When President Reagan drew up his list of sanctions protesting and seeking to terminate the oppression of Polish people by their own government under coercion by Moscow, he was remembering the grain embargo imposed on the USSR as sanction for its invasion of Afghanistan. At that time President Carter was justified in applying economic pressure on the Red aggressors, but the cost, unfortunately, fell on the American farmers. The loss of the big sale depressed the grain market.

Obviously the nation cannot expect farmers or any other segment of our economy to bear all the burden of an economic war. When a situation like this comes up it should be national policy to ban whatever goods or services will best suit our purpose, but let the cost be shared by all of us.

This includes a long list of things...grain, meat and fish, technology, industrial equipment, and what not. In general, our strategy should be to break up the Soviets' long-time system of leaning on the free world for sustenance while concentrating on its priority goal of extending domination over the globe. Communists will not have the ability to carry on their aggressive program if they must first provide the necessities of life for themselves.

The situation in Poland is a perfect example of Soviet failure. The country was taken over by international Communism shortly after World War II. It had a long history of progress, with pride, hard work and resources, and a high standard of living plus more for export. But after more than thirty years of the Red way, the entire nation has deteriorated. That's why workers organized their solidarity party and sought ways to replace some of the high handed Red domination with their traditional freedom and initiative.

Moscow could not permit this movement to continue for long. The trend was demonstrating to the world that Communism is an economic disaster with possibility of leading to political disaster. Military force was needed to keep the Poles in subjection.

Moscow has made a big issue of claiming it had nothing to do with the affair. It insists that the Polish military is only restoring order in its own country.

But any thinking person knows better, that Polish soldiers get their orders from Moscow, and Soviet soldiers are mobilized at the border ready to move in if the situation gets out of hand. The Reagan administration is correct in charging that the Soviets are responsible no matter how much they deny the guilt.

It was pleasing just a few days ago to note that the Chancellor of West Germany supports Reagan in this viewpoint, and there's reason to believe that other leaders of Free Europe are thinking the same. However they are cautious about words and they are especially concerned about a violent Russian reaction if they join America in imposing sanctions. Moscow, knowing that the great Red empire cannot survive withdrawal of the widespread help it has had from other countries, might be provoked to drastic action. The thought of the massive destruction in the biggest of all wars is likely to keep all countries cautious, especially in view of the nuclear threat.

Without doubt our president is equally concerned but at the same time he is aware that communist conquest has gone far enough, and it's time to call

Firemen answer 28 calls in 1981

Muenster firemen, in one of their less active years, answered calls to 28 fires in 1981, according to a report by Ronnie Felderhoff, secretary-treasurer. And a specially favorable detail of the report is that only six of the alarms concerned houses and other structures. One house at Saint Jo was a complete loss. The remaining five received minor damage.

Other alarms were ten for fires and accidents involving cars, and twelve were grass fires. Rather abundant rainfall of the year can be credited with the scarcity of grass fires.

The department however had a number of activities related to community service, fire prevention, what to do if a fire occurs and other pertinent information. If money was needed for the project the firemen tapped a fund raised at their Germanfest booth or appreciation donations from the beneficiaries of their fire calls.

Observing Fire Prevention Week, the firemen appeared at assembly at both schools, explaining their job and demonstrating equipment. They also handed out posters and pamphlets on fire prevention, and sponsored a poster contest with prizes of $5, $2 and $1 to the top three entries of the 8 elementary grades of each school.

The department sends two of its members every year to the firemen's school at Texas A&M. Expense for the course is paid by the city and all property owners benefit from reduction earned on insurance key rate. At the same time the school enables firemen to review the basics of their work and learn new developments in methods and equipment.

A related service is maintaining membership in the firemen's and fire marshal's state association. Pamphlets and bulletins from this organization serve for continuing education in a fireman's work.

A special activity was a CPR class for members to qualify them for helping in respiratory or cardiac emergencies whether or not related to a fire. As time savers in case of fire, the department has sent out stickers with the local fire number to place on telephones. And for prevention as well as efficiency in fire fighting, it offers to inspect for hazards and observe physical arrangement of a building and contents.

Muenster Volunteer Firemen are Don Abney, Clinton Endres, Ronnie Felderhoff, Clyde Fisher, Mike Frost, Jim Gehrig, Alvin Hartman, Ervin Henscheid, Steve Henscheid, Andy Knabe, Henry Knabe, Herbie Knabe, Wayland Poole, Harvey Schmitt, Chris Sicking, Rex Simmons, Rick Stewart, Tom Swirczynski, Bob Vogel, Jim Vogel, Jim Voth, Bobby Dale Walterscheid, John Yosten, Gary Rainwater, Bobby Endres and Joe Sicking. Ed Schneider, now retired, was a member through 1981.

Neil Tibbets retires Jan. 31

Neil Tibbets, County Agricultural Agent in Cooke County since October, 1955, will retire from the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, effective January 31.

Tibbets began his career with the Extension Service in February of 1953, while serving as Assistant County Agent in Johnson County.

He has also served as Assistant County Agent for Dallas County.

Tibbets is a native of Haskell County, where he grew up on a farm. He graduated in Agricultural Education with a Bachelor of Science Degree in 1953 from Texas Tech University.

He is married to the former Mary Hunsucker, and the Tibbets have two sons, Michael, a Civil Engineer Senior at Texas A&M University, and Martin, an Agriculture Engineer Sophomore, also at A&M.

Tibbets has worked extensively towards organizing communities in Cooke County, and at one time had nine participating communities entered in the community improvement program at the District, Regional, and State level. He has also had community winners in all three categories.

He has worked with the Beef Cattle Improvement Association of Cooke County, Cooke County Dairy Association, North Texas Hereford Association, and Cooke County Junior Livestock Show.

Tibbets has also supervised crop demonstrations in small grain varieties and fertilization of these varieties.

Tibbets was awarded the Distinguished Service Award in 1962 from the Texas County Agricultural Agents Association, and a Certificate of Merit in 1981 from Epsilon Sigma Phi, the Extension Service Fraternity.

C of C reward program combats vandalism

Payment of a reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of persons committing vandalism has been adopted as a policy of the Muenster Chamber of Commerce.

Members at their regular meeting Tuesday received sheets explaining the program in detail, along with a placard for display.

The program developed from the reward offered previously to help solve a case of vandalism, and is intended now to discourage other vandalism. It offers up to $500 for information leading to arrest and conviction on the charge of vandalism. However it is flexible in that the chamber's committee will determine if an offense is serious enough to justify the offer of a reward, and if so, how much reward.

Further provisions of the program are that it applies to vandalism upon public or private property within the city and upon property of chamber members elsewhere in the Muenster trade area; that procedure for application or nomination of informants shall insure anonymity; that the program may be terminated if and when the chamber's committee determines it is not in the best interests of the city or chamber.

Charles W. Stenholm asks for re-election

Charles W. Stenholm announced Saturday that he will be a candidate for a third term in the Congress and is filing in the Democratic primary. Before a hometown crowd assembled in the Stamford High School auditorium for the afternoon "Announcement Party", he and his wife Cindy reviewed the past three

(3) years in Washington. They expressed appreciation to all for their efforts in their first campaign in 1978 and asked for continuing understanding and help.

"I am optimistic about the future", Stenholm said. "Our way of life is the greatest ever enjoyed by man. We have the opportunity to participate. Our government is responsive when the people speak and working together we can make improvements".

Congressman Stenholm and his wife attended the West Texas Rehabilitation Center Telethon in Abilene on Saturday night and will be back in Washington when Congress is scheduled to reconvene on January 25th.

Finnell asks for re-election to 80th District

County Judge Bob Arnold has announced that he will seek re-election to the office of County Judge of Wilbarger County, and has endorsed State Rep. Charles Finnell of Holliday for re-election to the Texas House of Representatives.

Judge Arnold, who had considered seeking the legislative post himself, Thursday endorsed Rep. Finnell. As of today Finnell is the only candidate to have filed.

The 80th House District includes Archer, Baylor, Clay, Foard, Hardeman, Jack, Montague, Wichita (outside W.F.I.S.D.) and Wilbarger counties.

Chamber of Commerce cheers audio-video program on Muenster

A brief story of Muenster in video and audio is a probable item on the Chamber of Commerce banquet program in March and a feature of this year's Germanfest.

The idea developed from a four minute presentation by Nelda Nance at Tuesday's Chamber meeting. A graduate student at NTSU, Mrs. Nance conducted research and arranged the program as a class assignment. Chamber members liked it and endorsed the suggestion to add more detail and use it at the banquet and Germanfest.

Good News

Psalms 31: 3-5
You are my refuge and defense; guide me and lead me as you have promised.

Keep me safe from the trap that has been set for me; shelter me from danger. I place myself in your care. You will save me, Lord; you are a faithful God.

She said that additional material is available now but could not be used on the original assignment because of a time limit. Also proposed was adding still more interesting facts and scenes along with historical data.

Another promotional decision was to publish a new brochure of the city. Members approved publication as soon as possible to assure ample time for distributing before Germanfest.

Also regarding the big festival, officers disclosed that ads have been ordered in Texas Monthly, Texas Highways and other widely circulated publications, that beer mugs are ordered and promotional envelopes for local people are also ordered. In addition the Chamber is inviting a number of dignitaries, for instance the mayor of Muenster, Germany, the governor and representatives in state and national legislatures. Confirmations and arrangements will be announced at a later date. Gene Davenport has been appointed to head the reception committee.

Liability insurance law postponed locally

As an accommodation to persons who are delayed in complying with the new liability insurance law, evidence of the insurance will not be required in Muenster until February 1. Police Chief Helen Tompkins announced the time extension this week.

First Baptist Church will hold crusade

An Evangelist team, Alan and Sarah Damron, will be in Muenster for a city wide crusade to be held nightly at First Baptist Church, Saturday, January 16 through Wednesday, January 20 at 7:30.

Last year the first city wide crusade was held in Muenster. This year will be the first crusade held in the new sanctuary of First Baptist Church, which offers more spacious seating.

Following the 11:00 Sunday morning worship service, a fellowship dinner honoring Damrons will be held in the fellowship hall. Andy Cherry, Youth Minister, reports that a special Youth Fellowship will be held after the evening worship service Sunday at First Baptist.

Channel 2 will carry the crusade live nightly at 7:30 as well as the Sunday morning service at 11:00. Telephone counselors will be available to counsel those unable to attend. Keith Thomas, pastor, welcomes the public to attend the crusade, regardless of religious affiliation. A nursery is provided for infants and small children.

Farabee seeks re-election to District 30 of Texas Senate

State Senator Ray Farabee announced his candidacy today for re-election to the Texas Senate representing the 30th District. The 30th Senatorial District will cover a twenty-nine county area, plus part of Denton County, in North Central and Northwest Texas, if the proposed redistricting plan is approved. This will include Cooke County. Farabee, who is 49 and a Democrat was elected to the State Senate in 1974 and is now completing his second term of office.

Senator Farabee has served for 6 years on the Legislative Budget Board which has primary responsibility for preparation of the State Budget. He was appointed by Governor Clements to the Texas 2000 Commission where he serves as Chairman of the Agriculture Committee. He was appointed by Lieutenant Governor Bill Hobby to the Select Committee on Public Education and was recently appointed to the Finance Subcommittee of the Water Task Force. Over the past seven years, Senator Farabee has sponsored legislation to benefit this area as well as the entire State. As a result of his legislation, broad and significant changes can be expected in areas of taxation, education, and criminal justice.

ECONOMIC GROWTH
One of the major and most significant conflicts in United States political and economic life involves disagreement over whether the needs of the people can be better served by the private — or the public sector. For the last half-century, the advocates of public sector control have been in power. The Reagan administration, on the other hand, is staffed almost entirely with people who believe the various aspects of the economy should be directed by the private sector instead.

At the recent Fiscal Policy Council Forum on "Jobs, Money, and People" in Washington, D.C., one of the interesting panels was devoted to "A Strong Private Sector: Source of Real Growth." The panel moderator was Dr. Richard W. Rahn, vice president and chief economist of the Chamber of Commerce of the U.S. Dr. Rahn pointed out that during the 1950's, the federal government consumed 19 percent of the gross national product, but by 1980 federal spending had grown so as to take 23 percent of GNP. Gross national product is the total value at current market prices of all goods and services produced by the entire system.

Dr. Rahn stated that the average annual growth rate since 1950 has been 3.3 percent. If that rate had been only 7 percent higher, an average of 4 percent a year, our GNP would be 27 percent larger than it is now. In other words, the "pie" to be divided among us all would be almost a third larger. According to Dr. Rahn, if the private sector had been permitted to grow just that much more, we could provide all the services and programs the government wants and yet have a lower tax rate. So you see, that small growth in federal government spending has extracted a very high price from all of us.

The reason the economy did not grow as much as it could have is because of the inadequate rate of capital formation. And the reason the private sector could not accumulate enough capital is because our tax structure has been created in such a way as to penalize work, saving and investment.

The present administration is attempting to remedy that situation by making changes in the tax structure. Thus far there have been three major accomplishments along this line: (1) the rate of depreciation on homes and businesses has been increased; (2) the maximum income tax rate has been dropped from 78 to 50 percent; and (3) the capital gains tax has been reduced to 28 percent.

All these steps have been taken to encourage and permit capital accumulation so that business and industry will have available the funds needed for expansion of present facilities, building new plants, research and development of new products, the purchase of new tools, and the creation of new jobs.

As a result of these new economic policies, Dr. Rahn anticipates a drop in the prime interest rate to 16 percent by the end of this year, with a further drop to 9 percent next year. He sees the rate of economic growth increasing from its current rate of 2.4 percent annually to an extraordinary 5 percent by 1983.

The future is in our hands. We can support these policies, which will provide an abundant life, or we can stymie their implementation and continue our recent downward trends. Which choice will it be? It's up to us all!

A LAUGH A DAY KEEPS DOCTOR AWAY

Do you know what happens when you laugh at a good joke?

"You get a good internal workout," says Wayne Matthews. "Laughter has been called internal jogging," says Matthews, an Oklahoma State University extension family life specialist.

He says daily humor contributes to your physical well-being.

Laughing is good exercise, he says. Muscles tense up in anticipation of the punch line, and when you "crack up," diaphragm, thorax, abdomen and face muscles get a thorough workout.

He adds, heartbeat, breathing and circulation speed up. When you finish laughing, the heart rate temporarily dips below normal and muscles relax.

"New evidence shows humor may directly help fight pain and inflammatory conditions such as arthritis, and a simple tension headache can be relieved by the relaxing effects of laughter," he adds.

Humor can also take your mind off stressful annoying incidents, he says.

Instructions from the... Owners Manual

by Mark Emerson

Since we moved to this area of Texas my wife and I have been amazingly accepted by several groups of Christian people from Muenster, Gainesville, and Denison. We've been blessed to be in a position where one can see a broad spectrum of changes in the lives of hundreds of persons. These persons have come into a new awareness of the Lord in their personal lives with such a thrust that they experience complete healings in their body as well as mind. We've seen many have the scripture literally come alive to them and the outsiders they share it with. We've also seen many come to the rescue of the needy; not for their surplus either but with their own bare necessities.

All the above circumstances were obviously people responding to the message of the gospel. Not hardening their hearts with human reasoning or philosophies but willfully submitting to the love of the Holy Spirit.

My eyes fight back the tears when supposedly grown Christian persons say publicly, "Well, I gave to that worthy charitable organization why didn't its leader recognize me!" Somewhere it seems I've read as a child, "Don't let your left hand know what your right hand is doing."

Personally, I have become sick of hearing persons that call themselves old hardliners, traditionalist, etc. of any denomination criticize Marriage Encounter, Chriso, Lay Ministries, CCD, Deaconate, Charismatic and all forms of renewal that have stemmed from Vatican II. I applaud all such workings of the Holy Spirit within all Christian Churches everywhere.

Realistically speaking, we have seen thousands of persons lives affected (first hand), by saintly groups in the last 8 years.

The common denominator of all of them seems to be the act of listening with full heart to the Word of God and responding to the call for the change from complacency to zeal for Christ.

The old Testament scripture almost perfectly sums up the feelings I'm trying to express at this time, "I would have you be hot or cold, for if you are lukewarm I will spit you out of my mouth." More of us belong to this tepid category than we would care to admit.

For the next few months this article will not be seen. To be perfectly honest with all who read regularly, one of the many reasons I'm temporarily dropping this writing responsibility is the lack of response of the readers. If you'd like to air your feelings with me or get me to focus on certain avoided issues in future commentaries, please contact me. I'm in the Gainesville telephone book.

HEALTHY ADVICE

by Fred Lucas, M.D.

Diabetes: A Real Danger

Although diabetes, with its complications, claims more than 300,000 lives each year, the National Commission on Diabetes has discovered that the general public does not view the disease as a major health problem.

Just what is diabetes, and how is it caused?

The body converts sugars, starches and other foods, which are ingested, into a form of sugar called glucose. The bloodstream distributes glucose to the body's cells where, with the aid of insulin, the glucose becomes ready energy or is stored for future use. Insulin is a natural hormone produced by the pancreas, which is a large gland located behind the stomach.

When a person has diabetes, the body either does not produce enough insulin or is not able to use what is produced. Without insulin, glucose accumulates in the blood until some of the surplus is eliminated through the kidneys. Hence, sugar in the urine and too much sugar in the blood are signs of diabetes. Evidence indicates that high levels of sugar in the blood cause damage to the eyes, kidneys and nervous system.

Juvenile-onset diabetes, which strikes children, is characterized by an almost constant need to urinate, abnormal thirst, unusual hunger, rapid weight loss, irritability, weakness, fatigue, nausea and vomiting.

Diabetes among children occurs when the pancreas produces little or no insulin, causing a condition known as "insulin dependence." With juvenile-onset diabetes, rapidly developing complications may shorten the patient's life expectancy.

Maturity-onset diabetes is more common and usually strikes people in middle or old age. Many adults may have diabetes while suffering none of the symptoms. Thus, the disease is often discovered only during a physical examination.

Symptoms include drowsiness, itching, blurred vision, excessive weight gain, a tingling numbness or pain in the extremities, fatigue and skin infections or cuts and scratches that are slow to heal.

In maturity-onset diabetes the pancreas does not produce enough insulin to meet the body's needs. Fortunately, the illness often can be controlled by diet alone or by a combination of diet and oral medication.

Diabetes remains a major health problem. Those with the disease need to follow their doctor's instructions religiously. Others, who exhibit any of the symptoms, should have a checkup as soon as possible.

a halt. He is saying and doing what should have been said and done years ago, that the Red take-over program is far advanced, that it is still going on every day, that free people all over have to combine their efforts for survival.

Economic sanctions such as proposed in the Polish crisis would be a step in that direction. In spite of the vast area already taken over, Russians are far from self sufficient. Their agriculture and industrial technology remain a disaster. They are still dependent on US and other countries for food as well as other necessities, whole concentrating efforts on munitions that are intended for our destruction. Their program could be reversed if other intended victims and we would read the signs and combine in a firm economic crusade.

The big problem about such action is that the Red Monster might sense the deterioration of its empire and declare the war that civilization dreads. After years of seeking military superiority, it may think that it is ready. Even so, we can get some satisfaction from the thought that the Soviets are realistic and not likely to kill the goose that lays the golden egg. If Russia succeeded in its plan of conquering the free world who would be left to supply the essentials that it has been unable to produce for itself.

Another thought that must haunt the Soviets is the resistance of captive countries in case of a show-down. All the satellites of Europe would probably seize the opportunity to make a bid for freedom.

Jan. 15 is Texas Arbor Day

Jan. 15 is an important day for every Texas citizen— it's Arbor Day.

aside each year to remember one of our most valuable resources—the tree, says Ted Fisher of Austin, Travis County horticulturist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Let's hear it for AMERICA

IS AMERICA RUNNING OUT OF MONEY?

Something strange is happening to America's money. I relatively few people understand it — America as a whole has too much money (too many pieces of paper called dollars), but American business has too little (not enough of the capital needed to make our economy grow).

As LeRoy Sluder III, Executive Director of the American Economic Foundation, puts it, "The country's money supply — the total number of dollars that people and companies have in their pocketbooks, bank accounts and cash registers — has grown too fast. Our Federal government has increased the quantity of money faster than private producers have been able to increase the quantity of goods and services.

Since 1945, the U.S. money supply grew from about $1,000 to $6,000 per person. But production didn't increase nearly that fast. That's why a 1980 dollar will buy only about as much as 30 cents in 1945.

During the same period, the percentage of national income taken by government in taxes has increased. So has the percentage paid to employees in wages, salaries and benefits. But the percentage of national income paid to owners of business has decreased, so now U.S. business is suffering from an acute shortage of capital — the money used to start or expand a business, to buy the machinery, tools, raw materials, etc. used in production.

Before anyone can have a job, someone has to provide the capital to pay for the equipment and overhead that make the job possible. To create the average job in industry today costs $44,000 — and we need to create millions of jobs in the 1980s to provide employment and prosperity for our growing population. A study by the New York Stock Exchange estimated in 1974 that business would require some $3 trillion of capital to create jobs and expand our economy through 1985.

Where will all that money come from? In the 1950s and early 1960s, when companies were more profitable, as much as 95 percent of needed capital came from "internal funds" — companies' own profits. But as corporations have become less profitable, more of the capital has had to come from "outside" — purchases of stock by shareholders.

How can we step up investment in industry? Economists say government spending and borrowing must be reduced, to make more capital available for business expansion. Experts also recommend that personal taxes be cut so individuals will be able to save and invest more, and also that taxes on interest from savings and income from securities be lowered. And Americans need to become more familiar with the "investment world," especially with registered brokerage houses that can offer professional guidance — help in deciding whether or not to invest and how to select stocks and other securities suitable for each individual's future.

Arbor Day began in Nebraska on April 10, 1972, and is now observed across the country during the month of April. However, Texas Arbor Day was set for the third Friday in January by the Texas Legislature in 1949 because January is an ideal time for planting trees.

As to the importance of trees, Fisher cites a number of contributions. "In addition to providing lumber and paper, trees also purify and beautify," he says. "They cleanse the air we breathe by absorbing carbon dioxide and returning oxygen to the air. They cool and humidify the air, reduce soil erosion, beautify our neighborhoods and communities, provide cover for fowl and wildlife, and offer a natural challenge for youthful climbers.

"Bearing all these things in mind, trees actually work overtime to make our world a nicer place," says Fisher.

Planting a tree in the home landscape can be a family project while schools and other groups can be involved in tree planting at community parks and playgrounds.

"Nurseries usually have a good supply of different kinds of trees available this time of the year," notes the horticulturist. There are shade, fruit and nut trees adapted to different areas of Texas that can be admired for generations to come if they are planted now and cared for properly.

"Many of the trees we enjoy today exist because those that came before us cared enough to leave something lasting for future generations," contends Fisher. "We can do the same by planting a tree on Arbor Day, Jan. 15."

Small-business Angle

by Wilson S. Johnson

WHITE HOUSE AND CONGRESS CAN IMPROVE SMALL-BUSINESS OPTIMISM IN '82

The fall Quarterly Economic Survey of the National Federation of Independent Business showed small-business owners to be pessimistic about the state of the economy and their own businesses during the first quarter of 1982. There were some bright spots in Washington, though; and these, coupled with the agenda taking shape for 1982, could restore optimism among small-business people.

Changes in the tax law — part of the Reagan economic recovery plan — eased some of the special burdens experienced by small, independent businesses. Revision of the estate ("death") tax, individual rate cuts and simplification of inventory and depreciation provisions will result in more dollars available to expand a business, buy new equipment, hire more workers.

The Regulatory Flexibility Act, which became law in October, will require government agencies to draft regulations less burdensome to small business and in some cases exempt such businesses from the rules altogether. Up to now, regulations aimed at large industries have been most costly to small business.

The Equal Access to Justice Act — also effective October 1 — requires the government to reimburse small-business owners for court costs and attorneys' fees when those people successfully defend themselves against government civil suits. Previously, many business people paid fines or changed a procedure without challenging the government agency because it was too costly to fight.

But much more needs to be done to give small business an even break in the marketplace. Further review and modification of Occupational Safety and Health Administration regulation is necessary. Such regulations should exempt small businesses with historically superior safety records, rather than intimidate or penalize them unnecessarily.

Government at all levels must be prevented from competing with business. The Government Accounting Office estimates that 400,000 federal employees now operate more than 11,000 commercial and industrial activities at a cost to the taxpayer of $19 billion a year. Congress will take action on the problem next year. And Congress is looking into why the federal government is slow to pay contractors for work performed. Lawmakers should also find out why small businesses are often denied government contracts, even when theirs is a better mousetrap than their larger competitors'.

High interest rates are devastating to small business. Those rates will come down when government demonstrates a commitment to more spending cuts; and there must be no retreat from the goal of a balanced budget.

Optimism will be returned to the small-business community when Congress and the administration address these important issues.

Wilson S. Johnson is president of the National Federation of Independent Business, representing more than half a million small-business men and women.

Winter storm is mild in Muenster

Muenster shivered Monday in a record low temperature of 4 degrees, but that was the extent of its misery as the nation as a whole suffered through a winter storm that has been called the worst on record.

Amazingly the community escaped the winter effects which halted just a few miles from town. Traffic was miserable in Gainesville and all points south as far as Austin, also over most of West Texas. Because of the driving hazards as well as the heavy demand on gas, schools were closed over the entire area.

The over-all picture is presented generally in stories from the Dallas-Fort Worth Metroplex. There the bitter cold froze water pipes and caused plumbing problems and hampered fire fighting. Also freezing rain caused serious traffic snarls with many accidents. And gas shortage along with driving conditions prompted closing of schools.

By contrast Muenster was lucky. Not a drop of moisture fell and schools remained open. The only problem was the deep-freeze chill.

Low and high temperature readings of the week were recorded as follows by Steve Mosler. Jan. 7, 19 and 38; Jan. 8, 21 and 50; Jan. 9, 28 and 62; Jan. 10, 16 and 16; Jan. 11, 4 and 27; Jan. 12, 22 and 30; Jan. 13, 18 and 22.

Moisture of the new year now totals .04 inch. Last year's total was 50.17 inches, second to 51.80 in 1957.

City gets $4,837 check

The city of Muenster has received a $4,837.46 from State Comptroller Bob Bullock as a rebate for city sales taxes collected here during the period ending December 7, 1981. With this check payments for the year come to $86,438.22, an increase of 9.33 percent over last year's $79,061. Taxable sales which produced the year's local sales tax amounted to $8,820,227.

A five per cent sales tax, four for the state and one for the city, is collected on the sale of each taxable item and the money is remitted to the state. After retaining its 2 per cent collection fee, the state rebates the remaining 98 per cent to the city.

—Small investors will save at least $4 million annually through the prevention of fraud in the sale of business opportunities.

—Prospective public school teachers will have to pass a standardized test demonstrating their competency in basic subject areas, such as English and Math.

—Retired teachers will be better able to keep up with inflation due to increased benefits ranging from 7 per cent to 21 per cent, depending on the date of retirement.

—Street traffic in prescription-type drugs will be reduced as much as 40 per cent because of stricter record keeping requirements on prescription drug dispensing.

—Convicted major drug dealers will serve a minimum of 10 years in prison and will forfeit to the state all property purchased with illegal drug profits.

The backlog in handling criminal appeals after trial, currently 4 years, will be reduced by at least 50 per cent because 14 courts are now able to hear criminal appeals instead of just one.

—In October Cooke County received a direct benefit from Farabee's lateral road fund bill in the amount of $118,932.39.

"Texas is on the right track and we want to keep it there," Farabee said. Kimberly Klement, David Reilly marry

Mr. and Mrs. Michael David Reilly have returned from a Caribbean cruise and are at home in Plano. They were married on November 20 in a 7 p.m. double ring ceremony at Resurrection Lutheran Church in Plano with Rev. Arlyn Tolzmann, pastor, officiating.

The bride is the former Kimberly Ann Klement, daughter of Mrs. Marcie Klement and the late Rody Klement. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Reilly of Sacramento, Calif.

The bride and groom approached the altar together. Their vows were exchanged before the altar decorated with lighted candles, arrangements of white gladioli in urns placed on pedestals, with baskets of white gladioli at the sides of the altar.

For her wedding the bride chose a formal gown of ivory poly chiffon designed with a fitted bodice, sheer yoke with V neckline and standup lace collar. The accordion pleated skirt was defined by re-embroidered Chantilly lace framing a wide crystal pleated flounce that swept into a V shaped aisle wide chapel length train. Sheer bishop sleeves were accented with re-embroidered Chantilly lace appliques and lace cuffs. Complementing her gown, she also chose a Juliet cap of re-embroidered lace and pearls that held a fingertip length veil of bridal illusion, edged in matching lace. For sentiment she wore a diamond drop pendant borrowed from her sister, Tracey. The bridal flowers were carried in a cascade of white dendrobium orchids, pink roses, white baby's breath, English ivy, with white ribbon streamers.

Attendants

The maid of honor was the bride's sister, Tracey Klement of Denton. She wore a burgundy gown of Qiana polyester knit, designed with a V-neckline, spaghetti straps, and a lace trimmed sheer chiffon cover-up with a peplum. Her flowers were Rubrum lilies, baby's breath, Ming fern, with pink ribbon streamers.

The best man was Jerry Kullos of Grapevine, a friend of the groom.

Ushers were Curtis Klement, bride's brother of Houston and John Reilly, groom's brother.

Wedding music included selections on the organ and a vocal solo "The Wedding Song" by Cheryl Felderhoff, bride's cousin.

Reception

A dinner reception on the terrace around an indoor pool at the Holiday Inn in Richardson, followed the church service. There were 50 guests.

Centerpiece for the bride's table was an arrangement of white, pink and burgundy spider mums.

The three tiers of the white wedding cake were separated by pedestals covered with pink and burgundy rosebuds. The top tier held a keepsake ornament formed of two lace rings matching the bride's dress. Within the rings stood a ceramic bridal figurine on circles of tulle and white orange blossoms. The keepsake is now displayed in a glass dome in the couple's new home. Around the base of the cake was a wreath of fresh pink, burgundy and white flowers.

Among guests attending from Muenster were Mrs. Marcie Klement and sons Cory and Ryan; the bride's grandfather Joe Wimmer; also Mr. and Mrs. Ray Klement, Mr. and Mrs. Norbert Klement, Mrs. Marie Reiter, and Mr. and Mrs. Larry Wimmer; also the bride's god-parents Mr.

and Mrs. Jerome Pagel. Attending from Gainesville were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Klement. Other out-of-town guests included Kay Hellman of Dallas and Mr. and Mrs. Gary Henkel of Garland; and the groom's sister, Patty Reilly and a brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Reilly, all of California.

The bride is a graduate of Muenster High School and attended Cooke County College, Northlake College in Irving, and Brookhaven College in Farmers Branch. She is a legal executive secretary employed by Zoecon Industries of Dallas.

The groom is a graduate of the University of California and is employed by Zoecon Industries in Manufacturing Management.

A shower honored the bride when Gail Turrentine hosted 15 guests, and a luncheon at Isadoras was hosted by friends at Zoecon who presented a gift.

Herb Miller has gardening program

"Proper preparation of soil is the most important start for a good productive garden," Herbie Miller told the Muenster Garden Club at their monthly meeting Monday evening. He said he was strongly opposed to the use of poisons in the garden, instead he favored letting the natural balance of insects take care of each other. He listed vegetables that could be started at the end of January. He recommended black plastic covered by small rocks, around trees and shrubs to control weeds and keep moisture on roots. He surprised members by stating that with this method, he never had to water his trees during the hot summer months.

Thirteen members were guests of June McDougle in her home. President Alice Roark conducted a short business meeting. The nominating committee report was given by Toni Hess and the slate of officers was unanimously approved.

The planters made by the Muenster High Shop Class, are ready to be placed in front of city businesses. Herb Yosten will donate the soil to fill the planters and members were asked to volunteer husbands' help for a future Saturday to place and fill planters. Holly Koch, Marie Endres and Birthe Hess were named on a committee to shop for the shrubs for the planters.

Thirty-one school posters were reported to have been sent for district competition. A lunch of pick-up foods and a cake with coffee was served by the hostess.

Cain families hold Christmas reunion

Mrs. Richard Cain was the guest of honor and "Queen Grandmother for a Day", during a pre-Christmas family reunion when all of her children and grandchildren gathered in the Bill McCollum family home for a covered dish dinner. The menu included her traditional home-made hot rolls, chicken and dressing, smoked turkey and ham, etc.

A gift exchange, picture taking and family movies were followed by an afternoon of reminiscing, old fashioned visiting, singing and dancing - a day to be cherished and remembered.

Attending were Kelley and Tracey McCollum, home for the holidays from San Marcos College, to visit their parents Bill and LaQuita McCollum; Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Richey (Rita) and Craig of Arlington, Todd, Stephanie and Melanie, and Robynn, Nick and DeeDee Walterscheid; Mr. and Mrs. Dickie Cain and Tami Lynn, Stacie, Troy, Scott and Shawna of Ardmore; Mr. and Mrs. Gene Hartman (Judy) and Jeanna, Pam and Doug of Denton; Mr. and Mrs. Jim Christian (Sandy) and Richey, Kevin and Chad of Springtown; Mr. and Mrs. Chris Cain and Christin and Cory of Muenster; and Coach and Mrs. Biff White (Debbie) and Chip, and DeAnn and Cody Trachta of Springtown.

Progress noted on Hood history

Progress on the Hood Community Club's history book received most of the attention during the January 4 meeting, when Mrs. Mildred Berry reported having more than 70 individual histories complete. She again urged present and former residents to send in informative materials for use in the history of the community. Her address is Rt. 4, Gainesville, Tx.

Members plan to sell ads to area businesses, for the history. These ads will be brought to the February 1 meeting. J.T. Barker, club president let the opening and closing prayers and Mrs. Carrie Barker and Mrs. Nell Taylor served refreshments. Lanita Lewter is club reporter.

Thank You

Words are inadequate to express my humble and grateful appreciation for the presentation of the beautiful poinsettia, and the tea for St. Richard's Villa on December 17, in the lovely, spacious country home of John and Louise Fisher. The tea complimented our "Little People" from the nursing home, pleasing them greatly, and contributed to the activity fund.

Assisting Louise were members of Muenster's Beta Kappa Sorority, who served pick-up foods, Christmas goodies, coffee, tea and punch as guests arrived.

A number of residents of St. Richard's Villa attended. As Mr. Fuson and I were helping them upon our return to St. Richard's, one little 86 year old lady said "This is a day I will never forget!" They all talked about it for days afterward.

From our hearts we say "Thank You and May God Love You - We Do."

Sincerely,
Mrs. Richard Cain

Nuptial unites Carol Knabe and Johnny Hilton

Carol Marlene Knabe and Johnny Lee Hilton were married in Sacred Heart Church on January 2 in a Nuptial Mass with double ring ceremony officiated by Father Stephen Eckart at 5 p.m.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Knabe of Muenster and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Newt Hilton of Marietta, Okla. She is a graduate of Sacred Heart High School and is employed in Gainesville as a dispatcher for Reliable Power Tongs. He is a graduate of Marietta High School and is also employed at Reliable Power Tongs.

The bride was presented by her father before an altar decorated in the Christmas theme. For her wedding she chose a formal lace gown designed with a square neckline, fitted bodice and long sleeves. The five tiered lace skirt swept into a cathedral train. Her bridal hat of lace matching her dress, was embroidered with a scattering of pearls and sequins and the hat veiling was caught up on one side with a cluster of white silk flowers. Her bridal bouquet was a cascade of fresh white carnations, ivy and white stephanotis, with an ivory rosary entwined. The rosary was a gift from her brother, Darrell Knabe.

For "something old", she wore her mother's childhood ring and borrowed her mother's gold chain and pendant.

Attendants

Lorie Knabe was her sister's maid of honor, and Margie Knabe and Mrs. Janet Felderhoff, also bride's sisters, and Mrs. Debbie Armon of Gainesville and Mrs. Georgia Schroeder of Beatrice, Nebraska, both friends of the bride were bridesmaids. Their gowns were huckleberry (purple) and identically designed with stand up collar, split capelet sleeves, attached blouson overlay, slightly raised waistline and flared skirt with a tie belt. They carried white wicker baskets of mixed fresh purple flowers and white baby's breath, and wore purple flowers in their hair.

Karen Hermes, cousin of the bride was flower girl, wearing an eggshell dress with tiny purple print flowers, and fresh purple flowers in her hair.

Helmuth Koelzer, bride's cousin was ring bearer.

Bryant Dunn of Gainesville was the best man. David Womack of Nocona, Kelly Porter of Gainesville, and Ross Felderhoff bride's brother-in-law and Gary Knabe bride's brother were groomsmen.

Wilfred Koelzer, Norman Koelzer and Melvin Koelzer all of Muenster and Victor Koelzer of Burkburnett were ushers.

Darrell Knabe, bride's brother, Deano Bayer bride's cousin and Mike Walter were Mass servers.

Mark Hermes gave the Readings at Mass and the bride's maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Koelzer presented Offertory gifts at the Altar.

Wedding music was presented by Tony Luke, organist, who played the processional and recessional and Mary Endres and Gayle Miller who sang to their own guitar accompaniment.

The bride placed a floral tribute on the Blessed Virgin's altar and gave roses to her mother and the groom's mother.

Reception

A reception, dinner and dance, following the church service was hosted by the bride's parents in the Sacred Heart Community Center, for 200 guests.

Mary Endres and Sherry Hermes secured guest signatures at a lace covered table. The wedding invitation was displayed in a heart surrounded by purple flowers. All decorations and appointments were made by the bride's mother.

The centerpiece on the bride's table was a covered wagon trimmed with lace and white flowers. On either side were matched bouquets of multishaded purple flowers, centered with white doves. At the far ends of the table were silver candelabra draped with ivy, stephanotis and cornflowers. The front of the bride's table was draped with white net held in place with wreaths of purple flowers. White net was also draped as a wall background, with the couple's names written in rope to give a Western touch; and with purple flowered wreaths on each side.

A traditional wedding centerpiece was suspended from the ceiling over the dance floor. It was made of flower covered wagon wheels, wedding bells and ivy.

Guest tables, covered in white, had a center band of purple ribbon, white baskets of purple flowers at each end and a center arrangement of a candle in a hurricane holder, with a wreath of mixed purple flowers.

On a separate table over a lighted fountain stood the three tiered white wedding cake, decorated with orchid roses. On another table was the groom's cake, shaped as a chocolate horseshoe, with figurine accessories of a cowboy boot and wild bull rider. Kathy Hermes, Debbie Bates, Tina Koelzer and Janel Lutkenhaus cut and served the cakes.

The Schneiders catered the dinner and Doug Martin and The Rustlers played for dancing.

Guests coming from a distance to attend the wedding included Mrs. John H. Jones and son Kevin, and Mrs. Steve Bates all of Madill, Okla; Mr. and Mrs. Victor Koelzer of Burkburnett, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Sprencel and family of Eulless, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Morrison of Sanger, Sister Anselma Knabe of Ft. Worth, sherry Hermes of Dallas, Kathy Hermes and Della Hermes of Denton, Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Womack of Nocona, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Endres of Mesquite, Mr. and Mrs. Gorden Gehl of Dallas, Mr. and Mrs. Matt Schroeder of Beatrice, Nebraska.

The rehearsal dinner was held in the home of the bride's parents, for members of the wedding party.

"Housewife Hands" part of winter misery

Admittedly, the term "housewife hands" is out of date today, but the condition it describes isn't. Anyone—man or woman—whose hands are exposed to harsh cleaning chemicals may experience skin problems, says the Texas Medical Association.

Most people first notice the condition when the skin underneath a ring breaks out. It usually starts as a red, itchy rash but can turn into skin eruptions if not treated promptly and properly.

Although many people attribute the rash to an allergy, it is rare that a person is allergic to either the metal in rings or a cleaning product.

Some people try to protect their skin from harsh chemicals by wearing rubber or waterproof gloves. Most experts advise that when this is done thin cotton gloves (dermal gloves) should be worn under the rubber gloves. If this is done, and if the gloves only are worn for 15 to 20 minutes, any adverse effects caused by the skin's inability to perspire can be drastically reduced. In addition, for maximum protection the rubber gloves must be free of holes. Also, avoid exposing the skin above the gloves to irritating compounds.

When a rash does appear, the best course of action is to avoid the substance which produces the reaction. Although people often apply creams or lotions on the rash, sometimes a greasy preparation which covers the skin may slow down the healing process.

If the chemical which produces the reaction cannot be identified, if the rash refuses to heal or if skin eruptions develop, medical help should be sought. Since the average person comes in contact with so many chemicals each day, it often takes an expert to identify which one produces an adverse reaction.

Koch-Britton Low Voltage Electric Stimulation

... for tenderness gains in every beef carcass you process!

When a carcass is stimulated, a lot of body heat is dissipated in a hurry. Extra blinding occurs and reduces chances of spoilage and excessive trim loss. Once in the cooler, pre-cool chill can be reached hours earlier, saving money and energy. Live time, a higher energy in cooler appears. At grading time, about 6% of the carcasses move up to a higher grade. Heat ring and cold shortening are negligible. Aging time is far less (3 days, instead of 7 or 7 instead of 21).

Forestburg News by Myrt Denham

Tis perhaps a little late - but Happy New Year to one and all. Perryman and I had ourselves a wonderful time in New Braunfels as we always do. Our relatives, friends and acquaintances there believe that all work and no play makes a very dull world. With which we agree 100%.

After many months of patient waiting the Larry Dills are finally getting their home bricked. It is beginning to look mighty handsome and know Larry and Debbie are happy.

Imagine my surprise on Wed. Jan. 6 when I heard and saw several flocks of geese overhead - all heading south. They were smart enough to know this cold weather was coming - long before we did.

The Forestburg United Methodist Womens Group met at 2 p.m. Wed. Jan. 6 in the home of Mrs. Alice Shears. Mrs. Shears opened the meeting which was followed with a reading given by Mrs. Cleo Lanier. Then various job description of offices were discussed which was followed with lovely refreshments and a period of fellowship. Others present were: Mmes. Ester Shears, Laura Belle Jackson, Vera Mae McGee, Dorothy Thompson, and Marion Sockwell.

Willie Orrell was released from the Westgate Hospital in Denton recently and is now recuperating in home of his son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Orrell of Gainesville. Leo and Willie attended the local Church of Christ Services Sun. a.m. Jan. 10.

On the sick list at home are: Mmes. Lucille Littell, Laura Belle Jackson, Jewell Dill and Becky Scott.

Howard Sockwell's sister Mrs. Mabel Marchbanks of Denton broke her hip about two weeks ago and is now a patient in the Westgate Hospital.

Howard was honored with a birthday celebration in his home Sat. Jan. 9 with his granddaughters and their families attending. Mr. and Mrs. Howard K. Garrison and girls of Aubrey and Mr. and Mrs. Keith Rogers and family of Denton. The Sockwell's daughter Mrs. Kay Schweter and family of Millden Hall, England called them that day also. Might add that Howard's birthday is actually on Jan. 7 so this was a belated celebration for him.

Another belated birthday dinner and celebration was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Barclay of Sanger Sun. Jan. 10 for Billy's mother Mrs. Gladys Barclay. Gladys celebrated her 39th and holding birthday Fri. Jan. 8.

Here are a few more January birthdays: Mrs. Millie Reynolds, Jan. 17; Lester W. Boyd, Jan. 18; Ruth Smith, Jan. 19; Mrs. Bula Mae Berry, Jan. 26; Mrs. Imogene Links, Jan. 29.

Mr. and Mrs. A.L. Knox and Debbie attended the recent graduation exercises in Arlington at which daughter Audie Marie received her Bachelor of Science Degree.

Mrs. Mary Jo Eldridge has been hired as an aide to help Mrs. Linda Hudspeth with the Kindergarten class at the local school.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Boelter of Crescent and daughter and husband Mr. and Mrs. Ken Wooten of Lafayette, Ind. visited with Mrs. Decie Ellzey Fri. night, Jan. 8 and Sat. Jan. 9.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Hudspeth and grandchildren Chad and Mashelle Hudspeth spent the weekend of Jan. 9-10 in Wichita Falls visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Gerald O'Brien and family, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Wood and family and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Barber and family. Sat. night they attended a basket-ball game in Petrolia in which another grandson, Pat O'Brien, participated.

Miss Vatoni Dill, daughter of the Jack Dills, visited with her friend Lisa Parum of Grand Prairie the weekend of Jan. 9-10.

Mr. and Mrs. A.G. Barclay were in Alvord on business Sat. Jan. 9 and

Cub Scout News

Cub Scouts of Den 4 participated in plans for the Pack meeting and the annual Blue and Gold Banquet, scheduled for next month, when the boys held their January 5 meeting in the home of Den Leader Lupe Evans.

The Flag ceremony was conducted by denner Ryan Gehrig and assistant denner Douglas Evans. The boys reviewed the cub scout Promise and Law of the Pack. For fun, they started their new year off with a big "bang" by blowing up a balloon until it popped.

An invitation to attend a movie at CCC after school on January 26, was received from the Camp Fire Group. Boys must wear their uniforms when attending.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Jim Gehrig. Members of Den 4 are Ryan Gehrig, Douglas Evans, Brad McDaniel, Darrin Russell, Raymond Stewart, Scott Hudspeth, Terry Felderhoff, Steven Fisher and Paul Black.

Treasured memories of the same era are related to the beautiful, Gothic, red brick Sacred Heart Church. Generations of parishioners held Baptisms, Solemn Communion, Weddings and Funerals before its ornate High Altar. With bells that could be heard for miles, the steeple was once a proud landmark for early day residents. In pre-WWII times, student pilots said that the steeple was indicated on aerial maps. This photo is the property of Mrs. Gilbert Knabe.

MEDICAL JOURNAL

A recent broadcast sponsored by the Columbia-Presbyterian Medical Center and The Prudential Insurance Company stated that sports accidents account for approximately 100,000 eye injuries each year in the United States.

Dr. Paul Vinger, an ophthalmologist at the Harvard Medical School, believes that 90 percent of these eye injuries are preventable if the participants use the proper equipment.

Hockey is one sport which has made great preventive strides in recent years, according to Dr. Vinger. "The use of face protectors has decreased the incidence of eye injuries in hockey by 99 percent. We estimate that approximately 70,000 eye and face injuries were averted and $10 million in medical costs were saved last year due to the use of face protectors alone."

Eye injuries can also occur in predominantly "non-contact" sports, such as tennis and racquetball. For participants of these sports, Dr. Vinger recommends polycarbonate eye protectors with a strong industrial strength frame for both contact lens wearers and people who don't need prescription lenses. "The way to prevent the eye from being injured," says Dr. Vinger, "is to stop the energy from a ball or elbow or racquet from hitting the eye. Any device, such as a polycarbonate protector, that interposes itself between the eye and the force, will reduce the risk of injury."

"Our Interest is in our Community."

We're bullish on The Muenster Community in '82

Muenster is noted for its fine products and quality workmanship. The meat and grocery business in Muenster supplies quality merchandise at a fair price to customers throughout North Texas and southern Oklahoma. We at Fischer's would like to extend congratulations to Bayers Kolonialwarren, H&W Meat Co., H&W Kountry Korner and Hofbauers, for a job well done. As long as we continue to give the customer good value, good service and fair prices in the meat, grocery and bakery business, we will continue to grow.

We also salute all other local businesses and wish them continued growth. Working together we can make this a noted shopping community in the North Texas area. WE ARE BULLISH ON MUENSTER IN '82.

Forestburg news...

spent the evening visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Troy Barclay.

This cold snap makes a lot of us "ole timers" remember the old days when everyone lived in one wall box-houses, no underpinning, cracks in the floor, etc. and heat by wood. Most people just cut enough wood each afternoon to last till the next nite. Jimmy Joe Reynolds remembers about those old days in the winter time. Jimmy says in their house they would set a bucket of water by the fireplace at nite to drink and make coffee for breakfast, and it would freeze. Also they had to pile on so much covers on their beds they could hardly turn over at nite. So he and a lot of the rest of us really do appreciate central heat and electric blankets.

I might add that Emma Lee Steadham, another "old timer", said when they got butane for cooking and heating it was like living in another world, the one above. So with our 0, 4 and 6 degree temperatures recently - let us appreciate and be thankful for our comforts.

Mrs. Shirley Lanier and Mrs. Cleo Lanier attended the Saint Jo Jamboree Sat. night Jan. 9. Cleo says that daughter Jeanette Montgomery of Greenwood visited with her Fri. Jan. 8.

Visiting recently with Mrs. Martilla Brewer of Yes-ter-Yer Home in Saint Jo were her cousin and wife Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Harris of Henrietta.

Perryman Denham was in Montague on business Thurs. Jan. 7 and then visited with his mother Mrs. Joe Denham in the Bellmire Home in Bowie.

Mr. and Mrs. Price Truitt of Argyle spent the weekend of Jan 9-10 at their Mallard Creek retreat. They visited with the Perryman Denhams Sat. afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Sneed of Stratford, Tx. visited with Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Raymond and attended church with them Sun. night the 10th at the local Church of Christ.

Mrs. Anita Hancock and Ruth Ann of Alvord visited with Mrs. Hancock's sister Mrs. Olita Lanier and sons Sun. Jan. 10.

Truman Greenwood, Pilot Point, son of Mrs. Georgia Greenwood, was scheduled to under go surgery in a Denton Hospital Tues. Jan. 12.

I didn't elaborate any on one of the last pictures of Forestburg old timers. This was the one of the Steadham brothers. They all married and raised large families but left these parts when young men, except Park and a lot of his decedents still live in this area. Mrs. Veda Brogdon of the Burg and Oren Steadham of Bowie are children of Eli.

Now to the last picture I sent in - well, I'm sure nearly everyone recognized it as the late Jace Poyner. Jace had a reputation of being quite a wit in these parts. Wherever he went he drew a crowd, with people wondering what he would come out with next. One of his sayings is still making the rounds hereabouts. When he was a young boy his father once told him, "Jace, you are not worth the salt that goes in your bread." Jace quickly retorted, "Well just leave it out then." Thus the saying here that someone isn't worth their "salt." Back in the thirties Jace bought him an old car and some how managed to get over to Gainesville in it - it was stopped by a highway patrolman and asked Jace for his driver's license. Jace told him, "You don't need a license to drive this one - just muscle." The story goes the patrolman laughed and waved him on.

There is no doubt in this reader's mind that most all Forestburgers had company from here, there and yonder, plus good meals, goodies and presents during the Christmas Holidays and also New Years. Therefore, I will make no attempt what so ever to write about the holiday events, company and doings. Tis over and gone with - till the next one comes our way.

CARD OF THANKS

Words cannot adequately express our thanks and appreciation to our prompt and efficient Volunteer Fire Department. Because of those men, we still have a house and Jim and Dorothy saved some of their belongings. Thanks also to Lynn Huchton and all the others who turned in the fire alarm. Thanks also to our good friends and neighbors who were there when we needed them Monday evening to help clear out the burned things. God bless you all. Al and Evelyn Schmitt Jim and Dorothy Hoedebeck and daughters.

Caution urged in jumping batteries

When cold weather, that seasonal enemy of car batteries, starts blowing across Texas, it's time for the annual reminder from the Texas Society to Prevent Blindness on hazards involved in jumping a car battery.

Falling temperatures rob a battery of its efficiency. Engine oil becomes thicker, making the battery work harder to turn the engine over.

"When this happens many motorists find themselves on one end or the other of a set of booster cables," says Jack B. O'Neill of Houston, Prevent Blindness Safety Chairman. This commonplace practice of borrowing starting power from one battery to another resulted in more than 20,000 injuries last year, nearly two-thirds of them involving the eye."

Carelessly connected jumper cables, he explained, can produce a spark that can cause an explosion with the combustible gases that a battery normally emits. Battery acid burns are particularly dangerous to the eyes, he noted.

To minimize the risks involved, Prevent Blindness has prepared a safety sticker which gives motorists easy-to-follow instructions for jump starting a car with a dead battery. On it, the Society makes the following recommendations.

Before attaching the cables: Put out all cigarettes and flames. A spark can ignite hydrogen gas produced by battery fluids. Make sure the cars don't touch each other. Set parking brakes and automatic shifts of both cars to Park (manual transmissions to Neutral), and turn the ignition off.

Take off the battery caps, if removable, and add water if it is needed. Check for ice in the battery fluid. Never jump-start a frozen battery! Replace the caps and cover with a damp cloth. Do not jump-start unless both batteries are negatively grounded and the same voltage. American cars have either 12 volt or 6 volt batteries. Check owner's manual. (Owners of foreign cars should check their operating manuals for emergency starting directions.)

Attaching the cables: Clamp one jumper cable to the positive pole of the dead battery. Then clamp the other end of the same cable to the positive pole of the good battery.

At the booster battery, connect the second cable to the negative pole. Then clamp the other end of that cable to the stalled car's engine block on the side away from the battery.

Start the car with the good battery and then the disabled car.

Remove the cables, first from the engine block and the booster car's negative terminal and then from the positive poles.

For maximum eye safety, the Society advises everyone working with car batteries or standing nearby to wear protective goggles to keep battery fragments and chemicals out of the eyes. Should an accident occur and battery acid get into the eyes, immediately flush them with water continuously for 15 minutes. Then see a doctor.

The Society has listed these procedures, step by step, on a 4" by 8" yellow vinyl sticker which has a permanent adhesive backing. The sticker can be affixed to any clean, dry surface under the hood or kept inside the car's glove compartment. To obtain a sticker, send 25 cents and include a self-addressed envelope, to Prevent Blindness, P.O. Box 2020 Houston, Tx. 77019. TSPB is an affiliate of the National Society to Prevent Blindness, the nation's oldest health voluntary organization dedicated to sight conservation.

Wm. T. Crawford Gainesville dies

Funeral service for William T. Crawford, 62, of Gainesville, was held Sunday, Jan. 10 at 2 p.m. in the chapel of Geo. J. Carroll and Son Funeral Home with Dr. Harry Roark officiating, and burial was in Fairview Cemetery. Pallbearers were Gerald Baker, Tommy Felderhoff, Norbert Felderhoff, Ed Alexander, Bob Noland and Robert Lewis.

Crawford died Thursday in Gainesville Memorial Hospital. He was a member of the Methodist Church, a retired rancher, associated many years with the late William Bonner, also a real estate broker.

Survivors are his wife, Virginia; one son, Tommy, of Gainesville; one daughter, Sue Cashion of Denton; six grandchildren; two brothers, Phillip of Ventura, Calif., and Bonner of Arlington; and one sister, Christine Fritz of McAllen.

At least the ducks appreciate our city streets. We can't explain why three Mallards took refuge from the cold under Daryl Ferber's truck, parked in front of the Enterprise on Tuesday. After the picture was made, they rested briefly on nearby grass and then just flew off, in a brisk wind.

Department of Energy claims Dual-Flow saves $150 yearly

Homeowners can now save up to $150 a year on water and heating costs with a new product priced under a dollar. The product, patented under the name Dual-Flow, has been tested, used, and approved by the U.S. Department of Energy (DOE).

Dual-Flow is a plastic flow regulator that fits into any standard shower head or faucet in minutes. It reduces water volume without affecting pressure. A shower feels the same with or without Dual-Flow.

Dual-Flow was developed at Virginia Polytechnic Institute (Virginia Tech) in Blacksburg, Virginia. It was tested in 1979 by 4.5 million New England residents in a DOE Low Cost/No Cost energy savers program. It is manufactured by W.F. Products Corporation, 3625 Dividend Drive, Garland, Texas 75042.

The energy tips brochure used in the DOE program is available free from Energy, P.O. Box 62, Oak Ridge, Tennessee 37830. The product itself is sold only by the manufacturer. For a dollar mailed to W.F. Products in Garland, the sender will receive two Dual-Flows with installation instructions.

Providing hot water for home use consumes more energy than all other home appliances combined. This energy consumption can be cut in half by the use of Dual-Flows in all shower heads and faucets. A 1980 report by the Congressional Research Service of the Library of Congress concludes that if Dual-Flow were used in every home in the United States, the nation would save the equivalent of about 180 million barrels of oil annually. At $30 a barrel, the savings would amount to $5,400,000 a year.

Currently, the impact of Dual-Flow on the nation's water shortage may be even more significant. If installed in every shower, it would save an estimated 10 billion gallons of water per day. The new product took 8 years to perfect in the research laboratories of Virginia Polytechnic Institute. It is covered by two U.S. patents and conforms to the latest plumbing code restrictions. Its basic function is to reduce the maximum flow of water through a standard half-inch shower arm from its normal 7 to 10 gallons per minute to 3 GPM, automatically compensating for varying pressures to maintain the quality of the shower output.

Designed for rugged plumbing applications as well as home use, Dual-Flow offers excellent hot water stability, resistance to chemicals or mineral build-up, good physical strength, and virtually unlimited service life.

SH starts TCIL play this week

Sacred Heart teams mingled with a pair of power-houses Friday night in closing out their pre-district schedule prior to taking on their TCIL opposition.

The teams will be in Amarillo this weekend for Friday night and Saturday afternoon games with Alamo High. Next they will meet Notre Dame at Wichita Falls on the 19th and again here on the 23rd.

These games along with the district tournament to be hosted by Sacred Heart on Jan. 28 and 29 will be considered in deciding the North Zone Champion and representative to the playoff on February 6. The Tigers have ended their pre-district schedule with a record of 11-5 and the Tigerettes with a record of 10-8.

Tigerette opponents Friday were the Whitesboro, who advanced to the quarter-finals in last year's 3A state race. Though clearly outclassed and starting with a first quarter deficit of 18-8, they played it near even for the rest of the contest. They trailed 30-22 at the half, 41-27 at the third period, and 49-35 at the end. With a better free throw record they might have made it more interesting. They hit only 9 of 21 times.

Their scorers were Carol Walterscheid 12, Susan Walterscheid 10, Anne Felderhoff 7, Marilynn Hartman 6.

The Tigers played Plano East Senior High, now consisting of juniors only and to be rated as 4A or 5A with its full enrollment next year.

Again the visitors took charge and gained to leads of 18-10 and 34-16 in the first and second quarters. They played it even, point for point for a third quarter score of 48-30, and trimmed the margin by 4 in the final period, ending with 60-46.

Neil Hesse led Tiger scoring with 12. Gene Fuhrman scored 9, Brian Herr 8, Greg Walterscheid 8, TJ Walterscheid 5, Darrell Herr 4.

The feel of the old west is best seen in the stockyards area of Fort Worth. Brick streets, western style stores and restaurants, saloons and even cowboys riding horses all contribute to Fort Worth's "Cowtown" image. Visitors can go to the auction arena and watch next month's beefsteak being bought and sold on the hoof. Auctions begin on Monday and sometimes continue for several days before all the livestock is sold. TTDA Photo by Michael Murphy.

THINK ABOUT ALL THE THINGS ELECTRICITY DID FOR YOU TODAY...

HERE'S HOW TO FIGURE WHAT IT COST YOU.

When you look at the amount you spend on electricity each day and then look at all the things electricity does for you, it's easier to see just what a good value electricity really is.

On your monthly electric bill, first look at the date your meter was last read (Pres. KWH Read DATE) and then the date it was read previously (Prev. KWH Read DATE) and count the number of days between the two. Divide that number into your total charges for the month (TOTAL CURRENT MO. BILL). The result is the small amount you spend each day to enjoy all the things dependable electricity makes possible in your home. Electricity... one of today's best energy values.

MHS loses two to Forestburg

Last Friday was not one of the better nights for the MHS or Forestburg basketball girls. Both had shooting problems, with the ball hitting all over the rim but seldom going through. Well, Muenster's misfortune was that it had more misses and came out at the unhappy end of 32-26.
The game was close for three periods, a 6-6 first quarter tie, then Forestburg leading 14-11, and Muenster leading 19-18, and finally a Forestburg rally paying off with the 6 point lead.

Hornette scorers were Sandy Wimmer 11, Stephanie Richey 8, Jill Walterscheid 3, Carla Walterscheid 2, Charlotie Fleitman 2.
The boys teams were near even through the first half. Forestburg leading 21-19 and then jumping to a 40-30 lead after a big third quarter. Hornets gained in the fourth, but not enough. They went down 46-41.

MHS scorers were Kevin Felderhoff 12, Wayne Carroll 10, Tim Schneider 10, Gary Klement 6, James Huckaby 2, Dale Swirczynski.

Auditions invited for Stage Players

The Butterfield Stage Players have announced that auditions for "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof" by Tennessee Williams will be held on Saturday, January 17 and Sunday, January 18, 4:00 to 6:00 p.m. at the Butterfield Stage Playhouse, corner of Main and Denton in Gainesville.
The cast will require 8 men and 5 women, ages 18 to 70, and 4 children ages 8 to 14.
The current production "The Odd Couple" will be open on January 28-31 and February 4-6. Curtain time nightly is 7:30 and the Sunday matinee time is 2:30 p.m. Reservations may be phoned to 668-8521. Beginning Monday, January 19, the box office will be open daily, 2 to 6 p.m.

KC free throw contest booked Saturday in MHS gym

The annual free throw competition sponsored by the Muenster Knights of Columbus council will be held in the Muenster High School gym Saturday, Jan. 16, 10 a.m.
Dan Hamric, chairman, announced the event and pointed out that it is a beginning of a state-wide program progressing through council, district, region and state levels and ending in April.
Boys and girls aged 11 to 14 inclusive as of Jan. 1, 1982, are eligible to participate and all compete in their own age groups. The competition consists of 15 free shots and the score will indicate the number of shots made out of the 15 tries. Winners at the council level will qualify for the next competition. After the council level scores are based on the number made out of 25 shots.

Tim Bindel on duty in Pacific

Navy Boiler Technician 2nd Class Timothy J. Bindel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Bindel recently deployed to the Western Pacific. He is a crewmember aboard the frigate USS Meyerkord, homeported in San Diego.

During the cruise, his ship will participate in training operations with units of the U.S. 7th Fleet and those of allied nations. Port visits to several Far Eastern countries are scheduled.

The Meyerkord is 438 feet long and carries a crew of 281. It is equipped with guns, missiles and rockets and can operate independently or as part of a naval task force. Additionally, it is outfitted with a landing platform and normally carries a light helicopter for long-range detection and attack of submarines.
A 1971 graduate of Sacred Heart High School, Bindel joined the Navy in April 1974.

Honor Students

Four Muenster students were named to the 1981 fall semester honor rolls at Cooke County College. Lou Dyer is on the president's roll with a perfect 4.0 grade while enrolled for at least 12 semester hours. Elizabeth Fuhrmann, Lisa Hennigan and Barbie Wimmer are on the dean's roll with a grade average of at least 3.5 while enrolled full time.

Tips for home energy efficiency

Texas A&M University Center for Energy and Mineral Resources has provided this checklist on ways to save on home heating bills:

— Check for air leaks. Windows and doors are the obvious place to begin, but obscure places such as wall outlets, switch plates and attic doors also can admit unwanted cold air.

— Check heating equipment. Arrange for a maintenance check of home heating equipment by a heating and cooling contractor/repair service. In the case of a gas-burning furnace, the service person will check the equipment and light your pilot for a fee.

— Change filters. Once your furnace is operating, change the filters once a month to ensure the most efficient operation.

— Provide proper attic ventilation. Proper attic ventilation allows for moisture control in the attic where it is important to keep insulation dry. Blocking or closing off turbine ventilators with plastic bags or other devices is not a good practice since it hinders attic ventilation and moisture control.

— Lower thermostat settings. Thermostat settings should be lowered to at least 68 degrees during the day and further lowered at night before going to bed for substantially lower heating bills.
