INDEPENDENCE DAY

Teddy Roosevelt hails the virtues of Americanism

For the second time in recent weeks the Conservative Democratic Forum came to the support of the American majority by voting for substantial tax cuts. As one of the lawmakers stated their intention was to help the taxpayers of the country.

The attitude is a welcome switch. Too long the politicians have made a big issue of the poor. Like motherhood, the word has commanded respect and concern. To neglect the poor was unthinkable, and those who failed to go along with programs for the poor were branded as heartless.

The idea appealed to big hearted Americans, who have a long standing reputation of generosity to the unfortunate at home as well as elsewhere in the world. But our big hearted folks eventually came to realize that lots of their kindness is wasted on phonies who crashed the line which was intended exclusively for the poor. Too many who pretend to be poor are just lazy, and lots of others are chiselers who have an adequate income plus a scheme to defraud the tax payers.

Obviously these beneficiaries, along with administrators who get fat pay for handing out the money, and political liberals, combine into considerable political strength. There's power as well as money in poverty.

Since last week's significant vote in the House there have been anguished cries from politicians and some of the undeserving beneficiaries and administrators. They say the vote was heartless. The charge stands out as the height of irony. For real heartlessness consider the burden imposed these many years on taxpayers by millions of undeserving welfare beneficiaries.

Besides, the charge is false. President Reagan said long ago that his purpose is to remove the undeserving from welfare rolls. The truly needy have no reason to worry.

The passage of tax reduction legislation is especially gratifying because it was made possible by another significant victory the day before. The Liberal leaders, Tip O'Neill and Jim Wright, had cooked up a parliamentary gimmick demanding that the tax reduction be voted as a number of separate issues instead of a single package. Fearing that the unit program might be approved they schemed to dilute it by having certain parts of it rejected. Well, their scheme failed, thanks especially to the Conservative Democratic Forum led by Charles Stenholm of this district. These are men of conservative philosophy who believe that voting with the Democrats would violate their principles. The howls of anguish and anger afterward were expressions of frustrations by O'Neill and Wright.

Acceptance of the administration bill the next day was like icing on the cake. America has been assured that its mandate of last November is being heeded by Washington. The economic part of Reagan's program is off to a good start, hopefully a sign that other proposed reforms are on the way.

The following inspiring Fourth of July message was delivered in 1886 in the small town of Dickinson, Dakota Territory, by Theodore Roosevelt at the age of 27, long before he became the 26th president of the United States.

I am peculiarly glad to have an opportunity of addressing you, my fellow citizens of Dakota, on the Fourth of July, because it always seems to me that those who dwell in a new territory, and whose actions, therefore, are peculiarly fruitful, for good and bad alike, in shaping the future, have in consequence peculiar responsibilities...Much has been given to us, and so, much will be expected of us; and we must take heed to use aright the gifts entrusted to our care.

The Declaration of Independence derived its peculiar importance, not on account of what America was, but because of what she was to become; she shared with other nations the present, and she yielded to them the past, but it was felt in return that to her, and to her especially, belonged the future. It is the same with us here. We, grangers and cowboys alike, have opened a new land; and we are the pioneers, and as we shape the course of the stream near its head, our efforts have infinitely more effect, in bending it in any given direction...In other words, the first comers in a land can, by their individual efforts, do far more than can those who come after them; and their labors, whether exercised on the side of evil or on the side of good, are far more effective than if they had remained in old settled communities.

So it is peculiarly incumbent on us here today so to act throughout our lives as to leave our children a heritage, for which we will receive their blessing and not their curse...If you fail to work in public life, as well as in private, for honesty and uprightness and virtue, if you condone vice because the vicious man is smart, or if you in any other way cast your weight into the scales in favor of evil, you are just so far corrupting and making less valuable the birthright of your children...

It is not what we have that will make us a great nation; it is the way in which we use it.

I do not undervalue for a moment our material prosperity; like all Americans, I like big things; big prairies, big forests and mountains, big wheatfields, railroads-and herds of cattle, too-big factories, steamboats and everything else. But we must keep steadily in mind that no people were ever yet benefited by riches if their prosperity corrupted their virtue. It is of more importance that we should show ourselves honest, brave, truthful, and intelligent than that we should own all the railroads and grain elevators in the world. We have fallen heirs to the most glorious heritage a people ever received, and each one must do his part if we wish to show that the nation is worthy of its good fortune. Here we are not ruled over by others, as in the case of Europe; we rule ourselves. All American citizens, whether born here or elsewhere, whether of one creed or another, stand on the same footing; we welcome every honest immigrant no matter from what country he comes, provided only that he leaves off his former nationality and remains neither Celt nor Saxon, neither Frenchman nor German, but becomes an American, desirous of fulfilling in good faith the duties of American citizenship.

When we thus rule ourselves, we have the responsibilities of sovereigns, not of subjects. We must never exercise our rights either wickedly or thoughtlessly; we can continue to preserve them in but one possible way, by making the proper use of them. In a new portion of the country, especially here in the Far West, it is peculiarly important to do so; and on this day of all others, we ought soberly to realize the weight of the responsibility that rests upon us. I am, myself, at heart as much a Westerner as an Easterner; I am proud, indeed, to be considered one of yourselves, and I address you in this rather solemn strain today, only because of my pride in you, and because your welfare, moral as well as material, is so near my heart.

Students register August 14 at Muenster Public School

With half of their summer vacation remaining, students and faculty of Muenster Public School are starting down the home stretch toward registration for their new scholastic year on Friday, August 14.

Superintendent Charles Coffey announced this week that both students and teachers will start on that date and regular classes will be held the following week, August 17-21, but then students will get three holidays while teachers report for three days of in-service duty, August 24-26, at Muenster and Gainesville. Regular class routine will continue on the 27th.

The calendar lists 175 class days for the students and 183 days for the faculty, including 8 of in-service. It also has a mini-break of 2 days March 4-5 and an Easter break of 5 days April 5-9. If time is lost because of severe winter weather the make up days will be taken from those breaks. If no time is lost students and teachers will have seven free days.

The school year is divided into six periods of six weeks each. Last class day is Thursday May 20 and the day after is an in-service day for teachers followed by graduation Friday night.

The first six weeks period, ending on September 25, consists of 30 days including 4 days of in-service and a holiday on Labor Day.

The second six weeks, ending November 6, has 30 days including a day of in-service at a TACS workshop in Birdville.

The first semester ends just before Christmas with an in-service day on December 22 following exams on Dec. 18 and 21. The six weeks period includes Thanksgiving holidays Nov. 26 and 27. Christmas holidays for students extend from Dec. 22 until Jan. 4, the Monday after New Year.

The fourth six weeks end on February 12 after 30 days of school and the fifth six weeks end on March 26 after 28 class days and 2 days of mini break.

Final six weeks has 35 days with two days of in-service duty for teachers plus a week of Easter holidays.

Beginner swim classes start next Monday

Muenster's annual learn to swim program, sponsored by Red Cross and directed by Jeannine Flusche will be held during the next two weeks at the city pool. It is divided into two classes, one being taught for five days starting July 6 and the other on the five days starting July 13.

Children are taught at four skill levels; beginners, advanced beginners, intermediates and swimmers.

Two hundred eighty youngsters reported for the registration held last Saturday morning at the pool and were divided into first and second week classes, then further divided into 9, 10 and 11 o'clock periods. And there's room for more. Mrs.

Flusche said they can be enrolled in the second week classes, preferably in the 11 o'clock period. Arrangements can be made by contacting Mrs. Flusche any time during the first week.

The program has about 35 instructors, ten with the Red Cross rating of WS1 and several with a rating of Advanced Life Saver.

A class in Advanced Life Saver, originally scheduled this week following a Basic Rescue and Water Safety Course, was cancelled because no students of the first class were old enough to qualify for the second. This year's instructors of that rating were all recruited from previous classes.

early successes in a number of areas of the Administration program. Improvements need to be apparent before the 1982 election so that it can get stronger approval of the voters. At the same time the records of congressmen need to be known as a help in making the next selections.

Something more to keep in mind is that our predicament developed over a period of almost fifty years.

The present way of life is firmly established and will need many adjustments, the first ones facing an added difficulty of strong momentum headed in the wrong direction. You can bet that every such difficulty will be exploited by the Liberals as proof that the changes can't be made.

Eventual success will require faith and patience, and loyalty to the basic American principles. At the same time it would help to understand that a continuation of the past half century's follies could lead to the downfall of the greatest country in the world's history.

Regarding the predicted hardships of the poor under Reaganomics, the first thought is that many aren't poor in the first place, and they will not be really deprived when they fail to get help they were not entitled to. The next thought is that deserving people will not be neglected. And another thought is that tax relief will create savings resulting in a stronger economy with more and better jobs. There will be fewer poor folks.

Also relative to tax cuts, there are hundreds of ways to save in government spending. Eliminate the unneeded regulations and grants, crack down on graft and corruption, etc. In other words do the things that any reasonable individual would do for his own business.

Congressional Comment

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Few federal agencies have proven to be as big a disappointment to the American public it was created to serve and to Congress, its creator, as the Legal Services Corporation (LSC).

The LSC was born out of a sincere effort on the part of Congress to provide basic legal assistance to those who could not afford it. Since its creation seven years ago, the LSC budget has gone from $71.5 million to a requested $399 million — a 360 percent increase. And just what have we been getting for our money?

This program was designed to help individual low income citizens with legal problems ranging from eviction to divorce, but the LSC has instead concentrated on "social impact" cases and has flooded the courts with class action suits, many times against the very government that signs its checks.

The record of the LSC shows a clear preference for high visibility cases over individual cases, and in many regional offices, such individual casework is not accepted at all. The General Accounting Office has further documented the LSC's ineffectiveness in a study which shows that 60 percent of those eligible are not even aware of the services available through the LSC.

The record of the agency is littered with gross and flagrant violations of its authorizing legislation, despite repeated legislative attempts to limit the agency to legitimate activities. For instance, the law prohibits lobbying by any publicly funded group, and yet, the LSC has been actively involved in major campaigns to influence legislation, including their recent attempt to save their own agency.

LSC funds have been used to support political causes such as rent strikes, prison reform, homosexual rights and utility rate protests. There have been repeated allegations connecting the agency with labor disputes, as well. None of these activities were authorized by Congress.

I thought the LSC issue had been laid to rest when Congress eliminated agency funding from the recently approved budget. Despite intense opposition, my own included, the House voted last week, however, to reauthorize the LSC for another two years.

Amendments were passed, granted, that would tighten some of LSC's more free-handed activities, including a ban against federally funded LSC lawyers bringing class action suits against local, state or federal governments. Another amendment would restrict cases involving homosexual rights and another on lobbying by legal aid lawyers.

Legal assistance for the poor is a very real need that should not be held hostage to the political and "social-impact" ambitions of a relative handful of LSC workers. But I seriously question whether those needs can be met by an agency that is constantly immersed in the types of controversy that have thrown a smoke screen around the original purpose of the LSC. Rather than let those needs be lost in the smoke, let's concentrate on saving the best aspects of the program, but give legal services responsibilities to the state and local governments where they can best be administered.

Looking Ahead

ATLAST: AN ANTI-COMMUNIST FOREIGN POLICY

"War to the hilt between communism and capitalism is inevitable. Today, of course, we are not strong enough to attack. Our time will come in 20 or 30 years. To win we shall need the element of surprise. The bourgeoisie will have to be put to sleep. So we shall begin by launching the most spectacular peace movement on record. There will be electrifying overtures and unheard-of concessions. The capitalist countries, stupid and decadent, will rejoice to cooperate in their own destruction. They will leap at another chance to be friends. As soon as their guard is down we shall smash them with our clenched fists."

So spoke Dimitry E. Manuilsky, well-known Communist leader. This is the man who headed the Soviet delegation to the United Nations Organizational Conference in San Francisco in 1945.

In dealing with Communists, it is vitally important to know what they really think, what they say to other Communists, not just what they say to us for propaganda purposes.

The party line laid down by Manuilsky in 1931 has never changed. From Lenin before him, it can be traced through Communist dialogue as easily as an electronic circuit can be traced through a schematic diagram.

The former Soviet dictator, Nikita Khrushchev, kept the same line intact during his leadership. He stated, "But of course we must realize that we cannot co-exist eternally. One of us must go to his grave. We do not want to go to the grave. They (the Western Powers) don't want to go to their graves either. So what must be done? We must push them to their graves."

From Lenin to Khrushchev to the present dictator, the line has never changed. In 1973, speaking at a meeting in Prague, Czechoslovakia, Leonid Brezhnev made it quite clear how detente fits in with this same Communist line: "We are achieving with detente," said Brezhnev, "what our predecessors have been unable to achieve with the mailed fist. Trust us comrades, for by 1985, as a consequence of what we are now achieving with detente, we will have achieved most of our objectives in Western Europe. We will have consolidated our position. We will have improved our economy. And a decisive shift in the correlation of forces will be such that, come 1985, we will be able to exert our will wherever we need to." (emphasis added)

It is the understanding of such basic Communist dogma that has resulted in a "U-Turn for U.S. Foreign Policy," as U.S. News & World Report phrased it in a March 30 article. The magazine reported on testimony of Secretary of State Alexander Haig before a congressional committee, during which Haig spelled out: "... a determination to curb the subversive activities of Cuba around the world" — aid for "Pro-Western rebel forces in Angola" — and the countering Moscow's plan "for the ultimate takeover of Central America."

Thus the significance of the recent choice of the American electorate in picking Ronald Reagan to lead them continues to increase.

Living up to the Declaration of Independence

By Senator Lloyd Bentsen

John Adams, one of our Founding Fathers, once recalled in a letter how he felt after casting his vote for the adoption of the Declaration of Independence.

"The die was now cast; I had passed the Rubicon. Sink or swim, live or die, survive or perish with my country, was my unalterable determination."

Adams' unfrilled words well symbolize the devotion our Revolutionary ancestors paid to the basic freedoms espoused in our Declaration: "life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness."

This Fourth of July, as we celebrate the 205th Anniversary of the Declaration of Independence, it is refreshing to witness an unbroken spiritual chain linking contemporary Americans with the likes of the John Adamases and Thomas Jeffersons of earlier times.

The unshakable sense of purpose which John Adams expressed remains as solid as the bedrock underlying our terrain. Americans this year are demonstrating their unwavering determination to shore up our nation's defense to preserve and defend the Declaration's principles.

This commitment to cherish and guard our national values is of a firmly bipartisan nature. We are in no danger of suffering from what Sir Kenneth Clark describes in his "Civilization" lecture: "It is the lack of confidence more than anything else that kills a civilization. We can destroy ourselves by cynicism and disillusion, just as effectively as by bombs."

Americans persevere because they are raised to believe in the inherent rightness of the ideals transcribed on one piece of colonial parchment. For them, the Declaration remains a compelling, eloquent document which continues to inspire Americans, both in idealistic and realistic terms.

On one hand, the Declaration of Independence is the very fiber of our freedom, its words about liberty woven into a timeless tradition. And its noble simplicity continues to astonish anyone who reads and contemplates it over two centuries later.

On the other hand, for example, former President Woodrow Wilson refers to the Declaration as "a practical document for the use of practical men. It is not a thesis for philosophers, but a whip for tyrants; it is not a theory of government, but a program of action."

Our great strength as a nation of free citizens is our eagerness to accept the responsibilities that go with living under a government deriving its "just powers from the consent of the governed."

Recently the son of the famed Soviet composer, the late Dmitri Shostakovich, sought political asylum here. Conductor Maxim Shostakovich said his decision to defect from the Soviet Union was based on "the attention the American government pays to the rights of men."

Like him, millions of other people around the world look to the United States as the standard-bearer of democratic ideals. Elsewhere they see dozens of nations shirking, with a vengeance, any pledge to uphold basic rights like freedom of speech. Leaders of such repressive regimes try to belittle these rights as mere "notions," but the living example set by this country effectively puts the lie to those claims.

Two hundred and five years ago, the Declaration of Independence charged Americans with the awesome task of guaranteeing liberty. As we are reminded in this holiday season, it is a job worth doing.

TMA recommends be wary of odd animal behavior

According to public health reports, an estimated one to one and one-half million dog bites alone are reported in the US each year, and between 30,000 and 35,000 anti-rabies treatments are given. It is important to recognize the symptoms of rabid animals and to know how to treat animal bites in general. The Texas Medical Association (TMA) has some pointers which will help you identify and avoid animals which may have rabies.

The most common cases of rabies occur in wildlife such as skunks, raccoons, foxes and bats. Beware of abnormal behavior in animals. If a wild animal which usually shies away from people comes up to you and acts friendly, or if a typically friendly housepet suddenly becomes vicious, rabies should be suspected. If you're in the woods and a normally nocturnal animal approaches you during the day, this is a sign that the animal may be rabid. Stay as far away from it as you can. Technically, any warm-blooded animal can have rabies if attacked by a rabid animal.

In dogs, rabies can be identified if the dog either snaps at imaginary objects or sits quietly with its jaw hanging open, staring into space. A rabid dog's bark will be high-pitched than usual, the pupils of the eyes will be larger and the mouth will foam or drool.

If you do happen to get bitten and you suspect rabies, call a doctor immediately. Animal bites pose other serious health threats besides rabies, however, such as infections and lockjaw. Any animal bite victim who hasn't had a tetanus shot in the last five to ten years should see a doctor. If the bite appears minor and the skin hasn't been broken, the wound can usually be taken care of at home just by washing it thoroughly and making sure that its condition doesn't worsen. If the bite is wide and deep, or if you're just not sure what to do, waste no time. Seek medical treatment.

Pat Endres marries Janice Krebs

Janice Krebs became the bride of Pat Endres in a Nuptial Mass with double ring ceremony on June 26 in St. Mary's Church of Gainesville. Father Placidus Eckart was celebrant at 7 p.m.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Krebs of Old Denton Road, Gainesville and the groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond R. Endres of Muenster.

Before an altar decorated with fresh flowers and lighted candles, the bride was presented by her father. She was wearing a formal wedding gown designed and created by the groom's mother, of white crystal sheer polyester over satin. It featured a portrait neckline edged with narrow silk venise lace, a fitted empire bodice with matching lace overlay. The empire line was marked by a scalloped lace edge. Long sheer sleeves were sprinkled with delicate lace florets and were gathered to close-fitting lace cuffs.

The skirt was A-line in front and gathered in back to the contoured lowered waistline, extending into a chapel length train. Matching silk venise lace surrounded the edge of the skirt and train. A detail of lace appliques emphasized the skirt at the instep.

Her single, silk illusion bridal veil, edged with scalloped narrow venise lace, was fingertip length, and attached to a satin caplet embroidered with lace medallions.

Her bridal flowers were carried in a cascade of blue silk irises accented with gypsophila, and surrounded by white lace.

For sentiment she wore an antique gold cross and chain belonging to her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Al Fleitman of Muenster, and formerly to her late great-grandmother Mrs. Theodore Wiesman. And she borrowed diamond earrings from the groom's mother.

Attendants

Attending the bride were maid of honor, Stephanie Sidener of Denton; and bridesmaids Cynthia Krebs of Grand Prairie and Sandria Lea of Denton, both sisters of the bride, and Sally Ferguson of Whitesboro, sister of the groom. They wore light blue dresses, with long, full pleated skirts; with low scoop necklines and trimmed with embroidered lace. They carried blue silk irises and daisies tied with light blue ribbons.

Jennifer Krebs, niece of the bride was flower girl, carrying a basket of blue and white silk flowers.

Phil Endres of Muenster, cousin of the groom was best man and Patrick Krebs of Gainesville, bride's brother, J.T. Pagel and Ronnie Yosten were groomsmen.

Steven Krebs, bride's brother, Tim Endres, groom's brother and Jimmy Ferguson groom's brother-in-law of Whitesboro were ushers.

Traditional organ wedding music was given by Loy Ann Koebelen. Vocal selections with guitar accompaniment were sung by Doug and Lynda Yosten, Linda Flusche and Christi Klement.

Reception

A reception followed, with dinner and a dance, in the Knights of Columbus Hall in Gainesville.

Teresa Krebs, bride's sister-in-law of Gainesville and Rachael Endres groom's sister of Dallas, presided at the guest book.

The three tier wedding cake was baked and decorated by Mrs. Henry Spaeth, and served by Paula Owen, Denise Howarth, Diane Simmons and Sharon Nelson. Guests danced to music by "Hard Times."

After a wedding trip to San Antonio, the couple will be at home in Gainesville. The bride is a graduate of Gainesville High School and attended Cooke County College. The groom is a graduate of Sacred Heart High School and is employed at Sanders Manufacturing Co. as a truck driver.

Rehearsal Dinner

The rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's parents. A shower honored the bride on June 7 when Stephanie Sidener, Ann Homer, Cynthia Krebs, Teresa Krebs, Sally Ferguson and Sandria Lea, entertained in St. Mary's Parish Hall.

Tracey Pilcher, Mike Cox united in Irving

The wedding of Tracey Pilcher of Irving and Mike Cox of Muenster was held on June 7 at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, in the garden area at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dempsey Pilcher. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Jim Cox of Muenster.

Rev. Ruebens Schreiber of Fort Worth officiated for the single ring ceremony. The bride wore an original white satin wedding gown which she and her mother designed, and her mother sewed. The fitted bodice was topped with a sheer yoke and a wedding band collar. Two lace ruffles formed a pinaflore effect in front and back and across the shoulders, accented by white satin ribbon insertion. A wide matching band of lace encircled the hem. Tiny lace florets on the bodice and lace were centered by single pearls.

The bride carried a nosegay of white carnations, peach roses and white babies breath, surrounded by lace.

A champagne reception followed the ceremony. The two tiered white wedding cake was iced in white, with tiny peach roses. Decorations in the garden area carried out the bride's chosen colors of peach and white.

Among guests were the following from Muenster: Una Hess, Sue Balthrop, Debe Knight and children; and Jim and June Cox, parents of the groom.

Attendants

Bridal attendants were Kathy Funk of Irving, a friend as maid of honor and Angela Brasil of Carrollton, bride's sister as matron honor. They wore crepe de chine peach dresses with a subdued floral pattern, trimmed with ribbon at the waist and designed with handkerchief skirts.

Bryan Sicking of Muenster was the groom's best man and Cary Pilcher, bride's brother of Irving was the usher.

The bride attended Mac Arthur High School in Irving where she was also a member of the Art Club. She is employed at Muenster Memorial Hospital. The groom attended schools in Oklahoma. He is employed as a roustabout by Sohio-Greuling Bros.

Since returning from a wedding trip to Padre Island and Port Aransas, the couple is at home in Muenster.

Daryl Ferber visits Wisconsin

Daryl Ferber returned this week from a two weeks vacation in Rochester, Minnesota. She was a guest in the home of a daughter and son-in-law, Micallee and Larry Campion, and children, Stacie and Jeff. Much time was spent visiting friends and relatives.

Highlight of the visit was the reunion of the Rochester High School class, when 150 of the 305 graduates gathered, coming from their homes all over the U.S. and Canada for the weekend.

Driving through Iowa enroute, she enjoyed seeing beautiful fields of corn, and returning she was saddened to see the disastrous results of a vicious hail storm about 20 miles from the statelines, and lakes of flood water where corn fields had been.

The Enterprise staff was delighted to have Daryl Ferber back on the job Tuesday morning.

Sheila Marie French and Jeffrey Adam Kelley were married in Holy Family Catholic Church of Fort Worth on June 26, with Msgr. Vincent Wolf officiating for the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Randolph French and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Andre Kelley, all of Fort Worth. The groom is also the grandson of Mrs. Henry Henscheid of Muenster.

The bride was presented at the altar by her father. She wore an original designer gown of white organza and alencon lace by Illisa. A Queen Anne shaped opening detailed a pattern at the neckline, with a high wedding band collar of lace. Seed pearls outlined an inset of English net in back and formed a pattern in the appliques. Long tapered sleeves of organza, with scattered appliques of lace, were closed at the wrist with a border of lace and seed pearls. The A-line skirt fell to fullness at carpet length and swept into a cathedral train, completely bordered with lace.

Her veil of illusion and lace extended beyond the train of the wedding gown.

Simmons Baptism

Pamela Nicole Simmons was baptized in Sacred Heart Church of Muenster on June 21, at noon, with Father Denis Soerries officiating. She is the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Simmons.

Her god-parents were Mr. and Mrs. George Gould of New Orleans. An accident prevented their attendance, therefore Connie and Craig Stoffels were sponsors by proxy.

Pamela Nicole's christening dress was made by her aunt, Pamela Dangelmayr.

Following the church service, the baptism and Fathers Day were celebrated at a dinner hosted by the Simmons family. Members of the Herman Stoffels family were guests, joined by Janel Stoffels of San Antonio, who spent the weekend here.

Fisher Baptism

Eric Jamison Fisher, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Fisher, was baptized on Fathers Day, June 21 in St. Pius X Church with Msgr. Thomas Weinzapfel officiating.

The baptismal sponsors were Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Henscheid of Arlington. The baby was dressed in a little boy's white christening suit.

Attending were the paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Fisher, and the maternal grandmother, Mrs. Albert Herr; also Mrs. Roy Reiter and Danell. Following the church service, they were dinner guests of Gary and Marlene Fisher.

Victor Hartman Observes 78th

Victor Hartman was the surprised honoree on Wednesday, June 24 when family members gathered for an outdoor cookout. Supper was followed with serving of homemade ice cream and a decorated birthday cake, signifying his 78th.

Gifts, family pictures and gate decorations added to the party fun.

Attending were Mrs. Keith Tompkins and Brian and David, Mrs. Mike Fedor and small children, all of Arlington, the Gene Hartman family of Denton, the Walter Wolfs and three sons of Gainesville, the Harvey Schmitts and children, the John Yostens and children, the Alvin Hartmans and family and the Bobby Hartmans. Mrs. Victor Hartman was released from Memorial Hospital in time to attend. The Willard Hartmans came to visit for several days this week.

Can vitamins prevent cancer?

HOUSTON, TX. — Vitamins are proving more than mere breakfast supplements. Scientists are studying compounds found in several common vitamins to learn more about the growth and development of cancer cells.

Dr. Guy R. Newell, director of cancer prevention programs at The University of Texas M. D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute, explains that retinoids, components of vitamin A, are attracting considerable scientific interest for their ability to control cell growth in certain body organs.

"Retinoid deficiency may improve the ability of a carcinogen (cancer-causing agent) to act on the cell's DNA," he says. "DNA serves as the blueprint for normal cell replication. Scientists hope eventually to find ways to supplement the diet to prevent, slow down or even reverse the development of cancer at this basic cellular level."

The 26-Week Money Market Certificate

Put in $10,000, and get back $10,701

26-week return reflects interest earned on $10,000 principal and accumulated interest for 26 weeks at current rate.

Current rate of 13.871% yields 14.559%*

Staying ahead financially has always been a race. But the 80's present new, tougher challenges.

At First Texas Savings, we have ways to beat the 80's. Like our 26-Week Money Market Certificate. It offers the maximum rate allowed by law for maximum yields on amounts from $10,000. Rates for new certificates are set weekly and are good for the entire term.

Sure, our 26-Week Money Market Certificate is a good investment, but it's also a no-risk investment. Your money is insured up to $100,000 by a federal agency. And your deposit is backed by First Texas' over 1.6 billion dollars in assets.

Best of all, at First Texas Savings, your money is always available. Penalty on early withdrawal is 3 months' interest and only on the amount withdrawn. And as a convenient reminder, you will be automatically notified prior to renewal.

Also ask about our 2 1/2-Year Money Market Certificate.

So, before you put your money anywhere, remember: Others may keep you even in the 80's, but First Texas Savings will keep you ahead.

*Effective June 30 through July 6, 1981. Federal regulations prohibit compounding of interest on 26-Week Money Market Certificates. Annual yield assumes reinvestment of principal and interest at maturity at the same annual interest rate. However, the annual interest rate is subject to, and likely to, change at maturity.

Recent federal regulations require principal reduction if sufficient interest does not exist.

Beta Kappa has new fund

At a coffee and informal meeting on Wednesday June 24, in the home of Louise Fisher, members of Beta Kappa made arrangements to open a Love Fund for Glenn Richardson. "A taste of the Big Apple"

Ernie and Doris Hellman, Peggy Gobble and Queenie Walterscheid have returned from a vacation in the New York area, and are enjoying the trip all over again, sharing with their friends, highlights and impressions of "The Big Apple".

Queenie said, in part: "Perhaps our impressions were different from others who have made the trip before, but we had a marvelous time...Contrary to our expectations, people were mostly helpful and friendly, and nobody, but nobody, had any trouble realizing we were from Texas..."

"...Our hosts were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Vicari and Tony (who live in New Jersey.) Mrs. Vicari is the daughter of Clarence and Ernie Hellman...The aerial view approaching Kennedy Airport was breathtaking...The Vicaris took us sightseeing immediately..."

"...Harlem proved to be just as eerie and frightening as the stories have been written and told...Numerous broken windows, property destruction and over-all strained atmosphere were real and we had no desire to tarry..."

"Seeing the Statue of Liberty did indeed let a tear of pride escape...The High Fashion area, where top designers create designs, and see them develop into reality in garment houses, was enormously impressive...It was almost like seeing a TV Documentary unfold before your eyes...The great numbers of racks of clothing being transported in trucks, waiting for blocks on end, made us realize just how big this business really is..."

"...The World Trade Center is unbelievable. It rises over a quarter mile into the sky...housing restaurants, shopping malls, stock exchange, etc..."

"Among the most memorable experiences was the visit to St. Patrick's Cathedral...the golden altar defies description, it is so beautiful...just realizing that Presidents, Kings, the Great in many walks of life, famous stars have worshipped here...it was truly exciting..."

"...The opportunity to attend Broadway shows was wonderful...a special treat was being in Radio City Music Hall and seeing "The Rockettes..."

"...We toured Atlantic City, tried our luck at the Casinos, walked the famous Boardwalk..."

"We drove to Boston to visit in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Lev. Mrs. Lev is the former Linda Fisher (daughter of the Paul Fishers.) She took us sight-seeing, walking the Freedom Trail to Paul Revere's home and church. We visited the USS Constitution...we won't mention those who got sea sick..."

"Newport, Rhode Island...its many mansions of the elite rich are "right out of a fairy tale...We toured the mansion of John and Mary Astor. He is said to have been the world's richest man..."

"Our trip was great! Creme de la creme must describe the Rockettes, the Broadway shows, the visits with the Vicaris and Levs, plus having Dr. Monte Hellman and his daughter, Susie meet us when we landed at DFW..."

Conservation tillage proven best in some areas

By: John L. Kazda
 Conservation Agronomist

Conservation tillage has been accepted as the best farming method in many parts of the United States. Reduced tillage lowers labor and fuel costs, protects the soil from erosion, conserves soil moisture and permits more diversity in the types of crops grown.

In the North Texas area farmers have been slow to adopt conservation tillage because of poor stands of crops in some cases. Most of these poor stands can be traced back to improper seed placement.

Because much of the residue of the previous crop is maintained on the soil surface, conventional planters are not able to always maintain the proper depth of the seed. Planting with trash accumulations on the soil surface require a double-disc opener instead of a chiselboot or sweep type opener. In some cases a coultter or a fluted coultter is needed to cut through the trash and

Electrical shock tenderizes goat meat

COLLEGE STATION — A process called "hot boning" is being studied at Texas A&M University that could make goat meat as tasty and as popular among meat-eating Americans as a juicy T-bone steak.

The research is an extension of recent studies at the university of electrical stimulation in which goat carcasses are blasted with more than 500 volts of electricity immediately after they have been slaughtered to keep the meat tender.

"Hot boning may also prove useful for increasing the aging process of meat," said Dr. Jeff Savell of Texas A&M's Department of Animal Science, "perhaps someday making it feasible for packing plants to package meat in different cuts before sending it to the grocery market."

Savell said although he doesn't expect goat meat to become a staple in the American diet just yet — "you probably won't see it on any restaurant menus around here" — the research in hot boning could be a forerunner to that in the beef industry.

Time for rain

The time has arrived to start praying for rain. Harvesting weather, after being delayed some three weeks, held on very satisfactorily until the job was finished, but in the meantime the growing crops are running out of moisture. A good soaker now would be very timely for maize, sudan and pastures.

In the last analysis, the weather recently rates as both good and bad. Persistent rains in May, measuring more than 7 inches, kept combines out of the fields for three weeks and made the job miserable when they got there. As County Agent Neil Tibbets said, "the crop was good but the harvest was bad." But then came some three weeks during which a good crop was gathered in while other crops were thriving. On July 1 the harvest is some 99 per cent finished and encouraging clouds are gathering.

Temperature, too is pleasing. Up to now it has not reached 100 whereas it was consistently more than 10 degrees higher at this time last year.

Low and high readings of the past week were recorded as follows by Steve Mosler. June 25, 72 and 95; June 26, 76 and 95; June 27, 71 and 93; June 28, 72 and 94; June 29, 74 and 95; June 30, 76 and 96; July 1, 77 and 94.

Total moisture in June was 1.10 inch and the total of the year was 19.44 inches.

Rural Texans: More healthy?

AUSTIN, Texas (Spl.) — Living in the clean air and less congested areas of rural Texas makes you healthier than city folks. Right? Wrong, says a University of Texas faculty member.

Dr. Mary Walker, who directs the Texas Rural Health Field Services Program, says the mental and physical health of rural Texans is markedly worse than that of city dwellers.

Few health professionals, facilities or services exist where populations are sparse, says Dr. Walker, who has found rural Texans are less educated, poorer and likely to die sooner than urban Texans. It is her belief that if "health" is defined in terms of environmental, physical, mental and social factors, it is inaccurate to say rural residents are receiving health care.

Aspirin can be a headache

Aspirin, the most commonly used medication in this country, can be dangerous. While the value of aspirin as a pain reliever is widely known, many people are unaware of the dangers which can result from improper aspirin use. The side effects of this drug should be clearly understood, says the Texas Medical Association.

People in chronic pain often take too much aspirin to relieve their symptoms. It is more important to discover the cause of the headache or chronic pain, than it is to disguise that pain with aspirin. Even when aspirin is prescribed as therapy, such as for rheumatoid arthritis, undesirable side effects can result.

Warning signals that you are taking too much aspirin or that you should not take aspirin at all include stomach problems, heartburn, ringing in the ears and intermittent hearing problems. Aspirin can cause serious problems in the stomach, especially when taken without food or at bedtime. It has an irritating, erosive effect which can sometimes cause internal bleeding. If there is a history of stomach problems or ulcers, aspirin should not be taken, since it can worsen existing problems. A doctor can recommend other medications which are not as irritating. In cases where a fever-reducing medicine is needed, the doctor may prescribe the use of an aspirin suppository, which is not as harsh as aspirin taken by mouth. There are specially coated aspirin which minimize the danger of stomach problems. Aspirin may also be crushed in a small amount of liquid so that it will be absorbed more quickly and easily. Another danger associated with aspirin concerns blood-clotting. Aspirin slows the normal clotting time of the blood. This should be taken into account especially if any surgery is planned. Certain people are more susceptible to side effects of aspirin than others, and display symptoms after only one or two tablets. However, even if your tolerance for aspirin is fairly high, it is essential to remember that aspirin, like nearly every other drug, can have harmful side effects and should be taken only for very good reasons.

... for tenderness gains in every beef carcass you process!

When a carcass is stimulated, a lot of body heat is dissipated in a hurry. Extra bleeding occurs and reduces chances of spoilage and excessive trim loss. Once in the cooler, proper chill can be reached hours earlier, saving money and energy. Next day, a brighter, cherry red color appears. At grading time, about 6% of the carcasses move up to a higher grade. Heat ring and cold shortening are negligible. Aging time is far less (3 days instead of 7, or 7 instead of 21).

Checklist of Benefits

- *Energy savings. Reach chill temperature 1-4 hours sooner
- *Less dripping
- *Less spoilage
- *Less shrink and trim loss
- *Shorten aging times up to 66%, less time in cooler
- *Improved quality and flavor
- *25% increased tenderness
- *About 6% move up a grade, better color, more visible marbling, less heat ring, reduced re-grade
- *Lower the Ph level
- *Eliminate cold shortening and dark cutters

Three visit in Florida

A trip to Florida was a special vacation treat this year for Brandi and Valerie Fuhrmann, both 8 years old. On June 20, they accompanied their grandmother, Mrs. Val Fuhrmann, on a flight from DFW to Orlando, Florida, where they were guests of Fred and Denise Fuhrmann and son, Scott, for one week. The Fred Fuhrmanns live on the grounds of Errol Estate and Country Club where he is on the professional golfing staff.

Together they visited Disney World, Sea World, the Kennedy Space Center, saw the famous "sink hole", alligators, Jungle Zoo, and other attractions.

Brandi is the daughter of the Tom Fuhrmanns of Sulphur Springs and Valerie is the daughter of the Jim Fuhrmanns of Irving. Both families and Val Fuhrmann saw them off at the airport. Later, all were guests in Richard and Nanci Lautenslager's home in Carrollton where they honored their Dad with gifts and a Father's Day dinner. Bruce Fuhrmann of Dallas joined the group there.

Laura Sicking visits in Europe

Laura Sicking, a recent graduate of Texas Tech in Lubbock, is now at home in Bakersfield, California where she is employed in the Chemical Engineering division of Getty Oil Corporation. She earlier completed a tour of Europe, accompanied by her sister, Joyce Dostart of San Diego.

Highlight of the trip was a 7 day visit with their sister and brother-in-law Virginia and Hank Arendt and their baby daughter, Megan Lee in London.

After sightseeing together in London, Miss Sicking and Mrs. Dostart also toured Belgium, the Netherlands, West Germany, Luxembourg and France. They included boat tours of the Thames, Seine and Rhine Rivers and the canals of Amsterdam. Their favorites were Brussels, Amsterdam, Cologne, Bonn, Koblenz and Paris, where they toured museums, historical monuments and buildings, and mingled with the local populace.

Of particular interest was a 6 ft. X 8 ft. painting by Van Hesse in the Rijksmuseum in Amsterdam, of the Councilmen of Munster, Germany painted in 1847. Names of the councilmen in the picture included Owen, Scheck, Hennigan and Horn.

Laura Sicking and Joyce Dostart are daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Sicking.

Fr. Frowin spends summer in Texas

Father Frowin Schoech spent Friday and overnight with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Andy Schoech, enroute from a visit in Rhineland and Windthorst, to Subiaco. After a week assisting with the boys summer camp Father Frowin will go to Dallas for four weeks at Blessed Sacrament Parish. He will be stationed there while the pastor is on vacation. This is the fifth year that Father Frowin has held the summer appointment at Blessed Sacrament Church.

Cooke County Blooms!

Button Bush

By Gary Rainwater
District Conservationist

Button bush is a small tree up to 18 feet high. It is found in low areas and could be called an aquatic shrub.

The small white tubular flowers collectively form globose balls and appear from June through September. The fruit appears from September through October in round clusters of reddish brown nutlets.

The leaves are opposite or in whorls of three, simple and deciduous. The twigs are dark reddish brown. The bark is thin, smooth, and may be gray to brown. The range is throughout Texas along creeks and rivers.

(Cephalanthus occidentalis)

Other vernacular names for the shrub are Spanish pincushion, River brush, Swampwood, Button-willow, Little snowball, and pond dogwood. The distinctive, balllike flowers and fruit heads account for the common name Button bush.

The bark has been used medicinally in the treatment of bronchical, skin and venereal diseases; also used as a laxative and for a fever remedy by the Indians. The bark should however, be used with caution because it contains the poison "cephalanthin" which may cause paralysis, convulsions, and vomiting.

The species is noted for its ability to withstand flood conditions.

The fruits have some appeal to wildlife, especially mallard ducks. According to stomach records the nutlet is eaten by at least 25 species of birds, mostly water birds. The flowers furnish nectar to bees and butterflies. The wood is of no economic value and the leaves are poisonous to livestock.

The plant makes an attractive shrub for wet areas. For planting, the seeds should be gathered before the heads break up.

Computers can analyze speech

AUSTIN, Texas (Spl.) — Here's another use for computers: analyzing speeches of U.S. Presidents for persuasiveness.

A University of Texas speech professor has developed a computer program called DICTION which "looks at" printed speeches of Presidents and indicates how frequently certain groups of words are used.

Dr. Roderick Hart and computer have studied speeches of Presidents from Truman through Carter. Categories of special interest in the study were activity, positivity, rigidity, realism, wordiness and patriotism.
