teachers, counselors, and those with education backgrounds but no work experience, say college officials.

At least 50 percent of those entering the graduate business school have undergraduate degrees in areas other than business administration. Among these 16 percent have education degrees, 19 percent come with liberal arts backgrounds, eight percent from engineering or technology and seven percent from science. And at least 40 percent of the students this fall are women, officials say.

The Grapple Kings

I know a couple of fellows, who in the hot, summer months, do a little grappling for catfish.

Grappling, for you uninitiated, is the art of catching catfish by hand. Anyone who is good at it - and very few are - can catch a lot of big catfish and have a lot of fun doing it. The only thing is, the law frowns on this form of fishing.

These anti-grappling laws, I imagine, were proposed and passed by some boys who couldn't quite muster the courage to master the art, or who maybe didn't like to fish anyway. The first thing you do when you want to go on a campaign to reform or abolish something, you know, is to pick something you don't like to do. Then you can really go to town with it, with tears, threats and noble speeches, because the outcome is not going to matter one way or the other to your personal lifestyle.

Anyway, the fellows I set out to talk about don't pay a whole lot of attention to certain rules and regulations that might have a history connected with such reform measures, and the fish they catch don't seem to know, being stupid, whether they were lawfully hooked or illegally grabbed.

These individuals in question have caught a lot of fish, and they have told a lot of lies about some they didn't catch, which makes them professionals.

At one time, I used to go along with them and poke around under banks and rocks.

They complained that I could never make a grapple because the water level came up too high when I got in, but I have caught a few things, namely, one soft-shelled turtle, 2 carp and a bullfrog.

My friends are continually trying to improve their technique.

One time, where they had some legitimate lines set out in the river, they decided that it would be nice to have a small boat to paddle from set to set. But it had to be, they determined, a very small, light boat, so that they could carry it around easily.

The only boat that seemed to fit their needs was a child's toy, an inflatable rubber boat.

The grand launching was a brief ceremony, and the maiden voyage was rather short. When the chief grapple stepped from bank to mid-stream, the stern flew and hit him in his stern, the bow whacked him in the belly, and he went down with his ship.

Even in the hottest of weather, grappling waters are sometimes quite cold, and my friends believe in comfort when it can be had. Therefore, money being no object, the chief decided he needed a wet suit, an item which neither he nor anybody we knew had ever actually seen.

He ordered the thing, and eventually it came in the mail. Dumped out in the floor, it looked like a giant, vividly blue, dead frog. When the chief got into it, it still looked like a dead frog.

The first time he wore it to the river, he stampeded the cows in three pastures.

It also turned out that the suit held air and made him float. This, he said, was only a minor problem; I could hold him under by placing a foot on him.

I had been wanting to put a foot on him for quite a while, and I was agreeable to the arrangement. I was amazed, though, at how short a time he could hold his breath. I'd always thought he could stay under for three or four minutes at a time, and I did my best to hold him under at least that long. He created quite a problem, getting stuck face-down in the mud and all.

We used to run one end of a long line through the mouths of fish we'd caught, and tie the other end around somebody's waist. This way we could go on with our searching under banks and rocks while the fish swam along with us.

One day I had about a twenty-pounder tied to me in this fashion, and I had towed him along for an hour or two when we encountered another party of men engaged in the same business we were.

After both sides had first stampeded, then sneaked back to recognize one another, we all went along together for awhile, seven men in all.

I was feeling around, coon fashion, when I felt a good fish. He was lying out in the open between two rocks, and I didn't want to disturb him too much without some help in hemming him up. I backed off and announced that I had a big one located. Everybody gathered around. While we were getting positioned, the chief asked if he was as big as the one we already had.

"Oh," I said, "I think he's quite a bit bigger." When everybody was ready, the chief announced that he'd better make the catch himself, since I was likely to lose him.

I offered an opinion on that, but nobody paid much attention.

The chief made his grab, and came up with the fish.

"Well, lookee here," he said, "don't this beat all? He's just exactly the same size as that other 'un. He's even got the same color eyes. And would you believe this? He's even got a cord in his mouth already, and he's done tied hisself to the genus here."

My reputation thus established, I retired from grappling.

My friends have long been the inmodest grappling kings of their home territory, but they had never, for some reason, been able to catch a really big fish in a certain major river they frequent.

Recently, they broke the hex, and found a real whopper under a big rock in this river.

He was tough to get at, and they, with an apprentice criminal, spent the better part of a long day in pursuit of him. At last, one of them got a firm hold on him and hauled him out of the water.

They laid him out atop his home rock, where they could admire him and congratulate one another. While they were giggling and backslapping, the fish decided the joke was over. With a neat little flip, he was back in the river and gone.

His recent captors looked at one another accusingly for a few minutes. Then the chief said, "Well, boys, it don't really matter. I don't believe he would've weighed a bit over 80 pounds anyway."

Pesky Nematodes Can Be Controlled

If the roots of your garden plants are damaged or appear to be decaying, you may have a nematode problem, says Neil Tibbets, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Nematodes are microscopic, worm-like animals that feed on plant roots. Damaged plants have decayed spots and stubby roots or enlarged root tips.

While several types of nematodes can infest a garden, the root knot nematode is the most damaging. Plants infested with root knot nematodes will have galls or swellings on their roots, are usually stunted and yellow in color, and may die prematurely.

Gardeners can use several methods of control to get rid of or at least lessen the number of nematodes.

Using nematode-resistant varieties of plants helps as does rotating crops of corn, onions and garlic.

Also, using a cover crop such as cereal rye, not common ryegrass, during winter months, helps trap nematodes. Nematodes will enter rye roots, but because of the physiology of the roots, the nematodes cannot undergo further development and will die. Working the cover crop into the garden area a month before planting increases, organic matter and at the same time causes an organic acid to develop which is toxic to nematodes.

While controlling nematodes by chemical means is not always effective, one method is recommended. Apply Vapam with a hose-on sprayer at the rate of one quart per 100 square feet of ground area. Then immediately wash the chemical into the soil with a one-half inch application of water. Soak the treated area twice during the next 48 hours and then leave it alone for seven days before tilling.

Wait at least two weeks after applying Vapam before planting. Also, if the temperature is high, additional watering may be needed to keep the soil below 90 degrees F. for the chemical to be effective.

Of course, the best method of controlling nematodes in your garden is to never let them get started. Topsoil or any organic matter such as peanut hulls might be infested with nematodes.
