NUMBER 21

There is no better occasion than the Easter season to take notice of our state of the nation and to visualize changes that are essential in restoring law and order, a sound economic system, and above all a standard of morality based on belief in God and responsibility to Him.

Christianity relates the great story of Easter...of the several years in which the Savior preached the perfect way of life, followed by the first Holy Week when He atoned to his Heavenly Father for sin and restored people of all ages to Divine favor.

What Christ did gives a meaning to life. The simple truths of his teachings prescribe the rules by which we can live happily and usefully, and His supreme sacrifice of the first Good Friday makes us heirs to an eternity with God.

This, of course, has to be the first consideration for Easter. Fortunately it applies to us personally, so that we are eligible for the eternal heritage regardless of national and international affairs. But it would be so much better if this were everyone's affair, if we as individuals had the state's and nation's cooperation in attaining our eternal destiny.

The mere mention of this fact sets off the tiresome and absurd old howl about separation of Church and State. God's enemies insist that religion must be kept out of government when actually they violate their own demand. The fact is that in opposing the conventional religions of belief in God they are actually substituting their own unconventional religion, more properly called atheism or belief in Satan. Any observer of the modern standards can see that this is true. The total disregard for Divine rules in our laws and policies suggest that they were made by God's enemies. Our nation does not assist us in attaining our personal destiny. Furthermore, it even botches up much of its job in helping us attain our temporal destiny as citizens of this nation.

To get our country back in tune with our Savior, the first step is to confront the enemies of God with solid logic. Despite acceptance for many years, their reasoning about separation of church and state is strictly a phony. America's founding fathers' intention was to avoid adoption of any denomination as a state of religion, but not to ban all religion from government. In fact our first leaders plainly stated that religion and morality are essential to government.

Well, after these many wasted years without religion and morality in our basics of government, it's high time to start revising principles to harmonize with those of our Heavenly Father and our founding fathers. Let's start with the ten commandments, calling for renewed respect for God and renewed regard for the rights of others. No doubt this is one of the things President Reagan had in mind when he asked for restoring America to its original greatness.

We can imagine that the scoffers of religion would be really shaken at any mention of official policy which might help in attaining an eternal goal. But, after all, isn't it proper to help people in any possible way? The only possible exception to this is the atheistic element, which has had an influence far beyond its number. So, in changing religious and moral policy we are favoring the majority, also choosing God rather than Satan.

As regards every day living routine, the change back to solid religious and moral standards is the first and most important step that our government can possibly continue on page 2...

Jaycees Sponsor Easter Egg Hunt

The Jaycees are sponsoring their annual Easter egg hunt for children up to age 10 on Sunday at 2 p.m. in Muenster City Park.

All children are asked to meet at the pavilion at the park. Kids will be divided into two groups according to their ages. Up to age 5 will be on group; six to ten year olds will constitute the other group. The children will need an Easter egg basket for collecting their eggs.

Prizes will be awarded to three children from each age group for collecting the most eggs in their basket. There will be some "special prize" eggs hidden. All children up to age 10 are welcome!

Correction

Last week's item in the Enterprise about the city's No. 6 water well stated that the site has been deeded by John and Louise Fisher and an easement for the pipe line was given by Endico Corp.

It should have said that the Fishers and Endico each gave half of the well site and that the city is dealing with the Dangelmayr Estate for a pipe line easement from the well to the Hillcrest facility.

Good Friday Closing Asked

Following a long standing custom of the community, business here will be suspended on Good Friday to commemorate the suffering and crucifixion of the Savior, Jesus Christ.

Mayor Leo Hess asks local business firms to close their doors from 2:30 until 3:30 p.m., approximately the end of Good Friday services in Sacred Heart Church, which will begin at 3 o'clock.

For Germanfest...

Countdown Begins

With barely a week remaining before Muenster's sixth annual Germanfest, all plans are up to date and the countdown is proceeding smoothly. That was the message conveyed Tuesday in discussions at the regular Chamber of Commerce meeting.

Anticipating a new record in attendance, the committee is concentrating on crowd comforts by such means as locating the smaller concessions tent east of the large tent, thereby making more crowd space available in the pavilion and big tent area. Another provision is the addition of more portable toilets to supplement permanent facilities.

Meanwhile some 28 concessions are getting set to serve peoples wants in eats and drinks and souvenirs and game or contest type entertainment. As usual, the feature attractions are German lunches, sausages and baked goods and an abundance of beer.

For their beer concession the Jaycees are ready with their refrigerated 18 wheeler designed for storage inside and serving at both sides. Again they will serve in the popular 20 oz. souvenir tumbler.

A number of changes have been made in procedure as well as appearance. First and most noticeable is an admission charge of $1.00 per day for persons of high school age and older. Younger children will be admitted free. Also, free passes will be issued to persons working in Germanfest activity and concessions as well as members of their immediate families.

New look items are headed by three flag poles recently erected north of the park pavilion and flying the flags of United States, Texas and West Germany. A surprise item just received is a large flag, measuring 8 X 12, from the mayor of Munster, capital of the Westfalen province of Germany. Because of its design it has to be positioned with the long dimension vertical, and the committee has not decided yet where it will fit best.

Another new look is a special new jacket serving as a uniform to some 50 Germanfest personnel. It's made of a beige material by personnel of Jr. Elite dress factory, and Germanfest printing supplied by Tops and Teams is on the back.

Entertainment is probably more plentiful than ever. In addition to solid bookings of bands, singers, polka combos and disco at the pavilion, other attractions will be at various areas of the grounds. For instance, kids games and rides, a mechanical bull ride, a hot air balloon ride plus a motorcycle rodeo and horseshoes. In addition, a National Guard display will include a helicopter, tank and personnel carrier. Also, there will be singing groups from Dallas, Richardson and Lawton, Okla...and a Friday night free street dance, a Saturday night polka dance and a Saturday night country and western dance.

Again this year the German Fun Run is expected to be the biggest single event of Germanfest. More than 3000 runners are expected in the 15 KM and 5 KM races starting Sunday at 2 p.m. The Fun Run in its five years has grown steadily in popularity and numbers. Factors in its success are efficient handling of all phases of the race, lots of awards and lots of hospitality at the party following the race.

3000 Expected For German Fun Run

Ronnie Hess and Dan Hamric are keeping their fingers crossed lately, hoping for the kind of weather that will attract 3000 contestants to the sixth annual German Fun Run. From past experience they have learned that some 800 early sign-ups can grow into 2500 to 3000 at race time. And their optimism is supported by widespread interest created when local runners attended other fun runs as well as the popularity earned in five previous years.

Again this year the fun run includes 15 KM and 5 KM courses. They will start together and after a short distance the two groups will divide and go their separate ways to the same finish line near Muenster Hospital. It's assumed that all short route runners will finish before long route runners start arriving.

Trophies and prizes galore will be awarded. In the 15 KM run three ladies and the first three men of each age group will receive trophies and the next three of each sex of each age group will receive medals. Besides the first 100 finishers of the 15 KM will receive beer steins and the first of local men and women to finish will receive trophies. In the 5 KM run the No. 1 male and No. 1 female will each receive a trophy.

A special event after the race is a runners' party at which the participants are welcome to all the beer and soft drinks they wish.

Progress Despite Inflation Reported by Electric Co-Op

Members of the Cooke County Electric Cooperative Association, in record attendance at their 43rd annual meeting Tuesday night in the Muenster High School auditorium, were told that major trends of the national economy were reflected in the operation of their cooperative.

Mike Sloan, general manager, said that the organization experienced a moderate sales growth, increased operating costs and sharply higher construction costs, construction costs being the area of greatest effect on the operations.

Sloan stated that purchase of power in 1980 cost the co-op 82 cents of each revenue dollar received. Also that, in spite of relatively high inflation, the cost of operations, maintenance and administration increased by a modest 4.5 percent over 1979, and now variable operating expense, composed of depreciation, interest and taxes increased by 3.9 percent.

Quality of service in 1980 was good, Sloan said. The service continuity factor was 99.98 percent, and the cause of the longest service outage was vandalism. This occurred when a person or persons shot transformers and fault interrupting equipment with rifles or pistols, resulting in customer inconvenience as well as the cost of material and labor to repair the damage. The speaker urged his audience to notify the co-op as soon as possible if they witness such acts. If the equipment can be reached before oil is lost the time of outage and cost of repair can both be reduced.

Regarding rates, the manager said that increases were necessary in recent years to compensate for rising fuel costs, but many utilities have received additional rate increases due to inflation. To date the co-op and its supplier, Brazes Electric Power Cooperative, has increased rate to recover power costs only, but increases are anticipated later this year when power will be supplied by a lignite fired South Texas plant. In this case the determining factor will be the high cost of plant and transmission line construction rather than higher fuel cost.

Mr. Sloan concluded by stating that the co-op is committed to providing high quality electric service at the most economical cost consistent with financial integrity and maintaining an enriching and rewarding place for employees to work.

Mr. Sloan recognized Charles (Doodle) Wimmer as a 35 year employee and presented him with a service plaque.

In other business the members re-elected Wendell Proffer of District 1 and Jimmy Jack Biffle of District 5 to the board of directors. Later the board met and re-elected its officers as follows: Vincent Zimmerer, president; Robert Lewis, vice president; Wendell Proffer, secretary-treasurer.

The meeting's speaker was Walter Richter, director of government relations with Texas Electric Cooperatives of Austin. He stressed four of the Administration's proposals which, if carried out, present a real threat to farm and ranch people. Those proposals are 1. To discon-

Three Muenster Scouts Enter "Order of the Arrow"

Muenster Boy Scouts of Troop 664 attended a Campout at Lake Lewisville two weeks ago. It was held for Circle 10, comprising three districts: "Tonkawa", "Frontier Trails" and "North."

On Saturday scouts participated in events directed by scout leaders. Saturday evening a formal Tap Out for "Order of the Arrow" was held. Receiving the distinct honor were three members of Troop 664, John, Walterscheid, Ronnie Fisher and James Bright. The next level of advancement in the elite scout organization is "The Order", after the required interval.

Present members of "Order of the Arrow" in Muenster Troop 664 include Duane Walterscheid, Kirk Klement and Scoutmaster Waylen Poole.

Grand Opening Set

After spending more than 20 years in joint ownership and operation of widely scattered liquor stores in North Texas, Herb and Dolores Miller are settling down to a single business at home.

Their new venture is originating this week with the grand opening of Red River Cut Rate Liquor and Beer in the location formerly used by Grady Jones Cut Rate Liquor. The opening will be held Friday and Saturday, except during a 2:30 to 3:30 closing in observance of Good Friday.

Principal attractions of the event are savings on a long list of specials, drawings for attendance prizes, and refreshments on Saturday. Others are extensive interior changes for more convenient self service, and a drive-in service window at the west side, also a handsome sign outside just completed by Bert Hesse.

Along with its retail license the store has a wholesale license permitting sales to restaurants and clubs.

Herb Miller started in the liquor business promptly after the city voted itself wet in December 1959 and started expanding in June 1960 when he and Grady Jones formed a partnership and established stores in Muenster and Lindsay. Since then they opened two stores at Wichita Falls and one each in Windthorst and Archer City. One of their Wichita Falls stores was destroyed in the 1979 tornado and the Archer City store was closed.

Keeping up with the four remaining locations has been a demanding job involving some 35,000 miles and hundreds of hours for transportation per year. As discuss their experiences and also their rehabilitation in the Palmer Program, PDAP.

The adults, parents of a drug abuser, will tell how they coped and found counseling and concern in the adult part of PDAP.

The meeting will be held in St. Paul's Episcopal Parish Hall, 415 East California St. in Gainesville. Everyone is welcome.

Being sworn in by School Board President Urban Endres are Harold Bindel, re-elected to the board, and Dale Klement and Leon Klement, newly elected trustees of the Muenster ISD.

HISTORIC LETTER RESURRECTED

The following very interesting item, which has recently come to the attention of the Enterprise, is presented here as a special Holy Week feature, adding inspiring details to the well known Gospel accounts of the Savior's death and resurrection.

PILATE'S LENGTHY LETTER TO TIBERIUS CAESAR DISCUSSES AT LENGTH THE ARREST, THE TRIAL AND THE CRUCIFIXION OF JESUS CHRIST

From the "Archko Volume" containing manuscripts, in Constantinople, and the Records of the Senatorial Docket, taken from the Library at Rome. Translated by Drs. McIntosh and Twyman of the Antiquarian Lodge, Genoa, Italy. This has been checked and is in accord with the copy of the original lodged in the British Museum, which has verified the accuracy of the transcription. Verified in November, 1935.

TIBERIUS CAESAR EMPEROR OF ROME NOBLE SOVEREIGN GREETING:

The events of the last few days in my province have been of such a character that I will give the details in full as they occurred, as I should not be surprised if, in the course of time, they may change the destiny of our nation, for it seems of late that all the gods have ceased to be propitious. I am almost ready to say, Cursed be the day that I succeeded Vallerius Flaccus in the government of Judea, for since then my life has been one of continual uneasiness and distress.

On my arrival at Jerusalem I took possession of the Praetorium, and ordered a splendid feast to be prepared, to which I invited the Tetrarch of Galilee, with the high priest and his officers. At the appointed hour no guests appeared. This I considered an insult offered to my dignity, and the whole government which I represent. A few days after, the high priest deigned to pay me a visit. His deportment was grave and deceitful. He pretended that his religion forbade him and his attendants to sit at the table of the Romans, and eat and offer libations with them, but this was only a sanctimonious seeming, for his very countenance betrayed his hypocrisy. Although I thought it expedient to accept his excuse, from that moment I was convinced that the conquered had declared themselves the enemy of the conquerors; and I would warn the Romans to beware of the high Priests of this country. They would betray their own mother to gain office and a luxurious living. It seems to me that, of conquered cities, Jerusalem is the most difficult to govern. So turbulent are the people that I live in momentary dread of an insurrection. I have not soldiers sufficient to suppress it. I had only one centurion and a hundred men at my command. I requested a reinforcement from the prefect of Syria, who informed me that he had scarcely troops sufficient to defend his own province. An insatiable thirst for conquest to extend our empire beyond the means of defending it, I fear, will be the cause of the final overthrow of our whole government. I lived secluded from the masses, for I do not know what those priests might influence the rabble to do, yet I endeavoured to ascertain, as far as I could, the mind and standing of the people.

I WAS TOLD IT WAS JESUS

Among the various rumours that came to my ears there was one in particular that attracted my attention. A young man, it was said, had appeared in Galilee preaching with a noble unction a new law in the name of the God who had sent him. At first I was apprehensive that his design was to stir up the people against the Romans, but my fears were soon dispelled. Jesus of Nazareth spoke rather as friend of the Romans than of the Jews. One day in passing by the place of Siloe, where there was a great concourse of people, I observed in the midst of the group a young man who was leaning against a tree, calmly addressing the multitude. I was told it was Jesus. This I could easily have suspected, so great was the difference between him and those listening to him. His golden-colored hair and beard gave to his appearance a celestial aspect. He appeared to be about thirty years of age. Never have I seen a sweeter or more serene countenance. What a contrast between him and his hearers, with their black beards and tawny complexions!

Unwilling to interrupt him by my presence, I continued my walk, but signified to my secretary to join the group and listen. My secretary's name is Manlius. He is the grandson of the chief of the conspirators who encamped in Etruria waiting for Cataline. Manlius had been for a long time an inhabitant of Judea, and is well acquainted with the Hebrew language. He was devoted to me, and worthy of my confidence. On entering the Praetorium I found Manlius, who related to me the words Jesus had pronounced at Siloe. Never have I read in the works of the philosophers anything that can compare to the maxims of Jesus. One of the rebellious Jews, so numerous in Jerusalem, having asked Jesus if it was lawful to give tribute to Caesar, he replied: "Render unto Caesar the things that belong to Caesar, and unto God the things that are God's."

I EXTENDED TO HIM MY PROTECTION

It was on account of the wisdom of his sayings that I granted so much liberty to the Nazarene; for it was in my power to have him arrested, and exiled to Pontus; but that would have been contrary to the justice which has always characterized the Roman Government in all its dealings with men; this man was neither seditious nor rebellious; I extended to him my protection, unknown perhaps to himself. He was at liberty to act, to speak, to assemble and address the people, and to choose disciples, unrestrained by any Praetorian mandate. Should it ever happen (may the gods avert the omen!) should it ever happen, I say, that the religion of our forefathers will be supplanted by the religion of Jesus, it will be to this noble toleration that Rome shall owe her premature death, while I, miserable wretch, will have been the instrument of what the Jews call Providence, and we call destiny.

This unlimited freedom granted to Jesus provoked the Jews — not the poor, but the rich and powerful. It is true Jesus was severe on the latter, and this was a political reason, in my opinion, for not restraining the liberty of the Nazarene. "Scribes and Pharisees," he would say to them, "you are a race of vipers; you resemble painted sepulchres; you appear well unto men, but you have death within you." At other times he would sneer at the alms of the rich and proud, telling them that the mite of the poor was more precious in the sight of God. Complaints were daily made at the Praetorium against the insolence of Jesus.

I was even informed that some misfortune would befall him; that it would not be the first time that Jerusalem had stoned those who called themselves prophets; an appeal would be made to Caesar. However, my conduct was approved by the Senate, and I was promised a reinforcement after the termination of the Parthian War.

Being too weak to suppress an insurrection, I resolved upon adopting a measure that promised to restore the tranquility of the city without subjecting the Praetorium to humiliating concession. I wrote to Jesus requesting an interview with him at the Praetorium. He came. You know that in my veins flows the Spanish mixed with Roman blood — as incapable of fear as it is of weak emotion. When the Nazarene made his appearance I was walking in my basilica, and my feet seemed fastened with an iron hand to the marble pavement, and I trembled in every limb as does a guilty culprit, though the Nazarene was as calm as innocence itself. When he came up to me he stopped, and by a signal sign he seemed to say to me, "I am here," though he spoke not a word. For some time I contemplated with admiration and awe this extraordinary type of man — a type of man unknown to our numerous painters, who have given form and figure to all the gods and the heroes. There was nothing about him that was repelling in his character, yet I felt too awed and tremulous to approach him.

"Jesus," said I unto him at last — and my tongue faltered — "Jesus of Nazareth, for the last three years I have granted you ample freedom of speech; nor do I regret it. Your words are those of a sage — I know not whether you have read Socrates or Plato, but this I know, there is in your discourses a majestic simplicity that elevates you far above those philosophers. The Emperor is informed of it, and I, his humble representative in this country, am glad of having allowed you that liberty of which you are so worthy. However, I must not conceal from you that your discourses have raised up against you powerful and inveterate enemies. Nor is this surprising. Socrates had his enemies, and he fell a victim to their hatred. Yours are doubly incensed — against you on account of your discourses being so severe upon their conduct; against me on account of the liberty I have afforded you. They even accuse me of being indirectly leagued with you for the purpose of depriving the Hebrews of the little civil power which Rome has left them. My request — I do not say my order — is, that you be more circumspect and moderate in your discourses in the future, and more considerate of them, lest you arouse the pride of your enemies, and they raise against you the stupid populace, and compel me to employ the instruments of law."

The Nazarene calmly replied: "Prince of the earth, your words proceed not from true wisdom. Say to the torrent to stop in the midst of the mountain-gorge: it will uproot the trees of the valley. The torrent will answer you that it obeys the laws of nature and the Creator. God alone knows whither flow the waters of the torrent. Verily I say unto you, before the rose of Sharon blossoms the blood of the just shall be spilt."

"Your blood shall not be spilt," said I, with deep emotion: "you are more precious in my estimation on account of your wisdom than all the turbulent and proud Pharisees who abuse the freedom granted them by the Romans. They conspire against Caesar, and convert his bounty into fear, impressing the unlearned that Caesar is a tyrant and seeks their ruin. Insolent wretches! they are not aware that the wolf of the Tiber sometimes clothes himself with the skin of the sheep to accomplish his wicked designs. I will protect you against them. My Praetorium shall be an asylum, sacred both day and night."

"THAT WHICH IS WRITTEN IN THE BOOKS OF THE PROPHETS MUST BE ACCOMPLISHED"

Jesus carelessly shook his head, and said with a grave and divine smile: "When the day shall come there will be no asylums for the son of man, neither in the earth nor under the earth. The asylum of the just is there," pointing to the heavens. "That which is written in the books of the prophets must be accomplished."

"Young man," I answered mildly, "you will oblige me to extend my requests into an order. The safety of the province which has been confided to my care requires it. You must observe more moderation in your discourses. Do not infringe my order. You know the consequences. May happiness attend you. Farewell."

"I COME NOT TO BRING WAR INTO THE WORLD, BUT PEACE, LOVE, AND CHARITY."

"Prince of the earth," replied Jesus. "I come not to bring war into the world, but peace, love, and charity. I was born the same day on which Augustus Caesar gave peace to the Roman world. Persecutions proceed not from me. I expect it from others, and will meet it in obedience to the will of my Father, who has shown me the way. Restrain, therefore, your worldly prudence. It is not in your power to arrest the victim at the foot of the tabernacle of expiation."

So saying, he disappeared like a bright shadow behind the curtains of the basilica—to my great relief, for I felt a heavy burden on me, of which I could not relieve myself while in his presence.

JESUS APPEARED TO BE ONE OF THOSE GREAT PHILOSOPHERS THAT GREAT NATIONS SOMETIMES PRODUCE

To Herod, who then reigned in Galilee, the enemies of Jesus addressed themselves, to wreak their vengeance on the Nazarene. Had Herod consulted his own inclinations, he would have ordered Jesus immediately put to death; but, though proud of his royal dignity, yet he hesitated to commit an act that might lessen his influence with the Senate, or like me, was afraid of Jesus. But it would never do for a Roman officer to be scared by a Jew. Previously to this, Herod called on me at the Praetorium, and, on rising to take leave, after some trifling conversation, asked me what was my opinion concerning the Nazarene. I replied that Jesus appeared to me to be one of those great philosophers that great nations sometimes produced; that his doctrines were by no means sacrilegious, and that the intentions of Rome were to leave him to that freedom of speech which was justified by his actions. Herod smiled maliciously, and, saluting me with ironical respect, departed.

CLAMORING FOR THE DEATH OF THE NAZARENE

The great feast of the Jews was approaching, and the intention was to avail themselves of the popular exultation which always manifests itself at the solemnities of the Passover. The city was overflowing with a tumultuous populace, clamoring for the death of the Nazarene. My emissaries informed me that the treasure of the temple had been employed in bribing the people. The danger was pressing. A Roman centurion had been insulted. I wrote to the Prefect of Syria for a hundred foot soldiers and as many cavalry. He declined. I saw myself alone with a handful of veterans in the midst of a rebellious city, too weak to suppress an uprising, and having no choice left but to tolerate it. They had seized upon Jesus, and the seditious rabble, although they had nothing to fear from the Praetorium, believing, as their leaders had told them, that I winked at their sedition, continued vociferating: "Crucify him! Crucify him!"

Three powerful parties had combined together at that time against Jesus. First, the Herodians and the Sadducees, whose seditious conduct seemed to have proceeded from double motives: they hated the Nazarene and were impatient of the Roman yoke. They never forgave me for having entered the holy city with banners that bore the image of the Roman emperor; and although in this instance I had committed a fatal error, yet the sacrilege did not appear less heinous in their eyes. Another grievance also rankled in their bosoms. I had proposed to employ a part of the treasure of the temple in erecting edifices for public use. My proposal was scorned. The Pharisees were the avowed enemies of Jesus. They cared not for the government. They bore with bitterness the severe reprimands which the Nazarene for three years had been continually giving them wherever he went. Timid and too weak to act by themselves, they had embraced the quarrels of the Herodians and the Sadducees. Besides these three parties, I had to contend against the reckless and profligate populace, always ready to join a sedition, and to profit by the disorder and confusion that resulted therefrom.

CONDEMNED TO DEATH

Jesus was dragged before the High Priest and condemned to death. It was then that the High Priest, Caiaphas, performed a divisory act of submission. He sent his prisoner to me to confirm his condemnation and secure his execution. I answered him that, as Jesus was a Galilean, the affair came under Herod's jurisdiction, and ordered him to be sent thither. The wily Tetrarch professed humility, and protesting his deference to the lieutenant of Caesar, he committed the fate of the man to my hands. Soon my palace assumed the aspect of a besieged citadel. Every moment increased the number of malcontents. Jerusalem was inundated with crowds from the mountains of Nazareth. All Judea appeared to be pouring into the city.

"BEWARE, BEWARE, AND TOUCH NOT THAT MAN; FOR HE IS HOLY."

I had taken a wife from among the Gauls, who pretended to see into futurity. Weeping and throwing herself at my feet she said to me: "Beware, Beware, and touch not that man; for he is holy. Last night I saw him in a vision. He was walking on the waters; he was flying on the wings of the wind. He spoke to the tempest and to the fishes of the lake; all were obedient to him. Behold, the torrent of Mount Kedron flows with blood, the statues of Caesar are filled with gemonide; the columns of the interium have given away and the sun is veiled in mourning like a vestal in the tomb. Ah! Pilate, evil awaits thee. If thou wilt not listen to the vows of thy wife, dread the curse of a Roman Senate; dread the frowns of Caesar."

By this time the marble stair groaned under the weight of the multitude. The Nazarene was brought back to me. I proceeded to the halls of justice, followed by my guard, and asked the people in a severe tone what they demanded.

"The death of the Nazarene," was the reply.

"For what crime?"

"He has blasphemed; he has prophesied the ruin of the temple; he calls himself the Son of God; the Messiah, the King of the Jews."

"Roman justice," said I, "punishes not such offences with death."

"CRUCIFY HIM! CRUCIFY HIM!"

"Crucify him! crucify him!" cried the relentless rabble. The vociferations of the infuriated mob shook the palace to its foundations.

There was but one who appeared to be calm in the midst of the vast multitude; it was the Nazarene. After many fruitless attempts to protect him from the fury of his merciless prosecutors, I adopted a measure which at the moment appeared to me to be the only one that could save his life. I proposed, as it was their custom to deliver a prisoner on such occasions, to release Jesus and let him go free, that he might be the scapegoat, as they called it; but they said Jesus must be crucified. I then spoke to them of the inconsistency of their course as being incompatible with their laws, showing that no criminal judge could pass sentence on a criminal unless he had fasted one whole day; and that the sentence must have the consent of the Sanhedrin, and the signature of the president of that court; that no criminal could be executed on the same day his sentence was fixed, and the next day, on the day of his execution, the Sanhedrin was required to review the whole proceeding; also, according to their law, a man was stationed at the door of the court with a flag, and another a short way off on horseback to cry the name of the criminal and his crime, and the names of his witnesses, and to know if anyone could testify in his favour; and the prisoner on his way to execution had the right to turn back three times, and to plead any new thing in his favour. I urged all these pleas, hoping they might awe them into subjection; but they still cried, "Crucify him! Crucify him!"

I THEN CALLED FOR A BASIN, AND WASHED MY HANDS

I then ordered Jesus to be scourged, hoping this might satisfy them; but it only increased their fury. I then called for a basin, and washed my hands in the presence of the clamorous multitude, thus testifying that in my judgment Jesus of Nazareth had done nothing deserving of death; but in vain. It was his life these wretches thirsted for.

Often in our civil commotions have I witnessed the furious anger of the multitude, but nothing could be compared to what I witnessed on this occasion. It might have been truly said that all the phantoms of the infernal regions had assembled at Jerusalem. The crowd appeared not to walk, but to be borne off and whirled as a vortex, rolling along in living waves from the portals of the Praetorium even into Mount Zion, with howling screams, shrieks, and vociferations such as were never heard in the seditions of the Pannonia, or in the tumults of the forum.

By degrees the day darkened like a winter's twilight, such as had been at the death of the great Julius Caesar. It was likewise the ides of March. I, the continued governor of a rebellious province, was leaning against a column of my basilica, contemplating athwart the dreary gloom these fiends of Tartarus dragging to execution the innocent Nazarene. All around me was deserted. Jerusalem had vomited forth her indwellers through the funeral gate that leads to Gemonica. An air of desolation and sadness enveloped me. My guards had joined the cavalry, and the centurion, with a display of power, was endeavouring to keep order. I was left alone, and my breaking heart admonished me that what was passing at that moment appertained rather to the history of the gods than that of men. A loud clamour was heard proceeding from Golgotha, which, borne on the winds, seemed to announce an agony such as was never heard by mortal ears. Dark clouds lowered over the pinnacle of the temple, and setting over the city covered it as with a veil. So dreadful were the signs that men saw both in the heavens and on the earth that Dionysius the Areopagite is reported to have exclaimed: "Either the author of nature is suffering or the universe is falling apart."

Whilst these appalling scenes of nature were transpiring, there was a dreadful earthquake in lower Egypt, which filled everybody with fear, and scared the superstitious Jews almost to death. It is said Balthasar, an aged and learned Jew of Antioch, was found dead after the excitement was over. Whether he died from alarm or grief is not known. He was a strong friend of the Nazarene.

THE SACRIFICE WAS CONSUMMATED

Near the first hour of the night I threw my mantle around me, and went down into the city toward the gates of Golgotha. The sacrifice was consummated. The crowd was returning home, still agitated, it is true, but gloomy, taciturn, and desperate. What they had witnessed had stricken them with terror and remorse. I also saw my little Roman cohort pass by mournfully, the standard-bearer having veiled his eagle in token of grief, and I overheard some of the Jewish soldiers murmuring strange words which I did not understand. Others were recounting miracles very like those which have so often smitten the Romans by the will of gods. Sometimes groups of men and women would halt, then, looking back toward Mount Calvary, would remain motionless in expectation of witnessing some new prodigy.

THEY ALL SLUNK OFF LIKE COWARDLY CURS

I returned to the Praetorium, sad and pensive. On ascending the stairs, the steps of which were still stained with the blood of the Nazarene, I perceived an old man in a suppliant posture, and behind him several Romans in tears. He threw himself at my feet and wept most bitterly. It is painful to see an old man weep, and my heart being already overcharged with grief, we, though strangers, wept together. And in truth it seemed that the tears lay very shallow that day with many whom I perceived in the vast concourse of people. I never witnessed such an extreme revulsion of feeling. Those who betrayed and sold him, those who testified against him, those who cried, "Crucify him! we have his blood," all slunk off like cowardly curs, and washed their teeth with vinegar. As I am told that Jesus taught a resurrection and a separation after death, if such be the fact, I am sure it commenced in this vast crowd.

"Father," said I to him, after gaining control of my feelings, "who are you, and what is your request?"

PERMISSION TO BURY JESUS OF NAZARETH

"I am Joseph of Arimathaea," replied he, "and am come to beg of you upon my knees the permission to bury Jesus of Nazareth."

"Your prayer is granted," said I to him, and at the same time I ordered Manlius to take some soldiers with him to superintend the interment, lest it should be profaned.

A few days after the sepulchre was found empty. His disciples proclaimed all over the country that Jesus had risen from the dead, as he had foretold. This created more excitement even than the crucifixion. As to its truth I cannot say for certain, but I have made some investigation of the matter; so you can examine for yourself and see if I am in fault, as Herod represents.

Joseph buried Jesus in his own tomb. Whether he contemplated his resurrection or calculated to cut him another, I cannot tell. The day after he was buried one of the priests came to the Praetorium and said they were apprehensive that his disciples intended to steal the body of Jesus and hide it, and then make it appear that he had risen from the dead, as he had foretold, and of which they were perfectly convinced. I sent him to the captain of the royal guard (Malcus) to tell him to take the Jewish soldiers, place as many around the sepulchre as were needed; then if anything should happen they could blame themselves, and not the Romans.

When the great excitement arose about the sepulchre being found empty, I felt a deeper solicitude than ever. I sent for Malcus, who told me he had placed his lieutenant, Ben Isham, with one hundred soldiers, around the sepulchre. He told me that Isham and the soldiers were very much alarmed at what had occurred there that morning. I sent for this man Isham, who related to me, as near as I can recollect, the following circumstances. He said that at about the beginning of the fourth watch they saw a soft and beautiful light over the sepulchre. He at first thought the women had come to embalm the body of Jesus, as was their custom, but he could not see how they had gotten through the guards. While these thoughts were passing through his mind, behold the whole place was lighted up, and there seemed to be crowds of the dead in their grave-clothes. All seemed to be shouting and filled with ecstasy, while all around and above was the most beautiful music he had ever heard; and the whole air seemed to be full of voices praising God. At this time there seemed to be a reeling and swimming of the earth, so that he turned so sick and faint that he could not stand on his feet. He said the earth seemed to swim from under him, and his senses left him, so that he knew not what did occur. I asked him in what condition he was when he came to himself. He said he was lying on the ground with his face down. I asked him if he could not have been mistaken as to the light. Was it not day that was coming in the East? He said at first he thought of that, but at a stone's cast it was exceedingly dark; and then he remembered it was too early for day. I asked him if his dizziness might not have come from being wakened up and getting up too suddenly, as it sometimes had that effect. He said he was not, and had not been asleep all night, as the penalty was death for him to sleep on duty. He said he had let some of the soldiers sleep at a time. Some were asleep then. I asked him how long the scene lasted. He said he did not know, but he thought nearly an hour. He said it was hid by the light of day. I asked him if he went to the sepulchre after he had come to himself. He said no, because he was afraid; that just as soon as relief came they all went to their quarters. I asked him if he had been questioned by the priests. He said he had. They wanted him to say it was an earthquake, and that they were asleep, and offered him money to say that the disciples came and stole Jesus; but he saw no disciples, he did not know that the body was gone until he was told. I asked him what was the private opinion of those priests he had conversed with. He said that some of them thought that Jesus was no man; that he was not a human being, that he was not the son of Mary; that he was not the same that was said to be born of the Virgin in Bethlehem, that the same person had been on earth before with Abraham and Lot, and at many times and places.

It seems to me that if the Jewish theory be true, these conclusions are correct, for they are in accord with this man's life, as is known and testified by both friends and foes, for the elements were no more in his hands than the clay in the hands of the potter. He could convert water into wine; he could change death into life, disease into health; he could calm the seas, still the storms, call up fish with a silver coin in its mouth. Now, I say, if he could do all these things, which he did, and many more, as the Jews all testify, and it was doing these things that created this enmity against him — he was not charged with criminal offences, nor was he charged with violating any law, nor of wronging any individual in person, and all these facts are known to thousands, as well by his foes as by his friends — I am almost ready to say, as did Manlius at the cross: "Truly this was the Son of God."

Now noble Sovereign, this is as near the facts in the case as I can arrive at, and I have taken pains to make the statement very full, so that you may judge of my conduct upon the whole, as I hear that Antipater has said many hard things of me in this matter. With the promise of faithfulness and good wishes to my noble Sovereign.

I am your most obedient servant,

Pontius Pilate.

2-Day Course Offered at CCC For Health Care Professionals

A special two-day course in patient education and discharge planning for nurses, nursing students and other health care professionals will be offered through Cooke County College's Division of Continuing Education here April 23 and 24.

"This course will examine in detail what is becoming a critically important element of the overall process of health care delivery which is initiated in the hospital," says instructor Terrie Thomas, R.N.

Ms. Thomas, Director of Quality Assurance/Infection Control at Denton's Flow Memorial Hospital, points out that hospital patients have the right to know specifics about their treatment, therapy and medication. Moreover, their full recovery and continued well-being often depends directly upon such knowledge.

"Once a person suffering from serious illness or injury is released from the hospital," she adds, "their full recovery may depend upon continued medication, exercise, special diet, and many other factors. Only through prudent, thorough discharge planning and patient education can this be effectively accomplished."

During the two-day course, which will run from 6 to 9 p.m. each day, participants will focus upon various teaching methods, the use of charts and visual aids, formulation and writing of teaching plans and other areas.

Strategies also will be examined for teaching of the chronically ill, the acutely ill, the child, the adult, the client at home, and the child in school. Participants also will learn how to write measurable objectives for teaching, establish and carry out actions and design methods for evaluation of their teaching effectiveness.

In addition, participants will be introduced to several patient education programs currently being offered in area hospitals and the community.

Cost of participation in the course is $15, and pre-registration is required. Persons wanting additional information about enrollment may call the CCC Division of Continuing Education at (817) 668-7731, extension 220.

take. People will be able to circulate without fear of murder or rape or robbery or other crimes of violence when legislators and law enforcement and courts insist on strict justice, when they become more concerned with the rights of people and less concerned with the rights of criminals.

In short, wonders can be accomplished by just keeping an eye on Christ's precept to love thy neighbor. Checking over our list of current economic and social problems, we find that every one could be corrected by applying the golden rule. The simple law, thou shalt not kill, if properly enforced, will put an end to countless murders and can even change the attitude toward recklessness which causes many deaths. Thou shalt not steal, also if enforced could apply to every burglar and thief as well as the cheats who steal from stores and government and whatnot. A clean-up of the country's generally shabby attitude on sex could inspire an enormous drop in rapes and sex murders, in abortions and teen pregnancies and promiscuity and homosexuality.

When President Reagan was elected the nation assumed that it was mandated to restore its original goodness in more than just fiscal sanity. Those millions who voted for him had visions of a society that is closer to God, the kind of society that comes to mind when we think of Christ, especially at the anniversary of his crucifixion and resurrection.

Governor Proclaims Bicycle Safety Awareness Week

Governor William P. Clements has proclaimed April 26 - May 1 as Bicycle Safety Awareness Week in Texas to remind all bicyclists of the need to travel safely in today's complex traffic environment. "Texans have long enjoyed bicycling as a recreational activity. And as fuel costs continue to rise, bicycles are increasingly being utilized as a viable source of transportation.

"Unfortunately, however bicycles are most vulnerable in traffic. As a result, bicyclists are too often victims of deadly or crippling accidents involving motor vehicles," the governor's proclamation reads.

Statistics support this statement. Nationwide, the National Safety Council reports 1,000 bicyclists die every year in car-bike accidents, and another 40,000 receive injuries. In Texas alone, preliminary figures from the Texas Department of Public Safety covering the first six months of 1980 indicate that 21 persons died and 1,249 were injured when motor vehicles struck bicycle riders.

The Texas Safety Association, Texas Education Agency, Texas Association of Student Councils, Texas Department of Public Safety and the Traffic Safety Section of the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation support Bicycle Safety Awareness Week and offer cyclists of all ages the following safety tips:

*Obey all applicable traffic regulations, signs, signals and markings.

*Observe all local ordinances pertaining to bicycle operation.

*Keep right, drive with traffic, not against it. Ride single file.

*Drive your bike defensively: watch out for the other guy.

*Watch out for drain gates, soft shoulders and other road surface hazards.

*Watch for car doors opening or for cars pulling out into traffic.

*Don't carry passengers or packages that interfere with your vision or control.

*Never hitch a ride on a truck or other vehicle.

*Exercise extreme care at all intersections, particularly when turning left.

*Use hand signals to indicate turning or stopping.

*Protect yourself at night with the required reflectors and lights.

*Ride a safe bike. Have it inspected to ensure good mechanical condition.

Clean-Up For Germanfest

Urging residents to have their town looking its very best for Germanfest, the city council has designated Monday through Thursday of next week as clean-up days in Muenster.

It encourages everyone to join in presenting an appealing look by mowing lawns, trimming shrubs and removing trash...even picking up the junk in near-by vacant lots. The object is to create a good impression for Muenster as well as the festival.

Those who get into the spirit will find the city ready to cooperate. Much of the waste can be disposed at the regular garbage pickup on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday, and tree limbs or bulky trash can be hauled by the city crew on Wednesday or Thursday. Just call 759-2236 for a pick-up, preferably before Wednesday to arrange a more efficient pick-up route.

Dystrophy Marathon Scheduled May 2

The Cooke County College Circle K sponsored Marathon Dance to fight muscular dystrophy will be held Saturday, May 2 from 8 a.m. to 12 midnight, in the college Activity Center.

IRS Deadline Can be Extended

Taxpayers who need extra time to file their federal tax return may receive an automatic two-month extension, the Internal Revenue Service says.

The application for an extension beyond the April 15, 1981 deadline is filed on Form 4868, "Application for Automatic Extension of Time to File U.S. Individual Income Tax Return." The IRS stresses that this is an extension of time to file, not an extension of time for payment of taxes due. The taxpayer must compute the tax expected to be owed for 1980 and send that amount with the Form 4868 to avoid interest and late payment penalties.

Only those taxpayers planning to use the 1040 long form are eligible for the automatic extension, the IRS says.

Volunteers Make A Difference

"Volunteers made a tremendous difference in the fight against cancer, and the American Cancer Society needs more of them," declared Barbara Marshall, the newly named Chairman of the 1981 educational and fund raising Cancer Crusade.

"Our theme this year is 'You are the Key to Cancer Control' and we urge all citizens in Gainesville and Cooke County to join in our community-wide effort to help teach their families, friends and associates how to protect themselves against cancer," she said.

ACS volunteers will distribute life-saving information and ask for support of the Society's vital programs to advance the prevention, detection, treatment and eventual elimination of cancer.

Needed by the Society's local unit are people who are willing to give of their time to contact their neighbors and distribute information about cancer.

She pointed out that some forms of cancer once considered hopeless are now curable, and for the person whose cancer is detected in an early stage, the chances of cure are high.

"The volunteer is the key to cancer control," Marshall said. "Their efforts support vital research, and programs of education and service.

Each person has a reason why he or she volunteers. One may be a recovered cancer patient, another may have lost a loved one to cancer; someone else may just understand the great need to help fight the threat to everyone. Whatever the reason, together we can make a difference."

Wouldn't It Be Wonderful If!

...All of us swept up and picked up in front of our own homes or business buildings, in our own back yards and alleys, on our own curbs and street corners and across our own vacant lots & Wouldn't it be wonderful if all of us presented this impression of Muenster to Germanfest guests? Wouldn't it be wonderful if we kept it up all year long?

It could become a lead-in to preparation for Germanfest. It could become a blue-print for action. It could become our stand-out slogan applicable the year round. It could be one facet of a community wide improvement program. It could be just down-to-earth fact!

The Little Things
 If any little word of mine

 If any little song of mine
 May make a heart the lighter,
 God help me speak the little word
 And take my bit of singing,
 And drop it in some lonely vale
 To set the echoes ringing.
 If any little love of mine
 May make a life the sweeter,
 If any little care of mine
 May make a friends' the fleetier,
 If any little lift may ease
 The burden of another,
 God give me love, and care, and strength
 To help my toiling brother.

In Memoriam

Dolores was buried here last Monday Morning. Dolores, wife of Dan Luke, mother of Ramon, Cheryl, Damian, Greg and Benji, and a loving friend of the entire community. She was a wonderful person who served her Church, family and fellow man according to God's plan.

With tears in our eyes, a lump too painful to swallow, we will always remember Dolores, and how she loved and was loved by all.

We will remember how she worked for the betterment of our town, schools and Churches - her many kind deeds - her encouraging words spoken when we were in need.

We will remember her illness and her courage in facing it, praying that when the time comes for us and our loved ones, we can accept it as Dolores did. And we will remember her patience through long months of pain.

So to you, Dan and children, we say "We are so sorry." God has promised us a Comforting Spirit, so we accept his gift of love. As time goes by the hurt will ease and we will remember Dolores as a beautiful lady, wife, mother and friend.

To the Editor...

Because I am an home economist who designs quilt tops, I am often asked for the names of people who do hand quilting. I finally decided to collect and publish a list of people who are interested in quilting for the public.

If any readers are interested in submitting names to me, they may write to me at the address below.

St. Richard's Villa News

With the Easter holiday season around the corner, the month of April is an especially busy time for the residents of St. Richard's Villa. In addition to our regular activities, we have been treated to several special programs in observance of Easter, and we have several more programs scheduled.

In our regular monthly activities, members of St. Anne's Society provide the residents with the weekly Bingo program on Wednesdays. And, Mary Moster of the Muenster Public Library is scheduled to show a movie to the residents on the 16th and 23rd of April. This month, our domino playing residents are practicing to battle for a prize in the domino tournament on the 14th.

The residents had a special treat on April 3, as Sr. Madeleine Zimmerer of Lott, Texas visited in the home. While here, she entertained by playing several familiar old tunes on her accordion.

To celebrate the Easter holidays, several groups have come to visit the residents and present programs. These visits are always a special time for the residents, and they look forward to them for days in advance.

Members of the 8th grade C.C.D. class, conducted by Irene Hartman, visited St. Richard's Villa on the 8th. They presented an inspiring program of Bible readings, and gave each resident an Easter basket made by members of the class.

The Muenster Public School F.H.A., under the leadership of Joanie Sturm, presented a musical program on the 10th. And, Sr. Genevieve's kindergarten class from Sacred Heart is scheduled to sing for the residents on the 14th.

An open house is scheduled on Easter Sunday, April 19, from 2:00 through 4:00 p.m. Family and friends are invited to visit with us and share refreshments.

Texas Bluebonnet
(Lupinus texensis)

Cooke County Blooms!

By Gary Rainwater
District Conservationist

The Texas Bluebonnet is a several stemmed, somewhat decumbent winter annual with flowering stalks up to 18 inches high.

The leaves are palmately divided, mostly 5 leaflets up to 1 inch long.

The plant has bright blue flowers slightly less than 1/2 inch long. They are bonnet-shaped with rounded, inflated lower part. They bloom from March through May.

There are five species of bluebonnets in Texas, all considered the state flower. The above Bluebonnet is the most abundant and most common, its found along highways and pastures in most of the state except north-west and far western Texas.

During a normal life cycle, an abundance of hard-coated seeds is dropped. Because of this tough covering, only a small portion of the seeds weather enough to bloom the following season. The remaining seeds act as safeguards, insuring future generations. The roots have knot-like formations which are the homes of bacteria which gather nitrogen from the air and put it in available form for other plants.

The entire plant, especially the seeds can be toxic. Lupines contain lupinine and related toxic alkaloids. The seeds and pods are most dangerous, and both young and dried plants may be poisonous. Cultivated varieties have poisoned children, but cases are rare.

Other common names are Lupine, Blue Lupine, Buffalo Clover, Wolf Flower, and El Conejo.

The Mexican name El Conejo refers to the resemblance of white tops to the tail of the cotton tail. The name wolf flower goes back to the time when people thought that the plants impoverished the soil. They are, in fact, poor-land plants and do not thrive in rich soil. Buffalo Clover is one of the first names given by the earliest settlers, for it was then supposed that the buffalo grazed it. The term bluebonnet probably came into usage in the day when bonnets were common articles of headgear among Texas women.

The Bluebonnet became the state flower emblem on March 7, 1901, winning over the open cotton boll.

Shower Honors

Mrs. Fisher

Four hostesses honored Mrs. Gary Fisher with a baby shower held recently in the home of her mother, Mrs. Albert Herr.

Hostesses were Mmes. Paul Reiter, Janice Kincy, Connie Grewing and Michelle Knauf. Eighteen guests attended and others who were unable to attend due to inclement weather, sent gifts later.

The Easter theme was carried out in decorations and refreshments, and the cake was baked and decorated by Betty Rose Walterscheid. Cake was served with strawberry punch.

Move to Saint Jo

After using a Muenster address for 34 years, Mr. and Mrs. M.F. Milner are now residents of Saint Jo. The family has expressed appreciation to friends and neighbors here for many kindnesses since Mr. Milner's stroke on February 2. They said: "We didn't know we had so many friends. We hope to see all of you often." The Milners' daughter, Mrs. Margaret Haynes and family also live in Saint Jo. Their son Lawrence and family live in Illinois.

Tell Your Friends

Let THE MUESTER ENTERPRISE help tell your out-of-town relatives and friends about your guests, trips, family gatherings, graduations, new jobs, school and church news, community activities, reunions, illness, hospital patients, new arrivals! When friends and relatives see each other only infrequently, they look forward to news. Just like a long LETTER FROM HOME!

It's Spring Planting Time!

Plant 5 rows of peas: preparedness, promptness, perseverance, politeness, prayer.

Next plant 3 rows of squash: squash gossip, squash criticism, squash indifference.

Then plant 5 rows of lettuce: let us be faithful, let us be loyal, let us be unselfish, let us love one another, let us be truthful.

No garden is complete without turnips: turn up for church, turn up with a smile, turn up with a new idea, turn up with real determination.

Window Blinds Save Energy

A new window blind may save up to 75 percent of the energy required to heat a home during an average heating season, Jane Berry, a housing and home furnishings specialist, reports.

Development of a Reflective Insulating Blind (RIB) by researchers at Oak Ridge National Laboratory has the potential for converting direct sunlight into a plentiful and practical source of home heat, she adds.

Dr. Berry is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Researchers, working with support from the Department of Energy, say they believe the RIB could save up to 75 percent of the energy required during an average heating season.

The unit, mounted on the inside of a south-facing window just behind the window glass—and operating much like the traditional venetian blind, serves as a solar reflector and insulator, Dr. Berry says.

In other words, it brings heat into the home by acting as a solar reflector inward, and it stores that heat inside the home by acting as an insulator, the specialist explains.

Of the projected maximum savings, about two-thirds result from the space-heating effect of incoming sunlight. The other one-third is from reduced nighttime heat losses through large south-facing windows—the insulating part of the blind's job.

A RIB unit has 3 1/2 inch slats which completely cover the window area.

Hornets Are No. 2 In District Tennis

Muenster Hornets were No. 2 in the district tennis tournament at Cooke County College Wednesday, and Krum was the champ.

In attaining the MHS score, Jim Biffle and Steve Luke had wins for their first two matches. Biffle won the first by default when his opponent failed to show, then beat a Forestburg opponent 6-0, 6-0. Meanwhile Luke beat a Forestburg opponent 7-5, 6-1 and a Krum opponent 6-1, 6-0. This advanced both to the final and the end result of Biffle 1st, Luke 2nd.

Doubles were less favorable to MHS. Brad Biffle and Jeff Fisher, also Dale Swirczynski and Vance Wells were eliminated in their first matches. The two Krum teams, however advanced to the finals and ended as first and second. In addition Krum had a fourth in singles, which was sufficient to win over Muenster.

MHS Nips Alvord For Loop 11-A Lead

The Hornets took the loop lead here Monday with a 5-1 win over Alvord. After a winless pre-season they have two wins for the district standing of 2-0 whereas Alvord and Krum each are 1-1 and Ponder is 0-2.

The visitors got their lone run in the first inning on Muenster's two errors of the game, whereas the Hornets scored in the first second, third and fifth.

Tim Schneider pitched for MHS allowing three hits and the Alvord hurler gave up 9 hits. Six errors by the Bulldogs also helped the Hornet cause. Schneider, Dale Swirczynski and Vance Wells each got two hits for Muenster; Benji Luke, David Flusche and Garland Tate each hit once.

Question: Are you required to stop for a school bus?

Answer: Indeed you are. If you approach a school bus from either direction, front or rear, and the bus is displaying alternately flashing red lights, you must stop and not pass until 1) the bus has resumed motion, or 2) the driver signals you to proceed, or 3) the red lights cease flashing. Red lights or not, always be cautious near a school bus.

Scientist says, warmer weather helps spread rabies

COLLEGE STATION — The continuing spread of rabies to livestock and pets may be partially due to milder-than-usual winters over the past two years, says a Texas A&M University scientist.

"Although rabies occurs year-round and tends to be a warm-season disease in some species, it could be that more skunks — the prime carriers of rabies — are moving around when winter weather is not as cold," said Dr. Leon Russell, professor of veterinary public health.

"At the same time, it could be that more farm animals, wildlife and pets are also on the prowl during milder days and nights," explained Russell.

Wilderness areas sought near cities

COLLEGE STATION — a Texas A&M University parks expert has called for the designation of federal wilderness areas closer to the state's urban centers, while there are still such places remaining.

"It's time we had more accessible wilderness areas in Texas," said Dr. Richard Bury of Texas A&M's Department of Recreation and Parks. "Instead of putting them out in the west Texas desert, let's put them within, say, 150 miles of Houston or in a place that would be accessible to several major cities."

Approximately 8,783 acres of land have been recommended by the U.S. Forest Service for direct wilderness use in Texas, Bury said. A total of 77,226 acres of forest service land in Texas has been identified as suitable to the wilderness system: 50,401 acres have been recommended as non-wilderness, dedicated to full multiple use and 18,032 acres are being studied for further recommendations.

The Court has authority in this suit to enter any judgment or decree dissolving the marriage and providing for the division of property which will be binding on you.

If this citation is not served within ninety days after the date of its issuance, it shall be returned unserved.

Issued and given under my hand and the seal of said Court at Gainesville, Texas, this 14 day of April, 1981.

of Muenster "Discovery" Public School Program Held Here Sunday

A unique experience for 65 junior high students was provided here Sunday, April 12 when a "Discovery" Program from the Catholic Renewal Center in Ft. Worth, Texas was presented by Mickey Vondra, Discovery team leader.

She was assisted by 22 sophomores, juniors and seniors of Fort Worth, Discovery team members headed by Paulette Yosten daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Yosten, former Muensterites, and also the six children of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Romo. Mrs. Romo is the former Henrietta Owens, daughter of Mrs. Clarence Owen. Wayne Romo was one of the team leaders and Ricky Romo played the guitar and sang "Do Not Be Afraid."

Father Bill Winaski, a former "Discovery" member and now pastor of St. John's Church in Bridgeport, was celebrant of the Mass in Sacred Heart Church.

Attending "Discovery" were 65 junior high students from St. Peter's of Lindsay, St. John's of Valley View, Immaculate Conception of Denton, St. John's of Bridgeport, and Sacred Heart Parish of Muenster.

The programs were held in the Community Center. A spaghetti supper was prepared by a group of mothers in the parish and served in the cafeteria to participants. Attractive decorations included red and white checked tablecloths; a myriad of votive lights in red covered candleholders made by 7th grade girls; and a display of a collection of banners related to various liturgies during the past several years. Lights were directed to high-light the banners.

Preceding the afternoon's events, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Flusche hosted a German meal in their home for the visiting "Discovery" team. During the programs, Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Fisher were hosts in their home, to adults who accompanied the students.

Round off Figures On Tax Returns

Taxpayers can round figures to the nearest whole dollar when preparing their federal income tax returns. In rounding figures, amounts under 50 cents are eliminated, while amounts from 50 to 99 cents are increased to the next dollar. Generally, this computation will have about the same effect on the amount of a tax bill or refund as if the figures were not rounded.

Taxpayers who choose to round off figures must do so through the entire return, including any accompanying schedules. The IRS advises taxpayers to double check their returns for mathematical accuracy before filing.

State Representative London Pushes Anti-Drug Bills

State Representative David London, announces that the "War on Drugs" has gained momentum and stands a good chance of defeating its opposition and winning the battle to clean up Texas of its major drug dealers.

London, who is the co-sponsor of the five "War on Drugs" effort is to punish dealers and distributors of illegal drugs.

"Texas has become the main center of distribution for illegal drug trafficking in the country," the freshman representative adds, "and I intend to do everything possible to help make it easier for the law enforcement officers to put drug dealers in jail."

The "War on Drugs" program consists of five bills--none of which deal with wiretapping.

"One of our biggest problems in presenting the proposed 'War on Drugs' legislation is informing the public that none of the legislation will take away anyone's civil liberties," London states. He emphasizes that some organizations are actively opposed to toughening the laws concerning drug dealers in Texas. In fact, there is an organized and registered marijuana lobby in Austin that favors strengthening the loopholes that allow drug dealers to evade prison.

"I sincerely believe that drug abuse is our number one problem in the State of Texas," London concludes. He went on to cite statistics which showed that up to 80 percent of the inmates in our prisons are there because of drug-related offenses or crimes they committed to support their habits.

The five bills and their subject matter are:

H.B. 729 - which makes it an automatic jail sentence to sell drugs to a minor;

H.B. 730 - which calls for an automatic jail sentence for possession of more than 5 pounds of marijuana;

H.B. 731 - which allows law enforcement officers to be aware of which doctors are prescribing vast amounts of dangerous drugs;

H.B. 732 - which calls for the automatic revocation of the license of anyone indicted for dispensing drugs illegally;

H.B. 733 - which is an attempt to outlaw "headshops"--where drug paraphernalia is sold.

Pleasure and satisfaction are expressed by Mrs. Patti Bayer, Mrs. Mary Moser and Mrs. Loree Bruns as Mrs. Moser presents the check the Muenster Library received the J. Frank Dobie Library Trust. It will be used in the purchase of non-fiction books in junior, adult and reference categories.

All That Good Food!

With Germanfest fast approaching, there is renewed interest in authentic German food. Its great variety is reflected by the geographical area that was once homeland to ancestors many generations ago. German cookery is not stereotyped - it has infinite variety, ranging from hearty, satisfying cold climate fare to the most delicate foods served in the most elegant manner.

Local homemakers have a reputation as good cooks, exhibited by the pride they take in sharing or exchanging recipes generously... in feeding their families well... in hosting delightful meals for guest...

Delicious ethnic recipes are sometimes included in their menus, and it is such recipes of family-fare that deserve an extra bit of fan-fare. For several reasons...two especially...such recipes should be preserved, to be handed down again... and they make interesting reading and conversation pieces.

The Enterprise is requesting authentic German recipes to print as a pre-Germanfest feature. Preferred are family-favorite recipes handed down from mother or grandmother, etc.

Will you share one or more of your traditional recipes with Enterprise readers? If you are willing to let us print your name, we will be glad to give you credit. We will comply with your wishes, and of course will return your recipes after they are printed.

Please indicate the source of your recipe, if possible. That will make it all the more interesting and a delightful bit of nostalgia for old timers and an inspiration for others.

Does your family have a favorite recipe that you would be willing to share with other readers before Germanfest? Call 759-4311 or write Box 190, Muenster.

Wouldn't It Be Wonderful If?

...All of us swept up and picked up in front of our own homes or business buildings, in our own back yards and alleys, on our own curbs and street corners and across our own vacant lots?

Wouldn't it be wonderful if all of us presented this impression of Muenster to Germanfest?

Wouldn't it be wonderful if we kept it up all year long?
