Walton League, honoring the state chapter regarding plans for the convention of the League to be held in Brownwood the last of May.

will be worked out by Mr. Wheatley and local directors during the day, after which they will go to the Lake for the picnic of the work, and for the picnic.

the committee composed of tee, Fosse, chairman, or from any drug stores.

League under the direction of announced for the establishment of a CCC camp at Lake Brownwood, and with the Brownwood Chamber of Commerce, were included in securing the Federal Government for the park site and securing the CCC camp to be moved to the park.

the League at the park site, and many members their that has been done, and that is planned for the future.

speech at the barbecue.

College Entrance Exams Being Held

College entrance examinations for students of unaffiliated schools in Brown county are being held this week at the office of County Superintendent F. L. Pierce. Examinations also are being held at the Zephyr school.

Examinations began Wednesday and will continue throughout the week. Examinations are being offered as the students ask for them and all subjects are available at the two designated places.

FARM FAMILIES TO GET RELIEF UNDER NEW PLAN OF AID

A new program of relief for farm families is being worked out by the Texas Relief Commission, according to information received from Director Marie Dresden. Many farm families in Texas were cut off from various Federal Emergency Relief Rolls on April 1, and the new program, which is to be put into effect immediately will be of an entirely new nature.

Efforts will be directed mainly toward helping farm families to become self sustaining. Families not suited to farm projects may be continued on work projects, or where no other course is open, will be given direct relief.

During the government's program relating to reduction of certain crops in Texas, many tenant farmers became displaced only to find themselves on the relief rolls of the state.

May Live on Farms.

Director Dresden is of the opinion that many landowners who let tenants go, due to inability to care for them, would be now willing to have those same tenants, or an equal number of them, live on their farms under the jurisdiction of the Texas Relief Commission's rural rehabilitation division.

It has been pointed out that widespread misunderstanding of acreage reduction contracts has led to the release of many tenant farmers. Officials of the administration believe that when brought to the attention of land-owners these misunderstandings will be cleared up and thousands of tenant-farmers will be given a few acres around their dwellings, upon which to raise those things necessary to self-sustenance.

The rural rehabilitation program will be open to families that have made arrangements for crop production and also to those who are being allowed by their landlord to live on land removed from crop production, as well as to families not now living on farms, but whose life experience has been agricultural.

The procedure will be directed to provide the family with such essential necessities of operating a farm as may not be available to them. Food and clothing will also be supplied until the family's own efforts meet these needs.

Shifting Not Contemplated.

Large-scale shifting of families from town to town, or from one part of the farming territory to another, is not contemplated. The first job, said Director Dresden, is to care for destitute families where they are.

To help the rehabilitation family make repayment of indebtedness to the relief agency, "work relief" will be initiated. These projects must be undertaken in such places and to such an extent, as will meet the needs of the families to be rehabilitated. That is, the number of families to be aided and the time and manner in which they should be employed, for their own best interests, will be the fundamental consideration in determining the location and character of the projects.

State and local rehabilitation committees will be named to assist in putting the program into effect and it is expected that volunteer committees in each community

Area of Dillinger's Terror Reign

This map shows the area over which John Dillinger and his gang have left a trail of death and terror, the line indicating the outlaw's path after he shot his way out of a trap in St. Paul. From there he went to visit his father in Mooresville, Ind., for a "family reunion," held up the Warsaw police station, hid out with relatives of John Hamilton, his chief aide, in Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., and then battled free from another trap at Little Bohemia lodge, Wis.
The hunt for the gang now extends across Wisconsin, Minnesota, and Michigan.

Committee To Aid In Securing Quota Of Cotton For 1935

A committee from the Brownwood chamber of commerce will be named to work with the county agent and other farm leaders in securing as large a quota as possible for Brown county cotton farmers under the terms of the Bankhead Bill. Decision to appoint such a committee was reached at a meeting of directors of the chamber of commerce Wednesday.

The Bankhead Bill, recently passed by Congress, restricts the amount of cotton that can be raised on any farm. The bill seeks to reduce the amount of cotton raised in the United States from 14,000,000 bales to 10,000,000 bales in 1935. This quota will be apportioned out to states, and within the states, by counties.

It is feared that Brown county's quota will be smaller than it should be due to the fact that drought has reduced the production of this county for several of the past five years, which are used as an average.

The committee will confer with governmental leaders in an effort to have normal years selected in arriving at the Brown county quota, rather than the drought years of the recent past.

King Charles LL enjoyed pleasure boating in the Channel Isles in 1646, when he was but a boy.

PROGRAM ANNOUNCED FOR SCIENCE GROUP MEETING APRIL 27-28

A field trip to points of scientific interest around Brownwood and a dinner at Hotel Brownwood at which geological subjects of general interest will be discussed, are the features of the annual Texas Academy of Science meeting to be held in Brownwood April 27 and 28, program for which was announced this week.

The academy is composed of geologists and scientists from the various petroleum and industrial concerns in Texas, and from science professors of universities and colleges in the state. Anyone interested in scientific subjects is eligible for membership.

Public Is Invited

The public is invited to the dinner, to be held at the Hotel Brownwood on Friday night, April 27.
The featured speaker of this occasion is Dr. J. E. Pearce, head of Dr. Harry Y. Benedict, president of the University of Texas, will be in Brownwood Friday night and Saturday for the meeting of the Texas Academy of Science, according to a telegram received by the Brownwood Chamber of Commerce.

Dr. Benedict is an outstanding scientist, an interesting speaker, and his presence will add to the importance of the Brownwood meeting.

COUNTY BEER VOTE IS IN PROSPECT

Brown County voters faced the prospect of a second vote on the legalization of 3.2 beer this week as a petition filed with the commissioners court requesting such election was being checked. The petition bore 540 names, and these are being checked against the poll lists to ascertain the number of qualified voters who had signed the request.

If it is found that 500 qualified voters have requested the election it is anticipated that the commissioners court. However, County Judge Courtney Gray stated that he would study rulings of the Supreme Court since the sale of 3.2 beer was authorized last fall, before issuing the call for the election.

Brown county voted on the sale of 3.2 beer on August 26, 1933, in connection with an election on various state constitutional amendments. At that election the vote was 981 for the sale of beer, and 1697 against.

At that time there were 2,354 poll tax payers in the county, and this year there are 5,339, more than double the number. Just what effect the increased number of qualified voters would have on the election, experienced politicians would not hazard a guess.

Judge Gray estimates that the election will cost approximately $600.

J. D. FARR IS NEW MANAGER OF HOTELS

J. D. Farr, formerly manager of the Laguna Hotel at Cisco and the Gholson Hotel at Ranger, has been named manager of the Hotel Brownwood and Southern Hotel succeeding Jasper George. Mr.
Farr came to Brownwood last Friday, and immediately assumed his new duties.

Mr. George has been manager of the local hotels since July, 1932.
Prior to that he was manager of hotels owned by the same company in Kilgore and Longview, and some years ago was assistant manager of the Hotel Brownwood. He has not announced future plans.

will be chief factors. The county agricultural agent and home agents will be asked to advise in setting up practical plans of farm procedure for each family and supervision will be provided to see that the plans are effectively carried out.

Women will be expected to take an important part in planning and directing this progressive program.
While the prime objective is to assure that destitute families are enabled to provide themselves with food and clothing, this is considered only the foundation upon which to build higher standards of rural life in all lines. Both individual and community interests will be fostered. Work projects, said Miss Dresden, may be directed toward beautifying the community, on the ground that the greatest poverty in many of the smaller towns is their poverty of beauty.

Director Dresden pointed out that broad plans and studies are being made by Federal Emergency Relief Administration officials at Washington with this in view.

List of Candidates In The Brownwood Banner 'Everybody Wins' Free Gift Distribution

The Brownwood Banner is printing today for the first time the names of those who have entered so far the great $5000.00 gift campaign being conducted by this newspaper.

Made unique by its rules and outstanding by its liber-alities, this will be the greatest campaign of its kind ever conducted by any newspaper in this section of the state.
Many of the candidates so far entered, however, are not making the most of their opportunities, and there is an excellent opening for hustlers to get in the race and forge ahead to victory.

DISTRICT NO. 1

District No. 1 will include participants residing within the City limits of Brownwood. One of the beautiful motor cars and as many cash awards as there are active participants will be awarded in this District.

This small list published today must not be misunderstood. The names printed are just nominations, and the list only shows who is eligible so far to take part in the campaign. Emphatically this does not show who are the ACTIVE candidates.

If you have been surprised at the slenderness of the list, you would be even more surprised at the markedly greater scarcity of real workers. Many who have been nominated have failed so far to turn in one solitary subscription, while others have not even called for an official receipt book.

Candidates who will not produce subscriptions cannot hope to win. With so few participants entered and with many of these not yet manifested any activity, the opportunity is here for energetic newcomers to start a drive to victory.

The vote count of each candidate entered will be made public next Thursday. All subscriptions should be turned in at campaign headquarters by Wednesday night to appear in the count Thursday. If your name is not listed in the proper district, please notify the campaign manager not later than Wednesday night, so that a correction can be made. You must compete in the district in which your name now appears if proper notification is not made. Also, if you were nominated and your name has not appeared please notify headquarters at once.

Nominations, it should be stressed, are not closed and neither is the opportunity for hustlers. If you have not entered, do so now. The greatest cash-value array of awards in the history of this section beckons you. We guarantee the above candidates and those who may enter that no one will be allowed to spend money to win. If you are a "live wire" and want to earn a year's average salary, within the next few weeks, come down to campaign headquarters to have this outstanding offer explained to you.
You cannot lose, but you can win big.

GET A TICKET ?

Running past stop signs, passing red lights, falling to stop before making a right turn at a red light, and other traffic violations became expensive pastimes in Brownwood this week when the new city administration began, after repeated warnings, enforcing the traffic laws throughout the city.

Several hundred motorists were haled before Mayor W.
H. Thompson, who in his capacity as city judge assessed bargain-rate fines of $1 for minor violations during the first of the week.

SITE PICKED FOR CCC CAMP AT LAKE

A site some distance east of the club house at the park at Lake Brownwood was selected this week for the permanent campsite for the CCC camp, which is to be moved to Brownwood from Meridian July 1. Selection of the site was made by Captain Mingo of Fort Sam Houston, in charge of camp locations, and David Henley, president of the local chapter of the Izaak Walton League, who accompanied Captain Mingo to the park.

Selection of the site away from the park house was made so that the public can have access to the house while the camp is located at the park.

The camp will be moved here on July 1 and will be a camp made up of war veterans instead of young men, Capt. Mingo states.
He said that the men probably will use tents and that barracks will not be built. Even in this case, however, several buildings will have to be constructed at the park including an administration building or recreation hall, store room kitchen and bath house. This work will be done by local labor at NRA scale of wages before the 200-man camp is moved in. Work on the buildings probably will start around June 1.

A big program of improvement work to make the park one of the most outstanding in the state will be carried out by the CCC workmen. The camp will continue improvement work where the CWA and work relief programs leave off.

ENTHUSIASM GROWS DAILY! Saturday, May 5th To Be "Banner Day"

New Comers in Race Have Excellent Chance to Earn Big Reward

Every Candidate To Report With At Least Three "Clubs" Of Subscriptions Saturday, May 5

A CLUB IS $15.00 WORTH OF SUBSCRIPTIONS

Saturday is "Banner Day" for all those who have been nominated in the Brownwood Banner's "Everybody Wins" Campaign. Every candidate is invited to turn in at least three "clubs" of subscriptions before 9 o'clock Saturday night to make it sure enough "Banner Day" and to show that he or she means business.

The real, live, energetic candidates — those who have set their hearts on the biggest of the prizes, those who would be declared the winner of one of the big cars — will not be satisfied with less than three "clubs" of subscriptions Saturday.

The vote score for each and every candidate will appear in the Banner each week, the totals being for votes cast up to noon of the day previous. A glance at the districts and the totals will readily show that there is lots of room in all districts of the campaign territory for newcomers.

Candidates who find it inconvenient to report with at least a single subscription on Saturday are invited at least to write or telephone the campaign manager, phone 112, telling of their interest in this biggest vote period. This will, indeed, be a cheering message, and it will enable him to know who is really taking an active part in the race.

Contestants should bear in mind that a cash report each week is required for everyone who intends to remain active and participate in the prizes.

THE NEXT 3 WEEKS WILL DECIDE WHO WILL BE THE CAR OWNERS!

The real ambitious candidates will leave nothing undone that will help them get the winning votes.

All subscriptions subject to our check and any candidate found putting up money for subscriptions other than their own subscriptions, or turning in any subscriptions that are not bona fide and paid in full by the subscribers themselves will be disqualified.

Can't You Realize That This Campaign IS DIFFERENT?

Reduced Vote Schedule

Contrary to the plan usually followed, the Brownwood Banner plan calls for a reduction of votes as the campaign progresses. In the Banner campaign the last week is the least important, because the subscriptions then count for so few votes. Live contestants who are on the job ought to cinch the cars within the next few weeks before the vote schedule is cut. It can be done. Perhaps you will do it. Remember the standing published is always for votes received up to the Tuesday before the date of publication.

Now, if you're "in" go to work. Win. If you are still "thinking" about entering — get in. You can win.

HICK DISEASES

How To Guard Against Them
By V. F. TAYLOR,
The Southwestern Poultry Journal.

It is very interesting to pounce on a chick that shows weakness. Naturally the thing to do is to prevent anything which will cause weakness, but in spite of this, many troubles are caused by the digestive tract in a baby chick. It is practically identical in its structure to the intestines of a human. We all know how easy it is to get a little sour stomach, a little sour milk, a little chilling, or of that sort quickly a new born chick takes all the precautions these things. The chick is subjected to many more stomach-ache than is a human.

readily in about one-half hour. These things help to keep the food and drink sweet and wholesome and also stimulates the appetite.

(4) Remove the droppings as often as possible. Watch for any off-colored droppings such as yellow colored, mustard colored, watery or foamy droppings. These are danger signals that tell what is going on inside of the bird and you should act just as promptly as if you heard a fire alarm or a loud cry for help. Chilling, overheating, wet feet and crowding, have their bearing on the digestive organs of the chicks. See that the chicks receive a good intestinal antiseptic at once—use only a reliable product made by a dependable company.

Brooder Pneumonia
Did you ever realize that the lungs of a chick are the strongest and most fool-proof part of the chick's anatomy? It is very seldom that we see trouble in the lungs of poultry and yet strong and resistant as these lungs are, we cannot expect them to be entirely fool-proof.

Therefore when chicks are overheated and then crowded followed by chilling and maybe a repetition of the same sequence of processes, it is no wonder that the lungs finally give way; and when we open chicks that have died we may find some grey or yellow, rather firm spots on the lungs. Maybe there is a little phlegm in the windpipe and one may even see crankers inside the mouth now and then.

And yet trouble in the lungs is usually secondary. The infection probably started in the bowels and from there was picked up by the blood stream and carried into the lungs.

MAKING Smart CLOTHES

This is a tweed season—there's no question about it. You see as many tweeds on the boulevard as you do in the country. Here is the Spring, 1934, version of the tweed coat—and very smart it is, too. It is slimly fitted, beltless in front (which makes you look very long-legged and slender) with a belt in back. The slanting pockets have a bit of that new "windblown" feeling. If you prefer, you can turn the wide notched collar up in back and let the points just out in front, a la Schiaparelli. And, please, just because we've shown it on a young girl, don't think it won't be becoming if you are 36 or 38—for its unbroken lines will subtract pounds from your hips. This is a Butterick Pattern and may be bought at your favorite department store.

When chicks have pneumonia they lose their appetite and the digestive tract becomes upset. There is often a pasting up and a diarrhea the very first thing, which shows that the lungs and the intestines of the baby chick work in close harmony. Dust-laden air may contain disease germs which breathe into the lungs; and if there are enough of them they may set up an infection.

There are several kinds of disease germs that are capable of doing this and since the method of attack must be the same, it is not necessary to bother one's head with technical names of these germs.

When one thinks about the causes (over-heating, crowding, chilling, dusty air), the steps to combat and fight pneumonia naturally suggest themselves.

Provide plenty of brooding space from the very start so as to keep the chicks from crowding into a pile two or three deep right at the edge of the hover.

Keep the stove hot enough for the first few days so that the chicks will form a ring a few inches from the hover rather than right under it. This helps to increase the size of the ring. Try to keep the temperature even because over heating is just as bad as chilling.

To settle the dust in the air, spray the brooder room with a reliable disinfectant every night after the chicks have settled. This not only settles the dust but kills the germs.

Rickets
Next to the bowel disorders, another condition common in baby chicks at this time of the year is rickets. As long as the weather is cold and the chicks have to be kept inside where the direct rays of the sun do not strike the chicks, and on cold and cloudy days when there is very little sunshine any way, one must keep on the lookout for rickets.

When chicks begin to get weak in the legs, rest themselves frequently and finally are unable to stand at all, and when you find the joints somewhat swollen and the bones soft and the bird in general pale, then you can be sure that you have rickets in your flock. A good way to test for rickets is to press the upper and lower beaks between the thumb and finger. If they feel soft and rubber-like, then you know that the chick has rickets.

Rickets is caused by an inability of the chick to deposit the proper amount of lime in the bones. Even when the lime is in the feed, if the chick cannot properly deposit it, it does no good.

Two things are necessary for depositing the lime. One is the presence of vitamin D as found in Cod Liver Oil and sunshine and the second is a healthy intestinal tract.

If the intestinal tract is inflamed reddened or swollen, all the lime and Cod Liver Oil in the world will not do the chick any good. As long as chicks, or old hens for that matter, have to be kept indoors, provide the following necessary nutriment to prevent rickets: Cod Liver Oil from one to two percent in all the mash they eat, an abundance of a good grade oyster shell that the chickens will eat and some steamed bone meal put right into the mash.

Then keep the chicks healthy and in good condition by watching the droppings carefully. If there is the least sign of foamy, yellow or mustard-colored droppings or any other abnormal condition seen on the dropping boards, start using a reliable antiseptic and heating agent in the drinking water right away.

Economic conditions during the past few years have been such that people have begun to give serious thought to the amount of taxes they are required to pay each year.

Saving Tax Money

The amount is staggering, and even politicians have come to believe that something at last must be done about it. It was with this thought in mind that the forty-second Legislature was called in special session for the purpose of granting State aid on obligations issued by counties and road districts for aiding in the construction of designated State Highways.

The amount of the indebtedness on State Highways was much larger than had been anticipated by the Legislature, which appropriated one-fourth of the gasoline tax for the purpose of paying that portion of the bonds of the various counties that the State agreed to assume. As a result, the State has been unable to fulfill its obligation in this respect. In Brown county, the direct result has been that the county has been required to pay several thousands of dollars toward retirement of bonds that it was assumed that the State would pay.

A direct, sensible, and entirely workable plan for having the State assume all county bonds, proceeds of which were used for the construction of State highways, has been suggested by James C. Tucker, chief accountant of the Board of County and District Road Indebtedness.

Mr. Tucker proposes that State bonds be issued, bearing 4 per cent interest, for the full amount of the $193,000,000 now outstanding. This includes in addition to the amount of the present debt applicable to State highways, each county's portion applicable to lateral roads. In turn, the county would issue to the State, bonds bearing 4 1/2 per cent for that portion of the debt applicable to lateral roads.

Mr. Tucker points out that this would be a tremendous saving to the various counties, besides actually removing over one-half of the debt from the shoulders of the taxpayers and making this debt payable out of a special tax, in this case, the gasoline tax. The differential in the amount of interest the State would pay and the amount the county would pay to the State on the county bonds assumed by the State would more than offset any possible default of county bonds.

The plan has other features that are just as desirable. In its present form, the indebtedness is a direct mortgage on the property of each political unit which has outstanding bonds. Under the proposed form, the bonds would be obligations of the state, but would be payable out of the gasoline tax.

Of interest primarily to taxpayers will be the estimated savings. Mr. Tucker estimates the saving to be in excess of $2,200,000 a year to Texas taxpayers—a sum sufficiently large to make the plan of interest to everyone.

Brown county has 1,367,500 in bonds outstanding. Under the proposed plan, $529,023.71 would be assumed by the state, leaving $838,476.60 to be paid by Brown county taxpayers.

County Judge Otis Miller of Jones County, one of the outstanding advocates in Texas of reform in county government, stated in a recent address at the annual Highway Short Course at Texas A. & M. College, that public inertia is hindering needed reform in county government. Judge Miller has been a student of county government for many years, and any statement from him merits consideration.

Is Inertia The Cause?

We are not of the opinion, however, that the public is insensible to the need of a "new deal" for Texas counties. The public is interested, but, due to the activities of the politicians who are in charge of affairs of government, are kept grossly ignorant of the true state of affairs within their counties.

How many counties, for example, observe the splendid budget law which was passed by the legislature a few years ago? How many county officials give serious consideration to suggestions by taxpayers? How many, in fact, are interested in reducing the expenses of their own departments? Not many.

The public is interested. It is interested in such suggestions of reform as outlined by Judge Miller. That interest was demonstrated last summer, when in spite of work against it on the part of numerous county officials, the constitutional amendment allowing larger counties to adopt home rule was voted by Texas taxpayers. It probably will be expressed again in November, when reforms in county government again will be before the voters in the form of another proposed constitutional amendment.

Incidentally, the reforms suggested by Judge Miller are interesting. They include: grouping into divisions the administrative functions of taxes, public roads, finance and public welfare. He also advocated county-wide road division, instead of four districts, as at present.

Economic recovery is not an accomplished fact, to be sure. But there is some solace in statement of the Department of Agriculture. According to this authority, the farm price index on March 15 was 76, as compared with 50 a year ago. The 1909 to 1914 average is considered 100.

Out Of The Red

In addition, the index of prices that farmers pay for the things they buy was 120, as compared with 100 a year earlier. In other words, the price received for what the farmer sells has gone up 52 per cent in a year—and the price he pays has risen but 20 per cent, leaving him a substantial advantage.

Those are definite achievements. The outlook, the Department thinks, is better than at any time since 1928. And farm recovery is the first step toward what we all are seeking—complete economic recovery.

THE BANNER'S SCRAP BOOK

THE man who, by some sudden revolution of fortune, is lifted up all at once into a condition of life greatly above what he had formerly lived, may be assured that the congratulations of his best friends are not all of them perfectly sincere. An upstart, though of the greatest merit, is generally disagreeable, and a sentiment of envy commonly prevents us from heartily sympathizing with his joy. If he has any judgment, he is sensible of this, and, instead of appearing to be elated with his good fortune, he endeavors, as much as he can, to smother his joy, and keep down that elevation of mind with which his new circumstances naturally inspire him.

He affects the same plainness of dress, and the same modesty of behavior which became him in his former station. He redoubles his attention to his old friends, and endeavors more than ever to be humble, assiduous and complaisant.

And this is the behavior which in his situation we most approve of, because we expect, it seems that he should have more sympathy with our envy and aversion to his happiness, than we have with his happiness. It is seldom that with all this he succeeds. We suspect the sincerity of his humility, and he grows weary of this constraint.—Adam Smith.

MODERN civilization rests upon physical science, for it is physical science that makes intelligence and moral energy stronger than brute force.

The whole of modern thought is steeped in science. It has made its way into the works of our best poets, and even the mere man of letters, who affects to ignore and despise science, is unconsciously impregnated with her spirit and indebted for his best products to her methods.

She is teaching the world that the ultimate court of appeal is observation and experience, not authority. She is creating a firm and living faith in the existence of immutable moral and physical laws, perfect obedience to which is the highest possible aim of an intelligent being.—Huxley.

Fifty Famous Frontiersmen

By ELMO SCOTT WATSON

"Fitz of the Broken Hand."

HISTORY has given to Gen. John C. Fremont the title of "The Pathfinder" and made him famous. But it is strangely silent about the man who once "found the path" for Fremont and who probably knew more obscure corners of the Great West than any other man of his time, not even excepting such worthies as Kit Carson, Jedediah Smith and Jim Bridger.

Thomas Fitzpatrick was his name and he was a young Irishman who came to this country about 1816 and joined the famous Ashley fur trading expedition into the Upper Missouri country in 1823. The next year he accompanied Jedediah Smith on the exploring expedition which discovered the South Pass through the Rockies.

One of the organizers of the Rocky Mountain Fur Company, he soon became "chief of the mountain men" and was a leader in the dramatic struggle between rival British and American companies for supremacy in the fur trade. After five years Fitzpatrick's company sold out to John Jacob Astor, for he saw the inevitable decline of that industry.

But his next occupation added to his reputation for in 1841 he led the first emigrant wagon train to Oregon; in 1843 he guided Fremont on his second expedition to California and back; in 1845 he guided Kearney's dragoons on their expedition to South Pass, Fort Laramie and Bent's Fort, and in the same year he went with Lieutenant Albert on his southwestern survey. The next year he was again Kearney's guide, this time on the famous march of the dragoons to Santa Fe.

After the war with Mexico was over, Fitzpatrick was made agent for the Indians of the Upper Platte and the Arkansas. A trapper and a trader he had been one of the most skillful Indian fighters on the plains, but because of that fact "Broken Hand," as the Indians called him, had the respect of every redskin in the region. So he made a record as an Indian agent and exercised a control over the red men which has never been equaled, except possibly by that other Irishman of an earlier day, Sir William Johnson, the one white man the Indians of the East ever trusted.

Fitzpatrick's crowning achievement was the great Indian council of 1851 at Fort Laramie at which 10,000 Indians of all tribes forgot for a moment their ancient enmities to smoke the pipe together because "Broken Hand" told them to. He died in 1834, a white-haired and broken man at the age of fifty-five. If he had lived a few years longer there might have been fewer shameful pages in our Indian history.

TEXAS FARM NEWS

Albany — Not only are planned crop production and planned land utilization being carried on in Shackelford county, but the garden demonstrators of the county are planning their gardens and planting according to the plan. Mrs. S. P. Boyett, garden demonstrator of the Ibox Home Demonstration Club, planned her garden to include 1000 feet tomatoes; 800 feet each of Irish potatoes and English peas; 600 feet cream peas; 400 feet sweet corn; 300 feet onions; 200 feet beans; 100 feet each of cabbage, rape, turnips, okra, lettuce and cucumbers; 75 feet of spinach; 50 feet each of carrots, hot pepper, mustard, radishes and sweet pepper; and 25 feet of broccoli. Mrs. Boyett has already planted 680 feet of strawberries, blackberries and dewberries in her garden, and has planned to standardize tomato juice as a product for her pantry this fall.

Boston — Bowie county home demonstration club women have taken advantage of the cold weather in March to can 1557 quarts of meat, to cure 11,625 pounds of meat, and to make 594 pounds of American cheese, reports Miss Theo Jackson, home demonstration agent. The rain and cold have ruined many gardens, but this has not discouraged the women. Miss Jackson says. They are replanting their gardens as fast as possible. The average garden has fifteen vegetables growing in it before the freeze and soon will again. Four hundred and twenty-six fruit trees have been put out by these women at a cost of $8.52. This means the beginning of a better and more adequate supply of fruit in Bowie county homes.

Vernon — The demonstration garden for the Paradise 4-H Club is located at the home of Madeline Foerster. The garden was started in February when the club met there and planted berries and grapes, according to the report of Miss Doris Leggett, county home demonstration agent for Wilbarber county. At the first meeting in March the club met at the garden and planted mustard, lettuce, radishes, spinach, and Swiss chard for a new vegetable. Madeline and her mother finished the planting and at the second meeting in March she reported that 12 of the vegetables were up and thriving.

Columbus — A one-act barnyard drama in Colorado county is described by W. H. Young, county agent. The first scene shows 104 disconsolate, lousy old hens, loafing in the barn lot, a total of 7 or 8 eggs per day in the egg basket, a discouraged young couple trying to pay grocery bills with egg money.

Scene two shows the county agent in response to a call for help directing the culling, de-lousing and worming of the flock. A quick trip to town and an all mash ration is put before the hens. It consists of 70 pounds of yellow corn meal, 20 pounds shorts, 10 pounds meat scraps, 2 pounds bone meal, and 1 pound each of salt and oyster shell.

As the curtain goes up on the last scene, three weeks later, there are 54 contented, singing, happy old biddies; 45 eggs in the market basket each eventide, and a smiling and happy young couple—Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Schimeck of Oakland.

BRADY — Because drought conditions prevented Theo Lyeeman of Dodge, McCulloch county, from selling 92 lambs last December he fed them out in a 65-day demonstration with James D. Premit county agent, and cleared $344.08. They weighed 79 pounds when sold at Fort Worth and averaged $5.24 per head, in addition to 8 pounds of wool per head which brought $2.50 more. The total cost of lambs including beginning value and feed was $4 per head and the net profit $3.74 per head. The ration consisted of ground bundle feed, maize heads, cottonseed meal and an increased amount of corn toward the end of the feeding period. Self feeders were used. The lambs were treated with nicotine sulphate and bluestone at the start to rid them of stomach and tape worms.

Quitman — After vaccinating for chicken pox by the feather follicle method only one pullet out of 256 developed the disease this spring in the flock of J. W. Boag, poultry demonstrator in Wood county. According to James W. McCown county agent, production was cut one-third for six weeks last year because of chicken pox, which has now been demonstrated available.

Port Lavaca — The Roemerville Home Demonstration Club reported to the Calhoun county home demonstration council that 254 containers of meats and vegetables had been canned by club members since the January report. Since October 1st, the Olivia Club members have reported to the council the canning of 2894 containers of farm products.

Tyler — Mrs. Jess Garrett, wardrobe demonstrator for Prairie Lea Club, reports to Miss Lida Cooper, home demonstration agent of Smith county, that she made a foundation pattern for one of the cooperators, Mrs. Van Stone, recently. She then made a dress by it without "trying on." She feels that this shows more and more the true value of foundation patterns.

Waxahachie — "From 50 tomato plants we sold $25 worth of fresh tomatoes, canned 60 quarts and had all the fresh tomatoes a family of five could use during summer and fall months," Mrs. H. Harrison, Red Oak Home Demonstration Club in Ellis county, reported to Miss Irma Ross, home demonstration agent of that county.

Mrs. Harrison stated that a trench was dug deep enough for ten or twelve inches of barn yard manure to be placed below the roots of plants. Then large tomatoes were transplanted 6 or 8 inches deep in good garden soil in the trench over this fertilizer.

WASH AND IRON ELECTRICALLY

Blue Mondays are "out" when you wash and iron electrically. Both you and your clothes are happy—you because an electric washer and an electric ironer take the backache out of this weekly job, and your clothes because they are cleaner, whiter and more smoothly ironed than they've ever been before.

Electrical laundering not only means good-bye to hard work; it means "hello" to money savings, too. Your clothes last longer because they can be washed out easily and more frequently; trying to get really dirty clothes and linens clean is what often wears them out.

A small down payment is your first step towards happy Mondays. That is all it takes to install an electric washer or ironer or both in your home. The rest you pay in convenient monthly amounts while you are enjoying the laundering ease these two appliances bring.

The latest in electrical laundry devices are on display at our store or your dealer's. See them today.

RURAL WORK CENTERS PLANNED FOR TEXAS

Friendship community in Houston county is the first one to apply for a settlement of farm families on relief rolls in their community and for the building of a rural work center as outlined by the Texas Relief Commission from plans furnished by Texas A. and M. College.

The rural rehabilitation plan adopted by the Texas Relief Commission with the approval of the FERA in Washington provides that a portion of farm families on relief rolls be re-settled in farm communities and that farm and home manufacturers be developed to sustain them.

It is not good business for farmers to produce to the limit of the land's capacity when the market does not want all the product. It is not always true that intensive cultivation of the soil is necessarily efficient.

More pasture and rough feed is a program well adapted to Texas, extension service workers say, and they point to thousands of farm demonstrations where this has been shown.

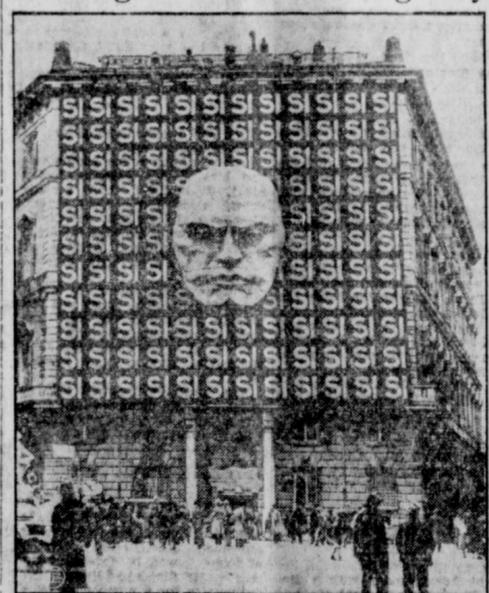

MORE ROUGH FEED AND PASTURE IN NEW DEAL FARMING

Increased acreage of rough feed and pasture crops at the expense of cultivated crops is the desire of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration according to advices coming constantly to the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service.

Bible Searchers Continue Work

The Brownwood Bible Searchers finished the book of St. Mark last week and are now searching the book of Ephesians for the word Grace.

The chairman, Mrs. Wm. S. Evans, reports that sixty-one persons read the book of Mark last week and 38 people checked correctly on the 97 times the word Jesus occurs in the book.

All reports on the book of Ephesians must be in by the close of the service Sunday night, April 29 and Hebrews with the searchers checking Faith will end Sunday, May 6th. Every one in the community may start at any time on the readings.

NO EFFORT WILL BE MADE HERE TO FORM SUBSISTENCE GARDENS

Except for the distribution of seed to those on the relief rolls, no efforts will be made in this county to assist in the formation of subsistence or community gardens, it was learned this week.

The season is so far advanced at present, it is thought to be impracticable to attempt to establish gardens in which a number of families will participate.

Description of the work, as outlined by the Texas Relief Commission, has been received by The Banner as follows:

"The encouragement of state-wide individual and community gardens is being sponsored by the Texas Relief Commission.

"In connection with the Farm and Home Demonstration Agents the commission is making a determined effort to assist every family on relief rolls to be furnished with a small plot of ground for the operation of a home garden, according to Director Marie Dresden of the Relief Commission.

"In urban centers, many tracts of land will be cultivated as work division projects, or community gardens. On these projects, such as are found at Dallas, Waco, Marshall, Lubbock, Amarillo, Beaumont, Fort Worth, El Paso and Wichita Falls, workers will be selected from qualified relief clients who have demonstrated their indigency.

"Relief workers on garden projects located in urban areas will be paid in cash and kind (two-thirds kind and one-third cash)."

"It is estimated that there will be more than 20,000 home gardens in Texas. These will cover over 4,000 acres, will furnish green vegetables to over 100,000 persons. There will be over 200 large community gardens, embracing over 2,000 acres which will benefit over 70,000 persons.

"The value of such gardens in fresh vegetables or canned food for the next winter cannot be measured by vegetable production alone," said Director Dresden. She then pointed out that the gardens prove of even greater value in the promotion of the idea of self-support and in teaching the art of gardening and canning to those who participate in the movement.

"Meanwhile, the products of these gardens will lessen the burden of public relief and carry forward the "live at home" program.

"Last year, Texas' garden program comprised some 3,000 acres in community gardens and produced approximately 1,200,000 cans of vegetables and fruits over the supply of fresh vegetables which were used from such gardens. A conservative estimate of the value of those vegetables and fruits amounted to $75,900.

"In 1934, it is expected that gardens will be four times as many as in 1933."

San Angelo, Texas, business leader of this notice is in the race for the 21st Congressional District, to enter the race in the primary election of April 1, 1934.

Douglass Colson, inventor of the machines, assisted by Dr. Ellis, gave a demonstration of the ophthalmometer and synchro-scope, machines designed to assist pupils in rapid reading. The demonstrations were well received and optometrists present were very much interested in the two machines.

In submitting his candidacy to the voters of this district he says: "A firm believer in a government of the people, by the people and for the people, I shall at all times, if elected, seek the council and advice of the citizens of the district without respect to class, and be ever alert to protect and work for their varied interests in matters concerning their welfare and for the good of the district as a whole. With no other interests to take even a part of my time, I shall be representing the people twelve months the year."

Lived in District 33 Years.

Mr. Deal was born in Angelina county, April 14, 1894, and moved with his parents, Dr. and Mrs. E. O. Deal, to this district in 1901, where he has resided continuously, with the exception of the World War when he volunteered for service. He received his high school education at Sherwood, and then attended a business college at San Angelo. For several years he was engaged in the mercantile business there, during which time he served four years as city commissioner, 1924-1928. Three years ago he took over the management of the Board of City Development, which became, under his direction, section-wide in its activities. He married Miss Mary Bates in 1913, and the couple have two sons, Culberson, Jr., 16, and Lanham, 13.

Georgetown — Native shrubs are being put to good use in Williamson county yard work according to the report of Miss Bessie L. Voght, home demonstration agent. Mrs. Olive Edwards, cooperater in yard improvement, in the Rural Liberty Hill Home Demonstration Club, has already set out in doorstep and foundation plantings and in screen plantings evergreen sumac, wild plum, pecan, agarritas, red bud, dog wood, native cedars, yaupon, bridal wreath, althea, nandina, flowering jasmine and lilac. Mrs. Edwards does not own the place she planted but she has improved the appearance of it greatly.

Lockhart — In a move to get the necessary fruit supply for the family produced at home on the farm, a family orchard campaign recently conducted in Caldwell county has resulted in the purchase of 1675 fruit trees by 94 families, reports A. O. Hebel, county agent. The last day of the campaign was devoted to instruction in planting and care of the trees. It was pointed out that a half-acre fruit plot will give a family of five their fruit needs in ordinary years.

If fruit is not produced on the farm or the crop fails, certain garden crops may substitute for fruit in the garden home demonstration agents say. Tomatoes are an excellent substitute and there are instances in Texas where tomatoes have been used exclusively for nearly a year without other fruit, and health maintained. Melons, rhubarb, and roselle are also fruit substitutes.
